40

The names of the Authours from whome this Historie of England is collected.

A. A Elius Spartianus. A Aelius Lampridius. Asserim Mencuensis. Alfidus Beuerlacensis. Aeneas siluius senensis. Auentinus. Adam Merimowth, with additions. Attoninus Archiepiscopis Florentinus. Albertus Crantz. Alexander Neuill. Arnoldus Ferronius. Annius Viterbiensis. Aminus Marcellinus: Alliances genealogiques des Roys & Princes de Annales D Aquitaine per Iean Bouchet. Annales de Bourgoigne per Guilaume Paradin. Annales de France per Nicol Giles. Annales rerum Flandricarii per Iacobum Meir. Antonius Sabellicus. Antonius Nebricensis. Aurea Historia. Ballia Sacra.
Beda venerabilis. Berolus.

Brian Tuke knight. Blondus Forlingensis. Berdmendsey, a Regester booke belonging to that house.

Cefars Commentaries. Cornelius Tacitus. Chronica Chronicarum. Chronica de Dunstable, a booke of Annales beloging to the Abbey there. Chronicon Io. Tily. Chronica de Eyton, an historie belonging to that colledge, although compiled by some Northernman, as some suppose named Otherborne. Chronicles of S. Albon. Chronica de Abingdon, a booke of Annales belongyng to that house. Chronica de Tenkesbury. Claudianus. Chronicon Genebrard. Chroniques de Normandie. Chroniques de Britaine. Chronique de Flandres, published by Denis SaContinuation de Historie & Chronique de Flandres, by the same sanage. Custinianus. Chronica Sancti Albani. Caxtons Chronicles. Carion with additions. Crockessen a register booke belonging to a honse of that name in Staffordshire. Dion Casius. Dominicus Marius Niger. E. E Dmerus. Eutropius. Encomium Emmæ, an eld Pamphlet written to hir conteyning much good matter for the vnderstanding of the state of this realme in hir time, wherein hir prayse is not presermitted, and so hath obseyned by reason thereof that sitle.

Froissart. Franciscus Tarapha. Franciscus Petrarcha. Flauius Vopiscus Siracusanos Floriacensu Vigorinensis

Enquerant de Monstrellet. Eulogium.

Edmend Campion.

Gildas Sapiens. Galfridus Monemutensis, alias Geffrey of Monmouth. Giraldus Cambrensis. Guilielmus Malmesburiensis. Galfridus Pin(auf. Guilielmus Nouoburgensis. Guillelmus Thorne. Gualterus Hemmingford, alias Gisburnensis. Geruasius Dorobernensis. Geruasius Tilberiensis. Guilielmus Gemeticensis de ducibus Normania. Guilielmus Rishanger. Guilielmus Lambers. Georgius Lillie.

Guilamme

The Authours names.

Guilamme Paradin.

H.

Historicus Huntingtonensis.

Humfrey Lhuyd.

Henricus Leicestrensis.

Hestor Brece. Historie Daniou.

Historia Ecclesiastica Magdeburgensis.

Henricus Mutius.

Historia quadripartita seu quadrilogium.

Hardings Chronicle.

Halles Chronicles. Henricus Bradshaw.

Henricus Marleburgensis.

Herodianus.

Tohannes Bale. LIohannes Leland. Iacobus Philippus Bergomas. Iulius Solinus. Iulius Capitolinus. Iohannes Pike with additions. Iohannes Functius. Johannes Textor. John Price, knight. Iohannes Sleidan. Iohannes Bodinus. Iohannes Euersden & Monke of Bury. Iohannes or rather Giouan Villani a Florentine. Iohannes Baptista Egnatius. Iohanes Capgraue. Iohannes Fourden. Iohannes Caius. Iacob de Voragine Bishop of Nebio. Iean de Bauge a Frenchman wrote a Pamphlet of the warres in scotlande, during the time that Monsicur de Desse remayned there. Iohannes Maior. John Foxe. Iohn Scow, by whose diligent collected summarie, I have ben not only anded, but also by divers rare monuments , ancient wryters, and necessarie regifter Bookes of his, which he hath lente me out

L.

Iber conflicutionum London.

Lucan.

Lelius Giraldus.

of his owne Librarie.

losephiu.

M.

Mrianiu Scotm. Matheus Paris. Matheus VV estmonaster, ali às Flores historiarum. Martin du Bellay, als às Monsieur de Langey. Mamertinus in Panagericu. Memoires de la Marche.

N.
Nicholaus Trenet with additions.

OR essus Dorobernensis.
Osbernus Dorobernensis.
Ocho Phrisingensis.

P.
Paulus Diaconm.
Paulus Aemilius.
Ponticus Virunnius. Pomponius Latus.
Philippe de Cameins, aliàs Möseur de Argenton.
Polidor Vergil. Paulus Iouius.
Platina. Philippe Melantton.
Peucerus.
Pomponius Mela.

Rogerus Houeden.
Ranulfus Higeden, alias Cestrensis the author of Polichronicon.
Radulfus niger.
Radulfus Cogheshall.
Register of the Garter.
Recordes of Battell Abbey.
Richardus Southwell.
Robert Greene.
Radulfus de Diceto.
Robert Gaguin.
Rodericus Archiepiscopus Toletanus.
Recordes and rolles diuers.

S.
Sigebertus Gemblacensis.
Sidon Apollinaris. Simon Dunelmensis.
Sextus Aurelim Victor.

T.
Thomas Spotte. Thomas More knight.
Thomas Spotte. Thomas V Valsingham.
Titus Livius Pataviensis.
Titus Livius de Forolivis ys de vita Henrici. 5.
Thomas Lanquet. Thomas Couper.
Taxtor a Monke of Berry. Thevet.
Thomas de la More. Tripartita Historia.

V. V^Plcatius Gallicanus. Volfgangus Lazius.

VV.
VIHeshamsteed, a learned man, sometime Abbot of S. Albons, a Chronicler.
VVilliam Harrison.
VVillia Patten of the expeditio into Scotlad. 1574.
VVilliam Proster of VViattes rebellion.
Besides these divers other Bookes and Treatises of Historical mater I have seene and perused, the names of the Authours beyng otterly onknowen.
FINIS.

MAN HISTORICALL DE

scription of the Islande of Britayne, with a briefe rehearsall of the nature and qualities of the people of Englande, and of all such commodities as are to be founde in the fame.

In the first Booke of the Description of Britagne, these Chapters are contagned that ensue.

1. Of the scituation and quantitie of the Isle of Britayne.

2. Of the auncient names of this Islande.

3. What fundry nations have dwelled in this countrey.

4. Whether it be likely that euer there were any Gyants inhabiting in this Islande.

5. Of the generall language vsed sometime in Brytaine.

6. Into howe many kingdomes at once this Isle hath bene deuided.

7. Of the auncient religion vsed in Brytaine, from the first comming of Samothes, before the conversion of the same vnto the faith of Christ.

8. Of the number and names of such Salt Islandes as lye dispersed rounde about you the coast of Brytaine.

9. Of the rysing and falles of such ryuers and streames as descende into the sea, without alteration of their names, & first of those that lye betweene the Thames and the Sauerne.

10. Of the Sauerne itreame, and fuch falles of ryuers as go into the Sea betweene it and the Humber.

n. Of such rivers as fall into the sea, betwene Humber & the Thames.

12. Of the fower high waies sometime made in Brytaine by the Princes of this lande.

13. Of the ayre and foyle of the country.

14. Of the generall constitution of the bodies of the Brytons.

15. How Brytaine grew at the first to be detided into three porcions.

16. That notwithstanding the former particion made by Brute, vnto his children, the souereinety of the whole Islande, remained styll to the Prince of Lhoegres and his posteritie after him.

17. Of the Wall sometime builded for a particion between Englande and the Pictes.

*,

MARIONA ON TOTAL RAY

To the Right Honorable, and his singular good Lord and maister, S. William Brooke Knight, Lord warden of the cinque Postes, and Baron of Cobham, all increase of the seare and knowledge of God, firme obedience to warde his Prince, infallible loue to the common wealth, and commendable renowne here in this worlde, and in the worlde to come, lyfe euerlasting.

AVING had iust occasion, Right Honourable, to remayne in London, during the tyme of Midsomer terme last passed, and being earnest ly erequired of divers my friends, to set downe some briefe discourse of parcell of those thinges, which I had observed in the reading of such manifold antiquities as I had perused toward the furniture of a Chronologie, which I had then in hande, I was at the first very loth to yeelde to their desires: first, for that I thought my selfe vnable for want of witte and indgement, so sodainly and with such speede to take such a charge uppon me: secondly, bycause the dealing therin might produc an impechement unto mine owne Treatize: and finallye for that I had given over all study of hystories, as judging the tyme spent about the same, to be an hinderaunce unto my more necessarie dealings in that vocation & function whereunto I am called in the mynistery. But when they were so importunate with me, that no reasonable excuse coulde serve to put by this travaile, I condescended at the length unto their yrkesome sute, promising that I woulde spende such voyde time as I had to spare, whylest I shoulde be inforced to tarie in the citie, upon some thing or other that shoulde stande in lieu of a description of my Country. For their partes also they assured me of such helpes as they coulde purchase, and thus with hope of good although, no gaie successe, I went in hande withall, then al most as one leaning altogither unto memorie, fithing bookes and I were parted by fourtie myles in sonder. In this order also I spent a part of Michaelmas and Hillarie termes infaines being inforced thereto I say by other businesses which compelled me to keepe in the citie, and absent my selfe from my charge, though in the meane season I had some repaire unto my librarie, but not fo great as the dignitie of the matter required, & yet farre greater then the Printers haste woulde suffer. One helpe, and none of the smallest that I obtayned herein was by such commentaries as Leland had collected sometime of the state of Britaine, bookes veterly mangled, defaced with wet, and weather, and finally imperfite through want of fundrie volumes? secondly, I gare some knowledge of things by letters and pamphlettes, from sundrie places and shires of Englande, but so discordaunt nowe and then amongest themselves, especially in the names and courses of rivers and scituation of townes, that I had oft greater trouble to reconcile them, then to penne the whole discourse of such pointes as they contayned: the thirde ayde did grow by conference with divers, eyther at the table or fecrety alone, wherein I marked in what things the talkers did agree, and wherein they impugned eche other, choosing in the end the former, and rejecting the later, as one defirous to set forth the truth absolutely, or such things in deede as were most likely to be true. The last comfort arose by mine owne reading of such writers as have heretofore made mention of the condition of our country, in speaking whereof, yf I shoulde make account of the successe, and extraordinary comming by fundrie treatizes not supposed to be extaunt, I shoulde but seeme to pronounce more then may well be (ayde with modestie, and say farder of my selfe then this Treatize can beare witnesse of. How beit, I referre not this successe wholly unto my purpose in this Description, but rather give no tice thereof to come to passe in the penning of my Chronolog the whose cromes as it were fell out very well in the framing of this Pamphlete. In the processe therefore of this Booke From Ha nour regarde the substaunce of that which is here declared, I must needes confesse that none of mine: but if your Lordshippe have consideration of the barbarous composition shewed herein, that I may boldely clayme and chalenge for myne owne, fith there is no man of any so slender skill, that will defraude me of that reproche, which is due unto me, for the meere negligence, disorder, and euill disposition of matter, comprehended in the same. Certes I protest be-fore God and your Honour, that I neuer made any thoise of stile, or picked wordes, neither regarded to handle this Treatize in such precise order and methode as many other woulde: thinking it sufficient, truely & plainly to set forth such things as I minded to intreate of, rather then with vaine affectation of eloquence to paint out a rotten sepulchre, neither comendable in a writer nor profitable to the reader. How other affayres troubled me in the writing hereof many know, or peraduenture the slackenesse shewed herein can better testifie: but how seuer it be done, & what soeuer I have done, I have had an especiall eye unto the truth of things, of for the reast, I hope that this foule frizeled Treatize of mine, will prooue a source to others, better learned in more skilfull maner to handle the selfe same argument. As for faultes escapedherein as there are divers, I must needes confesse, both in the penning and printing, so I have to craue pardon of your Honour, & of all the learned readers. For such was my shortnesse of time allowed in the writing, & so great the speede made in the Printing, that I could seldome with any deliberation peruse, or almost with any judgement deliberate exactly upon such notes as were to be inserted. Sometimes in deede their leysure gaue me libertie, but that I applyed in following my vocation, many times their expedition abridged my perufall, and by this later it came to passe, that most of this booke was no sooner penned then printed, neither well conceyued before it came to writing. But it is now to late to excuse the maner of doing. It is possible that your Honour will missike hereof, for that I have not by myne owne travaile and eyesight viewed such thinges, as I doe here intreate of. In deede I must needes confesse that except it were from the parish where I dwell, unto your Honour in Kent, or out of London where I was borne, unto Oxforde and Cambridge where I have beene brought up, I never travailed 40.miles in all my lyfe, neuerthelesse in my report of these thinges, I vse their authorities, who have performed in their persons what soever is wanting in mine. It may be in like sort that your Honour will take offence at my rashe and rechlesse behaviour vsed in the composition of this volume, and much more that being scambled up after this maner, I dare presume to make tendoure of the protection thereof unto your Lordships handes. But when I consider the singular affect io that your Ho. doth beare to those that in any wise will trauaile to set forth such things as lye hidden of their countries, without regarde of fine & eloquent handling, & therinto do weigh on mine owne behalfe my bounden duetie and gratefull minde to such a one as hath so many and sundrie wayes profited and preferred me, that otherwise can make no recompence, I can not but cut of all such occasion of doubt, and therevpon exhibite it, such as it is, and so penned as it is unto your Lordships tuition, unto whome if it may seeme in any wyse acceptable, I have my whole desire. And as I am the first that (not withstanding the great repugnauncie to be seene among our writers) hath taken upon him so particularly to describe this Isle of Britaine, so I hope the learned and godly will be are with all and reforme with charity where I do treade amisse. As for the curious, & such as can rather enill fauouredly esty then skilfully correct an errour, o sooner carpe at another mans doings then publish any thing of their owne, keping themselues close with an obscure admiration of learning & knowledge among the comon fort) I force not what they say hereof, for whether it doe please or dispease them, all is one to me, sith I referre my whole trauaile in the gratification of your Honour, & such as are of experience to consider of my trauaile, and the large scope of things purposed in this Treatize, of whome my service in this behalfe may be taken in goodpart, that I will repute for my full recompence, large guerdon of my labours. The Almighty God preserue your Lordship in cotinuall health, wealth, and prosperitie, with my good Lady your wyfe, your Honours children, whome God hath indued with a singular towardnesse vnto all vertue & learning, and the rest of reformed familie unto whome I wish farder increase of his holy spirit, understanding of his worde, augmentation of honour, of finally an earnest zeale to follow his commaundements.

The Epistle Dedicatorie.

Your Lordships humble servant, and houshold Chaplein. W. H.

In the First Booke.

I fit the first leafe columpue. La 23.lin, reade thosow In the 3.leafe col. and 20.line, reade fo a comeling. In the 3. leafe col. 4. and 43. lin, reade Gyants were. In the 4.leate co.i.lin i.read S. Bugultine therfore. fol.5.col.3.lin 32.reade line in these dayes. fol. 6lin 1.col. reade oz Gwinhead. ibid lin 23.col 1.reade limites of this. ibid lin 25. reade confifted. ibid lin 36.foz Shaopthire reade Shewelbray. ibid col. 2.lin 25.and 53. read extended themselues. ibid col.3.lin 45.read Sufferin the Couth. thid col.4.lin 25.put out peares after 35. fol 7.col 4.iin 26.reade ealily. fol 8.col 1.lin 29.reade put out also saying. ibid col 4. line 49. for will I begin, reade woulde fol 9.col 3.lin 33.foz infinity reade infinite. fol 10.col 2.lin 51. reade holde this opinion. Ibid lin 54. reade they hall fee. ibid col 4.lin 49. reade those 45. for those sewe. fol 11.col 1.lin.reade 25. errour of their founder. ibid col 2.lin 19.reade pittes of errour. ibid lin 20. put out (as) and reade welles in dede that holde no water. Ibid col 3.lin 50.reade withstande him there. fol 13.col 1.lin 10.for Chichefter reade winchefter. fol 13.col 1.lin 38.reade and thereby gathered. fol 16.col 1.lin 10.reade theinfelues lying neere hand, or within this Ille allo. fol 17.col2.lin,46. reade S. Minians. ibid lin 59. reade it fæmeth hereby. ibid col 3.lin 2.reade bnto Mona onely. fol 18.col 1.lin 33. reade northeast and other also be= pond them in like lost fubied to Scotland. fol 20.col 2.in the margent reade as I heare nere Cantozbury foz about Gaunt. ibid col 3.lin. 1.read Stoure whercof. ibid.put out parenthelis in the margine. ibid lin 39. reade dinided it felfe. fol 24.col 1.lin 52.reade also to the point. fol 26.col 1.lin 49.reade another great freame, thid col 2. lin 16. foz to a billage, read and a billage. fol 27 where pou reade Towy reade Towp. ibid col 4. lin 26. reade into the mayne fea. fol 30 col 1, lin 40, for Dunrith reade Drurith. ibid.col 2.lin 55.read Harlefwell. ibid.lin 18. reade by north of Beltingham. ibid.col 4.lin 6. foz Tine reade Were. fol 31.60 2.11 18. foz Cockingham read Cottingham. ibid col 3.lin 9. reade lyke in the next boke. fol 32.col 3.lin 24.put in (to) in the ende of the line. ibid lin 42.for Magey reade Maxey.
fol 33.col 3.lin 10.for Mores reade Meres. ibid lin 18. for his place, reade this place. fol 36.col 4.lin 28.reade forth by welt of Marton. fol 37.col 2.lin 52.read ling of cattel, and put out the. fol 39.col.1.lin.33.read hiltory, & after him Bodinus. fol 45. col 1.lin.11.reade in thele dapes.

fol 47.00 4.li 32.read touching it, for touching by it.

ibid.lin 41. read wall was of frone.

In the feconde Booke. 74.00 3.lin 1.reme Leircelter for Lewceiter.

Pol 74.col 3.lin 1. reade Leircelter for Lewcestet. fot 75.col. 1.lin. 18. reade quantitie thereof. ibid. col 2.lin 22.reade gaples within, fol 76.col 3. in the margine, reade howe those men Choulde have done, in the name note col 4. lin 1. tapler be. fol.77.col 2.lin 32.and 334 put out (and the wight) for I miltwkeit. ibid lin 43.foz (in olde time) read also the weight. fol 84.col 3.lin 26.for hope of recovery, reade hope of fol 85.col 3.lin.53.reade before the olde be exprese. fol 85.col 1.lin 1.put out therefore, and reade I finde therefore. ibid col 4.lin 49.foz riverets reade rivettes. fol 87.col 1.li 19. for their ordinaunce reade the store of ozdinaunce. thid lin 27. reade that in some one barons house 3 thid lin 33. reade done then trow you. ibid.col 4.lin 9. 10. reade we had fome alfo, for (a few.) ibid lin 15. put out and betweene Alfrede (&) C= thelozed. fol 88.col 3.lin 17. reade being the moze plenteous ibid lin 22. reade if place did ferue therefore, ibid col 4.lin 46. reade for thefe causes therefore. fol 89.col 4.lin 58.toz funt duo reade fint duo. fol 90.col 1. Canone 13. belide the misplacing of the point, lin 52. there is (n) to much in flat word of the 56.line. thid col 2. lin 9. the whole line is perverted for Siquis autem cum primario pugnauerit. thid lin 39.102 aliquot reade aliquam. thin col 3.11 34.102 Gemilcisione read Genuscisione. fol 91.col 3.lin 19. for whereas reade thus. ibid li 21.foz behaniour whereby, read behaniour: and hereby. ibid iin 22. reade defrauded and the. ibid lin. 33. reade every man Sobich. ibid col 4. reade of Salop. Some fol 92.col z.lin 34.reade Cymbelline. fol 93.col 1.lin 34.reade out of the hilles. ibid lin 35. reade that at certaine times. ibid lin 47. reade ftraunge for frong. thid itn 18. reade bertigerne. thid col 2.lin 18.fox feconde Ape, read fecond Ape. thid lin 44. reade both it fwell, thid coi 3. line 37. reade into the earth. for into the ibid 47 reade as one nere to S. Alaphes. fol 94.col.1, the 10. 11, and 12. lines are to much almost by enery words, by meanes of an odds pamphiet of Civelwell latewarde interted into the bake. fol 96.col 2.lin 39.foz goddelle reade gods. fol 96. col 3. line 10. for harde Cantus reade hardie thid cot 4. berf. 21. reade tantum & agendis. fol 107.col 3.line 1.for drawne reade drawing.

• Of the scituation and quantitie of the Isle of Britayne. Cap.1.

taine lyeth from the

RITANIA, 02 Bestaine, as we nowe terme it in our Cnoglishe tongue, is an Isle lying in the Decan sea, directly as gainst that part of Fraunce, which conteyneth Picardie, Pozmandie, and therto the greatest part of little Britaine, called in time past Armorica of the scituation thereof boon the sea coast, and befoze such time as a companie of Bitons (epther led o: uer by some of the Komarne Emperours, ot flying thither from the typannie of fuch as oppressed them here in this Islande) did settle themselves there, a called it Britaine, after the name of their owne country, from whence they adventured thither. It bath Irelande by on the West side, on the Porth the mapne sea, s even buto Thule and the Hoperboreans, and on the Cast side also the Germaine Drean by which we valle daily thoughts by the trace of merchandile, not only into plow countries of Belgie, but allo into Cermanie, Frizelande, Denmarke, and Poelway, carving from hence thither, and bringing from thence htther, all fuch necessarie commodities as the severall Countries des példe: thosow which memies, and belides common amitie colerued traffike is maintagned, and the neceditie of sche party abundantly reliened.

It contamneth in longitude taken by the gitude and middelt of the Region 19. degræs eracly: and latitude of in latitude 53, degræs, and 36, miniafter the othis Ide. pinions of those that have odligently observed the fame in our dapes, and the faithfull report of such writers as have left notice therof buto bs, in their learned treatiles to be perpetually remembred. Howbeit wheras time in fetting downe of thele two lines, have feemed to bary about the placing of the family other of them of nerly remembring the names of finite Ci. ties and townes, wheer by they after we the to have their feveral courses: for my pact 3 bave thought and to proceed fomelwhat after and ther fort, that is, by deciding the latest and bell Carves eche wap into Clob equall partes, To neare as 3 can pollibly bying the Tame to palle) whereby for the missile of lattingel a product Caerleiland Dewcalten opon Type (whose logest day consistest of 16. hours, 43. minuts) & for the longitude, Belober, Colar, wicke, Sheffeld, Skipto, et Mobied vest indult imne opinion, is molt eaffer inofferent and lykelieft meane to come by the certagne franding and scienation of our Mande. 11 11213

Inlyke maner it bath in breaoth from the The com-Piere 02 popul of Douer, buto the farthest passe of part of Conicwall wellwardes 320, mplest Britaine. from thence agapne onto the popul of Cathnesse by the Irishe sea, 800. Whereby Polis dore and other one gather that the circuite of the whole Mande of Britaine is 1720.mples, which is full 280. lette than Cæfar both fette downe, except there be some difference bes twene the Romaine and Britishe mples. whereof heafter I maye make some farther conference.

The forme and facton of this Ide is lyke The forme bnto a Triangle, Bastarde swozde, Wiedae. or Partelant, being broadest in the South part, and gathering fill narrower and narrower, till it come to the farthest poput of Cathnelle Posthwarde where it is narrowell of all, and there endeth in maner of a 1020mon torie, which is not aboue 30. myles over, as dayly experience doth confirme.

The thortest a most vivall cut that we have the niout of our Illand to the maine, is from Douer Cance fro (the farthest part of kent eastward) onto Cas the manne. lice in Picardie, where the breath of the feats not aboue 30. niples. Which course as it is now frequented and bled for the most comon & lafe pallage of fuch as come into our contrie but of France and divers other Realmes, fo amount it bath not bene buknowne of olde time but of la co the Romannes, who for the most part been thele two hanens for their passage and revas lage to and fro; although ineliance that nowe and then, divers of them came alfo from Bullen and landed at Sandwiche, or some other places of the coalt, as to anopoe the force of 10 og the wonder and weather, that often molefted manguing them in thelenarrowe feas best liked for their waste belo lategardes. Betweene the part of Hollande also, which weth nere the mouth of the Wherie. and this our Thande, are go a furlonges; as Solimas fapeth, befide aftiers other metters, Lib.4. which being connerted into Englishe mylen, wie vielog one fundzed and fineline, and fourte "Booe fixiongs, whereby the inf biflanne inf" Britapaetrom that part of the mapine sales, both certainly appeare to be much leffe than the continuous states of auto Countries batte .og non purpose of bayes of the property of the control of of the Teltes, the Louising are his to a line of the amicion hanes of this I finde: lanivenes) bed ereceloedent immer not one in a cerbis of the subsection of the same of the corrections of the correction o

The value of their teatiles that that their inclusions that their inclusions of their desired and their states, that that at the first of fine to be and root of the Celtike kingdome, takes of Disorbes, Disorbes whose falled Spannishes, one of the fatting of any the former peares.

Amphitrite

had rrrin. conneg.

phet was the Saturne of oxiginall beginner, and of him thenceforth for a long time called Samotilea . Afterwarde in processe of tyme when as defire of rule began to take holde in the impudes of men, tech Prince endeuozed to enlarge his ewne dominios: Albion the sonne of Neptune furnamed Marcoticus (whole mo: ther also was called Amphitrite) hearing of the commodities of the Countrie, and plenti fulnece ef sople here, made a voyage ouer, & The first knoting the thing not onely correspondent on conquest of to, but also farre surmounting the report that went of this Allande, it was not long after ere he inuaded & same by force of armes, brought it to his subjection, and finally chaunged the name therofinto Albion, whereby the former denomination after Samothes did fall into otter forgetfulnesse. And thus was this Island bereft at one time both of hir auncient name, and also of hir lawfull succession of Princes descended of the lyne of Japhet, bnder whome brock the it had continued by the space of 34 1. yeres and Celts 341. ir. Princes, as by the Piltorie folowing hall eauly appeare. To speake somewhat also of Neptune, (lith

A have made mention of him in this place) it Hall not be impertinent. Dou hal bnderstand therefore that for his excellent knowledge in the Arte of Paulgation, he was reputed the most skilful Prince that lived in his time. And God of the therefore, and likeluple for his courage and bolonelle in adventuring to and fro, he was after his decease honoured as a god, and the protection of fuch as tranapled by lea commit: The man= ted to his charge. So rude also was y making ner of dect of thippes wherewith to tayle in his tyme, that finge of for lacke of better experience to calke and thippes in trimme the same after they were builded, they pled to navle them over with raive hodes, and with such a kinde of Paule: first Samothes, and then Albion arrived in this Illande.

13ut to proceede when the sappe Albion had gouerned here in this Countrie by the space of bij. yeares, it came to passe that both he and his brother Bergion were killed by Hercules at the mouth of Rhodanus, as the land Hercu les valled out of Spaine by the Celtes to go o ther into Italy, and bpo this occasion (as I as Leffrigo. ther amog the writers) not be worthy to be remembred. It happened in tyme of Lucus king of the Celtes, that Learing and his issue (who Olyzis his grandfather had placed ouer the lanigenes) dvd exercise areat tvzannie, not onely over his clone kingdome, but also in molestation of such Princes as inhabited rounde about him in most intollerable maner. Pozeo usr he was not a little incouraged in thele his doinges by Neptune his father, who trusted greatly to leave his prrty. Connes lettled in the mightiest kingdomes of the worlde, as men of whom he had already concepued this opinion, that if they had once gotten fote into any Region whatforner, it woulde not be long ere they did by some meanes or other, not onelye lanigenes. establishe their seates, but also increase their the postelimites to the better maintenance of themsel wing in ues and their polieritie for evermore. To be Italy. Most therefose, after the Gyantes, and great Princes, or mightie men of the world had conv spired and flaine the afozefand Divzis: Hercules his sonne, surnamed Libius, in the revenge of his fathers death, proclaymed open warres agapust them all, and going from place to place, he ceased not to spople their kingdomes, and therewithall to kill them that fell into his handes. Finally, having among other oucre come the Lomnimi of Geriones in Spayne, Lomnimi. and understanding that Lestrigo & his sonnes Geriones. did-vet remayne in Italie, he directed his boys age into those parts, and taking the kingdome of the Celtes in his wape, he remapned for a feason with Lucus the king of that Countrie, where he also maried his daughter Galathea, Galathea. and begat a some by hir, calling him after his mothers name Galates, of whome in my Galates. Chronologic I baue spoken more at large. In the meane time Albion understanding howe Hercules intended to make warres agapult his brother Leffrigo, he thought it good to frop him that tyde, and therefore fending for hys Bergion. beother Bergion, out of the Dechades (Where he also regigned as supreme Lorde and gover, nour) they topied their powers, & fapled over Pomponiinto Fraunce: Being arrived there, it was not us Lxius. long crethey met with Hercules and his armie, neare buto the mouth of the riner called Rhodanus, where happened a cruell condice betweenethem, in which Hercules and hys men were lyke to have low the dape, for that they were in maner werved with log warres. and their munition fore wasted in the last bois age that he had made for Spaine. Herebypen Hercules percepuing the courages of his fouldiours somewhat to abate, & sking the want of munition likely to be the cause of his fatall day and present overthrows at hande, it came sodenly into his mynde to will eche of them to defende himselfe by theolving of stones at hys enimie, wher of there lap areat store then scat tered in the place. The policie was no somer published than put in execution, whereby thep To prevapled in thende, that Hercules wan the fielde, their enemies were put to flight, and Albion and his brother both flapne, and buried Wibion in that plot. Thus was Britaine ridge of a ty- nayne. rant, Lucus king of the Celtes delinered fro an blurper (that daily incroched bpen him allo euen in his owne kingdome on that fide) and Lestrigo greatly weakened by the slaughter of his brethren. Of this invention of Herru les in lyke fort it confineth, that Jupiter father buto Hercules (who in dede was none It rayied other but Dlyzis) is fergned to throw downe fromes from heaven boon Albion and Bergion, in the defence of Percules his fon: which came to thick upon them as if great drops of raine of haple (bould have belcended from a boue, no man well knowing which wave to turne him from their violence, they came fo falt and with so areat a strength.

But to go forwarde, albeit that Albion and his power were thus discomfited and Nayne, yet the name that he game buto thys Illande dred not, but fill remained buto the time of Baute, who arriving here in the 1127. before Christ, and 2840. after the creation; not onely chaunged it into Baitayne (after it had bene called Albion, by the space of 195. peares) but to declare his louerementie ouer the realt of the Illandes also that are about the same, he called them all after the same maner, so that Albion was sayde in tyme to be Britanniarum insula maxima, that is, the greatest of those Isles that bare the name of in 2132i= tapnc.

Bzitapne. It is altogither impertment to discuss whether Hercules came into thys Idande after the death of Albion, or not, althoughe that by an auncient monument feene of late. and the Cape of Partland in the Well couns trie, called Promontorium Herculs in olde tome, divers of our Baptishe wayters dod gather great likelyhode that he thoulde also be here. But lyth hys presence or absence maketh nothing worth the alteration of the name of this our Region and Countrie, 3 valle it over as not incident to my purpole. perther will I frend any time in the beters Niger,co- mination, whether Battapne hath bene fometome a vercell of the mavne, althoughe Bricannia. It thoulde well fæme so to have bene by: cause that before the generall floude of Posh, we doe not reade of Illandes. As for the specie and timely inhabitation thereof. this is mone opinion, that it was inhabited Mostly after the division of the earth. For I reade that when ech Captayne and his come lus Antio- pany had their portions alligned unto them chemis ad by Roah in the partition that he made of Autolicum. the inhole earth among hys posteritie, they neuer ceased to trauaple and search out the bttermost boundes of the same, butill they founde out their parts atletted, and had feine and bewed the limites thereof, euch buto the very poles. It thall fuffice therefoze only to have touched these things in this manner a farre of, and in returning to our purpole, to proceed with the reaft concerning the benomination of our Alland, which was knowed buto most of the Greekes for a long time by none other name than Albion, and to lay the truth, even buto Alexanders daics:notwith, francing that Brute, as I have fappe, had chaunged the fame into Butanne, manye hunden peares before.

After Brutus I doe not find that any man attempted to chaunge it agapne, butil the trine that one Valentinus a rebell, in the Valentia dayes of Valentinianus and Valens endeud: In sipplered to revgue there, and thereuppon as Iemento, rome sayth, procured it to be called Valent Eusebij. tia. The lyke also don Theodosius in there lib 28. membraunce of the two aforelapde Emper rours, as Marcellinus faith, but as neyther of these twhe anne holde among the common fort, fo it retayned fill the name of Britaine, butill the repane of Cobert, who about the 800 peare of grace, gave forth an especiall Coia, dated at Alpuchester, that it shoulde be called Angles land, or Angellandt, for Angelland which in our time we doe pronounce it Eng. or Angles land. And this is all, right Ponourable, that land. I have to lay, touching the leverall names of this Mande, viterly millyking in the meane leafon their deutles, which make Hengifthe only parent of the later denomination, where as Ecbert; bicaule his auncelfours bescended from the Angles (one of the feauen Pations that came worth the Sarons nito Britagne, for they were not all of one, but of biners countries as Angles, Darons, Germapnes, Dnip Sa-Switchers, Pozwegiens, ic. and all come neo here at veebended binder of hame of Barons, bicame the fift of Hengist the Sapon & his copany that first with Henarqued here befoze mip of the other and there gift. to bauing now the monarchie & preheminece in manner of this whole Manoe, talled the lame-after the name of his Countrie from whence his oxiginall came, nepther Hengilt, nepthet and Dinene named Anglag medther inhactoener berination ab angulos as from a corner of the moride bearing fluxive, or hav uling degree to the at all in that behalfe, and Thindrest because the weather the What fundry Nations have inhabited in this Mander Cap application amon auctival to 1 feet share 2 flating 1 feet agreets

A Selve of no Pations can indiguously the Patrix Athendelies to have continued against on voice of their countries was first replication, which in increase of any inspection was a selected to their countries was first replications. ple momoje can this unc Mande; who fe mis leffe: nifolde commodities have oft allured funitab Princes and famous capturies of the world to complete and thomesthe lante buto these otone labicator. Hand forts obpeople that ftones.

William,

Dercules

rium Her-

Cap.2.

Chemmis race proceeding from Cham, and not onely

Writefies Wrute with a great traine of the potertite of the disported Aroianes in 324. Chyppes: who rending the loke curtesse unto the Chemini nites as they had done before but othe liede of Laplet, brought them also wholve bnder his rule and governature, and bivised the while lande among such Princes and Cape tarnes as he in his arrivall here had led out

fore have comen hither and fettled thefelues here in thus alle, and well of all other a ver-cell of the knage and posseritie of Japheth.

brought in by Samothes in the 1910. after the creation of Adam. Howbett in veocesse of tyme, and after they had indifferently reples upthed and furnplifed this Illande with people (which was done in the space of 335, peas res)Albion the Graunt afore mencioned res payred hither with a companye of his owne subued the same to his owne comminion, but becught all such in lyke fort as he found here

cethe lyne of Laphet, into miscrable serut tude and thialdome. After hymiallo, and within lesse than sire hundred yeares came of Greeta with him.

Romaines. From henceforth I doe not finde any found report of other natio, what somer that shuld adventure hither to dwell, butili the Romane Empercurs luboued it to their dominion, las uing of a felve Galles, (and those peraduen, ture of Belgie) who first comming over to robbe and pilfer boon the coasses, did after: warde plant themselves sozaltogither neare unto the fea, and there burloed funder cities and townes wintch they named after those of the mame, from whence they came into bs. But after the comming of the Romannes, it is harde to lay with bely many lostes of prople we were darly peffered, alwost in every Nade. For as they planted their fortworne Legions in the most feetile places of the Realms, and where they might best lye for the languarde of their conqueties: lo their armies dis commonly consile ef many forts of

> I thinke it beir, bicause they did all beare the tylle of Romanies, to retayne onely that name for them all, albeit they were wofull questes to this our Islande: sith that with them carne in all maner of vice and victous liming, all ryot and creeffe of behavior, which their Legions brought hyther from eche cor ner of their dominious, for there was no pronince bider them from whence they had not feruitours.

people, and were as I may call them, a confuled mixture of all other contries. Bowbeit,

Ecottes

How and when the Scottes thould arrive here out of Irelande, and from whence the Pices Coulde come buto bs, as yet it is bucertaine. For although their histories voc car riegreat countenance of their antiquitie and continuance in this Allande: pet (to lay freely what A thinke) I judge them rather to have Rolle in hither, not much before the Barons. than that they should have bene so long here, as from the one hundzeth peare after Chill. Reynulph Higden is of the opinion that the Wides did come into this Illand in the days of Severus, and that Fulgentius their cap tapne was brother to Martia, the mother of Bassianus. He addeth furthermoze howe the Dictes forfohe Bassianus, and held with Li.4 .care. Caraufius, who gave the a portion of Scots lande to inhabite, and thus wenteth he. But if Herodian be well reade, pour hal find that $ Pixes were lettled in thys They before the time of Severus, e pet not fo lone as that Tacicus can make any mention of the in the co. quest that Agricola his father in law made of p Porth parts of this Illand. Repther doe I reade of the Scots or Pices before the time of Antoninus Verus, in the bearming of whose thirde pere (which concurred with the rby. of Lucius king of Britaine) they invaded thys South part of the Alle, and were reducento obedience by Trebellius the Legate. Certes the tyme of Samothes and Albion have some likely limitation, and so we mape gather of the coming in of Baute. The vopage that Cxfarmade likewple is certainely knowne to fail out in the 54, before the birth of Chaiff. In iphe foat that the Sarons arry, ued here in the 449. The Danes, and with them the Gethes, Clandates, Porwegians, te.in the 791. Finally the Pozmans in 1066. and Flemminges in the tyme of Henry the first (although they came not in by conquest, but oppon their humble sute had a place in Ed ales assigned them to inhabite in, by king Henry then reigning, after the deciming of

But when the Pices and Scottes Hould enter-neither doe our hystories make any repost, nepther their owne agræamong the. selues by manye hundzeth yeares. Wheres fore as the tyme of their arrivall here is not to be founde out, so it shall suffice to grue notice that they are but strangers, and such as by obscure invasion have nessed in thes Buande.

The Sarons became first acquainted with Sarons. thys Ide, by meanes of the przacie which they daily practifed byon our coaffes (after they had once begume to adventure themsels ues also boon the seas, thereby to sæke out more wealth then was nowe to begotten in these well partes of the mayne, which they & their neighbors had aireadie spoyled in most lamentable and barbarous maner) howbeit they never durit presume to inhabite in this Alland, untill they were fent for by Mortiger to forue him in his warres agapus & Dides e Scottes, afterthat the Romainen had gi uen be over , e left be wholp to our sime de fence a regiment. Being therefore comen in thre bottomes or keles, fin short time espiing the pole a negligent behaniour of & Baps tons and fertilitie of our lople, they were not a little inflamed to make a full conquest of fuch as they came to avoe and fuccour. Here byon also they fell by little and little to the lounding in of greater nubers of their couns trymen with their wrues and children into this region, so that within a whole they be: gan to molest the homelings (for so I finde b word Indigena to be englished in an old boke that I have, wherin Aduena is translated alfo an homeling) and cealed not from time to time to cotinue their purpole, butill they had gotten possession of the whole, or at the leasts Ivile the greatest part of our coutry, the Bais of the Islande to sæke newe inhabitations.

The Moz-

The description of Britaine.

tons in the meane lealon being driven evther into Wales & Cornewall-or altogither out

In like maner the Danes (the nert nation that (ucceded) came at the first onely to pile fer a robbe boon the frontiers of our Alland. till that in the end being let in by the Welch men or Brytons to renenge them boon the Sarons, they no leffe plagued the one then the other, their friendes, then their aoneria. ries. Cécking by all meanes possible, to esta blish themselnes in the sure vossessio of Bape tayne. But such was their successe, that they prospered not long in their device for so great was their loodlineffetheir crueltie and infatiable delire of riches, beside their detestable abuling of chalf matrones, e young virgines (whole bulbandes and parentes were baily inforced to become their brudges and flaues inhylest they sate at home and fed like Drone bes of the (wet of their trauaple flabours) that God I sap would not suffer the to contime any while over bs. but when be sain his time he remoued their poke, and gave be lie bertie, as it were to breath vs, thereby to fé whether this his tharpe scourge coulde have moved bs to repentaunce and amendement of our lewde and finnefull lives, 02 not. But whe no signe therof appeared in our hearts. he called in an other nation to bere be 3 meane the Normans, a people of whom it is worthily doubted, whether they were more barde and cruell to our countrymen then the Danes, or more heavye and intollerable to our Illande then the Sarons oz Romaynes, yet such was our lotte, in these dayes by the devine appointed order, that we must néedes ober, such as the Lorde dvd set over bs. a so much the rather, for that all power to relift was biterly taken from bs. and our armes made so weake and feeble that they were not now able to remove the importable loade of the Bormanes from our surburdened thoule ders: And this onely A lay agavne, bycaule tog refused grace offred in time and woulde not heare when God by his Preachers did call be so fauourably buto him.

Thus we le howe from time to time this Illande hath not onely bene a prayer but as to were a common receptacle for Araungers. the natural bo melinges being still cut those ter and hoster, as I same before, till in the ende they came not onely to be driven into a corner of this region, but in tyme also berie like otterly to have ben ertinguished. For had not king Coward surnamed the saine in his time after grienous warres, made bypon them (wherein Garle Harald, some to God. wine after king of Englande was his ges nerall) permitted the remnaunt of their wos men to forme in marrage with the English men (when the most part of their busbandes * male children were flavne with the (worde) it coulde not have bene otherwyle cholen but their whoie race must needes have suffavned the bitter most confusion, and thereby the med morie of the Britans otterly have perithed.

Whether it be likely that there were ever any Gyaunts inhabiting in this Isle or not. Cap. 4.

Pelides their afozelapde nations, which D bave crept as you have bearde into our Allande, we reade of funday Opaunts that Coulde inhabite pere y which report as it is not altogither incredible, fith the posterities of divers princes were called by a name : fo unto some mens earen it fermeth fo fir aimas a rebearfall, that for the fame onely they for speat the credite of our whole bufforte and refect it as a fable bulmarthe to be read, for this caule therefore I have notice taken bron me to make thus briefe discourse insumatherby to prome that the opinio of Spannts is not altogither grounded boon bapie & fabelons narrations invented only to belife the eares of the bearers in the the report of marucilous things. 15ut that there have bene fuch men in dede, as for their bugeneffe of per fon have resembled rather + highe towers then mortall men, althoughtheir polierities are now confumed, and their monfrhous races biterly woine out of this willings.

3 doe not meane berinte dispute wi

Danes.

e de

their countrie) it is easie to be promed.

lamenta:

this name was gluen buto them, rather for their tyrannie and oppression of the people, then for their greateness of bodie, or whe ther the worde Gygas dweth onclye fignifie

Indigenas, or homelinges, borne in the lande 92 not neyther whether all men were of like quantitie in fature and farre more greater in olde tome then at this present they be, and petablolutely I denie nepther of these, lith very probable reasons may be brought for eche of the, but especially the last rehearled, whose confirmation dependeth byon the aw thostiyes of fundate auncient waiters, who make divers of poble race, equall to the Grauntes in Arength, and manhode, and yet doe not grue the same name buto them, by: cause their quarels were just, and commonly taken in hande, for defence of the oppressed.

Grampic hereof, also we may take of Hercules and Antheus, whose wrestling veclareth that they were equall in frature & Comacke, fuch also was the courage of Antheus, that being often ouercome, and as it were otters ly vanquished by the say de Hercules, pet if he did eftienes returne agapue into his king. dome, he furthis recovered his force, retur, aunt. But fith I fage it is not my purpole to Cande by son these pointes, I palle ouer to focake any more of them, and where as also

A might have proceeded in such order, that I

Coulde first set downe by many circumstancon, whether any Opauntes were, then whe ther the piwere of such huge & incredible state

ture as the authours doc remember, and h nally whether any of them have beine in this our plande or not, I protest playing that my minde is not nowe bent to deale in any such maner, but rather generally to confirme and by sufficient authoritie that there have bene mightye men of stature, and some of them

also in Britaine, as by particular examples thalbe manifeltly confirmed without & obseruation of any methode, or such divisió in the rehearfal hereof as found order doth require.

Moles the Drophet of the Lord, writing of the state of things before the sloud bath these locides in his boke of generations. In these daies faith be,there were Siauts opo y erth,

Berosus, also the Chalde, writeth that niere unto Libanus there was a city called Denon

(which I take to be Denoch, builded somtime ned thelde Herculestacke, till he gate at the last betweene him 4 home, so cutting of the farder hope of the restozing of his army, and killing finally his adversarie in the field. The like ooc our histories report of Corineus and Gomagot, who fought a combate hande to Gomagos. hande, till one of them was flapne, 4 pet for all this no man reputeth Corineus for a Ty

In the fecond of Samuell, I finde report of Can. L. finders and toes, whereby it is enfocut, that tours woulde have it.

by Cham) wherein Gyauntes dyd inhabit, who trusting to the strength and hugenesse of their bodies, byd berge great oppzellion and mischiefe in the worlde. The Hebrues called them generally by the name of Enach pers adventure of Henoch the sonne of Cain, fro whom that pestilet race at the first desceded.

And of these motters also some families remained buto the time of Woles, in comparts fon of whom the children of Acraell confessed Nu.cap.13 themselues to be but Grashoppers, which is berf. 33.4 one noble testimonie that the word Gygas or 34. Enach is so well taken for a man of buce fature, as for an homeborne childe, wicked tyzaunt, and oppressour of the people.

Furthermoze, there is mention made also of Da, sometyme king of Basan, who was Deut.3. the last of the race of the Spaunts, that was vers. ii. left in the lande of promise to be overcome by Dg of the Fraclites, whose bedde was afterwarde Balan. thewed for a wonder at Kabbath (a citie of the Ammonites) and contenned 9. cubites in length and 4.in bredth, which cubites I take to be geometricall, that is, eache one fire of the imaller, as opd those also whereof the Arke was made, as our Divines affirme.

An the first of Samuell pouthall reade of Cap.it. Boliath a philistine, the weight of whose Ta, ber.4.5.6. berde og tacke was of fine hundzeth ficles, og Goliah. fo many ounces, that is, 312. pound after the rate of a licle to an ounce, his speare was like a weavers beame, the onelve head whereof weighed 600, ounces of v2011, 02 37, pounde and a halfe english, his beight also was meas fured at 6. cubites and an hande bredth, all which do importe that he was a notable Gp. aunt, and a man of great strength to weare fuch an armour & beweld to heavy a launce.

4. Graunts borne in Weth, of which the third ber. 16. was like buto Goliath, & the fourth had 24. 17.8c. the generation of Spaunts were not ertinguithed in Palestine, butill the tyme of Das uid, which was 2890, after the floude, noz bts terly confumed in Og, as some of our erposis

Pow to come onto our chaiffen waiters, for although the authorities already alleged out of the worde, are sufficient to confirme mp purpole at the full, pet will I not let to let dolune such other notes as erverience bath renealed, onelye to the ende that the reader Mall not thinke the name of Graunts, with their quantities, and other circumstaunces. mentioned in the scriptures, rather to have foine millicall interpretation, depending by pon them, then that the sence of the tert in this behalfe is to be taken simple as it lyeth. S. Augustine cap.9.

De ciuitate S. Augustine noteth how he saw the toth of a dei lib.15. man, wherof he toke god adussement & pros nounced in the ende that it would have made 100. of his owne, 02 any other mans that lys ned in his tyme. The like hercof also doeth Iohn Bocase set dolune, in the 48. Chapter of his fift boke, saying that in & caue of a mous tapne, not farre from Drepanum, (a towne of Sicilia) the body of an erceding high Graunt was disconcred, the of whose teth did weigh 100 gunces, which being connected into Env gliff poise, doth yelde 8. pounde and 4. ouns ces, after twelve ounces to the pounde.

The bodye of Pallas was founde in Italy,

in the peare of grace. 1038. and being meas

sured it conteined 20. fote in legth, this Pallas case also law bare in England bpo the shoze,

(where the beating of the fea had walhed as way & yearth from the from wherein it lay) &

when it was taken by, it conteined, co.fote in measure, as our histories doe reporte. The tyke was fone in Wales, in the yeare. 1087.

of 14 fote. In Perth mozeouer a village in Scotlande another was taken by, which to this day they shewe in a Church, bower the name of little John, being alfo 14. fote in length as divers doe aftirme which have beholden the same. In the peare of grace. 1475.

the body: of Tulliola daughter onta: Cicero, was taken by and found higher by not a fewe fete then the common forte of women living in those dayes. Geruasius Tilberiensis, hedde

Barthall to the King of Arles writeth, in his Chronicle dedicated to Otho. 4. howe that at Isoretum, in the suburbes of Paris, he faire the bodge of a man that was twentpe fote long, beside the heade and necke, which was milling and not founde, the owner has uing peraduenture bene beheadded for some notable trespasse committed in times pakt.

A carkalle was taken by at Jupe Church

In Gillelland in Come Whitton paroche not far from the chappell of the Doze, fire miles by Galt from Carleill, a coffin of Cone was founde, and therein the bones of a man, neresalisburve but of late to speake of, al.

Mat. West-

Ichannes Leland. Masscus.

of William conquerour was fene not many Constans peares lince,in the Citie of Cane, twelue yns fama Gathes longer, by findgment of such as saw it, lorum. tha any man which dwelled in the countrep. At which testimonies I note togither bicause they proceede from Chailtian writers, from whome nothing thoulde be farther or more pissant, then of let purpose to lie , & feede the world with Fables. Powe it refleth furthers moze ý I set downe, what I have read therof in Pagane writers, who had alwayes great regarde of their credit, and so ought all men that dedicate any thing onto posteritie, least m going about otherwise to reape renowme and ptaile, they doe procure unto themselves in the ende nothing else but mere contempt and infamy: for my part 3 will touch rare thinges, and such as to my selse doe seme almost incredible : howbest as I find them, so I note them, requiring your Honour in reas ding hereof, to let euerve Anthor beare hus owne burden, and enery Dre his bundle.

Plutarche telleth home Sertorius being in Invita Ser-Libia, nere unto the fretes of Maroco, cau torij de fed the Sepulchie of Antheus, afore remems Antheo. bred to be opened, for hearing by common ree rost that the faide Graunt lay burged there, whose coms was co. cubits long at the least, he was to far of fro crediting the same, that he would not beleve it, butil he law the coffined pen wherein the bones of the afozefaid viince did rest. To be thost therefore, he caused his fouldiers to cast downe the hil made somtime over the tombe, and finding the bodie in the bottome, after the measure thereof taken, he sawe it manifestly, to be 60. cubits in length, which were ten more then the people made accompt of.

Philostrate in Heroices fayth, how he same Philostrate the body of a Grant 30 cubits in length, also the carkaffe of another of 22, and the thirde, Df 12.

Plinie telleth of an Carthquake at Creta, which discouered the body of a Gyant, which Lib.7. was 46.cubits in length after the Romaine standerde, and by dyners supposed to be the bonve of Orion 02 Ætion.

Trallianus writeth holve the Athenienles Trallianus. digging on a time in the grounde to laye the fourbatio of their new walles in the dayes of an Emperour, did finde the bones of Macro fyzis in a coffin of harde ftone, of 10. cubites in length after the accompt of the Konraine cubite, which was then a fote and air halfe & not much diffrence from halfe a parde of our measure nowe in Englande. In the time of Padziane themperour the body of a Graunt was take by at Mellana conteining 20. fote in length, thaning a double row of teeth, yet

mon.

was copanion with Ancas. There was a care

Thomas Glist.

Leland.

of moze then incredible greatnes. Kicharve Grafton, in his Manuell telleth of one whole fainne bone conteined fire fote, a his scul so great that it was able to receive 5. peckes of wheate, wherefore by confeaurall most 14 fote long.

symmetrye of these partes, his bodye must nedes be of 28. fote, or rather more, if it were diligently discussed.

Richard

The body of king Arthur being found in the vere 1189, was two fote higher than any man that came to behold & same, finally the carcas itanding whole in his chaps, In Dalmatia, manye graves were haken open with an cartbauake, in one of which about the rest, a carcalle was found whose rivbe contemed 16. rlies, after the Romaine measure, wherby $ whole body was judged to be 64. Lith y logest rib is comonly about of fourth part of a man, as some Simmetricies affirme, Arrhian saith that in the time of Alexander the bodies of § Asianes were generally of huge stature, and commonly of c. cubits such was the height of Pozus of Inde, whome Alexander banquis thed and overthrew in battaile. Sudas spear keth in like maner of Sanges, killed likewife by the lard prince, who farre erceded Porus for he was 10, cubits log. But of al thefe this one example hall paste, which I doe reade also in Trainanus 4 he setteth downe in forme

In the daies of Tiberius themperoz saith he a cozps was left bare or lande open after an

and manner folioloina.

ertimushe of which echo toth coteined 12.911 ches ence at y lear, new foralmuch as in such as be full mouthed eche chap hath 16.teth at the least, which is 32. in & whole, nedes must the loydenesse of this mannes chappes be firetone fote, and the opening of his lippes 10. A large mouth in mine opinion and not to feete with Ladics of my time, besides that sfoccasion served, it was able to receive the whole bodyc of a man, I meane of such as flourish in our dates. Whe this carcase was thus founde, encry man marueyled at it and god cause why, a messenger also was sente buto Diberius themperour to know his pleas teacmade sure, whether he wold have the same brought of a mone cuer buto Rome or not, but he forbade them, Arous car- willing his Legate not to remove the deade cut of his resting place, but rather to sende him a toth out of his head, which being done, takenout of phead. he gave the same to a cunning workeman, commanding him to hape a carcalle of light matter after the viovozcion of the toth, that at the least by such meanes he might satisfie his curious minde, and the fantalies of luch as are delited with newes.

This man To be first whe the ymage was once made was more and let up an end, it appeared rather an huge collossy then the true representation of the fter then carcaffe of a man, and when it had ffande in Rome untill the people were wearpe of it pics were and thoselely latilifed with the light thereof, to the bos he caused it to be broken all to pieces, and the toth sent agains to the carcalle from the bead whence it came, willing them moreover to Who tare couer it diligentle, tin env wife not to difiné; her the come nor from thenceforth to be fo perces to harote as to oven the feynlehie any moze. I could rehearfe many mo examples of the box dies of fuch men, out of Solinus, Sabellicus Coper, and other, but these here thall suffise to proue my purpole with all. I might tell pou in like forte of the stone which Turnus threwe at Aneas, which was such as that 12. chosen and picked men (Qualia nunc hominum producit corpora tellus.) Vis vnita were not able to Aurre and remove out of fortior est the place, but I palle it oner, & divers of the perfa-like, concluding that these huge blockes were ordeined and created by God: first for a testimonie buto bs, of his power and myght, fe, condip for a confirmation that hugenesse of bodge is not to be accompted, of as a part of cur felicitie, lith they which possessed & same, were not onely tyzauntes, doltyth, and eugli men, but also oftentimes overcome even by the weake and fæble. Finally they were such in dede as in whome the Lorde delited not, accozoing to the laying of the Brophet Bas ruch.

Ibi fuerunt gigantes nominati,illi qui ab initio fuerunt statura magna, scientes bellum, hos Cap. 3.36. non elegit dominus, neque illis viam disciplinæ dedit, propterea perierunt, & quoniam no habuerunt sapientian, interierunt propter suam insipientiam.&c.

There were the Grants, famous from the beginning, that were of fo great stature & fo ervert in warre. Those did not the Lorde chose neither gave he the way of knowledge onto them. But they were destroied, because they had no wisedome, and perished through their owne folithnelle.

Of the generall Language vsed from time to time in Britaine. Chap.5.

W Hat language came first with Sai Bretuch. mothes a afterwards with Albion, a the Cyants of his copanie, it is hearde for me small to determine, lith nothing of found credit res difference maynethin writing which mayo resolue bs between § in the truth hereof, yet of so much are we cer, buttilh & teine, that the speach of vancient Baitons, languages. and of the Celtes had great affinitie one with another, so that they were either all one, oz at the least wyle such as epther nation with smal helpe of interpreters might buderstand other, and readily discerne what the speaker

The Brittish tongue doth pet remayne in Brittish that part of the Islande, which is nowe cale corrupted led Wales, whether the Beitons were deine by the Laafter the Sarons had made a full conquest of time and the other, which we now ecall Englands, al speaches. though the pristmate integritic therof be not a little diminished by mirture of the Latine & Saron speaches, howbett, many poefics and writings, (in making whereof that nation hath evermoze ercelled) are yet ertant in my time, whereby some difference betweene the aunciet a present language, may easily be dis cerned, notwithfranding that amog all these there is nothing to be founde, which can let downe any founde testimonic of their owne oziginall, in remembraunce whereof, their Bardes & cunning men haue bene most slacke and nealigent. It is a speache in mine opinio much favouring of that, which was some time bled in Grecia, and learned by the res liques of the Troyanes, whylest they were captive there, but how foever the matter Canneth, after it came once over into this 3, flande, fore it is, that it could never be ertinguilher for all the atients that the Romains, Sarons, Pozmans, and Englishmen coulde make against that nation, in any maner of wvse.

The description of Britaine.

Detigrées & genealogies also the Welche tons del = 132vtons haue plentie in their owne tongue, insomuch that many of them can readily des rive the same, eyther from Brute or some of his bande, even onto Eneas and other of the Troyanes, and so forth buto Posh without any maner of frome, but as I know not what credite is to be given buto them in this behalfe, so I dare not absolutely impugne their allertions, lith that in times past all nations (learning it no dout of the Hebrues) did berp solemnely preserve the Cataloges of their discentathereby evther to thew themselves of auncient and noble race, oz else to be discended from some one of the goddes.

Pert buto the Brittishe speache, the latine tongue was brought in by the Komaines, whereof I will not fav much, bycause there are few which be not skilfall in & same. How heit as the speache it selfe is case and oelecas ble, so hath it percerted the names of the auncient ryuers, regions, and cities of Wais tapne in such wpse, that in these our dayes their olde Brittish denominations are quite growen out of memorie, and those of the new latine, left as most incertapne. This remaps neth also buto my tyme, bosowed from the Romannes that all our dedes, euidences, charters, and writinges of recorde, are let downe in the latine tongue, and therebuto the copies and courtrolles, and processes courtes and letes registred in the same.

The thirde language apparauntly knowen is the Scythian or highe Dutche, brought in at the first by the Sarons, an hard and rough kinde of speach god wotte; when our nation was brought first into acquaintance withall.

but now chaunged with be into a farre moze fine and easie kind of otteraunce, and so polithed and belied with new and milder wordes that it is to be advouched howe there is no one speache onder the some spoken in our time, that bath or can have more varietie of words, covie of phrases, or figures or floures of eloquence, the hath our Englishe tongue, although some have aftirmed be rather to barke as dogs, then talke like men, because the most of our wordes (as they doe in dede) incline buto one fyllable.

After the Saron tongue came the Pozma Che fre-

or frenche language, ouer into our countrep che tong. and therein were our lawes written for a log tyme, our children also were by an especiall decree taught first to sveake the same, and all to exile the Englishe and Brittishe speaches out of the coutry, but in vaine, for in the time of king Cowarde the first, and towarde the latter ende of his reigne, the Frenche it selfe ceased to be spoken generally, and then bes ganne the Englishe to recover and growe in moze estimation then befoze, not with stading that amog our artificers, & most part of their implements a twies reteine Mil their French denominatios to these our daies, as the lans quageit felf, is bled likewife in füdzy courts, bokes and matters of law, wher of here is no place to make any farder rehearfall. Afters ward also, by the diligent traveile of Geffray Chauser, and John Gowze in the time of Ki chard the second, & after the of John Scoga, e John Lydgate monke of Werry, our tong was brought to an ercellent palle, notwithstanding that it never came, but the type of perfection, butill the time of Dukene Elizas beth, wherein many excellent waiters have fully accomplished the ornature of the same, to their great prayle and immortall commes dation. But as this excellencie of the English tongue is founde in one, and the fouth part of this Illande, so in Wales the greatest no ber as I sappe retagne Will their owne aunu cient language, that of the Lorth part of the sayd countrep, being less corrupted then the other, and therefore reputed for the better in their owne estimation and judgement.

-The Countly and Denonthice men, have a The Co2= speach in like sozte of their owner and such as with toque. hath in deede moze affinity with the Armozicane tongue, then I can well discusse of, pet in mine opinio thep are both but a corrupted kinde of Brittish, albeit so farre degenerating in these dayes, that if evther of them do mete with a Welch man, they are not able at the first to brockstand one another, except here and there in some oode wordes, without the helpe of interpretours. And no marueila ron tong.

Latine.

in mine opinion that the Brittish of Cornes wall is thus corrupted, fith the Welch tong that is (potien in the north and fouth part of Walcs, both differ so much in it selfe as the English vico in Scotlande, doth from that which is spoken among by here in this lide of the Illande, as I have laide already.

The Scottish englishe is much broader and lesse pleasaunt in otterance, then ours, because that nation hath not hitherto indes noured to bring the same to any perfit order, und pet it is luch in maner, as Englichmen themiclues doe speake, for the most part be: ponde the Arent, whether the aforelayde as mendement of our language, hath not as yet very much extended it selfe.

Thus we see how that under the dominis on of the kinge of Englande, and in the fouth partes of the realme, we have these severall tongues, that is to lay, English, Bayttish, F Coznili, and even so many are in Scotland, if you accompt the Englishe speach for one: netwithstanding that for breath and quantis tic of the Region, it be somewhat lesse to sée to then the other. For in the Porth part of The wilde the Region, where the wilde Socottes, others Scottes. wyle called the Redhankes, or Rough foted

Redfinks. Scottes (bycause they go bare swted clad Rough sw- in mantels over their saffron shirtes after ted Scots. the Frishe maner) doe inhabite, they speake god Frishe, whereby they shew their ozigis nall to have in times pair bene fetched out of

In the Ides of the Ozcades, or Dikency, as they now call them, and such coastes of 1526 taine as doe abutte byon the same, the Got: tish or Dainth speach is altogither in vie, by reason as I take it, that the princes of 202: way helde those Allandes so long under their subjection, albeit they were otherwyse reputed, rather to belong buto Irelande, by cause that the very sople of them is enemie to poplon, as some write, although for my part I had never experience of the truth hers of, And thus much have I thought god to speake of these are languages nowe vsually spoken within the limites of our Islande.

Into how many kingdomes the Isle of Britaine hath bene deuided at once in olde time. Cap.6.

Britaine TI is not to be voubted, but that at the first arthefirst I the whole Mande was ruled by one onely one entier vince, and so continued from time to time, butill civile discorde, grounded bpon ambis tions befire to reigne, caused the same to be governed by divers. And this I meane to wel of the time before the comming of Brute, as after the extinction of his whole race and posterity. Powbeit as it is incerteine, into how many regions it was severed after the first particion, so it is most sure that this latter disturbed estate of regiment, continued in the same, not onely untill the time of Cafar, but also in maner onto the dayes of Lucius, with whome the whole race of the Britons had an ende, and the Romagnes full postessio of this Mande, who governed it by Legates after the maner of a province. It thould seme also y within a whyle after the time of Dunwallon (who rather brought those 4. Prins ces that burped in his tyme to obedience, then extinguished their titles, and such partition as they had made of the Illande among théselues) eche great citic had hir frédome and severall kinde of regiment, proper buto hir selfe, beside a large circuite of the country appertment buto the same, wherin were sundive other cities also of lesse name, which ought homage all subsection onto the great ter forte. And to fap truth hereof, it came to paste, that eache region, whereinto this Iflande was than devided, take his name of some one of these as many appeare by that of the Trinobantes, which was so called of Trinobantum the chiefe citie of that postion, whose Territories, contayned all Esser, Middlefer, and part of Pertforde thire, even as the jurisoició of the Bishop of London is now erteded, for the overlight of such things as belong buto the Church. Eche of the gonernours also of these regions, called thems selves kings, and therebuto eyther of them pavly made warre upon other, for the inlars ging of their limites. But foralmuch as A am not able to save howe many byd chalenge this authoritie at once, and howe long they reigned over their severall postions, I will valle over these auncient times, and come never buto our owne, I meane the 600. pere of Thist, wherof we have more certains no: tice, a at which season there is evident profe, that there were 12, 02 13, kinges reigning in this Illande.

The finde therefore for the first howe that wales de-Wales had hir thic fenerall kingdomes, al video into though that postion of the Islande extended bonies. in those dayes no farder the about 200.miles in length, & one hundred in bredth, and was cut from Lhoegres by the rivers Saverne & De of which two streames this both fall into the Irish sea at Chester, the other into the manne Deeane, betwirt Somerletthire and Southwales, as their scuerall courses doe witnesse moze at large.

In the beginning it was devided into two kingdomes onely, that is to lay, Venedotia, Gwinhed, Swinhed. Gwinhed, and Demetia, for which we now vie most commonlye the names of South and Porth Wales, but in processe of time a thirde sprange by in the verye middelf betwene them both, which from thenceforth was called Powyly, as thalbe thewed hereafter.

The first of these thie, being called as I

Arfon.

Merio=

Venedotia. sayo Posthwales of Venedotia (of as Paulus, Iouius laith Malfabrene, foz he deutoeth wales also into thie regions, of whiche he calleth p first Dumbera, the seconde Berfrona, & the third Malfabrene) lyeth directly over against Angleley. P Ide of Angleley. It containeth 4. regions, of which the layde Idano is the first, & where of in the chapter infuing I wil intreate moze at large. The seconde is called Arfon, and fis tuate betweene two rquers, the Segwy & the Contop: The thirde is Merioneth, fasit is scucred from Arfon by the Conwy, so is it se parated from Tegenia, (otherwyle called Stradcluvd a Igenia the fourth regio by the river Cluda. Finally the limits also of thys latter: are extended also euch buto the De it selfe, and of these 4. Regions, consideth the kingdome of Venedotia, wherve in times patt

the region of the Canges was not the smal-clupd or

Dowilp.

lest postion. The kingdome of Powify, last of all erect ted, as I favde, hath on the north lide Gwinhed on the Cast (from Chester to Percforde, or rather the Deanc foreit) Englande: on the fouth and west the runer TAv, and very highe hilles, whereby it is notablye seuered from Southwales, the chiefe citie thereof being Shropsprie, that nowe is inhabited with miere English, and where, in olde time the kinges of Bowyly dvd dwell and holde their vallaces. Upon the limits of this king. dome, and not farre from Holt castell, byon cache five of the river, as the chanell nowe runneth. Amde sometime the famous Donas stery of Bagoz, whylest the abated glozy of the Britons, pet remapned bnertinguished. herin were 2100. monkes, of which, the lears ned fort byd preache the Gospell, and the bn. learned laboured with their hands, therby to maintepne themselves, and to sustaine their preachers. This Region was in lyke fort des uided afterward in twaine, of which, the one was called Mailor of Mailrosse, the other res tarned fill his olde denomination, tof these the first lay by fouth, and the latter by north of the Sauerne, whereof let this luffice, lith mine intent is not as nowe to make any pres cife descriptio, of the particulars of Wales, but onely to thewe, howe those regions lave, which sometime were knowen to be governed in that countrep.

The third kingdome is Demetia, or South Demetia wales, sometime knowen for the region of the Sollures, where but Tallo am perswas ded, that the Ordolukes lay in the Cast part thereof, and extended their region, even buto the Sauerne: but how soever that matter fal leth out, Demecia bath the Sauerne on bir fouth, the Frish sea on hir west partes, on the raff the Sauerne only, and by Porth the land of Powofp, whereof I ipake of late.

Df this region also Caermarden, which the olde waiters call Maridunum, was the chiefe pallace, untill at the last thozowe forcer and civill invalions of enimies, that the Princes thereof were constrayned to remove they? courts to Dinefar (which is in Cantermaluz, and lituate neverthelesse boron the same roe uer Tewpe whereon Cairmarden Kands eth) where it is farrebetter defended with high hilles, thicke woodes, craggy rockes, and deepe mariles. In this region also lyeth Dembroke Three whole fawcons have bene in olde time very much regarded, and there in likewyle is Wilforde hanen, whereof the Welch wolards doe dreame fraunge topes, which they believe, Mall one dave come to valle.

That Scotlande had in these dayes two Piatano. Hingtomes, (besides that of the Orchades) Scotland. wherofthe one consisted of the Pices, & was Dices. called Pightland of Pictande, the other of Scottes. the Scottill race, & named Scotland: I hope no wife man will readily denie. The whole regio or portion of the Ale beyonde the Scottill fea also was so divided that h Dices lay on the Cait lide, and the Scots, on the West. eche of them being senered from other, epther by huge hilles or great lakes and riversy but ran out of the South into the north betweine them: Wherefore the cafe being to playing I will say no moze of these two but processe in order with the rehearfall of the rest of the particular kingdoms of this our louth part of b Ale, limiting out & same by Widzes as they now ipe, to nere as I ca, for otherwife it that's be impossible for me to leave certaine notice of the likeliest quantities of these their lene rall postions.

The first of these kingdomes therfore was begonne in Bent by Henghilt in the 456. of met hens Christ, and thereof called the kingdome of ghilt. Bent: and as the limites thereof extended it felf no farther then the lapte countle (& chiefe Citie inhereof was Dorobernia oz Canter. bury) so it endured well nere by the space of 400. yeares, before it was made an Carles dome, and united by Iwas unto that of the West Sarons, Athelsane his some, being & first Carle or heretoche of the same. Paiser Bangoz.

Lambert in his hostorie of Bent doth gather, by very probable conjectures, that this part of the Mande was first inhabited, by Samothes, and afterwarde by Albion ; but howfoes uer that case Candeth, sure it is that it hath bene the onely doze, a hereby the Komaines and warons made their entric onto the conquest of the region. And as this cannot be denyed, for it was the onclye place by which the knowledge of Shift was first brought ouer buto be, whereby we became partakers of faluation, and from the darknesse of misty errour, true connerts unto the light, & bright beames of the spining truth, to our eternall benefit, and enolesse comforts hereafter.

Southfir. The second Lingdonie contented only Sulfer t a part of Surrey, which Ella the Saron first helde: who also erected his chiefe pallace at Thichester, whe he had deitroied Andreds walde in the 492, of Chaiff, and after it had continued by the space of 232, peares, it ceased being the very least kingdome of all the rest, which were founded in this yle after the come ming of the Sarons.

Erken:

The third regiment was of the Caff Sar ons, or Trinobates. This kingbome began on der Erkenlogne, whose chiese seate was in Londo (az Colchester) a cótemed whole Esfer, a part of Herfozoshyze. It indured also much about the pricke of 303. peres, t was divided fro that of the East angles onery by the rever Stour, as Poueden & other due report, a loit continueth seperated from Suciolize even buto our times, although the lavdo river be growns bery small, and not of such greatnes as it both bene in times pate, by reason that our Country men make finali accompt of riv make manifelt deciaration.

The fourth king dome was of h West Hare ons, and to called by cause it lay in the West part of the realme, as that of Gifer did in the Call, of Suller and South. It began in the peare of grace $19, bnder Terdic, findured butil the comming of h Asymanes, including Wilthyre, Barkellyre, Dorfet, Southamps ton, Sumersetlhyze Glofferthyze, some part of Denonthese (which the Bytons occupied not) Comewal and the rest of Surrepas the best authours do set downe. The chiefe Citie of this kingdome allo was Winchester, er, cept my memory doe fayle me.

uers, thinking carriage made by hople a cart to be the lette chargeable ways. But hovem how far they are decerued. I will exceed ere Bienicia. The fift laingdome beganne bnder Ida, in alias Mor= the 548.0f Chaiff being called now fanathus berland because it lave by papeth of the riner Dumber, it conteined all that region which as it houlde lame, was in time past epther wholly apperteining to & Brigants, or wheres of the layde Brigants, did policile the greater part. The chiefe Citie of the same in like mas ner was Pothe, as Leyland and other one fet downe, who adde thereto that it extended fro the humber onto the Scottish lea.

Afterwarde in the years of grace 560, it weira. was parted in twaine, binder Adda, that yell Glia. ded by all hys pozition, which lave betweene humber and the Tine onto his Bzother Ella (according to their Fathers appointment) who called it Deira , 02 Southumberlande, but reterning the rest stil buto his owne vse, he diminished not his title, but wrote himself as before king of al Porthumberland. How, beit after 91. peres, it was reunited againe, & so continued butill Alfrede buited the whole to his kingdome, in the 331. after 3da, 02 878. after the birth of Jelus Christ our Saufour.

The 7.kingdome, called of the Castangles Eastangles. began at Pozwitch in the 561. after Chaiff, Offa, a quo bnder Dffa, of whom they were log time at, offelinge. ter called Offelings. This included all Pozo folke, Sussolke, Cabriogeshyze, Ely, & co. tinuing 228, peres it flourished only 35, peres in perfite estate of Liberte, the reast being confumed buder the trybute and vallallage of the mercias, who had & souereigntye ther, of, theloe it with great honour. Some take this region to be all one with that of the Icenes, but as pet for my part I cannot peloe to their affertions, I meane it of Lelande, himselfe, whose helpe I vie altogither in these collections, albert in this behalfe I am not refolied, that he both inoge aright.

The 8. and last was that of Mercia, which Mercia. indured 291, peares, and for greatneffe of cit, Creodda. cuit, erceded all the reast. It toke the name cycher of Meare the Saron word, because the limits of most of the other kingdomes abutted byothe same, or else for that the lawes of Mercia, were first bled in that part of the 3, lande. But as the later is but a mere confecture of some, so it began under Creodda, in § 585. and indured well nere 300. peres, before it was builted to that of the West Sarous by Alfrede, then reigning in the kingdome, Before him the Danes had gotten holde thereof. and placed one Ceolulphe an Ideote in the same, but as he was some rejected for his folly, so it was not long after ere the sappe Alfrede annered it to his kingdome.

The limites of the Pertian dominios, con- Limits of teined Lincolne, Porthampto, Cheffer, Dar, Mercia. by, Pottingham, Staffoed, Huntington Kutlande, Drfozde, Buckingham, Wlozcester, Bedforde Chyres, and the greatest part of Shropfly: e (which the Welch occupied not) Lancalier, Glocelter, Herefozd (alias Burch forde) Alarwije and Pertforde thyres, the rest of whose territories were holden by such vinces of other hingdomes thosow force as bossered byo the same. And thus much hand Trhought god to leave in menicipe of the as foresaid kingdomes, not omitting in § means time somewhat here to remember of the diutifien of the Plant also into Provinces, as the Romaines scuered it whiles they remay: ned in these parts. Which being done, I hope that I have fullye discharged whatsoever is promised in the title of this Chapter.

The description of Britaine.

The Romaines therefore having obteined the possession of this Island, decided the same at b last into five Provinces. The first where of was named Britania prima, & conteined the rast part of England (as some doe gather) fro h Trent buto h Twede. The fecond was called Valentia, a included the West side as they note it, fro Lirvole buto Tokermouth. The thirde hight Britannia secunda, and was that pozition of the Ile which lave Southwardes, betweene the Trent and the Thames. Tha Flauia Ce- fourth was furnamed Flauia Cefarienfis: and contapned all the countrey which remayned betweene Douer & the Sauerne, I meanebu fouth of the Thames, and wherebuto in lyke fort, Tornewall and Wiales were orderly af figued. The fift and last part was then manued Maxima Cefarienfis, now Scotland. The most barren cfall the reaff a vet not bulought out of the Romaines, bicaule of the great plentie of fishe and foule, fine Alabastar and harve Marble, that are ingendeed and to be had in the same, for furniture of housholde and curious buyloing, wherein they much delie

> Of the auncient Religion ysed in this Island; from the comming of Samothes vnto the conversion of the same ynto the faith of Christ. Cap 8.

T Tis not to be doubted, but at the first and Liolong as the posteritie of Laphet onelpe. reigned in this Illande, that the true know ledge and forme of religion-brought in bp Saamothes. mothes, was reccised among the Britains. And although peraduenture in process of time-cither thosow curiolities or negligence (y ancly corrupters of true pietie and godly) neile) it might a little decay, yet when it was at the world it farre erceded the Lest of that which afterwarde came in with Albion, and his Themminites, as mave be gathered by bewe of the superificious rites, which Cham and hys fuccessours byd plant in other countries, yet to be found in Authors.

Colhat other learning Magus the lonne of Magus. Samothes taught after his fathers death whe he also came to the kingdome, belide thys which concerned the true honoxing of God, I can not easily save, but that it Moulde bee naturall Abiliosophie, and Aftrology (wherby his visciples, gathered a kinde of fozeknow. ledge of thinges to come) the berpe ble of the worde Magus, among the Declians doth yeeld no incerteine tellimony.

In lybe mener, it thoulde feente that Sar- Sarron. ron forme bato the lapbe Magus, Diligentipe followed the freppes of hys father, thereto ovened Scholes of learning in lundzie place ces, both among the Celtes and Britaines, whereby fuch as were his Auditours, grewe to be called Sarronides, notionthisanding, that Samothei. aswell the Sarronides as the Magi, otherwise Semnother called Magusci) & Bunipoes, were generally called Samothei, or Semnothei, of Samothies fell among the Grecians, as Aristotle in his de magia ooth confeste, and calling them Balles, hie addeth thereunto that thep first brought the knowledge of Letters, and good learning unto the Grehes.

Dangus the some of Darron (as a Scholler Druigus, of his fathers owne teaching) læmed to be erquifite in all thinges, that pertayned buto the denine or humaine knowledger and there fore: I man lafely pronounce, that he excelled nat onely in the skill of Abilosophie: and the Duadzinialles, but also in the true Theoros gie, whereby the right feruice of God was hept & preferned in puritie. De wrote mores over funder precepts, and rules of religious doctine, which among the Celtes were referued bery religionly, and had in great effimation among fuch as fought buto them.

Holve and in what order this Prince left the frate of religio, I meane for those publisse Corrups ozdera in administration of warticular wifes ters of reand ceremonies as pet I denot reade: hold agent beit this is most certappe that after he open. the purity of his boarme began comelabat to becape for such in the nature of man that it wil not fuffer any and thing lang to remaine as it is left, but (either by addition) substrace tion of this exthat; to 98 from the fame) to to chop a channge withal fro time to time. that there is nothing of more difficulty, for limb as doc come after the then to find out the pus ritie of the oxiginall onoxellose the fame as gaine but bir former perfection, and and and

In the beginning than Profiped diopreach Calar, buto his heavers, that the soule of man is incmortall, that God isomnipotent, mercyfull as a father in the wing faury unto the gooly, and just as an oppight Auggs, in punifying of the wicked. That the fectets of mains bart

Britannia

Valentia.

Britannia

are not bishnowen, and only knowen to him, and that as the worlde and all that is theres in had their beginning by him, at his owne will, so thall all things likewise have an end, when he that lie his time. He taught them als Strabodia, to have to observe the courses of heavens, Somethis, and motions of the planetes, to finde out the true quantities of the celestial bodyes, and thereto the compasse of the earth, and hid den natures of thinges contavned in the fame. But alas this integritie continued not iong among his fuccessours, for buto the immortality of the feule, they added, that after death it went into another bodge, the feconde or fuccedent, being alwayes, epther more novie, or more vile than the former, as the partie deserved by his merites, whylest Plinius. lib. he lined here on earth. Foz laid they (of who 16. caparki- Pathagoras allo had, and taught this errour,) if the forle apportagned at p first to a king, the in this efface did not leade his lyfe wow thie of this calling, it thould after his decease be that by in b bodie of a laue, begger, cocke, Dwie, Dogge, Ape, Bogie, Alle, Worme, c? Montker, there to remains as in a place of purgation & punishmet, for a certaine periode of time. Beside this, it should peradueture sw Caine often translation from one bodie buto another according to the quantitie and qualitie of his dwinges here on earth, till it Mould finally be purified, and reffored agains to an other lumaine bodic, wherein if it behaved it selfe more orderly then at the first: after the nert death, it shoulde be preferred, epther to the bodic of a king, or other great estate. And thus they made a perpetuall circulation, oz revolution of our foules, much like onto the continuall motion of the heavens, which nes uence this did leane them and prefeription.

fpirits to milieries of that boarine. Auriharmose, in Britaine, and among the Salles, and to laye the truth, generally in all the Salles, woulde often resorte to come by the more shill, and sure understanding of the places where the Danipsh religion was free Danipoes quented, such was the firmatio of the Priestes or Drugh of this profession, that there was little or no priestes. thing done without their skilfull aduise, no not in civill causes, pertayning to the regiment of the common wealth and countrep. They had the charge also of all sacrifices, pu blicke and private, they interpreted Dracles, preached of religion, and were never without great numbers of rong men, that hearde the with great diligence, as they taught, fro time

Touching their persons also, they were er: Immuniempt from all temporal feruices, impolitios, ty of the tributes, and exercise of the warres, which ter under immunitie caused the greater companies of Jodatry, Schollers to flocke buto the, from all places then bua learne their trades. Df thele likewife, some der the remartied with them feuen, erght, tenne, og gospell. twelve yeares, Kill learning the fecretes of those unwritten mysteries by heart, which were to be had among f them, and commons ly pronounced in verses. And this policie, as Ttake it, they bled onely to preserve their religion from contempt, whereinto it might easpe have fallen, if any bokes thereof had happened into the hands of the commo forte. At helved also not a little in b crercise of their memories, whereinto bokes are better ence mics, infomuch as he that was skilfull in the Druivsh religion, would not let readily to rehearle many hundredes of verles, and not to faple in one tytle, in the whole process of this his laborious repetition. But as they dealt in this coder for matters of their religio, lo in civill affaires, historical Arcatifes, & fetting doinne of laines, il ep bled like eader and lets ters almost with the Crecians, whereby it is casp to be seene, that they retayned this kinic of writing fro Druipus (the originall founder of their religion) and that this pland hath not bene bopde of letters and learned men. euen fith it was first inhabited.

After the death of Danipus, Bardus his Bardus. sonne, and fift king of the Celtes succeeded not onely oner the lapde kingdome, but also in his fathers hertnes, whereby it is very likely, that the winding and wrapping by of the layor Keligion, after the afore remembred forte into Aerle, was first deuvled by hym, for he was an excellent Poet, and no leffe indued with a fingular fuill in the prace tile and speculatio of Dusicke, of which two many suppose him to be the very author and beginner, although butuffly, fith both Woetry & Song, was in ble before the floude, as was Gene.4. also the Harpe and Poppe, which Jubal in versas. uented and coulde never be performed with out great skil in mulicke. But to procede, as the chiefe estimation of the Daniptes remais ned in the ende among the Britons only, for their knowledge in religion, so dyd the fame of the Bardes for their excellet shill in musike, and Peroteall kind of fong, which at the first contagned only the high mitteries of their res ligion. There was little difference also bes the Bur twene them and the Daniydes, till they fa farre degenerated from their firit institutio, that they became to be ministrels at featres, denchen metings, and abhominable facrifices of the Jools: where they lang molf com: monly no diminitie as before, but the neble aces of valiaunt princes and fabulous nars ratios, of the avulteries of the gods. Certes in my tyme this fonde blage, and therto the very name of the Bardes, are not pet extinguilied amog the Britons of Males, where they call their Poetes & Duscions Barthes, as they oce also in Irelande. There is mozes ouer an Janoc appertment to the region of Venedotia, wherinto the Bardes of old time vico to relozte, as out of the wave into a folitarie place, there to write and learne their fonges by hearte, and meditate bypon such matters, as belonged to their practiles. And of these Lucane in his first boke writeth thus, among other the like layinges well towards the latter ende also saying. .

Lucane. dib.r.

Vos quoq, qui fortes animas, belloq peremptas Laudibus in longum vates dimittitis euum, Plurima securi fudistis carmina Bardi. Et vos barbaricos ritus, morema sinistrum Sacrorum Drutyda, positis recepistis ab armis. Solis nosse Deos, & celi numina vobis, Aut solis nescire datum : nemora alta remotis Incolitis lucis. Pobis authoribus, vmbra Non tacit as erebi sedes, ditisa profundi Pallida regna petunt, regit idem fpiritus artus Orbe alio. Longa, canitis fi cognita, vita Mors media est. certe populi, quos despicit arctos, Falices errore suo, quos ille timorum Maximus band vrget leti metus: inde ruendi Inferrummens prona viris, animeg capaces Mortis: & ignauum est redituire parcere vita.

Thus weld as in a glade the fate of religion, for a tyme after the first inhabitar cion of this Illande, but howe long it continued in such soundnesse, as the ceiginal authose left it in good foth I ca not fay, pet this to most certaine, that after a time when Ak bion arrived here, the religion early inthinced, fell into great decave, fog inheras Japhet and Saniothes with their chil matageth no thinxplie then such doctine as they had leave ned official: to Chamithe great grandfathet of this our Albion, and his disciples bitterly renouncing to follows their Cepy, gave their mindes wholly to sever- and leade their hear rers hedlong buts all erroz. TAherby his pos Acritic not only corrupted this our Illande, with most filthie trades and practices, but also all mankinde, generally where they bes came with vicious life, and most bugodly bes hantour.

For from Cham and his successours, programme what doc-caded at the first all sorcery, witchcraft, and trine Cha the execution of vulawfull luft, without res and his special Sere, age, consanguinitie, oz kinde: disciples as braunches from an odious & abhominable taught. rote, or Areames derived from most filthre and Einking puddles. Howbeit, and not with Kanding all these his manifolde lewdnesses, fuch thas the folly of his Egiptians (where he first reigned and taught) that whilest helps ned they alone had him in great estimation, (whereas other Pations contemned and abs horred him for his wickednesse, calling hym Chemesenua, that is, the impudent, infamous fenua. and wicked Cham) and not onely builded a Chemmyn. Citie buto him which they called Chem Min, Cha made but also after his deth reputed him foz a god, a god. calling the highest of the seuen Planets after his name, as they dyd the next beneath it af ter Diggis bys sonne, whome they likewise honozed buder the name of Iupiter.

Certes it was a cuftome in Egypt of olde Grandas time, generally in vie, (whe any of their far tio of mozmous worthy Princes oved) to ascrybe some tall men, forme or other of the farres buto his perfo, men into to thend his name might neuer weare out of heaut how memory. And this they called their transaction it began. on in heaven, so that he which had any flarres or forme of Carres, dedicated buto him, was properlye sayde to have place amonge the goddes. A tove much lyke to the Catalogue of Komishe saintes, (although the one was witten in the celestiall orbes, the other m Thépe Chinnes, and verye brickle paper; but vet so estæmed that enery Prince woulde oft hazard sattempt the ottermost adventures, thereby to winne such fame in his life, that after his death, he mught by merit baue fuch place in heavens among the thirting Carres.

Thus we fee how Idolstry and benozing of the Carres was bredde and hat ched out the chis anias, anive do allocacy all dolder aligners. into Britaines as apos the names of Squines Aupiterat. as hall appeare bereafter And bere fith I have already formewhat digrested from my matten. I will go jadiitle furder 1: E Apeling forth the asignall blass the mosde Sacturne, lupiter Merchles, co. mbarchy your lips nos Call Expet mosquito the errours of the Bentilea and not onely that whut one popit alco, of the rate oball the confusion, that is to the found athouse her substitution of tering uer stande stil noz long væld one revresentas tio and figure. They brought in also the wors Appring of many goddes, and their severall Obebeno facrifices, they bonoured likewise the Dke, red where wheren the Milite groweth, and daily deuts on multic led infinitie other topes, (foz errour is neuer fo der our affired of hir owne dwinges) wherof neyther fuctors & Samothes, noz Sarron, Magus, noz Dzuigus

Day thirtis These things are partly touched by Cicero, Strabo, Plinie, Sotion, Laertius, Theophraft, Ariflotie, aim partivallo by Casar, and other authours of later time, who fee the most part do coloue, b the chiefe schole of the Danipoes bussentie was holden here in Butaine, whether the Dinibles also themselves, that dwelt amog

and Her-

13., 10

and bino

It was generallye bled for a fewe peres after the particion of the yearth, which was made by Boah, in the 133, pere after floude,) that the beginners of such kingdomes as were then erected Coulde be called Saturni. Dereby then it came to passe that Nimbrote was the Saturne of Babylon : Cham of Ægypt: and so south other of other places.

Their clock Somes also that succeeded them, were called loves, 4 their nephewes 02 somes somes, that reigned in b thirde place Hercules, by which meanes it followed that ex uero kingdome had a Saturne, Iupiter & Hercules of hir owne, and not from anye other.

In lyke fort they had fuch another order as mong their daughters, whom they marryed as yet commonlye buto their beetheen (God himselfe permitting the same buto them for a time) as before the floude, to the ende the earth might be thosowly replenified, and the foner furnified with inhabitantes, in every part theref. The litter therefore 4 wife of co nerv Saturne was called Rhea, but of Iupiter, Iuno, Ili., or lo. Berende these also there was no latter Harolde that woulde indevour to derive the peligree of any Brince, or Do. tentate, but supposed his ducty to be suffici. ently perfourmed, when he had brought it orderly unto some Saturne or other, whereat he might cease, and shut op all his traucile. They had likewise this opinion grounded as mongest them, that Ocauen an Earth were onclue parentes buto Saturne and Rhea, not knowing our of boubt, what they themselves did meane, 6th these donominations, Heaven, Ogvecs, the Sume, Pater Deorum, & fuch like, were onely afcribed unto Noahias Terra, (the Tearth) Veita Arctia, the Moone, Mater deorum and other the lyke were buto Tydea his wife. to that hereby we for how Saturne is reputed menery Pationfor they: oldest god, or first Dance, lupiter for the next, and Hercules for the thirde: therefore fith these names were dispersed in the beginning over all, it is no maruevie that there is such confusion in aun: cient histories, and the dwings of one of them to mired buth another, that it is now impossible to diffinguish them in sunder. Thus have I spoken, to the ende that all men mape sæ what gods the Paganes honozed, and there, by what religion the posterity of Cham, did bing cuer into Butaine. For butill their coming, it is not likely that any große Joolas try or superfiction, did enter in among bs, as desiring of mortall men, honoring of the Starres, and credit of buge Images, belide forcery witcheraft, and such like, whereof the Chemminites are worthlye called the Autors. Depther were thefe errors any thing amended, by the coming in of Baute, who no from boubt added such deuises buto & same, as he whence and his company had learned before in Gre- 2Brute, did learne his cia, from whence also he brought, Helenus, religion. the some of Priamus, a man of erceding age, and made him his Priest and bishop, thorow: out the newe conquest, that he had achieved in Britaine.

After Brute, Idolatry and Superfficio fill increased moze & moze among bs, insomuch that belide the Druiysh and Bardike ceremo. nies, and those also that came in with Albion and Brute: our countrymen cyther brought hither fro abroad, or baily invented at home, new religion, and rites, whereby it came to passe that in the stead of the only & immortal God (of whome Samothes and his posteritie dvd preache in times past) now they honou Dis or Sared the lapde Samothes himselfe buder the mothes, name of Dis : likewise Saturne, Iupiter, Mars, mate a Minerua, Mercurie, Apollo, Diana, and diuers God. other. In lieu mozeover of thépe and oren, they offree manking also buto some of them. killing their offenoours, peploners, 4 oft luch Graungers as came from farre buto them, by Qutting by great numbers of them togis ther in huge Images, made of wicker, or os ther matter: and then fetting all on fire togis ther, they not onely confumed the miserable creatures to ashes, but also reputed it to be the most acceptable sacrifice that coulde be made bnto their Jools. Huge teples in like forte were builded into them, to that in the time of Lucius, when the light of faluatio bes gan Frongly to thine in Britaine, thereive the preaching of the Gospell, the christians Ptol. Ludiscouered 25. Flamines of Joole churches, censis. belide thie Arche Flamines, whose Priests were then as our Archebishops are nowe, in that they had superiour charge of all the rest, who were reputed as inferiours, and fubica to their inribiation in cases of religion. and superfficious ceremonics.

Witherto you have heard of the time, where in Ivolatrie reigned and blinded the heartes Theodores. of fuch as dwelled in this Islande. Powe let Sophronibs fæ the successe of the Gospell, after the us. death and pallion of Jelus Chilt our Sas utour. And euenhere will I beginne with an Allegation of Theodorete, wherebyon some repole great affurance (concepuing pet moze hope therein by the wordes of Sophronius) that Paule the Apossie shoulde preache the lunide of faluatio here, after his deliverte out of captinitie, which fell as I doe reade in the 57.0f Chaift. But fith I canot berifie fame by the worder of Theodorete, to be spoken moze of Paule then Peter, of the realf, I will passe over this confedure, and deale with o.

cap. 4. Nennius.

Nicepho-

Tus lib.z.

cap. 40.

Iosephus.

. That one losephus preached here in One alande in the time of the Apostles, his sepul: chreget in Aualon, nowe called Bieffenburg 12 Gladenburg, and Epitaphafficed theres untais profe fufficient. Howheit fith these things are not of copetent force to perfivade all men. I wil adde in few, what. I have that elsewere of his arrival here. First of al there fore you hall note that he came ouer into Britaine, about the 64. after Chille, when Phillip the perfecution began under Nero, at which Freculphus time Phillip and omers of the goody being in To.2 lib.2. Fraunce (whether he came with other their stans, after they had sowed the wood of God m Scythia, by & space of nyne yares) senered themselves insunder to make the better thist for their olone lafegards, and pet not other; hipsethen that bytheir flights the Golpell anyaht have furtheraunce. Hereby then it came to passe, that the sayde Phillip bpo god deliberation dyd fende lofenhus dier, & lofth him Simon Zelotes to preach water the Brie tons, and minister the Sacramentes there according to the rites of the Churches of Ai lia and Greece, from whence they came not long before onto the country of the Balles. And this is the effect in a little rowme, of that Sobich I have reade at large in linidage wait ters-although it may well He gathered that divers Britains were converted to the fayth beforeithis liretiefoure of Christ. Powbeit wheras some write that they lyued, & dwelled in Bittaine, it cannot as pet take anye absolute holde in my sudgement, but rather that they were Baptised and remarmed, epther in Kome, oz elsewhere. And of this loste I suppose Claudia Ruffinarthe topse of Pudens to be one, who was a mertile Lady in dede, and not only ercellent in the Greekes Latine tonques, but also with hir busbands highly commended by S. Paule, as one having had conversation and conference with them at Rome, from whence he dod write hos fer conde Epittle buto Timothy. Di this Lady mozeover Marcial speaketh in recopling that his Poelies were read also in Britaine, and onely by hir meanes, who vieo to cull out the finest of his Epigrammes and sende them to hir friends for tokens, laping, after this may ner as himselfe both set it downe.

ther things, wherefive have more certeinly.

2. Tim.4,

Claudia

Ruffina 8

Buttilh

Ladyc.

Dicitur & nostros cantare Britannia versus. Furthermore making mentio of hir, and hir Litt. Epig. thue he addeth thele wordes.

Claudia ceruleis cum sit R ufina Britannis Edita, cur Latia pellora plabis habet, Quale decus forme: Romanam credere matres Italides possunt, Attbides esse suam. Dy bene, quod sancto peperit fecunda marito, Quot ferat, generos, quota puella Nurus Sic place at superis, vt confuge gaudent vino Et semper natis gaudeat illa tribus.

The rismes of hirther children mere Pudentransprayedes aimb Novatus inho after the

deth of Podens their lather (which befell him in Cappadocia.) Divelled with their mother in Timbria Luborgther ceased not from time to time to miniter unto the counts. But to leque this impertinét discourse and procéde. duttiny purplesses to many section I I find in the Chiomitles of Burton tonder the peare of grace 14 1. and time of Hadriane themperour)that mind Schollers of Clarkes of Grantha or Granta, nowe Cambridge, were Bautizer in Britaine; sbecame Breas chers of the Bospell there; but whether Taumas Billipp, or Elder over the congregatio at Pothe (who as Vincentius farth, was ere: Lib. 10.cap. tuted about this time for his fauth) were one 17. of the oz not as pet I doe not certeinly finde. Taurinus. Diversotherallo imbraced the religion of Chailf herosealously. Howbeit all this notwithstanding, the glad tidings of the Bospel had neverifice a ppen vallage here, until the time of Lucius, in inhich the very enemies of the worde, became the apparant meanes (co, trarie to their owne mindes) to have it let forth amonast vs. For when Antoninus, the emperour han given out a decrée, that the Dzuiph religion thoulde every where be ar bolished lencies the king (whose symame is whis men noise periliped toke adule of his counsell travie to $ what was belt to be done, storought in this common behalfe. And this dyd Lucius bycause he talk of our Acheilles thought it impossible for man to lyne long who faplet without any religion at all. Finally finding vs live his nobility and subjects better enemies to the here in Momaine denotion (for y they made so many welth, cres gods as themselves tisted & some to have the thoritie bs regimentetien of their dyst and dung)s there pon earth, buto being pricked forwards by luch christie a let God ans, as mere connersant about him, to chuse take heave the service of the true God, that liveth for examples to ner-rather then the flauish servitude of any himselfe to parame Toole: he fully resolved with himself do without in the ende, to recepue a imbrace the Golpel. what he We fent also tivo of his learned chailtians and lifteth. greatest Philosophers to Kome, buto Eleus therus then Billiop there in the 177. of Chall Lincius ope not to promise any subjection to his se, which eares to then was not required, but to fair with fach good coun-

as were pricked in minde, Aues 2, verlige, fell, as one Quid faciemus viri fratres , 3 meane that thep desirous to were sent to be perfectly instruced, and with serve God farder commission, to make earnest request ferre the buts hom and the congregation there, that a worke.

competent number of Pzeachers might be fent over from thence by whole differt and Tetra. Luna.

Paterde

V. i. i.

nice and travagle, the foundation of the Gold peil might farely be layor over all his king. dome, according to his minde.

The pur= When Eleutherus bnderft mde thefe things, pose of Lu- he resourced not a little, for the great godinesse which the Lozo hav Gewed voo this our Ile gregation & countrie. Afterwardes calling the brethren at Rome togither, they agreed to ordayne, euen thole two for 13ythoppes, whome Lucius as you have heard, had directed over homothem. Fi nally making generall paper onto God and carnelt supplication for the god successe of these men, they sent them home agayne; with no small charge, that they thould be of ligent in their function, and carefull over the flocke committed to their custody.

The first of these was called Eluamis a man bosne in the Ide of Aualon, and brought by there wheer those godly Passours and their Disciples, whom Phillipsent over at the first for the conversion of the Bertons. The other hight Medguinus, and was thereto furnamed Belga, by cause he was of b towne of Welles, whichthen was called Belga. This man was trayned by also in one schole with Elianus, both of them being ornaments to their hory ages, and men of such grauttitie and goolis nesse, that Eleutherus supposed none moze worthy to support this charge, then they: af. ter whose comming home also, it was not long ere Lucius and all his housholde with die A regions ners of the nobility were Usaptized, belide in prince mas finity numbers of the common people, which acth feruet daily resorted witto them and voluntarily re-neunced all their Joolatry and Paganisme. 311 the meane time Eleutherus hearing of the successe of these learned Doctours & suppoling with himfelf that they two only could not suffice to supporte so great a burden as Mould concerne the conversion of the whole Illande De directed over buto them in the peare insuling Faganus, Dinaw (02 Dinauus,) Aaron and divers other godly Breachers, as feilow labourers to tranaple with them in the Unreparde of the Low. These men there fore after their comming hother - consulted alias. Niger level the other, and forthwith they wholly consented to make a bivision of thes Allande amongst themselves, appointing what pers in Butain celeche Preacher Molotake, b with the more profite and cafe of the people, and somewhat lesse transple for themselnes: the Doarine of Theodofius the Cospell might be preached and receased In this distribution also, they ordayned that there should be one congregation at London, where their placed Theonies as chiefe Cloer and Bothop, for that present time. Another Caeriheon at Borke whether they appointed Theodofius. And the thirde at Caerlheon byon the rp.

uer Alke, (which the cities had before time beine Archestamines) to the end that the coutries rounde about might haue indifferent audistol accesse onto those places, and therewith all binderstande for certeintie, whether to resort for resolution, stafter their conversion they houlde happen to doubt of any thing, agric

Thus became Beitaine the first Peouince, Beitaine $ that generally recepted the faith, and where first 1020the Gospell was freely preached without in mince that the Colpen was treety preached this trecepued for prince. Powell although that Golpeli Lucius and hys princes and great numbers generale: of his people imbraced the word with greed in inference nelle, pet was not h succelle therof, epther fo bniversal, that all men believed at the first b fecurity to great, as that no perfecution was to be feared from the Romaine emppre after his deceale: of the proceeding of the king to seuere, as y he inforced any man by publicke authoritie to for lake and relinquish his Par ganisme: but only this fredom was emoped, that who so woulde become a christian in his time-might. without feare of his lawes profelle the Gospel, in whose testimonie, if næde had bene, 3 boubt not to affirme, but that he wonior have fired also his bloude, as dyd his Dece Emerita, who beyng constant about Emerita the common feet of women, refuled not after nice buto his deceale by fire toly elde hir felfe to death Lucius. as a sweete sinelling sacrifice in the notrels of the Lorde, beyonde the sea in Fraunce.

The fayth of Chaift being thus planted in Lucius fen= this Islande in the 177. after Chaift and Faiteth agains gamus and Dinaw with the rest sent over fro to Rome. Rome, in the 178, as you have beard: it came to passe in the thirde years of the Golpell recepued, that Lucius Did sende agayne to Eleutherus the Bulkop, requiring that he might have some briefe Epitome of the order of difciviline then bled in the Churche. For he well considered that as it anapleth little to plant a collip Uinevarde, except it afterwards be thertihed, kept in god ozder, and fuch things as annoy, daily remoued from the same: so after Baptisme and entraunce into religion, it profiteth little to beare the name of chris frians, except we doe walke continually in the spirite, a have such things as offende aps 180.8. ber.1 parantly, corrected by senere discipline. Hor otherwise it will come to passe, y the wiedes of vice, and vicious living, will lo quickly abounde in bs that they will in the ende choke by the god fæde fowen in our mindes, tepe ther inforce bs to returne buto our former wickednesse with deeper security then before, or else to become more Atheiltes, which is a great deale worse.

for this cause therefore and Lucius sende to Kome, the seconde tyme for a copie of such politiche politicke orders as were then bled there, in The wife- their regiment of the Church. But Eleutiedome of rus considering whimselfe, how that al natis Eleutherus ons are not of like condition, therfore those constitutions that are beneficiall to one, map now and then be pectudiciall to another: and fæing also that belide the worde no rites and orders can long continue, or be so perfect in all points, but that as time serveth, they wil require alteration: De thought it best not to lay any more upon the neckes of the newe converts of Britaine as pet, then christ & his Apostles had already set downe onto al men. In returning therefoze his mellengers, he fent letters by them onto Lucius and hysnos bilitie, dated in the Confulships of Commodus and Vespronius, wherein he tolde them that Chaist had left sufficient oader in p fcrip. tures for the government of his Church al. ready in his worde, and not for that only, but also for the regimet of his whole kingdome, if he woulde submit himselse, to pelde & follow that rule. The Epissie it scife is partly ertaunt, and partly perithed, yet fuch as it is, and as I have faithfullye translated it out of funday copies, I doe deliver it even i, are, to the ende I will not defraude the reader of a nge thing that may turne to his commoditie;

Epiffle of bnto Lu-

13fal.24.

JC4 379.

in the hydroxie of our nation. Pou requize of by the Romaine ordinaces and therto the Catutes of the Emperours to ,, be fent ouer buto you, and which you defire 23 to practife and put in the within your realme 22 and kingdome. The Komaine lawes ethole ,, of Emperours we may efflones reproue, ,, but those of God, can neuer be founde fault , withall. You have recepted of late thosowe , Gods mercy in the realme of Britaine the law and farth of Christ, you have with you both volumes of the Scriptures: out of them therefoze by Gods grace and the Counteliof your realme take you a law, and by that law thosolve Gods sufferaunce rule pour kings dome, for you are Gods Wicar in your owne realine, as the ropall Prophete lapth. The earth is the Lords, and all that is therin, the copalle of the world, a they that dwell theres in. Agayne thou half loued truth and hated iniquitie, wherfore God, even thy God bath anounted the with ople of gladusteaboue thy fellowes. And agaphe, according to the laving of the same Prophete. Dh Googine thy indgement buto the king, and thy inffice unto the kings forme. The kings formes are the christian people and docke of the realmes which are bnoer rour governance, and five, continue in peace within pour kingdonie. * The Gospell laith, as the Henne gathereth bir chickens binder hir winges, so ooth the king hys people. Such as divell in the king. dome of Britains are yours, whom if they be denided you ought to gather into concorde and peace to call them to the fayth and lawe of Chilliand to has facred Church: to ebed rish and maintepne, to rule also and gouverne them, defending eacheofthem from luch as inoulve doethern wrong and keeping them from the malice of luch as be their enemies. * Tong butg the natio whole king is a childe, a lohole princes tyle op eartly to banket a fede, which is spoken not of a prince, that is within age, but of a prince that is become a childe, thosowe folly, dinne and bulledfalls nesse, of sohome the 1020phete faith, the bloud thuzity, and deceitful men thall not lyne forth halfe their dapes. * 13p feeding also I buder, platiff. frande glouttonie, by glouttonie, luft, and by lust all wickednesse, and sinne, according to the faping of Salomon the king. Topledome entreth not into a wicked mind, not dwelleth wyth a man that is labled onto finne. A king hath his name of ruling, and not of the pole festion of his real me, you halbe a king why lest you rule well; but if you doe other wyle, the name of a king thall not remaine with pourbut vou that atterly forgo it, which God forbid. The Almyghty God graunt you lo to rule the hingbonie of Butame, that pout may reigne with hom for enerywhole Ulcare! (b) Micegerent) you are within your aforelayd kingoome. Wilho with the foune and the holy Challet. or a lit in the and a land

Ditherto out of the Epittle that Eleutherus fent buto Lucius, whereby many prety oblets uations are to be collected, If time and places would fertie to frande thebeok. The de house in

After these dayes, allo the number of fach as were ordeined to faluation mercaled days ip more and more, whether as in other places of the worlde, the worde of God had god faccessein Beptaine, in time of peace, and in heate of perfecutio, there were no strat fruits ber of Partyrs that luffered for the lame, of which Albane, Amphibalus, Itilius and Aaron, Albane. are reputed to be the chiefe, because of they? Amphiba-Aoble patentage. Menaro oriente . 10 mm

There are which aftirme our Lucius to te? Iulius. nounce his kinggome, and afterwarde bes Aaron. conica Bishop and Predither of the Gospiels but to there their that holde his ophilon map once understande the bottome of their eredis. I wyll let downe the nuntred at large where by they niar lee (Ctier lived whe how face they have been decemented that Trand on

I finde that Chlorus has by Helena three Chlorus sonnes, (belide one daughter called Emerica) had the of which the name of the first is perished the a daughter fecound apas called Laiden, and the thythe by Helena.

fonnes.and 巡.tf.

Faganus, Dinauus.

25 illiops

Constantine, that afterwarde was Emperour ef Rome, by the election of the Soldiers, Low it hapvened that Lucion by meanes of a quar, rell, that grew betweene him this Cloer b20ther did klibbs faio beother, evther by a frap, or by some other meanes, wherupon his father crited him out of Briton, a avointed him from thenceforth to remaine in Fraunce. Lucion (02 as some cal him also Lucius) being thus brought into worldly forrowe, had now gwo leilure to meditate ppo Deauen, who be fore in his prosperity peraducture, had neucr Lucion bes regard of hell. Finally he fel to far into b coffs commeth a vergitio of his effate, y at the last he renounced challien. his Paganisme, and first became a chassisan, then an Glock, and last of all a Boshov in the Church of Chailf. He erected also, a place of prayer wherin to serue the living God, which after sundine alterations, came in processe of tome, to be an Abbay, and is fill called even to our time after Lucion or Lucius: the first founder thereof, anothe oxiginall beginner of anye such house in those partes.

In this also he a divers other of hys friends. continued their times, in great contemplativ on and praper, and from hence were tranflated as occasion served, buto sondepe eccle, sasticall promotios in the time of Constatine his brother, so that even by this sport narration it is now easy to see that Lucius the kying and Lucion the sonne of Chlorus, were distinct persons. Derebnto Hermanus Schedelius, adocthalso howe he went into Rheria, and nere onto the citie Augusta, courted the Curienses, buto y fauth of Chill, a there likewise lyeth burged in the same towne, where his feast is holden vpointhe thirde days of December, as may redily be confirmed. That Schedelius creeth not berin allo, the anneist monumets of the falde Abbaye, whereof he was the oxis ginall beginner, as I fayer, der pælve fuffi: Festim ! u- sient teirimonye, beside an Dinne made in his commendation, intituled Gaude lucionu &c. 13ut for more of this you may refort rnto Bouchet,in his first boke, & fift chapter of the Annales of Aquitone, who maketh the hing of Britaine Oransfaiher to this Lucio. The fath Schedelius in like fort letteth bown, that his Siller was Bartyzed in Trinccas Kell, nere unto the place where the far de Lucion dwelled, whereby it appeareth in lyke forte, that the was not fifter to Lucius king. martyred of Briteme, of which prince Alexander Acce u. Rheita. chain in his most ercellent treatise de sapiende Dinina letteth downe this Diffichon.

Prima Eritamorum fidei lux lucius esfe Fertur, minexit Mania Brute tua.

13ut as eche Lituer the farder it runneth from the heade, the moze it is increased, by fmall rivelettes, and corrupted with filthie vuddles, and frinking gutters, that discend into the same: so the puritye of the Gospell. preached here in Briteine, in processe of time became first of all to be corrupted with a new Berelye, order of religion, and most excerable herely, life broght both of them being first brought in at once, into 2521= by Pelagius, of Wales, who having travailed taine at thorow Fraunce, Italy, Egypt, Syria, and one tine the Casterlye regyons of the worlde: was by Pellathere at the last made an Gloer or Bissop, by Bangor. some of the Monkes, onto whose profession he had not long befoze addicted himselfe. Finally returning home againe, he opd not onely ered an house of his owne order, at Bangor in Wales, opon the river De, but also sow, ed the pestiferus sæde of his hereticall prauitics, ouer all this Illand, whereby he feduced great numbers of the Biptons, teaching them to preferre their owne merites, before y free mercy of God, in Jelus Christ his fon.

34

219: 18

all to of §

.อกรราชไ

Thus we see how newe deuises or orders of religion, and herefie came in together. I coulse thew also what Cometes, and frange lignes appeared in Baptapne, much about the same time, the like of which with exuers other, have bene perceived also from time to time, lithence the death of Pelagius at the entrance of any newe kinde of religion into this Ale of Byptaine. But I passe them over, only for that I woulde not fame in my tractation of Antiquities, to trouble my reader with the reheaviall of any newe inconveniences.

To proceed therefore with my purpole af fer thefe, there followed in lyke fast, fundage other kindes of monasticall life, as Anacho-Anachorites, (02 Ancres) Deremites, Cyrillines & Berrites. nedictines, albeit, that onely the heremiticall Heremites. profession was allowed of in Bryteine, butill Ciryllines. the comming of Benedict Biscop, who erec, Benedictited the first house of Benedictines, that eurr nes. was hearde of in this Me . They also bare his name, and were to well liked of all men, y there were few or no blacke monks in this Wonkes Aic, but of his order. So fast also did these hus and Heres maine deuiles prosper after his time, that at mites only their suppression in England & Wales only, allowed of there were founde 440, religious houses at in Bris the least, whereonto if you adde of those few taine.
y are vet franding in Scotland you that force The nume. ý are yet franding in Scotland, you that some ber of rei= fæ what nübers of these dennes of spirituall gious hou robbers were mainteined here in Bytaine. fes in En-As touching Pelagius the first Heretike that glandeat euer was bredde in this Ille (notably knew, their disconnections in the contents en) and parent of Monachisme, it is certaine, that before his corruption and fall, he was taken for a man of singuler learning, deepe indgement, and such a one, as bypon whome for his great gift in teaching and Arianelle on of the people bis ocpend. But what is wife dome of the fleth, without the feare and true knowledge of God, and what is learning except it be handemaide to beritpe and founde indgement. Whiterfore even of this man, wee maye fæ it verifyed that one Roger Bakon Bacon his pronounced long after. Of the corruption of laping it i his time, when all things were measured by preachers witte and worldlye pollicye, rather then by of his time the scriptures of Guidans of the spirit. Bet so were ter it is saith hee, to heare a rude and simple perse the Toeotepreach the truth, without apparamia work Die of faill a learned eloquence, then a profound Clearke to fet forth erroz, with great thewe of learning, t boast of filed btterance. These folice of Relagius, were blaced absoade about the 400 of Chaift, a from thenceforth how his number of Wonkes increased on the one fide, this dearme on the other, there is als nioft no reader that is bulkilfull & ignozant?

This also is certaine, that within the space of 200, veres and odde, there were morethen 2100 monkes gathered togither in his houle, Moze the subole trades not with Canding the errozs of 2100 mon founder. (behotaught such an estimation of ken name merite and bodily exercise, as Paule calleth it) as therby he fought not onely to impugne, of Wange, but also preuent grace, which was in bede the oxiginal occasion of the erection of bys house) were pet farre better and mote godly. then all those religious orders, that were ins uented of later time, wherein the voofestours lyned to themselnes, their wombes and the licencious fruition of those partes, that are beneath the belly. Fez these laboured cotinus allye for their owne livings, at vacant times from plater, and for the better maintenance, of such as were their appoprted Pzeachers. Their lines also were correspondent to their doctrine, so that herein onelye they sæmed in tollerable, in that they had confidence in their dedes, that they had no warrant out of the worde for their succes a defece, but were such a plant, as the heavenly father had not plans ted and therefore no merualle though afters warde they were rapled by the rotes.

But as Pelagius and his adherentes, had a trine to infece the Church of Chain in the Britaine, so the lyuing. I D hath had a fealon to purge the same, though not by a full reformation of doarine, lith Germanus, Lupus, Palladius, Patricius, and such like leaning Lupus, pal- unto the monasticali trades, did not somuch ladius, Pa. codemne the generall errors of Pellagius, one way as maintagne the fame, or as entil opfo mos another. For as Patricke fæmed to like well of phonozing of the dead, so Germanus being in Britaine erected a chappel to S. Al bane, wherin Lupus prayed, as Palladius by Severus held the firicknelle of life, in monasticall pro: Sulpi tius legianto the ottermost of his power. Withet, in vita pafore Badquiged his houle, rather by taking micij. alpan himiched, and vompous scholemaisters of errone out of this lyfe: hoping that by fuch meanes, his people woulde have hiven eare to the gooly that remained. But when thys hus practife coulde take no place, the theepe of his pasture woulde receive no inholesome admonition, it pleased his materie, to let the runne on headlong from one iniquite to anos ther infomuch that after the doctrine of Pelagius, it received that of Rome allo, brought in by Augustine and his monkes, wherby fewas to be sæne how they fell from the truth into Augustine herefpe, from one herefy ftill into another, & Monke. till at the last they were drowned altogither; in the pitte of erroz, digged up by Antichant, as welles that holde no water, which not: withstanding to their followers sæmed to be most founde dectrine, and eisternes of liuing water to such as imbraced the same.

This Augustine after his arrivall, conver Augustine. ted the Sarons in dede from Paganisme, but as the Prouerb layth, bringing them out of Goddes bleffing into the warme sunne, how also imbued them weth no lesse hurtfull sus perfficion, then they did knows before: for belide the only name of Chailt, and externall contempt of their pristinate Idolatrye, he faught them nothing at all, but rather I sap made an erchange, from groffe to subtill tres cherie, from open to fecret Idolatry, and fro the name of Paganes, to the bare title of chailtians, thinking this lufficient for thepr soules health, and the fablishment of hys monachisme, of which kynde of profession, the holye Scriptures of God can in no wyle allowe. But what cared be sub be got the great fift for which he did cast his hoke, & sa great was the fifthe that he caught in the end. that within the space of 1000, peres, telle it denoured the fourth parte and moze, of the best sople of the Mande, which was whollys bestowed byon his moukes, and other relys gious bzodes, y were hatched fince his time.

muhilest these things were thus in hande, in the fouth parte of Albion, the Beates, Piacs, and Caleboniens, which lye beyonds Meacs. the Scottish leas received allothe preaching Pices, of fuch chatifian elders, as adventured thither Caledonics daily, and not without great fuscelle, and increase of persit godlpnesse in that parte of the Ile. Certes this prosperous attempt, pale sed all mens expectatio, for that these nations mere in those daves reputed wild sauage. and more bufaithfull and craftpe, then well minded people, as the wilde Irily are in my time) and such were they to say the truth, in dæde, as neuther the sugred curtespe, nor tharpe (wordes of the Komaines, coulde rei Areyne from their naturall fury or bring to any order. For this cause also in thend & Ko. maine Emperours did Utterly cast them of as an bnyzofitable, brutishe, and bntameable nation, top an huge wall hereafter to be des feribed, separated that rude companye from the milve and civill postion.

The description of Britaine. of lpfc, no finall pace of the hope & expedatis

Scotlande This connection of the north parts, fell connerted out in the firt peare before the warres that Severus had in those quarters, and 170. after b death of our Saujour Felus Chiff. From thenceforth also the christian religion contra nued fill among them, by the diligent care of their Passors and Bythops (after the vie of the churches of the south part of this Juand) tyll the Romaine Chepehearde fought them out, and founde the meanes to pull them buto him in like fort with his long fraffe as he had done our countreemen, whereby in in the ende he abolified the rites of the churthes of Alia there allo, as Augustine had donc already in England: and in fixede of the fame did turnish it by with those of his pontis ficall Sie, although there was great contention, and no lesse bloudsbed made amonast them, before it coulde be brought to palle, as by the b)vffortes, of both nations pet extaunt is calve to be fone.

In the time of Coelestine Billion of Rome,

Palladius. one Palladius, a Grecian bozne, (to whome Evrill weste hus Dialogue, de adoratione the 23th, in spiritu's sometime disciple to John the 24. or Rome Blipsp of Jerusalem, came ouer from Rome into Baptaine, there to suppresse the Dellagie Service en herefpe, which not a little molested the vicer has Dithodores of that I land. And having done much and in the crtinguishing of the afores favo spinio there, he went at the last also into Scotlande, supposing no lesse, but after he had travailed somewhat in consutation of the Pelagiens in those partes, he shoulde eas filre persivade that croked nation to admit and receive the rutes of the church of Rome, as he woulde faine have done befozehande in the fouth But as Fastidius Bishop of Londo, Billiop of and his Suffragans relifted him here, fo dod the Scottish Beclates withstande him here also, in this behalfe: howbest because of the authoritic of his commission, grauitic of perfonage. 4 the great gift which he had in the varne of pleasannt perswasion, (whereby he dielve the people after him, as Orpheus did the stones with his Parpe, and Hercules such as hearde him by his tongue,) they had hym in great admiration, s are nowe contented ($ the rather also for that he came fro Rome,) to take him foz their chiefe Apolile, reconfing Palladius. from hys comming buto them, as from the accompted fapth received, which was in the 431, yeare for the 3. of Chaiff, as the truth of they? Patrozy both Scottes. bery well confirme.

Thus we lie what religion hath from time to time bene received in this Illande, and howe and when the faith of Chailt came first into our country. Howbeit as in processe of time it was overshadowed, and corrupted with the dreames, and fantasticall imagination ons of man fo it daily wared worle a worle, till that it pleased Too to restoze the preach. ing of his Golpell againe in our dayes, where by the man of sinne is nowe openly renealed, and the puritye of the worde once agapne brought to light, to the otter overthrowe of Sathan, and his Popith adherentes that bo. nour him day and night.

Of the number and names of fuch falt Islands, as lye dispersed rounde about vppon the coast of Brytaine. Cap.8.

There are niere onto, or not berre farre I from the coalts of Baytaine many faire Idandes, whereof Irelande with hir neigh. bozs, (not here hadled) sæme to be the chiefe. But of preact, some are much larger or lesse then other, diners in lyke fort environed continualip with the falt lea, (whereof I purpole onely to intreate, although not a few of them be Itanos but at the floude) & other finally be clipped partely by the fresh, and partly by the falt water, 02 by the freshe alone, whereof I may speake afterwarde.

Of these salt Illandes, (for so 3 call them that are enuyzoned with the Decan waves) some are fruitefull in Mod, Coane, Wilde, foule, and passure grounde foz Cattel, albest that manye of them be accounted barren because they are only replenished with conies & those of funday colloss, (cherished of purpose by the owners, for their skinnes carcales, and prouplion of houtholde,) wythout eps ther man, or woman, other wife inhabiting in them. Furthermoze, the greatest number of these Illandes, have Townes and partifie Churches, within they? severall precinces, fome mo, some letterand befide all thes, are so inriched with commodities, that they have pleasant hauens, freshe springes, great store of fifthe, and plentye of Cattell, whereby the inhabitants docreave no small aduantage. How many they are in nüber I canot as yet determine, bycaule myne informations are not so fully set down, as the promises of some on the five, a mone expectation on the other, ofocrted buto. Howbeit, y first of al there are certeine which lie niere togither, as it were by heaps & cluffers, I hope man will redily deny. De these also those called & Nesiada, Infule Scylurum, Sileuftræ, Syllanæ, nowe f fozlings, and Iles of Silley, lying beyond Com wail are one, and conteineth in number one hundeed fourtpet feauen, (eche of them, bearing graffe) besides thelfes, and shallowes. In tike fort the company of the Hebrides are another which are sayo to be 43. situate byon the well five of this Mand, betweene Freland Orchades. and Scotland, and of which there are some, that repute Anglesey, Mona Casaris, tother lying betweine them to be percell, in they? corrupted indgement. The thirde cluffer 02 bunche, consisteth of those, that are salled the Dichades, and these lye byon the Porth: west point of Scotlande being 31.in number, as for the realt they lye feathered here and there, and yet not to be untouched as they?

The description of Britaine.

ccurses thall come about.

There have beene divers that have written of purpose, De insulis Britannia, as Casar both confesse, the lyke also mape be sæne by Plutarche who nameth one Demetrius, a Bays taine that Moulde let footh an eract treatile of eche of them in order, but lith those bokes are now perythed, and the most of the sayde Mandes remaine otterly buknowne, euen to our owne felues. I meane God willyng to let downe so many of them with their conv modities, as I doe either knowe by Leland, oz am otherwyfe instructed of, by such as are of credite. Perein also I will touch at large fuch as are most famous, and brieflye passe ouer those that are obscure and buknowen, making myne entraunce at the Thames mouth, and directing thys imagined course, (for I never failed it), by & fouth part of the Iland, into & West. Fro thence in lyke fozt, I will proceede into the Porth, t come about againe by the call lide into b fall of the afores faid ffreame, where I wil ffrike layle, & lafe, ly be fet a shore, that have often in this boy, ane wanted water, but oftner bene fet a grounde, especiallye on the Scottili lide.

In beginning therfore, with such as lye in the mouth of the aforelands River, I muit nædes passe by the Yo, whiche is not an Islande but (if I may give such peces a new name) a bylande, tycaule we may passe thy: ther from the maine Ifle, by an Ishums 02 Aridlande, that is to fay by lande, without as me vestell, at the full Dea, or any horse at the rbbe. It lyeth betweene ClyAc and the midway, that goeth alog by Rochelter. Pert buthis we have the Greane wherein is a towne of the same denomination, an Alesupposed to be foure miles in length, and two in breath. Then come we to Shepey, which com Shevey temeth seaven myles in length, and thie in breadth, wherein is a castell called Duits bozowe, and a Parke, befice foure Townes, of which one is named Minster, another Calichurch, the thyzde Warden, t the fourth Lepden: the whole lople being thosowly fed with theepe, verye well wooded, and as 3 here belonging to the Lord Chevney, as pars ceil of his his inheritaunce. It lycth thirtiene myles by water from Kochester, but the Castle is fiftiene, and by fouth thereof are tivo finall Mandes, whereof the one is called Elmesy, and the moze easterly Hertesye. In Elmesey. this also is a towne called Bertie, or Bartie, Herriey. and all in the Lathe of Scrale, notwithfanding that Partie lieth in the hundred of Faueriham, and Shepey retaineth one especyall Baily of hir owne.

From hence we passe by the Reculners, (or territorie belonging in tyme past to one Raculphus, who ereded an house of religion, or some such thing there, bonto a little Island, in the froure mouth. Herebpon also the Tha- Sturefey. net abutteth which is rather a bylande then Thance. an pland. Beda noteth it in times past to have contapned 600.families, which are all one with Pioclances * Plowghlandes, Carru * In Lin= cates or Temelrares. He addethallo y it is coincihire devided from our continent, by the river cals the words led Mantsume, which is about thee fur hyde or longs brode, & to be passed over in two plas bidelahde, ces enely.

ces enely.

Mut whereas Polidore faveth, the Ter olde time net is none myles in length & not much leffe as in o= in bredth, it is nowe reconed that it hath not ther places much above fere mulea from Coodsmith to but for much aboue scue myles from Pozdtmuth to hide thep Sandwiche, foure in bzedth, fro the Steure bled the to Margate, 02 from the South to the Porth, word Cathe circuit of y whole being 17.02 18. as Lep, rucate the circuit of y whole veing 17.02 to. as Lety or cart-lad also noteth. This Ilao hath no woo gro, ware, or wing in it except it be forced, & yet of herwise Teme, and it is very fruitfuil, and bestee that, it wanieth these were fewe other commodities, the finest chalke is of no leste sayde to be sound there. Herm also dyd Augu- compasse fine the Donke first arrive when he came to hincland: connert the Sarons, a afterward in procesie Ex Hugoof thine-funder religious houses were eres ne le blanc. ted there, as in a suple much bettered (as Monacho y superdictors supposed) by steps of that how petroburly man & such as came over with him. There genfi. are at this tyme 10. Parish churches at the leaft in & Ide of Thanet, as S. Nicholas, Birchingto S. Iohus, Wood, oz Wilmochurch, S. Peters, S. Laures, Mownto oz Monketon, Minster, S. Gyles and all Saines, wheref D. Lambert hath written at large in his teleription of Bent, & placed the same in lath the of S. Augu-15.11u.

Nefiadæ.

Scylurum.

Sileustræ.

Syllanæ.

Sorlingæ

Sylley. Hebrides.

Hebudes.

Meuanie.

A S

Infule.

Greane.

it Reptacester) stode also in this Islande, but now thoso we alteration of the chanell of the Dour, it is that quite out and annered to the maine. Itis called in these dates Richebozow and as it thou de forme buylocd byon an indifferent sopte, or highe grounde. The large buckes also pet to be sæne there, in the ruis nous walles, occlare cyther the Romagne oz the old 1521till) workemanlyip. 13ut as time decayeth all things, so Rurapium is now bes come desolate, a out of the dust therof Sand, wiche producted, which frandeth a full mile from the place, where Reptacester stode.

The olde lociters afterme, how Ethelbert the ter the beginning.

Vinda Calidonios fullit turbata Brittannos.

The last Or when the wadering Seas or Kentish coasts de eworke, and Calidons of Brittishe bloude, one cope and the troubled waves beguyle. Deaning in like another, torte by the latter the coaste nære Andredels nords palls by Selefer, which formitime as it thould forme bath ben a noble pland, but noin

Thorne. Perr unto this, we come unto those that lye betweene the What and the manne lande. both Portlinguth and Lingston, whereof als fo our Lelance, fayeth thus. Post Ale is cut frothe Moze by an arms of the mainchaucn, which breaketh out about them unles aboue Dortmouth a goeth by two myles or more by morifie grounde to a place called Port Port. bridge which is two miles fro Portlmouth. The breaketh there out another Creeke fro the maine sea, about Auant hauen, which gulleth by almost to Postbridge, and thence is the ground discuered, so that Postsmouth städeth in a corner of this Alle, which Illand is in length fire inples, and them myles in bredth, bery and for graffe & come, not with cut some woodand here and there inclosure. Welive this there is also another Allad north northwest of port ple, which is now so worne and washed awaye with the working of the feathat at the spring tides it is wholly coues red with water, and thereby made buploff. table. Finally being pair all thefere in compalling this goulfe, we come by an other, which ipeth Porth of Birth castell, and south cast of Kaie hauen, whereof I finde nothing worthy to be noted, saving that it wanteth wood as Prolomic aftirmeth in hys Cogras phicall tables of all those Janos, which en uironne our Albion.

The Wight it selse is called in latine Ve- Wight. etis, but in the Bepttish speach Guidh, that Guidh. is to lav æfe oz calie to be læne. It lieth diffat from the fouth spoze of Bzitaine (where it is fardest of by sine mples a halfe, but where it commeth nærest, not passing a thousande paces, and this at the cut over between Hira casfell and a place called Telhetwell chine, as the inhabitauntes doc report. It contaps noth in length twentic mples, and in breath tenne, it hath also the Posth pole elevated by 50. degras and 27. minutes, & is onely 18. degras in distance, and so, edde minutes. from the West point as experience bath confirmed, contrarie to the description of Prolomic, and such as followe his affertions in the same. In forme, it representeth almost air egge, and so well is it inhabited with mere English at this present, that there are thirtie fire Lownes, Uillages and Castels to be founde therin, belide 27. Parith churches, of which 15.02 16. have their Parsons, the reast epther such pose Theares of Eurates, as the linings lest are able to susayne. The names of the Parithes in the Wight are these.

1. Bewport, a chap. 8. Nighton. p. p.fignifi= 2. Cairsbrosse. v. 9.13, ading. v. eth Parso= 10. Peweijurch. v. nages, &. 3. Posthwad. 4. Arriun. v. 11.S. Velene. b. Micarages 5. Coddefhill. b. 12. Bauerland. p. 6. Wihrtwell. 13. Calborne. 7. S. Laurence. p. 14. Bonechurch. p. 15. Pottellon.

The description of Britaine. Allé haue after wee are passed by these Poztland.

p. 21. Chale. 15. Sesttessen. 22.Bingfon. 16. Parmouth. p. 23. Shozwell. ช. 17. Charley. 18.Shalflete. v. 25. IS26ste. 19. Wihippinghä.p. 26.Wzprifon. 20. Mattoil. p.

It belongeth for temporall Jurisoiction to the countie of isamshire, but in spirituall cases, it peideth obediece to the De of Chichester, whereof it is a Deanerie. As for the sople of the whole Island, it is very fruitful, for notivithicanding that the shore of it felse be very full of rockes and craggy cliffes, pet there wanteth no plentie of cattell, coine, pas fure, medow grounde, wildefoule, fish, fresh rivers, and pleasant woodes, wherby the inhabitants may lyue in ease and welfare. It was first ruled by a severall king, and after, wards wonne from the Bzitons by Vespafian the Legate, at such tyme as he made a bayage into the West country. In processe of tyme also it was gotten fro the Komaines by Ceadwalla, who killed Aruald that reigncothere, and reserved the sovereingtie of that Ille to himselse, and his successours. As ter Ceadwalla, Wolfride the Parricide was the first Saron Paince, that adventured into the Wight, whether he was datuen by Kenwalch of the Westsarons, who made great warres byon him, and in the ende compels led hym to five into this place for luccour, as vio also king John, in the rebellious fourre of his Barons, practifed by the clargie: the favo Mad being as then in pollellio of the Fortes as some one write that have handled it of purpole. The first Carle of this Illande that 3 doc read of, was one Baldwijne de Betoun who maryed for his feconde wife, the daugh: ter of William le Grosse Carle of Awmarle, but he dying without issue by this Lady, the was maryed & lecond time to Carle Pawns deuile, anothirdize to William de Fortes, who sinvshed Skipton Castell, which hus woves father had begunne about the time of king Kichard y first. Hereby it came to paste also, y the fortes were Eries of Awmarle, Whight, and Denonthose a long time, till the Lady Elizabeth Forces sole heire to all those possessions came to age, with who king Co. ward the thirde to prevapled thorow money and fapre wordes, that he gate the policifion of the Whight wholly into his handes. After we be past the Wight, we go forwarde and come buto Pole hauen, wherein is an Ille, called Brunt Keysi, in which was sometime a Parispe church, and yet a chappell at this present as I here. There are also two other Ides but I know not their names.

another Micallo bus the coast named Post. land not farre from Waymouth a prety fer, tile piece though wout wode, of 10. myles in circuite, now well inhabited, but much bet, ter heretofoze, t pet are there about 80. hous holdes in it. There is also but one Aræte of houses therin, the reast are dispersed, how, beit they belong all to one Parithe Church; whereas in time past there were two within the compalle of the same. There is also a Caffell of the kings, who is Lozd of the Ille, although the bishop of Wilinchester be patrone of the Church, the personage whereof is the fairest house in al the piece. The people there are excellent flingers of froncs, which feate they vie for the defence of their Illande, and pet otherwise very conetous. And wheras in tyme past they lyned onely by fishing, now they fall to tillage, their fire bote is brought out of the wight, and other places, yet do they burne much cowdung, dayed in the sonne: foz there is I say no wood in & Ide, except a few elmes that be about the church. There would some growe there, no doubt if they were wil ling to plant it, although the loyle lye very bleake topen. It is not long lince this was united to the mayne, and likely ere long to be cut of againe. Being past thus we raple ano. ther, also in the mouth of the Gowp, between Colffoede Lime, of which foe the smalnesse therof I make no great accompt. Wherfore giving over to intreate anyefarder of it I cast about to Gersey, and Gerneley, which Gersey. Ides with their appurtenaunces appertape Garnetey. ned in tymes past to the Dukes of Pozmans dye, but now they remayne to our Quene, as percell of Hamshyze and belonging to hir Crowne, by meanes of a composition made, betweene king John of England, Ethe king of Fraunce, when the Dominions of the laid Paince began so fast to decrease, as Thomas Sulmo favtir.

Of these two, Gersey is the greatest, as an Ilad having 30. miles in copas, às most men doe roiecture. There are likewise in the same twelve Parish Churches, with a Colledge, which hath a Deane and Preimndes. It is difraunt from Gerneley full 21.mples, or there, aboutes. In this latter also, there have bene in times palt, fine religious houles and nyne Gerneley. Castelles, howbeit in these dayes there is but one Parith church left francing in the fame. There are also certaine other small Allands, which Benry the second in his Donation cals leth Infuletas (beside very many rocks) where of one called S. Heleries (wherein sometyme S. Hereli. was a Ponastery) is fast vpon Gersey, and ther is named & Cornet, which hath a Castell Cornet, to be force to him that will peruse it. Sometyme Rutupium(oz as Beda calleth

Ard chaidran hing of Lient, did holde his pals lace in this towns, and vet none of his copne bath intherto biene femme there, as is daply that of the Romarnes, whereof many pieces of aluer and gold, so wel as of brace, copper, and other mettal have eften bene shewed bus to me. At Moulde appeare in luke sorte that of this place, all the whole coast of Eart there about, was called Littus Rutupinum, which some doe not a little confirme by these words of Lucane, to be red in his firt boke, some af-

Aut vaga eum Techis, Rutupinag, littora feruent, walde, which in time past was called Littus Californium of that wand or forrest, as Leland alfoconfirmeth. But as it is not my minec to be ale any thing curionly in these by matterrilo in returning agains to my purpofe. * taking am to ney toward the Might, Innuft

a Eplas or konnclula, wherin the chiefe Sie of the Lychop of Chichetter was holden by the space of 30%, perest buder 20. Wilhops.

of which the work earlierly is called Thome, 4 to lay truth, h very least of althat are to be Combo in that knotte. Being past the Thome we teached upon the Halingswhich is bigger that the Thome, and wherem ene towne is fettuate of rin same denominatio beside anos ther, whose name I remember not. By west also of the Waling lieth the Port, the greatest of the time already mencioned a in this stair 24. Gatrombe. p. 27. Benffed.

Wrunt

Prebac $G(a)_{ij}$. Hame.

not passing an arrow shote fro Gerley. The Serke also is betweene both, which is is fire imples about, and bath another annered to it by an lithenus or Strialande, wherein was a religious house, and therewith all great ffore There is also the Bechoe, the Gytho, and the Derme, which latter is foure moles in compage, and therein was sometyme a Chanonry, that afterwarde was convers ted into an house of Franciscanes. There are two other ithewyle nere buto that of S.Helerie of whose names 3 have no notice. There Embords, is also the rockye, File, of Burho, but nowe Baries, the File of Lattes (le called of the huge plens tic of Rattes that are founds there, though otherwise it be replenished with infinite froze of Comes, betweene whome and the Kattes, as I confedure those which we call Ankle confes are oftentimes produced among those few houses that are to be some in thes Tiand. Alderney. Believe this there is moreover the Ale of Ale berney a very pactic lalot, about feven miles in compasse, wherein a Priest not long since tio and a coffin of frome, in which lap boot of and huge Cyaunt, whose fore teth were lo bygge as a mans fill, as Lelande doth repost.

> Certes this to me is no maruelle at al, lith I have read of greater, and mencioned them already in the beginning of thys boke. Such a one, also have they in Spayne, whereunto they go in pilgrimage as buto S. Chiffo: phers toth, but it was one of his eve teeth, if Lodouicus Vines savtrue, who went hither to offer bato h lame. S. August. writeth in like forte, of such another found upo the cost of Vtica, and thereby not onely gathered that all men were not onely farre greater then they be now, but aifo the Ciaunts farre erceding the huge flature of the hyghest of them all. Homere complaymeth that men in hys time were but Dwarfes in comparison of such as loued in the warres of Crop. Sichis fift Hade, where he speaketh of Diomedes & how he tine was fone at Aneas, (which 14.men of his time were not able to flurre) a therewith did hit hym on the thighe t enerthzowehim. Virgile also noteth no leffe, but Invenall brief luc comprehendeth all thus in his 15. Satyra, where he farth.

Saxa inclinatis per lunnum quiesita lacertis Ladjount torquere, domestica sedicione I casnee bane lapidem, quali e Turnus, & Aiax, It que Tytides per constr pondere con am Versilies estence and quem valeant emittere dextre Andre. Illes at smale , or nestro tempore naise. Nam zenns I . s vino iam decrefcebat Homero.

Terra maios homines nune educat at q pufillos. Ergo Deus quicung, aspexit, ridet, odit.

But to returne agapne buto the Me of Alderney frowhence I have digressed. Berein also is a pactic towne with a Parish church. great plentic of Come, Cattell, Conves, and wildefcule, whereby the inhabitauntes ove reape much gayne and commoditie, onelpe lood is theve want, which they otherwose supply. The language also of such as dwel in these Isles, is Frenche, but the attire of those y lived in Gerneley & Gerley, butil the time of King Denry the eyght, was al after the Is rish guyle. The Isle of Gernelev also was socies specied by the Frenche 1371.4 left so des solate that onely one castell remained there, in butouched.

Beyonde thys and niere but offe coast of Englande (for these doe lye about the berye middest of the Brittish sea) we have one Illande called the Bruch or the Bruchsey, Bruchsey. lying about two mples from Pole, whether men layle from the Fromouth, & wherin is nought else, but an olde Chappell, without o ther housing.

Pert to this also are certaine rocks, which some take for Ides, as Illesto rocke nere bue to Peritozie, Pozestan Ile a myle from Pes ritoric by South, Blacke rocke Ide, South cast from Perytozie toward Tergnemouth, and also Cheffer, otherwyse called Plegy, mudham : but howe (to fage truth) or where this latter lieth, I canot make repezt, as pet, a fith Leland noteth them togither, I thinke it not my part to make separation of them.

From hence the nert 3tle is called Pount Mount= Illand, otherwise Bowtland, scituate oner Illande. agamst Lough, about two myles from the hoze, and well nere, thie myles in compalle. This Illand hath no inhabitants, but onely the Warrenner this dogge, who low acth buto the Confes there:notwithffanding that bpo the coast therof in time of the pere, great floze of Pylchardes is taken, and cas ryed from thence into many places of our contrey. It hath also a fresh Well comming out of the rockes, which is worthy to be noted in fo fmall a copalle of ground. Pozeouce in the mouth of the creeke that leadeth unto Lough, or Low, as some call it, there is an other little Flande of about eight Acres of S. Nicholas grounde called S. Nicholas Ale, and midwaye Hande. betweine Falmouth, and Duoman, (a certapne Promontorie) is such another named Greefe. the Grefe, wherein is great foze of Gulles & Inis: Prnyin sea foule. As for Inis Prynin, it lyeth within the Baye about their niples from Lizardes, e contagneth not about two Acres of groud, 5). Mi= chacll.

Mount.

S. Cle=

inherein is a page inther towns and a fayte Weltpangi whereof as pet no waiter hath made mention. After thele omitting pendinant in y point of fatmouth baue) we came at lack to faint Bichaels mout, wherof I find this description readye to mp handes in Les lande. The compate of the rote of the Mout of faint Dichael is not much moze then halfe a mple, and of this the South part is palfus rable and bredeth Conves, the relidue high and rocky. It the Porth five thereof also is a Garden, with certagne houses and thoppes for Athermen. Furthermoze, the way to the Mountaine beth at the Porth live, and is fres quented from halfe ebbe to halfe floud, the ens traunce beginning at the fote of the Hyll, & fo allending by freps and greces wellward, first; and then Caliward to the otterward of the Church. Within the same ward also is a Court Arongly walled, wherin on the fouths five is a Chappell of S. Wichaell, and in the Callide another of our Lady. Many times a man mape come to the hill on fote. On the Porth Porthwell live hereof allo, is a Piere for botes and thips, and in the baye betwirt the Mount & Pensantz are sæne at the lowe water marke, divers rotes and flubbes of trés, belide hewen stone, sometimes of dozes and windowes, which are percepued in the inner part of the Bay, and impost that there hath not onely beine buylding, but also firme ground there, whereas the Salt water soth now rule theare the mastery. Beyond this is an other litle Ide, called S. Clemets Ide, of a Chappell there vedicated to that Saint. It hath a little beyond it, Howhole, which is not touched in any Card. As for Dowthole it felf it is a towne of the maine, ralled in Cozi nish port Enis, that is, portus insule, fin tinne workes nere unto the same, there bath bene founde of late, speare heddes, battaile ares, & two ros of Copper, to rapped by in linnen and fearfely hurt with rust oz other hinderance. Certes the sea hath won very much in this coiner of our Illande, but chiefly betweene from which Pewlyn is not farre dilkaunt, &

Mowthole Penlardes. Hauing thus passed over very nere all such Alles, as lee beyon the fouth coast of 1329, taine, and nowe being come unto the west part of our coutry, a lodegue Pirry catcheth holde of us (as it did before, when we went to Gersy) and carpeth bs pet moze westerlye as mog the flattes of splip. Such force both the foutheast winde often thowe byon poze traueplers in those parties, as the south's south's well-doth byon fraungers against the Bzp: tith coast, that are not skilfull of our rodes, and herbozowes. Howbeit such was our suc-

selfe in this voyage, that we feared no rocks, King As (moze then ow king Athelffane, when he sub, theistane dued the) nor any tempest of weather in those fubduce partes, that coulde annoy our passage. Perus the Spis fing therefore the periles whereinto we were lane Ides, pitifully plonged: we founde the Spliane I, builded a landes (places often robbed by the French, College men and Spanyardes) to lye distaunt from at S.Buthe popult of Coinewall, about three of rien, in foure boures layling, or twentie Englythe perfour= miles, as some men doe account it. There mance of ere of these as I sayde, to the number of one made whe hundzeth fozty seauen in light, whereof eche he enter= one is greater of lesse then other, and most of price this them sometime inhabited, howbett, there are boyage, for twentie of them, which for their greatnesse this safe rescommodities, ercode all the realt. Therto (if you respect their position) they are scituate in manner of a circle, oz ring, having an huge lake, or portion of the sea in the middest of them, which is not without perill, to such as with small adussement enter into the same. Certes it palleth my cunning, either to name or to describe all these one hundreth fourtie leaven, according to their estate, neither have I had any information of them, more then I baue gathered by Lepland, oz gotten out of a Manye of their descriptio, which I had, some tyme of Keynolde Wlolfe: wherefore omit ting as it were all the ragges, and such as are not worthy to have any time spent about their particular descriptions, I will only touch the greatest and those that ly togither, (as I said) in maner of a roundell.

The first and greatest of these therefore, called S. Maries Ille, is about fine miles ouer, S. Mas ornyne myles in compasse. Therein also is a ries Ise. parithe Church, and a poze Towne belong. ing thereto, of the escare housholdes, beside a castel, pletie of Corne, Conics, wilde Swans nes, Huffens, Bulles, Cranes, other kindes of Foule, in great abundace. This fertile 36. tão being thus vielved, we sailed southwards by the norman rocke & S. Maries founde onto Agnus Isle, which is sire myles over, & hath Agnus in lyke sozte one Towne oz Parishe within Ide. the same of fine or sire housholdes, beside no small store of Hogs, Conies, of lundry cow lours, very profitable to they, owners. It is not long lince this Alle was left desolate, for whe f inhabitats therof, returned fro a feat holden in S. Maries Ille, they were al dzow. nco and not one person left a live. There are also two other small Islandes, betweene this T the Annot, wherof I finde nothing worthy Annot. relation, for as both of them to yned together are not comparable, to the layde Annot for greatnesse and circuite, so they want both Pogges and Connies, whereof Annot bath

great

Minwisand great plentie. There is mozeouer the Minwifand, from whence we passe by the Smithy Smithy found, (leaung thie little Flandes on the founde. Suartigan. left hande, unto the Suartigan Allande, then to Rouluian. Rouluian, Rouluiar, and the Cregwin, which scaven are for p most part, revier thed with Cregwin. Conics only, and wilde Carlike, but bopde of wode, and other commodities, lauving of a short kinde of grasse, or here or there some firses whereen their Conics doe fede. Leaving therefoze these desert véces, wé incline a little towarde the northwest, where we flumble of rume oppon, Moncarthat, Inis Welfeck, & Suethial. Tale came in like fort ento Ratic Islande (wherein are so many mons frous Rattes, that if hogles, or other beafts; happen to come thither, or be left there by negligence, they are fure to be denoured and earen by, without all hope of recourrye) the Anwall and the Brier, Mandes in lyke forte bopte efail god faratture, Comes only ercepted, a that the Buer (wherein is a village, Caffelly parish Church) bringeth forth no leffe trees of Hogges, and wyldefoule, then Natt: Frand both of Bats, whereof I greats ly marueple.

Bo north of the Brier, lyeth the Ruscoi which bath a Labell or Bylande Fretche ing out toward the fouthwest called Inis widt don. This Rusco is berpenære so great as that of S. Maries. It hath mozeover an hoid a a Parish within st, beside great stoze of Cornes and unlocfoule, whereof they make much gapne in due tyme of the yeare. Pert buto thes we come to the Rounde Mand, then to S.Lides Illand, (wherin is a Parith church, redicated to that faint) the Northo, the Auing, ione of the being fituate by fouth of another) and the Tyan, which later is a great Illande, furnished with a Warith Church, 4 no small plenty of Comes as I here. After the Tyan S. Martines fue come to S. Martines File, betwirt which & S. Maries, are tenne other, finaller, which reach out of the neathcast into the fouthwest, Knoworth, as Know orth Smulliuer, Menwerham, Vol-Smulliner, lis.1. Surwihe, Vollis.2. Arthurs Island, Guiui-Menwetha huer, Neucch and Gothrois, whose qualities are orders : bolubeit as no one of thefe, is to be accounted great in comparison of the o: Archare it, ther, so they al pelve a host grass, méte for Guinhuer, thape and Contes, as doe allo the realt. In Nevech. the greater Iles likewife, (whose names are commonly fuch as those of the Cownes, 02 Churches fanding in the same) there are as I here fund ve lakes, and those never in thous great pleastpe of wildefcule, so that the flies of Sally, are supposed to be no lesse beneficiall to their Loides, then anne other whatformer, within the compasse of our Ale, or nere unto our coastes. In some of them also are wilde swine. And as these Isles are withe supposed to be a notable safegard to the coast Sylley. of Cozinewall, lo in dyners of them great Noze of tinne, is to be founde. There is in like maner such plenty of fishe taken among theis same, that beside the fæding of their swine with all, a man thall have moze there for a peny, then in London fozten Grotes: Holo. beit their chiefe composity is made by Keigh. which they day and cutte in pieces, and carps ing it over into litle Britapne, they erchange it there, for Salt, Canuas, readre Money. oz other Parchaundile which they doe france in næde of. A like trade have some of them also, with Buckehorne or daped Whitping. as I here: but fith the Authour of this report. did not flatly abouth it. I passe over that siste as not in feason at this rime. Thus have we viewed the richest and most wealthy Asses of Sylley, fro whence we must direct our course eastwardes, buto the mouth of the Sauerne. then go backe agains unto the well popul of Wales, cottinuing full our boyage along by on the well coast of Beptaine, till we come to the Solvey where at the kingdomes part and from which forth on ine must touch such 36 lances, as leeven the west and northshore, til we be come againe buto the Scottiff fea. and to our oftene deminions.

From the popul of Cornewall therefore, or lecomotory of Helenus, (so called, as some think, because Helenus the sen of Priam loth Helenus. buried there-except & fea haue wathed away Priamus. his sepuichie) untill we come unto the mouth of Saverne, we have none Islances at all that I do knowe or here of but one lytie Byland, Cape og Peninsula, which is not to be reconed of in this place. And yet fith I have made mention of it, you hall binder frande, that it is called Pendinas, and belive v the compalle thereof is not aboue a mple, this is to be remembzed farder how there städeth a Pharos or light therein, for thippes which layle by thole coalls in the night. There is also at the bery pount of the sayde Pendinas, a chappell Pendinas. of S. Nicholas, beside the church of S.Ia, an 3: rith woman Sainc. It heloged cflate to the Lorde Broke but in we as I gelethe Lorde Mountioy emergethie. There is also a Block, house, and a pære in the east tide thereof, but the pare is fore choked with fande, as is the Whole shore furthemore fro S.les unto S.Caranrokes, infomuch that the greatest parte of thes Bylande is nowe conered with fances, which the lea casteth bp, this calaintty bath indured little about aftie yeares.

There are also two Bockes niere buto Tredwy, and another not carre from Tintagell, all which many of the common fort dee repute and take for Illes: wherefore as one descrous to note all, I thinke it not best that thele thould be omitted, but to procede. Wilhs we be come farder, I meane onto & Sauerne mouth, we meete the two Holmes, of which one is called Scepholme, and the other Flatholme, of theve formes.

It thoulde teme by some that they are not worthy to be placed among Illands: pet other lome are of the opinion, that they are not altogyther so base, as to be reputed as mongst flattes or rockes : but whatsoener they be, this is sure that they oft annoye such Pallengers and Parchauntes as palle, and repalle byon that river. Depther doe I reade of any other Ides which lye by cast of these same onely the Barriano Dunwen: the first of which is so called of one Barroc, a religious man as Gyraldus laith. And here in is a rock, standing at the very entraunce of the close, which bath a little rift or chine byon the live, wherento if a mã do lay his eare, he thal here a nople, as if lmithes did worke at the force, sometimes blowing with they? Bellowes, & fometimes Aribing and clinking with Hammers, whereof many men have great won der and marueyle. It is about a mile in compaste, leituate ouer against Aberbarry, and hath a chappel in it. Dunwen, is so called of a Churche dedis cated to a Welch woman faint, called Dunwen, that Candeth there. It lyeth moze then two miles from Henrosser, tyght against Neuen, and hath within it two fayre mylles, and great store of conics, and if the lande increase so fast herafter as it hath done of late about it, it will be buyted to the mapne, inithin a most leafon. Beyond thefe & toward the coast of Southwales, live two other Is landes, larger in quantitie, then the Holmes, of which the one is called Caldee of Inis Pyr. It bath a Warithe Church Worth a fpire Cie. ple, and a prety towne belonging to the county of Dembroke, and intiloidion of S. David. in Wales. Lelande supposeth the ruines that are founde therein, to have beene of an olde! priorpe sometimes called Lille, which was a celle belonging to the Monasterpe of S. Dogis maell, but of this I can layenothing. The other hyght Londy, wherein is also a village: cz towne, and of thus Illande the Parlon of the lapoe tolone, is not onelye the captaine, but hath thereto weife distresse, and all other commodities belonging to the same. It is little aboue firteene myles, from the coast of wales, and pet it ferueth as Jam informed Lord and king in Denonthyre. Moreover in thys Illande is great plentie of thepe, but:

moze of conies, and therewithall of beer fine and those graffe, for their better fode and pastureage. And albeit that there be not scale lie fourtie houtholdes in the whole, pet the inhabitants there with huge stones (alreadye provided) may keepe of thousandes of they? enemies, because it is not posible for any aducrfaries to allaple them, but onelye at one place, and with a most damigerous entrance, Schalmey.
Scalmey the greater and the lesse specific Schoncold. well of Pilforde hanen a god way. They bes long both to the king, but are not inhabited, bicause they be so often spotled with pirates. Schoncold Alle ioineth buto great Scalmey, is brager then it, onely a pallage for thippes parteth them wherby they are supposed to be one, Leland noteth the to lie in Dilfo2d haue? Limen as Prolomy calleth it, is scituate Limen of ouer against S. Dauides in wales, wherebuto Ramsey. me must nedes come after we be past another litte one, which somemen do call Gressholme, Gressholm In a late Pappe I finde this Limen to be call led in Englishe Kamsey: Lelande also confir, meth the same fand I cannot learne moze thereof, then that it is much greater than any of the other last mencioned, (fithence I described the holmes) and for temporall furifoidts on, a member of Denbeokinice, as it is buto S.Dauides, for matters concerning & church. Lelande in his Commentaries of Englande Lib. 8. fapeth that it contained these Mettes! where of the Bishopof S. Davids is owner of the greatest, but & Chantet of S. Dauids claps meth the second as the Archeveacon of Cairmaiden both the thirde. And in thele is very excellent passure for thepe, and horses, but not for other homed beatts, which lacke their opper tethiby nature (whole lubifaunce is coverted into the nourithmet of their homes) and therefore cannot byte To low. Page onto this Alle Me came to Mawr, an Alano he the Mawr. mouth of Mawr, frant a boin hote suer, and environmed at the low water with frefly but at the high Salt, & here also is creellent catthing of Deringes.

After this proceeding on Wil With our course, the fetched a compatie-gotter out of the riosely towarde the well, and then taching all the (as the coalt of the country leadeth) with we lapled full fouth-leaving the there Will on our right hance, batpil we came brito a couple of ples, which lipe upo the mouth of the Soch, one of them being villaunt, as we gelled a mile from the other, and neither of them of mive. greatneste, almost worth to temembies. The first that we came bitto is called Tulkal Tedal. and thering is a Church-but without and but rithioners, except they be there and Colines. The quantitie thetof allo to fibt inition appur

3.3003

arri,is a light that roin the Dunwen.

Caldee:

Moncar-

that. Inis Welicck.

land.

Sucthfall.

Rat Is Round.

At mg.

? Ceebc.

Bardefey.

are acres of grounds, measured by the pole. The next is Penthlin, of Myrach, seituate in maner betwirt Tudfall, 92 Tuidall and the those, therin is very god patture for hosles, whereof as I take it that name is given buto It. Pert unto them, we come unto Bardeley, an Illande lying over against the Southwest poput of Decomontorie of Poethwales, and whether the realt of the Monkes of Bangor by dive to faue themselves, when their fello. lowes were flapne by the Saron Princes in the quarell of Augustine the monke, and the Citic of Caerleon of Chefter, raced to the grounds. Prolomic calleth this Island, Lymnos, the Battons Enlhi, and thereinalso is a parity church, as the report goeth. Fro hence wee cast about gathering still towards the Portheaft, till we came to Eacr Jerienchoo a notable rocke lituate over against & mouth of the Leuenni, wherin standeth a strong hold D: foetresse,02 eile some Downe 02 Willage. Certis we could no well differne whether of both it was, because the winde blew harde at Southwest, the morning was missie and our mariners doubting some flats to be couched not farre from thence-halted away buto Anglescy, whether we went a pace, with a reop windezenen at our owne befire.

Anglefey

. This Mande (which Tagitus milfaketh, no wales by boubt for Mona Cerfaris) is scituateabout two myles from the spore of Porthwales. Paulus louius gesseth that it was in time past toyned to the continent, or maine of our Ale, and only cut of by working of the Oceane, as Sicilia peraduenture was fro. Italy by the violence of the Leuant: thereby also as he sayth the inhabitants were confirmined at the first to make a brioge over into the same, till the birach wared fo great, that no fuch passage could day longer be maintened, but as these things doe epiher not touche my purpole at all, of make finally with the prefent vescrips tion of this Ide: fo(in comming to my mats ter) Anglesey is founde to be full so great as tie Wight, anothing inferiour, but rather furmounting it, as that also which Cafar calleth Mona in fruitefulnelle of foile by mange and hundred folde. In olde time it was reputeb and taken for the common granerie to Wales, as Sicilia was to Italy for their prouthon of Come. In lyke maner the Welchmenthemsclies called it the mother of they? country, for gluing their mindes wholly to paffurage, as the most case and leste charges able trade, they betterly negleaed tyliage, as men that leaned wholly to the fertilitie of this Mande for their Corne, from whence they never fayled to recepte cotinuall abunbaturce. It contained moreover so manye townes welnere, as there be tales in a pere, which some converting into Cantredes have accompted but for three, as Gyraldus faveth. Howbeit as there have beine I say 363, townes in Anglesev, so now a great part of v recounting is biterly threnke, a to farre gone to occap, p the very ruines of thee are vnneth to be sene: and pet it sæmeth to be mætelp wel inhabited. Lelande noting the smalnesse of cur hundredes in comparison to that they were in tyme past, addeth so farre as Free member that there are fire of them in Anglefey, as Menay, Maltraith, Liuon, Talbellio. Torkalin, and Tindaithei: herebuto Ihoto faith also how it belonged in olde time, buto the kingdome of Guinhed og Pozthwales, & that therin at a towne called Aberfraw, being on the Southwest live of the Ille, the kinges of Gwinhed beloe cuermoze their pallaces, whereby it came to passe, that the kinges of northwales, were for a log time, called kings of Aberfraw, as & Welchme named & kings of England kinges of London, till better in Aruaion dyd being them farder knowledge.

There are in Anglesey many townes and villages, whole names as yet I cannot 02derly attapne buto: wherefore I will content my selfe with the rehearfall of so many as we viewed in layling about the coaffes, and otherwyle hearde report of by luch as I have talked with all. Beginning therefore at the mouth of the Geini (which ryleth at Porth. rait aboue Gefni og Geuenni, 20. myles at pleast into the land) we passed first by Hundwyn, then by Newborow, Port Hayton, Beaumarrais, Penmő, Elia, Almwoch, Burric (where by runnetha rill into a creke) Cornew, Holyhed, (franding in the promontorie) Gwifen, Abeifraw, and Cair Gadwaladar, of all which, the two latter france, as it were in a nuke, betwæne the Geuenni water, the Fraw, where bpo Aberfraw is scituate. Within the Iland, we hard only of Gefni afoze mettoned, of Griitial städing vpó frame water of Tefri, of Lanerchimedh, Lachtenfarwy & Bodedrin, but of ail these the chiefe is nowe Beaumarais, which was buyloed sometyme by king Edward the first, and therewithall a strong Castell about the yeare 1295, to kepe that lande in quiet. There are also as Leland sayth 31. Parithe churches belive 69. chappelles, that is 100. in all:but hereof I can say little, for lacke of sust infruction. In tymes past, the people of this Ide rsed not to scuerall their groundes, but now they digge from hillockes and with the Rones thereof they make rude walles, much lyke to those of Denouthyze, fith they want hedges, fire bote, and housebote, or to lave at one worde, timber & træs. As for wine, it is so plentifull & good cheape there most come monly as in London, thosowethe great res courle of marchaunts fro France, Spaine, and Italy buto the aforelague Illandele The flethe likewyle of such Cattelias is bredde there, is most velicate, by reason of their era relient pasture, to much was it estemed by the Romaines in tyme past-y Collumelia Did not onely commende a preferre them before thise of Liguria, but the emperours the coluds also caused there proustion to be made for nete out of Anglesey to fede oppon at their owne tables as the most excellent befe. It taketh the name of Angles & Eye, which is to meane the Ide of Englithmen, bycaule they wan it in the conquerours tyme, binder the leading of Hugh Carle of Cheffer, & Hugh of Shewelbury. The Welchme cal it Tires mone, and herein likely le is a Pzomonfozie 02 Bylande, called Holly hed, (which hath in tyme past bene named Cair kyby, of lapby a monke, that dwelled in that place) fro whence the readyest passage is commonly had out of Porthwales to get ouer into Irelande. The pilinach, Britons named it Enylfnach, or holy Ide of bly Tae. the number of carkales of holy men, which they suppose to have beene burged there. But herein I marneyle not a little what women had offenced, that they might not come this ther, 02 at the least tuple returne from thence without some notable reproche. And nowe to conclude with the description of the whole 30 lande, this I will adde mozeover buto bir co. modities, that as there are the best milstones of white, redde, blewe, and græne grætes, (especially in Tindaithin,) so there is great games to begotten by fishing, rounde about this Me, if the people there coulde ble the trade: but they want both cunning and oils gence to take that matter in hande. And as for temporall regimet it appartements to the countre of Cairnaruon, to in spirituall cases it belongeth to the Bylhopzicke of Bangor. This is finally to be noted mozeover of Anglesely, that sundry earthen pottes are often founde there of dead mens bones converted into albes, let with the mouthes downeward contrarie to the ble of other nations, which turned the brimmes opwardes, whereoftet this luffice.

The description of Britaine.

Having thus described Anglescy, it reas Areth to report furthermore, how that in our circuite about the same, we mette with other little Flettes, of which one lyeth Porthwest therofalmost over against Butricke mouth; or the fall of the water, that patieth by Bin tricke. The Britons called it Ynis Ader, that is to say, the Ille of Birdes in olde time, but now it hight Ynis Moil, or Ynis Rhomaid, that is hy givene pospalles. It hath to name like, wife Afterifd, and Adros. Being past this, we Ysterifd. carreto the fecond lying by Porth eath weer Adros. against the Billary point, called Ynis Ligod, Lygod. that is to fay, the Tile of Mile, and of thele two this latter is the smallest, neyther of the both boung of anye greatnesse to speakeroft Yms Seinli ag Preitholmes lieth ouer agains Seriall. Penmon, of the point called the hed of Many Preftholne where forme a towner as A tolds pour of the fame denominatio. Prolomy nameth mos this Manos, whereof I marurple. It is smil cell of Flintlypie, and of the durifoidion of S. Apfah, ang in fertilitie of lopie, and breite of Catteil; nothing inferiour unto Anglelevilio mother: although that for quantitie of graud it come infinitely thoat thereofine benothing coparable buto it. The last Rhand oponicoll of Males having now left Anglesoy, in called Credine, although it lye not properly with Credine. in the compatient my description, yet I will not let to touch it by the wave, fith the causen thither from Wenbighlande, is commonly ourshowed. It is partly made an Idand by the Comocy a parily by the lea. But tap 204 rede, when we hav vielved this place, we pale fed forth without finding any ino Ales to my remembraunce, untill we came to the Capo of Ale Bie, of Hilbery & popul of Wyrales Hilbery. which is an Illande at the full fea, a quarter of a lingle from the lande, and foure fadame Deepe, as thippes boyes have oft founded that at a lowe water, a man may go ouer on the lande. The He of it felf is very landy a mile in compate, swell flozer with Comes, this ther glio went a fort of superstictous foles in tymes pate, in pylgrimage, ta our Ladye of Hilbery by whole offrings a Cell of Sponken there, which belonged to Cheffer, were ches rithed and miaint appretion of the da extinates

The mert Mant opportie coaltor Gige Mants land is man, which the mileithmen doe come fuppoled monly call Manaw. It lieth ender 53: degrees to be the monly call Manaw. It lieth ender 53: degrees first, as hie of Latitude, and 36: minute, and bath in loss the is the grade 16. degrees and 40. minutes; abutting laft, of the on the portifice bpo S. Nimans in Scotlands Debrides, Furnellels on the Call , Preft holme & Ang and Hector glesey on the South, and Alsther in Ineland Boethus on the Wiellist greater then Anglesey by difference a thirde part, and there are two rivers in the betweene lame, whole heddes doe toynte to nière, that them of they doe sæme in maner to part the Ase in 300. twaine. Some of our auncient writers call miles. it Euboria and other Menania, howbeitaften Menania. Beda and the Scottish histories; the Menanian are those lies which we now call the Hebrin des 02 Hebrides (whereof William Paling. bery Libarderegibus, will have Anglesey to he one hober de it læmeth that a number of our late writers ascrybing the lapde name buto Mona, haue not bæne a little deceaued. In this Illande were some time 1300. famis lies of which 960. were in the West halfe, * the realt in the other. But nowe thosow iops ning house to house, and lande to land, (a co; mon plague & canker, which wil eate bo al. if provision be not made in tyme to withslande this mischiese) that number is halse diminitheo, and pet many of the riche inhabiters want roume wote not howe where to be: stow themselnes, to their quiet contentatios. Certes this impedimet groweth not be reafor that men were greater in body, then they haue bæne in tyme palf, but onlye foz y their thisatiable believ of inlarging their private possessions increaseth still byon them, & will due moze, except they be restrayned: but to returne to our purpole. The kings of Scots , land had this Illande bnder their dominio, almost from their first arrival in this Island, and as Beda fareth till Cowine king of the Porthumbers wanne it from them and buis ted it to his kingdome. Hereof also I coulde bring better testimonic, for we finde that the kings of Scotlande, did not only give lawes to such as divelled there, but also from tyme to tome, appoint such Bushoppes as shoulde creccie Geeleliaffical Jurifotaio in f fame. Anally how after functy fales bargains and cotrace of Batrimony for I reade y Willia Scroupe the hings Ticechamberlepne, did bur this The and crowne therof of the Lord Willia Hontacute Carle of Sarū) it came onto pauncesteurs of the Carles of Darby, who have bene comonly lard to be kings of Man, the hydroxic folowing as I suppose hal moze at large declare. Gyraldus noteth how there was contention sometyme betweene the kings of Englands, and Irelands, for the rught of this Islande, but in the ende when by a coprimife the tryall of the matter was referred to the lives of deathes of fuch benemous Colornes as thoulde be brought in to the same, and it was founde, that they oved not at all, as the lyke doe in Irelande, fentence passed with the kyng of Englande, and so he retarned the Islande. But how soes tier this matter frandeth, & whether any such thing was sone at all or not, fure it is that the people of the layde Alie, were much given to Colitcheraft, and Soccerie (which they lear, ned of the Sectios a people greatly bent to that horrible practice) infomuch that they? tromen traciles oftent mes fell frince to the mariners inclosed under certague knots of threde wishthis immunion, that they which bought the fame, thoulor for a great gale bus doe manye, and for the leffe a smaller nume

MONTH &

ber. The stature of the men & also fertilitie of Tal men this Illande are much commended a for the in Man, latter supposed verye nere to be equall with that of Angleleysin all commodities.

There are also these townes thering as thep come now to my remebrance, Rushen Dunglaffe, Holme towne S. Brids, Bala Cury (v by thous house) S. Mich. S. Andrew, kirk christ, kirk Louel.S. Machees, kirke Santa, Pala falla kirk S. Mary,kirk Cocane,kirk Malu, & Home, But of all these Rushen with & castel in the strongest. It is also in recompece of the common want Rivers. of wode, indued wyth funday prety waters, as first of all the burne that rysteth in northlide of warehill botomes, a branching out by fouthwell of kirke Santan, it fæmeth to cut of a great part of the eastside thereof, from the relidue of that Illand. From those holles also (but of the seuth halfe) commeth the Home and Homey, by a towne of the same name, in the verry mouth whereof, lieth the Pile, afoze mencioned. They have also the Bala passing by Bala cury, on the wellside, and the Kame on the north, whose fall is named Kamesey hauen as I doe reade in Chronicles. There are mozeover fundzy great hylles have therein as that wherupo S. Mathees frandeth. in the northeast parte of the Ide, a parcell whereof commeth flat Couth, betweene kirke Louell, and kirke Mary, pælding out of their botomes the water Bala, whereof I fpake before. Belide these and well toward the south part of the Ile, I finde the warehilles, which are extended almost, from the west coast of nertwhart buto the burne freame. It hath also sundive hauens, as Ramsey hauen, by Hauens. north, Laxam hauen, by caff, Port Iris, bp fouthwest, Bost Home, and Post Michell, by welf. In lyke fort there are diners Mettes annered to the same, as the Calf of man on the fouth, the Pile on the west, and finallye S. Michelles Ille, in the Gulf called Ranoths way, in the east. Hozeover the ships of thys countrye are ercieding huge, wel wolled, and The pyle. their tayles of such greatnesse as is almost S.Michelincredible. In lyke forte they bogges are in les Jae. maner monfiruous. They have furthermoze Shope. great flore of Barnacles, breeding bpo their Bogges. coaffs, (but yet not to great foze as in Freland and those (as there also) of olde thippes. Dies, Maites, and such putryssed pytched finfe, as by weeke bath happened to corrupt bpon that shore. Howbeit nepther the inhabytantes of thys Ide, noz yet of Freland can Barnacles redily laye whether they be fill or fleshe, for neyther although the religious there vied to eate the fishe, nor as fishe, vet elsewhere some hand home from as fishe, pet elsewhere, some have bene trow bled, for cating them in times prohibited, as Beretikes, and Lollardes.

Bilhop of Opan. There hath sometime beene, and pet is a Bythop of this Ide, who at the first was cale led Episcopus Sodorensis, when b surifoidient of all b Bebrides beloged but o him. Wheras now he p is Bythop there, is but a Bilhops hadow, for albeit of be beare h name of By: thop of Manavet have & Carles of Darby, as it is supposed, al p profite of his Die, saving that they allows him a little comewhat for a flourish) notivithisating that they be has pas trons and have his nomeration to that Sie. It is subject to the Bythoppe of Porke also; for spiritual Aurifolation, & in time of Henry the seconde had a king, as Houeden saith, whose name was Cuthrede buto whome Vinianus & Cardinall came as Legate. 1177: but lith I can nepther come by the names; no: successions of those Wimcesthat reigned there. I furcede to speake aim more of them, and allo of the Isle it leife, whereof this may > luffise. SARALL SAME After he have in thus wife described the Alle of Man, with hyr commodities, we returned caffinardes back againe onto b point of Ramshed, where we founde to the number of are Aucttes of one forte and other, whereof the first greatest and most easterly is named the Wauay. It runneth out in length, as wee geffed about five mples from the fouth into b north and betweene the fame and the maine lande lie two little ones, whose names I find not in anye watter to farre, as I remember. The fourth is called & Fouldra, and being fcituate foutheast of the first, it hath a prety pile oz blockhouse therin, which the inhabitaunts name the Dile of Fouldray. By east thereof in luke fort lue the Fold and the Roa, plottes of no great compasse, and yet of al these sire, the first and Fowldra are the fayzest and most fruitefull. From hence we went by Rauenglaffe point, where lieth an Island of the same denomination, as Reginalde Wolfe hath noted in his great Carde not pet finished noz lykely to be published. He noteth also two or ther Illettes, betweene the same & the mapne lande, but Lelande speaketh nothing of them, (to my remembrance,) neyther anye other Carde, as pet let forth of England; and thus much of the Allands that lie boon our Moze. Having foreadly eastome is possible, let downe the names a politions of fuch Illes as are to be found bpo the coaffes of h Duenes matelities dominions. Poweit restethy we procede orderly with those of are sene to lye bpothe cost of Scotland, that is to lay, in the Frish, the Deucalidon & the Germaines seas:

But before we come at these, there are di

uers other to be touched, which are scituate betweens the nuke of Galloway, & the frith wauay.

Fouldra.

Bauen=

glaffe.

Fola.

Roa.

downe by any writer, nepther is their number areate. Wherefore lith I may not dee in this their descriptio what I would, I must be contented to doe therein what I may, and to ridde my hands of the one, that I may the foner come into, and be dealing with the v ther. The first of these therefore, weth over as gapulf Dundrenaw, somewhat sowardenthe month of the Areame, that goeth with Chang kaire. The second is seituate in Dee where in Trief Castell standethiby well whereofly Trick. eth S. Mary Ille, which is sucr against with & Spare therne, or as we now eatlit Witherne, of Inc. which in our Englishe hystories we have oft mention binder the name of Candida Cafa, whereof the learned are not ignozaunt. Bevonde thefe are two other lying togither: as it were in the mouth of the lowest docke, & from thence we passed directly rounde about. the aforesappe nuke, onto Dumbricton forth, where we ande also nine or tenne Allandes. of opuers quantities, wherof Ailze, or Aliza, is the first, & wherein is great plentye of the Solano foule, Cinuary the second, Bure the thirde, Marnoch the fourth, Pladuathe fift, Lanlach the firt, Arren oz Botha, the feauenth, Sauday the enght, and Olr the ninth: but of all thele, one or two are only accounted famous. that is Amen the greatest of all suberty stans beth a towne of the same name, and Burethe mert in which Rola is scituate: the reast are eyther otterly barren, or not very commo bious, except for fowle to such as owe the same. By this time also are we come to the poynt of Cantyre, which is not palling fiftente 15. Miles of firtens myles, distaunt from the coalist Cantyres Irclande, to that next buto these afore reme the coall of bred (and when we have fetched in the afore Delmond. said paynt) we come unto the Hebrides, which are reconned to be thee and fourtie, in num ber, belides the flattes and Challowes as 3 have earlf affirmed in the beginning of thes chapter.

of Solve, whose names I find not as vet set

Of theleuloxelayd Illands, I finde dyners to be 30, mples, some twelve other moze pr ichequantity, but Sky Mula Iona, Ella, are the greatest, as thall appeare bereafter . Certes it is impossible for me, being a mere Eng. lythman boyde of helpe f of small reading, to discusse the controversies that are moved among the learned, touching the Mouainst the Hebrides, wherefore fith am not able to beale to depely with that matter, I will first thewe what Allandes one live boon the well coaltes of Scotlande betweene Cantyre and Andermouth heave, giving out onelye the names of the least (lith I know nothing els of their commodities and greathelle) and then

procéding

Time-

There distances proceeding with the reaft as they doe lie in sider. First of all therefore and oueragainst Billian, (fos I will go by the those) we have Baray, then Cegay, S. Hachare, and hys neighvour, Langa, Suinnap, Dunqu, Corfey Leawing, Cewil, Pawell, Caerbery, Life more, t wuke, which lyeth at the very point, of Andermouth, oner against Were, fouttene in all. From hence going bestwarde, wee come to the Terry and the Coll, and then ens tring in among the realf, by Carndeburge, Ellwaye, or Deanlay, Colaulay, 4 Iona minor we come at the last to Dearbo, Cozebucken, Honell, al which thus mencioned, of the least are counted y greatest, yet there are lundly other of whose names I have no knowledge. In thus trace allo, there are pet thice to intreate of as Ila, Iona & Mula of which the first is one of the most, that hath not bene least accounted of. It is not much about 30 myles in length, a twenty in breadth, a vet it is an ers existing riche plut of grounds very plenteous of come, but more ful of mettals, which were rafic to be obtopied, if either the people were industrious or the sovieveloable of wode to fine and true out the same.

Iona was sometime called Columkill.In fance and estimation, nothing inferiour to any of the other, although in length it ercede little about twentie myles, and in vicadth, 10. so: by reason of a famous Abbie somtime burlers there by Fergus the seconds, it hath bene countenaunced out by the feruities of so many tungs, as deceases in Scotial, after the lap de Fergus, until the tume of Mulcoline Cammor, who by burloing another Abber, at Dunfermeiting, gave occasion to his luce cessours to be interred there.

Mula is a ry hnoble file, replenissed with druces and funder townes, and castels, as are also the other two, albeit their names at thus tyme be not at hand a readr. This pet is worth the noting in this Islande above all the rest, that it is the a pleasant spring, arising two myles in bicamice from the those, where in are certayae ivitie egges founde, much like unto monterent Bearles, both for colour and bryghtnesse, and thereto full of thicke hus mour, which egges being carried by violence of p fresh water, unto the falt, are there with in the space of 12, hours connerted into great theiles, which I take to be the mother pearle ercept I be decepted. And thus much hatef ive of the leauen and twenty e greatest Alles. lying within the afoiclands compasse, being disuen of force to omitte the letter onely, for that I nepther fond there names, among the Scottishe writers, nepther to fave the truth directly condersiance howe manye be Battes, and howe manye be coursed with graffe: To procede therefore by north of Anbermouth we have Egge, Kon, Canay, Klad, Trantnesse, (where is a castell,) Trant, Als tauecke, another flad, Kona, and Scalpa, beside sundaye smaller, whose names 3 doe not knowe, all these doe enupson the greatest of all, called Disp, in which are dyuers Skye. townes, as Ave, S. Johns, Dunwegen, and S. Picholas, belide other, and thereunto funday lakes, and freshe streames, and those not withoute great abundannce of Samon and funday other fishe tohereby the inhabitaunts of those partes doe reape no small aduaun. tage. Furthermoze & by well of these lye dis uers other percels also of this number, of inhich, if you loke to here an orderly reporte pour thall understande that I will beginne at the most foutherly of them, and so proceede, with eche one in order, so well as my know. ledg doth serve me. First of al thersoze, there are foure little Illandes, of which one called Erth, another Scall are & greateff. Pert bn. Erth. to these and directly towards the north lyeth Board. Bawap, then S. Peters Ide, in the call lide, S. Peters whereof are their finall ones, whose names Me. I have not yet learned. Pert of al is the Gult Hirth of or Hirtha, which sæmeth by rertaine rivers, Euft. to be devided into four partes, of which the the first bath a towne called S. Columbanes in finorth fide thereof, fi fecond another bedis cated to S. Warp, a the fourth, for Third nos thing of $ third) one named after S. Patricke. by well wherof, lyeth pet a lede, not greatly frequeted of any. 13p north of this also are 3. other, of lykequantity, and then followeth Lewis, scituate in the Deucalidon sea, ouera Lewis. gainst the Rolle, and called Thule, by Taci-called tus, inherein are many lakes, and very pret. Thule by toe Cillages, as lake Crwyn, lake Cinfal, Tacitus with no fago: but of townes, S. Clements, Stoye, better au-Noys, S. Colombane, Radmachac. About thozitis thys are also diversother Illes, of leste quas then he titye found, as Scalpap, Flen, Schent, Bar, named Anray the more, Barraye the leffe, S. Lylder, & glesey Moother of smaller reputation, wherof the most parte are bopde of culture and inhabitantes, and therefore not worthpe to be remembred here. This finallye is left to be fayo of these Flies, that albeit Leuffa, be the greatoff of them, and eduterning the elease mples, in length, and thirtie in breadth, pet Birtha, 02 with, is the most famous, for the sheepe which are there bredde, and is therefore called shepp of the wolve Trothe. Certes, the stature of these shippe is greater and higher, the of any fallowe oure, their tailes hanging downe to the grounde, and their homes longer & thicker then those of any Bugle. Unto thes Mande also in the Moneth of June, (when the seas be most calme) there com: metha Priest out of Lewista, & minystreth the facramet of Baptisme to all such chiloze as have beine boane there, and the Mandes about fith that moueth in the peare passed. This being done, and his appointed nums ber of Hasses laive, he recepueth the tythes of all they commodities, and then returneth home agains the same way he came.

Rona the last of the Pedrides, is dystant, as I faide, about fouretie mile from the D2. chades, and one hundzedth and thirtye, from the Promontorpe of Dungilbe. The coast of thus The is dayly replenished with Seale, and poppatte, which are epther to tame, or to fierce, that they abalh not at the fight of fuch as loke byon them, neyther make they any halfe to five out of they; presence. Aboue the Pirth also is another Islande, though not inhabited, wherin is a certeine kind of wilde beafte, not much different fro the figure of a Méve, but so wilde that it will not easilve be tanco. For they grynning also they are res puted to be a kynde of bastarde Avger. As for they heatre it is betweene the woll of a spépe, and heaire of a goate, somewhat res sembling eche, shacked, and yet absolutely like unto neyther of both.

The Shot There are also other Illes, an hundreth and Ides myles beyond the Dechades , towarde east northeast, and subject to scotlande, wherin is nepther come, nor anye ble of flesh, although they have froze of fundaye fortes of cattell as mongst them. But in stead of bread, they drie a kinde of fishe, which they brate in morters to powder, and bake it in they? Duens, butill it be hearde and baye. They fewell also is of such bones as the fishe viloeth that is taken on they coastes, and vet they ivue as themselues suppose in much schicitie, thinks ing it a great piece of they, happynelle to be: so farre distaunt from the wicked anarice, f cruell dealings of the world. As for they ry ches and commodities, they al confift in the skinnes of bestes as of Dre, Sheepe, Gotes, Marternes, and such like, wherof thep make great reconing. Herin also they are lyke buto b Wirthiens, in p at one time of the peare, there commeth a priest buto them, out of the Dechades (unto which Jurisdiction they doe belong) who Baptiseth all such children, as have bene borne among them, fith he last are rived: and having afterward remained there for a few daves, he taketh his tythes of them (which they provide & pay with great scrupus lositie in fishe, for of other commodities pay: they none) and then returneth home againe, not without boast of his treublesome boyage, except he watch his time. In thele Ides also is great plety of fine Amber to be had, which is produced by the working of the lea, bpon those coastes: howbest, after what name these Tiles be called particularly and how many there be of them in all, the Socottes themsels ues are exther ignoraunt, or not footligent, as to make any constant mention.

The Orchades lie partly in the Bermaine, Orchades. and partly in the Calidon leas, over agapuff the point of Dunghilby, being in number, thirtie one of name, t belonging to b crowne of Scotlande, as are the realt whereof here tofoze I have made report, fince we croffed quer the mouth of the Solucie Areame, to come into this countrie. Certes the people of these Illands are of goody flature, tall, bes rve comelye, healthfull, of long lyfe, great frength, and most whyte coulour: and yet ther feed most been fishe onely, sith the cold is so crtræme in those parts, that the ground bringeth forth but smal Croze of Wheate, in maner very litte or no fewell at al-to warme them in the winter. Dies thep have veryo plentifull, but greater floze of Barly, where of they make a napppe kinde of drinke, and such indede, as will verye readilye cause a Arager to forget himself. Howbelt this may be unto us, ain lieu of a myzacle, halthough they dinke be never to frong, they theme felues fo immeasurable deinkers (as none are more) vet it that not easily be fine, that there is any drunckarde among them, either frang the tike,02 madde mā,dolt,02 natural fole,mete to were a cockescomb. In like soft they want venemous beaftes, chiefly such as doe delyte in botter foile. They? Ewes also are so full of increase, that some doe blualine bring forth tivo, thie, or four lambes at once, whereby they account our anclings (which are fuch as being forth but one at once rather to be bare renthen kept for any gaine. As for bylo and tame fowles, they have such plentie of them, that the people there account them rather a burthen to they? soyle, then a benefite to their tables. There is also a Bilhop of the Dechas des, who bath his Sie, in Pomonia the chiefe of al the Idanos, wherin allo are two frong castelles, and such bath been the supersticion of the people here, that there is almost no one of them, that hath not one church at the least dedicated to the mother of Thriff. Finallys there is little ble of Philicke in these quare ters, leffe flore of Gles, and leaft of frogges. As for phorfes that are bred amongs them, they are commonly enot much greater then Alles, and pet to labour and travaile, a man thall finde very fewe elsewhere, able to come nere, much leste to matche with them, in C.ij.

thys

bolding out their labours.

from the Orchades butill we come fouths wardes to the Scarre, which lyeth in Buquham nelle, I finde no mention of any Ile fcis tuate bpon that coast, nepther greatly from thence, butill we come at the forth, that leas deth by to Sterling, wherein we palle by les uen oz enght such as they be, of which the first called the Way, the seconde Baas and Gar, wy, the third doe læme to be inhabited. From these also holding on our course towarde England, we palle by another vie, wherin Faur castell standeth, and this so farre as my skill ferueth is the last Island of the Scotish side, in compassing whereof I am not able to difcerne, whether their flattes and Challowes, number of Idandes without name, confusion of scituation, lacke of true descriptio, or mine owne ignozaunce hath troubled me most. Po maruevie therefore that I have beine so oft on ground, among them. But most iorful am I v am come home againe: * although not by p Thames mouth into my native citie (whi che taketh his name of Trope) vet into b Engliche dominion where god entertapnement is much more franke and copious, and better harborow, wherein to rest my wery bones, & eafily refreshe my wether beaten carkafe.

The first Island thersome, which commeth nites byd spende they times therein. There was also the Bushoppes Se of Lindesarne, for a long feafon, which afterwarde was tra-flated to Duncline of Durham. Pert buto this is the Ille of Farne, and herein is a place of defence to farre as I remember 160 great floze of Eggeslaved there by divers

kindes of Wildfoule in time of the peresthat a man thall hardly runne for a wager on the plaine groud without the breach of many be-forchis race be finished. About Farne also lie certaine ples greater then Farne it felf, but boyde of inhabitaunts & in these also is great frose of Puffins, graic as Duckes, and with out couloured fethers, saving that they have a white ring round about their neckes. There is mozeouer another Birde, which the people call saint Cuthbertes foules, a very tame and gentle creature, and easie to be taken. After this we came to the Cocket Illad, so called bycaule it lyeth over against the fall of cocke water. And here is a vayne of means feacole, which the people diage out of the those at the low water. And from thence bu-till we came buto the coff of Postolke I faw to our fight, after we passed Barwic, is that which was sometime called Lindefarne, but now holly Blande, and contarneth 8. mples. holy Jiand a place much honoured among our Monatti call writers, bycaule divers monkes & Heres

会。Cuth=

no mo Allands. Being therefoze pair S. Co. monds point we saw a little Alle over against the fall of the water that commeth fro Wolks hant, and like wyle an other over against the Clav before we came at Waburne kope: the thirde also in Varmouth rouer over against Bradwell a towne in low or little England, wherofallo I must needes say somewhat, by cause it is in maner an Island, and as I gelle epther hath beine or may be one, for the bros dest place of the Strictlande that leadeth to the same it little above a quarter of a mple, which against the raging waves of the sea, can make but smal resistence. Little England Little Eng or low Englande therefore is about 8. miles land. inlength and foure in bredth, bery well res plenished with townes, as Fristan, Burgh castel, Diton, Flirto, Lestost, Bunto, Blund Kon, Coxton, Lowno, Albeby, Horton, Wels ton, Bradwel, Corletton, and betide this it is very fruitfull and indued with all commos dities. Doing forwarde from hence, by the Estonnesse (almost an Illande,) I sawe a small percell cut from the maine in Deforde hauen, & Langerstone in Dzwell mouth, two pæces oz Illettes at Cattywade Bzioge-thë calling about buto & Colne, we beholde Der: Merley. ley which is a pretie Illande, well furnished with wood. It was somtime a great receptacle for the Danes, when they inuated Englande, howbeit at this perfent it hath belide two decated Blockhouses, two Parts churs ches of wich one is called Cast Dersey, the other west Mersey & both bider the Archdeas con of Colchester as percell of his invisoriti. Foundle Fowlnesse is an Ille voyde of wood yet wel replenithed with very god graffe for nette and theepe, whereof the inhabitaunts have great plentie : there is also a Parith church, and albeit that it france somewhat distaunt from the Moze, yet at a dead low water a man ryde thereto if he be ikilfull of the Cawlie. In Paidon water are in lyke fozte theé Illands, endironned with the falt freames, as S. Dlithes, Porthey and another (after a Duley. merthe) that beareth no name fo far as I re- Morther. member. On the right hand also as we went toward the lea againe, we saw Kamley Ille, Ramsey. og rather a Peninfula og Bylande, and like: wyse the Rey, in which is a Chappell of S. Key. Peter. And then coaffing bpo the mouth of & Bourne, we law h mallot Ile this mates, whereftwo lee by Caft of Wallot, and the forth is Foulnelle, ercepte I be decepued, for here my memorye fayleth me, on the one fide and information on the other, I meane cocerning y placing of coulnesse. But to procide, after this and being entered into the Thaines mouth, Afinde no Mainde of anye name, except you accompt Kochford hundred for one-lobercof I have no mind to entreate, moze then of Crowland, Wersland, Ely, and the reaff, that are framed by the Dusc and Anon (two noble rivers herafter to be deferi) bed) lith I touch only those that are environned with the sea, so saltwater rounde about, as we mave fee in the Canway Ales, which fome doe liken to an Ipocrafe bag, some to a vice, skrew, 02 wide sæne, bycause they are very small at the east end, and large at west: The falterilles also that crosse the same doe so seperate the one of them fro the other, that they relemble the slope course of the cutting part of a skeew or gimlet, in very perfite may ner, if a man poe imagine himselfe to tobe bowne from the top of the mast oppon them. Betweene these, mozeover and the Leighe towne weth another little Me, whole name is to me bulenowen. Certes I woulde have gone to lande and biewed thefe vercelles as they lay, but fozalmuch as a Perry of winde (fearle coparable to the nuckerell galv wher, of John Aneld, one of the best seame that engi land ever becode, was wont to talke) caught holde of our layles, and carred be forth the right way toward London J. coulde not fary to le what thinges were hereabouts. This much therefore of our Illamber, and so wach may well fulffice. For house this could be stored wead the of are will be eigened by the A. Of their ving and falles of fuch yulers and 15 freames as descende into the sea with out alteration of their names, and is at first of those that lye betweene a spart or withe Thames and the Sa-world will ra ber in heraunerne. Cap. 9.

ាស់ ជានាមានក្នុងក្រោម ស្រាក់ក្រើម្នាំ ស៊ីកា ខេត្ត ជាស៊ីបនេញ

I laing as you have tone attempter to let downe a full discourse of all the go landes, that are lectuate treporthe coal of Britagne, and finding the frecesse not corres pondent to mone intente it batt caused init somewhat to restraine importante in this description of our ritieus. Consobereus De in terroed at the first to have textrem at ineget of the number, scituation dames quantitles; Aotones, Walinger, Caffles, Pountagues, Freih maters, Plathen, m toakes, Contrions ters, and other tominabilities of the afore from Alles, mpne expedition of information from all parties of Englande : was developed as the ende, that Finas fapre at tall, oneipeas leane to that which I know my felle epither by reading of such other helpe as A haprids ready purchased and gottenof the same And ruen foit happeneth also in this my tractas tio of waters, of whole heads courses, legth; bredth, depth of Chancil (for but ven) ebbes, flowinges, and falles, I had thought to have made a perfect descriptio. But now for want of instruction, which bath beine largelye promiled, and lackly perfourmed, and other los dayne and injurious denyall of helpe boluntartly offred, worthout occasion gruen on my part, I mult needes content mp felf with fuch observations as I have either obtained by myne owne erverience, oz gathered fro tyme to tyme out of other mens witings: wherby the full descourse of the inhole is otterly cut of, and in frede of the fame a mangled res hearfall of the relique, let volune anotest in memozie. Wherefoze I befech your Honour to pardon this imperfection and rudenelle of my labour. which notwithstanding is not als togither in vapue, lith um erroza man proue a spurre unto the better fkilled, epther to total reat, oxinlarge where occasion serveth, or at the least wife to take in hange a moze absolute péce of worke as better direction thall encor rage them thereto. The entraunce and bee ginning of every thing is the hardelf, and her that beginneth well bath atchieued balte his purpole. The Ile my Lorde is broken, and from henceforth it wil be more easie for such as that come after to wave through with the rosit dith facile est inuction addere. anotheris time ambienthe i is not to oceat a manter m building our to attempt and lave the fomina? tion de platforme of any mobile pièce of works painth (ppe: though to be but endely handled. Bufto my purpole as 3 began at & Chames turny description of Allanges, to will Anoth do the like with that of theore: making mine Thamelis. entrie at the layre roner it lette, which hath has headed beginning out of the nos of an byli, Canoing in the playies of Cottelbolde, about one mae from Terbury néve vacothe Folle: (an thigh wave lucation of olds) defines te tous somet pine named This of the Outer ale thoughe upwers sociandiauntipe call with Thannon: Their there, futher of a tolume cut Annie Unio Carife (kill - Totalife Prepiertyet neglish by utierly are ignoraling, how it was names as the the Live of Tence for things of retrib tradator the leals, this over it mileteth thinly the Coine of Ebokus la Salatie vallen in Little Constitute Whereof Constitute of Corinium wolly is commistduosy take the name. Group point & independent of Cheerelahe Calies designific Cord wedgane, Kadcatebrioge, Petibliogs & Colhamirete wing by the way an infinit logit of what Ween new blokes beckes loaters a randelless before on this lide of the tolone beunding states and two concles, of which the one goest trapabted Bodely, and Binkley, the other by Wedlfow, a billage not facte of This tarded appeared to the He also for a tubyle into fundzy fmaller braunches, which runne not farre care they be reunited, and then be: clipping funder pleasant meadowes, it pas feth at length by Drefozde, where it meteth Charwell. with the Tharwell, and a little from whence the originall branches one forme agains and go togither by Abbandune (oz Abington, as we call it,) although no part of it at the first came so nicre the Downe as it dothnow, till abzamich thereof was led thother from the the maine mavne Arcame, through the industrie of the was brous monkes as (belide the tell imonie of olde res ght thither coines thereof pet extant to be læne) by the which ran becau of Dorchester it self, somtime the comtweite An- mo thorowfare from Wales, and the Waest versey and countrey to London, which insued byon this Culcuham fan is calle to be fene. from bence it gos ethto Dozchester and so to Thame, where iopning with a rincr of the same denominas If Deford tion it loseth the name of Isis or Ouse. (where it felfe be of Duleney at Dreforde is producted and fro not to be threeforth is called Thamelis. From Thame it goeth to Wallingforde and fo to Reading, Duscford which some of the number of Bridges there thereof. one call Pontium, albeit that the Englishe name doe veoccede rather from Khe. 02 Ke Swarp the Saron word for a water course or river ouer Rha. which may be fæne in Duere oz Sutheren, for our the Kie or South of the Khe as the skilfall can consecure. But how former that matter frandeth after it bath passed by Reac oing, and there recepted the Benet, inhigh commeth from the biles that lipe Michief Parlebozough, and then the Thetis, commonly called the Apoe that commeth from the Ehetisforde: it hpeth to Sudinaton, or Pardenheade, and so to Myndlesboze (oz Mindfoze) Caton & then to Chertfey, where Erkenwalde Bifhoppe of London, somtime buplded a religious Poule, as I doe reade. From Chertseys it hasseth dozealye buto Stancs, and recepting an other freame by the waye, called the Cole, (whereupen Col. broke frandeth)it goeth by kingfone Shene Sion, and Bzentforde, where it meteth the Branc or the Brene, another Broke Micending from Edgeworth whole name signifieth a frogge; in the Brittish speache. Appor thysalfo Dir John Thime, had fometyme a flately house with marucylous provision: to inclose and retapne such fifees hours conic about the laine, From Beentsmedeit: palleth by Mortlach, Jumey, Fulham, Bate terier, Theliep, Lambeth, and to to London. finallye going from thence buto, the fea, it taketh the Lie lupthit by the wave ppen the Coan of Cher, and the Darnt bed Bentude, which riseth neers to Sanrige, and commeth

Darwent, by Spozeham, unto Derntforde, inberrunto

the Cray falleth. And last of all the mydway Crav. a notable rpuct, (in mine opinion) which was terethall the South, and Southwest part of Ment, and whose description is not to be omitted in his place.

Thus we lee the whole tract and course of b Thames by whole head and fall, it is evident that the length therof is at the least, one bund dzeth and eighty miles, if it be meafured by $ iourneves of the land. And as it is in course, the longest of the theé famous rivers of thes The, fo it is nothing inferiour buto them, in abundance of all kinde of fifte, whereof it is harde to lap, which of them have epther molt plentie, 02 greatest varietie, if the circumsta. ces be duely weighed. That should I speaks of the fat and lweete Samons, dayly taken in Samons. this arcame, that in such plentye, as no ryuer in Europa, is able to ercede it, but what Core also of Barbelles, Aroutes, Cheuins, Pearches, Smelts, Breames, Roches, Das Rochester ces, Budgins, Flouders, Shaimps, Cles. ac. Shampes are commoly to be had therein, I referre me & westerne to them; that knowe the same by experience. Flonders And albeit it seemeth from time to time to be the belt. as it were defrauded in fundape in leaof thele hir large commedities, by the infaciable ausrice of y filbermen, pet this famous rpuer cos playneth of no mante, but the more it inseth at one tyme, the moze it viloeth at another. Dnely in Carpes it læmeth to be fcant, lith Onely in Carpes it termety to vie train, my it is not long lince that kynde of fifthe was Carpes s brought oner into Englande, and but of late brought to speake of into this areame by the violent into Engrage of funday Landsoudes, that baske open land, and the heades and dammes of dyners Gentle, later into mens pondes, by which meanes it became the the pertaker also of this sato commoditie, where of earth it had no position that I coulde ever beare of the second of the second

Aurthermoze the lapte river fielveth and filleth all his channels twyle in the cave and night, that is indurer 12. houres once, ethys south ebiting and flowing, holdeth on for the frace well, and of feauentpe miles, within the mapne lande; northeat the Arcanic or tyde, being alwayes hyghen Mones, at Londo, when the Pome dotheradly touch fea at Lotheradic touch fea at Lothe northeast and south or well pointes, of the bones the bearens, of which mers biable, the other bre full and der the earth and nutsublea to our light.

n Thefe types also differ in their tymes eche both highone comming latter then other, by so manye which we myruites as passere the revolucion and nas commonly turall course of the heavens doe reduce, and call sping bring about the sayde Plannet, onto those tides. hir former places: where by the common distributionee, ference betwene ene tyde and another, is betwene founde to confift of twentye foure mynutes, one tyde, which watethilut.twelue of an whole houre, another.

In 24 as experience both confirme.

This o:der of flowing likewife is parpetue all, ercept rough winds doe happen to checke arcame of the Arcame in hir comming, or else some of thecked in ther occasion, put by the ordinary course of the Porthen leas, which full the laude rouce by their naturall returns and flowing. And that both these doe happen eft among , I res ferre me to fuch as have not fildome observed it. For sometime the huge wind kepeth back a great part of the floudde, whereby the tyde is differred (though never altogrither put by) and sometyme there happen this or source tydes in one naturall dave, whereof the bn: failful do descant many things. I would here make mencion of funder bridges placed over this noble Areame, of which that of London is most chiefly to be comended, for it is man: ner a continuall Stræte, well replenished with large and fratelye houses on both fices, & scituate brontwentie Arches, whereof eche one is made of excellent free squared fione, es nery of thepm being the escape fote in beight. and full twentie in distaunce one from anox ther.

In lyke maner I coulde intreat of the infinite number of Iwannes daply to be læne by 1000, wher pair thes river, the two thouland Whirries tica by on and finall bots, whereby the ethousand pose he thanco watermen are maintained, through the carls age and recarriage, of fuch persons as palle, narradued or repasse, from tyme to tyme oppon the place same: beside those huge tyde botes, tiltbotes & barges, which cyther carry vallengers, 02 bans come baying necessary provision, from all quarters wild in the of Drefozothyze, Barkethyze, Buckingerme time hamshyze, Bedfozdeshyze, Herfozdeshyze, Mydeiller, Eller, Surry and Bent, buto the Citie of London. But forsomuch as these thynges are to be repeated againe in the particuler discription of London, annexed to hys Carde. I luccife at this tyme to speake any more of them as also of the rouer it felf. wherefore let thus suffuse.

Pert buto the Thames we have the mid. way water, which falleth into the mayne fea at Shepey. It ariseth Warde forrest in Sus fer, and when it is come so farre as Whether lin towne, it metetha little by north thereof, with the Done, which descendeth from was terdon forrest, and from whence they go on togyther, as one by Alhehirlf, where having recepted also the seconde broke, it hasteth to Wetherff, a there carrieth with all the Coen, that commeth from Lingfielde parke. After thys it goeth into the South east parte of Bent, and taketh with it the Frith or Firth, on the north west syde, and an other syttle Arcame that commeth from the hylles, bes twene Benenbury and Bossemon, on the fouth cft. From thence also a not farre from Palling it receiveth the Theise (a pretve Theise. Areame that ariseth about Theise Dirit) and afterwarde the Gran oz crane, which having Grane alias hus heade not farre from Cranbzoke, and Cranus, meeting with funder other revellettes by the ivay, whereof one braunche of Theise is the last, (for it parteth at the Twist, and includeth a picty Illande) doth forme with the faid Medway, a little aboue Valding, then with the Lowle. Finally at Paidstone, it meteth wyth another broke, whose name I knowe not, and then valleth by Allington, Dutton. Dewhide, Halling, Cuckestane, Roschester. Chattham, Billingham, Apchurch, Lingle ferry, and falleth into the maine sea, betinene

Some lave that it is called mydway water because it falleth into the sea mydway, betwene the north foreland and London: vet some not having anye such consideration.doe name it the Dedowstreame, whereof I thought god also to leave this short admonis

After the Midway whole discription 3 bane partely gathered out of the Leland, and parts ly out of Paister Lamberts perambulato of Wet, we have & Stoure that rifeth at Kingel' Sturies. wode which is fourtene or fiftene myles, fro Canterbury. This river patieth by Athes forde, Tale, Packington, Canterbury, For dith, Standith, and Sturemouth, where it Nailburne recepteth another typer, which hath 3. beans water also ches, wheref one called Bredge goeth by Bis as I heare thips bourne, the other named Whybam, be, about Cant ginneth about Adham, and the thirde (name, warbiry, but leffe) runeth by Staple to Wingham, After, wherabout warde our Stoure or Sture parteth it felfe in twaine, and in such wyle that one arms thereof goeth towards the Porth, and is called (when it commeth at the sea) the Boath mouth of Stoure, the other runneth South east warde up to Rychebozow & so to Sand. wiche, from whence it goeth Rozthealt ar gapne & falleth into the lea. The iffue of this latter tract is called the hanen of Sandiniche and peraduenture the Areame that commeth downe thither, after the dividio of the Stoure. may be the same, which Beda calleth Want, wantsome, some, but as I canot bubo this knot at will, so this is certaine, that the Stoure on the one fide, and peraduenture, the Wantsome on the other parteth a cutteth the Tenet from the mame lance of Bent, whereby it is left for an Illand and fo replenished with townes, as I have notified befoze, in & chapter that fpear keth of our Allandes.

There are other little Brokes, which fall Ciliti.

Shepev and the Grane.

tion.

London

bzidge.

n molt ple=

Midway.

Dunus,

Frethus.

tito the Stoure of which Lelande speaketh, as Filhpole becke, that aryleth in Stones hirdwoo and meteth with it foure myles from Canterbury: an other beginneth at Childet, & goeth into the Stoure gut, which sometime inclosed Thanet, as Leplande saieth, the thirde issueth out of the grounde at Dozthburne (where Canbert of Bent some time pau held his pallace 4) runneth to Sad: wich haven, as the layde Aucho: reporteth, & the fourth called Bridge water that ryseth by S. Marie Burne church, 4 mæteth with Canterbury water at Stourmouth : also Alzham that ryseth above Alpham, and falleth into Wiedge water at Dudmyll, 03 Wienderton: but fith they are exther obscure or namelesse 4 there to not reserving there names till ther come at the lea, I passe them over as not to be touched here. From hence buro Doner I finde no Areams by reason of the Cluffes, that environme the laude coast: howbeit upon the South five of Douer there is a pretie freth ryper, whose head aryse that Grwell, not passing foure myles from the lea, and of seme is called Dour, which in the Brittisse tongue is a common name for all waters, And thereofolis it is lykely that the towns and Castell of Douer dyd sometyme Parenthesis take the name. From hence we go towarde the Camber, (omitting paraduenture here and there surveye small Crekes, & Beckes, by the way) whereabouts the Rother, anoble rmer falleth into & sca. This Rother hath his head in Huller net far from Argas hill niere to Waterson forest, and from thence directeth his course buto Rotherfield. After this it goeth to Othlingham or Ditchingham, and fo forth by Demenson onto Hatthamferry, where it devided it selfe in such wise, that one begunche thereof aseth to Appledour (where it moteth w the Bily that ryseth about Bils fington) the other by Joen, so that it includethafine percell of grounde called Drnep, which in times past was reputed as a percell of Suffer, but now by on some eccasion of or ther, it is annexed buto Bent. From hence also growing into some greatnesse, it runneth to Rie, where it meteth finally with the Becke, which commeth from Beckley, so that the plot wherein thre frandeth, is in maner a Brlande or Peninsula, as experience doth confirme. Lelande and most men are of the opinion that this rever thoulve be called the Linene, howbest in our time it is knowen by none other name, then the Rother oz Appledour water, whereof let this suffice. Being thus croffed over to the West side of Rive haven, and in viewing the illues that fal into the same, I mete arit of all with a water that groweth of two brokes, which come downe by one Chanell into the east side of the mouth of the layde Post. The first therefose that falleth into it, descendeth from Becklep oz thereabouts, as I take it, the next runneth along by Pelemarth, and Cone after toyning withall, they holde on as one, till they fall into the same at the Westerly side of Rye. The third Areame commeth from the Posth, and as it mounteth by not farre from Munfield, fo it runneth betwene Selcamb and Maclington nere buto Bread, taking another rill with all that ryseth as Tieare not very farre from Westfield. There is likewyse a fourth that groweth of two heades, betweene Iclingham and Pet, & going by Minchelley it mæteth withall about Kye hauen, so that Minchelley standeth environned on theæ partes with water, and the Areames of thele two that I have last rehearsed.

The water that falleth into the Dccan, a mple by Southwest of Hastinges 62 theras boms, is cailed Altus of Aften, and rifing not Aftus. farre from Benhirff, it meteth with the lea, as I heare by Caff of Pollington. Buluer, Buluere hithe is but a crætie as 3 remember ferued bithe. with no backewater, and so I heare of Cod. ding or olde haven, wherfore I means not to touche them.

Into Penenley hauen divers waters doe Penenley. relost, & of these that which entereth into the same on the Cast side ryseth out from two heades, whereof the most casterly is called Ashe, the next onto it the Burne, and uniting themselves not farre from Asheburne, they Whe continue their course onder the name and Burne. title of Albeburne water as I reade. The fee conde that commeth thereinto rvieth also of two heades, wher of the one is so many miles from Boscham, the other not farre from the Parke east of Pelling Towns, and both of the cocurring Southwest of Hirstmowsen, they direct their course toward Peuesep (beneath which they mute with an other ryling at Foyngton) and thence go in one chanell foz a myle or more, tvil they fall togither into the Peuensep hauen.

The Cuckmer issueth out at severall plas Cucomar ces, and hereof the more easterly braunch co. meth from Warbleton ward, the other from 13ishoppes wod, and meeting beneath Halling they runne in one bottome by Wicham Arlungton, Tellington, olde Frithuan and so into the sea.

Unto the water that cometh out at Pelv: Is nifalhauen sunder Benkes & Rimerettes voere, lor. sozte, but the chiefe head ryseth towards the West somewhat betweene Etchmfoede and Shepley as I here. The first water therfoze that falleth into the same on the cast side, is fueth out of the grounde about Aertwod, & running from thence by Langhto and Kipe, on the West side, it falleth into the afozesayd rpuer beneath Folle and Glyme, or thice mpies lower then Lewys, if the other buttal lyke you not. The next her unto hath his head in Argas hill, the thirde descendeth fro Alber don forcell, and forming with the last mention ned, they crosse the maine rouer a little be: neath Achield. The fourth water commeth from Athedon forrest by Horsted Caines (02 Duschate Caines) and falleth into the same. lykewyle Cait of Linkeld. Certes Jam des cepued if this rpuer be not called Ifis, after it is past flesseld. The fift ryleth about Stoz uclgate, and meteth also with the maine Greame aboue Linkeld, & thefe are knowen to lye bpon the right hande as we rowed by the rouer. On the other side are onely two. whereof the first hath his oxiginall neere buto Wenefield, and holding on his course to warde the Call, it meteth with his maister betweene Newicke and Neffeld, 02 Affeld as some reade it. The last of all commeth from Plimodune of Plumpton, and haufing met in like fort with the maine river about Barcham, it runneth forth with it, and the rest in one chaneli by Barcham, Hamley, Palling, Lewys, Piedingburne, and so forth into the maine sea.

The next rouer that we came unto Wiek of Brighthemston is the Soze, which note withstanding I finde to be called Wzember water, in the auncient Wappe of Warton Colledge in Drfozde: but in such sozte (as 3 take it) as the Kother is called Appledour Arcame, by cause of the sayd towne that Kans deth therespon. But to proceede, it is a pleas faunt water, and thereto if you consider the scituation of his armes, and braunches from the higher groundes, very much resembling a fower firinged whip. Alherabout the head of this river is, or which of these braunches may fafely be called Sora, from the rifing, in god loth I can not lap, for after we had valfed nyne or tenne myles thereon by into the lande, sodainly the crosse waters stopped bs, so that we were inforced to turne either east or west, for directly forth ryght we had no way to go. The first arme on the ryght hand as we went, ryleth out of a Parke by South of Albeine, and going on for a certagne space toward the Posthwest, it turneth southward betweine Shermonbury and Twinham, and some after meteth with & Bymar, not much South from Shermonbury, whence they tun togither almost two myles, till they fall into the Soze. That on the Westive desendeth from about Billingeshirst, & going towards the east, it crosseth with fourth (which ryseth a little by Wieff of Thacam) east from Dulbosow, and so they run as one into the Soze, that after this colluence hastethit self south warde by Brember, Burleis, the Combes, and ere long into the Deean.

The Aron (of which believ Arundel towne the Castell and the valey, wherin it runneth Arunus. is called Vallis Aruntina, og Arundale in Ene glish) is a goody water and thereto increas fed with no small number of excellent & pleas faunt brokes. It springeth op of two heades. whereof one descendeth from the Porth not farre from Gretham , & going by Lis, mes teth with the next freame, as I gelle about Doursozo house. The second riseth by West from the hilles that lie towards the ryling of the sunne from Castmaine and runneth by Peterfield. The thirde commethfrom Beryton warde and joyneth with the second betwene Peterfield and Dourstozde', after which coffuence they go togither in one chas neli fill toward the Caff, (taking a rill with them that commeth betweene Fernehirst and S. Lukes Chappell, southwest of Linches mere & meting with it Cast of Loddesmorth as I doe reade, and lykelpple sundape of ther in one Chanell beneath Sopham) to Waltham, Bury, Houghton, Stoke, Arundell, Costington forde, Climping (all on the Well fide,) and so into the sea. Having thus described the west side of Arun, let us doe the lyke with the other in such sorte as we bew may. The first river that we come but others fore on the Galf five, and also the seconderise at lundry places in S. Leonards forrest, and iopning a lyttle aboue Hortham, they mete with the thirde, which commeth from Affeld Parke, not berye farre from Simfeld. The fourth hath two heads, whereof one roleth in Witley Parke, the other by well, neere onto Helelmere chappell, and meting by well of Doursseld, they onyte themselves with the chanell, growing by the confluence that I spake of beneath Slinfeld, a little aboue Bil. lingehirs. The last water commeth from the hilles aboue Linchemere, and runneth well and South, and palling betwene Billingthirst and Stopham it commeth onto the channellias mencioned, & fo into the Arun, beneath Stopham, without anye farder increase, at the least that I doe here of.

Burne hath his isue in a Parke, neere Al Burne. dingburne (02 rather a little abone plame to ward the Porth, as I have lince beene infor med,) and running by the bottomes toward the fouth, it falleth into the lea befinime north Berflete and Fletham.

Cryn

Ervn.

Cryn riseth of sunday heddes, by east of Crynley and directing his course toward the funne ryling, it pennisulateth Selesep, and faileth into the Dcean betweene Belesey towns on the southwest & Pagham at north west.

Delus.

Del springeth about Benderton, & thence running betweene midle Lauaunt and Cast Lauaunt, it goeth by west of West Hamp net, by east of Chichester, or West of Kumbaldeloowne, and afterwarde by fishburne, where it meeteth with a ril comming Posth west from Funtingdon(a little beneath the towne) and then running thus in one freame towards the seasit meteth with another rils let comming by Northe of Bosham and so into Anant gulf by Galt of Thomep Island.

The Racon riseth by cast of Bacton oz Racodunum and coming by Chidham, it falleth into the lea, posthelt of Thosney afores

The Emill commeth first betweene Racon and Stanfied then downe to Emillworth or Connesweath, and so buto the Decan, separ rating Suffer from Hapfhyze almost from the very head.

Daning in this maner passed along the coas Res of Sully. The next water that I reme, bergreseth by east of the forcest of Esbyzy, from whence it goeth by Southwije, West Burbunt, Farham, and so into the gulfe als nioit full South.

Badunus.

1.n.iii.

Then come we to Bedenham Creke (so called of a tillage flanding thereby,) the mouth whereof iveth almost directly against Pozchester Castell, which is seituate about 3 miles by water from Postesmouth towne, as Lelande both report. Then go we with Forten. in halfe a mple farder to Forten Creke, which evther quueth or taketh name of a bil-Offerpole, lane harde by. After this we come to Diferpole Lake, a great Cricke, which goeth by by west into the land, and lyeth not far from a rounde tolver of frome, from whence also there geeth a chaine, to another Tower on the east five directly over against it, whereby the entraunce of great vellels into that vart mave be at pleasure restrapued.

From hence wee goe further to Tiches feld water, that rifeth about Chmaine park, ten or twelne myles by northeast or there as Tuheficid, bout from Dichfeid. From Estmaine it goeth parting the forrestes of Waltham, and Caffbern by the wave) to Witcham oz Wife comb, a pietr market towne and large thos rolufare, where also the water seperateth it feife into two armelettes, and gopng bnder two bittges of wede, commeth ere long as garne valo one Chanell. From hence it go, eth thie or foure mples farder, to a brioge of tymber by Paister Waitholeleyes house, (leauing Tichfelde towne on the right lide) a little beneath runneth under Ware briog whether the sea floweth as hir natural course inforceth. Finally within a mile of this bridge it goeth into the water of Pampton hauen, wherunto divers Areames refort as pouthal heare hereafter.

After this we come to Pamble haven, or Pamelrill Hamelrift crake, whole fall is betwene S. Andrewes castell, and Boke. It riseth about Shiofoed in waltham foerest, and when it is vall Croke bridge, it meteth with another banke, which rifeth not farre fro Bishoppes Waltham-out of funder springes in the high way, to Winchester, from whence it valleth as A layde by Bilhoppes Waltham, then to Budeley or Botley, and so towning with the Hamble, they runne togither by Wzowlings. worth, Apton, Brufill, Hamble towne, and so into the sea. Pow come we to the hauf of fouth Hamp Southton, which I will briefely describe so neare hampton. as I can pollibly. The breath or entry of the mouth herofas I take it is by estimatio two miles from those to those. At the well poput therofallo is a frong castell lately builded which is rightly named Caloffore, but now Cawshot, I wote not by what occasion. On healt live thereof allo, is a place called inche (afoze métioned) oz Hamell hoke wherin are not aboue thee or foure fishers houses, not worthy to be remembred. This haven hos teth by on the well fide by the space of seaven miles, butill it come to Hampto towne, Canding on the other lide, where it is by estimas tion a mile from lande to lande. Thence it goeth bp further about this myles to Redbridge fill ebbing and flowing thicker, and one mple farther, so farre as my memorye doeth serne me. Dowe it reffeth that I des scribe the Alrestorde freame, which I will precide withall in this order following. The Alrestozde beginneth of divers faire springs, about a mile or more fro Airestord, Airestord. or Alforde as it is now called a some after res forting to one bottome, they becomes a brode lake, which for the most part is called Alford pond. Afterwarde returning agains to a narrowe chancil, it goeth thosow a frone bringe at the ende of Alforde tolone, (leaving the towne it selfe on the left hand) toward Wich, ingstocke their mples of but ere it commeth there, it receives h two rolles in one bottome, wheref one commeth fro the Forrest in maner at hande, and by northwest of olde Aires. forde, the other from 1520wne Candiner, that goeth by Porthenton, Swarewotton, Aber-resozteth into this haven also, both the Telle and the Stockebridge water in one bottome, whereof I finde thys large description insw ang. : ्वति वृतिसा or grant carry

bauen.

beneath Alforde tolone. Being palf Dichinfocke, it commeth by Animaton to Eston village, and to Worthy, where it beginneth to braunch, and cche arme to part it felfe into other, that resorte to Upde and the lower foples by Caff of Mincheller, there feruing of fretes, the close of S. Maries, Woluelep.

and the new Colledge very plentifully wyth their water. But in this meane while the great freame commeth from Worthy to the cast briog, fo to S. Clizabeth Colledge, where it both also parte in twayne, enviros ning the land house in most vileaable maner.

After this it goeth towarde S. Croffes, leas ning it a quarter of a mile on the right hand:

then to Twifoed (a mple lower) where it gas thereth agains into one bottome, and asoth fire maes farder to Wlodmill, taking the Otter broke withall, on the cast side, and so into the falt creeke that leadeth downe to the

On the other five of Southampton, there

The very head of the Stocke water, is luvi voled to beilamewhere about Buling floke. by Church Pockley , and going from thence betwens Duerton & Stouenton, it commeth arial by Lawethocke and Whitchurch, and fone after recevuing a broke by Borthinest called the Bourne offcending from S. Ward Bourne, loutheast from Hotseburne) it mo credeth by Long parach and the Wiloode. All it meete with the Cranburne, on the east line (a prety rideret ryling about Wichelney, and going by Fullington, Barton, and to Craits burne thence to Hazwell in one bottome bei neth which it meteth with the Andener in a ter, that is increased erest come there by an other broke, whole name I doe not knowe. This Andener Areame, rpleth in Culhachite forthingt far by north from Andener toinne 4 going to opper Clatford, ere it touchthere It recepted the Kill of which I spake before. which ry lingalls nere buto Auport goetlito Monketon to Abbatelbam, the Andener and both as I faid onto the Tell beneth Bosinel. inhereof Achancemen nowe. These areames being thus brought into one betom it runeth toward the South, onder fockbeidge. form after diniving it felfe in tipaphe, one braunch thereof goeth by Doughton, a alttle beneath mæteth worth a Kyll, that commeth from by Well of D. Annes boll, and goeth by Caft of opper Waltop, West of nether Walloffiby Bucholt Forcest, Broughton, and called as I have bene informed & Ballon, but nowe it is named Wallop. The other arms runneth Tialonius thozowe the Warke, by Porth well of Kings Somburne, and uniting themselves agaphe. they go forth by Pottelhunt, and the recepue the Telf, a preip water rolling in Clarenbun Warke, that goeth by Wiell Deanc, and Call Geffe. Deane, lo to Mottelbunt, and finally to the aforelande water, which from thenceforth is called the Teffe, even buto the Sea. 13mt to procede. After this confluence, it taken the gate to Kimb bridge, then to Kumley, Long. bridge, and beneath the fame receiveth a concourse of two rilles wher of the one commeth from Sherefielde, the other from the news Forcelf, and forning in Wladely Wark, ther beate uppon the Telle, not very farre from Qurseling. From thence the Telk goeth bri der a pretpe bridge, before it come at Red. bridge, from whence it is not long ere it fall into the bauen.

The nert river that runneth into this post. springeth in the new Forrest, and commeth thereinto about Cling, not palling one mile, Eling. by well of the fall of Teff! From hence caff. ing about againe into the maine lea, and leas ung Calde Moze Castle on the ryght barne, we descred our course towards the Sound well, bitto Weaulien hauer lober into the app nepoelterbeth to passed at the strata

Eherning tyleth not facte from Miller Minep. Trese a Ulflage in the morth part of the news Forestand going by Beautien, it falletistic to the les southwell, as I take it, of Erbaro. a Cillage Carroing upon the Choze. In art of Being part the Piney, toe croffed the Lie Limen. men, whose headers in the very heart of the newe Forrett, and running South well of Lindhyaft and the Parke, it roeth by Cast of Biolichbit a quest of Balber, and Anally art o the weat South and by Ball of L'eliming ton. I armed Marke าทิศ เรียบ ทางสังเคลื่องเหมือ

The next fall that for patted by is name Bure. leffe. eccept it be called Bute, a as it descend beth from the newe Forrell, to the next unto it hight Wile, us I have bearde in Englichei Certes the head thereof, is also in the footh while. west part of the sate Forrest, and the said mot far from Wilforde bridge, bevonde the which And a narrow going of fricktland leabing from the popule to Wirst Castle, which ware veth into the Sea, as if it hung by a threa fro the inaphe of the Juande, ready to be walked away, by the continuall and bayly beating of the wanes.

The next river that we came butoof and And I name is the Anon, which refeth by northeath. and not far from Molfeball, in Mitthire! The first notable bringe that it runeth unto;

is at Tiphauen, thence foure myles farder, it goeth to little Ambredury, and there is another bridge, from thece to Modford village, standing at the right hand bank, and Newto vilage on the left. The Bishops of Sarum had a proper Panour place at Talwoforde, which Wilhoppe Sharton pulled downe altogither, bicause it was somewhat in ruine. Thence it goeth to Kilherto briege, to Cranebrioge old Salifbury, new Salifbury, f finally to Parne ham, which is a stately bridge of stone, of sire arches at the least. There is at the west ende of the layde bridge, a little Illand, that lyeth betwirt this and another bridge, of foure prety arches, and bnoor this latter runeth a god round Areame, which as I take it, is a brach of Auon, that becaketh out a little aboue, and some after it reuniteth it selfe agayne: 02 else that Wilton water hath there his entry into the Auon, which I cannot pet determine. Fro Parncham bridge it goeth to Dounton, that is about foure miles, and so much in like sozt from thence to Foedingbeidge, to Kingwod haidge fine miles, to Chaiffes church Twin ham five mples, and frapght into the fea.

The nert fall that we come unto is Pole, from whose mouth open the shore, by South wolf in a bay of thee infles of, is a poze file: er towne, called Sandwiche, where we lawe a pære and a little fresh b; whe, The very bt. ter part of faint Adelmes poynt is fine miles from Sandwich. In another bay lycthwell Lylleworth, where as I heare is some veofitable herbosow for thips. The towns of Poole is from Winburne about foure miles, and it tiandeth aimost as an Ille in the bauen. The haven it selfe also if a man sponide measure it by the circuite, wanteth little of twenty mile, as I did guesse by the view. Watemouth, or as some doe call it While mouth, is couted twenty meles from Pole, & y head of this river riseth not full foure miles about the hauen, by northwell at Aphil in the side of a great hill. There is a little barre of lande at the haven mouth, a great arme of b scarumeth up by the right hand, and scant a mile about the hauen mouth on the those, is a right goody and warlike callie made, which hath one open barbicane. This arme runeth by also farder by a myle as in a baye, to a point of land wher a raffage is into Portlad, by a little course of pibble sande. It goeth bp also from the sayd passage unto Abbatesbirp about seven miles of, where a little freshe ros bell reserves to the sea. And somichat about this, is the head or point of the Chefill lying northwest, which stretcheth by from thece a: bout seuf miles, as a maine narrow bank, by a right line unto the fouthest, and there abutteth bro Postlande feant a quarter of a mile about & Dewealle there. The nature of this banke is such that so oft as the wind bloweth behemently at fortheast, so often the sea beatethin and losing the banke soketh thozowe it: so that if this winde should blow from that corner anyelong tyme togyther, Portlande Moulde be left an Illande as it hatb beene beforc. But as the fouthest winde doth appaire this banke, so a northwest both barre it by as gaine. It is prety to note of the Townelet of Waimouth which lieth freight against Dilton on the other fide, and of this place where the water of the haven is but of smal bredth. that a rope is comonly tied fro one lide of the those to an other, whereby the ferry men doe quide their botes without any helpe of Dres. But to proceede with our purpose. Into the mouth of this river doe thips often come for fuccour, t being past the same, we meete with b fal of a water nere to f. Catherins chapple as we latted by & Shingle, which came pown fro Litton by Chilcomb, and thence we went to Bruteport water that ariseth halfe a mile or more about Bemilter, from whence it go. eth to Parnham, Petherbury, Welplath, fo to 152utepozt, afterwarde into p lea, taking in funday waters wal by the way wherof in my next treatile God willing Ameane as of divers other to make a particular rehearfall. Leuing the Bandeport, we palled by Stanto Babriell, e beholding Charemouth Beacon a far of, we directed our course toward f same, but ere we came there, we behelve the fall of Chare, which is a pretye water. It ryseth a. Chare. bout theé miles aboue Charemouth by north in a parke of the kinges called Warchewod. Pert buto this is the Buddle, which cometh Buddle. about theé miles by north of Lyme from the hilles, fleting byon rocky foyle, and so falleth into the lea.

Beyond this is the Are whole illue at thys are. present is harde buder the rotes of Winter cliffes, and the poyntes thereof being almost a myle in lunder, the most westerlye of them called Berewoo, lyeth within halfe a mile of Secon, but the other toward the east, is called Withitecliffe, wherof I have spoken already. This river rifeth a mile northest fro Bemis ffer a market Towne, in Doglet flyge, at a place called Arc knoll, (longing to Sir Giles Strangwaies) in amore hanging on the live of an hill. And from thence it runneth to the ruines of an old Abbay called Fordes, about foure of fine miles from thence, (where it fee meth to be a particion betwene Sommer. fetthyze and Denon) then unto Are Minter in Denonthyze, and to thosewe the Lowne it felfe, wherein a great flaughter was made of Danes in Athelitanes tome, at Baune foon fielde of rather Brunnedon as I read, and whereof I finde thys annotation, in an olde French Chronicle.

The description of Britaine.

27 In the time of Athelstane, & greatest Paule 2, that ever adventured intothes Illande, arris , ned at Seton in Denonthyze, benng replenis 2, thed with Aliens that lought the conquelt of this Illand but Athelflane mette & encou-, tred with them in the fielde, where he oners 2) threwe 6000. of his aforesave enimves. 2) Pot one of them also that remapned alpue, 22 escaped from the battell worthout some deads 22 lye or very grievous wound. In this conflicte 22 mozeotter were flaine five kings, which were 2) enterred in the Church pard of Are miniter, 2) and of the part of the king of Englande were , kylico epult Earles of the chiefe of hys no-, bilitye, and they also buryed in the Churchs , parde aforesande. Percunto it addeth howe 2) the Bythop of Shyzeburne was in like fort 2) flaine in thes battell, that began at Brunes 22 dune nære to Colpton, and moured even to , Are minifer, which then was called Bruhe 2, bety of Brunburg. The same day that this , thyng happened the funne loft hys light, and by so continued infthout any bapahtnesse, with 22 the letting of that Planet, though other wolf 33 the lealon was cliere and nothing clowope. But to proceede after our river hath passed thorow Areminster towns, it goeth to b bridg thereby (where some after it receineth the the Arter, cometyme a raging water) and finally to Are mouth Towne, fro whence after it hath as it were played it felfe, in the pleas fant botomes, by the space of a quarter of a myle, it goeth bnock White cliffe and to into the leas where it is called Arebaye, and thus is that rover described.

As for the hauen which in times pair as 3 have hearde, hath beine at Sidmouth (o'called of Sidde a ryllet that runeth therto) and likewyle at Seton. I passe it over, sith nowe there is none at al. Wet hath there bene some, tyme a notable one, albeit that at this present between the two pointes of the olde hauen, there lyeth a mightie barre of vibble fones. in the verpe mouth of it, and the rpuer Are isdrive to the very east point of have called White cluffe. Therat also a very little gull goeth into the sea, whether small fisherbotes doe oft relozt for luccour. The men of Seten beganne of late to stake and make a masse wall within the haven to have chaunged the course of the Are, and (almost in the myo-Die of the old hauen) to have trenched thorow the Chefill, therby to have let out the Are, to have taken in the maine lea, but I here of none effect that this attempt dyd come onto.

From Seton wellwarde lpeth Colpton, Colp. about two myles by west Porthwest, where of ryseth the ryuer Coly, which going by the afozelaide towne, passeth by Colecomb parke, and afterwarde falleth betweene Are bayoge and Are mouth towns into the Are riuer.

Leaving the Coly we come some after to Ottercy. Otterp haven, whole heade rifeth at Otterp five myles above Mohuns Otterp 02 Otterp Flemming flat Porth. From hence it goeth to Apoter, Pohuns Otterp, Hunito, Cleniton bridge, S. Pary Dtterey, pewton bridge Dttermouth and so into the sea. On the west lide of this haven is Budeley almost directly against Otterton. It is casse to be sæne also, that within less then. 100, peares, thips did ble this have, but now it is barred bp. Some tall it Budeley haven of Budeley towne, o. ther Salterne pozt, of a little creke comming out of the manne haven buto Salterne billage, that hath in time pall biene a towne of greater estimation.

From Ditterey mouth we failed by to Er er mouth so called of the river Gre, which moutethin Ermoze, at a place called Erecrosse thie myles by Postheast, and from thence Boeth by Erford where it is a rill or small Waterithen to Tiverton twelve miles from the head, thence to Therberton Cowley, and Simmigs nert of al to Erceffer receauing in the meane time the Simos bath water, which rifeth by Porthwell of Simons bath bringe (fower imples from Orfoto:) and is in Sommer time so chalowe that a man mape cally palle over it, but in winter it rageth oft, and is very depe and daungerous. As touching kenton. the haven also I remember well that there lieth byon the very West point of the same a barren sance and in the West Posths west goeth a little creke a mile oz thereabout into the land which some call Bento creke. I have herd that the Burgeles of Ercelfer indenoured to make the haven to come by to Ercester it selfe, but whether they brought it to palle or no as pet 3 doe not know, this is cettaine that in times palt the thippes came by no nearer then Apham, which is a nzety townelet on the Moze fower myles oppering to the bauen.

Beyonde Ercester haven mouth 4. mples Telgnes or there about I came to the Teigne mouth which ebbeth and floweth to farre as pews ton. The head of this river is 20. myles from the lea, and it riseth in Wartmoze at a place by northwest called Teigne bead. Fro hence also it goeth to Jagsozo bringe, Cliffozo bring Briofoed bridge, Chidley bridge, Acigne Leman. bridge, Pewton bulbelles, beneath which it receaueth the Leman water, and also Aller bioke, which rifeth thie miles of, as Leland hath let down, who writeth moreover of this haven in fort as followeth. The very otter well point of the land, at & mouth of Teigne is called the Pelle, and is a very high redde cliffe. The east part of the hauen is named the poles, a lowe sandie grounde epther cast by by the spuing of the sand out of & Teigne, or else throwen op from the shore by the rage of winde and water. This sande occupyeth now a great quantitie of the ground betwene the hauen where the land rifeth, and Teigne mouth towne, which towne furnamed Regis, hath in time past beine soze befaced by the Danes, and of latetime by the Frenche.

Cheal.

From Ceigne mouth we came to Toz bay, wherof the well point is called Byzy, and the east Perritory, betwene which is litte aboue foure miles. From Torre baie alfo to Darts mouth is fire myles where (fagth Leland) F marked divers thinges. First of all byon the rast side of the hauen a great hilly point, called Downelend + betwirt Downelende, and a pointlet named Wereford, is a litle baye. Alere it selse in like sozie is not full a myle from Downclend towarde into the hauen. Hingelwere towne standeth out as another pointlet, and betwirt it & Wicreford is the fer cond bay. Somwhat mozeover aboue Kingel were towne goeth a little Creke by into the land from the maine freame of the hauen water hed called water head, this is a very fitte place for vessells to be made in. In like sort half a mile beyond this into pland ward, goeth and ther ionger craice, about that also a greater the either of these called Salunffo, whose hed Saunton is here not half a mile fro p maine lea, by the compating thereof as it runneth in Tox bap.

The river of Dart, commeth out of Darts Dart or moze fiftene miles aboue Cotnelle, in a very Darmour, large plot, and such another wild mozish and forreitpe grounde as Ernioze is. Dfit felle moreover this water is very fwift, & thorow eccasion of Inwockes whereby it passeth, it carieth much land to Totnelle bridge, and lo choketh the deuth of the river dolume ward, that the hauen it felfe is almost spoiled by the lame. The mariners of Dartmouth accompt this to be about a kenning fro Plimmouth. In the valley also betweene Corneworthy & Ashepzempto, runneth a bzwke called Hums berton or Derburne. This water commeth out of a Welfpring, 4 to running about two mules, it palleth thosow a frome bridge cailed Rolf, two mples from Totnelle, Frotbence moreover, after it hath gone other two miles it commeth to Bow bridge, and there falleth into a faltwater crake, which gathereth into the lande out of the haven of Partmouth. This cræke at the head breaketh for a little way into two armes, whereof the one gotth by to Bow bridge, and recepueth Dumber. ton water (as I faide) y other toward Coznes ... worthy fro whence buto Dartmouth, is as ... bout foure myles. Finally about halfe a mile aboue Wartmouth towne, there is another Dio ma Crækegoing out of the maine ftreame cal creke, led Dide mill cræke, so farre as 3 can learne by the rumoz of the countrey.

About seven myles by west southwest fro Saltcomb Dartmouth lyeth Saltcomb haven, some what barred : & not much about the heade of it is Arme hauen, the backewater whereof Frme. commeth buder Buy & Armington bridges, and to but the fea at this place, which is full of flattes and rockes, to that no thippe coms ... meth thither in any tempelt, ercept it be forced thereto, thosowe the ottermost extremitie and desperate hazarde of the fearefull maris ners. Ling Phillip of Caltile loft two Chippes here in the daves of king Henry the feuenth, when he was drynen to lande in the West coutrey by rage of weather. Unto Armouth also commeth the Awne water, after it hath Asone. passed by Cast Brenton and Gare bridges, ... and not farre from the fall of this, lyeth the Pawlme mouth so called of a ryuer whych raime. cometh thither fro Le bridg to Valme bridg, & falleth into the fea, about 4. miles by fouth east-frothe maine streame of Plimmouth.

Being come to the Plimmoth, I finde with. that the mouth of the goulfe wherin the thips of this towne doeride, is walled on eche lide and chained ouer in y time of necessitie. On b fouth fide of the haue also is a blockbouse byo a rocky hill, topo the east side of this & Thai mar hauen, lycth the Will baye creke, & fone Milbay creke, Caine Creke, Shilffo creke (which creke. is two myles of length and wheron Candeth Stone a Will) Budocks creke, and last of al, Ta- house mertaue cræke, so called bycause of the constant course of the Taue & Tamar waters there. creke. Torrep broke falleth lykewyle into Wlym, Shilfton but wher aboutes as now, I have fozgotten. Budocks Finally opon the west side of the haven, is a Camarnotable creke also entering into the lande a Correy mple or more from the hauen, which being Caue. blewed, I went and behelde Thamar hauen on the well lide wherof, I noted these crekes.

First of all about two myles about Ashe A faive the principall arme of Thamar it felfe. Thamas Certes it rifeth about thee myles by Posth call from Partland, goeth by into the land about tenne myles from that place: thence it hasteth to Calstock bridge, whether it almost continually ebbeth and floweth, verye great beliels coming likewyle within a mike thers of tinto Maleham, which is not about their myles from Tamfocke as I reade. Betwirt Thaniar freame, and Allie: I marked farder more layeth Lelande other three criekes allo descending, which brake opinto the lande, whereof the art lyeth by Pozthwest, the fee conde well northwest, the thirde plaine weil, entering into the country aboue half a mile, and fearfely a mpte lower, 3 perufed in like maner the Liner cræke, that goeth by to S. Germainsward: This cræke lyeth 3. myles from the maine Aceame of Thamar hauen, and riting in an foll about Launston, it goeth thorolo the towns within the walles. In the botome allo of the Suburbe, is an other na med Aterepa which ryleth aleven myles of by west towarde Bodinin, wherinto runneth a Kill comming thosow a wood before it mas heth a confluens with the first, in descending Johns toldarde the haucit. Then breaketh in air of 6. In ther cricke called S. Johns, 02 S. Anthonics once Rode, and at the norm march cholas Ide falleth in the last, which goeth by to Milbroke, two mples into the lande from the maine haven. From bence we favled fars ber towarde the west (leaning salt Alpe and Seton rillets) and came to the mouth of a river called Low, wherein Samous are of tra founde, e pet is it dric commonly at halfe ebbe. Dir eche svde of the entree thereof standeth also a towne, whereof the one is cale led east Low the other west-Low-and this is a pretie market towne. A bridge finally of twelve arches both leade from the one to the

The next fall after we be past one little namelede cræke, that loeth by the waye, is Poulpyz water, whereimo commetha little broke. Then mete we with Fawey hauen; whole river ryleth at Fawy More (about two mples from Camilforde by South, and firetene miles from Fawp towne) in a very quave mire on the live of an Hill. Fro bence it goeth to Dannelbridge, to Clobha bridge, Lergen buoge, Octo bridge, Refprin bridge; and Losswithiell bridge, where it mæteth with a little broke, and neere thereunto partethit selfe in twaine. Of these two arms therefore one goeth to a bridge of wone, the other to another of timber, a some after iop. ning againe, the maine river geeth to Saint Swinnowes, from thece also the point of S. Twinnswes food which is about half a mile from thence, except momemorie doe faple me. Here goeth in a Salt cræke halfe a mile on the east side of the haven, and at the heade of it, is a brioge called Lerine brioge. The cræke it self in like maner, bearing the same denomination. From Levine creite; to S.

Caracs pill, oz creke, is about halfe a mile In f myoand Lower on the east live of the layd haven die of this n goeth by also not aboue a mile a an half in creke was to the lande. From Caracs creeke to Pouls a cell of morland a mole, and this like wife goeth by in an Thet frant a quarter of a mile into the land, pet at longing the heade it parteth it scife in twaine. From sometime Poulmoreland to Bodnecke billage halfe a to Moun-mile where the pallage and repallage is comprising. monly to Fawey. From Bodnecke to Dea lene point (where a creeke goeth by not fully 1000 paces into the lande) a mile, thence to Poultuan , a quarter of a mile, and at this Poulruan is a tower of force, marching a gain f tower on Fawey lide, betwene which. as I ooe here, a chaine hath some times bene fretched, tlibely inough for the haue there is hardly two bowthotte ouer. The very point of lande at the east side of the mouth of this Hauen, is called Pontus croffe, but nowe Panuche croffe. It that not be amille in this place somewhat to intreate of the towne of Fawy, which is called in Comith Cowhath Cowhath. and being scituate on the Rozthlide of the has tien, is fet hanging on a maute rocky bill be ing in length about one quarter of a mile, et. cept my memory occepue me.

The renowne of Fawy role by g wars but der Ising Coward & first, Coward the third, Donry the fifth, partly by feates of atmes & partly by plaine pyracy. Finally & towncline fæling themselves somewhat at eale & front in their purles, they fell to marchandise, and so they prospered in this their newe denite. that as they trauciled into al places, so mare chauntes from all countries made relort to them, whereby within a while they grew to be creeding riche. The thippes of Fawy late ling on a time by 1thp and Minchelley in b time of king Coward the third refused fout; ly to vale any bonet there, although warning was given them fo to do by the Postgreues o; rules of those tolones. Berevyon the life and Winchellie men, made put opport them with cut and long taile : but lo hardly were they intertained by the Falor Printes (I should fair adventurers) that they were delsurhome againe with no imall lone and him peraunce Such favour found the fawp men alfo immediately byon this bickering that in token of their bictory over their winching ho perfaces, and riving Riplers, as they called them in moskerp _ they altered their armes and compounded for neive, inferein the feut chion of Rie and Winchelley is qualificited. with theirs & beside this & Foreign like cal-led the gallantes of Famp, whereof they not Gallantes a little relayced, and more peraduculate then of fey or for some greater bory. And thus nurb of Fawy.

Miler.

Falvy towne wheren we lie what great luc. celle often commeth of wittelelle and rathe aductures. But to returne againe to our pur pole from whence we have digrelled and as hauting some octive to finishe by this our boy, age, we wil leane the Falomonth and go fozward on our fourney . Being therefore paste this haven, we tome to Pennarth which is 2. imples by well therof, and festuate on the east fide of Arewarotth Bate, called by Leland Arctoum of Vrctou Promontoria ercept his Wittings do veretue me. Fro hence we came to the blacke head, then to Pentozena myle faroce, anohere inueth ont a pretpe ryuer that commeth by Saint Austelles, about two unles and an halfe from thence, which runnoth bnock Austeil bridge & bnoer the West five of the hill whereon the poze towne of S. And elles Kädeth. Thence we failed to Chap. peil land, then to Dudman, to Bennare, and Samet Antonics point, which is thee myles from Dennar point, where we make our ens trance into the Falamouth haven, whose des scription I bosowe of Leland and worde for worde will here insert the same.

The very point (faith he) of the hauf mouth (being an hill whereouthe king hath bupls ded a castell) is called Bendinant. It is about a myle in compaffe, almost environned with the sea, and inhere the sea covereth not, the ground is so low that it were a small mastry to make Pendinant an Iland. Furtherinoze there lieth a cape or foreland within the haux a mple and an halfe, and betwirt this and H. Billigrowes house, one great arms of the haven räneth up to Peurine towns, which is 3. miles from the very entry of Falemouth haven, and two god imples from Penfulis. Moreover there is Levine Prisclo betwirte S. Budgens and Pendinas, which were a god haven but for the barre of fande, but to passede. The first creke of armethat casteth on the Porthwest side of Falemouth haven goeth by to perm, and at thende it breaketh into two armes, whereof the leffe runneth to Clasenith i.viridis ind, parene nest, or wag= meer at Benrin: the other to faint Glunias the partific Church of Penrine. In like forte out of cche fior of Penrine creke, breaketh an arme of ever it come to Penrine. This I bro derstande also that stakes and soundations of Stone have beine set in the creke at Benrine alitic lower then the wharfe where it breas keth into armes: but how locuer this franceth betwirte the point of Trefulis and the point of Refrenget is Wildzereke, which goeth by a mple into the land and by the churche is a god rode for thippes. The nerte creke bes ponde the point of Kestronget wood is called

Refrenget which going two myles by into Rafrathe maine breaketh into two armes. In lyke get. order betwirte Kestronger and the creke of Trury be two crekes one called S. Fcokes, S. fcoke the other Saine Caie, nerte buto which is S. Cape. Trury creke that goeth op about two myles Erury creking from the principall Greame, t brea, creke, keth within half a myle of Trury, casting in a braunche Alestivard even harde by pews ham wood. This creke of Trury is deutded into two partes before the towns of Trury, and eche of them having a broke comming downe and a bridge, the towne of Arury standeth betwirte them both. In like sozte Benwen Greate is fenered fro the faid towns with this arme, and Clements frete by east with the other. Dut of the body also of Trury creke breaketh another easwarde a myle from Trury, and goeth by a myle and an halfe to Tresilian bridge of stone. At the very entry and mouth of this creke is a rode of Hippes called Haples rode and here faught not long fince. 18. Chippes of Spanishe mars chauntes with 4. thippes of warre of Depe, but the Svanierdes draue the Frenchemen all into this harbozowc. A mple and an halfe about the mouth of Trurp creke, is another named Lhan Mozan of S. Mozans church at Mozan, hão. This creke goeth by a quarter of a mile from the maine Greame into the bauen, as the maine Areame goeth by two myles as bone Mozan creke chbing and flowing: and a quarter of a mple higher is the towne of Tres gown where we found a bridge of frome byon the Fala rouer. Fala it selfe riseth a mple 02 more west of Koche hyll a goeth by Graund pount where I sawe a bridge of stone. This Graund pount is four miles fro Koche hill and two litle moles from Arcgowy, be twirt which the Fala taketh his course. Fro Tregolop to passe downe by the body of the haven of Falamouth to the mouth of Lanp home pill or creke, on the fouth fide of the has uen is a myle, and as I remember it goeth up halfe a myle from the principall freame of the haven. From Lanphorne vill also is a place of point of sande about a mple way of 40. acres of thereabout (as a Peninsula) called Ardeue rauter. As for the water or creke that runcth into the fouth southeast partait is but a little thing of halfe a mple by into the land, and the creke that hemmeth in this We. umfula, of both both fame to be the greater. From the mouth of the West creke of this Peninsula, to S. Juffes creke is foure miles og more. In like maner from S. Juffes pill S.Juffus. ez creke(foz both lignifie ene thing) to Saind S. Mawes Malves creke is a myle and a halfe, and the point between them both is called Pendinas.

The creke of Saint Hawes goeth by a two myles by eat northeatt into the land, and bes lives that it ebbeth and floweth fo far, there is a mplle driven with a freshe creke that res forteth to the same . Halfe a mile from the bead of this bownewarde to the hauen, is a creke in manner of a pole, whereon is a myll also that grinoeth with the tyde. And a myle beneath that on the fouth fide entreth a creke (about halfe a myle into the countrey) which is barred from the maine fea by a small sandpe banke, and another mple pet lower, is a another litle crekelet:but howe soeuer these crekes doe runne, certaine it is that b bankes of them that belong to Fala are maruellous ly well wooded, and hitherto Leland, whole wordes I dare not alter tor feare of corrup. tion and alteration of his judgement. Being past Falmouth haven, therfore (as it were a quarter of a myle beyonde Arwennach Was fter Hillegrewes place which frandeth on the brimme or those within Falmouth) we came to a litle haven which ranne by betweene two hilles, but it was barred, wherefore we could . not learne whether it were ferued with any backe freshe water oz not. From hence we Polwithe went by Polwitherall creke (parted into two armes) then to & Polpenrith wherebuto a reueret falleth that rifeth not farre from thece, and so goeth to the maine streame of b hauen at the last, whether the creke resozteth about thie mples and more from the mouth of the haven and into which the water that goeth bnder Gare and Mogun biloges, doe fall in one botome as Lelande hath reported. Unto this haven also repayzeth the Penkestell, the Callous & Cheilow, & the Gilling, although this latter lyeth against Saint Wawnons on the hether five hard without the hauen mouth if I have done aright. For lo motheate, moul: operand rotten are those bokes of Leland which I have, and beside that, his annotatios are such and so confounded as no man can in maner picke out any sence from them by a leafe together, wherfore I thinke that bediff perfed & made his notes intricate of let pur pole, or eliche was loth that any man thould ealily come by that knowledge by readying, which he with his great charge and no leas traveile attained buto by experience in 2747

Lopole is two myles in length, and between it and the maine Decan is but a barre of land that ones in thee be foure peares, what by weight of the freshe water and working of the Sea breakethout, at which time it mas keth a wonderfull nople, but some after the mouth of it is barred by againe. At all offer times the superfluity of the water of Lopole (which is full of Arout and Cle) ozameth out thorofo the fandy varre into the open Sea: Certes if this barre coulde alwayes be kept open, it would make a goody haven, by buto Haylekon towne, where copnage of time is also vsed, as at Trucy and Loss withielf, for the Duénes aduauntage. From this place I doe not remember that I founde any more falles or havens, tyli we palled rounde about the cape, and came onto the Paile, which is Paile. a pretpe river, riling from foure principall heds or brokes, wherof one fraingeth by fouth another by southwest, the thirde by southeast, and the south by Portheast. Also we saw & Crantock. Derins creeke, Crantocke and Kialton, of Rialton. Deples Leland (peaketh fomewhat in his collections out of the life of S. Breaca, where he noteth that it is spopled by land comming from the Tinne workes. The next great fall of water & greatest of all that is to be founde on the Poith live of Comwall, is at Padde, fow, whether & Alaune relozteth. Of some it Alaunus is notoe called Dunntere but in olde time it Dunmerus. hight commonly Alaunus. Into this Areame runne dider 30ther as the Carneley (by east) thee mples lower then Woodsidge: & Laine Carneler. (which thethew myles aboue S. Offe by Laine. northeast and falleth into Alaune likewise as bout Micobildae) the Boomin Water, belide another that commeth from louthwell, and goeth in Alanc two imples beneath this confluence on the same side above Wood2 soge: and finalities the last which descendeth out of the hilles from Coutheast, and corneth with the faid riner two myles aboue Padifow, as I doe finde by reading. In one place Leland faith how be cannot well tell whereabout this river bath istue out of the grounde, but in ani other he layth thus of it. The Alane is ento dently fairl'to paire thosow Wood or Wade bridge at lowe water, and the first bridge of name that it ran th brook is called Helham, the next, Wi imere bridge, 4 the third Winds betode which is foure mples lower, and the towest mouse ; that is to be founde on this fireame. From Batilow allo they lails full wed birto Whiterfood in Freland. There are Locus. likewife two Rockes which lye in the east live bulonis. of the hauen, fecretely bidden at fall Seajas two paos in the Araw whereof I thinke it saketh the name. Leddin lappoleth this epo ner to be the farme Cambialis where Arthur fought his last anti-fatall condict : for 12 his rate men that one eare file avounde there, bor oft plowe of bones of a large fire, and great flore of armonizor elsit map be (as I tather confedered that the Romanes had some field (02 Callta) thereabout For not long fince and in the contembrathice of many a braile pot ful of Komane corne was follie there, as I have rall. Dolpen=

wike. Gare. M30gun. Denisellel Callous. Cheylow. Gilling.

Lopole.

The

D.j.

Pala.

The description of Britaine. ofte herde. Kert unto this is the Depe hatch and leaving a fagre Illande as it were in the hatch.

buto the Taw mouth, whose heade riseth in Crmoze southeast from Barstable, which is a towne fine miles distaunt from the havens Turrege. mouth At recemethallo b water of Aurrege, which rifeth 3, miles by northeast fro Bartos land in a more cuen hard by principall hed of Thamar. This Thurege commeth first to Billington bridge, thence to Pulfozo bridge, Wadfoide buidge, Depefozze bzidge, the South and well bridges of Thorngton, to Wudfoed beinge, (which bath 24. arches, and an elde chappel builded thereon buto the birgin Warp, at the farter end) then two miles lower it falleth into the Thaue, and finalive into the Sauerne leadby the hauen mouth. The entrie of the haven of Thaw is barred with lande and very daungerous, and from the pointe of the hauen mouthe to cutte o uer to Wark point, is about fire or feuen miles, a pretie broke also falleth into the said haven from the filles above Barcable, by Call, going by the Priorp. But to proceeds from hence we goe to the Winheued or Mine

Wineus.

Durus.

the Are, which cunneth by Are towne, and fo

continueth his course beautishing in thende,

* the the Cumlus alias Postiffec * Postguin a partly with this river. There is mozcover Cundus. waters, and byon the Posthude of this creke a towne cast of this Island called in old time Canacth Sintagell of Dundagtell castell, als most environned in manner of an Island. Af ter this and being past Tredwy, we come mouth, whose backwater entreth into it a after it be come from Winheued and Wortloch. Then came we to Dour or Dournsteir fall, whither commeth a rill next of all to Close Chappell, where the people honoured an 3, mage of our Ladge with much superstition. thence two inples to Decharde, to Camb thic mples, and nert of all buto the Juel, a famous rpuer, which descendeth by Badfielde then by Clyfton (within a quarter of a myle whereof the Shireburn the Wilbanke waters dee mote, of which the first reseth in Wlackmose, the other three myle from Shirturn thence in Bilbzoke parke) from Clyftonto Androwke. Cuill a proper market towns in Somerlets there, the imples of thereabout from Shires burn: from Cuell to 3lcheffer by the baidge Cokar. three myles (taking withall the Cokar, that ruseth west of Cokar, and after thee myles gate falleth into the Juell) fro Jichester to Wichelbozowe, leaung Athelney somewhat diffaunt on the left fide, then to Lamburne, to Bridge north, Bridge water, and after a time into the Sauerne mouth. Certes it is thought to ryle in Wilbery parke, og some, where elfe not farre from Shireburne, but the chiefe heade thereof commeth from Colkomb. When we are past this we come buto Cherin, but now Aphil. Pert buto this is the Stower mouth served with a backewater, Stower. called Stower, which reseth in the holles not farre of, and after it hath touched at Stow, tt falleth into the sea, which is seue miles fro that place. There are two brokes furthere moze that fal into the fea-after they have pale sed betweene Stow and S. Andrewes, the thirde runneth not farre from Willington, rvling by South, but lithence they are onely trylling rilies and namelelle, I thinke it not god to frande any longer about them. Thus are we come at last buto the Auon, which not Auon, 3. farre from his oziginall, both enuironne and almost make an Alland of the towne of Mak mellyzy, from thence it goeth bnder Wales forde and Calway bridges, to Choppenham, Beadfoed, Bath, Beistow (flowing two miles aboue that citie) and some after into the Sauerne, from whence it never returneth with out mirture of Salt water. In this fort have I finished one part of my Description of the rpuers & Areames falling into the lea, which should have beene a far moze perfite, and ere ad pace of weake, if I had beine so byzight. lpe dealt withall in mine informations as 3 ment to deale precisely in setting downe the same, but lith the matter is so fallen out, that I cannot doe as I woulde herein, I must be contented to performe what I mape, hoping in time to perule and polithe it agains that nowe is left rude and without any diligence thewed, or order vsed at all therein, very fal, partly environned withe maine lea,

Of the Sauerne streame and such falles of ryuers as go into the sea, betweene it and the Humber. Cap. 10.

The Sauerne denideth Englande of Sauerne. I that part of the Island, which sometime was called Lhoegres from Cambita, to called of Camber, the fecond sonne of Baute, as our hystories doe report. But nowe it height Wales of the Germaine worde Walthe, wherby that nation doth vie to call all frangers without respect of countrie. It take the name of a certaine Lady, called Habren, bale daughter of Locrinus begotten opon Estrildes Babien, daughter to Humber king of Scythia, that peraduenfometime invaded this Islande and was or ture for verthrowne here, in the dayes of this Locricalled at mus as shall be shewed at hande. For after the fall the death of Locrinus, it came to palle that Leiande. Onendolena his wyfe ruled the kingdome in the noncage of hir fonne, and then getting

Ection.

wiluge.

the faide Estruids and Habren hir daughter into hir handes, the declared the both in this rpucr. And in perpetual remembrance of hir bulbandes disloyaltie towardes hir, the caus sed the Areame to be called Habzen of the poung Ladge, for which the Romaines in processe of tyme for readinesse, a mildenesse of pronounciation wrate Sabrina, and we at this time doe pronounce the Sauerne. Of the drowning of the layde Abren also I finde thele verles inluing.

In fluuium præcipitatur Abren, Nomen Abren, fluuio de virgine, nomen eidens Nomine corrupto deinde Sabrina datur. But to returne to our Saverne, it lyzingeth from the high mountaines of fouth Wales, called in Welche Plim Limmon in latine Plimmonij, in Englishe the Blacke mouns taines, out of the same head with the Wipe, where it hath in Latitude as some geste ç2. degræs and 10.minutes, and in longitude 15. and so. From hence it ronneth to Cair Lews (famous in name, but in déde a pore theowfaire from Dahencliffe) then to Lanids las, to Pewton (oz Trenewith) to Arwiftle, to Leneden, then within a mule of Mountes gomery to the Welche pole, thence wythin half a mile of Pontibery Colledge to Shaple bury, and so to bridge Porth, recepting sunday backes and waters by the way of which the Cerion or Serio sæmeth to be the greatell, and whereby the chanell thereof is not a little increased. From Bziogenozthit enclis neth toward & fouth but o Wlozcester where about it recepueth other Areames, as the Teme on the West halfe a myle beneath Wlozcester, not farre from Powike Willes. And another in the Call, comming fro Staff forderand to holding one towarde Glocesfer. mateth with the Auon not farre from Theo. kelbyzy, and from whence they come both as one to Glocester, as mine informacion both ferue me. Here gathering agayne somewhat toward the west, it passets by west of Deanc, where it meteth with the Wky, which is none of the least famous of all those that mire the felues with Sanerne. Being also great lye enlarged with the Unplow or Unilinate Canother great Arcate Arcame increased by the Genenni, and another) it goeth buto the Polmes, where after it hath mette in the meanc leason with sunday other bankes, it falleth into the maine sea, betweene Wales and Comewall, which is and haibe called the Sauerne lea, lo long as Sauerne rouer doth hold and keepe hir name. But as the faid Areame in length of course bounty of water. and depth of chanell commeth farce behinde the Thames, fo for other commodities as trade of marchandile, plentie of cariage, and fore of all kinde of fith, as Samon, Trouts, Breames, Pikerell, Tenche, Perchetc. it is nothing at al inferiour or fecond to the same. Finally there is nothing to be discomended in this rover, but the openesse thereof in mas nie places to the weather, whereby funday perils oft over take fuch as fift of faile in small vestels on the same.

The Sauerne being thus described (4 hove fufficiently for one that bath to small information & knowledge of the same) it resteth that I go forwarde with the names of those that lye bypon the coast of Southwales, mas king my entrie at the ferry, over betwene Aust in Glocesterthyze, to a village on the farder banke of Sauerne, not farre fro Tes rendacus Chappell, in the mouth of the river Mly, which forry is about these myles over wy month (fapth Leland) or else my memorie both faile me.

This ryner Sup or My beginneth as I Bur alias sapoe before on the side of the hilles, where wp. the Sauerne doth arise, and passing thosowe Wencelande, doeth fall into the Sauerne beneath Chepsto at the aforesayde place.

Lelande writing of this rouer layeth thus, the My goeth thosowe all Herefordshyze by Beadwarden Castell (belonging to Spe Rie Amber a charde Mehan) & fo to Berefozde eaft, thence fifte oneip eyght myles to Rolle a market towne in in the wy. Herefordhyre, and in this rouer be Umbers otherwyse called graplinges.

Pert unto this is the Aberwith, 02 Wlyske whereon Caerleon Candeth sometime, cal- withe led Chester. This river ryseth in the blacke mountaines, tenne myles abone Brechnock towarde Cairmardine, and runneth thozow the great and litle forcest of Brechnoch, then it goeth by Kedwin bridge, to Breckenock, Penkithly, Creghoell, Abergeuenni, Alke, Carleon, Delupozte, and so unto the sea, tas king withall the Chowith. This Chowith is a rivelet ryling flat Posth, in a mountaine Bowith. of high Wendande, and going treight from thence into Difftin Serowy vale, it falleth into the Ulke of Wilke, a myle and a halfe beneath Pewporte, from whence likewose it is unto the haven mouth of willke about haif a mile more. But to procede withour willhel Certes this river is famous and twon some partes of the lower bankes especially about Carleon is much Romaine Corne found, of all maner of lostes, as men eare and diage the grounde. Furthermoze this Areame is one of the greatest in Southwales and huge thips might well come to the towne of Care leon, as they did in the time of the Romaines

if Pewport bridge were not a let buto them.

D.y.

Pener,

fed the same we'come onto the Tauv. which pescendeth from the afozesand billes and falleth into the Sea by Call of Swanley. Berng pair this we come bnto the Lichwa.

direlly re, called Mickenen, that is to lay the lowequarter about Kennen rouer, and bes tivirt the heades of these two hilles, is ano:

ther bill wherein be frones of a granish cou-lour, whereof the inhabitauntes make they?

Line. The name of the holl that Hendraith

Waur ryfeth in, is called Dennith Haur, and therein is a pole as in a mozish ground mas

med Lhintegowen, where p principall spring is, thus hell is eight or none myles fro hid:

wellt. The holl that Menozaith Mehan fpzin-geth cut of, is called Dennith Achan, & thus water commeth by Apolvelly tolune. But as beutilie oxfoure imples, care it come thps ther it recepueth a broke, called Tresayeth the course wheref is little aboue a myle from the place where it goeth into Mendraith, and pet it bath foure or fine tucking milles and the Come milles bypon it. At the heade of this broke is an hole in the billes lide, where men often enter and walke in a large frace.

Lind as for the broke it felfe, it is one of the most plentifull and commodious that is to be found in Wales. All along the sides also of Clendraith Claur, pou chall finde great vien-tye of Seacoles. There is a great hole by teade of Ciendzaith Wehan, where men ble to enter into baultes of great compate, and it is lapde, that they may go one way buder

the grounde to Wlozmes head, and another wave to Cairkennen castell, which is three mpics of more buto the lande. But how true these things are it is not in me to determine, pet this is certaine, that there is bery and Pawking at the Beron in Acnozaith Achā.

There are dyucrs printes of the pallage of certaine Wormes also in the Causat the head of Tedzaith Achan, as the inhabitants doe fable, but I never heard of any man that faw and Morme there, and pet it is believed

Bring past this, we came to the Abertown that many Weames are there.

is eyght Welche of twelue Englishe myles from Chepstow or Strigull, and of some thought to be in Bace Wencelande, though other be of the contrarie opinion. But howlos cucr the matter standeth, this rvuer is taken to be the bounds of Beechnockshpre, as Kenni is to midle Wenceland and Glamozgan, Remenei, or Remni.

The nert river onto Alke or Wiske is called Remenei or Remnt, whose heade is thee or foure moles aboue Cagluis Tider Cap Doell (other twp se called Fanum Theodori, 02 the Church of Theodorus) whence come mas nye springs, taking one botome, the water is called Bayach. It is also augmented with the Risca broke, comming onto it out of a Paroche called Eggluis Ilan, and then als fogither named Kilca. Thence running thos rowe Bedwes Baroche, it is called Renmy or Kemeny and so continueth butill it come at the Zauerne. The fall therofalfo is not a: boue fire myles from the rouer Wiske. Al though that for thippes it be nothing commobious. It is more oner a limite betweene the Silures and Clamoiganshuze.

from the mouth of Kenni, to the mouth

Taffe.

Lhay.

baur,

of Taffe are two myles. Thys rpuer is the greatest in all Clamozganshyze, and the civ tie Talle it lelfe of god countenaunce, lith it is endued with the Cathedrall sea of a Bis thop. The head of this water conneth downe from Wood hilles, and often beingeth fuch logges and bodyes of tres withal fro thence, that they frush the bridge in pieces, but for almuch as it is made of tymber, it is repayed with less cost, whereas if it were of harde from all the countrie thereabouts would not be able to amende it. Into this freame also falleth Lhav, which descendeth (but moze cas sterly from the same hilles and it meteth with all beneath Landasse, that Candeth als most even at the berye confluence, and thus fareth Lhord, but Lelande noteth it others wyle. In like loste the Taffe recepteth the Riodney Claur, and Rodeney Alchan, in one betome, which fpring in the Lordhip of Slin Rodeney within two miles togither. Of these also the Rodency Claur ryseth by Aosthwest ma great high rocke, called Daiffing. Rodes ner Clenan Muetha mple aboue castell Pose (by northwest also) but never towards Aps ken Loroship, so that the Rodney Claur head and itreame lieth more well by into Wales.

Asio: Castell Pole, it is but a highe stonne

Cragge in the toppe of a hil:but to procede.

Robenep Claur runneth under a bridge of wood a myle from Penrise, thento Ponte hemmeis two mples lower, and a little beneath is the confluence. There be also two fmall bridges on Rodeney Aehan of wod. whereof the first is against Penrise thice quarters of a myle of the other a little aboue the conflucce right against the bring on Rods nev Claur. There is a bridg of wood also bus the whole Areame two mples beneath the fapde confluence, called Pont Pewith, and a quarter of a mile from the place where it go eth into Taffe.

feven Welche mples which are counted af ter this maner. A myle and a halfe aboue

From Taffe to Lay mouth or Cle ryuer a Lhap. mile, from Lhap mouth (oz rather Penarth, that franceth on the West popul of it) to the mouth of Thawan rquer (from whence is a Thawan, comon vassage over buto Dineheued in So, mersetsbuze of senentene mules) are about Thawan is Scylley Pauenet, (a pretie fuc. Scylley.

to the mouth of Thawan are 3. mples, where bozow. It commeth of two armes, whereof that which lyeth Portheast is called Anon Claur, the other that lyeth Postbwest Auon Achā. They meete togither at Lhanuop He. alc, about two mples aboue Aber Auon vils lage, which is two myles also from the fea.

or inputh of the Tows. This river ryfeth in the mountaines of Elinith foure myles by fouth from Lintine in a mostly grounde, 24. miles from Carmardyn and in a forrest called Bishops forcest mioway betwirt Land: hybreny & Landanucry castell. For fish this is much better in mine opinion, the the Tahi or Taffe, whole head breadeth no fifte, but if

and be cast into itather turne by their bellies and die out of hande. Into this river also fals leth one called Guthrike-not farre fro Lan Guthrics donucry tolune, which is two and twentye myle fro the head of Town. In like fort the Kenen reuer falleth into the Toloy about Benen. Landflouaur, which is two miles higher byo Town, the Dinefur castel a the inhole course of this water is not about their myles. The Brane (another ryuer allo) after it hath run from the head by the space of 12 myles both Brane. come hard by the fote of Landonuery castel. and taking with it the Euery, they fall togis ther into the Tows, a little beneath the Cas fell. Thys Guery runneth through the mid Eucry. dest of Landanuery towne. Beneath Ladans uery in like forte another broke called Warleis, falleth into the Tolop, and foure myles beneath the same two other, of which the one is called Nonneis. Houre miles also from A. bermarleis of the place where Towy & Pars Ponneis; leis doe méte (towarde Carmardine) runs neth the river Dule Ne, which some after fallethalso into Towy. Furthermoze 2. miles beneath the fall of Duleffe, there is another. and thee or foure myles beyonde this, is the seconde Dulesse, eache of them after other fall into the faide rouer, but this latter about Dzillan Calfell, as Lelande hath Described the. Wrocæding vet further Will toward Cars mardine, our lapde streame goeth by Landis Stupham Castell, and also into the sea, about thie mples bevonde Diffan Caffell. Also he confesseth mozeover, that he sawe the fall of Cothey, a fayze ryuer, into the fayd freame, this was within foure invles of Carmare dine, wherof I spake before. The Cothey ris Cothey. seththiæ myles fro Landanbicui bnoer the hulke of Blaine Icozne, which is a narrowe pallage, and therein marucylous heapes of Cones.

The nert river we came onto byon the cost is called Taue, whose head runneth also from Caut. the blacke mountaines at a place this miles from Carvigan called Pzestelen, thence it goeth by Saint Clares, and as it haffeth to ward the sea, it taketh the truer Gome with Gowe. it, which riseth at Blaincowen two mples or more about the bridge. Then the Dudbery Dudberg. ryucr, and Barthkinni Areame, Menny & Bartha Mozlais. Pert of all come we to Wilford ha, Minni. uen, wherunto two evuers often their course from the Portheast called Dugledu or the Dugledu, two fwordes and betweene them both is a ril which they cal also Cultiell (that is to say) the Cultiell. knyfe, wereof rifeth a merry tale of a welch. man that lying in this place absode all night in the colde weather, he was demaunded of his hostesse (where he did breake his faste the ar Ue- Aedraith Achan, rple in a piece of Carmar, aith Ue-direllme celled Affekenen that is to fav the cour for thippes) whole heade is in Wenno varoche two myles & a halfe from the shoze. From Sciller mouth to Aber Barry a mile, Barry. and thither commeth a little roll of fresh was ter into Sauerne, whose head is scant a mple of in playne grounde by Postheaff & right as This The gainst the fall of this becke lyeth Barry 36 went 50. lande a flight thotte from the those at the full peres agon sea. Halfe a myle aboue Aber Barry is the for 10.1j.

D.iii.

mouth of Come kydy, which ryleth flat north Com kydy fro the place where it goeth into & Sauerne & lerueth oft for herboz buto fea farers. Thece bnto thippes map come at will. Two mples aboue Thawan is Colhow, whether a little Tolhow. rill resozteth from Lau Ituit, thence to the mouth of Alen foure mples, that is a mple to S. Dynothes Castell, and three myles fur, der. The Alen riseth by northeast by into the Alen. lande at a place, called Thes Broimith, or Skuzuton, about foure myles aboue the plot where it commeth by it selfe into Sauerne. From thence to the mouth of Dgur alias Dgur. Our thic miles. Then come they in processe of tyme buto the Kenlike oz Colbzoke ryuer which is no great thing, lith it rpleth not as Kentike. boue 3.myles fro the shore. From Kensike to Aber Auon two myles, and herein doe thips molested with weather oftentimes seke her. Fuon.

From hence to the Peth is about two miles Reth. and a halfe, thereoncome thiplettes als most to the towne of Peth fro the Sauerne.

Crimline becke is two miles, and being pale

From the mouth of Peth onto the mouth of or Lochar mouth and then glyding by the Wasmes head, we passed to the Wandrel. mouth, whereof I finde this description folmozaith lowing in Lelande. Both Aendraith, Haur F mert morrowe) at what Anne he lave in the night precedent, bycaule he came lo lone to her house ere any other maydes were by. Dh goodsifeste (qued he) be contented I lave to might in a daungerous estate for I flente betwene two swordes with a long knife at my hart, meaning in bede that he lav betweene these two reners, and his breast towards the Southners to the heave of Culticil. But to passe oner these testes, here Leland speaketh efarouer called Swylp, but where it ryseth or falleth be maketh no certaine report: wher forcit is requiate that I procede according to my purpole. Iseying therfore paste this has uen and point of Demetia in casting aboute the coalle we come to Saint Dewies,02 S. Danuds land, which I reade to be seperated from the rest of the countrey much after this manner, although I grount that there maye be an dare divers ether little creices, betwirt Dougale and Saint Daups head, a betwirt 6. Daups and frichard, belide those that are here meneioned out of a Register of that haule.

The description of Britaine.

As we turne therefore from Hilford, S. Mongali. Daurs land beginnerhat Pelugall, a crete ferued with a backe freshe water. Howbeit there is a Bave before this cricke betwirt it and Allford. From hence about foure miles galuach. is Saluache creite, otherwise called Saues rach, whether forms freshe water resozteth: b mouth also thereof is a god rescue for Baimpers as it (3 means the register) fauth. Bartelaix. Thence go we to Portelais 3. myles where is a litle postlet, whether the Alenthat commeth thosewe Sainte Dewies close both runnic.

It weth a mole southwest fro S. Dewies, Saint Stinans Chappeil allo is betwene Porturio Postclais, and Destmaw. The next is Poste Maw, where I founds a great effuary into Omivie the lance. The Dendwy haife a mile from p: Lanuthi. Land Cichanis 3. mples fro Pendwy, where Trome is a falt croite, then to Tredine thee myles. Langhoz, wiere is another creke to Langunda, foure mice, and another creke is there in like fort Lischard, Where spsher men catche Berring. Pere also the Owerner ner benideth Benbidiane from Fileherdine Lemmeisland, Fro Langunda Owerne. to flichard at the Owerne mouth 4. uples, a lure is a postlet or l'auenet also sor thippes. and thus much of Saint Damos lande. Befives this also Leland in a third boke talketh of Linnes and Poles, but for as much as my purpole is not to speake of Lakes & Lhinnes, I valle them over as halling to the Teify, in latine Tibus, which is the nexte reuer that feructh for my purpose.

The Teyfy therfore is a right noble ryuer,

as anye in Wales, fraught with delicate Samons, and herein oncip of all the reners Cafforin in Englande is the Caftor of Beuer to bie Englande founde. It arpleth foure mpies from Strate fleur out of a Pole called Lhintine, lying on the Well five of the blacke mountaines (as the Sauerne doth spring out from by cast of them) & holding on with the ordinary course, it commeth at laste to Stradseur, where it fleur. meteth with a broket called the Fleure or Flere. Fro hence it proceedeth on buto Tregaron, Bauv, Landfur, Glydois, Budhair, Cmlin, Kilgarran, & lo to Cardigon, which standeth on the farder side as we ao towarde the forelaid ryuer from by louth. Certes this rpuer which we nowe discribe, goeth in manner plaine Wiest, till we come within spre mples of Cairmardine, and then returneth toward the Porth, so going on till it come at Abertiwy, or Aberteify, as it is most comonly called. It devideth Pembroke from Care digan or Cereticanshere as Leland setteth it Beyng paste the Telve of Teify we came to Aberapion, so called of the rouer Apion Apion. which there falleth into the Waine, 3. mples beneath Lanclere. It refeth also in a moune taine, percel of the blacke hilles, by a chappel called Blaine Penial, belonging to Landwy Bruistut it is in Cardigon wire over Tive and aboute thise of foure miles from Tive banckes Pert buto this as I remember we passed by Aberarth where was a pretpe Arth. Arcamelet & some flender harbozow. And the we came to another water which falleth into h lea beneath Litthive (neither of them being 18ts. of any great length from their heades) and fo buto Aberyll with which plueth in a marthe yawith. called Biaine Whele (fo farre as I rement ber) and runneth about 13.02 14. mples tyll it come at last into the sea. It taketh with al by the wave also first the Welcuen and then the Rhedhol , a ryuer nothing inferiour bato Redol. Bitwith it felfe, with whome it maketh his confluence about Badarne, and in a large bo. tome goeth some after into the sea.

Hence we went but o the Wly whose heade wy. commeth from the fouth part of Snowdong by Wowdheup Pathan laith, and in this his course morcover he semeth to parte Rorthe Wales and South Wales in funder. It is called in latine Deurs, in Wielthe Dyfy,but how it came to be called Wy in good fathe it is not found. It recepueth also the Alen which coincid from the opper part of CoamerpA, with in Cardigonthyze, out of the blaine, and taketh also with it the Clardwyn, a broke pl fining about a myle from Cragnawlin and as it holdeth on the course it recepucth the Clarowy which spaingeth by halfe a myle from the Claroue head (another gullet like: wife falling from & Kocky billes into Clard wy) and so goving together foure miles fars der they fall into the Allen. Finally after all these have as it were played together in one or mee bottomes among the pleasant Deas dowes and lower groundes, by the space of fire myles, onder & name of Alen, they beate at the last opon the TAP and accompany him directly buto the Dcean.

erici,

ricket.

the.

earen.

euenni.

After this we passed by Aberho, so named of the River 190, that falleth therein to the lea and commeth thether from & Alpes oz hilles of Hnowdony. From hence we fayled by Abermawe or mouth of Mawe, which commethin like forte from Snowdony, and tae acthoiners Upners with him whole names Jose not know. Then buto & Artro a broke descending from those hilles also, and falling into the sea a mile about the Harleche. Pert of al we behold the Glede Linne that parteth Caernaruon from Derionneth those, and fo came buto Traith Achan, betwirte which two, and Traith Daws runeth alitle broke thorowe the wharfe of Traith Walvz at the low water as I read. These 2 Traiths are b mouthes of two faire Areames, wherof the most Southerly is called Walvy, the other Ferles, eche of them I sape deriving his o21. ginall water from Snowdonp, as divers of ther brokes have done already before them. Df thele allo & first passeth by divers lakes, although I doe not well knowe the names of anye one of them. From Traithmaws to Chapchet are this invies, where also is a lite tle rill ferned with sundape waters. Then come we onto the Erkeia pretpe broke dis cending fro Badzijn hilles. Then casting as bout toward the fouth (as the coast lveth) we sawe the Abersoch or mouth of the Soch rp. uer oppon our right handes, in the mouthe whereof lee two Illandes, of which the moze Postherly is called Tudfall and the other Penryn as Leland did observe. After this. gopng about by the point we come to Daron: Rouer, Wherebypon Candeth Aberdaron a quarter of a mile fro the More betwirt Aber. daro and Mortigernes vale, where the compasse of the sea gathereth in a heade and entreth at both endes: The come we to Aenni beoke which runneth by Treuenni, and is about 12, mples of from Aberdaron. Then iti. miles of to Egluis Epifile, whether commetha little broke or rill from Gwortheren Rocke, which some call Tortideruss Wale. From hence also 3. myles further, we come to Lhanhelerion and then foure myles to Clumtock, and finally to Clumtock Blaur Ari non, where is a little rillet, & a myle og moze farder is another that goeth to the mayne fea. Here in following Lelande as I doe for the most part in all this Treatisc where be keneth any order at all (for his notes, are fo dispersed in his Cometaries pone of them is fometimes is 6.8.02 20. leaucs from another, and many of them venned after a contrarve fort) I finde these wordes. There is a broke beyonde Aberleuenni gopng by it selfe into the sea: there be also two brokes betweene Gurnwy oz Gwyzfay and Skeucrneck, as Golaide. Golaide and Semare Pole: Sowther cræke Scmerallo is the verye pointe of Abermenley, by pole. which notes as I finde not what he laith, to wother. the remembraunce of them may helpe better Menicy. against the next publication of this boke: to procede therefore in such broer as I may. Leuenni is a great broke rolling 4. mile Leuen.

above the place, where it falleth into the sea, Leven broke comethinto the sea two miles aboue Skeuernocke: Skeuernocke a little Skeuer broke like ingles aboue Aberlaint. Auf Bur, nocke, nay commeth thosowe pontnewith bridge, and after into Penev at South Crock, two mples of Cladwant broke, and roling three mples from thence it commeth thosolothe towne bridge of Carnaruon and goeth by it selfe into Deney arme, so that Carnaruon Kandeth betwæne two rivers. Wotes also do come to Cadwan. The name of Abermeney is not valling a mple about Carnaruon, and pet some cal it Dency, til vou come to Boul tell. Then come we to Cair Arfon oz Cair. narnon, Swiniwith mirith (oz hozle bzoke) two mples from Movlethon, and it ryfeth at a well to called full a mple from thence. Moplethon is a bowe thotte from Aber, powle, fro whence ferry botes go to the Termoneoz Anglesp. Aberpowlerunneth thræ myles into the lande, and hath his head foure Coute. mples beponde Bangoz in Dency Choze: and here is a little comming in for botes bending into the Meney. Aber Begerne commethout Begyne. of a mountaine a mple aboue, and Bangar (thosow which a rillet called Togronne hath Togron= his course almost a myle aboue it. Aber Da nen. wine is two miles abone y. It tyseth at Tale Egwine. linne Dgivine pole fine mples abone Bangozin the east side of Withow. Aber Auon is Auon. two myles aboue Aberogivene, and it rylith in a Dole called Lin man Auonthie mples of. Auon Lan var Mehan rpleth in a moin, Lanuar taine thereby, and goeth into the fea 2. mies Tichan. aboue Durgewelth Anon Duegenelth is thre Duege=

D.iiii.

myles aboue Conwep, which ryling in the uelth. mountaines a mole of, goeth by it selfe into

Meney falt arme. On the faide those also ly eth Denmaine, and this broke doth runte betwirt &

Cleban. Ji ryseth about 3. myles from Penmacton bilies which lie aboute 60, mples from Contacy abbate nowe disclued. On the Porthe and Well of this rquer stanoeth the towns of Conwey, which taketh his name therof. This river receaueth & Lhigwy a pres to dreame that commeth from by well 4101/ noth with all a little about the Rift but on the Wied banche. The Lighwy also taketh another with him that commeth from by fouth. After this we come to the Ocle, whereon As beigele Aandeth, and it runneth those we the Cangesith in unio the Role of Ros and next of all to the mouth of a great haven, wherein to the Clave which cometh from the fouth, and the Clay that bescendeth from h Walk, dos emotie their chanelles, y betwirte which two the pointificall fea of Bangez is feituate berre pleafantly and not farce of from the point. Into Clay runneth the Alode delcending from Ahin Alede eyght myles from Denbrike and going by Lhan Sannan, it failed into the Clwy in Lhan Beucth parish which is are moles aboue Saint Alaph. Les las calleth it Aleth. Into Clude also runneth Clue doch the Doch foure miles lower by water then Ruthme towns: on the Welsk fide likewple tilizate, the Aldrate, that commeth within halfe a urvic by fouth of Denbighe and goeth into Clade almost against Denbighe towns. Fro hence to my romembraunce, and before we come to liver Die or the month of the Die A didde no Uniter of any countenaunce, Cheres fore 3 will have forth to the description of that threams. It ryleth of fundy heades fonthately from Lintegr of Lin Tegnis, in the countie of Denthim wherebuto within a tobile thev refer and direct their courles, and there tops ning in one Channell, it commeth aimste by Balaapore market towns. Then gring fill by the fide of Valo it passeth to Ferwin, where it mateth with a rill, afterwardes to Corwena little by Southwest wherefit re-Alaga, scaucth the Alwan a noble ffreame which commeth from the Porthwest cut of a Lyn iving on the other free of h fame hilles wher: in the Alose rifeth, and not onely taketh funderp renerets and rilles withall as it goeth, but also runneth with great swiftnessety lit be topiced with the same. From Corwente goeth to Cellen, and a fewe mples beneath

Cellon it mateth with the Uping, then the Mercham rill, and finally the Alon whose crinkeling ffreames biscense from a Linin

the Stradlin hilles , and goping first Porth east unto Molo of Outogrue, the southward unto Cargurle, and finally agains into the Northeast, it staveth not tyll it come at the

betwirte Benmaine Baur , and Benmaine

De, where it metethabout halfe a mple 02 more fro the Polit with the aforesaide river. Daving therfore received this water it contis nueth the course unto Thester it selfe, and fro thence into the Iryth sea as experience bath contract . What other ryuers do fal into this Arcame it that be thewed in the fecond boke. In h meane time having a god gale of wind blowing from the South west, we came to Lyz pole whether the Alpuer on the southe about Froofiam the Wersey on the north, doe tall in thunburdening of their channels. Wher water runneth among the Wiches, and Harley departeth Cheffer and Lancas those in funder.

from hence also we go by Wegam, 62 Dugeles : and nexte of all buto the Ribell, which almost doth enupromie Presson in Andernesse. It reseth in Urbbes dale about Salley Aabbye, and from thence geeth to Salley and a lyttle beneath Salley it res cerueth the Calder that cometh by Whalep, and then the Oder. After thys, we come to the Wire, which rvieth evalt or tenne miles from Garlon, out of the Pylles on the ryght hande, and commeth by græne Haivghe a pactye Castell, belonging to the Carles of Darby, and moze then halfe a myle of to Carffon in Andernelle. It ebbeth and floweth also, the myles beneath Garstone, and at the Chappell of Alballowes (temie moles fro Carfron) it goeth into the Sea. After thus we come to Coker that maketh no areat course ere we come to the Sandes, by Cockerham Apliage, where they make Salt cut of the Sandes, by eften welting, and dreaming the water from thence into a Pot, they leth it, as at the Wische. sc. Then to Cowder rpll, e to the Lane of Lune, that giveth name to kancalter, where much Romaine money is founde.

Of these react rou hall reade moze in the feconde 13 whe. Acrt buto it also is the kerp, halfe a mile beyond Warton, where the rich Litton was borne. It ryleth out of the hylles not farre of, and falleth into the falte water at Lunclandes. From thence we come to 15ythe water, which ryfeth not farre from Bytham Towns and Parke, in the Billes whereabout are great numbers of gostes. It is a pactive rouce, and by all lykelyhode resorteth unto Ben sands. Ben ryseth at Ben more, in a Pole of a mple compasse, kerpe well troved with splite, the bead whereof (as all the Barromy of Rendal) is in Westmers lance. It is also eight imples from Beneall, in the wave to Perith, and the course theres of is to Pewbridge, Barley, Stauelcy hamlet, Bowstone, Burne spae brioges, to Kendall, Leven baloge. gc. into the fea, res coming the Sprout ryper into it, a mple as boue Fremegate bridge. Pert unto this is y Charte whether a freshe water commeth, as both another to Conny heade landes.

Then come we to Dudden or Dodon has uen, whether a freshe broke also resorteth, ? foure inples from hence was Furnesse Ab: bay by into the mountaines. Then fayled we to the Cike, whereunto commeth a broke from Crosmere, then to the Calder served also with a backe freshe water: then (going about by S. 15 es) to the Wly or Ferne, to to Deruent, the Lug of Luv, and finallye to Boluep, which parteth England & Scotland.

Having thus gone thosowe the rruces of Englande, nowe it resteth that we procede with those which are to be founde oppon the Scottyshe shore, in such order as we best mave, untill we have fetched a compasse about the same, and come onto Barwijcke, whence afterwarde it shall be easpe for vs to make repaire onto the Thames, from which we did let forwarde in the beginning of oure voiage. The fyzste rouer that I mette wythall on the Scottill coalf is the Elke, after A came paste the Soluey which bath his beade in the Chemote Hylles runneth by Birkinton, and falleth into the Sea at Bozow on the fands. Thys Elke having received the Ewys falleth into the Solvey frest at Atterith. After thus A valled oner a luttle crieke from Luzthell, and so to Anano, whereof the valleye Anandale doth læme to take p name. There is also the Pyde, wheref commeth Piologie, the Benthe De, the Craie, and the Blade necke, and al these besides dyners other smal rylles of lesse name deel pe bpon the south coast of Valloway. On the north side also we have the Ruan, the Arde, the Castile Done. the Burwin, the Cluide, (whereupon somes tyme Amde the famous citie of Alcluyde, and whereinto rumeth the Carath) the Hamell. the Dourglelle, and the Lame. From hence in lyke manner, we came buto the Leuino mouth, wherunto the Blake on the fouthwest and the Lomunde lake, with his fleting Ides and fifth without finnes, (yet bery holesome) doth læme to make hys illae. Thys lake of Lonund in calme wheather, ryfeth some times to high and twelleth with such terrible Billowes, that it cauleth the bell Parriners of Scotlande to abyde the legiture of this was ter, before they dare adventure to hove by saples, on hie. The like is sæne in winope weather, but much moze perillous: There are certeine Illes also in the same, which move and remove, oftentymes by force of otherwyle is very fruitefull for paliurage of Cattel. Pert unto this is the Lene, the Rage Long. the Longe, the Goyle, & the Peke, which for Goyle. the creeding greatnesse of theire, heades are were. called lakes. Then have we the Robinsep, the Robinsep. fozelande, the Tarbat, the Lean, and the Fozian. Abys, wherebuto the Spanley, the Loyne, Lean. the Louth, the Arke, and the Zefe doc fall, Abyz. there is also the Sell, the Zozo the Dwyn, arke. the Pewisse, the Dane, the Lang, the Daun, Icfc. the Hew, the Brun, the Bell, the Down, the Sell. Faro, & Pelle, the Perre, the Con, & Glasse Swyn. the Baur, the Ardall, the Fers (that cometh Dewiffe, out of the Caldell) the Fairsoke which two Dinc. latter lye a lyttle by west of the Dechades, Lang. and are properly called ryuers, bicause they win. illue onely from springes, but most of the o- Brun, ther lakes, bicause they come from Linnes, & Bile. and huge poles, or such lowe bottomes, fedde Dowr, with springes, as seeme to have no accesse, presic. but onelye recesse of waters, wherof there be Berre. many in Scotlande. But to procede hauging Con. once past Dungisby heade in Cathnelle, we Glasse. shall ere long come to y mouth of the Wisle, Maur. a pretty streame, comming by south of the Feste. Pountagnes called the Paydens pappes. Calder. Then to the Browse, the Clyn; the Twyn, wific. (wherunto runneth their ryaers, the Shyn, Browne. the Hillan, & Carewithe Pelle which beside Clyn. the plenty of Samon founde therein is never Shin frozen, noz luffereth ple to remaine there, Spilani that is call into the pole. From thence we Carew. come buto the Parding, the Approxime, the Melle. Spaie, (which receiveth the Uline,) & fitch, Paroing. the Buliche, the Arrian, the Leuin, and the Bowne. Boghe, from whence we saple, butill we Dec. come about the Buguhan head, and so to the Eske. Downe, and De: which two Areames bring forth the greatest Samons, that are to be hav in Scotland, and most plentpe of the fame. Then to the Roath Elke where into the El mond runneth about Wzechin, the Southe Eske, then the Louen and the Taive, which is the funck Rouer for water that is in alk Scotland, and whereunto most Kyuers and lakes doe runne. As Farlake, Dath, Goure, Loiche, Cannach, Lynell , Lopon , Frewer, Erne, and divers other belides small ryllets which I did never loke oppon. Then is therethe lake Londors uppon whose mouth Saint Androwes both france, the Lake Lee win buto whole streame two other Lakes have tecouse in Fistano, and then the Frith or Fortha, which some not call the Scotishe lea, and with the Rquer latte mencioned (3 meane that commeth from Londors) inclus deth all Fife, the laide Fottha beying full of

Dylices and all kindes of huge fyllje that ble

to lie in the dape. How many waters runne into the Aysth, it is not in my power fullipe to declare, vet are there both Upners, Killes, and Lakes that fall into the fame, as Clack, Alon, Dune, Berp, Cambell, Cumer, Tere, Man, Dozkelon, Rolhan, Bulhell, Blene, and opuers other which I call by these names, partly after information, and partly of such townes as are nære unto their heds. Finally when we are paire the Hay then are we come but the Twede and some after in to England againe. The Twede is a noble river and the limes o: bounde betwene England and Scotland, whereby those two kingoomes are nowedis uided in lunder. It riseth about Deimlar in Eusvale (or rather out of a faire Wel as Les land faith franding in the moffe of an hill called Airstane, or Barestan in Twede dale 10. miles from Dibble and to comming by Wib. ble, Lander, Davbiwgh, lelfe, Warke, Pop ham and Pagaritone, it falleth into the lea beneath Barwic as Theare: Thus faith Les land, but I not contented with this fo thorte a discourse of so long a Kouer and briefe des feription of fo faire a freame, wil adde some what more of the same concerning his race on the Englishe side, and rehearfall of suche Rouces as fail into the lame. Coming ther: fore to Kida n, it recevueth betweene that & Carbam a becke which descended from the hill s that lee by Meft of Windiam. Co. ing off from Robam by Longbridgeham (on the Beattlife live) and to Carpani, it has frethrumediately to Warke cassell on the Chalific, and by spylaw on the other fide, then to Comewall, Calo freame, and Eille: m who where it received hunder waters in one botome which is called the Will, 4 whole teleription insueth here at hand. Tertes there to no head of any Ryuer that is named Will. but the vilue of the fardelt water that come methbereinto, ryleth not farre from b head of Aswarem the Chemiste hilles, where it is called Bromis. From thence it goeth to Hartice Ingram Branto, Crawley, Bedges lep, Beuely, Bewie, and Bewie, beneath which it receiveth one water comming from Reobant by Well and lone after a fecond des teending from the Widdletons, and to they go as one with the Beointifie, by Chatton to Fowbiep where they crosse the third water felling downe by North from Bowborne by Delel bitog) thence to Woller, there also tas king in a rill that rifeth about Diodleton hal, g runneth by Paroley, Whereley, and & reft eloce remembred, whereby the water of 1520; king is not a little increased, and after this lance confluence beneath Wioller, no moze called Bromis but the Till, butill it come at the Twede. The Till passing therefore by Weteland and Dedington, meeteth fone af. ter with a fayze freame comming from by Southwest, which most men call the Bow. bent or Bobent It rifeth on the West lide of Bobent the Cocklaw hill, and from thence hasteth to Hattons beneath the which it someth from by foutheast with the Pellerborne, and then goeth to Pudfton, Downeham, kilham, and alittle by Rooth of Newton kyake, and bes tweene it and Well Dewton, it taketh in ans other water coming from the Cheutote hils by Heth pole, and from thenceforth runneth on without any farder increase, by Copland Cuart and so into the Till. The Till foz his part in lyke sozte after this confluence goeth to Bronerioge, Fodcastell, Catall castell Peaton and Posth of Tilmouthe into the Twede, oz by West of Weseil, ercepte my memorie doe faile me. After this also our as forelaid water of Twede descendeth to Gratehughe, the Newbiggins, Pozham caffell, Ford, Lungridge, and croffing the William whitaker. ker on the other fide from Scotland beneath Calimillait runneth to Dedo, to Barwicke and to into the Deean, leaving to much Eng. life ground on the Posthwell ripe as iveth in manner of a triangle betweene Calomile les, Barwife and Lammeton, which is two myles and an halfe enery wave, or not much more excepte I be deceived. Bernavalt this noble freame, we came by a rill that descent deth from Bowleen by Barington. Then by the second which ariseth betweene Middleton and Detcham and runneth by Estill and the Rolle. Pert efall to Warnemouth of whole back water I read as foloweth. The Warne warne. or Swerne ryleth Southwest of Crokelaw. and going by Marneford, Bradford, Spindiestene, and Budill, it leaveth Rewton on the right hand, and so falleth into the Dcean after it hath runne almost nine mples from the heade within the lande. From Warnes mouth, we sayled by Bambozow castell, and came at last to a fall betweene Bedwell and Pewton: The first water that serveth this issue, riseth aboue Carleton from the fote of an hill which seemeth to part the head of this * that of Warne in funder. It runneth also by Carleton, Tonley, Dorfoed, Brunton and Luggell, and finally into the fea as to his course appertaineth. From this water we went by Dunffanbugh onto the Aile of Aine Wile, or mouth which is ferued with a pretty riveret Alnc. called Alne, the heade whereof rifeth in the hilles well of Alnham towne. From thence also it runneth by Kyle, Lyle, Ellington, and Whittingham where it crosseth a rill com-

ming from by fouth, and beneath the fame, the second that descendeth from Eirchild at Bzone, elikewylethe thirde that riseth at Pewton and runneth by Edingham castell and Lemmaton; (all on the Southeast side oz right hande,) and so passeth on farder till it mete with the fourth comming from aboue Shipley from by Porthafter which conflu ence it goeth to Alnewijc and then to Dennuc, recepuing there a rillet from by South and a rill from by Potthe, and thence goyng on to Bilton, betweene Ailmouth towne and Moddon, it wepeth into the Dcean. The Cocket is a goody rouer, the head also thereof is in the rotes of Kemblespeth hils, from whence it goeth to Whiteside, & there mating wyth the Aswaye (which descendeth from the Pozth,) it goeth a little fatder to Linbridge, 4 there recepueth the Kidley by fouth well. It to meth also ere long with the Rydlande, which commeth in north, by Bil, stone, and then hyeth to Sharpeton, to Harbotle, where it crosseth the Pardop water, by fouth, then to Modhouse, to Bickerton, to Tollons, Dewton, and running a pace to warde Whitton Towze, it taketh a 1520ke with all that commeth in northwest of Alnes bam,nere Clibaw, and goeth by Skarnes wod, Duer nether Trewhet , Snitter, and Theorton, and some after uniteth it self with the Cocket from whence they go together to Rethbury, or Whitton Towie, to Halp, to Bzinkehozne, Welden, Clihaw, Felton, (res ceiving thereabout the Farelley broke, that goeth by wintring by fouth east, & Sheldike water, that goeth by Pason, to Beainsaughe by north) & from thence to Morricke castell, and so into the Sea.

There is further moze a litle fall, betwæne Hawkellaw & Dunrith, which ryleth about Stokes wood, goeth by east Cheuington, and Withittington castell, a afterwarde into the Ocean. The Lune is a pretye broke ryling well of Espley, fro whence it goeth to Trite lington, Agham, Linton, and ere long in the Sea.

Wantbecke is farre greater then the Lune. It issueth by well and by north, of well Whelpington, thence it runneth to kyzke Whelpington, Wallington, Diodeton, and Angerton. Here it mæteth with a water running fro about Farnelaw, by & grange: and Partborne on the north, and then goping from Angerton, it runneth by Woleden to Mitforth, and there in lyke maner croffeth b Font which illumg out of the ground about new Biggin, Joeth by Ponney kyzke, Witton callel, Stanton, Punciong, Pewton, & lo into & Wansbecke, which runneth in lyke maner from Mitforde to Worpheth castell, (within two mples whereof, it ebbeth & flow, eth) the news Chappell, Bottle castel, Shep. walke, and so into the sea, their myles from the nert bauen which is called Blithe.

Blithe water ryleth about kirke Peaton, Buthe. and goeth by Belle, Dgle, and recepuing the broket that cometh by the Dillingtons and Barwisc on the hill, it runneth by Harford. Bedlington, Towpon, and at Blithes nuke, into the depe Dcean.

Hartley Arcamelet ryfeth in Métellade Partley. varioche, goeth by Halliwell, and at Hartley towne væloeth to the Sea.

The Tine ryleth of two heades, whereof north. y called north Tine, is the first that followeth Time to be described. It springeth by aboue Belkirke in the hylles, and thence goeth to But. terhawghe, (where it receiveth the Shele) Shele, thence to Cragheles, Leapelin, Shilburne, Parro, Smalburne, Clis, Greneffed Hella. side, Billingham, and at Keasomouth, taketh in the Reade, and in the meane time funding iReade. ether rilles, comming from by north & fouth, whereof I have no knowledge, neyther anye Shillug. regarde to write, bycaule they are oblure, ton. smal, and without denominations. After this confluence it passeth to Leehall to Carehouse (croffing Shillingto rill by well) another ab so beneath thes on the same side, made by the confluence of Mozkes burne, and Myddle burne at Koleburne, bespoe y three aboue & Symons burne beneath Shevechafe, then to S.Dimondes, to Wall, to Ackam, and fo into fouth Tine, beneath Accam, & northwell as I doe wene of Heram.

The South Tine arifeth in the Cheniote Tine. S. billes, and eare it hath done farre from the head it meeteth with Elgyll on the east, and Elgyll, another rill on the Wlest, and so going by the boules toward Awsten moze, it ionneth with Schud from by west and some after with the Hent from by Cast abone Lowbiere. From Ment. Lowbier it goeth to Whitehalton, to kyzke Gilvert? Haugh (croffing & gilvers Becke) to Thorn becke. hope, where it is inlarged with a water oneache lide, to Milliams Stone, and almost at knarestale, taketh in the knare, and then. knare. runneth withail to Fetherstone angle. At: Fetherstone angle lykewise it meterb with harley water, by South well, another a lytle beneath from foutheast, and thence when it commeth to Byllefter castell, it carpeth another with all from by well; after which conduence it goeth to Harltwesell, Unthanke, Wilmotelwije receining one rpl by hwap, and another there from the fouth, as it doth the three from Beadly hall by north, and the Alon by the fouth, whereby his greatnesse dansbeck.

eocket.

toley.

rbop.

isust a little augmented. From Willy, metlutic, it goeth to Las, Paddonbaloge, Modicall, Dinners, Wherneby, Coffely, and foby Warden some after recepting the Porth Tine)the to Perham, & Dillan, crol ling two waters by the wave, whereof one commeth from by fouth, another lower then the fame from Kiling over against Burell. From Dilffa it goeth to Eltingham, Paud, do, Willam (and there it meteth further: more with a beck that goeth betweene Benwell and Reohoughe) then to Repon, Blay: bon, and nert of all with the Derwent, from by fouth which rifeth also about Uneden of two heades, and going by Adon Alpersheles Wernefore for, Cbeheffer, Blackehall, and Willington, finally falleth into the Tine beneath Rechughe and befoze it come to Delis raffeil, from whence also the Tine goeth by Frim, Probutne, Zello, Sheles and fo into 25tireop. ktellap.

The Were rifeth of this heades, in Hels loppedate hill, whereof the most foutherly is called Lurdon, the middlemost Wallop and the Portherlieff kellop, which buiting them felues about D. Johns Chappell, og a little by Wied thereof, their confluence runneth thos row Stanhope parke, by east Pare, and loto Froderlep. Here it receineth this rilles fro the Both in Werevale, whereof one conv methin by Stanbop, another welf of Wlodcrost ball, and the third at Frosterley aloze mencioned, Holybeit a little beneath thele, I finde pet a fairth on the fouthe five, which descendeth from southwest by Bolliop, Bp. Mopfler, Milhonfes, and Landelv, as I have bone informed. Weying therefore united al 16 the Were, this areance goeth on to Walfinal m there to bing in the Walcropburne, before another at Logadlev, the thuzde at Varyley Wall, (and these on the Porthide,) and the fourth betweene Witten and Witz Bedburne to castel called Bedburne coming by Bam-Acres whereby this river both now ware berv great. Coing therefore fro bence-it halfeth to Lipshops Akclande, Newfield, and Wills lington. But nore unto this place also and formetuhat beneath Sunderland, the Wiere croffeth one broke from foutheast by Het & Cordale and two other from by northwest in one botome, whereof the first commeth from Alhe by Langley & other from Bearc parke. and so morting beweath Rellev with the other ther fall both as one into the colore betweene Sunderland, and Burnall. From hence our Rever geeth to Polyghwell, Shirkeley, cloe Durchne and there taking in the Bloding Pidange bimke by Acitheast) it goeth to Duresme, Ambeley Parbarhouse, Lumley Castell, (where it meteth with the Pilis, whole heds Püis. are united betweene Pelton and Wihitwell) and from thence to Lampton, the Bedwiks, Ufferton, Furd, and so into the sea betweene Sunderland and Bunkermouth.

Bering thus passed the Tine, and ere we come at the mouth of the These almost by 2. myles, we méte with a prettye fall, which groweth by a Kyuer that is increased with two waters, whereof one rifeth by northwest at Pozetos, and goeth by Stotfeld and Clar, ton, the other at Dawlton: gopng by Bzeer, ton, Dwtham, and Grettam, finally iopning within two miles of the fea, they make a pres ty postlet but I know not of what fecurity.

The Thele rifeth in the blacke lowes, a: Thelis. boue two myles flat west of the southerlye head of Were called Burdop, and thece runs neth thosow Tilvale forrest : and taking in the Langdon water from northwell it runs neth to Durtpit chappell, to Pew Biggin,₹ so to Middleton. Here it recepueth by west of rche of these a Kill comming from by Posth, (of which the last is called Hude) elikewise Hude. the Lune by fouthwest, that riseth at three les uerall places, whereof the first is in the boze ders of Wielimerland and there cailed Arnes gull becke, the second more southerly, named Lune becke, and the thirde by fouth, at Ban Lune. doz Skath hill, and meting all aboue Arne: Arnegill. gill house, they runne together in one bos tome to Latheky, he bridge, and then into the Thele. Daving therefore mette with thele, it skirkes runneth to Wickelton (and there taking in the with. Skirkwith water) it goeth Rumbald kirke (croffing there also one Kill and the Bander Bander. broke) and then goping to Morewood hagge, $ Pozewod parke, til it come to Bernards ca, Bere crofe tle. Here also it recepueth a water company ealt of Kere croffe, fro the spittle in Stamoze by Crag almost southwest, and being bnited in the Thele, it goth by Stratfozo, Egleldon. Rokelby, Thorpe, Wickliffe, Duington, and betwene Barfurth, Tainfurth: meteth with another Kill, that commeth from Langley forest, betwene Raby castle and Standozpe. But to proceed, the Thele bening pall Kainforth, it runneth betwene Perfore & Cliffe, and in the way to Croftes bridge, taketh in p Skerne a pretye water which rifeth about Skerne Trindon, and goeth by Fishburne, Bradbu ry, Beckon and Darlington: and finally més ting with the Cocke becke, it falleth into the These beneath Stapleton, befoze it come at Creftes bridge. From thence it runneth to Sockburne, nether Dunfley; Bioleton row, Pewinam, Parne (crofting a bzoke fro Les uen bridge) to Barwicke Presson, Thorne Abbaic and Ariham, which frandeth on the Southeast side of the river betwene the falles of two waters: wherof one descendeth from well Partburne, the other from Stillings ton. From Artham finally it goeth to Bella-31s Didleburgh, and so into the sea.

Pert of all we come onto the high Cliffe water, which rifing aboue Putton, goeth by Gilbozow, & there receineth another fream comming from by fouth east, and then continuyng in his course, it is not long ere it fal in-

The next is the Scaling water, which des fcenocth from Scaling towne, from whence we come to the Dolemouth, not farre from whose hed Candeth Wolgrave cassle: then to Sandford creke, i nert of all to Elke mouth, which rifeth aboue Danby wod, and so goeth to Castleton, there meeting by the way with another Kill comming from about Westers dale by Danby, and so they goe on together by Armar and Thwatecastle (till they towne with another water aboue Glasoale chappel) thence to new Biggin, taking vet another broke with them, running from Godlande ivarde, (and like wife the Ibur) and so goe on without any further increase by Busworth, erelong into the lea.

There is also a creke on eche side of Kobin Withwas bay, of whole names and courles, I have no skil saving that Fillingale the towne doth stand betwene them both.

There is another not farre from Scars bozow, on the Porth live called the Harwod broke. It runneth thorow Parwode Dale by Cloughton, Buniffon, and some after mes ting with another Kill on the fouthwelf, they runne as one into the Dcean lea.

From Scarbozow to Bzidlington by Flar bosow hed, we met with no more falles. This water therfore that we law at Bridlington, rileth at Duggleby, from whence it goeth to Birby, Helperthorpe, Butterwic, Woithorp, Forhole, (where it falleth into the ground f rifeth by againe at Kudston) Thospe, Cas thoppe, Bridlington, and so into the Dcean.

Being come about & Spurne hed, I mete ere long with a river that rifeth short of Wis thersep, and goeth by Fodzinaham, and Wilis sed: from thence, to another that commeth by Kolle, Halcham, Carmingham: then to the third, which rifeth aboue Humbleton, and goeth to Esterwtic, Heddon, and so into the Humber. The 4. springeth thort of Sprotter lep, goeth by Alptton, and falleth into the water of Humber at Merstete, as I heare.

The nert of all is the Vall water, which I will describe also here, and then crosse over but the foutherly shore. The furdest head of Hull water rifeth at Hilbam, from whence it. goeth to Lewthorpe creke, and so to Fodrins cham, a little beneath which it meteth with sondy waters, wherof one falleth in on the Porth east lide, comming from about Lillet, the second on the Porthwest banke fro Pasferton: the third from Emmelwell & Birke, burne, (foz it hath two heds, which iopne bes neath little Depfeld) and the 4. which falleth into the same: so that these two latter runne buto p maine river both in one chanell, as ers perfence hath confirmed. From hence then our Hull goeth to Katteley to Godalehoule. s the taking in a water from Hoznelie Were, it goeth on thozowe Benerley medalves, by Warron, Stoneferry, Hull, and finally into the Humber. Of the Kill that falleth into this water from South netherwise by Skyrlow, and the two Killes that come from Cocking, ham and Moluerton, I lave no moze, lithit is mough to name them in their order.

¶Of such Rivers as fall into the Sea, betweene Humber to the Thames. Cap.xj.

There is no rouer called Humber from Humber, the heade, wherfore that which we now call Humber, bath the same denomination no hygher then the confluence of Arent with the Duje, as belide Leland, fundap auncpent watters have noted before bs both. Tertes it is a noble arme of $ lea, & although it be properly to be called Duse, even to the Puke beneth Ancolme, yet are we contented to cal it Humber, of Humbrus a King of & Scithiens, inho inuaded this Ille in b time of Locrinus, thinking to make himselfe the Monarch of h same. But as God hath fro time to time Cur gularly prompted of the benefite of Briteine, so in this busines it came to passe, that Humb ber was put to flight, his men flaine, & fur thermore whilest be attempted to saue hyms selfe by halting to hys thippes, such was the presse of his nobilitye that followed him into his owne vestell, and the rage of weather, which haltened on his fatall daye, that both he they were drowned in that arme: And thys is the onelye cause wherefore it hath bene called Bumber, as our wapters laye, and whereof I finde thele verles.

Dum fugit obstat ei flumen submergitur illic, Deque suo tribuit nomine nomen aqua.

Thys rever in olde time parted Lhoegres oz England from Albania, which was & poztion of Albanactus, the pongett fon of Brute. But lithence that time blimits of Lhoegres have bene so inlarged, first by & prowesse of & Komains, then by 6 compacts of English, § at thes prefent day & Twede on the one lide, walerop.

and the Solue on the other, are taken for the principall boundes, betweene vs and those of Scotlad. In describing therfoze of the Hum: ber, 3 must nede describe the Duje, in lay: ing farth the course of the Duze, I that hard scape the noting of those Arcames at large, that fall into the same howbeit lith 3 have of purpole appointed a chapter for thele and the lyke, the nert boke, I will here oncly speake of the Duze, and lay thereof as followeth.

The Are therefore ryleth in the fardell partes of all Kichmondeshrze, among the Coterine hilles, in a mosse, towarde the west fourtæne myles beponde Hydleham. Being therefore issued out of the grounde, it goeth to Holbeche, Hardraw, Hawshouse, Butter, side, Askebrioge (which Lelad calleth the Ascaran, and sayih therof the Bainham, that they are but obscure basoges) the to Askarth, tho; owe Manlelle Parke, Menselep bridg, (made two hundred peaces lince, by Alwyn, Warlon of Windaw) New parke, Spennis

thome, Danby, Geruic Abbay, Clifton and Walham. When it is come to Halham, it re-council the Burne, by fouth west (as it dyd

the wile, from very dape scarry rockes, be fore at Alkaran) and dyners other wild rilles not worthy to be remebred. From Walham.

it hasteth buto Tanffelde (taking in by the waye, a ryll by Southwest) then to another

Tanficide, to Newton hall, and northbridge at the hither ende of Rippon, and so to Huice

kes bridge. But cre it come there it meteth with & Skel, which being incorporate with & lame, they run as one to Thospe, then to Als bosow ; sone after recepueth p Swale. Here fapth Lelande, Jam brought into no little Areight, what to confedure of the meeting of Ilis & Cire, for some sapy the lise the Are doe, mete at Bosowbsidge, which to me doth some to be very unlikely, sith Isurium taketh his denominatio of His & Vro , for it is often some that the lesse ryuers doe mingle thep?

names with & greater, as in the Thamelis & other is calle to be found. Pepther is there as np more mencio of the Are after his pallage

bnder Bozowbrige, but onelve of Isis ethe

Duze in these dayes, although in olds typie it helde buto Poske it selfe, which of the Are is trucky called Arcwie, (oz Pozke Hozte) or else my persivation both sayle me. I have red also Ewerwise and Dozloise. But to pro-rede, pleaus this superfluous discourse. Fro

Bosowbzioge, & Duje goeth to Aldbzough (* receining & Swale by & way) to Aldworke, taking in Clivnene water, fro the fouthwell

then to Linton bpon Duse, to Deluton bpo

Duic, to Bunketun, meeting withe Pydde ere long, and lo going withall to the Reads

Du30,02

应ddl.

houses, to Popleton, Clifton, Porke (where it croffeth the Foffe) to Foulefwath, Middles foffe, thorn, Acaster, Kelstete, Welehail, Barcleby, Selby, Turmonhall, Skurthall, Hokelathe, Hoke, Sandhall, Rednelle, Whitegiste, Maet, Blacketost, Forellete, Brownslete, fo into Humber. And thus do I describe the Duie. Powe berngentred into b Humber Arcame, toward & lea againe, I wil begin with the Ancolme, and so go along bp on the coast of Lincolneshire tyll I come to Boston in such order as insueth.

Ancolme, a goodpe water ryfeth Caft of Dercate Raling, & fro thence goeth by mid Incholme dle Kaling. Then receiving a host roll from by fouth, it runneth on bnoer two bridges, by the wave, till it come to Wlingall, north eaff, where also it meteth with another backe, fro Allelby that commeth thither, by Arelby, and fouth Belley. After this confluence also it goeth by Cadney (taking in the two rylles in one botome, that descende from Dowsham, and north Levley, and thence to Rewited. Glanford, Mardeley, Thorncham, Appleby, Horslow, north Ferriby, and so into the sea.

Beyng past Ancolme, we go about the Pelle and lo to the fall of the water, which commeth from Keleby, by Cotham Abbave. Pertham Abbate, Thorneton, tleaning Cors hyll by west, it falleth into the Dccan. The nert is the fall of another broke comming from fleting all along by Stallingburne. The crossed we Grymlby gullet which islus ing aboue Ereby cometh to Laleby, the two Cotes, and then into the lea. After thys we passed by a nother Portelet, whose backwas ter, descendeth from Balesby by Acheby, Balggelley, Wathe, and Towney, and final. ly to the nert illue, before we came at Salts flete which beaunching at the last, leaneth a prety Illande wherein Comsholme Willage Candeth. This water ryleth thort as I here of Tathewel, fro whence it goeth to Kathby, Hallington, Ellington, Lowth, Bioirington Auingham, & then baaunching aboue Porth Somerton, one arme meteth with the lea, by Grauethozp, pother by nozth of somercote.

Saltset water hath but a thort course for Souther. riling among the Cockeringtons, it cometh to the fea, at Saltslete hauen, howbest the nert buto it is of a longer race, for it ryleth as I take it in Cawthorpe paroche, and des scendeth by Legburne, the Carlctons, the well myddle and ealt Saltfletes, and fo into the Dceanc. The water that ryseth aboue Damelby & Dayby, goeth to Cawiby, Swaby Abbate, Clathorpe, Belein, Tattle, Mit therne, Stane, and north east of Thetilthorpe into the maine fea, Maplethoppe water ryleth at Tharesthopp and going by Barkeley, Folethezpe, & Trus thoppe, it is not long ere it mete to the Ber. main Decan, then come we to fiffue f commeth fro aboue Potoft, & thence to Bumbp chappel, whether & water coming fro Clars by, Willowby, and Slouthby (and whereinto another ryll falleth) both runne, as there to Doe bomage buto their Lozde, & Souereigne. As for Ingolde mil creike, I palleit ouer, and come fireight to another water, descending from Burge by Skegnes. From hence I go to the iffue of a faire broke, which as I heare, both rife at Tetforde, and thence gos ethby Somerby, Bagenderby Achwardby Sawithorpe, Partney, Albeby, & Stepings, Thorpe Croft, and fo into the Sea. As for Cambete water, it commeth from the east fea.and goeth betweene S. Baries and Ahale lowes by Wainslete town, and treading the pathe of his predecellors, empiteth hys chas neil to the maintenaunce of the Sea.

Pow come I to the course of the Whytham, a famous river, wherof goeth the bre word, frequented of old, and also of Ancolme, which 3 befoze described.

Ancolme ele, and Wytham pike,

Search all England, and find not the like. Lelande calleth it Lindis, divers the Khe, and I have read all these names my selferere cept my memozy do faile me. It rifeth amog the Wickhams, in the edge of Lincolnshire, and as I take it in Southwicka paroche, fro whence it goeth to Colsterworth, Easton, Birkestoke Paunton, and Paunton, Hough ton, and at Grantham taketh in a Kill from by fouthwell, as I here. From Brantham it runneth to Man, Thorpe, Bolton, & Barne, fron, where croffing a becke from Porthe raff, it vaccedeth farther fouthwestwarde by Merelion, toward Kallon, (there also taking) in a broke that rifeth about Denton, and go eth by Sydbioke,) it hasteth to Dodington. Clapale, Barmeby, Beckingham, Staples ford, Ballingham, Thursby and beneth Am burgh, croffeth a water that commeth from Stogilthorpe by Somerton castle. After this, confluence allo, our Whytham goeth His footh on his wap, to the Mickhams, Boltha Braces bridge, and Lincolne it lette. Butere it come there at make h certain poles (wherofone is cailed Swan pole) and some after deutoing it felfe into armes, they runne both thorough the lower part of Lincolne, eche of them has ungablidge of Consonerit, thereby to passe through the principall froter and as the big. gerarme is well able to beare their fisher hotes, so the lesser is not without his senerall. commodities. At Lincolne also this noble ris

uer meteth, with the Folle dike, whereby in great floudes, bellelies may come from the folle dike. Trentes fice to Lincoln. Foz betwene Tenke sep where it beginneth, Lincoln citie where it endeth, are not aboue buimiles, as Lelande hath remembred. Bithop Atwater began to clense this ditch, thinking to being great bef fels fro Trent to Lincoln in his time but lith he died before it was performed, there hath no man bene fince so well minded as to profecute his vurvole. The course mozeover of this our freame following, from Lincoln to Wolfo, is co. miles by water, but if you mind to ferry, pou hall have but 24. Foz there are 4. common places where men are ferried o. uer, as Short ferry c.miles from Lincolnet Taterfall fery, 8. miles fra Short fery: Dogo dike ferp a mile, Langreth ferp, c.miles, and lo many finally to Wolfon.

But to go forward with the course of Line dis, when it is past Lincolne, it goeth by Shepewalh, Wallingburg, Filkerton, and fone after taketh in fonday rivers in one that nell, wherev his areatnesse is very much ine creased. Fro this conductice it goeth to Bare dolfe, and there receiving a Kill (descending from betwene Sothy and Kanoby, and goe png by Harton)it Aloeth forth by Tupham to Taterfall castle, taking up there in like fort thre Imall Killes by the way, wherof I have Imali notice as pet, and therfore I referre the buto the nert Treatise, wherin God willing many things that be more plainly fet downe, that are here but obscurely touched, and some errors corrected, that for want of informatio; in dustyme have (pedily passed my bandes! finally, being past Caterfall, and Dogdike fery, the Wytham goeth toward Boston, & thence into the lea. Thus have I briefly diff patched this noble riner, now let us im iobat we may be with the Williard, whole defer iption that he let downe even as it was beline red me, with onely one mote added out of Lex land, and another had the Chestropher wars tom of miskefield, dyfodiole frendly helps I hautified many things in this that were entibut roughly handled; and more then endely. forgett ed theographed distinct or that is put t

Being palled Botton Hauen, we come fireight wave to the fall of Milyland in hys welling. Preame extethabout Sibbertoft panylmus ning betweene Bolworth and Bowthone, it goethto Feedingtometh. Derfon, Birbierka. Trussell, Herbozoloc, (recepting there the Wray, which cameth fro Brapibrohecastic) Bar. to Bowton, Wielfon, Wiland, Albeig: 1902 brune Rokinghamanni Calvrot, (where a ciueret called iptile Cre meteth wythalis comming from east Roston by Aleustoness

Maple

ï

Stocke, Fallon, and day Cocke. From Calus cot it goeth to Critto, Parringworth, Seton, Mauerley, Duddington, Colly weston, & Con, and there to yneth with the thirde called Warke, not farre from Betton, which come meth from Lye by Pzelfon, Ming, Lindon, Luffenham sc. Thence it goeth on by Tinwell, to Stanforde (croffing the Broke was ter, and Wibitenelbecke, both in one bottom) and from Stanfozde by Talington, Marley whitnell. to Mercate Deping, Crowland (where it als most meteth with & Auon then to Spaloing, Waplad, and so into the sea. Leland writing of this Wapland, addeth these words which I will not omitte, lith in mine opinion they are worthy to be noted, for better confideratio to be had in the land water and his course. The Alpland farth he going by Crowlande, at Deworene divideth it felfe into two braches, of which one goeth by to Spalding called Pelvozene, and so into the sea at Fostivike Stowe : the other named & South into Wills beche. Thys latter also parteth it selfe to two moles from Crowlande, and sendetha writhlake. roll called Whithlake by Thorney, where it mæteth with an arme of the Pene, that cometh from Deter bozow, and holdeth course with blood freame, till it be come to Burho, fire myles from Whytbech, where it fals leth into the fouth. Dut of the fouth in lyke fort falleth another arme called Shepes epe, and at Popcioce (which is fourtene mples, from Linne) did fal into the sca. But now the course of that Arcame is crased, wherupo the inhabitants luffainc many grievous floudes, bycause the mouth is staunched, by which it had accesse before into the sea: hetherto Les land. Of the course of this rever also from Stanfoed, I note thus furthermore out of another waiting in my time. Beyng past Staunton (faith he) it goeth by Burghlev Unington, Callingto, Dagey, Deping, eaft Deping, and comming to Waldram hall, it brauncheth into two armes, wherof that which goeth to Singlesole, recepueth the the Acne out of Cambridge Chyze, and then going by Doweldale, Trekenhole, and wynding at last to Wisbiche, it goeth by Liner, ington, S. Haries, and so into the sea. The o. ther arme hasteth to Crowland, Clointhouse Bietherhouse, Dikale, Cowbecke and Spalbing. Dere alloit receineth & Baffo breane, Longtoft dzeane, Depmg dzcane, & thence goeth by Wickham into the leastaking with all on the right hand fonder other deeaner, and thus farre he.

Port of all when we are past these, we come to another fall of it a er into & wanh, which descendeth directly from Withaplade

dreame to Whaplade towne in Hollande: but because it is a water of small importace, I palle from thence, as halfing to the Pene. of both, the moze noble riner. The nert ther. fore to be described is the Auon, otherwose auon called Pene, which the author describeth after this maner. The Pene beginneth 4. miles as Rong boue Roathampton in Pene Were, Where it riseth out of two heades, which iopne about Porthampton. De this river the city & countrie beareth the name, although we now pro. nouce Hapton foz Auondune, which erroz is comitted also in south Auondune, as we map ealily le. In another place Lelad describeth f laid river after this maner. The Aus rifeth in Bene mere field, and goping by Dundale and Peterbozow, it deuideth it felfe into thre armes, wherefone goeth to Horney, another to Wilbich, the third to Kamley: and afters ward beyong buited againe, they fall ints the lea not very farre from Linne. Finally, the discent of these waters, leave here a great lost of Ilandes, wheref Elp, Crowland, and Mersland, are the chicfe : Hetherto Lelande. Howbeit, because neither of these description touch the course of this river at the full. I wil fet downe the third, which thal supply what. soener the other do want. The Anon there. foze ariling in Penemere field, is encrealed with many Killes before it come at Rorth. hampton, and one abone Kings thoppe, from where it goeth to Dallington, & so to Porth. hampto, where it receiveth the Wledon, and here I will fravitill I have described this ri uer. The Medon therfore rifeth at Faule fe Vedunu in maiffer Unightlies poles and in Badby plathes also, are certaine springs that resort bnto this streame. Fauleste poles are a mile from Chareton, where the head of Chare rp, uer is y rüneth to Banberp. There is but an hill cailed Albery hil betwene y heas of these two riners. From the faid hill therefoze, the Wicdon directeth his course to Badby Reins. enham, Cuerton, Medon, betwirt iwhich and Floretowne, it receive th the Florus (a preto Florus. water rifing of foure beds, wherof the one is at Dauentry, another at Watford, the third, at long Buck, the fourth above Whilton) and then palleth on to Deployo, Billingbury, Un. ton, and so to Posthampton, where it falleth into the Auon, receiving finally by the way, the Bugbanke water at Heyford, Patchall Bugius. water nere killingbery, and finally, Pacifon water beneath Upton, which running from Bzelfo by Watton, meteth at the laft with Dilton Kill, and lo fal into Auon. Pow to refume the tradation of our Auon. Fro Porths hampton therfoze, it runneth by Houghton, great Billing, Whitstone, Podington and Willingbozow, where we must stay a while, foz betwene Willingbozowand Dighā Fer, ries, it receiveth a prety water comming fro about kilmarshe, which going by Ardings wozih, Dailvozow, Ruspeton, Pewto, Gaddington, Boughton, Warketon, ketteryng, Berton, and Burton, mateth there with Rothewel water, which runneth welf of thet tering to Hisham, the greater Haridon, and then into the Auon. Beyng therfore past Burton, our maine streame goeth to Bigha Ferris, Artlebozow, Kingsted, Woodford, and (meeting therby with Cranford Kill) to Theartfon, north wherof it iopneth also with the Oclep water, that commeth fro Sudbos rowe and Lowicke, to olde Amkles, Was den ho, Bilketon, Toke, (where it taketh in the Lineden Becke) and so to Dundell Cotterifocke, Tansoner, and betwene Tothes ring and Marnington, recepueth the Co2. by water, which rising at Corby, goeth by Wicken, Denethap, Bulwich, Bletherwic. Finched, Arethoppe, Pewton, Tothering, p to into the Auon. After this, the faid Auon ad eth to Elton, Pallington, Perwell, Suttor, Castoz, Allerto, and so to Weterbozow, where it devideth it selfe into sonday armes, * those into severall braunches among the Fennes & medowes, not possible almost to be numbied, before it metc with the lea on the oneside of the countrep, fal into the Duse on the other!

Rother.

Deley.

lig. 3.

rin,

The Duze, which Leland calleth the third Mis, falleth into the sea betwene Wersand and Downeham. The chief hed of this river artieth nere buto Stanes, from whence it cos meth to Brackley (sometyme a noble towne in Porthampton thire, but now scarcely a gwo village) and there taking months left hande one water comming from the parks betwene Sylam and Affwell (which runneth by Whitfield and Tinweston) and another on the right fro Imley, it goeth on by West. byzy, fulivell, Mater Aretford, Buckingha and Berton, beneath which towns the Erpn falleth into it, whereof I finde this thoat det cription to be inserted here. The Erpn ris Teth not farre from Pardinge in Porthamps tonthire, from hence it goeth by Beth, Erin fozd, Godderington, Twofozd, Steple cindo: and ere it come at Dadbirp, meeteth with the Garan broke descending from Baranburg; and so they go together by Parbiry till they fall into the Dujas which carieth them after the confluence, to Thorneton bringe (where they crosse another fall of water commung from Whitlewood forest by Luffeld, Lecami fed and Foscot) and so to Beachampto, Culuerton, Stonp fratfoid and Molaerto. Bere the Dize meteth with a water (called as Lelande confedureth, & Were of Mere,) on the left hand as you go downeward that cos meth betwene Wedon and Werenham in Posthamptonibire & goeth by Towceller, and Alderton, and not farre from Wolverto and Haversham, into p foresaid Duze, which goeth also fro hence to Newporte raganell, where in like fort I must stay a while till I have described another water, named the Clæ, by whole illue the layd treame is not a little increased. This river rifeth in the very Cle alias confines betwene Buckingha and Bedford, Claius. thires, not far from Whippelnade, and gos yng on toward the northwest, by Caton and Layton, it commeth to Linchelade, where it entreth wholp into Buckinghamshire, and so goeth on by Hammond, Bickle, Fenny Aratfozo, Simplon, Walton and Diodleto, beneath which it receiveth the Saw from a Saw. aboue Palcot, & so goeth on till it mete with b Duje nere bnto Delwpozt, as I haue laid. Being buited therefoze we fet forward from the layde towne, and followe thus noble rus wer, to Lathbirpe, Thuringham, Filgrane, Lawndon, Pewington, Bradfeloe on the one side, and Turuep on the other, till it come at length to Bedforde, after many windleffes. then meteth with another Areame, which is increased with so manne waters , that a was inforced to staye here also, and viewe thep? leucrall courles, from the highest steple in Bedfoede; whence (or peraduenture other, wyle) I noted the same as followeth. Certes on the east side where I beganne thys specif lation, fawe one that came from Pottort. and mette withal nere Becliffvade: another that grewe of two waters, whereof one def rended fro Baldocke, the other fro Hitchin, which topico beneath Arlesey, and thence went to Langforde and Coworth. The third Thefe rife which I behelde had in lyke fort two heades, not far fro whereof one is not farre from Aloocende, withele the other from Aloburne (02 Bowburne) to one of the forming about flitwist, they go to flytton, in Higham (inhere they receive Antill Broke) and fo by parke, Chiphil, and Chickfande, they come to Shaf, forde, from whence taking the aforelande Langford water with them, they go forth by Beclifwade, Sandy, Blumbani, enere buto Themisson are united to the Line, t now to our purpole againe After this & Duze, goeth by Berketorde, to Winteringha, ? mætyng verus es f there with the Warekey becke, and fo time were, neth to S. Peoces (or S. Peves) to Pariton! Ditordes, Godmanchestel', Buftingvoir, Stoucus. Wilton, Si Ities, Hollowell, and Crith, res cepuing in the meane tyme the Stow, nete buto little Parton, and little wife the Olfer, & Helenus. the Ommer, ar one thanklea line by wen of Elmerus.

Merus.

Wioke. water.

Piw r diene.

South.

Pantingden. Finallye the maine Arcame speading abroade into the Fennes, annot tell into howe many beautiches, neyther how manve Illettes, are inforced by the same, but thysis certeine, that after it hath thus delited it selfe with raunging a while about the pleasant bottomes and lower groundes, it meteth with the Granta, fro whence it goeth with a fwift course, buto Downeha. Betweit it also and the Austare large sunder Boses, or plathes by fouthwest of peterborow where of Whittleley merc, and Kamley mere, Bisclas. (whereinto the kinell falleth, that commeth from aboue Broughton, Wysfon, and great Rivelley) are farde to be greatest. Of all the rpuers that runne into this areame, that called Cranta is the most novie and excellent, which I will describe even in his place, not; withitanding that I had earst appointed it buto my feconde voke, but fozalinuch as a description of Duse and Granta, were dely: nered me togyther, I will for his take that gang them me, not seperate the noive in suns der. The very fardelt heade and oxiginall of thys rouce is in benham, a large Barke ve: longing to the Carte of Suller, wheren as the Townslinen lav, are foure lyings that run foure funding wayes into the maine Sea. Les lande lought not the course of thys water, as boue Rewport ponde, & the refore in his Comentaries opó the long ot y fluan, he writeth thereofafter this maner intuing. But here before I enter into his discourse. I must after you warning, beto D. John Cams the learned Philition, and fome other are of the ophila. that this rouer comming from Dewport, is properlye to vie called the lither, but I may not lo calify officent fro Leians, tohofo inoges ment in my mynoe is by a great desig the more likely, harden therefore what he lapth.

> The heade of Egantha or Santa, isin y pond at Demport, a towns of the car Bare ons which going in a boctome beffe & fame. recepneth a pactive roll, which in the mydbell thereofooeth come a mil and descendeth from Wilchin Wonhaunt, that frandethnot far from thence Being patt Bewport, ft go: eth a long in the lower grounds butil it come to Broke Malde, west of Chipping Walaide, (now Daffren walten) harve by the Loide Awdleis; lace, where of late the realt honos rable Loide Phillip Carle of Surriy, uith his houtholde opd folourne, and fome, tome I woe an Abbaic, of Benediame House hes, before they generall suppression. From Audlep and it goeth to Littleburie, the leffe and greater Chefferfordes, Benidime, Hinc. fone, Scoffon or Sainfon - and niere buto Shaleforde recepueth the Babren that cont.

meth by Linton, Abbington, Badzenham, and Stapleforde: and lo going forwarde it com: meth at the last to Trompington, which is a Babin. myle from Cambridge. Bucere it come altogether to Trompington, it mæteth wyth the Barrington water, as Leland calleth it, but other h Rhé, (a comon name to all wa : Ré. ters in the Saron (peache,) whereof I finde thus description, to be touched by the wape. The Liber releth thost of Athwell, in Herts force those, and patting buder the brigge bes twene Sploen Pozdon and Dewnton, and leaung Tadlow on the welf live (as I remes ber)it goeth toward Crawoc, Malton, Bare rington, Halelingfeld, and lo into Granta, taking sunozv Kylles with him from south. s loutifield, as Wendy water fouth well of Crawden, Whadde broke fouthwest of Dz. wel, Wildzed becke fouthwest of Walton, and finally b which goeth by Fulmere & Forton, & falleth into the same betweene Barringto, and Harleston, or Harlon as they call it.

Dowe to procede with our Granta from Trompingto on the one lide, and Grantcele ter on the other, it halfeth to Cambridge warde, taking the Burne with it by the wars which descendeth from a castell of the same denomination, wherein the Picotes, & Deues relies sometime did inhabite. Thence it gos eth by fundage Colledges in Cambridge, as the Quenes Colledge, the Bings Colledge, Clare Hall, Trinity Colledge, S. Johns. ac. unto the high brioge of Cabridge, s between the tolone and the Castell to Chesterton, and receiving by a by the Doure, or Sture, (at woole briege, h most famous Part in Eng: Sturus. lande is pearely holden & kept. Fro Chesters to it goeth to Ditton, Wilto, & crelong mee. ting with two relies from Bettethan and Whiserha, in one bottome) it runcth to Hoze ningley and water Beche: and finallye here torning with the Balbecke water, it goeth by Demp, and lo forthinto the Duje, fifteine Bulbecke. mples from Cambridge, as Leland hath fet . 200 500 2 downe. Anothus much of the thirde Alis 02 Duze, cut of the afozelapde Authour, where buto I have not enelye added somewhat of mine owne Experience, but also of other mens notes, whole diligent observation of the course of thus runer, bath not a lette bels ped mee in the discription of the same. Polpe it resteth that we comenerer buto the coast of Porfolke, and fet forth fuch waters as we palle by oppen the fame, wherin 3 will deale so preciselye as I mape, and so fares will I trauaile therein as I hope Gall cons tent even the curious reader, of if any fanit be made, it shall not be so great, but that af ter some tranaple in the finding, it than with eafe be correcteb.

The art rouer y therfore we come buto af, ter we be past the confluence of Granta, the Dure, and within the inviloration of Porfolke, is called the Burne. This Arcame ryleth net very farre from Burne Bradfeld about the greater Wheltham, and from thence it gos eth to Pawnton, Bury, Farncham Martin, Farneham Alhallowes, Farneham Geno: ucfa, Bengraue, Flemton, Lackefozde, Ir: lingham, and to Wildenhall, a little beneath which it meeteth with the Dale water, that fpzingethnot faire from Catilege, and going by Affieby, Poulton, (a benefice as the report goeth not very well provided for) to Benforde, Benet, Bradingham, Frekenham, it falleth at the last not farre from Reiham into the Burne, from whence they go togis ther as one into the Duze. With & Burne als fo there to yneth a water comming from a: bout Lydgate, a little beneath Helham, and not very farre from Wildenhall.

The Dune heade and rpling of Mauenhey are not much in lunder, for as it is supposed they are both not farre distaunt from the bridge betweene Lopham and Ford, wherby bone runneth east & the other west, as I have bone enformed. The Dune goeth first of all by Feltham, then to Yopton, and to Kinets hall, where it meteth with a water, coming out of a lake thorte of Banham (going by Quiodenham, Herling, Bafthorpe) and fo forth on both in one channell, they runne to Cwifon. Here they mete in lyke lost, wyth another descending from two heads, where of the one is nere onto 10 akenham, the other to Tauestocke, as I here. Certes these heads torne abone Ilelworth, not farre from Stow Langtoft, from whece they go to Drwozth, Thosp, Berdwel, Hunnington, Fakenham, and so into the Dune at Ewston as A savde. Fro hence also they haire bitto Downeham, which of this river doth fæme to bozowehis name. South re ryl, I passe over as not woza thy the description, bicause it is so small. 116

Pert unto the rever on the fouth five is the Braden, or Bradunus, which refeth at Bradenham, and goeth by Action, north Peckenham, fouth Weckenham, Airlingham Wedner, Langforde, Jabor, Dunforde, north olde, Stockebridge, Ferdham, Pelgy, and Co into the Duie.

The neerest buto thys is another which ris feth about Lukeham, and from thence comi meth to Lerham, Wallingham, Dewton, the taffel acre, Acres, perboe, Pentucy, Wiff gep, Kounghton, Westchurch, fo to Linux; as so doth also another by north of this which ngunus. commeth from the east hylles by Congent ham, Grymston, Bawley, Baywod, where ofict this luffile, and now give eare to the reast lith I am past the Duze.

Beyng past the mouth of fall of the Duje, we meete next of al with the rising chase was mission. ter which descendeth from two heas, sallo § Ingel that commeth from about Snettham, Ingell. From hence we go by the point of f. Comod, and so hold on our course, till we come buto the Burne, which falleth into the sea by south from Waterden, and goping betweene the Crakes to Burncham thopp, and Burnham Porton, it ffriketh at the last into the scareast of Burnham Poiton, a mile at y left , ercept my confecture doe faile me. The Glow of Glouins. Glowy-rifeth not farre from Baconfithopp, in the hundred of Tunfed, and going by and by into Holt hadged, it passeth by Hunweath, Thomage, Blawnford, Blackney, Clare, and so in the sea receiving there at hand also a Kill by east, which descendeth from the hils tring between killing town and Wlay, burne.

The Wantsume riseth in Porthfolke at wantsume Galesend in Polt hundred, from whence it goeth to Taterfend, Downton, Skelthozpe, Farneham, Dentithoppe, Kieburg, Ellings ham, and Billingelford. And here it receys ueth two waters in one bottom, of which the first goeth by Stanfeld and Betcley, the ox ther, by Wandling and Gressonhall, and so run on eche his owne way, till they meete at Houndington, southwest of Billingestoide with the Wantsume . From hence they go altogether to Below, Ipng, Weston, and Mozeton but ere it come to Mozeton, it mes teth with the Powke, which (illuying about Young Perham) goeth by Battehall and Barcolv. After this the lapo Wantlume goeth on hy Ringland; and so to Postvich the pontificall fee of the 15thop, to whom that turifoid to avvertaineth. Beneath Porwich also it recepnesh two waters in one chancil, which I wil leverally deloribe according to their courses; noting their confinece to be at Birdicy with in two myles of Addwich, except upne ans motation deceine me. The first of these hath two heas, wherefore monteth by fouth west of Thinbotow goeth by Gernelton; tis the Hierus very Wiere of Ware that dodwneth the name Gerne. of Wantsume so some as he meteth with all The other hed rifeth at: Whode in Mitforde hundred, and (after confluence with the Dicre at Casson)going by Brandon, Birton, Bets ford, Erleham, Ermalefeid (not farre from Bircly as I lapd) doth miete with his rame panion, which is the fecono to be deferibed as followeth. It liath two heads also that meete northwest of Therstane, and hercosthe one rommeth frem Findon hal, by Werenningha from about Ctotton, by Demnal, Fretton, Stretton, and Calbozow, till they iopne at Cherston, as I gave notice aforchand. From Cheriton therfoze they go together in one to Dewton, Shotelham, Dunfron, Caffoz, Arminghale, Bireley, Lakenham and Trowle, and then fall into the Wantsume beneath Dozwich which hereafter is named Piere. The Hiere Dare or Sare therfore proceeding in his volancias it wer to falute his gravame the Oceane, goeth from thence by Palwyc, Surlingham, Clarton and Pareley: and here it méteth agayne with another Riveret des feending from about Shotesham, to Thire Nane, Shedgrave, Dockingham, and so into Sare or Pare, wheref Pardlev the town recerueth denomination. After this it goeth to Frethorpe, and above Burghe castle meteth with the Wienen hey, and so into the sea. Into this river also falleth the Bure, which rifing at a towne of the same name, patieth by Wilton, Burclome, Corpeller, Warington, Wickeling, Burc, Alecham, Beampto, Burto, bouted, Wrerha bridge, bouning, Kaneworth (and beneath 15 affeluge recevueth the Thurinus Thurine which riseth abone Rolesby, then to Dbv, Tluptup, (there also receiving another from filby Rimham, Castor, and by Wars month into the Ocean. The Wauenhey as fore mencioned, rifeth on the South live of Willingham, and is a limite betwene Northfelhe and Euffelhe, goping therfore by Dis, Starion, not farre frem Dac, it meteth with the Clewhiche rifeth nere Dekolde, or betweenest and Brailweithe, and goeth on by Ezome, Due, and so hito the Waveney. from thece also our Mauency, runneth by Spiam, Erobin, Debam, Darleston, Reds nam, Alvorow, Flirton, Emger, Shæpes medaw, Bartham, Beckles, Alby, and at Whiteaere as I here it partethin twaine, ve elle recepuing Wilforde water, which is the most likely, it goeth along by Somerley, Domningflote, S. Glaucs, (there receyuing the Frutan broke, out of low og little Englande) Frisan and Burge castell, where it mateth with the Diere, and from thence, forth accompanieth it as I fand buto the fea.

C.y.

· raging

Alillingham water commeth by Denifed Cinffed, or Cinffate, and falleth into the fea by fouthef Reffand.

The Codell exleth fouth fouth wear, of Colletey Downe , in Whythe hunderd, and no re unto l'affelimenth, it meteth with the rell, that commeth from Collect, and fo go: ing on togither by Wenhaffon, and Wilbo. rowe, it faileth into the fea at an hauen, betweete Condon, and Malderswicke, Alittle roll runneth also thereinto from Effon, bo Sowolde, and another from Dunwiche, by Walderswiske, and hereby it wanteth lyttle that Eston Pelle, is not cut of and made a prety Illande.

The Forde ryleth at Portord, and going Forda. by fegoerley, and Theberton, it fallethat last into the Hysmere creke.

Into the Dzefozce hauen, falleth one war Dzug. fer comming from Aldbozowe warde, by a narrowe passage-fro the north into the south. 15y west whereof (when we are past a lyttle Ide) it recepueth the feconde, descending fro betweine Talingston, and Framingham, in Fromus, Polomes hundzed: which comming at last to Barlesozde, meteth wyth a ryll south west cf Farncham called the Gleme, (that com, Gieme, meth by Rendelsham, the Gleinhams) and so palling forth, it taketh another wyth all at Snapelbridge, comming from Carleton, by Sarmundham, Sterneffelde, and Snave. Then going to Iken (where it meeteth with Iken, or the thirde roll at the west side) it fetcheth a Ike. compasse by Surburne east of Defoede, and so mio the hauen. Pert but othys by welf of Defoede, there runneth up another crake by Butley, whereinto the waters comming fro Cellessozoe, and from the Ike, ose rume both in one botome, and thus much of D2, fozoe hauen.

The Deue ryleth in Debenham, in the Dena. hundred of Bertelmere, and from thence go. eth to Wickeforde, Miniton , Cretingham, Lethzingham, Mickham, hitherto Mill cres ping towards the fouth: but then going in maner full fouthat runneth nære buto Ache, Mendielham, Maoide, Welton, and Modes bridge, beneth which, it receives hon tha west lide, a water coming of two heades, whereof one is by north from Dteley, and the other by fouth from Benly, which toyning well of Herteliham, go but the layde towne, and lo into the Deue, caff of Merteltham , aboue. layd. From thence the Deue goeth by Wlab daingfielde and Denley, and meteing some Clarussons after with Brightwell broke, it halfeth into h maine fea, leaving Badwley on the cast where the fall therof is called Balvoley has uen.

Ure ryleth not farre from Bacton, in Urus. Pertelinere hundacd, and thence descendeth into Stowe hundzed by Cippyng Pewes ton, Dagwoith, Stowe, (beneath whiche it meeteth with a water comming from Kati ticloen, by one house,) and so goping on to Procham, (thorowe Bolmerc and Claydon hundzedes) to Blakenham, Bramforde, Ppfe wiche, (recepuing beneath Stoke, which lys eth ouer against Ppswiche, the Thatham water, that goeth by Belled, to tito & Wre, at the mouth inherof is a maruellous deepe & large pirte, whereof some Parryners sape that they coulde never fynoe the bottome, and therefore calling it a Zotell, and topning the name of the char withall it commeth to paile that hiparchuchere, is called Arewel, for which in thefe vates we one pronounce it Bai well. Into the haven who the ature of Stoure, hath ready pallage, which remaineth in thes treatizement of all to be deferibed. The Sture o: Stoure, parteth Eller from Suffolheias Houeden latth, and experience conrmeth. It arifeth in Suffolk, out of a labe nære vnto a towne called Sotourmere. Fox albeit there come two rolles buto the same, whereof the one descendeth from Thylls, the All ratinges and Betton, the other from Porthed parke, by Pauerillec. Det in fomer tyme they are often dave, fo that they came not be layor to be parpetuall heads, buto the afozelande rouer. The Stoure therefoze rys feth at Stoure mare, which is a pole contage ning twentie acres of ground at the leaft, the one hoe whereof is full of Alvers; the other of rede, wherein the great froze of fishe there bredde, is not a little fuccoured. Fram thus mere, also et goeth to Bathorne bandge, to Biocke clare, Cawnoith, Bentlo, Mifozof, Forerth, Buredep, Sudburp, Bures, 15ake led , Stoke Paplande , Lanham ; Deddam, Strotforb, ealt Barforde, Brampton, and to Catwade bridge, where it falleth into the fea; receiving in the meane time fundip hankes and rolles not here omytted at alt. For on Efferfice, it hath one from Hemsted, which goeth by Bumiled, and Birdbaoke: another tpling shorte of Forerth, that runneth by water Beauthamp, Brundomand falleth in to the same at Badlington, well of Sudbury: and the thirde that glodeth by Bockellep, and mæteth with al well of Borled. On the north or byon Suffolke lide, it recepueth one de fcending fre Catiloge, by Bradley, Chur, low, Wratting, kiddington, and at Waverell falleth into this Sture. The leconde descent beth from Polling field, a joyneth therewith east of Clare. The three arrieth of two heades, whereof one commeth from Mich. ham broke, the other from Theobar in Rifby hundred, and forning about Stanfield. it goeth by Hawton, Somerton, Borfed. Stansfed and north of Forerth, falleth into Stour. The fourth illusth from betweene the Waltingfelds, and goeth by Edwardstone, Borfed, Alington, Polifed, Stoke, and fo at fouth Borcked falleth into the same. The fift rpleth Porth West of Cockesselde, and go eth to Cockeffelde, Laneham, Brimsley, Midling, and recovuing Rettle Bafton was Rettle bas ter fouthwest of Theilworth (and like wise the flon, Breton that commeth from Bretenham, by Hitcheham, a 13isseton streat on the south east of the same towne) it weeth in by Reds ging, Aloham; Padley, Lambam, Shelly, Umbam, and so into the Store. The firt is a hattle cyll descending southwest from Chapt peti. The fewenthay ferh between Chapocies Bentlop, anagoing betwere Estingitoris and Whettrede, Holbroke, and Sutton, it falleth at length tato Stoure, and fro thence is neuer hat de of.

mas for Doley Deill, that upfeth betwene Deley. Deley, and Culture Parties, and north bus berekamfenbridge, and fa into the Stoure, on Other live; wed of Parwicks, and east of Reafters passe it over because it is but a ri and not of any great refle , falt bouch I feel it, when a to remembee inange typics, even the very inalieff. Levil of the constant of the first e Abert buts this, ince come to mother that traineth bouth of Beamon Chy Moller and Moll. falleth into the Dea about the middelf of the Bay, betwirt Barwich and the Page. And In Beflort the Lase also and the mouth of Coine is another Myll which right at little Wentley hand thence goeth to Tendanni thosps, thospin Clonon parks by great and Clacotown, and east of little Polland, into the borps file it was and the ા તાલુકારા તેલું છે.

i. Eine Coine linth thie heas sobere of one is at Dungten that goeth by Tilbery, and east Columus. of Welvam, indicth into the chiefe head, which enfeth about Redgewell in Eller fro whence it goeth to Polsam Benningham, aci. The third faileth in South of Beldam into Coine. and being once mette all in one chancil: the Toine goeth as I layde, to Dedningha Halpe ded, Erles Coine, Makes Coine, Fozdon, Bardfold, Colchester, and so into the sea at Bricklesen At feemeth here, that when b sea entreth betweene the voints of 152adivell and S. Anthonies, it deupdeth it felfe into thou series, suber of one goeth toward Coichester the other toward Maldon. Into the Coine oz Columns whereof Lelande thinketh Colches fer to take his name, and not a Colonia Ros manorum) doe run many falt crekes beneth Kingering ha, whole names lith I doe not knowe, nor whether they be feened with any backwaters of not, I give over to intrest a no farther of they? politions. Into that of Maiden runneth many faire waters, lpherof I will fay so much as I knowe to be true by which runneth directly fro thence onto Rad, winter, (a parcell of your Lorthips pollelly. ons in those parts) and within thee quarters of a mile of the afozelaid church. 13y the way also it is increased with sunday paety spaings wheref Pantwell is the chiefe, and to fay the truth, bath manye a leading fathered on the fame : there is likewife another in a paffure belonging to the grainge, now belonging to Henry 1320ione Esquier, sofournyng theres boon. The third commeth cut of the parde of one of your Lordthips Wansur there, called Radwinter hall. The fourth, fro John Cocke swettes house, named the Rotherwell, which running under Kothers bridge, meteth with y Swin, on the northwell ende of Ferraunts meade, southeast of Radwinter church, wher, of I have the charge by your honoes favoras Frohwell, ble prefermet. The nert is named froshwel, and of this Spring both the whole Hundred beare the name, and also the Upuer it siste whereinto it falleth (from by north) fc far as I remember. Certes, all thele lauing barft and second, are within your Lozdihips towne aforeland. The Areams therfore running fro bence (and now called Frolliwell, of Froshe, which faniseth a frog) hasteth immediately onto olde Sandford, then thorow new Sandi forde parke, and afterward with full freame to Shalford, Boching, Stiffed, Passuge, and so to blackwater, where the name of from wel ceaseth, the water being from hencesouth as There, called Blackwater, butpll it come to Paldon. From Blackwater therefoze it goeth to Corall, Cafferforde, Bearfich and Wlickham, where it meteth woth the Barus, and fo goving togyther, descende to Dep. budge, and finally into the faltwater afore. favde. Is for the Barus, it refeth in a fately partie of Office called Barofold, belonging to the crowne from whence it goeth to olde Sa, long, Brainarce (recevuing a rollet by wape comming from Kaine, blacke Botley, white Moticy, Falkeburne, Wittham, and falleth into the blacke water beneath Bearfed, on the fouth.

There is a prety water that beginneth neve buta Owinbache or Wimbech church in Cfr for (the very limits of Dunmow Desnery) erverience.

C.íų.

Beside thus, the savde rener recevueth Cheimer, also the Cheime or Cheimer, which arvseth in ZI vmbeche afozelayde, where it hath two beads: wherof the one is not farre from 1320, Dockes Where Thomas Willeman Elguler dwelleth, the other nigh buto a farme called Dighams, and forning ere long in one Chas nell, they ive them toward Tharffed, meting in the war also with a Kirll comming from Boyton ende. Berng paft Tharffed, it goeth by Eilten, and some after recevueth one Kil which ryleth on the north five of indlell, and falleth into h Chelmer by north cast at Tile tep aforelayde, and another comming from fouthweit, and rpling loutheast from Lindle at moche Ciffon. From thence then holding on fight with the course, it goeth to spoche Dunmowe, little Dunmoun, Felded , Lies, both Waltams, Springfield, to fo Thelme. restorde. Here oppon the fouth live I finde the titue of a water that rifeth 5. miles of therea. boutes, fouth and by well of the layde towne, from whence it goeth to Munaling Buttel. bury (there receiving a Kill from by welf) to Ingat fone, Parget Inge, Wilfozde bridge Wirittle beioge, and so to Chelmerestorde, (croffing also f fecond water that descendeth from Korfozde southwest of Wirittle by the Roxfozd. way)wherof let this suffice. From hence the Chelmer goeth direaly towarde Bauldon by Bacow, Duting, Wohamwater, Byly, and to to Blackwater northwest of Paldon, recepuing neuerthelesse ere it come sullpe thither a becke also that goeth fro Lie parke, to little Læs, great Læs, Hatuelo, Deuerpll, Le. Dwting, and fo into Blackwater (whereof I frake before) as Maldon waters, doth a ryll from by fouth over against S. Duthes, and also another by Bzadwell.

The Burne, ryfeth foncewhere about Kon Burne. well, and thence goeth to bull bridge, fouth Fambridge, Mirkelhot fery, and fo to Foul. nette: casthis is the Most course of that rps uer, so it beauncheth, and the south arme there of receiveth a water comming from Dauke well, to great Stanbildge, and beneth Dake. tham doth mete by South, worth the layde arme, and so finishe by his course, as we doe our boyage also about the coast of Englande. Thus have I finished the description of such rvuers and freames as fall into the Dcean according to my purpole, although not in fo precise an order and maner of handling, as 3 might if information prompled had bene ace cozolingly performed: howbeit, thes well 3 say of that which is already done, that from the bauen of Southampton, by fouth buto the Twede, that parteth England and Scotland, by north (if you go backward contrary to the course of my description) you shall finde it so erade, as befice a fewe bye ryuers to be touched hereafter, peu shall not niede to ble anp further advice for the finding and falles of b afozeland Areames. Foz luch hath beine mp belie and conference with other men about these, that I dare pronounce them to be verfite and erac. In the realt 3 followed Leland in maner worde for worde, what he bath lapd therefore of them, that have I cramplyfied & published herein. Such was his dealing als so in hys bokes, that he sought not to be curious and precile in those descriptions that hee

The description of Britaine. made, but thought it sufficient to lay some, what, and more of thinges then any ma had bone before hom. In the next bake therfore, I will in the chapiters run ouer thefe mat: ters agapne, and as I have already bosowed fomewhat of the fame, in fettyng downe fuch beamches as fal into the mapne freames at large, so will I there agapne remember such great rivers as I have here epther omitted, or not so orderly handled as their dignities do require. In reading therefore of the one, refuse not I besæche vour honoz withall, to have conference with the other, foz what this wanteth, that other shall supply, and y which is briefly touched in this, wal there be ovened at large, the onely occasion of this deution growing byon hope of instruction to come in tyme, whereof when I had most niede, and the lefe under the presse, I was left destitute and without hope of all reliefe. It is possible, that some curious head may finde carpying worke mough in p courses of these Areames. but if such a one wyll enterpaise the lyke, and try what one man can doe by reading onely, (for I sayled about my country within the compasse of my study) & therunto remember how many wais, through many mens indge mentes, and what number of occasions may ferue here and there, to infozee the writer to in as followeth. michake his Pamphlets, quarters, townes, entraunces, tc. I doe not doubt but it woulde trouble his bearn, although now peradueture in table talke, he can find many things, as he doth that litteth at home among Ladies and Gentlewomen, and will talke and take order for matters abroad that are to be done in the field, where he never thewed his face. Unto the learned therfoze, I peld correction futine erross onely and as I confesse that some bn.

knowne buto me, may and have escaped my handes, so by their gentle and brotherip ad, monition, they thall be the foner amended.

Furthermoze, this I have also to remember that in the courses of our streames, I regard not so much to name & very town or church, as the limites of the varoche, and therefore if

I say it goeth by such a towner I thinke no

duety discharged, if I hitte byon any part oz parcel of the paroche. This also bath not a little troubled me, I meane the evill writing of the names of many townes and villages, of which I bave noted some one man in the description of a river to write it two or three maner of waves, whereby I was inforced to chuse one (at adventure most commonly) that fæmed the likelieft in myne opinion e tudge;

ment: but mough of this and thefe things for this present.

& Of the foure hyghe wayes sometyme made in Brytaine, by the Princes of thys Lande. Chap.12.

Dere are, which indeuozing to bring all things to their Saron Driginall, doe affirme that this divisio of wates inhereof ine now interest. whereof we now intreate. Mould ape parteine to fuch Wzinces of that Pation, as reigned here, lith the Romaines gave bs of uer. But how weake their confedures are in this behalfe, the antiquity of thele Arcetes it selfe that easily occlare, whereof some pers celles after a forte are also set downe by Anconinus, and those that have written of the ses nerall courneres from hence to Rome, als though peraduenture not in so directe an oze der as they were at the first established. For my parte if it were not that I delire to be Chort in this behalfe, I could with fuch notes as I have already collected for that purpole, make a large confutation of divers of they? opinions cocerning these pallages, but lith I have went more time in v tractatio of the ris uers, then was allotted buto me, I will omit at this time to discourse of these things as I would, and lay what I may for the better. knowledg of their couries, proceeding there-

. First of all, I finde that Dunivallon king of Bzitapne, about 483. yeares befoze & birth of our lautoz Jelus Chaiff, leing the lubicas of his Kealme, to be in lundry wyle oppressed by theues and robbers, as they traveiled to and fro, and being willing (fo muchas in him lave) to redresse these inconveniences, caused his whole kingdome to be surveyed, and then commaunding foure principall waves to be made which shoulde leade such as traury led into all partes thereof, from sea to sea, be gaue funday large painleges buto the fame, whereby they became lafe, and verye much frequented. And as he had regarde herein, to the securitie of hys Subjectes, so he made harp lawes, grounded bpo Juffice, for h laps prellion of luch wicked mebers as did offer violence to any trauapler, that should be met with alog found within the limites of thole pallages. How by what partes of this Illand thele wayes were converghed at the first, it is not so wholy left in memory, but that some question is moned among the learned, con; cerning they auncient courses, bowbeit such is the handowe remaining hitherto of they? extensions, that if not at this present perfects ly pet hereafter it is not impossible but that they maye be founde out, and left certains onto posseritye. It sæmeth by Galfride, E.iilf.

that the layd Dunwallon did limite out thole wayes by dwies and markes, which beyna in 19-2t tyme aftered by the anarice of such irreligious versons as dwelt nere and incroched byon the same (a fault vet justly to be tound almost in enery place) and questio mos ned for their boundes before Bellinus has sonne, he to anapoe all further controuerse that might from thenceforth infue-caused the same to be pauce with hard stone, of 18. sote in breath, and 10. fote in depth, and in the bos tome thereof huge flint flones also to be pitched, left the earth in tyme frould swalow by his workmanihip, 4 the higher ground overgrow their riling crefts. We indued the also w larger priviledges the before, protesting that if any man inholocuer shoulde presume to infringe his peace, a violate the lawes of hys kingdome in anye maner of wife nere buto er upon those waves, he should suffer such punilymet without all hope to cleape (by frend; hip or mercy as by v statutes of his realine lately peculded in those cases, are due buto h offenders: The names of these foure wapes are the folie, the Swethelm, or Watling, the Ermpng, and the Debenilo.

The folle goeth not directly, but flove wife ouer the greatest part of this Island, begon nyng at Dotnelle og Cotnelle in Denosbire. where 13:ute sometymes landed (or as Ranulphus fayeth) which is moze likely at the point of Commall though the elocif writers do seeme to note the contrarp. From hence it goeth thorow the middle of Denonshire and Somerfetshire, and commeth to Bristow, from whence it runneth manifelily to Sud: very market, Tetbury, and so forth holoeth on as you go almost to himode was between Cloucester and Cirnecester (where the wood faileth, and the Champeigne country appear reth toward Cotteswald) Areight as a lyne butill von come to Cirnecester it self. Some hold opinion that the way which lyeth from Cirnecester to Bathe, shoulde be the very foic, and that betwirt Cirnecester & Glow coffer-to be another of the 4. wayes made by the Lintons : but anneient report grounded vpon great likelyhode, and confirmed also by some experience, indgeth that most of the waves croffed eche other in this part of the realme, and of this mynd is Leland also, who learned it of an Abbote of Cirnecester that thelico great likelihode in some recordes thecof: but to procede. From Cirneceffer, it goeth by Chepingnoiten to Couentrey, Leirceffer, Dewarke, and fo to Lincolne os northwart the Wlatling Areate, where by generall consent of all the writers (except Alfrede of Benerley, who extendeth it buto Cathenesse in Scotland) it is savde to have

The Watting Arkte beginneth at Douer watting in Bent, and so fretcheth thosow the middelf frate. of lacut buto London, and so forth (peraducnture by the midst of b city) buto Verolamium or Merlanicester, now S. Albons, where in p peare of grace 1531 the course thereof was tound by a mathat digged for gravel where: with to menoe the highway. It was in this place 18. smte brode, and about 10. smte depe, and froned in the botome as afoze, and perad. uenture also on the toppe, but these are gone, and the rest remarneth equals in most places with the fields. The pelow gravell also that was brought thether in cartes 2000, veares palled, remarned there to fresh and to stroa. as if it had bene diaged out of hnatural place where it grew not many peares before. Fro hence it goeth hard by Wargate, leauping it on the west side, and a little by south of this place, where the Briogy Amoesis a long thos row fare byon the lavo firete, metely well builded (for low houting) on both fides. After this, it not onely becommeth a bound buto Leicesterihire toward Lugby, but also pas seth from Caulefoed to Stamfoede, and so forth by the west of Warton, which is a myle from Tozkelev.

Here by the wave I must touche the opse nion of a trauepler of my tyme, who noteth the layde Areate to go another waye, info. much that he would have it to crosse the third Auon, betwirt pelvion and Dolbitoge, fo go on to Binfoede beitge, Wiebtoft, the highe crosse, and thence to Atherston byon Ans cre. Certes it mape be, that the Folle had his course by the countrie in such sort as he describeth, but that & Watling Creat Could palle by Athersto, I can not as yet be persuaded. Penerthelesse his consedure is not to be miliked, fith it is not bulikelye that thee les uerall wayes myght mæte at Alderwaye (a towne vpon Tame, beneath Salters beioge) for 3 do not coubt that the land towne, dpd take his name of all the wayes, as Aldermary churche in London, did of all thre Das rycs buto whome it hath beine dedicated, but that the Watling Areate Houlde be one of them, the compatte of his pattage will in no wife permit. And thus much have I thought god to note by the wave, nowe to returne as gavne to Leland, and other mens collections. The next typings that we here of the Watlyng freate is, that it goeth thorowe the Parke at Pointret, as the common bopce of the country confirmethithece it passeth halfi ly oner Castelford bridg, to Aberford, (which is five myles from thence of where are most manifest takens of thys wave and his broad crest) to Dorke, to Witherby, 4 then to Bo: rowbzig, where on the left hand therof Ewd certain monumentes, or Pyramides of frone, fametyme placed there by the Romaines. These iton:s(sayth Leland) stande 8 myles well from Bowis, almost west from Richs monde a little thosowe fare called may: den castel scituate boon the side of this streat, and here is one of those Pyramides or great rounde heaves, which is thee score fote co. passe in the bottome. There are other also of less quantities, and on the very top of eche of them are tharp stones of a pard in length, but the greatest of all is eightæne sott hyghe at the least, from the grounde to the verye head. He addeth mozeover howe they stande on an hell: in the edge of Stanes moze, and arc as boundes betwæne Richmonde Chric. and Westmerland. But to proceed this Areat iring a myle from Gilling, and two myles from Richmonde commeth on from Bozow. brigge, to Catericke eight wine mples, that is twelve to Leving, and fire to Catericke, then cleuen myles to Gretep, oz Bzitto, fpue myles to Bottles, eight myles to Burghe on Stanes moze-foure mples from Appleby. F fine to Browham, where the lapde Areate commeth thorowe Winfoll parke, and over the bridge, on Ermouth and Loder, and leas uing Perith, a quarter of a myle o; moze, on the west side of it, goeth to Carleil seventiene myles from Browham, which hath beine some notable thing. Detherto it appeareth ex uidently, but going from hence into Scot. lande, I heare no moze of it, butill I come to Cathnelle, which is two hundred and thirtye myles or thereabouts, out of Englande.

manifelt

The description of Britaine.

The Erming Areate, which some call the Leime, tretcheth out of the east, as they saye into the southeast, o is, from Dencuia or S. Danids in Wales buto Southapton, where by it is somewhat lykely in owde that these two wayes, I meane the Foste, and the Er, ning, Houlde mete about Cirnecester, as it commeth from Glocester, according to the opinion concepued of them in that countrye. Df thys way I finde no moze wzitten, and therefore I can save no more of strercept I Moulde indevour to depue awaye the tyme, in alleadging what other men laye thereof, whole mindes doe so farre disagree one from another, as they doe all from a truth, and therefore I grue them over, as not delights ing in such dealing.

The Ikenilo oz Rikenilo, begå somewhere in the south, and so held on toward Cirnece, Acr, then to Worcester, Wicomb, Brimmi, cham, Lichfield, Darby, Chefferfield, and croffing the Watingfrede some where in Porkethire, Aretched forth in the ende buto y mouth y of Tine where it ended at y maine fea, as most men ove confesse. I take it to be ca led the Ikenilo, because it passed thosow the kingdome of the Icenes: for albeit that Lelande and other following him doe seme to place the Icenes in Pozfolke & Suffolke, yet in mone opinion that cannot wel be done. fith it is manifest by Tacitus, that they lave nere buto the Sylures, and as I gelle, ep. ther in Stafford and Worceller, or in both. ercept my conjecture do favi me. The author of the boke entituled Eulogium historiarum. doth call this stræte the Leime: but as berein be is decenned so have I delt with al so farth fully as I may among such divertitie of opt nions, vet not deniving but that there is much confusion in the names and courses of these two latter, the discussing whereof, I must leave to other men & be better lerned then 3.

Of the ayre and soyle of Britaine. Chap.13.

The arze for the most part thorowout the L Alland is fach as by reason in maner of continual cloudes, is reputed to be groffe & nothing so pleasant as that is of the mayne. Howbeit as they which affirme these things. have onely respect to the impediment or himderaunce of the sunne beames, by the interpos litio of the cloudes t oft ingrolled appe: so ere perience teacheth vs that it is no less pure, hollome, and commodious, then is that of o ther countries, and as Cæfar hymfelfe hereto addeth, much moze temperate in sommer. then that of the Galles, from whome he aduentured hither. Perther is they any thing found in the appe of our Remo, that is not be fually feene amonast other nations lying bepond the leas. Witherfore, we must nedes co. felle, that the leituation of our Alland for benefite of the heavens is nothing inferiour to that of any country of the maine, where so es uer it lie bider the open firmament.

The sople of Beptaine is such, as by the testimonies and reportes liboth of the olde s newe writers, and experience also of such as nowe inhabite the same, is verye fruitefull, but vet moze inclined to the fæding & gras fing of the cattell, then profitable for tyliage, & bearing of coan, by realon wherof the count try is wonderfully replenished worth Beat. e al kind of cattell: and such store is there also of the same in every place, that & fourth park of the land is fearcely manured for the proute sion and maintenace of grapme. Certesthis. fruitfulnes was not unknown unto the 1826?

Folic.

Jons long before Cafars time, which was the cause wherefore our predecessors linging in those dayes in maner neglened Tillage, and lyuco by fedging and grafing onely. The grafiers themselves also then dwelled in mes ucable villages by companies, whose custom was to equide the ground amongst them, and eche one not to depart from the place where his lot lav, till by eating by of the country as bout him, he was inforced to remove firther and teke for better pasture, and this was the buttish custome at the first. It hath bene comonly reported that the ground of Wales is nepther to fruitful as that of England, netther the levie of Scotland le beuntifull as that of Wales, which is true if it be taken for the most part: otherwise, there is so god grounde in some partes of Wales, as is in England, albeit & best of Scotland be scarces ly comparable to the best of epther of both. Provided as the boundy of the Scottill doth Taple in some respect, to doeth it surmount in istents of other, God and nature hauping not appointed all countries to velo forth lphe commodities. There are also in this Haand great plenty of feeth rivers a Arcames, as you have beard already, and thefe there wip fraught fouth all hyntes of telicate fifth accustomed to be foud turners. The whole Adelikewyle, is very full of hilles, of which some, theugh not very many, are of creeding heigth, and diverser, tending themselves very farre from the bes ginning as wee may lee by Shoters hill. which rising east of London, 4 not very far from the Thames runneth along the fouth side of the Island westward, butill it come to Cosinwall. Luke unto these also are the crowdo hils, which from the peke do run into the borders of Scotlande. What Moulde A speake of the cheusot hils which runge, miles in length: of the blacke mountains in Wales which go from to at the left in length, of the Grames in Scotlande, and of our Chiltren, which are 18. myles at the left, from one end of them to the other of all which, some are very well reples nithed with was , netwithstanding that the mod part peloc a flucte fjort graffe, profita. ble for they, wherein albeit that they of Scots land der some what come behind bu, pet their entward offen de suit de de la compete de mot encly with plenty of quarries, (and those of fender kindes of marble hard fione, and fine clabaffer) but also rich nitnes of mettal. as thatbe thewed hereafter. In this Illande likelimic the wyntes are commonly more fronge and fierce, then in anye other plas ces of the mame, and that is often fene pp.

pon the naked billes, which are not garded

with tres to beare it of. That grieuous incovenience also inforceth our, Pobility, gen, try, and comminaltie, to build their houses in Building the valeis, leaving the high groundes buto their come and cattellaleast the cold and stoze my blastes of winter should brede the great ter anovance, wheras in other Regions eche one desireth to fet his house alost on the hyll, not oncly to be sene a farre of, and cast forth their beames of Cately & curious workemas thip into enery quarter of the country, but als fo(in whote habitations) for coldense fake of the apre- fith the heate is never so behement on the hill top as in the valey, because the reuerberation of the funne beame, erther reas cheth not to farre as the highest-or else becometh not le Arong, when it is reflected to the lewer meuntapne.

But to leave our Buyldinges, buto the purposed place (which not with francing have amended, berye muche increased, I meane for curio, sitye and costs, in Englande, Wales, and Scotland, within these sewe yeares) and to returne to the lople agains. Certainelys it is euen now in these our dayes growne to bée muche moze fruitefull, then it hath bene in times past. The cause is so, that our countreis men are growne to be moze pagnefull, skilful and carefull thosowe recompence of gapne. then heretofoze they have bone, insomuch that my Synchroni oz time felowes, can reap at thys present great commoditie in a lyttle roume, whereas of late yeares, a great compalle hath yielded but small profite, and thes onely thorowe the pole and negligent occupatio of fuch, as manuared and had the same in occupying. I myght lette downe eramples out of all the partes of thys Mande, that is to lay, manye out of Englande, moe out of Scotlande, but most of all out of Wales, in which two last rehearsed, verye little ether fode and lyuelyhode was wont to be los ked for beside sleshe more than the sople of it felfe, and the cow gaue, the people in § meane tyme lyuing idelly, discolutely & by picking and fealing one fro another, all which vices are nowe for the most part relinquished, so that ech nation manureth hir owne with tris ple commoditie, to that it was befoze tyme.

The passure of thus Illande is according Dasture. to the nature & scienation of the soyle, where, by in most places it is plentifull, verye fine batable, and such as eyther fatteth our cattel with spede, og poldeth great abundaunce of mplke and creame, whereof the yellowest butter, and finest cheese are made. But where the blewe claye abounceth (which hardelye dinketh oppe the winters water in long featon) there the graffe is speary, rough, and very apte for bulbes, by which occation, it becommeth nothing so profitable to the owner. The bell palture ground of all Englance, is in Walaics, and of all the passure in Wales, that of Carolgan is the chiefe. I speake of that which is to be founde in the mountaines there, where the hundzeth part of the graffe grolving is not eaten, but luffered to rotte on the grounde, whereby the sorte becommeth matted, and dpuers Bogges and quicke mozes made with all in long continuance. by cause all the cattle in the countrey are not able to eate it octone.

The description of Britaine.

Dur medowes are either bottomes (where of we have great ffore, and those very large bycause our sopie is hilly) or else lance meades. The first of them, are yearely and often overflowen by the ryling of such Greames as passe thorows the same, or violent salles of lande waters, that dyscende from the hylles about them. The other are feloome or neuer overflowen, s that is the cause where, foretheir graffe is thorter than that of the bottomes, and pet is it farre moze fine, whole some, and batable, sith the have of our lowe medowes is not onely full of fandy cinper. which beedeth fundep difeales in our cattell, but allo wise rowty, foggy, stuli of danger. and therefore not to profitable for freuer and forrage as y higher nieades be. Whe differece furthermoze in they commodities is great. to, whereas in our lande meddowes we have not often about one god loave of have in an Acre of ground, in lowe meaddowes, welfane fometimes thie, but commonly about two, as experience hath oft confirmed.

The yelde of our come grounde, is also much after thys rate following, thosowe out the lance (A pour please to make an estimate thereof by the neces in common and industry rent yeares, wher in eche acre of Wilhete weil tilled and diested will pield commonly twent tie bushelles, an acre of Barlie 32, bushels, of Dies and such lyke, five quarters, which proportion is notwythstanding oft abated, towarde the north, as it is often furmounted in the fouth. Df mired corne, as pealon, and beanes, sowe togither, Tares & Dtes (which they call bulmong,) life and Wheate, here is no place to speake, yet they? yelde is neverthelesse much after this proportio, as I have often marked.

The cattel which we brede are commonly such as for greatnesse of bone, sweetenesse of fleth, tother benefits to be reaped by & fame, give place buto none other, as may appeare Ard by our Dren, whole largenelle, height, weight, tallow, bites, and hornes are luch, as none of any other nation, do comonly of may rality ercieve them. Dut flicipe likewise for god talked delbe, quantitie of lymmes, finesse of fleer, abundance of increase, (for in many places they bring forth two or threat an earing give no place buto any more then do dur Coates who in like fort on follow the latieszder, and our Deare come not belyind. As for our Confes, Thank fiene the fo fat in lome forces, especially about speal a Diffrege of cal and that the greate of one being wrighed, hath vilnege. peyfed bery neare are or monnes, all which benefites we first referre to the graces a grown nelle of God, and nert of all binto the bountre of our loyle, which he bath to ptentifulive in dued with so aniple a large comodities. But as I meane to increase of these thinges more larger hereafter, so will I touch in this place one beneute which our country wanteth, and that is write, the fault inhereof is not in our sople, but the negligence of our country men (especially of the south parts) who doe not in. wine, ure the lame to this commoditie, which by reason of long discontinuance, is nowe betome unapt to beare any Grapes, eyther in the fielde or fenerall vinepardes: pet of late time some have allaped to deale for wine-but Ather that lyquod when it commeth to the daynking hath beine founde moze harde then that which is brought from beyonde the feawas the confor planting and keeping thereof so chargeable, that they mape buye it farce better cheape from other Countries : they have appear over they, enterpoples, wether out any confideration, that as in all other thinges, so neither the grounde it selfe in the begynning, not successe of their transile can answere their expedition at the first, untill such time as the sople be brought as it were into acquaintance with this commoditie, and that provision mape bee made, for the more salinelle of charge, to be employed byon the same. If it be true that where wine both last and induce well, there it will grow no worle. I muse not a little wherefore the planting of vines thoulde be neglected in England. That this liquor might have growne in this Alland heretofoze: first the charter that Probus theme perour gaue equally to bs, the Galles and Spaniardes is one lufficient tellimony. And that it dyd growe here, the olde notes of tythes for wine, that pet remaine in the accomptes of some Persons and Operars in Kent, belides the recordes of fundage lutes, commenced in divers ecclefiafficall courtes, both in Kent and Surrey: also the inclosed percelles almost in enery Abbaye, pet called the vyneyardes, maye bie a notable profe. Telherefote our sople is not to be blamed, as thoughour nightes were lo erceding thost, egowes.

wad and ราธอกเรีย fametime. in Eng: Mape ople.

Mumber.

that the mone which is Lady of moultage of chiefe riper of this liquoz, cannot in any wife thine long prough bpo the same, a very merry toy, t faole worthy to be suppressed. The time hath bornethat Waao and Mapder, have biene (nert wito our Tin & Wolles) the chief commodities & Darchaundize of this realm: I fynde also that Rape ople hath beene made inuthin this lande, but nowe our sople well beare neither of these, not for that the ground is not able so to doe, but that we are necly. gent and carelelle of our owne prout, as men rather willing to buye the same of others the take any pame to plant the here at home. The like I may say of flare, which by lawe ought to be fowen in cucry country towne in Eng, lande, moze oz leffe, but 3 fee no fucceffe of y god a lubolfome effatute, fith it is rather contempteously rejected then otherwise outifully kept. Some lay that our great numbers of lawes, whereby it is impossible for any man Dispensa- to ancyde they: transgression, is one great cause of our negligence in this behalfe. De Example ther affirme that the often alteration of our ordinaunces do bred this general cotempt of al goo lwas, which after Aristotle both feme to carre some reason withall. But very mas ny let not to laye, that facility in dispensation with them, and manifest breche of the same in the Superiours, are y greatest causes why the inferiours regarde no god oader, beyng alwayes ready to offende without any fuch facultic one way as they are to presume by en the crample of the higher powers and ther. But as in these thinges I have no skyl, to some withe that sewer licences sor the prinate commeditie, but of a fewe, were gramv tediathis they say, not that they denie peres cution of the prerogative royall, but woulde with all they, hearts that it might be made a gricuous effence, for any man by feed frendeship or otherwise, to procure oughtes of the Prince, who is not acquainted wyth the botome of the estate of common thinas) that may be premoiciall to the weale pubtike of his country. If it were requilite that I frould freake of the funday kinds of mowide, as y cleday or clay, whereof are fundry forts, red, blew, black & white: also the red or white fandy, the longe, rolelly, gravelly, chalky oz blacke: I could say that there are so many dis ners vames in Biptaine, as else where in as ny quarter of luke quantitie in & woold. Dows best this I must nædes cofesse that the sandy and cleday doe beare the greatest sway, but & clay moit of all, as hath bone, and pet is ale waies some and felt thosows plenty & dearth of come. For if this latter doe vælde hir full increase, then is there generall plenty, where as if it fayle then have we feartity, according to the olde rude berle, let downs afgugland, but to be uncerstanced of the whale Samor, as appreciate both confirme and a first of

When the fande doth fernethe clay, Then may we fing well away, and hatte

But when the clay doth ferue the fand

Then is it mery with England. might here intreate also of the famous Clailes. bales in Englance; of which one is called the Wale of white house, another of Coucham, noted to be tivelue of thirtiene miles in comp palle, the third of Ailelbyzy & goeth by Tame the rote of Chilterne hils, & foto Donikable, Pewport panell, Kony Stratford, Bucking. ham, Birtane parke, sc. And likewife of the fourth of Whithart, 02 Blackemoze, in Dozo fetthire, and also the Parthwood vale, but for, asmuch as I knowe not well their severall liv mites, I gine over to go any farder in their description at this time. In like lost it Mould not be amylke to speake of our fennes & other pleasant bottomes, which are not onely indu. Femes. ed with ercelient rquers + great Coze of fine fooder, for neat and hories in time of hypere, (inhereby they are erceding benificiall buts theirowners but also of no finall compasses quantity in ground: Foz some of our Fermes are well knowen to be enther 10,12,16,20, 92 30 miles in length, that of the Gyzwis, pet palling al the realt, which is ful 60. as I have often read. Kirally I might discourse in like Common order of the large commons, laide out hereto, fore by the Lordes of the layles for & benefite of such poze, as inhabite within & compasses of their manours, but as the tracatio of them belongethrather to the secondebake, so I meane not at thys present to seale wythall, referring the same wholly binto the due place whilest I go forwarde with the reast.

Of the generall constitution of the bodyes of the Brytames. Cap.14.

Those that are bredde in this Mande are men for the most part of a god complete ion, tall of fature, Grong in body, white of coulour, and thereto of great boldenesse and courage in b warres. For such hath beine the estimation of english souldiers from time to time-fince our Alle hath beine knowne buto the Romaines, that wherefocuer they have ferued in forcein countries, the chiefe brunts of service have beine reserved for them. Df their commesses and bloudy battailes wonne m Framce, Germanv, and Scotlande, our histories are full: and where they have being overcome, the victors themselves consessed their viaozies to have ben to dearely bought, that they woulde not gladly couete to ouers come often, after such difficult maner. An martiall proweife, there is little or no diffes rence betwene Englishmen and Scottes, foz albeit that the Scottes have beine often and very grievoully overcome by the force of our nation, it bath not beine for want of manhod on their partes, but through h mercy of God thewed on vs, and his infrice vpon them, fith . they allvaies have begun the quarcls and cffred bs mere injurie with great despite and crueltie. Leland noting somewhat of the cos Attution of our bodies, fageth these wordes, the Bzitaines are whote in coulcur, * ffrong of body, as people inhabiting neere the north, and farre from the Equinoctial line, where contrariewyle such as dwell towards the course of the sunne, are lesse of stature, wear ker of body, more fearfull by nature, blacker in coulour, and some so blacke in dede as a nye Crow oz Kauen, thus saveth he. Howbes it, as these mendoe come behinde bs in comfitution of bodie, so in Diegnancie of witte, nimblenelle of lymmes, and pollitike inventions, they generally ercede bs: notwithsfas ding that otherwise these giftes of theirs doe often degenerate, into mere subtilite, instabilitie, unfaithfulnesse and crueltie. We there ingenio foze dwelling nere the Posth, are commons ly taken by forcein Hystoriographers and o thers, to be men of great frength and little policie, much courage and small thift: & thus both Comineus burden bs after a fort in hvs history. But thanked be God, that all the wit of his countrymen coulde never compatte to doe so much in Bzitaine, as the strength and courage of our Englishmen, (not without great wisedome, and forecast) have brought to passe in Fraunce. Certes in accusing our wisedome in this sozte, he doth in mine opinion increase our commendation, for if it be a vertue to deale breightly with finglehelfe of minde: fincerely and plainly, without any fuspicious fetches in all our dealinges, then are our countrepmen to be accompted ver: tuous. But if it be a vice to coulour craftinede, subtile practiles, doublenesse and hollow behaviour, with a cloke of pollicie, amitie and wisedome, then are Conuncus and his contpanie to be reputed vicious. How thefe latter pointes take holde in Italy, I meane not to discusse, how they are daily practised in many places of the maine, and he accompted most wpse and politike, that can most of all dissemble, here is no place fuffly to determine: (neyther woulde I withe my countrymen to learne any such wisedome) but that a king of Fraunce, coulde sap, Qui nescit dissimulaie, nescit regnare, their owne tystozies are test monies lufficient. But to proceede with our purpole. With to some doe line an hundred yeares, very many buto fower score: as for the scoresit is taken but for our enteraunce into age, so that in Britain, no man is lavde to were old til he draw but othre score. These two are also noted in bs (as thinges appara tapping to the firme constitutions of our bos dies) that there hath not biene siene in any Region so many carcalles of the dead to remaine from time to time without corruption as in Britain: and that after death by flaughter of otherwise such as remaine unburied by foure or fine dancs togither are easie to be knowen and discerned by their friendes and hinred, wheras Tacitus and other complaine of lund: p nations, laying, that their bodies are tam fluidæ substantiæ, that within certaine houres the wife thall hardely knowe hir hulbande, the mother hir sonne, or one friende another, after their lives be ended. I might here adde somewhat also of the meane fature generally of our women, whose beautie commonly excédeth the fairest of those of the maine, their combines of person and god proportion of limmes, most of theirs p come ouer buto bs from beyonde the lea. I coulde make report likewyle of the naturall vices & vertues of all those y are borne within thys Allande, but as the tractation thereof craueth a better head then mine to let it forth, lo I will give place to other men, that lift to take the same in hand. Thus much therfore of the constitutions of our bodies, and so much map suffice.

F: 11.5

How Britayne grew at the first to be deuided into three portions. Chap. i.

A Fier the community of Brutus into this Illand (which was as you have red in the aforelayd treatize, about the vere of h world; 2840 02 1427 before hincarnation of Chilly he made a general survey of the whole Isad from woe to lide, by luch meanes to view and fearch out not onely the limites and boundes of his cominions, but also what commodities this new atchicued conquest might veld unto hos people. Further more finding out at the last also a covenable place wherein to erea a citie, he began there even f very same, which at this cap is called London, nampng it Tree mousiton, hi remembraunce of olde Trope, from whence has aunceffers proceeded, t for which the Romaines pronounced afterward Trinobantum, although the Welchmen doe call it Will Trenewith. This city was builded as some write, much about the tenth years of his raigne, to p he loved not above 15, peares after he had finified & same. But of & rest of hus other acce attempted and done, before or after the erection of this city, I finde no cers tayne repeat, more then that when he had raigned in this Illand after his arrivall by the space of 24 yeares, he finished his dayes ar Trenouanton afozefavde, verng in hys poung and flogishing age, where at his care case was honorably interred. As for the may ner of his death, I finde as vet no mention theref among such writers as are extant. I means whether it grew but ohim by defect of nature, or force of grievous woundes recept ued in hys warres against such as withstod him from tome to tyme in this Illande, and therefore I can lay nothing of that matter. Deremonth all agree, that burying the tyme of his languilying papies, he made a disposition of his whole kungdoine, demoing it into there partes or portions, according to the nue ber of his formes then living, whereof the olbelt eredebenst 28, peres of age, as my conteaure gineth me. To the eleck therefore, Accente. to have been medical Learning, he game the great ten and beli Region of all the reft, whiche of Largua. hom to this day is called Lhocgres among the Birtons, but in our language Englande. of fuch English Harons as made conquest of the same. This period also is included on the fouth with the 1821tille fea, on the east with the Cermaine Ocean, on the north with the Dumber, and en the heat with the Triff fea, and the thers Die and Hauerne, wheref in the governice implies of this Illand, I have house mere belarge. To Camber his fecod forme, he assigned alithat lytth beyonde the Saucen, and Dectowards the weat, whiche passel in these baves confesseth Southwales and (Lorthopales) with fender Alandes adfaccut to the same, the whole being in maner rut eland seperated from England of Loes grea by the law areames, wherby it femeth almon Pemulula, or a bre land, if vou refred the finally thy portion of ground that lyeth indifferently between their maine courses oz fuch branches of the least as run and fall into them. The Wielehmen or Beptons call it by the distriction name Will but this day, but for Englishmen corms it Wales, which des nonumeren we houe feom the Savons, who th time past civile the word Telaithe in such fort as we so desunge, for an we cal all those Braungers that are not of our nation, lo dyd thep name them Attalige which were not of Chin countrey. The third and last part of the unand. Inant be alletted unto Alvanaue hys point. ged teme for he bad but thie in all, as 3 have lave belege, whole portion famed for erreute cobe more large, then that of Cam-

ber, and in maner equall in greatnesse woth the dominions of Locrinus: But if pou have regard to the scuerall commodities that are to be reaped by eche, you shal find them to be not much viscrepaunt or differing one from another: for what so ever the first and second have in plenty of come, fine grade, and large catteli. This latter wanteth not in ercedyng fore of litherrich mettall-quarries of frone, and aboundaunce of wylde foule: so that si more opinion, there coulde not be a more es quall particion then this made by Bzute-and after the aforeland maner. This later parcel at the Arif, toke the name of Albanactus, who called it Albania. But now a small postion analy of the Region (beyng under the regio ment of a Duke) retepneth the layd denomination, the reast beying called Scotlande, of certapne Scottes that came over from Ires land to inhabite in those quarters. It is deub ved from Lorgres also by the Humber, so that Albania as Boute left it, confeyned all Bibania the next wart of the Alland that is to be foud beyond the aforeland streams, but the point of Cathenette. To conclude, Wzute hauving deviced his kingdome after this maner, and therin contempnatimfelse as it were worth the general title of the whole, it was not log after ere he ended his life, and being folemns ly interred at his new city by his thic chile densithey parted eche from other, and twke policilian of their provinces. But Scotland after the peres fell agaputate the handes of Locrinus as to the chiefe Lord, by the death of his brother Albanan, who was napne by Locrine Humberlyng of the keithies, and left none king alo thue behynde hym to succeede hym in that of Socie kvngcome.

That notwithstanding the former division made by Brute vnto his children, the fouereigntie of the whole Islande remained still to the prince of Lhoegres and his posteritie after him. Chap.xvj.

TI is possible that some of the Scottish nas I tion reading the former chapter will take offence with me for meaning & the principas litie of the Posth partes of this Ide, bath ab The wayes belonged to the kinges of Lhoegres. Scottes For whose more ample satisfaction in this alwayes behalfe, I will here let downs therfore a dif defirous course therofat large, suitten by others, and to shake d nowe finally brought into one Ercatife, sue che enging frient as I thinks to facility the cubication. ficient as Athinke to latisfie the reasonable, haucof although not halfe ynough peraouenture to ten made content a wangling minde, fith there is oz cruelland at the least while both beine nothing more of conjous at dious amon somether to heare the temptes of temptes of dious amog leme, then to heare that the king to do, but

How their Hilfoziographers have attempted to thape a confoured excuse to anappe so mas nifest a tytic, all men mave see that reade their bokes indifferently, whereunto I doe referre them. For my part there is little or nothing of mone herein, more then onely the collection of a number of fragmentes to gither, wherein chiefly I have bled the helpe of Nicholas Adams, who wrate thereof of fet purpose to king Coward the firt, as Leland dyd the lyke to king Henry the eyght, John Parding buto Edwarde the fourth, beside three other, whereof the first dedicated hys Treatise to Henry the fourth, the seconde to Cowarde the thirde, and the thirde to Edwarde the first, as their writinges pet ertant doe abundantly beare withese. The tytle also that Lelande giveth his boke, which I have had written with his owne hands, beginneth in this maner. These remembraunces follo-"iwing are found in Chronicles authorized re-" maining in divers nonafferies both in Eng-"tande and Scotlande, by which it is cuidents "ly knowen & thewed, that the kinges of England have had, and nowe ought to have the fourreignetie ourr Scotlande, with the hos mage and fealtie of the kings their reigning "from time to time. Perebuto you have heard " already what dividió Brute made of this Ff. lande not long before his death, wherofeche of his childre to some as he was enterred toke seisure and possession. Howbest after two peres it happened that Albanact was flavne, inherebpen Locrinus and Camber rayled their powers revenged his death, and finally the lavde Locrinus, made an entraunce byo Albania, sepred it into his owne handes (as er cheated wholly but himselfe.) Without yels bing any part therof buto his brother Camber; who made no clayme noz title buto any postion of the same. Derby then sayth Adams it cuidently appeareth that the entier feignio rie ouer Albania confisted in Locrinus, accuze ding to which examples who lawe among bres theen ener fince bath continued, in preferring the eldest brother to the onely henefite aftha rollaterall allencion from the youngest das fweil in Scotlandens in England unto this

Ebranke the lineall heire from the boois of this Locume, that is to fay the some of Wents pals, some of Padan, some of the same Los crine, buylded in Albania the caifle of Pays dens nowe called Coenbrough : and the Was file of Alcluith of Alclude; now called Dun batton, as the Scottish Ocaca Boethins cone fesseth: inherby it most eucently appeareth that our Ebzanke was then thereoffealed.

This Chanke reigned in the laide frate ouer the a long time, after whose death Albania as annered to the empire of the Uzitaine, descended to the onely king of Waitons, butill the differt to the two lifters sonnes, Worgan and Concdage, lincall heires from the layor Chranke, who brotherly oph the first crams ple deuided y realme. Pozga had Lhoegres, and Conedage had Albania but thertly after Mozganthe elder brother pondering in hus hed, the love to his brother with the love to a bingdome, excluded nature & gaue place to ambition, and therupo denouncing warredeath miserably ended hys life (as the rewarde of his untruth) whereby Conedage obs tayned the whole Empire of all Britaine, in which state he remayned during his naturall lyfe.

From him the same lineally reseemded to the onelyeiting of Britons, butili after the reigne of Gozbodian, who had iffue two long. Ferres, and Porres: This Porres require ring lyke divition of the lande, affirming the former particions to be rather of lawe their favour, was by the handes of his elderhios ther, both of his lyfe and hoped kingdome bes reued at once: whereupon their bunaturall mother bling hir natural malice, for the deth of hir one some, without regard of the losing of both, miserably sew the other.

Cloten by all writers aswell Scottishe as other, was the nert inheritour to the whole Empire, but lacking power (the only means in those dayes to obtayne right) he was contented to denide the same among thee of his kinimen, so that Scater had Albania. But after the death this Cloten his sonne Dunuals lo Mulmutius mace warre boon these their Kinges, and at last overcame them, and so res conserved the whole dominion, in taken of which vidozie, he caused himselfe to be crossned with a crowne of gold; the very first that was morne among the kinges of this nation. This Dunually creded temples, wherein the people thouse attemble for Apager, to which temples he gaue benefite of Sanduarie: he made the laup for inager of battaile, in cafes of murder and felonie, whereby a thefe that lyned and judde his art of fighting, choulde for his purgation light with the true mair, which he had robbed: but he belieucd that the Goodes (for then they supposed many) would by myzacle alligne victorie to the intocent partie. The privileges of which first lawe & beneate of the latter, alwell in Socotlande as in Englande, be enloyed to this day few caus. les by late politice lawes among be encepted, wherein the benefite of wager of bate taile is expelled; by which obedience to hus lawes, it outh manifelily appeare, that this Dunuallo was then scased of Albania nowe called Scotland: This Dunuallo refaned in this effate ouer them many reares. Beline t 132enne the somes of this Dunuallo, dyd afe ter they? fathers death, fauourably devide the land betweene them: so that Beline had Los ares, and 13 zerme had Albania: but for that this Brenne (a subject) without the consent of his elder brother and Lord, aducatured to marry with the caughter of the king of Denmarke: Beline feafed Albania into his owne handes, and thereuppon caused the notable waves privileged by Dunualisms Lawes to be newly tozonght by mens handes, which for the length was from the furder part of Cornewall, onto the the sea by North Cathe nes in Scotland: * for reliator in these daies, be counted minuters called Archellamines in their functions most like the analyzitie of Lithonyes at this cave, the one of which remamed at Chranks now called Porke, and whole power erteded to pottermost bonnes of Albany, whereby lykewise appeareth that it was then within his dominion. After his death the whole The was enjoyed by the one lve kings of 132 itaine, untill the tyme of Ais genius and Periducus lineall heires from the lande Beline who favourably made para fiction, to that Charenus had all the land from Dumber feuth, and Perpourus from thence Porthail Albama. This Algenius died, and torrourus furumed, and thereby obtaphed the abole from whome the fame quietly difephisocen statefled aif of any but, evened ly emojes, buto the retaine of bing. Coells of that name the first. In his tome an obscure nation by most writers in posed Southland, palled by leas from frele averand arrnied in that part of Britams called Albania:against whome this Coell affembled his power, and being entred Albania ic expell the, one fergus in the night dispuled, entered the tent of tins Coell, and in his bed traiter on hy delu him. This Kergus was therefore in reward of fuch vertue made there king, whereupon then fat deinite in that part, with their wines and children, and called it Scotlance, and themselves Scottes: from the beginning of the wegive, four ethensauve and sire hundred and fenentiene reares, which by wift compatacion and confession of all their vione supp ters, is fire hundred peares lacking tenne, after that Bruius had reigned over b whole Island, the same land being emoped by him and his policritic before their comming, dus ring two and fiftie discentes of the hinges of Wittame. Certes this intrusion into a land so many hundred veares before inhabited, and by so many discets of kings quietly enloyed. is the best tytle that all their owne writers alledge for them. This Fergus hercupo immediately did deupde Albania also amog his Cavitaines and their people: whereby it most cuivently appeareth that there were no people of that nation inhabiting there before, in paofe wherof, the same particion shall folloive.

The landes of Cathnes lying against D2k, Duta nav, betweene Dummelbey and the Water Hectors of Thane, was given buto one Coznath, a ca, thus his pitaine and his people. The lances betweene the Water of Thane and Nes, nowe called Rolle, lying in breath from Cromart to the mouth of the water of Lochte, were given to Lutorke, another Capitaine and his prople. The landes betweene Spav and Des, from the Almaine leas to the Ireland Beas, now called Hurray land, were giue to one War, roche and his people. The lande of Thalia now called Boyn Aynic, Bogewall, Bariot, Formartine, and Bowguhan, were given to one Thalis and his people. The landes of Warr Badezenoche, & Lochquhaber, were given to Partache and his people. The lands of Lome and Lintier, with the hilles & mountaynes thereof, lying from War to the Irelande leas, were given to Cavitaine Pos naunce and his people. The landes of Athole' were given to Atholus, another capitaine & his people. The landes of Strabzaun, and Brawdawanelying TCeft from Dunkell; were given to Creones and Epidithes two Capitagnes. The landes of Argile, were gis uen to Argathelus a Capitaine. The landes of Linnor & Cliviloale, were allotted to Lolgona a captaine. The landes of Siluria now called kile, Carrike and Cunyugham, were giuen to Silurche another Capitaine. The landes of Baigance nowe called Wallowate, were given to the compaignte called B26 gandes, which as their best menne, were appointed to dwell next the Bettons, who afters warde expulsed the Britons from Annandale in Albany, whereby it is confessed to be before inhabited by Britons. The relione of the lande now called Scotland, that is to fay: Defenis, Angus, Steremode, Gowap, Stras hern, pirth, fiffe, Striucling, Callender, Calderwode, Lougthian, Bers, Teuedale, with other the rement Dales, and the She rifosme, of Berwicke were then entoped by a nacion mingeled in marriage with 1826. tons, and in their obedience whole capitaine called Berynger, buyloed the calle stowne of Berwicke buon Timede, and thefe people were called Pictes, bypon whome by the death of this Coell, these Scottes had opoza funttle to ble warre, wherof they cealed not; butill fuch time as it pleased God to appoint an other Coil king of Bittos, against whose name albeit they hoped for a like victory to & first, vet he pieuapled and ceased not his war. untill these Scottes were utterly expulsed out of all the boundes of Bestagne, in which they never dared to reenter, briffl the trous blcsome raigne of Scicill sping of Britones. which was the rtiking after this Coil. Du rung all which trine the countrer was reenhabited by the Britons. But then the Seats furning the civil discord of this realme, betwene this Sycill and his brother Blede to their best auauntage, arrived agapne in Albania, there made one Reuther they king.

Tipon this their new arrivall, new warre was made byon them by this Sicill kying of Britons, in which warre Keuther their new kyng dyed, and Thereus lucceded agaput whom the warre of Britones cealed not, bis till he fræly submitted himselfe buto the said Sicill king of Battones at Chanke, that is Porke, where Mortly after the tenth years of his raigne he opeo. Frnnane brother of 300 fine succeded by their election to the kingdon of Scottes, who shortly after compelled by the warres of the same Sicill, declared hypital felfe subsect, and for the better affuraunce of his fauth and obeifaunce to the kung of 1821. tons, delivered his sonne Durstus into the handes of this Sicill: who fanteliping & child and hopping by his owne fuccession to alter their subtiltie (I will not say duplicitie) nias ried hym in the ende to Agalia hys sione daughtet.

This Durskus was their next kong, but for that he had maried a Britton woman, (thoughe the was a kynges daughter) the scots hated hym for the same cause for which they ought rather to have liked hym the better, and therfoze not onely traiteroully flewe hym:but further to occlare the ende of they? malice, dissenherited as much as in them was, the illues of the fame Durftus and A. galia. Pherupon new warre sprong betwene them and bs, which ceased not butill thep were contented to recepue Goete to thepz king, the nert in bloude then linging, difcens ded from Durftus and Agaffa, and thereby the bloud of Battons of the parte of the mo. ther, was restored to the crowne of Albania, so that nature whole law is immutable, caus fed this band of love to hold. For thortly after this Edeir attended upon Castibelane king of Britons, for the repulse of Iulius Cxfar, as their owne author Boetius confesseth. Witho comanded the same as his subted, but lulius Cæfar after his third arrival by treason of Androgens , prenapled against the Bile fons: and thereupon purfued this Goer into fcotland; and as hymfelfe fayth in his Coms mentaties, subdued all the Ide of Butagne: which, thoughe the linging Scottes denye it; their dead writers confesse that he came bes pond Callender wode; and cast downe Ca. melon, the principall city of Dichtes, and in taken of this victory not farre from Carron, builded a round Temple of Kone, which remapned in some perfection buto the raign of our king Cowarde called the first after the Congnest, by whome it was subnerted, but the monumet therofremapneth to thes day.

Warfus the fort of Arufragus, being king of all Britaine in his trine one Rodericke a Scythian, with a great rable of neop fouldiours, came to the water of Frithe in Scot. land, which is an arme of the fea, deutoping Dentland from Fiffe, against whome thes Marius assembled a power, by whiche he flew this Robericke, and disconnited his peos ple in Westmerland: but to those that remais ned in lyfe, he gave the countrey of Cathenes in Scotlande, which proueth it to be within bys owne bominion.

Coill the forme of this Barius, had fifue Lucius, counted the first chaistia king of this nacion: he converted the thie Archiamines of this land into Bilhopilkes, and orderned bilhops onto eche of them: the first remained at Wondon, and his power extended from the farthest part of Cornewall, to Humber was ter, the second remayned at Pozke, and hps power stretched from Humber to & farthest part of all Scotland. The third remapned at Caerleo bpo the river of Wilke in Blamoze gan in Males, and his power extended fro Severne thozough all Wales. Some witte that he made but two, sturned their names to Archbishops, the one to remapne at Canterbury, the other at Pozke: pet they confesse that he of Booke had jurisdiction through all Scotland, epther of which is fufficient to proue scotlad to be then but or his dominion.

Scuerus by birth a Romaine, but in bloud a Briton, and the lineall beire of the body of Androgius, son of Lud, and Pephwe of Cali fibelaine, was thortly after Emperour and king of Britons, in whole tyme the people to whom his aunceller Watius gave the land of Cathenes in Scotland, conspired with the Scottes and recepted them from the Illes into Scotland. But hereupon this Severus came into Scotland, and metyng with their farth and false hartes together, drove them all out of the mayne lande into Illes, the bte termost bondes of all great Bzitapne. But notwithstanding this glozious victory, the idations confidering their feruitude to the Lionames, in poled by treason of Androges us, aunceffer to this Denorus began to hate hom, who we yet they had no tyme to lone, s who in their defence and furcties had flapme of the Secrets and their confederates in one battaile errithousandes: but such was the coaderation of the common fort in those dayes, inholomalice no tyme could deminishe, noze that descrippeale.

F.j.

Antoninus Ballianus bozn of a 1521to woman and Ceta borne by a Romann woman, were, the sommes of this Severus, who after the. death of their father, by the contrary boyces at their people, contended for the crown. Few Writeries helde with Ballianus, fewer Roy mapnes with Osta: but the greater number with norther of noth. In the ende Octa was Capaciand Ballanus remapned Emperor; against belien Caransus revelled, who gave unto the Ocottes, Pichtes, and Southlans, the countrepor Carpenes in Scotland, which they alrest theirsed, wherey appeareth bys.

Curly deposit to blonde of anneignt. bingen of chiefairs, was shortly, after kping of the Bittons, whose onely baughter & heire called Deletie, was maried buto Conffagtis us a liemaine, who damied the reveiling of all partes of great Baltayne, and after the wath of this woil, was in bright of his luffe hong thereof, and raigned in his flate, oner, them in or ig reares.

Convantine the some of this Confiance, and thelen, was nert king of Britons by the regist of his mother, who passing to Rome, to receive the Compute thereof, deputed one Daamus ling of wales a Dulie of the Owife les subschsome expende to be afterwarde. railed well Fravous to bane the governemet. of this common. Wat abusing the kinges imporent gwonelle, thes Ocaulus defraus ded this trude, and twice oppose himselfe the Crowne, for which traptorpe aibeit he was once vanquilled by Leonine Traheron, uncle to Condantine: yet after the death of tips Traveren, he pienayled agayne and reigned our all Bellepgne. Constantine berng nowe Converent, sent to Harimius his hinfeman bether to destroy the same Detanins, whom in Engular battail discomfited Chautes delicrempon thes Harimus, after by the confent of great Conflatine, as by the shearen of all the hospions, for that he was, a Briton in Lieute, was made Ling of Properties. This searming made war byon the Scott ward Septhans unthmal Bape tengue, and er Med not butili he had flapne Cugentusch ve bing, expulsed and depuen them out of the lobole bounds of Miltepanes Finally he inhabited al Sections with 15261 tons no man, lugman nor child of the Scots tild natio, ludred to remain within it, which as they? Decroe Boecius faith, was for they? rebellion, a rebelifo properly could it not be, except they had beene subjectes. Be suffered the Dichtes also to remaine his subjects, who made folenme other to hym after meuer to crea any peculiar Ling of they roune natio. but to remaine buder the olde Empre - of the onely kyng of Bevrons.

About rlv. yeres after this beying long time after the death of this Warimius) with the heipe of Soman or Sonan and Welga, the Scottes neivly arrived in Albania, and there created one Fergus the lecond of that name to be their king. But because they were before banished the continent land, they crow, ned him kyng of their auenture in Argile, in the fatall chaire of Warble, the reare of our 402d, CECE. rruias they write.

. Warimian sonne of Leonine Traheron. bzother to kying Coil, and bucie to Belene, was by lineall faccession next hyng of Usais tons: But tappeale of malice of Dionothus king of Wiales, who also claimed hingdo, hemiaried Sthilia eldelf daughter of Dienoe thus, and afterward adembics a great polos er ofeszitons, and entered Albania, inuading: Galloway, Bers, Annandale, Pontlandes Capride, Lyll, and Coningham, and in bate faile flew both this Fergus then kying of Secties, and Duritus the king of Pichtes, seriled all their people, out of the continent land: wherepon the few number of Scottes then remaining on live, went to Argila, and made Eugenius their kyng.

Cothen this Harimian had thus obtequed quietnes in Bzitain, he departed to hys colin Cona Beridocke into Armozica, where they subdued the kyng, and depopulated the countrey, which he game to Conan his colin, to be afterward inhabited by Bettens, by the name of Britagne the lette: and hereof this realme twic name of Bittayne the greate, which name by confint of forceine writers, it kepeth buto this day.

After the death of Warimian, dissentie on beyong between the nobles of great 1821s tayne, the Scottes twarmed together again, and came to the wall of Abrian, where thys realme being benived in many factions, thep ouercame one. And hereupon their Peaoz Boetius, (as an home that for laying of one egge, will make a great cakelyng) folemnly triumphing of a conquest before the victory, alleageth that herebye the 152itous were made tributaries to the Scottes, and yet he ronfesseth that they wonne no moze land, by that supposed conquest, but the same poscion betwene them and Humber, which in the old partitions befoze, was annexed to Albania. At is hard to be beleved, that such a broken nacion as the Secttes at that tome were returning from banishment within foure peres before, and fince in battaile lefing both they? tinges, and the great number of thepz best men, to be thus able to make a conquest of great Britague, & very bulikely if they had coquered it, they woulde have left the whote funne of the Galk partes, to dwell in the cold fnow of Scotlad. Incredible it is, that if they had coquered it, they would not have deputed officers in it, as in cales of conquest behov ueth. And it is beyonde all beliefe, that great Witapne or any other countrey, Moulde be teon without the comming of any enimp intoit, as they did not, but tarjed at the same wall of Adrian. But what neede I speake of these defences, when the same Boetius scant= ly trusteth his owne beliefe in this tale. For he saveth that Galfride and sunder other aus tentike writers, divertive vary frothis part of his frozp, wherein his owne thought accufeth his conscience of butruth: Herein also, he further forgetting how it behaueth alver to be anymoefull of his affection in the fourth chapiter nert following, wholly bewraveth hymselfe-saving that the confederate kinges of Scottes and Pictes, byon civil warres between the Bzitons which then was folows yng, hoped therein to eniop all the lande of great Britapne, from bevond Fumber unto the fresh fea, which hope had bene bapne, and not leafe then borde, if it had bene their owne by any conquest before.

Constantine of little Britapne, descended from Conan king thereof, coline of Bzutes bloud to thes Parimian, this never hepic was nert king of Britapne, he immediately purfued the Scots with warres, & Chortly in battaile flue their kyng Dongard, in the first yeare of his raygne, whereby he recovered Scoflande out of their handes, and toke all the holdes thereof into hys owne custoeper

Clostiger thostly after obteined the crowne of Britagne, against subome the Scottes newly rebelled: for p repressing wherefimis trusting the Battons, to hate hom for fundam causes, as one that to anovo the smoke, ooth oft fall into ffire)recepued Dengell a Saro, and a greate number of his coutrimen, with whom sa few Bzitons, he entered scotland' and onercame them, where won they toke: the Ides, which are they common refuge. he gaue also much of Scotlande, as Gallon way, Pentland, Pers and Annandale, with funder other landes to thes Hengell and his people to inhabite, which they did according. lye. But when thus Hengelt in processe of tyme, thirsted after the whole Kingdome, he was banished, and pet afterwarde berng res Nozed, he conspired with the scottes against Auxilambzose the sonne of Constantine, the iult inheritour of this whole dominion. But his butruth and theirs both were recompens sed togither, for hie was taken prisoner by Eloulph de Samor a noble man of 152y, Some teyne, and his heade for his traitory, Ariken thinke the of at the comandement of Aurilambros. In Seymors the fielde the scottes were vanquished; but to come Data the sonne of Hengelt was received to from this mercye, to whome and his people this Auril, man by li= ambrose gaue the countrye of Galloway in neal dicet. scotlande, for which they became his Subiedes: And hereby appeareth that Scotland was then againe in his handes.

Ulter called also Pendragon, brother to Aurilambios was nert king of $ 152ifons, as gavnst whome, these sworne Sarons neine fozelwozne subjectes (confederate with the Scottes) newely revelled: but by his power assembled against the in Vallowav in Scotlande, they were discomfited, and Albania a. gaine recouered into his handes.

Arthur the sonne of this Ater begotten before the marriage, but lawfully borne, in mas trimony succeded nept to be crowne of great Britanne, whose noble aces, though manye vulgare fables have rather feigned, then commended: pet al the kottish writers cons felle, that he subdued great Butapne, a made ittributary to him, e ouercame the Sarous then scattered as farre as Cathenes in scotlandsand in all these warres against them, he had the feruice and obeyfance of fcottes and Pices. But at the last lettying their feete in the guilfult paths of their preoccessours, thep rebelled, t belieged the city of Poske, Howel king of the lette Britagne, cofin to king Ars thur; being therin. But he with an holfe came thither and evicomfited the Scottes, chas sed them into a marthe, and besieged their there lo log, that they were almost famished: untill the bilhoppes, Abbotes, and men of religion (for as much as thep were christened people) belought him to take the to his mercy and grace, and to graunt them a postion of the lame countrep to dwell in under eners lating subjection. Upporthis betwee them to hus grace, homage and fealtie: and when thep were swozne has subjectes and liegeme: he orderated his kinima Anguilan to be their king f governor. Urian king of Ilav, f Mus refrece king of Dakney. He made an Archbi hoppe of Posterallo, whole authoritie extens F.y.

bed through all Scotland.

Finally, the laid kying Arthur holding his royali feat at Cairleon, had there all his kings that were subjected but hym, among the which, Angustan the layd king of Scots did his due service for the realme of Scotlande, and have kying Arthurs swoode afore hym.

Halgo Chortly after succeded in the whole kingdo of great Britaine, who boon new rechtaunce, newly suboued Arcland, Alande, the Dichads, Porway & Denmarke, & made Ethelfrede a Baron king of Bernicia, that is, Porthumberland, Louthian, and much other land of Scotland, which Ethelfrede by the sword obtenned at the handes of the wilfull inhabitantes, and continued true subject to this Maigo.

Cadwan succeded in the hingdom of great 132stayne, who in defence of his subtedes the scottes, made warre beyon this Ethelfrede, but ar the last they agreed, and Cadwan by other rebellion gave all Scotland but othis Ethelfrede, which he therupon subdued and enioped: but afterward in the raigne of Cadwallo that nert succeded in great Bestaine, he rebelled, whereupon the same Cadwallo came into Scotland, and by on his treason reserved the country into his owne handes, and hanyng with hym all the Usecropes of Saros which then inhabited here as hys subsides, in singular battaile slew the same Esthelfrede.

Olwald was thortly after by Cadwallos gift made king of Bernicia, and he as subs ica to Cadwallo, and by his commaundemet discomfited the Scottes and Pictes, and subdued all Scotland. Miny the brother of thys Olwald, was by the lyke gift of Cadwallo, made nert king of Bermeia, and he by lyke commandement newely subdued the scots and Pices, and held them in that oberfaunce to this Cadwallo, during rediff. yeres. Thus Cadinalia reigned in the whole monarchy of great Benaphe, having all the by, bynges therof, as well Saros as others his lubieus: for albeit the number of Sarons from tyme to tyme greatly increased, pet were they als waves either at the art expelled, oz els made tributary to the onely kinges of Bzitons foz the trine being, as all their owne watters confesse.

Cadwallader was nert kyng of the whole great Witanne, he raigned ru, peres over al the kinges thereof, in great peace and transquilities then upon the lamentable death of hus subsenes, which over of sunday diseases innumerably he departed into lule Witaine. Us some and cosm Judicales pulsed out of england also by the Sarones, went into Wales, where among the Bzitos they and their posteritic remayned Pzinces. Apon this great alteracion, warres being through the whole dominion between Bzitons and Sarons, the Scottes thought tyme to slip the coller of obedience, and thereupon entred in league with Charles then kyng of Fraunce establishing it, in this wyse.

1. The intury of Englishmen done to any of these people, thall be perpetually holden common to both.

2. When Frenchmen be inuaded by Englishmen, the Scottes Hall send their army in defence of Fraunce, so that they be supported with mony and victuals of Fraunce.

3. When Scottes be muaded by English, men, the Frenchmen shall come byon they owne expences, to their support.

4. Pone of these people shall take peace or truce with Englishmen, without the adule of other.*c.

Many disputable opinions may be had of Nicholas warre, without the prayling of it, as onely Adams. admittible by infozced necellitie, and to be bled for peace lake onely, where here & Scots lought warre for the love of warre only. For their league giueth no benefite to theselues. either in fræ trafique of their owne commodities, or benefite of the French, or other, pri uiledge to the people of both: what discomos ditie rifeth by losing the entercourse and ers chage of our comodities (being in necessaries more aboundant then Fraunce,) & lects fele and we perfectly know. What ruine of they? townes, destruction of countries, slaughter of both peoples, have by reason of this bloudy league chaunced, the histories be lamentable to reade, & hogrible among chaiftian men to be remembred: but God gaue the increale according to their lede, for as they did hereby some diffention, so did they shortly after reape a bloudy flaughter. Foz Alpine they? king polletting a light mynde that would be lost with a little wynde, hoped by this league thostly to subdue all great Britisme, and to that ence not onely rebelled in his own king. dome, but also vsurped byon the hingdome of Pices, whereven Cowine king of england, made one Brudeus king of Pices, whom he fent into Scotiao with a great power, where in battail he toke this Alpine king of Scots priloner, and discomfited his people: and this Alpine being their king found subject and res bell, his hed was frike of at a place in Scotland, which thereof is to this day called Wafalpine, that is to say, the hed of Alpine. And this was the first effecte of they? Frenche league.

Dhaight king of england, with Ella hys subica,

The description of Britaine.

subject, and a great number of Britons and Sarons Gottly after, for that the Scots had of the lenes cleaced a new king, entred Scots land, and ceased not his warre against them, but if their king and people fled into the Fles, with whom at the last open their submission, peace was made in this wyse.

The water of Frith thalbe Parch between Scots and englishme in the east partes, and

, halbe named the scottish sea.

The water of Cluide to Dunbaiton, chal be " Parch in the well partes betwene the Scots , and Britones. This castle was before called Alcluide and now Dunbaiton, that is to fay, the castle of Britons. So the Britons had all the landes fro Sterlyng to the Ircland leas, and from the water of Frithe and Cluide, to Cumber, with all & frengthes and commos dities therof, and the englishmen had hlands betipene Sterlyng and Pozihumberlandel Thus was Cluide Parch, between scots and Britones on the one live, and the water of Frithe named the Scottish sea, Marche bei twene them and englishme on the other side, and Sterling common Barch to this peop ple, Britons, Englishmen, and Scottes, and king Dibzight had the Castle of Sterlyng. where first he cansed to be counce Sterlyng mony. The English me also builded a bridge of stone, for passage over the water of Frith, in the miodes wheref they made a crosse, but ber which were written these verses.

I am free March, as passengers may ken,

To Scottes, to Britons, and to Englishmen.

Pot many yeres after this, Hinguar & Habs ba, two Danes, with a great number of people arrived in Scotland, and slew Constant tine, whom Obright had before made kyng:
whereupon Coulfe or Ethelwusse then kyng of englad, assembled his power against Hinguar and Hubba, & in one battaile slue theat both, but such of their people as woulde remayne and become christians, he suffered to tary, the rest he banished or put to death &c.

nome. This Ethel will graunted the Peter pece; of which albeit Peter and Paule had little needs and letterlight: petite payment therof continued in this realm ever after but it now of late petes, but the Scottes ever lince but this day, have, and pet do pay it, by real on of that graunt, which project them to be then buter his overlaunce.

Alureded Alfrede succeded in the kyngbonie of England, and reigned nobly succ the whole monarchic of great Britagne: He made lawes, that persons excommunicated thould be disabled to sue or claying any propertie, which law Gregour whom this Alutede had made king of Scottes obeyed, and the same law as well in Scotland as in England is holden to this day, which also prove ueth hom to be high lood of Scotland.

Thys Alurede constreyned Gregour king of Scots also, to breake the league with Fraunce, for generally he concluded with him, and served him in all his warres, as well against Danes as others, not reserving or making any exception of the former league with Fraunce.

The layo Alurede, after the death of Gregour, had the lyke service and obeysaunce of Donald king of Scottes with five thousand horsemen, against one Gurmonde a Dane that then insessed the realme, and this Donald dived in this saith and obeisaunce with Alurede.

Coward the first of that name called Chifod some of this Alurede succeded nert kyng of englad, against whom Sithing a Dane & the Scottes conspired: but they were subdued, and Consant me their kyng brought to obersance. He held the realme of scotland also of kyng Cowarde, and thys doth Parian their owne country man a Scotte consesse: beside koger Houeden, & Willia of Malmesbury.

In the yere of our Lozd 923, the same king Coward was President and governor of all the people of England, Cumberland, Scots, Danes and Britones.

Ling Athelstane in like fort coquered fcots land, and as he lay in his tentes belide 1902ke whylest the warres lasted, the king of Scots favned homselfe to be a minstrel, and harped befoze him onely to elpp his ordinaunce & his veople. But beyng as their writers confelle-corrupted with money, he fold his fayth e falle hart together to the Danes, and apa ded them against king Athelstane at sondig times. Dowbeit he met wall their untruthes at Broningfield in the well countrey, as is mentioned in the 9. chapter of the first boke of thes vescription ; where he discomfited the Danes, and flew Malcolme deputie in that behalfe to the king of Scottes: in which battaile, the Scottes confesse themselves to have lost more people then were remembred in any age befoze. Then Athelfane folowing hus and lucke, went throughout all Cotland and wholy inbodes it and being in possession. therof, gave land there lying in Annadale by his deede, the copy wher of doth followe.

I kyng Athelstane, gives vnto Paulan, Oddam and Roddam, als good and als faire, as euer they mine were, and therto witnes Mauld my wyfe.

By which course wordes, not onely appear teth & plaine simplicatie of mens doinges in those dayes: but also a ful profe that he was F.ig. then then felico of Scotlande.

At the last also he recepued homage of Walcolme hing of Scottes, but for that he coulde not be restored to his whole kingdome, he en: tered into Keligion, and there hostely after

Then Athelifane foz his better affuraunce of that countrep there after, thought it best to have two aringes to the bowe of their obes dience, and therefore not onely econstituted one Halcoline to be their king, but also aps pointed one Indulph, some of Constantine the thirde, to be called prince of Scotlande, to whome he gave much of Scotlande: and for this, Palcolme did homage to Athelstane.

Comund bisthir of Athelifane succeded nerthing of Englande to whome this Indulph then kying of Scottes not only dyd homage, but also scrued him with ten thousand Scotces, for the expulsion of the Danes out of the realme of Englance.

Coxed or Clored, brother to thus Comund Comerce fucceeded nert hing of Englands, he not one ferre this the recepted the homage of Frise then king of Scottes, but also the homage of all the Barons of Scotlande.

Cogar the some of Comund, brother of As theiliane being nowe of full age, was next king of England: he reigned onely over the whole Monarchie of great Bittaine, and rerequed homage of kenethking of Scots for the kingdome of Scotlande, and made Walcolme prince thereof.

Thys Cogar gave buto the same Beneth the countrey of Louthian in Scotland, which was before fersed into the hands of Dibright king of England for their rebellion, as is before declared. De entoined this Lieneth their king also once in energy ere at certains prins cipall feaffes (whereat the king dyd vie to weare his crowne) to repaire onto him into Englance for the making of lawes, which in thole daies was done by f noble me or peres according to the order of France at this day, To thich end he allowed also lunder ledgings in England, to him this fuccessours, where at to lye exefrethe themselves in their jours neves, and finally a piece of ground lying befide the news palace of celefiminster, uppor which this lieneth burided a house, that by him and his posteritic was enioped untill the reigne of king henry the seconde, in whose tome byon the rebellio of William the king of Scottes, it was refuned into the king ef Englands handes. The house is decayed, but the grounde where it kode is called Scots lande to tins day.

Morconer Cogar made this lawe, that no man thouse succeede to his patrimente of inheritaunce holden by knightes feruice butill he accomplished the age of one and twentie yeares, bycause by intendement under that age, he thoulde not be able in person to serve hys king and countrey according to the tenour of his dede and the codition of his purchase. This lawe was recepted by the same Beneth in Scotlande, and aswell there as in Englande is observed to this day, which proueth also that Scotlande was then bnder hys

In the years of our Lozde 1974. Kinalde king of Scottes, & Walcolin king of Cums becland, Dacon king of Dan, and the Ides, Duucnall bing of fouthwales, Siferth and Dowell kings of the rest of walcs, Jacob oz James of Galloway, and Jukill of westmers lande, did homage to king Edgar at Cheffer. And on the mozow going by water to 6 mos naftery of f. Johns to feruice and returning home againe, b laid Edgar litting in a barge t fliering the fame open the water of De, made the layo kings to rowe y barge, laying that his successors might well be invefull to have thepserogative of fo great honour, and the superiority of so many mightie princes to be subject buto their monarchie.

Coward the sonne of this Edgar was nert king of Englande, in whose tyme this kes neth kyng of Scots caused Walcolme princs of Scotlande to be poploned, wherupon king Cowarde made warre agaynft him, which ceased not untill this keneth submitted himfelfe, and offered to receyue him for prince of Scotlande whome king Coward woulde appoint : herebpon Edwarde proclaymed one Palcolme to be prince of Scotlande, who immediately came into Englande and there dyd homage unto the same Ling Cowarde.

Ethelozed brother of thys Comarde fuce tedes nert ouer Englande, against whome Swayn kyng of Denmarke conspired with this last Palcolme then king of Scots: But thostly after this Palcolme forowfully fube mitted himself into the desence of Ethelozed, and 13 who confidering how that which coulde not be amended muft only be repented, benigne. lye recepued him, by helpe of whose service at last Ethelored reconcred hys realme as gaine out of the handes of Swayn, and reige ned ener the whole Ponarchy cyght & thirtie veares.

Comund farnamed Frontide forme of this Ethologed was nort king England, in whose tyme Canutus a Dane muaded the realms with much crucitic, but at last he marryed w Emme sometime wyfe unto Ethelvied and mother of this Comund: which Emme as arbitratric betweene hir natural love to the one and matrimonfall duetie to the other, procured such amitie betweene them in the enderthat Edmond was contented to devide the realme with Canutus, keeping to him felfe all England on this fide Dumber, gaue all the reast bevond Humber with the leigs notie of Scotlande to this Canutus: where byon Malcolme then king of Scottes after a little customable resistence, and homage to the same Canutus for kingdome of Scotlad, and thus the sappe Canutus helde the same over of this Comond king of Englande by the lyke feruices.

This Canutus in memorie of his victorie and glorie of his leignorie over the Scottes, commaunded this Malcolme their king, to buylde a Church in Buchquhan in Scotland (where a fielde betweene him and them was fought) to be dedicate to Olauus patrone of Porway and Denmark, which Church was by the same Malcolme accordingly perfour-

Edwards called the confessour sonne of Ethelozed and brother to Comond Ironlide was afterward king of england. He toke fro Walcolme king of Scottes his lyfe and hys kingdome, and made Palcolme sonne to the king of Cumbrelande and Porthumbreland king of Scottes, who dyd him homage and fealtie.

Thys Cowarde peruled the olde lawes of the realme, and somewhat added to some of them, as to the lawe of Cogar for the ward-Mippe of the landes butpll the heire Moulde. accomplishe the age of one & twentie yeares, he added that the marryage of such heire, Moulde also belong to the Lozde of whom the Came lande was holden.

Also that every woman marrying a fræ man, thoulde not with francing the had no children by that hulbande, enjoye the thirde part of his inheritaunce ouring hir lyfe, with many other lawes which the same Walcolme king of Scottes obeyed. And which aswel by them in Scotlande as by bs in Englande ber observed to this day, and directly prometh the whole to be then under his obeplaunce.

13p reason of this law Halcoline the some of Duncane next inheritour to the crowne. of Scotlande being within age, was by the nobles of Scotlande delivered as warde to the cultodie of this king Cowarde, during whose minozitie one Wakebeth a Scot trave teroully vlurped the crowne of Scotland law gainst whom this king Coward made warre in which the fato Bakebeth was overconic and flagne, wherepon plaid Malcolme was crowned king of Scottes at Stone, wither bit, pere of the reigne of this king Cowara.

Thys Malcoline by tenour of the lande ncine lawe of wardhip was marroed bito Margaret the daughter of Edward, some of Comond Frontide and Agatha, by the dispofition of the same king Coward, and at his ful age byo homage to this king Colvard for the kingdonte of Scotland.

Dozeover Edwarde of Englande, bauing no iffue of his body, and milituiting that Has rolde the sonne of Godwyn descended of the daughter of Parolde Paresote the Wane woulde blurve the crowne, if he thould leave it to his colin Cogar Coling (being the mith) in age) and partly by the peticion of his fubi teacs, who before had sworns never to receive any kings over them of the Danish nad tion, did by his lubitacial wil in writing as all our clergy writers affirme, devile the crown of great Britaine buto William then duke of Pormandie and to his heires constituting him his heire testamentarie. Also there was proximite in bloude betwene the for Emme daughter of Richarde duke of Pozmandve was wife buto Ethelozed on whom he begat Alured and this Coward: and this William was some of Robert, some of Kicharde, bros ther of the whole bloud to the same Emme? whereby appeareth that this William was heire by tytle and not by conquest, albeit that partly to extinguily the miltruit of other tofles and partely for the glory of hys bidory, he chalenged in the ende, the name of a conquerour; & hath bene so written ever sithens his arrivall.

This king William called the conquerour supposed not his conquest perfite, tyll he had lykewyle lubdued & Scots, wherfore to bring the Scottes to full oberfaunce after hys Co. ronation as heire telfamentary to Coward the Confessour, he entred Scotland, where after a litle resistance made by the Scottes. the sappe Walcolms then their king did how mage to hom at Abirnethy in Scotlande foz the kingdome of Scotlande, as to has twee riour also by meane of conquest.

Willpam lurnamed Kufus soine of thes William called the conquerour, succeeded next to the crowne of England, to whom the lande Walcolnic king of Scottes opolike hos mage for the kingdome of Scotland. But as terwarde he rebelled and was by this will liam Kufus lapne in the fielde, where won the Scottishmen byd chose one Donald oz Dunwal to bethep; kong. But this willia Rufus depoled from and created Dunkane forme of Malcoline to be they; king, who opo like homage to him: finally this Dunca was Ropne by the Scottes & Dunwall restored, who once agayne by this Wighliam Kufus was depoted, and Cogar forms of Palcolme spother to the last spalcolme, was by him made they; king, who dyd lyke homage for Sectionds to this Citiliam Rusus.

Henry called Beauclerke the son of Willliam, called the conquerour, after the death of his biether William Rusus, succeded to the crowne of England, to whome the same Cogar king of Scottes dyd homage so: Scotiand. This Henry Beauclerke married Nature the daughter of Nalcolme king of Scottes, and by hir had issue Namoe afters warde empiric Alexandse the some of Nalcolme biother to this Nawde, was next king of Scottes, he ded tyke homage so the kings dome of Scotlande to this demy the first.

Halve called the empressed daughter and heire to this Henry Beauclerke and Hawde hys wyfe, received homage of Daud brosther to hir and to this Alexandre nert king of Scottes, before all the temporall men of Englande for the kyngdome of Scotlande.

Thys Baivoe the empresse gave buto Danion the marriage, Bawo the baughter and here of Voldoins earle of Huntingdon & Porthumberlande. And herein their enation appeareth, by which they allege that their hinges homages were made for the earlest dome of Huntingdon: for this Danio was hinges homages was Earle of Huntingdon, which was since all the homages of their kinges before recited, and at the time of their kinges before recited, and at the time of their kinges before recited, and at the time of their kinges before was sing after the sayoe Action of the homage aforesayde to Henry Bewstierke.

In the peace of our Lorde 1136, and firste ; yeare of the reigne of king Stephen, the faid Danid king of Scottes, being required to voe his homage reluied it, for as much as he had done hamage to Bawde the emprelle befor tyme-notivithifamoing the some of the farde Damo dyd homage to ling Stephane. Chenry called Fitz emprice, the lon of Dalvothe empire daughter of Dawde, daughter of Balcoling lung of Scottes, was next king of Cuglans. De recepued homage for Scotland, of Palesime, some of Denry, some of the favo Daupo there last lang, which Palcoline after tin s bomage, attended, bponitic same king Denry in his warres against Lewis then hing of Fragmer : whereby appeareth fat local Frem beleague tons neuer remicd after the fair manife of their muntrephy Se bright long of Onglands. But after these learnes integed with it of semobetting this Calcoline bei cy again, in Dectlande rebels led: whereopolything Demonismediates the lenes thanking ion, and flos humbers land into hys owne handes by confication, made warres byon him in Scotland, turing which the same Palcolme dyed without issue of his bodic.

Milliam brother of thys Palcolme was nert kyng of Scottes, he with all the nobles of Scotland, (which could not be now for any carledome) did homage to the some of thys king Penry the second, with a reservation of the ducite to king Penry the seconde, hys father: also the earledome of Puntingdom was as ye have hearde before thys, forsaited by Palcolme his brother, and never after restored to the crowne of Scotlande:

Thys William king of Scottes, did after: wards attend by on the same king Henry the seconde in his warres in Pozmandie against the Frenche king, notwithstanding the p2 Frenche league, and then dys him homa ge for Scotlande, and thereupon was licent ed to depart home in Scotlande, where immies diately he moned cruell warre in Posthum berlance against the fame bing Henry being yet in Posmanop. But God twae the defence of king Henries parte, and delivered the same William kpng of Scottes into the handes of a fewe Englishmen, who brought him puloner to kyng Genry into Pozmane die, in the tenth yeare of hys reigne. But at the last at the suite of Dauld his brother, Rie charde Bishop of C. Andrewes and other 186 Hoppes and Lozdes, he was put to this fine for the amendement of his trespace, to pape tenne thousande pounde feerling, and to fue render all hys tytle of the carledome of Huns tingoo, Cumberland, and Coathumberland, into the hances of thes theng henry : which he did in all thinges accordingly, scaling bys charters therof with the great scale of Scots lande and fignettes of hys nobilitie, wherein it was also compuled that hee and his successours, thould hold the realme of Scotland of the king of Englands and his successours. for cuer. And herebyen he once again dyd hos mage to the same king Henry, which nows coulde not be for the earledome of Buntings don, the right wherof was alreadote by hymi furredied. And for the better affurace of this faith also, the Arengthes of Berwick, Edins brough, Korbzough and Striveling were des linered into the handes of our king Benry of Englance which their owne waiters cons fesse: but Hector Boetius fairth hat this tres passe was amended by fine of the entire thous lande poundes ferling, & that the earledoms of huntingdon, Cumberland, and Posthuins berlande were delinered as Philipage into the handes of king Henry until other tenne insulance poundes derling houl is beto him payd, but though that were true, yet prometh he not the that money was payde, nor the lande otherwise redemed, or ever after came to any Scottishe kinges handes. And thus it appeareth that the earledome of Huntingdó was never occasion of the homages of the Scottishe kinges to the kinges of Englande eyther before this tyme or after.

This was done 1175. Mozeover I red this note hercef gathered out of Robertus Montanus that inver in these and was as I take it cofessor to king Henry. The king of Scots dethhomage to king Henry for h kingdome of Scotlande and is fent home againe, hys Bithops also did promise to doe the lyke, to the Archebishoppe of Porke, and to acknow? ledge themselves to be of his province & invis dictio. By vertue also of this composition the Sapoe Robert savth, that Rex Anglia dabat henores, Episcopatus, Abbatias & alias dignitates in Scotia, vel saltem eius consilio dabantur, that is, the king of England gane . Hos nois, Bilhoppicks, Abbatelhips, & other dige nities in Scotland, or at the leastwyle they were not given without his advice and counts seil.

At this tyme Alexander bishop of Rome (supposed to have general incidencian exclessialized thorough Christendome) conferred the whole clergy of Scotland, according to the olde lawes, under the incidition of the Archbishop of Porks.

In the years of our Lord 185, in the month of August at: Cairlest. Roulands Talnants lord of Galway, did homage and fealty to the latd king Pénep with all that held of humber

In the 22 years of the raigns of hing horing the 2. Gilbert some of Ferguse prince of Galway, did homage and scattle to the sayo hing henry, and lest Dunctan his some in hostage so consecuation of peace.

Lichard surnamed Coeuride Lyon, some of this Henry Was nert king of england, to who the same William king of Scottes by thou mage at Caunterbury for the kyngdome of Scotland, and have the land

This king Richard was taken prisoner by the Dike of Direct, for whole redemptio the whole real melwas taxed at great summes of money, but othe which this William king of Scots (as a table it) was contributory, and paved two Pinarkes Berlying.

In the yere of our Loid 1139 John kying of england Arist to Aristiam king of Scotter to contex to his hound gow but would know the to Lincolic in the moneth of December the same years, and othis hounged their spons an hill his the pictoner of proort, Architliop of Caunterbury and of all the propiet their allembled, and there was knowne brouthe crosse of the said Hubert: Also be graunted by his charter confirmed, that he thould have the mariage of Alexander hys some, as hys liegeman, alwayes to hold of the hing of england: promising moreover that he the sayoe hing Williams his some Alexander should kepe and hold faith and allegeance to Henry some of the sayo king John, as to their chiese Lord against all maner of men.

Also where as William king of Scots had put John Bishoppe of Andzewe out of his Bishoppicke, Pope Clemente wrote to Henry kyng of englande, that he shoulde moue and induce the same William, and is niche were requize by hys Royall power compell hym to leave his rancour agaynst h sayd Bishop and suffer him to have, and occupye his sayde Bishoppicke agains.

In the yeare of our Lozde 1216, and five and twenty of hreign of king Henry, sonne to king John, the same king Henry and the Duéne were at Poske at hteast of Chaste masse for the solemnization of a marryage made in the scale of s. Stephane the Hartiv the same yeare, between Alexander king of Scottes, & Hargarete the kings daughter, and there the sayde Alexander dyd homage to Henry king of Englande.

In Buls of divers Popes were admonitions grue to the kings of Scottes, that they Hould observe a truly keepe all such appointments, as had ben made betweene the kings of england and Scotland. And that the kings of Scotland thould holde the realine of Scotlande of the kings of englande of the kings of englande of any interesting.

After the deathe of Alexander king of Scottes, Alexander his some being nyied peres of age, was by the lawes of Edgar, in wavde to hing henry the 3 and by the nobles of Scotland drought to pooke, and there delinered to him During whole minoritle hing henry growing Scotland, and to suddue a commercion in this realme, when died the appears with Scottspinen, but king henry eyed died the nowings of this Alexander, whereby he received not his homage, which by reason and are was respited but it he full age of rejeptates; and the sample of this pearest and the sample of the sample.

Edward the first after the conquest, some of this Demoplicas next knowled england in a moiately after subule resoliation. Alerader king of Scotten being thereof the age on how mage to that for Scottanos as well the fire, succeeding as all the educated after this maneric for a second and the educated after this maneric for a second and the educated after this king of England, the noble and superior lord of the kingdome of Scotland, and vnto you I make my tidelitie for the same kingdome, the which I hold and claime to hold of you. And I shall beare you my faith and fidelitie of lyfe and limme, and worldly honour against all me, faithfully I shall knowledge and shall doe you feruice due vnto you of the kingdom of Scotland aforefayde, as God me so helpe and these holy Euangelies. This Alexander king of Scottes died, leas ning one only daughter called Hargaret foz his heire, who before had maried Hanygo, some to Hagnus king of Norway, which daughter also Aportly after died, leaning one onely daughter her heire, of the age of two yeares, whose enstooy and mariage by the lawes of king Cogar, and Edward the cons fessour, belonged to Coward the first: where ppontic nobles of Scotland were commaus bed by our hing Coward to lend into Rose war to comer this rong Quane into England to him, whom he entended to have maris ed to his sone Coward; and so to have made a perfite union betweine bothe Realmes. Licreuppon their nobles at that tyme considering the same tranquillitie, that many of them have lithens refuled, stode not byon Wiftes and delaves of minoritie nor contept, but most gladly consented, and therupon sent two noble men of Scotlance into Pozway, for hir to be brought to this king Cowarde, but the died before their comming thither, z therefore they required nothing but to emove the lawful liberties that they had quietly pols seked withe last king Alexander his tyme. After the death of this Pargaret, the Scots were destitute of any heire to the crown from this Alexander their last king at which time this Cowards discended from the bodye of Malvoe daughter of Walcoline sometyme king of Scottes, being then in the greatest bioile of his warres with Fraunce, mynded not to take the podession of that kingdome in his own right, but was contented to establish Balfoll to be king therof, the weake title betwene him, Bzuse, & Hastings, being by the humble peticion of all the realme of Scots land committed to the determination of this king Coward, wherin by autentique writing they confessed the superioritie of the realine, to remaine in king Coward, scaled with the feales of titi. Withops bij. carles, and rij.bas rons of Scotland, & which Moztly after was by the whole affent of h the estates of Scot. land, in their solemne Parliament confessed and enaced accordingly, as most enfocutly both appears.

I.D.N.king of Scottes shalbe threand faith full wnto your orde E. by the grace of God

The 13 aliell in this wife made kying of Scotlad, did immediately make hys homage and fealin at Dewcastle boon faint Freuens day (as did likewise all the Lordes of Scotland, cobe one letting his hand to the compos fition in writing) to king Coward of Engs land for the kingdom of Scotland: but Morts ly after defrauding the benigne godnelle of this king Coward, he rebelled, and did very much hurt in englande: Hereupon king Coward innaded Scotland, leased into his hads the greater part of the countrep, and toke all the Arcnathes thereof, whereuppon Baliol king of Scottes came buto king Edwards at Mauntrolle in Scotland with a white wad in his hand, and there religned the crowne of Scotland, with all his right, title, and inter rest to the same, into the handes of this kyng Coward, and therfore made his Charter in waitung, dated and sealed the fourth yeare of his raigne. All the nobles and gentlemen of Scotlandeallo repayzed to Barwike, and did homage & fealtie to king Cowarde, there becoming his subjectes. For the better assurance of whose other also king Edward kept all the Arengths & holocs of Scotland in his owne handes, and hereupon all their lawes, processe, all sudgement, all giftes of assices and others, passed bnder the name and autoritie of king Cowarde. Lelande touchyng the same rehearsail, writeth thereof in this maner.

In the yere of our logo 1295, the same John king of Scottes, contrary to his faith and ale leageaunce, rebelled against king Coward. and came into england, and burnt and flew without all modely and mercy. Whereupon king Edwarde with a great holfe went to Newcassle bypon Tine, passed the water of Twede, and besieged Barwike, and gote it. Also he wan the castell of Dunbar, there were flaine at this bount 15700. Scots. There he proceded further, and gate the Tastle of Rokesbozow, and the castle of Coebozough, Striuclin and Gedworth, and his people here ried all the lande.

In the meane lealon, h layo king John of Socots confidering y he was not of power to wistand plaid king Edward sent his letters and belought him of treatie and peace, which king Coward benignly graunted, and fent to him againe that he thould come to the towns of Bzethin, and bzing thither the great lozds of Scotland to him. The king of england fet thither Antony Beke, bishop of Durha, with his royall power to conclude the faide treas tice: and there it was agreed that & laid John and all the Scottes thould ofterly submitte theselves to the kings will, a to the end glaid invmillio should be performed accordingly & king of Scottes laid his fonne in holfage and pleage. There also he made his letters sealed with the common seale of Scotland, by the which he knowledging his limplenes & great offence done to his losd king Coward of engs lande, by his full power & free will, yelded up all the lande of Scotland, with all the people & homage of the same. Then & said king Edz ward went forth to lie the mountaines, and understanding that all was in quiete and peace, he turned to habbey of Stone of Chas nons regular where he toke the from called the Regall of Scotland, bpo which the kings of Scotland were wont to litte-at the time of their cozonations for a throne, and lent it to the Abbey of Westminster, commaunding to make a chaire thereoffor the priestes that should sing masse at the high altare: which chaire was made, and frandeth yet there at

In the pere of our Lozd 1296, the king held his Warliament at Barwike: and there he twhe homage lingularly of all the lordes and nobles of Scotland. And for a perpetuall mes morp of the same they made their letters pas tentes lealed with their scales, a the the king of england made William Warreine carle of Surrey and Southfare, Lord Warden of Scotland, Bugh of Crestingham treasozer, and William Demelby inffice of Scotland, and forthwith fent king John to the tower of Longon, and John Compn, and the earle Wadenauth, the erle of Wohan & other lozdes into england to divers places on this lyde of the Trent.

- And after that in the perc of our load, 1297 at the feast of Chairmas, the kying called beforehim the favo John king of Scottes, al though he had committed hom to warde and faide that he would burne or destrop their ca-Hels, townes a landes, if he were not recompented for hys colles & damages fulfamed in the warres, but king John & the other that were in warde, auniwered that they had no thing, lith their lives, their deathes, and goods were in his handes. The king opon that aim fiver moder with pity, graunted them they ipnes, to that they would doe their homage's make their othe folemaly at the high altarcin the church of the Abbey of Wiedminder) by pon the Euchariff, that they and enery of the Hould holdenno kepe true tapth, obedience, and allegiaunce to the faid king Coward and his heires kinges of englande for ever. And whore the fair king of Scots law the kinges barner of england displayer; he and all bys thould draw there unto. And that newther he not any of his from thenceforth hould beare arnies against the king of england or any of his blond. Finally, the king rewarding with great giftes the land king John & his loides, suffered them to departe. But they went into Scotland alway imagining (notwithstading this their fubmissio) how they might oppresse king Coward and diffurbe his realme. The Scottes sent also to the king of Fraunce for fuccour and helpe, who fent them thippes to Barwike furnished with men of armes, the king of england then being in Flaunders.

An the yeare of our lozd 1298, the king wet into Scotland with a great holf and b Scots also assembled in great number, but the king faught with them at Fawkirke on S. Parp Magdalenes dave, where were lapne ir. M. Scots, and William Walleys that was their captagne fled, who beging taken afters ward, was hanged, drawen, and quartered at London.

After this the Scottes rebelled agayne, and all plozdes of Scotland chose Robert Bzuis to be king, except only John Compnearle of Carrike, who would not confent thereto be cause of his othe made to beking of england. Wherefore Robert Bruis: * flewe hym at Dumfrife, and the same Robert Bruis was This was crowned at Schone Abhapi. Herenpon the done, won king of england affembled a great hoffes and the 19. of tiode thorough allivicotiand, and discomfited Jan. 1306. Robert Bins and flue bin . D. Scottes and twice the most part of all the loodes of Scott lande, putting the tempozall lorges to death because they were foze swozne.

Edward bozne at Carnaruan sonne of this Edward, was nert hing of England, who fro the beginning of his reigne enioped Scotlad peaceably, dwing in all thinges as is aboug lapde of king Edwarde his fathet, butili to warde the latterende of his reigne, about which time thys Robert Banks conspired as gainst him e with the helpe of a few forsworn Socottes fortwore himleife king of Scottes. Hereupon this Edward with Thomas earle of:Lancaster and many other Lords made warre upo him about the feat of Mary mage district the large Brufe and bys partakers being atreasy accurled by the Hove for break king the truce that be havelfablished betwirt the Rent being infortunate in his fielf waters against himsbe suffered Cowards the forme Batiol to proclaime himself king of Scottes, and neverthelesse beloe forth his warres as gayna Brule, before the ending of which he dyed, as weade. I said suit a co

Colvarde borne at Minologe sofing of Co. ward b fecomo was nert king of england at $ age of lifteene yeares, in whole minozitie the Scots placifed with Habell mother to this Cowards and with Roger Postymer carle of the warch to have their homages released, subole good will therin they obtained, so that for the same release they thouse pay to thus king Coward thirtie thousand poundes fferting in the veares next following, that is to Tay, tenne thousand pounds sterling yearsly. 13ut bicause the nobilitie 4 commons of this realing woulde not by parliament consent onto it their king being within age, the same release proceded not, albeit the Scottes ceas sed not their practices with thus Quiene and Carle. But before those three peres in which their money (if ý bargaine hao taken place) houlde have beine paved were exspired, our king Cowarde innaded Scotlands and cear sed not the warre untill Danio the sonne of Robert le Bruse then by their election king of scotlance absolutelye submytted hymselfe onto hom. But for that the savoe Dauid Brule had before by practle of the Autene and the Carle of Warche, marryed Jane the filter of this bing Coward the moned by naturall zeale to his lifter, was contented to gue the realine of scotlande to this Dauld Brule, to the heires that Moulde be begot ten of the body of the lapte Jane (laufing the reversion and means homages to this king Colvarde and to his owne children) where: with the same David Bruse was right well contented, and therebpon immediately made his homage for scotlande onto him. Dolobeit Charlly after causelesse conceps ming can'e of dispicature, this Danid procured to disoluc this same estate taily, and there been not onely revelled in feotlance, but als fo muated englance, whylest king Courarce was occu, you about his warres in France. But this Danio was not onely expelied engtād in thend, but also thinking no place a suffis tient defence to his untrueth-of his olone are coade fled out of feotlad: whereby the contreis of Innandale, Gollaway, Wars, Tempale, Dwedale, and Chuke were fealed into the hing of englandes handes, and new Warches fet betwerne englande and feotland at Coche burnes pathe and Sountry hedge, which whe this Dauto wet about to recouer againe, his power was discomated, and himself by a few englishmen taken and brought into englande where he remayned peploner cleuen yeres.

During this tyme, hing Coluarde em toned Secotlande peaceably, and then at the contemplacion and wery fute of his forows full fifter topfe of this Dauid, be was contentedonce agains to reflose him to the kingdome of Scotlande, wherebyon it was concluded, that for this rebellion Danid Goulde pape to king Coward the somme of one himbeed thousands markes feering, and therein destroy all his holdes and fortrestes standing agapust the english borders, a further assure the crowne of scotland to the children of this kung Coward for lacke of heire of his owne bodye, all which thinges he opd accordingly. And for the better affurance of his obeilance also, he afterward delivered into the hads of king Coward sunday noble men of scotlad in this behalf as his pleages. And this is the effect of the hilfogy of Dauld, touching his deas lings: now let be see what was done by Co. warde Bailfoll whereof our Chronicles doe make report as followeth.

In y yere of our load 1326. Coward y third hing of england was crowned at Westmin. ther, and in the spere of his reigne Edward Bailiol right heire to p kingdome of scotlad came in z claymed it as due to him. Sunday loides and gentlemen also, which had title to divers landes there, either by themselves, 02 by their wines oid flike, wherupo the layoe Bailfel & they went into scotland by sea, and landing at Kinghorne with 3000. English men, discomfited 10000. Scottes, and fleive 1200. and the went forth to Dunfermeline. where the foots affembled against them with 40000. men, and in the feath of f. Laurence. at a place called Gastmore (or otherwpse Cladmoze) were flaine v. Erles, rig. Baros, a hundred and them score knightes, two sp. men of armes, and many other, in all rl. D. and there were saine on the english part but riu persons only.

In the eight pere of the raign of kong Co. ward, he affembled a great hoste and came to Warwike vpon Tweede, claid liege thereto To him also came Coward Bailfol king of fcots, wa great power to frength & aide him against the scottes who came out of scotland in foure battailes well armed and araged.

Edwards hyng of england, and Edwards king of scottes, apparelled their people either of them in feure battailes: and bppon Das lidon hyll, beside Barwike, nict these two holtes, and there were discomfitted of & scots; rrv. D. and by. C. whereof were layne big. erles, a thousand and thee hundred knightes and gentlemen. This vidozy done, the kyng returned to Barwike, and the towne wyth the callell were pelved up unto him.

In the cyght years of the reigns of hing Coward of englande, Coward Bailfol hyng of scottes came to pewcastell byon time and brd homage.

In the peare of our Lorde 1346. Danto Bruys by erhortacion of the king of France rebelled, and came into england with a great hose onto Acmiles crosse: But the Archbis thoppe of parke with divers temporall men, fought whim and the laid king of leats was take, and William earle Duglas & Dozrift carle of Strathome were brought to Londo, e many other Lozds flavne, which with Dauid byd homage to Coward king of england.

And in the thirtie pere of the kings reigne, and the veare of our Lorde 1366, the scottes warme the towne of Barwicke, but not the Caifell. Dereupon the king came thither w a great hoste, and anone the towne was viels den without any relistance.

Edwarde Baikol, considering that God byd so many marneylous & gracious thinges for kyng Edwarde, at his owne will gave by the crowne and the realme of scotland to king Edwarde of england at Rokesbozough, by his letters patents.

And anon after the king of england, in prefence of all his Lozdes spirituall and temporall, let crewne himselfe kyng there of the realme of scotiande, and ordanned all thinges to hys intent, and so came oner in englande.

Kicharde the sonne of Edward, called the blacke prince, some of this kyng Coward, was next king of Englande, who for that the larde Jane, the wofe of the larde king Daupd of Scotland was deceased without issue. and being enformed how the Scottes deviled to their uttermost power to breake the limitacion of this inheritance touching & crowne of scotland, made forthwith war against the, wherin he beent Coebzough, spopled all their countrep, twke all their holdes, and maintais ned continually warre against them buto his beath, which was Anno domi. M.CCC. xcix.

Henry the fourth of that name was nere kyng of englande, he continued these warres begun against them by king Kichard, & ceassed not butyll Robert king of scots (the third of hame) religned hys crowne by appoints ment of this kyng Henry, and delivered hys some James beyng then of the age of nyne peares, into his handes to remayne at his cufodie, wardhip and disposition, as of his sui persour Lord, according to the olde lawes of king Colvarde the confessour. All this was done Anno dom. M. CCCC.iiij. which was within fine years after the beath of kying Richarde: This Henry thefourth reigned in this state over them fourctiene years.

Henry the fift of that name sonne to thus king Henry the fourth was nert king of eng. land. He made warres against & french king, in all which this James then king of scottes attended byon him as byon his superioz lozd, with a convenient number of scots, notwith franding their league with fraunce. But this Henry reigned but nine yeares, whereby the homage of this Zames their king (having not fully accomplished the age of one and twentye yeares) was by reason and lawe respited. Finallye the layd James with opuers other lordes attended byon the corpes of the layde faide Henry buto Westminiter, as to his du: tie appertapned.

Henry the firt, the some of this Henry the fift, was next king of englande to whome the leignozie of lcotlande and cultodpe of thes James by right lawe and reason discended, married the same James king of scottes to Jane daughter of John earle of Sommerset. at L. Warp over Me in southwarke, and toke for the value of thes marryage, the fuming of one hundzeth thousand markes sterling.

This James king of scottes at his full age, did homage to the same king Henry the firt, for the kingdome of scotland at TApno, loze, in the moneth of January.

Since which tyme but the dayes of king Henry the leaventh, graundfather to our for uereigne lozd that now is, albeit this realme hath beene molested with diversitie of titles, in which brunkte tyme neither laive noz reafon admit prescription to the presudice of any tyght: yet did king Cowarde the fourth ners king of englande by preparation of warre as gainst the scottes in the latter ends of hus reigne, sufficiently by al lawes induce to the continuaunce of his claime to the same super riozitie ouer them.

After whole death, but the beginning of the reigns of our fouereigne loade king Henry the eight, exceded not the number of prot peares, about which tyme the impediment of our clayme of the scottes part, chaunced by the nonage of James their last king, which to continued the space of one & twentie peres. And like as his minozitie was by all law and reason an impediment to himself to make how mage, to was the fame by like reals an impediment to pking of this realme to demanable any, so that the whole time of intermission of our claime in the time of the layoe king Hen: ry the egght, is deduced buto the number of thirteene peres, thus much for this matter.

Of the wall sometime buylded for a particion betweene Englande and the Pictes. Cap.17.

Auing hitherto discoursed byon the title Tof the kings of england, but o the scottilly kingdome. I have nowe thought god to adde bereunto the description of the wall that was in times past, a limite buto both the sayde regions,'s therefore to be touched in this first boke as generally apperteinent unto the e-frate, of the whole Zaande. The first author and beginner therefore of this wall was Haditane the emperour, who Dias wal as Elius Spartianus fayth, erected the same of foure seeze miles in length, to demoe the bar; barous 13eptons from the moze civile foet, which the were generally called by the name of isomaines.

After hystyme Senerus the emperour con ming againe into this Ide, (where he had fer, ned before in repression of the tumultes here begun-after h death of Lucius) amongst other thinges he anished the wall that Padziane had beguine and extended it even buto the the weit sea, that early went no farder then foure feore niples, from the east part of the Decan, as I have noted already. It is woz. the presumation that in thes borage he lost good amen in the foottilh live, by one occas fish and other, which hinderaunce soincenled him that he determined offerlye to ertin: guily their memory from buder heaven, and had labone in dedealf his life had indured but builli another peare. Sextus Aurelius wie ting of Seacrus, addeth holve that the percell noting of the wall, which was left by Padriane, and Artistics to this prince, conferred two e this aime but the miles, whereby the breath of this Illand mons out there, and length of the wall conteyneth onlye 112. miles, as maye be gathered by hys wartes, but chiefly for the length of the wall Spartianus loho touchting by it among of ther thinges fairth of Severus as followeth, Brittaman quod maximum eius imperij decus est, nono per transuersam insulam ducto.

vtring, ad fine Oceanimuniuit, that is, he for tided Systalic (tubich is one of the chiefe acts recorded of his time) with a wall made ouer.

thwart the 30c, that reached on both fides es

nen to the very Decan. The fluide. That this wal of fione also, the rulnes there of the wal of which have ministred much matter to such as dwell nere therunto in their bullolinges is trialismicient. Ocreby in lyke sorte it comtheth to palle, that where the foile about it is least inhabited there is most mention of the favor wall, which was wroughte of squareo flore, as victo this pav may enidently be confirmed. Dowbeit this Wall was not the one, the partition between thefe two kingdomes, fith lulius Capitolinus in vita Antonini Pil berh write of another that Lollius Vrbicus did maire bevond the same, of Turffe, which ne, northelesse was often theoven dolune by the ther wells, wortes and eftiones repavied againe witill is was genen over and relinquished altoge. thre. The like minute wal both beine fæne al. to be distributed about an arrow that from that of done but how favre it went, as yet & cannot finde, this onely remayneth certaine. that the wall made by Padrian and Severus was disched with a notable disch, and a ram, A rame pire made theron in such wife, that the scot, tith adversary had much adde to enter & scale the same in his affaults. Betwirt Thirlewal, and the Porthe Tine, are also in the waste groundes, manye parcelles of that walle pet franding, wherofthe common people doe babble many thinges. Beginning therefore The conwith the course thereof, from the well lea, I of the w finds that it runneth fro Bolnelle to Burgh, from In about foure miles, and likewife from thence to east. within halfe a mile of Caerleil, and lette on the north lide, and beneath the confluence of the Peder and the Eden, From hence it ao: eth to Terreby a village about a myle from Caerleil, then thosow the Barronp of Linfrocke, and Gillelland, on the north fide of the river Irding or Arding a a quarter of a mile from the Abbey of Levercoft. Then 3, moles above Levercoff, and above the confinence of Arding, and the Pultrole becke (which deuts deth Gillelland in Cumberlande, from fouth Tindale in Porthüberland) it goeth to Thirls wall castle, the to the Wall towns nert of all ouer the river to Swentheld, Carraw (ver. aduenture Cairuozen) tower, to Wallwic. and so over south Tine, to Cockely tower. Portgate, Halton Geles, Wincheffer, Rutthester, Heddon, Walhottle, Denton, and to Pewcastle, where it is thought that C. Pichor las churche standeth on the same. Powbeit, Leland farth, that it goeth within a mple of Pewcalile, and the croketh op toward Tin. mouth buto Mailesende, so called because the aforciaid wall did ende at the same place. And thus much I read of the Piaith wal. As for the Komaine corne that is often found in the course thereof, the curious brickes about the same nere onto Carleil, beside the excels lent Cornellines and other coffipe fromes als ready entailled for Seales oftentymes take bp in those quarters, I pade the over as not incidet to my purpole. In like maner I wold gladly also have set downe the course of Di facs ditch: but forasmuch as p tracatio there of is not to be referred to this place, because it is not athing generall to his whole Illand, I omitte to speake of that also. Bet thus much will I notehere by the reporte of one (who faith how he did tread it out) that he followed it from the Die to Lyanaburgh bill thosow Treuelach forrest, by cast af Crekith, Cauch hil, Wountgomery caffle, the new caffle and Discoid, a having brought it hitherto, either lost it, 02 fought after it no further, 4 fo much of such thinges as concerne the generall es nate of the whole Anand.

The fecand Booke, of the liv forkall defeription of Britaine; comming thefend Hechapters followingan at all and it detail Chairle ાગું છે છે છે છે. 1: Of rivers and waters 7: Of Attes & towness that lose their names & Of castels & holdes. before chericome: at 9. Of pallaces beloging the feator fifth fehole to the prince. of the between the Thanks ro, Of the manner of and Samerite of the bug bug being and furnit 2. Of sachrivers as fall: ture of our houles. empo the apenter afore 41. Of faxres and mara mentioned betweene kees. Sauerire, & the Hum- 12. Of homour & munition. 3. Of those that fall in- 13. Of the nauv of Ento the mayne rivers, glande; betwene Humberand 14. Of Bathes & hote the Thames. Welles. 4. Of the particion of 15. Of parkes and war-

त होते हुन्ताकत व्यक्ति वीत्राप्त

Englandemto shyres rens. . 16. Of wooddes & maand counties. 5. Of the number of rifes.

Byshopricks in Eng- 17 Of antiquities foud lander 18. Of the man 6. Of our Muserfities. of England. 18. Of the marueyless

Of ryuers and waters that lose their names before they come at the feat 1000 1 ntiantinida Cap. r.

Paue in the former Treatile mado report of most of the greatest rinefering men are very well acquains ted not only by reason of their notable istars unto the Deca, but also for the ofte herborow a pallage, which they have by diners of them; farre by into the countrey. Nowe therefore will A proceede, with the description of such as are yet in parte untouched, and whereby the chanels and courses of the first are not a little intreased. In tradation whereof I will not omitte to reiterate the description of those maine twers, that are not already perfitely let downe, nepther the infertion of such as earld I had no knowledge of. And as I first beganne with the Thames in that boke . lo will I nowe make mine entrannce with fuch rivers as fall into the same, not letting any one cleape, wherin a man in the TA inter feas fon may wet hys horse fote by but the foter lockes,

How and where this river issueth out of the grounde, I have before fet downe, noting the place to be within a myle of Tetbury, where of some doe utterly midilie, by cause that roll in fortmer drowthes is oft so drie, that there is litle or no water at all fiene running in the lame. For this cause therefore many afterne the very head of Ilis to come from the pole about Kemblo. Other confounds it with the head of the Crene or Chrine, railed in latine Community at rifety above Coherley. And my part Afollowe belander as he doeth the Monke of Malmelbury, that we ate the imfor rie entituled Enlogium historigrum who fears theothe fame offet purpole, and pronounced with Lelandes although that at this prefent that course be hery final sand thoked by as A doe here with movides. Prosporting there fore from the hed; it first of oil recepueth the Kemble water called the Louis which refeth Couns. abone Kemble towns, goeth, by Lemble it felfe buto poir and Somerford, E accompanveth h. Thames, buto Canes, Alhto Canes e Howlis, butil they meete with the Chiragi the nert of allito be described. The Chrone is a faire water, tyling out of Corinius the groundelaboue Coverier From whence it runneth to Cowley, Cowlesburne, Range come, and to into the Iss on the left side of boue Enckelage. These there waters beyong thus brited a brought into me changli, will in a little space of the brad of Has, it runneth. by Erebelade beneath which towns it regent neth the Adjes descending from Cloombes We Whe. fcot, Redurve Wildhil, and at the fall into Alis or not farre of jouneth with another that runneth west of Pourton by Brade sorrest. La Pert of all our His meteth with the Amney, on the left hande : which comming from as bout Holly root Amney runneth by Downe Amney, and finally into the This althe abone Alcy. An lyke faxte I reade of another that meeteth withall on the right hand abone Ifep also, which so farre as I can rail to remema beaunces commeth from about Deputelo and falleth fo into our 30s, that thay summassione untill they come at the Coine3: although not so nakedly and without help, but that in this boyage , the maine freams doth cross one water that descendeth from Dwindon a noz ing allo by Stratton toward Seuinghamis it felfe increased with two riles by the war. whereaf one commeth from Liddenton by Manibrey; as I have bone informed. And anni

The Coincis a fayze river byting by north: Coincius. nére to Estitchington, and from thence go eth to Shiptons, Compton Abdale, Witten, ton, Parneworth, Coincormes, and Coinc Rogers, Winton, Byberry, Colne Alens, Duenington, Faireford, antowelf of Lachee lade into the river His; which bereavout an the fonthfive also taketh in another, wheref Ifinde this remembraunce .: The Ilis being duce pair Soutingham, croffeth a broke from foutheast that mounteth about Ashebyry and recepuing a tyll from by welf, (that commeth from Innton) beneath Shineham, it afterward so democth it selfe, that the armes therofineline Jugletham, and by reason that it falleth into the Ifis at two scuerall places; there is a pleasant Allande producted, where of let thys luffile.

The

Beyng past Lechelade a mile; st runneth to S.Johns bridge, a thereabout meteth woth h Loche, on the left hande. This broke where of Lechlade taketh the name (a towne where bnto one pice of an olde University is ascribed, which it dod neuer possesse, moze then Crekelade did the other) ryseth east of Haps net, fro whence it goeth to Porthlech, Cite, ton, Anicsworth, cast Leche, south Thorpe, Farendon and so into the Isis. From hence thys famous water goeth by Lickot toward Radcote bridge, (taking in the rill that rifeth in an eede piece of Barkelhyre, and runneth by Langford) t being past h said bridge, (now notable thosowca conspiracye, made there sometimes by sundaye Barons against the ,estate) it is not long earc it crosse two other waters, both of the descending from another pode varcell of the faide countie, whereof I hane this note gruen me for my further information. There are two falles of water into Ilis, beneath Radcote bridge, whereof the one commeth from Shilton, in Barkeshire by Arescote, blacke Burton and Clarrefield. The other also riseth in the same piece and runneth by Bailenozton buto Bampton, and there recepuping an armelet from the first that break of at Blackeburton, it is not long cre they fall into Ilis, and leave a pretye 3, land. After these confluences, the main course of the streame, hasteth by Shifford to Octo. bridge, where it ionneth with the Winrush.

The Winruch ryleth aboue Shreburne, in Clocellershyze, fro whence it goeth to Winruft, and comming by Barringto, Burfozo, Windschiff, Swinbook castel, Witney, Duce kington, Cockthorpe, Stanlake, it meteth with the Jus well by fouth of Porthmore. From bence it goeth beneath Stanto, Bar, tingcourt and Cusham, betweene which and Tuwerus Callenton, it recepueth as Lelande callethit the Bmerne water.

It releth about Limington, and going to Porton in the Warthe, and thorows a patche of Worcester thire unto Cuenlode, betwene it and the foure theze stones, it taketh in a rill called Come-comming by the Long and the little Comptons. After this also it goeth by Beadwell, Doington, and so to Bleddenton, abone which towne, it taketh in the Rolriche water, that issueth at two heades, in hhiles that lie by well of little Rolriche, and forme Rolliche about Kenkeham, and Church hill. From thèce also it goeth buto Bruerne, Shipto bu derlood, Afcot, Short hamton, Chorlebury. Cornebury parke, Stonfielde, Longcombe. and fouth cast of Wilodstocke parke, taketh in eng. the Enix, that rifeth aboue Emitone, and goeth to Epodington, Clymton, Wotton (wher it is increased with a rill (that runneth the ther fro Steple Barton, by the Bechin tre) Woodfocke, Blaydon, lo that after this confluence-the lavde Enps runneth to Callento and so into the Isis, which goeth fro bence to Deforde, and there receiveth the Charwell. now presently to be described. Charmell |

The heave of Tharwell is in northampton those, where it roleth out of a little pole, by Charleton village, scauen miles aboue Banberye northeast, and there it issueth so fast at the berpe lurge, that it groweth into a pretpe Arcame, in maner out of hand. Some after al Bure. foit taketh in taketh in a rillet called & Bure, Culen, Which falleth into it, about Dimere five but fozalmuch as it releth by Bincester, f whole course thereof is aboue foure myles, and therefoze cannot be great. A friende of mone violeculting the realt of this description reposteth thereof as followeth.

Befoze the Charwell commeth into Drfozde Thyze, it receineth the Culen, which falleth into the same, a lyttle aboue Edgecote, s so ops ceding toward Telardington, it mætetb with another comming from by northwest, betwenc Wardington & Cropredy. At Banburge also it meteth with the Come (which Come. falleth from Fenny Coton by Farnebozo. and afterwards going by kings Sutton, not farre from Apne, it receiveth the discharge of dpucts ryllettes, in one bottome befoze it come at Clifton. The lapoe water therefore ingendeed of so many beokelettes, consistetb chiefly of two, whereof the most southerly called Dke , commeth from Dke Pozton , bp Dcus. Witchington oz Wiggington, and the Bers folds, and carping a few blind rilles withal, doth mete with the other that falleth from by northwest into the same, within a myle of Charwell. That other as I confedure, is increased of this waters, whereof eache one guo. hath his severall name, the first of them ther, fore, height Tudo, which comming betweene Epwell and the Lee by Toddington, sopneth about 152 oughton with the seconds that runneth from Dorneto, named Ornus, as 3 gelle. Dims." The last falleth into the Tude 02 Tudelake. beneath Broughton and for that it rifeth not Sothioks far from Sottefwei in Warwijchpze, some Sousrus.

broke. The next water that meeteth with our Charwell beneath Clifton commeth from a. bout Cronghton, and after this is the Solvar oz Swere, that rifeth north of Dichael Tew, e runneth by nether Wotton. The last of all is the rep alias Bure, whose hed is not farre abone Burceffer, alias Binceffer, & Burnce, fer : 4 fco whence it goeth by Bureceffer to Merton, Charleton, Fencote, Addington, Poke, Ilip, and fointo Charwell, that hole beth on hys course after this augmentation of the waters, between Mode and Mater Cton, to Warlion, and the cast bridge of Dr. ford by Magdalene colledge, and lo beneath the fouthbringe into our aforelayd Ilis.

England Wherea=

dowat.

In describing this equer, this one thing right honourable is come buto my mynde, touchyng the centre and nauell as it were of England. Certes, there is an hilly plotte of egiodet of ground in Beiledon parache, not farre from Danbery, where a man may frand & behold the heds of their notable rpuers, whose was ters, and those of such as fall into them, do a boundantly serve the greatest parte of Engs land on this five of the Humber: the first of these waters is the Charwel, already described. The fecond is the Lome that goeth well. ward into the fourth Audit: anothe third is the head of the Prone of fift Anon it felfe, of whole courses there is no Carde but doth make fufficient mention, and therefore your bonour may behold in the lame how they bo coast the country, and also measure by compalles bow this plot lyeth in respect of all the rest, contrary to common subgement, which maketh Posthampton to be the midle of our countrep. But to go forward with my description of the Duze, which beyng pall Orford goeth to Ifly Lennington, panforde, Kod, lepe, Dewnham, and so to Abington, with out increase, where it recepteth the Debe, or therwyle called the Coche, a little beneth . . Helenes, which runneth thither of two brockets as I take it, whereof one cometh from Compton, out of the vale and well of the bill of the White bosle, the other from Linges Letcombe and Mantage in Barkshire, and in one chanell entreth into the lame, boothe right lide of his courle. From Abington like wyle (taking the Arun withall fourhwest of Sutto courtney) it goeth by Applefoed, long Wittenbam Clifton Wittenbam the leffe. and beneth Dozchester, taketh in the Tame water, from whence the Ilis inseth the pres heminence of the whole denomination of this ryder, and is contented to imparte the fame with the Tame, so that by the confunction of thefe two waters, Thamelis is produced, & that name continued even buto the lea.

Thame reuer refeth in the cafferly partes Thams. of Chilterne hils, towards Penley parke, at a towne called Tring well of the laide park, which is by, mples from the from bridge, that is between Querendon and Aplesburge (after the course of the water) as Lclao hath fet downe. Running therfoze by long Berlio and Buttenham, Hucket and Bearton, it res cepueth some after a Kyll that commeth by Duerendon from Bardwicke, and ere long an other on the other live that rifeth about TAphdouer in the Chilterne, and pallying by Halton, Weston, Turrill, Broughton, and Apletbury, it falleth into the Tame, west of the faud towns except my memory doe faile me. From this conductee, then the Tame goeth by Ethozpe, the Minchingtons, Coo. dington, Cherfley, Potley Abbey, and commyng almost to Tame, it recepueth one was ter from southeast about the sayd towne, and another also from the same quarter beneath the towne, so that Tame Kanveth environed bponthe fides, with the fenerall waters, as may be cally sene. The first of these comp meth from the Chilterne east of Below or Bledlow, from whence it goeth to Hinton Pollenden, Kingley, Towley, and lo into the Tame. The other descendeth also from the . Chilterne and going by Chinner, Crowell, Siddendam and Tame parke, it falleth in the eminto Tame water, and then they procede together as one, by Shabbington, Ky, cote parke, Deacote, Waterffoke, Milton, Cuddeldon, and Chileiton. Here also it tax keth in another water from by east, whose hed commeth from Chilterne hils, not farre from Stocking church, in the way from Dr. ford to London. From whence it rumeth to Weston (and materng beneth Curham with Mailington roll) it goeth on to Chalgrane, Stadbam, and fo into the Thame. Fro hence our Arrame of Thame runneth to Rewento, Diaton, Dozcheffer (sometyme a Bythops ferand a noble city) and fo into the Thames, which hafteth in lyke forte to Benfington, Blanius. Crownarthe of Wallingford, where if recepueth the Blace descenoung from Blaues bing now Blewberp as I learn. Thus have a brought the Thames: prito Wallingfeade, situate in the vale of white bosie that runeth a long thering. Fro hece it goeth by Bewenham, Pozthitoke Southitoke Bozing, Bal filden, Pangburne, where it meteth with a water that commeth from about Hamfieds Porces, rumeth by Fenetham, Bucklebue rp, Stanford, Bradfeld, Comarth, & Pange burne. After which consume it goeth on betwene Papledozham and Burley to Cauer, ham, and Cauerham manour, and a little W. j. beneath

Brun,

Ocus.

bzokc,

are of the opinion, that it is to be called Sot beneath recepueth the kienet that commeth therintofrom Acadyng.

The Lienet ryfeth aboue Querton, v.o. vj. myles well of Marlebozow, oz Marlingfvo. row as some call it, and then going by fip, feld, Clatford, Maulon, and Prethute, bnto Barlebury, it holdeth on in lyke oader to Ramibury, and northwest of little Cote,tas both in a water by north descending from h hils aboue Alburne chase, west of Alburne town. Thence it runeth to little cote, Charns ham firete, and beneth Charnham frete,it croffeth the Bedwin, which (taking & Chalk, Bedwine, burn ril withal) cometh fro great Bedwine, at Hugerfozo also, two other in one botom somewhat beneth the towns. From hence it goeth to Auington, Linbury, Hamffed mar-Hall, Cuburne, Dewbery, and beneath thys Loniburne towne, taketh in the Lamburne water that cometh by Albiry, Egerston, the Sheffords, Welfford, Boxford, Donington Castle, and Shaw. From Pembery it goeth to Thatcha, Wolhampton, Albermasson, a little aboue which village, it recevueth the Alburne, an Albania . other broke increased w lunday rilles, & thus going en to Padworth, Dffon, and Michael, it commeth at last to Readyng, where as I lavo it is north with the Thames, and so they go forward as one by Sonning to Shiplake, and there on the east side recepue the Lod, > fouth, as by his course appeareth. The Loddon ryleth in Hamshire betweene west Shirburne, and Wotton, towarde the fouthwest, afterwards tiredyng his course toward the northwest, thorowe the vine, it passeth at the last by Beamley, and those wa ricce of Whitthire to Stradfield, Swallows field, Arberfield, Leddon bziege, leaupng a vatch of Wiltshire on the right hande, as I have bene informed. This Loddon not farre from Turges towne, recepueth two waters menebotome, whereof the westerip called Zalingwater, commeth from Balingstoke. and therew a parke buto the aforesaid place. The other descendeth of two heds, from Da. pledour well, and goeth by Showes Power ham Rotherluge, and ere it come at Wartly, cornecth with the Baling water, from whece they goe together to Turges, where they merte with the Loddon, as Thauc lavd aire. by. The next streame toward the south is called Ditford broke. It roleth not farre from Upton gorth by Cruell and beneath Wha: rubataw cattle-reconnects the Ikell compag from a parke of the same denomination) (ro tobeses they go together by Dadomgley bus to Electorately, and fo into the Loddon. In this copage allo, the Loddon materb with > don'that commeth downe thither from the

The Seconde Booke the Clwy of Clucy that commeth from Als beribare, not farre by well of Eucriley; and about Cluctham, likewyfe with another coming from Dogmansfield, named & Donke, Ducis. and also the third not inferior to the rest, ro, nyng from Erin, whose head is in Surrey, Eryn. and goyng by Athe, becommetha limite, first betwene Surrey & Danishire, then betwene Hamilire and Barkelhire, and pallying by Athe, Crynicy, blackewater, Derley, Finchamited, it is neth at last with the Ditfoza, befoze it come at Swalowfield. Ao concluse therfoze with our Loddon, haupng received all these waters, and after the last confluence with the now beyng come to Loddon bridge, it passeth on by a part of Willifire to Twiforce, then to Margrave, and so into the Thames that now is merueilously increas fed and grown but triple greatnesse to that it was at Orfoed. Being therfore past Ships with lake and Margrave, it runneth by Hogles penden oz Psrdyng, then to Penley bpon Thames, where sometyme a great rill vopocth it selfe in the same. Then to Kemeham, Greneland (goyng all this way from Ship. lake full north, and now furning callwards agavne) by Dedenham, Hurley, Bytham, Marlow the greater, Parlow the lefte, it me, tith with a banke some after that consisteth with. of the water of two rilles, whereof the one called the Merryseth about west Wickham out of one of the Chiltern hils, and goeth fro thence to east Wilickham oz high Wlickham, a prety market towne. The other named Higden, descendeth also from those mouns Bladen. taynes, but a myle beneath west Wickham, and forning both in one at place in the west ende of eastwickham town, they go togyther to Moburn, Wedloz, and so into h Thames. Some call it the Tide and that word do I vie in my former treatile, but to procede. After this confluence, our Thames goeth on by Cotokham, Toplcy, Maydenhead (alias Sude lington) Bzay, Dozney, Clure, new Mind, loze, (taking in neuerthelesse, at Caton by $ way, the Burne which rifeth out of a Moze. and commeth thither by Burneham) olde Minosoz, Mzaybozow, and a little by eat therof, both croffe the Tole, whereof I kinde this thost description ensugng.

The Cole riseth nere onto Flamsted, fro Colus, alias whence it goeth to Redburn, S. Pighels, S. grere and Aibons, Aloeham, Watford, and so by Bore Wertume to Richemansworth where there is a confiv ence of the waters, of which this Cole, is the first. The second called Gadus rifeth not Gadus. farre from Alberidge, an house oz pallace bes longing to the prince. From whence it runneth to great Cadociden, idemsted betwene kinges Langley, and Abbots Langley, then to Hanters, and Caspew bringes, and so to Richmansworth, recepting by the way a ril commyng from Albury by northweit, to Porthehurch, Barachamffed, and beneath Hemificde toyning with the same. The last commethin at northwest from abone Chea tham, by Chefham it felfe, then by Chefham Boys, Latimers, Mawdlens, Chepnies, Sarret and latchemantivothe, and lo go: ing on all in one Chanell, bnoer the name of Cole, it runeth to Arbatoge, where it taketh in the Millemoen water, from northwell, which riting about Diffenden the greater, goeth by Pissenden the leste, Hagmonde, fham (now Pammertha) the Mache, Challa hunt Gyles, Chalfhmit S. Peters, Denham, and then into the Cole aboue Urbzioge as I fayd. Some after this our Cole both parte it selfe into two braunches, neuer to ioyne as gayne befoze they come at the Thames, for the greater of them goeth thosow the goody medawes freight to Colbzoke, the other bru to two milics, a mple and a halfe east of Coli broke in the way to London, leauping an I. flance between them of no small size and ેશન વિભાગ હો છે છે. તે હૈંદ સ quantitie.

Being past the Cole, we come to the fal of the Mindeles, which rifeth by northwest ners unto Bagthot, fro whence & goeth to Wine pletim, Chobbam, and medyng kuyth a Wicocket comming wellward from Willey's they fun together toward. Cherteley, where when they have met with a limali rill rilyug north of Sonnyng hill in Windelour great parke, it falleth into the Thames on prosth east sive of Cherteley. Then we were come beyonde this water, it was not long ere we same onto another on the lame live, that felt into the Thames betwene Sbepperton or the one lide, and Dieland on the other, and is called the Wlave.

The Weie as the Waye riling by welf. co. meth from Diffed, and some after taking the Bedley broke with all (which rifeth in Whale mere forcell, and goeth by Bedley & Frens tham) hafteth by Bentley, Farnham, Alton, Mapheriep, Ciffed, and so to Bepper Bar. row, where it is purch with the Churchy thursiby. water, which commethnot farre of from a village of the fance denomination . Axom hence also it goeth to Godalmyng, and then toward Shawford, but ere it come there, it croffeth Trauly becke, which rifing some where about proge of Suller Host of Kidges wyc,gosth by Machery parke, knott, Crau: ly, Bramley, Wonarthe, fo into the Wlay, From bence then our epuer goeth to Shawe ford (and some after meeting with the Abbins ger water that commeth by Shere, Albiry, Abbinger. and the chappell on the hill) it procedeth to Guldesozd, thence to Stoke, Sutton in the parke, Send, Wokpig, and at Pelvarks parke live, takethin a bawke that ryleth of two heds, whereof one doth spring betwene two hils north of Pepper harrow, and forus neth thosow Penley parke, the other about Burbzight, and afterward topnyng in one, they go forth buto Bewarke, and being there united, after the confluence it goeth to Durfoed court, to Byder, Wayfrede, Dteland, and so into the Thames.

Fro Dtelanathe Thames goeth by Wal: Molis. ton, Sunbury, well Boulley, Hampton, and ereit come at Pampton courte on the north side, and east Moulsey on the other, it taketh in the Boule water, which grueth name bus to the two townes that Cande on eche lide of the place, where it falleth into our Greame. It ryleth in Moed forrest, & going by Bur, thow, it meteth afterward with another gul. let, conteyning a small course from two feuerall heds, whereof one is also in the forrest afozenamed, the other runeth from Bebush wode, and comming by Ifelo, meeteth with the first about Postey, and so run on in one chanell, I say till they to yne with the Monle, water, whereof I spake befoze. After this confinence, in lyke loste, it is not long ere the Moule take in another from by Posth, which commeth from about Welham on the one fide, and another on the other runnyng by Doley and Capell, and whereinto also a begunch of rill commeth from a wood on the northwelf part. If inally, beyng thus encrease sed with these many rilles, it goeth by east Bechewoath, well Bechewoath, and oner as gaynt the Swalow on the fide of Deake hil, taking in another that commeth thither fro Motton by Darkyng and Pilton, it runeth to Mickleham, Letherhed, Stoke, Cobham, Afhire parke, each Moulley, and so into the Thames, which after this confunction goeth on to Bington, and there also meteth wyth another beck, rifing at Ewell fouth of Ponweb. Certes, this rill goeth from Ewell by & cipe parke, then to Spauldon, and fo to lking. Con towne. The Thames in lyke maner bea yng pat Kingston, goeth by Tuddington, Peteriham, Ewickenham, Kichmond, and where, where it recepueth a water on the northwest side, which commung from about Harrow on the bill, and by well of the lame, goeth by Payes, Parlington, Felthan, and Thistleworth into the Thames.

The nert fall of water is at Sign, nere but to new Brainford, so that it issueth into the Brank. Thames betwengthem both. This water is Ø.t.

Vindeles.

kinges

called Brane, that is in the Brittish tong (as Leland faith a frogge. It rifeth about Edge: worth, and commeth from thence by Laingels birp, Ewifeed, Periuall, Panwell, and Auferlev. Thence we followed our river to old Bzetford, Mortlach, Cheswic, Barnelmes, Fulham and Butney, beneth which townes it crossed a becke from Wandleswooth, that rpsethat Wadmans turne, and gopng by Calibalton, meteth another comming from Cropbon by Bedington, and so goping on to Mitcham, Parton Abbey & Wanole (worth, it is not long ere it fall into the Thames. Mariburn Pert onto this is the Warpburne rill en the other side, which commeth in by Saynt Zames, so that by this tyme we have cyther brought the Chames, or the Chames con uciqued vs to London, where we rested for a season to take viewe of the severall tydes there, of which ech one differeth fro other, by 24.minuts, that is 48.in an whole day, as A have noted afore, except the wether alter the. Beeng past London, and in the way toward the sea: the first water that it meteth with al, is on Bent fide, well of Grenewich, whose hed is in Bromicy partiff, and goping from thence to Lewigain, it taketh in a water fro by eact, a fo directh hys courle forth right onto the Thames.

The nert water that it mæteth withall, is on Eller floe, almost agapnst Wolwiche, and that is the La, whole hed rifeth thorte of Remoton in Hertfordhire, 4. mples fouth east of Luton, and gopng thosowe a piece of Bzokehall park (leaning WH wohall park, ori the north, and Watheld on the fouth, with art other park adiopning) it goeth toward Harte ford towne, wut ere it come ther, it receineth Marran, a water (peraduenture the Marran) rifing at northwell in Brodewater bundzed fro az bone Welwin, northeast of Digeswell, go. ing to Vartingfeld bury, wher the laid codu. ence is within one mile of the towne. Weneth Datheld also it recepueth the Beane (as 3 actic) commyng from Borwood by Bening. ton Aufon, Watton, and Stapleford, and a little lower, the third arme of increase from abour Ware, which velceveth fro two heds: whereof the greatest commeth from Barkes war in Committer hundred, the other from Sandon in Dedeley bundred, and after they be met benethlittle Domemeade, thep goe togither by Bulcherchurche, oz Buckriche. Stonden, Thunderpoge, Watelmill, Bens gho and so into the Lie, which from bence runneth on toll it come at Wlare, and so to Amwell, where on the neath ade it receiveth the water that commeth from little Wadba, thorow a piece of Singlefhall parke, then by great Hadham, and lo from Midfozd to the aforelance towns. From hence also they go as one to olde Stanffede called le veil, braunchung in such wple ere it come there. that it runneth those we the towns in funday places. Thence it geeth fozih to Abbots Sta. sted, beneath which it meteth wpih the Stoure, west as 3 remember, of Ropdon. This Sture riseth at Wenden lotes, from Sturus. whence it goeth to Langley, Clauerpna, Berden Manhuden, & Byzcheanger (where it recepueth a roll commong from Ellingha Stanffed Bountfitchet.) Thence it hpeth on to bishoppes Stourford, Sabrichworth, and beneath this town, croffeth with another fro the cast side of Elsingham, that goeth to Hatfield Brodock, Shirping, Harlo, and fo into the Stoure, and from whence they goe togither to Eliwyc, Parmedon, and nert in to the L. Thele thinges beyng thus perfozmed the Læ runneth on beneth Hoddesdon, Borburne, Womley, where a water breat keth out by west of the maine streame, a mile lower then Wasimely it selfe, but yet within the paroche, and is called Wlozmeley locke. It runneth also by Cheston Punry, and out of this a little beneath the lavde house, breas keth an arme called the Shirelake , bicaufe it devideth Califere and Hartford Chines in funder, and in the length of one medow called frither, this lake runeth not but at areat foodes, and méteth againe with a lucroz of ditchwater at a place called Hockeldich, bail a mple from his first breakping out, and half myle lower at Parth point, ionneth agapne with the arcame from whence it came befoze. Thence commeth the first arme to S: Spaulp bridge (the first bridge westward bpo that rouer) boven Waltham causer, and balfe a myle lower then Wauly bridge at the corner of Kamney meade, it meeteth with the kinges Greame, and principal course of Lup or Le as it is commonly called. The fecond principall arme breaketh out of the kynges freame at Hallyfielde halfe a myle lower then Cheston Bunnery, and so to the fullyng mill and two bridges by well of the kynges Arcame, whereinto it falleth about a Aones caft tower at a place calico Walkinsthelf, er, cept I was wrong informed. Cheffon and Parfordhire men lap, do lay that the kings Areame at Waltham, doth part Bartford. thire and Effer, but the Effer men by forrest charter do plead their liberties to holde buto S.Maulies brioge. On the cast side also of & kinges Areanie breaketh out but one princis pallarme at Valifield, this quarters of a mple about Waltham, and so goeth to the come myll in Waltham, and then tob kings

Arcame agagne, a little beneath the kynges bringe. From hence the Le runneth orftill it conte to Stretforde Langthorne, where it beauncheth partly of it selfe, and partly by mans industry for mils. Howbeit herein the dealing of Altrede Cometyme king of Eng. land, was not of smallest force, who under: standing the Danes to be gotten by with their thips into the countrep, there to kil and flay, by the conduct of this rouer: he in the meane tyme before they could returne, dyd so mightely weaken the mayne chanell by drawing great numbers of trenches from the same, that when they purposed to come back, there was nothing so much water left as the thips dod draw, wherfore being ict on ground, they were some fired, and the aduer, faries ouercome. Finally beyng patt Weff. ham, it is notiong ere it fal into hancs. Due thong I read moze of this river befoze the conquest, that is, how Edward the first, & forme of Alfrede, builded Hartford towne be pon it, in the yeare of grace 912, at which tyme also had Wittham a town in Esser in hande as hys lifter called Aciflede reprips red Orford and London, and all this 4 peres before the buildong of Waldon. But concede nging our remer it is noted jithat he damided Hertford of Herupford between 3. waters, that is, the Lee, the Benefully and Memoras ran, but how these waters are distinguished in these dapes, as pet I commottell. It is pos fible, that the Bene may be the same which commeth by Beningto, and Bengho, which if it be to then mult the Memmarran be the fame that descendeth from Wibitwel, for not farre from thence is Branneld which might in tyme past right well be called Martani field, for of tyke invertion of names 3 coulde them many cramples. A tarter.

-Beyng past the Lie (whose chanell is bea gun to be purged 1576. with further hove in bring the lame to the north fide of Hondon's ine come but o the Robon, whom Effer fide in lube maner-and not perpetatre (for miles is the most) from the fall of the Lee. This water existly at wlittle Canfielde, from whence it posts to great Canfield, high Ros dong, Enthospe Roding, Ledon Modying, White Konning. Beauchampe Roding, Fie feld, Shelley, high Anger, and Chepping Ongar where the Lauer falleth incoms that artical betweet Watching and high Lauces and takung another rill withall commung from about Posthweld at:Theping Dugara they ianno I say with the Mhodo, after which and confinece, Leland confedureth that har freame is called Juel: for my pact. A wote not what to lay of it, but hereof I am fure that hubble course berng past Digar, it goeth to Stans fed rivers, Thepdon mounte, Pephiloge, Chiawell, Modfoed beidge, Alfoede beidge, Barkyng and fo into the Thames.

The Darwent meteth with our sayde Darwents! Thaines byon kentes five, two myles and moze beneth Brith. It rifeth at Danridge, 02 thereaboutes, as I have bene informed by Christofer Sartons Caro late made of the same, and all the scuerall shyzes of England at the infinite charges of fir Thomas Sacks forde knight, and maiffer of the requestes, whose zeale buto his countrep herein 3 cannot but remember, and so much the rather, for that he meaneth to imitate Ortelius, and somewhat beside this hath holpen me in the names of the townes, by which these rpuers doe run. Would to God hys plats were once finished. But to procede. The Darwent I fap,rifing at Tanrioge, goeth on by Titley toward Braffed, and receiving on eche fide of that tolone (and several bankes) a river 02 rill, it goeth on to Pockhold, Shozehā, kuns foed, Poeton, Darnehuth, Dartfoed of Der: Crape. mentford, and there takong in the Cray on the left hand that commeth from Depington by Warp Cray, Powles Cray, Porth Cray, and Crayforde, it is not long ere it fall into the Thames, but to grate a

The next water that falleth into the Thames, in well of the Mauay Iles, a rill ofing great fame, nepther long course, for tie fing about Coringham, it runneth not many miles east & by fouth, ere it fall into & mouth of this efter, which I doe now describe.

The chiefe hed of this Areame , ryfeth in Medenius. WRo2d forrest fouthwest of Castgrenested, This rigopng by Bartfiels and Whetelin, it recei, uer is deueth a rill from the fecond hed, that commeth feribed al= in from fouth east-and epther from the north redp, but side of Argas hill, or at the lest wife out of the more with fouth part of Unaterdon forcet, as Sarton gence, bethath let it nowne. After this confluence it is ter beipe, not long ere it take in another by well-from and after Coluben wards, and the third about Pen, their opisions, growing frathed beda, where one is accomptite in Bingfield parke, the other wort of Orate nor to fall bergiand is uning above Courbridge, it doth into the falkinto the Midway beneth Dener towne, & fea but in-Chiedingstein. From Penhirstout mages mes. Aream halfeth to Ligh, Tunbringe a This. depland beneth the towns, it croffeth a water from Posth; whereof one hed is at the Notes another sat Wizotcham; the thirde at well Peckham, and ilkewploan other from louth east, that course theast of Capell. Pertafter this it receiveth the These, whose forked hed is at Tischiest, which descending volume toward the north, taketh in not far fro Scotny a bzwke D.itt.

a bawke out of the northflox of Waterde fos rest, whose name I find not except it be the Dour. After this confluence our rpuer goeth to Colobira, and comming to the Twill, it beauncheth in such wose that one parte of it runneth into Diowape, another into the Cas ran og rather Cranebaoke, if my conicaure be any thyng. The Baran as Leland calleth it,02 the Crane as 3 do take it, rifeth nere to Cranebanke, and goving by Sillinghirff, it recepueth ere long one water that commeth by Fretingdon, and another that runneth from great Charde by Smerdon & Bedcoan, croffing two rils by the way from by north, Hedcoine it selfe standing betwene the both. Finally, the Garan or Crane meeting with the Widway fouth of Vallyng, they on hone fide, and the These on the other, leave a preto Island in the midit of foure miles in legth and two miles in bredth, wherin is some hils ly sopic, but nepther towne not village, so far as I remember. From Palling forward, the Midway goeth to well Farlegh, east Far, legh, and cre it come at Waidsone, it enter, tayneth a rill that rifeth thoat of Zenham, & goeth by Leves and Otterinden. Beingpaft Maiostone, the Midway runneth by Alling. ton, Snooland, Pallyng, Cuckfrane, Koches Ker, Chatham, Gillingham, Apchurch, and fone after braunching, it embraceth & Wrene at hys fall, as his two heds do Achdon fozelf, that leeth betwene them both. I would have spoken of one creke that cometh in at Cliffe, and another that runneth downe from Waltsto by S. Waries, but lithe I vnderstand not with what backewaters they be ferued, 3 let them passe as not ikilfull of their courses. And thus much of the rivers that fal into the Thames, wherin I have bone what I map, but not what I would for mone owne fatisfas aton, till I came from the hed to Lechelade.

13cmg passed the Thames and having as 3 thinke sufficiently in my former treatise des feribed all fuch waters as are to be found betimene the Stoure in Lient, Anon in Willie thire, it resteth that I procede with this rp. uer, and here supply many thinges that I before omitted, although not by mine owne o ucrlight so much as by the abuse of such as thoulde have better preserved the pamphlets to be inscrited. Certes this Anon is a goody river ruling as I lapde before niere buto Taloife hall, although he that will fæke mozs ferupalousive for the head in dede, must loke for the same about the borders of the forcest of Sauernake (that is Soure oke) which lieth as that wer embraced between fürft armes therofias I have bene enformed. These heds also do make a confluence by east of Partin.

thall hill, and well of Watton. From where it goeth to Milton, Powley, Manningfield Abbep, Danningfielde croffe, beneth Deto. ington taketh in one rill well from Kuobo, row, and another a little lower that rifeth als so well of Alcanninges, and runneth into the fame by Patney, Werden, Wilford, Charle, ton, and Ruftifal. Beyng therfore past pews ington, it goeth to Thauen (wherof Leland (peaketh) to Chesilbury, Cumpton, Ablingo ton little Almibury, Darntford, Wlodford, olde Salisbury, and so to newe Salisburye, where it receiveth one notable river from by northwest, and another fro northeast, which two I will first describe, leauping the Auon at Salisbury. The first of these is called the wilneh, Willugh, and riseth among the Deuerels, and running thence by hill Deuerell, & Des nerell long bridge, it goeth toward bythops fraw, taking in one rill by west, and another from Upton by Werminster at northwest. From bishops straw it goeth to Pozto, Up. ton, Badhampton, Steplyngford, and Staplefoed, where it mæteth with the Winters bury water from by north-descending from Madenton by Winterburne. From Staplefozdit halfeth to Wilhfozd, Aewto, Chib hampton. Wilton, and thither cometh a ina. ter buto it from fouthwest, which ryseth of two heds aboue Duerdonet. After this it goeth by Wlozdcaltle, to Tilbury, and there receiveth a water on eche live, whereof one cox meth from Funtbill, the other from two is fues (of which one rifeth at Antip, the other at Swalodife) and so kepping on Itill with his courle, our Willingh runneth next next of all by Sutton. Thence it goeth to Fouant, Boberfrocke, Southburcombe, Walton (where Mader it taketh in the Fomington or Padder was becke. ter) Weltharnam Salisbury and Castbar. nam, and this is the race of Willugh. The o ther is anaked arme of Areame without a ny braunches. It rifeth aboue Collingburne Lingsfon in the hils, and thence goeth to Co lingburne, the Tidwozthes (wherof & moze foutherly is in Wiltshire) Shipton, Cholter. ton, Pewton, Toney, Jomerson, Porton, the Minterburnes, Lauerfrock, and fo into Aud east of Sarisbury. And thus is the confinence made of the aforeland waters, with thus our fecond Auen, whereinto another water fall leth(called Becquithes broke) a myle beneth 25 coult Harneham batoge, whole head is fius miles taute. from Sarum, and three mples abone Bec quithes bridge, as Lelande both remember, who noteth the Chalkeburne water to have Chaike hys due recourse also, at thys place into burns. the aforelayde river. Certes it is a pretpe broke, and rifeth fire miles from Shaftel bury, and in the way toward Salisbury in a botom on the right hand, whence it commeth by lanighto and Fennyarattord, to Poning. ton, that is about 12. myles from the hed, and about two miles and an halfe from Homing. ton beneth Doffocke, goeth into the Auon, a mile lower then Barnham bridge, ercept he forget himselfe. This Harneham whereof I now entreate, was sometime a prety village before the erection of new Salifbury, thad a church of S. Partine belonging unto it, but now in Ceade of this church there is onely a barne Candyng in a very low meade on the nozthioe of S. Pighels hospitail. The cause of the relinquishing of it was the moissnesse of the foile, very oft overflowen. And where, as the kinges high way lay sometyme tho: rough Milton, licence was obtepned of the kyng stishop of Salisbury, to remove that pallage unto new Salitbury allo, & upo this occasion was the maine bridge made over A. uon at Parneham. By this erchaunge of the way also olde Salisbury fel into biter decay, becaped by and Wilton which was before the hed towne thaunging of the thire, and furnithed with 12. paroche churches, grew to be but a poze village, and of small reputation. Powbeit, this was not the onelye cause of the ruine of olde Salis bury, lith I read of two other, wherof the first was a falue buto the latter, as I take it. For where as it was given out that the townels men wanted water in olde Salisbury, it is flat otherwise, sithe that hill is very plentifully ferned with springes and wels of very Ivete water. The truth of p matter therfore is this. In the tyme of civill warres, the foul. dio2s of the castle and Chanons of olde Sa. rum fell at oddes, in so much that after often beawles, they fell at last to sad blowes. It happened therfore in a Rogation wake that the clergy goyng in folemne proceition, a cotronersie fell betwene them about certapne walkes and limites, which the one fide claps med and the other denied. Such also was the whote entertainement on eche part, that at the last the Castellanes espping their tyme. gate betwenc the clergy and the towne, and so copled them as they returned homeward, y they feared any moze to gange about their bounds for h pere. Hereupon the people milfing their belly chere (for they were wont to have baketting at every Catio, a thing place tiled by the religious in old tyme where with to linke in the comons onto them) they concepued forthwith a deadly batred against the Castellanes, but not beyong able to cope with them by force of armes, they conculted with their buhap, and he with them to effectually, that it was not long ere they, I means the conflict.

In holv

Chanons, began a church upo a pece of their ofone ground, pretending to ferne God there in better latetie, and with farre moze quiet Dew Sas nesse then they could do before. The people listury bealso seying the diligence of the chanons, and guine. reputying their harmes for their owne incomuentence, were as earnest on the other side to be nere unto these prelates and therfore enes ry man brought hys house onto that place, & thus became old Sarum in few peres otter, ly desolate, and new Salisbury rayled by in Stede therof, to the great decay also of Warm ham and Wilton, whereof I spake of late. Powe to returne agayne from whence I thus digreffed. Dur Auon therefore departyng from Sarifbury, goeth by Burtfozde, Longford, and taking in the waters afore mencioned by the way, it goeth by Stanley, Dunketon, Craifozde, Burgate, Fozdyng bzioge, Kingwod, Auon, Christes church, and finally into the lea. But ere it come all there, and a little beneth Christs church, it crosseth the Stoure, or Sture, a very faire Aream, Sturus. whole courie is such as may not be lefte but touched. It rpleth of live heas, wher of thre lie on the north live of the Parke at Sturton within the pale, the other ryle without the parke, and of this river the tolone and Baronp of Sturton doth take his name as 3 gelle, for except my memory do to much faile me, the lord Sturton giueth the fire heds of the faid water in hys armes, but to procede. After these beaunches are consopned in one botome,it goeth to long Lapme mill, Stilto, Milton, and beneth Billingham recepueth a water that descendeth from Dere. Thence & Sture goeth to Bugley, Stoure, Wlessouer bridge, Stourprouoff, and ere long taketh in the Cale water, from Pen that commeth Cale downe by Wickhampton, to Mozeland, and fo to Stapleford, bij.miles from Wickham. pton, palling in the land boyage, by Wine Caunton, and the five bridges. After this co, fluence, it runneth to Hinton Baries, & Cone after croffeth the Lidden and deutlify waters Lidden. all in one chanell, whereof the first ryfeth in Deuilis. Blackmore bale, and goeth to bishops Caubeil: the fecond in the bils fouth of Bulbam, and so runneth to Lidlinch: the third water issueth nere Ibberton, and going by Fife, hed to Lidlington, and there meeting with the Lidden, they receive the blackewater as boue Baggeburne, and fo go into the Stour. There. After this the Stoure runneth on to Stoure: Misch ton minster, Fitleford, Dammond (and some water. after takpng in one water that commeth fro Hargrane by well Dicharde, and a feconde fro Funtuillit aoth on to Chele, Ankeford, Handford, Durweston, knights, Brianston, B.iin.

Blandford, Carleton, and croffing ere long a rill that riseth about Carrent, and goeth to Launston, Bunketon, Caunston, Tarrant, it proceedeth forth by Shepwije, and by and by recepuing an other broke on the right hand (that rifeth about Strickeland, and goeth br Quarleffon, Wahitchurch, Anderffo & Winterburne) it hafteth forward to Stours minster, Berforde lake, Alen bridge, Minburne, alias Twinburne minster, whether commeth a water called Alen (from Unolto, Withchapton, Elfambridge, Hinton, Barn, ney) which hath two heas, wherefone ryleth host of Mocotes, and east of Farneham, nanced Terig, the other at Munketon aboue S. Giles Winburne, and goyng thence to C. boundeth Syles Acheley, it taketh in the Hozton beck, with pike, as the Porton ooth the Cranburne. Finally, mætyng with the Terig aboue knolto, thep roche, bace, run on binder the name of Alen to the Stour, which goeth to the Canfordes, Presson, Bingffon, Berley, and Polneff. But ereit come at Policif, it taketh in two brokes in one bottom, wheref one commeth fro Wlods land parke by Bolt parke and Bolt, another from aboue toper Winburne, by Comondes Main, Acrtivod, and Dannington, tiopning about S. Leonardes, they go to Hoanbaidge, and so into Stoure. After which confluence, the land Stoure runneth by Juoz bridge, and so into Auon, leaurng Theiltes church aboue the mettyng of the lapde waters, as I haue savo before.

Hauving in this manner passed Chaises church hed, we come to the fall of the Burn, which is a little broke runnpng fro Stoures field heath, without braunches, and not tous ched in niv former botage for want of knows leage, and information therof in tyme.

When we had left the Burne behynde bs, we entred Pole haven, now far better known unto me then it was at the first. Copng there fore into the same, betwene the north and the fouth pointes, to læ what waters wer there, we left Brunkesev Illand and the castle on the left hand within the faid pointes, and pale fing about by Pole, and leaning that Creke, because it hath no sresh, we came by Holton and Liefworth, where we beheld two falles, of which one was called the north, the other the south waters. The north Arcame hight Prodic as 3 heare. It rifeth about Alton, and goeth from there to Proble trentch hed Dios ole hinton, Walterflow, and ere it come at Wirda, receineth Deuils banke that cometh thither from Brugham, and Welcombe by Dentify tolen. Thence it goeth to Tow pid: dle, Athe piddle, Eurners piddle (takpngin ere it come there, a water that runneth from Helton by Middleton, Milburne and Biere) then to Hide, and so into Pole hauen, and of this water Marianus Scotus speaketh, ercept I be deceyved. The fouth water is properly called Frome for Frame. It rifeth nere bn. Frame. to Euershot, and going down by Fromequi. tain, Chelmington, and Catifocke, it recepueth there a rill from belide Rowlham, and Wazarehall. After this it goeth onto Chilfrome, and thence to Waden Pewis, where it meteth with the Dwke, that rifeth epther Deus. tivo miles aboue Pokeparke at Kenfozde, oz in the great ponde within Boke parke, and going by the Tollardes, falleth into the Frome about Paden Peloton, and fo go as one from thece to Fromebauchirch, Crokes wer, Frampton, and Muckilfozd, and receiueth nere onto the same a rill fro aboue Up: fidling by S. Picholas Sidling, and Grim Siller. fion. From hence it goeth on by Stratton & Bradford Beuerell, and beneath this Brads ford, it croffeth the Silley, alias Mintern and Mintern, Therne bankes both in one chanell: whereof Cherne. the first riseth in opper Cherne parish, the o ther at Minterne, and meting aboue middle Cherne, they go by nether Cherne, Fozston, Todmanston, and aboue Charneminster into Frome. In 6 means time also our Frome beauncheth and leaveth an Jaande aboue Charneminster, and topning agapne nære Dozchester, it goeth by Dozchester, & Fozo thington, but ere it come at Beckington, it mæteth with another Bccke that runneth thereinto from Winterburne, Stapleton, Martinstow, Heringstow, Caine and Staff ford, and from thence goeth without any further increase as pet to Beckington, Kingh. ton, Tinkleton, Mozton, Woll, Bindon, Luckford. Stoke, and beneath Stoke, receiveth fiffue of the Luckeforde lake, from whence also it passeth by Casholme, Warham, and so into the Bay. From this fall, we went about the arme point by Slepe, where we saw a little creke, then by Dwie, where we behelve an o. ther, and then commong agains toward the entraunce by S. Helens, and Furley castell, we went abroade into the maine, and founde our selues at liberty.

When we were past Pole bauen, we left the handfall point, the Peuerell point, S.A. delmes chappell, and came at last to Luchs port haven, whereby and also the Luckeforde lake, all this portion of ground last remembred, is left in maner of a byland or penintu la, and called the Ide of Burbecke, wherin is god ffore of alam. In lyke fort govna ffill wellerly, we came to Soutton pointes, where is a cræke. Then buto Way or Willemouth, by kinges Wickembe, whereinto when we were entred, we saw the falles, whereof the first and greatest commeth from Upwcy by 15; adwey, and Radypoll, receiving after, ward the second that ran from east Theke; rell, and likewise the third that maketh the grounde betwene Aleymouth and Smalmouth passage almost an Islande. Goyng by Postland and the point therof, called & Kale, we sayled along by the Shingle, till we came by S. Katherines chappel, where we saw the fal of a water that came downe from Blacks den Beaconward, by Poztelham and Abs botesbury. Thence we went to another that fell into the fea, nière Byzton, and descended from Litton by Chilcombe, then buto the Wrive or Brute porter a prety haven and the ryuer it selfe served with sandap waters. It riseth as I sayo befoze, halfe a myle oz moze mouth about Bemilker, and to goeth from Bemis ster to Detherbury by Parneham, then to Belplathe, and to Britepozt, where it taketh two in two waters from by east in one chanel, of hits, to that which one ryleth east of Pettlecourt, and goelittle cost eth by Pozestoke, and Hilton, the other at Alkerwell, trunneth by Longlether. From hence also our Bride going toward the sea, taketh the Simen on the west that commeth by Simensburge into the same, the whole streame some after falling into the sea, and leaupng a prety hauenet.

The description of Britaine.

The nert porte is the Chare, serued wyth two rilles in one confluence, beneath Chares mouth. The chiefe hed of this river is as Les land layth in Warshelvode parke, and coms meth downe by Whitchurch: the other runs neth by west of Wotton, and mætyng beneth Charemouth towners I laid, both fail into the sca.

Chare.

Then came we to the Cobbe, and behelo the Lime water, which the townsimen call the Buddle, and is alredy described buder h same denomination. Certes, there is no hauf here that I coulde le but a quarter of a mile by well southwell of b towne, is a great and costly Jutty in the sea for succour of thippes. The towne is distaunt from Colyton, about s.iniles, and here we ended our boyage from the Auon, which conterneth the whole cost of Dozcelter, or Dozcethire, so that next we must enter into Somerset Countie, and sée what waters are there.

The first water that we meete with all in Somerletthire is hare, which rifeth as you have heard, not far from Bemister, and to sav it more precisely nere onto Cheddinaton in Dezletthire, from whence it runneth to Bolterne, Febozow, Clarton, Weyfozde bridge, Wintham fourde, and receiving one rill from the east by Hawkechurch, and some after another comming from northwest by yare alias Churchstoke, from Mainbroke, it goeth to Breep. Areminster, beneath which it crosseth the Bare, that commeth from about Buckland, by Whitskaunton, Parecomb, Long bridge, Stockeland, Kilmington bridge (where it receiveth a broke from by fouth, that runneth by Dalwod) and so into the Are. From hence our Are goth to Deake, Bulbury, Tullyfoed, but ere it come altogither at Cullifozd, it mes teth wa water y rifeth aboue Cotlei, goeth fro thece by Midwozthy, Cullito, there receiving a rill allo proceedeth on after & coffuence aboue Cullifoed bridge into the Are, & fro thence hold on together into $ maine lea.

13p west of 1Bereworth point lieth a creke ferued to farre as I remember, with a freshe water that commeth from the hils fouth of Soutley to Branscombe.

Sidmouth haven is the nert, and thither co. Sid. meth a freshwater by S. Wartes from the layd hils that goeth from S. Paries afores fato, to Stobury, and betwene Saltcombe & Siomouth into the maine sea.

Usp west of Auterton pointalso ipeth ang Autrialias ther haven, and thither commeth a prety ri, Ottercy. ueret, whose hed is in the Hackpendon hils, and commeth downe first by Upanter, then by a parke lide to mohuns Auter, Munketo, Honnyton, Buckewell, and north of Autry receiveth a rill called Tale, that rifeth north Tale. west of Brodembury in a wode, and from whence it runneth by Webembury, Alimito, and making a confinence with the other, they go as one between Cadde and Autry, to Perfozd, Luton, Collaton, Auterton, But? lev and so into the lea. This river is afoze de scribed binder the name of Otterep, as Les land left it buto me: now will 3 cast about the Start point that I map come to Ere.

The Grerifeth in Gremoze in Sonwriet Em. thire(as I fato before out of Leland) and go, eth from thence to Creford, Winfforde, and Orton where it receiveth a water comming from Cutcombe by north. After this conflu ence it goeth on toward the fouth til it mete with a prety brok, riving northeast of Whet, tel (goping by Brunton regis) increased at the lest with thee rilles which come all from by north. These beyng once met, this water rus neth on by west of the beacon that beareth b name of Haddon, and some after taketh in the Barle that receiveth in like fort & Done Barley. at Hawkebringe, and from hence goeth by Dauerton, and Combe, and then doth mæte Done alias Doue with the Ere, almost in the very confines be stroke twene Dozlet and Somerlet thires. Beyng past this confunction our Gre, patieth be twene Bruchford and Wurbath, and then to Courca= perche,

This

01 5 m=

Forten.

Cre bitoge, where it taketh in as I heare a water by Meat, from Cast Anupe, and after thys likewyfe another on eche fide, woodburn. whereof one commeth from Dirforde and Baunton, the other called Wamburne, fomewhat by caft of Dhefoide. From thele mætinges it goeth to Caue & thorough & fozrest and woodes to Patherland and Wlash: fields butill it come to Twerton, and here it receiveth the Lomund water, that ryleth as boue Athebrittie, and commeth downe by Hockworthy opper Loman, and to to Tiver, ton that frandeth almost even in the very co, fluece. Some cal this Lomud the simming baoke og Simninges bathe. After this our Cre, goeth to Bicklev, Theuerten (takpng in a rill by well) nether Gre, Bramford, bes neath which it ionneth with the Columbe, that riseth of one heade, northeast of Clary Paybon, and of another fouth of Shilds, and meting beneath Columbe focke, goeth by Columbe and 132adfeld, and there croffing a rill that commeth by Alipfozoe, it runneth south to Wave, Wore hairs, Columbton, Brandnicke , Beare, Columbe John, Borham, and topning as I favde with the Ere at 152aford it passeth binder but one bridge, ere it mæte with another water by west, growing of the Festen and Cripde was ters, creept it be le that I doe judge amille. The Crive rifeth about Wollesworthy, and nere bnto Apton, after it is paf Dewailb. crossetha rill from betæwne Puggill and Stockley by Stocke englith, cc. from bence it goeth to Fulford where it meeteth with the Forten, whereof one braunche commeth by Calobeok, the other from S. Bary Tede burne, and forning aboue Crediton, the chas nell goeth on to the Crive (which ere long als to receive thanother from by north, coming by Stockley & Combe, then betwene Daine and Actition Sires to Pines and so into the Gre which staveth not butill it come to Ers ceffer. from Greeffer it runneth to Were there taking in a rill from by well-and ano: ther lower by Creminster, nert of all buto Toppelham, beneath which towns the Clive entereth ther into, which rifing about Plym. træ goeth by Clift Dardon, Clift Laurence, 13: ode Clift, Doniton, Souto, bishops Clift, D. Mary Cloft, Cloft D. Ocoage, & then into the Creathat runneth forward by Cotinel Court, Lunifo and Ponderham castle. Here as There, it taketh in the Ben (or Benton biolicias Leland callethit) commyng from Polcomie Barke, by Dunsoike, Shilling, foid Bonfoid, Ben, Benton, and fo into Cre haven at twirfe morth lye certains rockes, which they call the chekefrones, except I be

The nert fal, wheref Leland layth nothing at all, commeth by Athecombe and Dulith, end bath his hed in the his therby.

The Teigne mouth is the next fall that we Trigne came onto, and it is a goodly post. The bed of this water is alredy touched in my first boke to be in Partmoze among the Bioley hilles. From whence it goeth to Sydley towne, Crokens, Ccianton diac, where it recepueth the Cro. kerne commong from by north, and like wife another west of Kulford parke. The it goeth to Dufford, Bridforde, Kirflow, Chidley, Uniobton, and beneath the bridge there recepueth the Boup whose course is to north Boup. Lilley, and Bouptracy. Thence it runneth to kinges Teingneton, taking in Civis a banke beneath Presson that cometh from Coefoed by the way, and whe it is past Eidis. this confluence, at Bings Teigneton, it crof. feth the Leman which commeth from Sad Leman. dleton rocke by Beckington, and Pewton Bufhels, and sone after the Aller that rifeth Aller. betwene Danburp and Warog well, after. ward falleng into the lea by bishops Teign ton-south of Teignemouth towne.

From hence we goe fill fouthwardes (as we have done long alredy by southwest by Worthstone, and finding thee or foure smal crekes betwene Worthstone recke and the Birp point we go furder to Dewstone rock, and so into Dartmouth haven, whereinto funder waters have their direct courses.

The river of Darnt commeth out of Das rntmoze rb.mples aboue Totneffe (as I faid befoze) from whence it goeth to Bucklande Pole, and some after taking in the Asheburn Asheburn water on the one live that runneth fro Sad: dleton rocke by north, and the Buckfastitch Buckfast that commeth from north west, it runneth to lich. Staunton, Darington, Hemfton, and there also croffing a rill on eche fide, paffeth forth to Totnesse, Bowden, and aboue Gabziell Stoke, meteth with the Partburne that ru: Partburn neth boder Rost bridge, two miles aboue Totnelle, oz as an other faveth, by Katter, Warberton, Painelfozd, and Alpzempton into Darnt, which ere long also commeth to Coanworthy, Greneway, Dittham, Darnte mouth, betwene the Castels, and so into the

From hence we went by Stokelleming to another water, which commeth from blacke Auton, then to the second that falleth in east of Slapton, and lo coalling out of this bap by the Start point, we faile almost eiredly well-till we come to Saltcombe hane. Certes this post bath very little freth trater co. myng ento it, pet the hed of luch as it is, rpe feth nere Buckland, and goeth to Doobank, which frandeth betwene two crakes. Thece it hieth to Charelton, where it taketh in a ril whose hed commeth from south and north of Shereford. Finally, it hath another cræke that runneth by by Ilton, and the last of all that falleth in north of Portlemouth, whose bed is so nere the bar last afore remembred, that it maketh it a fory peninfula, as I have beard it lavd.

Then come we to the Awne, whole hed is in the hils farre aboue Bzent towne, from whence it goeth to Dirfoid wood, Loddewel, Hache, Aunton, Thopleston, and so into the lea over against a rocke called S. Bighcis bozow.

Arme rileth aboue Harfozo, thence to Sto ford, Jup bridge, Armington bridge, flete, Dichardton and Dwnewell.

Palme goeth by Cornewad, Slade, Stratley, Palmeton, Collaton, and Peluton ferry.

Being past these Portlets, then nert of all we come to Plimmouth haven, a very bulle pece to describe, because of the numbers of waters that refort buto it, & small helpe that I have for the knowledge of their couries, yet will I doe what I may in this, as in the rest, and so much I hope by Gods grace to performe, as thall fuffice my purpole in this

The Plinne or Phys. is the very fame water that gruth name onto Plimpton towne. It ryleth in the billes well of Camo tood, and commeth downe a thost course of thie miles to Rewenham after it bee iffned out of the ground. From Pelvenham ails it rimeth to Primpton, and ione after into the Stour, which Stour arpleth northwest of liâs Ent= Shepiffout, and goeth from thence to Mem. tharch, Wele, Shane Wicklep, & foto Cforde where taking in the Plym, it runneth omione as one under the name of Plyname, butil it go past iplommonth and fall into the hanen South eff of Wlommouth aforelande. Whom, monthit felf it andeth betweene two crekes, not lecoed with anne backewater, therefore palling over thele two, we enter into the Thamar that bischargeth it felfe into the a foresaid baue, going therfore by that streame which for the most part parteth Devonshire from Tomewall, the first emeret that I met withall on the eff five is called Law, the bed wherof is among the mountaines foure miles aboue Pecters Tany, beneath which it mices teth with another water from by welf, lothat these two waters include Marve Lauve, betwent them though nothing nere the confluence. From hence the Taue of Taup runneth to Cauifocke, aboue which it taketh in a rill from by well, and another abone north Bucklande iphoic head is in Dartmoze, and commeth thereunto by Sandforde and Har, row bridge. From hence it goeth into Thas mer, by north Buckland, Wonks Buckland, Beare, and Tamerton Folly. Having thus dispatched the Kany. The nert that falleth in Liddes on the est side by wardes is the Lidde, which rpling in the hilles aboue Lidforde, runneth downe by Curryton and Siddenham, and lo to Livstone, aboue which it recevueth the Trufbell broke, which riting north east of Trufbell. Bzediffon, goeth by Trufpolton to Ibaine. where it recepueth a rill that commeth by Bradwood from Germanswyc, and after the confluence runneth to Liston, and fro thence into the Thamar. The next about this is the Cozewater, this rifeth somewhere about Cl. Cox. well or Helwell, and going by Mirginston, runneth on by S. Giles without any increase butilit come to Thamar. Pert of all it tas keth in two brokes not much distant in sunper wherof the one commeth in by Glaunto, the other from Pollworthy, and both east of Tamerton, which flandeth on the further banke, and other lide of the Thamar, & well northwest of Tedcote, except the quarter des ceine me. As de Certes, the Chamar it felfe rifeth in So Chamar. mersetshire, about three miles northeast of Bartlande and in maner to croffeth oner the iphole inell country betweene fea and fea that it leaveth Cornewall, a bylande or pentir fula. Being therfore bestanded from the bed. by a tracef bi.mples, it commeth to Denbo. row, Pancrale well, Bridge Keuel, Camer, ton. Tetrate, Luffencote, Bopton, & Will' Arten. rington, where it meteth with a water on the med the called Arten, that rifeth short of Zacobstow. Two miles in like fort from this confluence, we met with the Benley, whole kenley. bed is thost of Warpelton, by fouth eath, fro whence it goeth by Arenegios, Aremone, Trefmure, Trewen, Launston, and fo into the Chamar that runneth fro hence by Low, inhittonisato Beadfon ; and gopng on toinary Exemterton, taketh in a rill from fouth Witherings, and by Defant. Beneath Dunterton alfo it croffeth the Enian. This ryuer Enian. rifeth at Davidson, and directeth his race by S. Clethir, Lancast, and Trelath first, and then brock funday baloges, buttil it meete w the Thamar. From bence also the Thamar worth by Siddenham to Calffocke bringe, Califocke towne, Clifton, Cargrene (there aboutes takeng in a creeke aboue Landilip). and running on from thence halfeth toward Saltathe, where it receiveth the Liver was Liver. ter. The bead of Liver is about Bromivelly hill, from whence it goeth en to North hill, Lekenhorne, South bill, and taking in a rill by calf (from about faillington) it runneth ento Deluten, Pillaton, Wotto, Bloffem, myng, S. Erne, and beneth this village crol feth a rillet that runneth thither from Bidon by Quithiceke, S. Germaines and Sheutocke. But to procéde after the confluence, it gorth betwene Crip & fre Bartine caffe, and some after taking in a ril from by north, that palleth well of lateuens, it is not leng ere it fall into the Thamar, which after this (receiving the Wilbanke craice) goeth on by Cogecoinb, and betwene f. Wighels Ile and Rioden pointe into the maine lea, And thus have I finished the descriptions Plimmouth water, and all such falles as are betweene Newfonrocke on the east Ade, 4 the Kame hed on the other.

After this we proceeded on with our four, ney toward the well, and palling by Long: fione, we came lone after to Sothan baie, where we crossed the Secton water, whose hed is about Lileard, and his course by Adynhemet, Chafrench, Cregowike, Sution, and so into the sea.

Low.

Then came we to Lowe, and going in be: twane it and Hount Ale, we finde that it had a beaunched course; and thereto the confinence about Lowe. The chiefe heade rpleth in phils, as it were two miles aboue Baine, and going by that towne, it ceaseth not to continue his course, east of Duloe, til it come a little about Low, where it crosseth and iop: neth with the Brodoke water that runneth fro Biodokes by Crewargo, & so into b lea. pherie unto these are two other rils before we come at faw, or fawp, whereof in mp former treatile, I made some small intreatp. For 02 Fawy riner rileth in Fawy moze, on tide of an hill from whence it runneth by certarne bridges, till it mote with the Glin was ter went of Glyn towns, which rifing about Temple, and meting with a rill that cometh in from D. Deotes, both fail into Fawy a inile and more about Resprin from by east. After this confined then, it goeth to Refpin budge, Leiferme caitle, Lostwithiel batoge, Mil, i Limatons, l. Winnow, and Golant, and here also recemeth the Lerine water out of a parke, that taketh his way into the main Breame by Pronke, Tethe, and the fining bottle. Dering thus builed, it proceedeth buto jawy retone, taking ma rill og creke from abone it on the one fide, and another beneath ti ionino! Dalling on the other, of which two this latter is the longest of course, sith it runno him you imples before it come at the For, and thus much had I to adde but o the description of the layd Fawy conteined in my feamer treatife. I might have teuched the creeke that lyeth betweine Unaueland & blackbettle pointes cre 3 came at Fope og: Fawy, but fith it is ferned only with the falt, A make small account to speake of it. But to procede, entering finally into the base come monly called Trewardith baie, which lyeth into the land betwene the Canualle and the blacke head pointe, we lawe the fall of two small brokes, not one very far distant from another. The ark of them entring well of Arewardith, the other east of s. Blaves and both directly agaynst Curwarder rocke, er. cent I mistake my compasse. Pepther of the are of any great course, and the longest not full the miles and an halfe, wherefore lith they are neither beaunched not of any great quantity, what thould I make long harnest of a little come, and spende moze tyme then map well be spared about them.

Withen we wer past the blackhed; we came austell. to Austell backe, which is increased with a water that commeth from aboue Mewan, & within a myle after the confluence they fall into the sea at Pentozen, from whence we ment by the black rocke, and about the Duds man pointe, till we came to Chare hales, where falleth in a prety water, whose hed is Chara two miles aboue s. Tues. Thece we went by here a there's merefalt creeks, ill we palled b grap rocke, in Gwindzith bate, al. Anthonies point, where Leland maketh bis accopt to enter into Falamouth haue to the former description wherof, I will adde another here, whereh the first shal be more plain and easte.

ini.G

The Fala rifeth a little by north of Penuenton towne, and going wellwarde til ft come downwardes toward f. Dionife, it go fall. eth fro thence to Delader, l. Steuens Gram pont, Boldon, Trede, Coancly, Tregue, Do. ran. Tregunan, it falleth into the bauen with a good indifferent force, and this is the course of Fala. But left I hould settle to omit those crækes that are betwene this and S. Autonics point, I will go a little backe again, and fctchin fo many of them as come now to my remediaunce. Entring therefore into p port, we have a creeke that runneth up up C. Antoniestoward f. Gereus, then another that no. eth into the lande by east off. Waries castle, with a forked hed palling in the meane time, by a great rocke, that lieth in the bern mios of the hauen, in maner of the thirde points of a Triangle, betwene S. Marpes caffle and vendinant. Thence we cast about by the sapde rastle, and came by another cræke, that falleth in by east, then the second about s. Zustus, the third at Arocnoza, the fourth at

Milan, and having as it wer billted all thele in ogber, we come backe againe about by Tregonnian, and then goping bpward betwene it and Taluerne, til we come to Fentangolan, we founde the confluence of two great crekes beneath &. Clementes, where of one bath a fresh water comming down by C. Perther, bother another fro Truro, incres led w lundey beauches, though not one of the of any greatnesse, and therfore unworthy to be handled. Polewhole franceth byon the hed almost of the most easterly of them. S. Beumen and Truro stand about the consuence of other two. The fourthfalleth in by west, sco certaine hils: as for the fift and firt, as they be little crækes and no fresh, so have I lesse language and talke to spend about them. Df f. Cate, and f. Frokes crækes, I spake inough Caie. befoze, the towne of C. Feoke standing best fooks. twen the both. That also called after & saint, riling aboue Peranarwothill, and comming thence by Ayaklo, falleth into Falamouth, northeast of Wilor, which standeth byon the point betwene it & Diloz cræke. Diloz cræk (for Lelad oid kepe no order in their descrip, tion)is nert Kelfronguet. Some tal it Miloz pole, from whence we went by Trefuss point, and there found an other great fall fro Perin, which beyng braunshed in the toppe bath Perin towns almost in the very confurence. Thus leaving fala haven, as more troublesome for me to describe, then profita, ble for leafacing men without god adulle to enter into, we left the rocke on our left hand, and came freight louthwell to Welforde ha. nen, whose water commeth bowne from Wireke (where is a confluence of two small rilles whereof that roll consisteth) by Maw gan and Trelawarren, and then it recepueth arill on the north ripe from Constantine, after whole confinence, it goeth a maine bu, till it come to the Dreame. Beneath thys also is another rill commong from C. Parties, by tobale courle, and another ouet against it on the well apethat falleth into is leady wain, niton, all Benage is left almost in maner of an Alland. From bence we go fouth to 6 383, nacle point their fouthwest to kefaro, and so north and by well to Bredamocke pointes, bevonce which he meter with the fall of the laid water, that rifeth in the edge of Menage and goeth into b lea by Melian on the north, and Climiton on the fouth. By north also of Minniton, is the Curp water that refeth thort of Magan, and toucheth with the Dccs an fouth of Pengwenian point. From hence we sapled to the Lomouth which some call Lopole, because it is narow. er at the fall into the lea. then it is betinene

the lea and Hailston. It rifeth aboue C. Sothis ans, and commong downe by Wendzon, It halfeth to Vallifon or Wellton, from whence onely it is called Lo, but betwene Heldon & the bed, men call it commonly Cohoz. Here Cohoz. Leland omittyng a great number of waters betwene this and the landes end, and so forth about the point buto the Pade as you may læ in my fozmer treatife, I thinke it god fo far as to me is politible, to supply his want in this place, although I confesse that I cannot do it so eracly as I would. Beyng therefore passed the LogI came to another water that descedeth without any increase from Crows an by Symney, whole whole course is not as Symney. bone 3. myles in all. Then goging by the Cuds dan point, we entred the mountes Bay, and going freight north (leaving faint Dighels mount a little boon the left band) we came to the Lyd, which riling thost of Temionacks, Lydina descendeth by Liogenan, and so into the sea Certes the course of these waters can not be long, lith in this very place, the bredth of lad is not aboue foure miles, and not more then five at the very landes ende. There is also a rill east of kozugy, and Guluall, and and ther west of the same bard at hand, and like, wife the third each of Penlants; and not a ful quarter of a myle from the ferand fonthwest of Benlants, also lieth the fourth that corneth from Sancrete warde by Rewlyn from whence going fouthwell out of the Bage by Southole Rie, that lyeth buth of Bouthole towne, we come to a water that entreth into the Desan betwirt Remels and Lamozlev point. Truly the one hed therof commeth fro by west of Saucrete, the other by from west of an bill that Candeth between themoboth, and topning above Remels, it is not long ere 🐯 they falute their grandame. After this and before we come at Molecalle, there are two othencreekes, wherefour is called Bollien, my that rifeth fouth of L. Burtona, and ano, ther formewhat longer then the first that illueth by welt of the aforefard folione, wiverein is to be noted, that our cardes made hereto, fore doe appoint f. Buriens to be at the herp landes ense of Cornelvall , but experience inologicacheth be that it commeth not niere the lands end by the miles. This latter rill allous the last that 3 do read of on the fouth Goe and likewple on the welf, and north tyll we have layled to l. Jes baye, which is full r. Bulan mples from the tantes enve, oz Baclan Alle pie. ealtward, and rather more if pourcekon to the fall of the Haile; which lieth in the very midst and highest part of the bay of the same. The foile also is very bully been as for f. Jes towne, it is almost (4.3 Flayd) abyland, and yet is it well watred with funday rilles that come from those hils buto the same.

The Haile riseth in such maner, and from fo many hers, as I have befoze deferibed out. of Leland. Powbett, I will adde somewhat more unto it for the benefite of my readers. Certes, the chiefe hed of Haile rifeth by well of Goraian hils, and goyng downe toward s. Orthes, it recepueth the second and best of the other thee rilles from Godalfin towne: Finally, commyng to l. Erthes, and fo buto Clowart. the maine bay,it taketh in the Clowart was ter from Cuymer, fonth of Phelacke which bath two hads, the lapo village franding of realy betwirt them both. The Caine ryleth foutheaft of Caineburn towne, a myle and moze, from whence it go, eth without encrease by west of Swethian, and to into the Ica well of Mara Darway. Laggem. From bence we coafted about the point, and left the bay till we came to a water that ry, leth of two heds from those hils that live by fouth of the same : one of them also runneth by f. Tini, another by Acdienth, and metyng within a mole ther fall into the Decane, beneath Luggam er Auggan. A myle and a halfe from this fall we come buto an other small rill, and likewrse two other crækes betwift which the lowne of f. Agnes fladeth, and likelopfe the fourth halfe a mile beyond the most easterly of these, whose head is als most the mpics forthin the land, in a town called Calon. There going by the Panrock, and well of lastran mihe Same, we finde a course of thee niples and more from the bed, and naming a forcked braunch, the partes do mete at welf aboue f. Lipbbard, and fo go into the lea. I take this to be f. Piranes cræke, Crantock, foz the nert is Carantocke pill oz cræke, whole bed is at Sulwarth, from whence it goethts Arerife, and some after taking in a rill, from by west it conneth into the sea east of f. Carantakes. Beyonde this is an other crake that reseth about little s. Colan, and gorth by leffe f. Columb, and eaft a by north hereof, commeth down one moze, whose hed is almost south of the nine stones, and gopng from thence to great f. Columbes, it palleth by Lanherne, and so into the sca. S. Werous crake is but a little one roling west of Wade Pabllowe. Now, and falling in almost over against the Call rocks. Then turning between the point and the blacke rock, we entred into Babffoir haven whole waters romagne next of all to be described. ...

The Alane ryfeth flat east from the bauen mouth of Paditow, well nice eight or none invies, about Bautoston, nære buts which Engame the Cityam also Mucth, that runneth into the Thamar. Boyng therfore frem hence, it palleth to Camelford, f.Aduen, f.Bernarde, (both Coinich faintes) and fone after recep. ueth a rill at neatheast bescending fro Kow ters hil. Thence it geeth to Blifeland, thele ham, the first bridge of name that standith be pon Aipn. Greiong also it taketh in one rpil by louth from Bodman, another from f. Laurence, the third by west of this, and the fourth that commeth by Weithfell, no one of them ercedying the course of them miles, and all by fouth. From hence it goeth towarde Igles fale warde, and there recepueth a water on the east side, which cometh about two miles from aboue f. Teath, by Michelston, f. Tw chee, f. Maten (mo Comith patrones) and the nally fouth of Iglefall, meteth with the As len that goeth from thence by f. 15zeaca to Woodzioge. Bere about I finde that into our Alepn or Alen, there hould fall two rinerets, wherof the one is called Carnley, the Carneley other Layne, and comming in the end to the Layne, full notice of the matter, 3 fe them to issue en seucrali sides beneth, Woodbridge almost directly the one against y other. That which descendeth from northwest, and riseth about Chew, is named Carneley as I heare, the o. ther that commeth in on the scuthwell banke bight Laine, and noted by Leland to rife iwo miles above f. Cae, but hew lo ever this mat ter Candeth, there are two other crakes on eche fide allo beneth thefe as Wethaike cret, setha. and Minner creeke, so called of the Tornih Minner faintes (for that sople beed many, where with I finish the description of Alen, az as some call it Durmere, and other Padhow water. Dunmen

Mien.

Beyng pall Padliow hauen, and after we nigel had gone them inples, we came to Bostgwin a pose fisher towne, where I finde a broke and a vere. Then I came to Bostifiectivo mples further, and founde there a broke a pere and some succour for after botes Pert of all but a broke that ran from fouth eath. directly north into the Saucrn leas and with in halfe a mple of the same lay a great black rocke ipke an Allande From this water to Arcumissaboute mple, where the paroch church is dedicated to f. Sopumphozian, and in which parochails Tintagel xallie flanbeth, which is a thyna increamable for the litual tion, and woold be made with title revaras tions one of the licongest things in England. For it Candeth on a great high terrible crac environned with the leat. There is a chappell pet Candyng in the dungeon thereof, debica: ted to f. Elet. Aintagelitowne and Archen ni arenot a mple in sunter. The nert cræke is called Bospunt, which is a myle fro Tin tageil, and to the same Arcding water relog. Crebet teth, and to they goe to the lea betwirt two hils, wherof that on the one side lyeth out like an arms of cape, and maketh the falhiou of an hauenet og pære, whether thiplets some tome doe relott for fuccour. A Frier of late dayes toke upo him to make an hauen at this place, but in vapue. There lie allo two black rocks as Mets, at the well mosthwell point, or live of this crocke, the one clauping that a little gut dory part them) looning with the other, and in these by all likelyhode is great fore of gulles. I can not tell whether this be the water that runneth by Bolcaffle or not, but if it be not, then have I this description of the latter.

Bolcalle creeke that lyeth ealt of Tintagli el, is but a finall thong running at the most not about two myles into the land, yet it pali leth by foure townes, wherof the first is called Leaneth, the leconos (. Juliet, the third, Minter, and the fourth Bolcattle of Buth. castle as some men doe pronounce it.

In Bede bay, I find the Bedewater, whole chiefe hed is not farre from Aeston. Thence runnyng to Stratton, it recollect the Launcels rill before it come at Abtham And here also it crosseth another whose her is east best Hary wishe, from whence it runnesh bp Wolffon and Whalesberoto, and thence in to the fea between Offorward Polotigh hill: And thus much of & waters that lie betwene the popul of Comwall, and the Bartland hed ppon the northide of Cornwall. Pow let by do the lyke with those that remayne of Des nonthire, wher of the faid Partland is the bes rp first point in this our poeticall volage. Has uing therfore brought Partland point on our backs, we come next of all to Barfable bar, and so into the Hauen, wher into two princis pall Areames do perpetually onburden their

The first and more westerly of these is called Dous, whose hed is not facre west of the hed of Darnt, 4 both in Darntmore. Kiling therefore in the aforeland place, it runneth northwell to Snorton, and so to Dkehamps ton, beneath which towns it meeteth with an other water commong from foutheast, and rifeth not much well from the hed of Tawe. From hence it goeth to Stowe Erboene, Manke Dkington, and Iddelley, where it taketh in the Tanrige a very prety Greame let, whose issue is not full a mile by east from the hed of Thainar. Commyng therfore by well and call Butforde, Bulmarthy Bots kington, Dewton, and Shebboz, it receiveth a forked rell that runneth from eche live of Biadworthy by Sutcombe, Techocolo, Wil ton, and so to Thomselviry, where meeting with another fothed water (wheref one hear commung from Dunlland, topneth with the other morth of Cockebicy) it goeth with speec into the Dancige water. After this confluece it runneth on to Shepewall (by welf where of falleth in the Bucklan water fro by north) Bucklans. thence to high Painton, and to Paptherlay, north inherof it taketh in a rill fro by fouth. and endeth his race at Adoction, by topinging with the Die. Pence then the Dous haffeth to Dowland, and between it and Doulton. receiveth one rill from by east, as it both an other betwene Doulton and Warton frá by west, and so proceeding on with his course; it commethers of Torrington the lesse, and taking in a water at eall, that runneth from thie heds (by Wally parks) between which Combe and Roughbornin are lituate, it dels cendeth to Worrington the more, and metina with the Langtre water on the one fide, and Langtre. the. Wate broke on the other, it proceedally to Benifoed, crolling a will by the way that were of commeth buto it between Annary and Like ware. tham. From Bediford bridge it goeth with: outany increase to Welley, Pozham, Ap. plepour, and fointo the hauen.

The Law of both is the more noble water, Can and bath most rils descending into beachas nell. Downsit by these two is all the bast of Denonthire well watered on the northine of h worem The Tawy rifeth directly at fouth west of Theawley, and north of the head of Parnt. From thence also it runneth to Dele, South Taueton, Cockatre, Bathe, Roath taueton, Alberidge, Colridge, and some after reccineth the Bowmill cræke, whereof one Bowmill hed rifeth at Bow, the other at Will, and mes ting beneth bishops Porchard, they fall into the Taue north of Pimeth Kowland, as I have bene informed. From hence then it run, nethby Edgeforth, to Chimligh, by south wherof, it meeteth with a ril comming down of tipo beds from about Kakenford by THE therioge and Chaivley. Thence it goeth to Burrington, and Chiltenholitowd, and there taketh in the Moulebray water confifting of tivo in one chanell, whereafthe Wol both tyle Moules aboue north Pointon, and company to Boule blay. ton, receiveth another rill running fro Pole land, and some after the second that growing he tho brokes to bed of one beyong at know. ston, and of the other well of Crokeijam, and both uniting themselves beneath Wariston) both fal into the same ere long also, and to go Blav. together till it croffe the Bray, which (beging the second of the two that maketh the Pouls biay) rifethat Bray, commeth by Buckland and fouth of Woltwood both make his confluence with Taw. Beyng past the wode, it gos eth on to Linightley hall, Caueton, Caue, Rocke, and Berstable, sometyme a pretpe walled towns with four gates, but nowe a little thying and fuch in deede, as that the fuburbes thereof, are greater then it felfe. 3 suppose that the name of this towns in the 1521ttill speache, was Abertaw, because it Awde toward the mouth of Taw, and Berd, neise pronounced theit as I gelle, for Abernesse. As for Staple it is an addition for a market, and therfore bath nothing to doe in the proper name of the towne. King Athels Cane is taken here for the chiefe printleger of the tolune, this is also worthy to be noted hereof, that the houses there are of stone, as most are in all the good townes thereabout.

But to proceed with our purpole. Beneath this Towne there falleth in a water that hath one head nere about Challacombe,. and another at east Downe, whereof this descending by Stoke river, and the other by Sherwell, they brite themselves within thie myles of 15erstaple. Some after also it taketh in another that descendeth from 156: tenden by Atheford, and the last of all east of S.Anthonics Chappell, named the Done. Doneham, ham, because one hed is at west Pone, and the other at Dam, both of them mettyng well of Athe. And thus is Tanc described, which is no great water noz quick freame, as may: appeare in Low water mark at Berstable, & pet is it a pacty riveret. This also is woathy to be noted therof, that it receiveth no broke from by welt, whereof I would somewhat merualle, if Taurige were not at hand.

Beyong past the Taue. Tride bay and Buge point alias Bagpoint, we go by Boze bave. Morestone, alias Portstone, and then toward the northeast, till we come by a crakelet to Mare combest to to Combe marton, where at I meane eche of them) are funder crickes Paraduce of faltwater, but not ferued with any fresh, that I as vet do heare of. Darry there is betwene Martinbowe and Trensowe, a creeke that hath a backewater, which occendeth fro Parracombe (so farre as 3 call to mynd named Parradine beck but the greteft of all is betwene Linton and Connisbery called Dze, which riseth in Somerletchire in Ermoze, (cast of Borcoke, more then a mple) and go. pug by Dwie, falleth into the sea betinene Lincon & Conniberr, to that the whole race therof, amouteth in a out to an 8. miles as 3 have heard reported. Thus have I finished & discourse of the waters of Denoshire, whose breath in this place from hence ouerthwart nonline a to the checkestones in the month of Cre, on Conceral, the fouth fide of the Ille, is 38, miles or bus der 40. and so much like wase is it sto pline mouth to Partiad point, but the brodest part there commeth to 36. miles, where as the broadest part of Cornewall doth want two myles of 40.

15crng pass the aforclayde limites of the Loch. counties we came to Postloch bay, whether commeth a water named Loche that descent Deth from Stokepero, Lucham and Poztloch without increale. Thence to Dundeir brok, Durus. which runneth from about Motton, and Courtney by Tunbercombe and Dunffeir, then to another that commeth well of Dive Cliffe, leauping a parke on the well fide, nert Vacerus, of all to Watchet water, wher of one hed co. meth from the Quantock hils Couth of Wick. ualer by welfquantocke head, and almost at Doniford, recepueth the Williton becke, the to cast Duantocke broke (omitting a creket) Williton, williton, enert of all to Dodoingto water, y goeth by ton, Holford, Alforton, a afterward into the lea.

From bence we go by Bottesall pointe, to Stert pointe, where two noble rivers doe make their confluence, which I will severals ly describe, as to my purpose appertaymeth.

The first of these is called the Juell. It rp, luclus. feth aboue Dburne, and at Shirburne recep. neth a water wher of Lelad laith thus. There are seven springes in an hill called the seven the seven sisters, northest tro Shireburn, which gather sisters. into one botom, come into & Were. Another broke likewice cometh by Bepdo fro Bulcas ocil, thee mples from thence by flat east, bes twirt the parke and the Mere fall so great as the areame of the Were, and topning at the lower mill of Shireburne, with the Were water, it is not long ere it fall into the Guill. Thence our Guill goeth on toward Glasen Bzadfozd, and cre it come there, taketh in a forked rill from by fouth descending from as bout west Chelbury and Chetnall in Dorset thire, beneth which towns & other hed falleth into the same, so that they run forth by Bear, haggard & Thounford (til they met with the Bucl)& fo to Clifton, Cuil, Trent, Butfo208, Alhinton, and east of Limminton it meteth with the Cade that runneth from Parling: Cade. ton, by north Cadbiry, and some after crosfing a rill also from by east, that cometh fro Blackefoed by Compton, it haffeth to fouth Cadbiry, Sparkford, Duenes Camel, well Camellat so into Anell, which runneth on to Kimmington, Ilchester, Ilbitoge, long Sutton, and ere it come at Langport, taketh in tivo famous waters in one chancil, nert of all to be remembeed before I go any further. The first of all these riseth southeast betwene the Parets, where it is called Parret water) and goeth to Crokehoane, and at Wertot ta, Barret. kethina b; whe from the cast, which collsteth of two courses buited at Bowbridge, wherof the one descendeth from Den by Halibury, the eiher from aboue the thace Chenocks, as I doe understand. From hence also they goe as one with the Parret water, toward fouth Pederton (taking in at eaff a becke coming from Pamoen bil) thence to Pederton, Lam. banke, Thorney bridge, & Duchelney where it meteth with the seconde called 31 of Ilus, whose hed is aboue Chellington, comming down fro thece by Cadworth, before it come at Dunniet, it taketh in a ril that runneth by Chafcomb and Bnoll. Thence leaving Ilmio ster on the east side, it meteth with another from by Gast, descenoping from aboute Whitlakington. Then it goeth to Poking, ton (where it crosseth & Ilton water by west) nert to Jibauces, and there it is much with a rillet that rifeth by west at Staple, and runneth by Bicanell and Abbots Alp, and after this confluence geeth on toward Langport. And here after some mens opinion, the Juell loseth bys name, and is called Parrer, but this confedure cannot holde, lithe in the cloe writers it is called Juell, till it fall into the sea. Peuerthelesse, jow so euer this matter franceth, beyng pair Langport, it goeth by Awber toward f. Antonica, where it mototh with the Tone next of all to be described. The Tone issueth at Clatworthy, and goeth by welt of Winelscombe, to Stawley, Kitford, Runton, Wieilington and Bzadfezd, beneath which it taketh in a faire water commigng from Sanford Combe, Elworthy, Brunte Rafe, Wilucrton, Dhe and Bilfarens. After this confluence also it runneth to Delebricae and there below meteth with one water that runneth by Hawle, Hethforde and Porton, then another fro Crokeham by bishops Sles diard, and the third and fourth at Tawnton, that descendeth from KingKon by north, and another by south that reseth about Piomis ffer, and thus is the Tone increased, which goeth from Taunton to Kiston, Creche, Posthcurry, Ling, and to by Anthony into b Juell, that after this confluence mæteth ere hare or long with the Chare, a prety river that commeth by east from Pozthbozow, by Carleto, Badcare, Litecare, Somerton, Higham Audep more, Auden, and Wichelsvorow. From whence gopng on betwene Duxnes moze and posth mose, it recepteth one broke called Peder from by southwest, that runneth thorough Bederton parke and Porthmore, and likewyle another that pateth by Durs ky, ere it dee come at Bridgewater. From northwest, and then turning slat west, it go:

Budgewater it goeth by Chilton directly

eth northwardes towards the seartaking in two waters by the way, wherof one runneth ... by Cozipole and Cannington, and bearethy name of Camington, the other by Sidding: Camingto ton and Comage, and then recepuping the Buer. Bzier befoze it come at Start voint, they fal as one into the Dccan, wher of let this luffice for the description of the Juel, whose Areame ooth water al the well part of Somerlethire and leave it very feuitfull.

The Brier, Bruer, or Brær, ryleth of two Brier. waters, wheref one is in Selwood forest, and Lelad way commeth downe by Bzuecombe, Bzuham, teth ş first and Bruton. The other which Lciao nameth Bricuelus & Spellos, is northeaft of Staffordell towne, & the feconds goyng by the same, it runneth by Redlinche, Mellodun' to Wike where it meteth with the other hed, ton water. and thence go on as one to Awnstord, Alford (where it taketh in a water called Dulis fro Dulis. by north that ryleth nere Dolting, and commeth by Euerchurch parke) then to the Lid, fozzes,Balbozow wood, the Tozhil, Pont Soway. perilous bring (wherinto they fable that Ar, thur being wounded to death old theold Car lybur hys (word) by Glassenbury and so into the Merc. Belide this river there are two o ther also that fall into the laid Dire, wherof the one called Soway commeth from Cres church parac, Dulton by Hartlack bridge, the other named Cos of the Colcombe was Cos. ter, from aboue Shepton, Wallet (which eaft of Mipke taketh in a water commyng from Welles) by Wyke, Bedney, and so into the Bere. Finally, returning all into one chas nell it runneth to Burtlehouse, and some after deviding it selfe, one arme goeth by Bas Rian alias Bzent bzioge, to Digh bzioge, leas uping Huntespilla market towns by South west, the other by Parketo Rokes brioge, Debbes passage, and so into the sea, leaving a faire Mand wherin beside Beentmarch are 7.02 8. townes, wherof Aphill is none, which is contrary to my former affertion, and here in therfore not onely the same, but also an or ther errour in the name of this river is wozthy to be redressed, beside a third touching the course of the lato Are, which beauncheth not so low but rather runneth into the beaunche of Bzier that lyeth most easterly, as experience by the cie of him that of let purpole hath of lateridden to view it, doth manifestly confirme. Pow as touching the water that com> meth from Wels, which falleth as I faid in to b Coscomb water on the right hand of the Cawley. Dou shall understand that as many springs are in Walls, so the chiefe of them is named Andres well, which ryleth in a medow plat not farre from the east ende of the cathediall church, and afterward goeth into the Colcomb, in such place as I have noted.

Solater.

Leland speaketh of the Wilton and Golafer waters, which inoulo fall likewyfe into the Buer, but whether thole be they wherof the one ryieth about Scattoidell, and in the diff cent runneth oy Shipton, Pitcomb, and fo to Awnstord on the one side, as the other doth rise between Batcomb and Apton noble on the other halte: 02 buto whether of them eps ther of these names are severally to be attri-

Are.2.

milles within a a mple of his heave.

Waite.

Artro.

Souttl:

buted as vet I do not read.

The fecond Are issueth out of Dinky hole, The Thes from whence it goeth by Dwky towne, afder binde, terward maxing with the Chederbank that commeth from the Chever rocks, it runneth by Were, Katcliffe, and after a little comquarter of passe into the northeast braunch of the afores layor riner talt vescribed, betweine Rokes brioge and bebbes pallage, as I have bene informed.

From the fall of Are we come to an other catted Bane, neitheft of Waoolpzing, whole hed is about Banwel parke, oz eis in Smal doit wood. Then to another, and to the third, called Artro, which rifeth about Litton, and going by the Artroes, Abbey, Berrybuoge (recemping a rill ere it come thether from by fouth beneth Cungelbury, or as I learne bes twene Linguor and Laurens Witheit me, teth with the sea.

Sottespill water ryseth betwene Cheues tey and Padeley, howbest it hath no encrease betoze it come into the sea at Sottes spill, more then the next buto it, which is named Cleucden water, of a certaine towne ners to the fall theref. It ryseth southeast of Cleucden Barrow, goeth by Burten Paileley, and fo onto Cleuedon. The Auon commonly called the third Auon is a goody water, and growen to be very far mous by fonday occasions, to be particularly touched in our descriptio of Bristowe. It ry: feth in the very edge of Tetbury, and geeth by long Dewis to Brokenton, Wihitchurch, and Maunsburr, where it receiveth two was ters, that is to fap, one from by well coming by Forelev, and Bromleham, which runeth so neere to the Auon in the well suburbe of Malmesbury, that the tolone thereby is almost made an Island Another from Dkelep parke by Dankerton. Charleton, and Gareb den. After this confluence it hasteth to Cole parketian goeth it toward the foutheast, till it mote with a water comming from fouth west between Oullaungton and Bradfield) by Afforcand some after with another at the northide from Bruall by Wotton Bastet (thoselv the parke to Cretenham, and Toos ner budges and after & confluece to Daunte fer, Segar, Sutton, Chillmalford, Auon, Calwaies boule, Then to west Tetherton. Beneththis towns allo it rakethin a water increased by two brokes, wheref one coming from Cleue by Bilmarton, Whitley bente and Bramvle, (and there receiving another that commeth by Calne) palleth on by Stans lev into the Auon, which from theceforth aos eth to Chippenham, Rowdon, Lekham, and then receiung Cotham water, goeth to La Cotham cocke, Welikam, and ere it come at Wihad, don-crosseth two other in one chanell-where of one rifety about Brumham house, and go. eth to Sene, the other about the Diuzes, and fro thence runneth to Dotterne wod, Creke, woo, Worton, Walton, Bucklington, and iouning with the other aboue Litleton, they run by Semmington, and north of Whaddon aforesayd into the maine streame, where of I now intreat. From hence our Auon runneth to Stauerton, and south west of that towns meteth with the Ware that cometh were. from Apton by Dilton, 1520ke parke (there then to neath Bradley, Trubridge, and so in plainent on any inthing a male or there about hefore the and within a mple or there about, before it out a the come at Freshford, it meteth with & Frome, or twain. whose description doth insue.

The Frome ryleth in the east part of Hes from. div hils, and from thence runeth by Aliwiic, b Cole pits, Lye under Mendippe, Whates ley, Elmesbridge, and some after taketh in the Poincy water, comming from Ponney Ponney castle, thece to Wailes & Dicharley bridge. where it receive tha prety broke descending from Frome Selwode well of Wzackley. increased with sunder rils, wherof two come out of selwood forcest (and one of them from the fratry) another out of Long lead parke, from Dozningtham, and the fourth from Colley. Hence our Frome goeth to Lullings ton, Beckington, Farley castle, Boide and Arch ford, and taking in the Billing broke Billing falleth into the Auon beneath 152aofo20, and cast of Freshford. From thence going bes neath Stoke, it recevueth on the left hande a water commyng from fouthwest, increased by lundry brokes, whereof one commeth fro Camelet by Litleton, and Dankerton, the o ther frem Stone Ofton, Distommer Pozton, by Wallton, Rockfocke, Windleton. Foscot, and Wellow (and there takyng in a rill from Phillips Dozton, it goeth) by Clas uerton to hampton, & there it meeteth woth another water commpng from Barthforde, whose hed is at Littleton, from whence it rus neth by well kineton to Castle comb (where it is neith with a rill rifing by north from Littleton diuc) and thence commeth fouth to Slaughtenfoed, Palelbury, Bor, Baithfoed, and so into the Auon, which turning playne west hasteth to Baithwije, and (meeting w another in his passage from Coloasson) to Bathe the Tinertons and Coffon. Here also it taketh in a rill by the way from Parkels biry by Milmerton and Peloton, and then goyng on to Sawfozd, it meteth with one rill some after west of Porthstocke, called swinford Swinford, and another by Bitto, from Durs hain by Wike, and to procedeth fill holding swinford on his way to Cainsham, where it crosseth parteth somerfet the Chute, which issueth at Winfoed, and go, and Gloce eth by bishops Chue to Penfoed, and there feerlyges receiveth the Clue commyng from Cluton, n lunder. and from thence to Chute, and lo into Auon. The Auon likewyle after all these confluens ces goeth to Briselton, and so to Brissow, beneath which it recepueth a rill on eche fide, (whereofone commeth from aboute Stoke lodge in Cloucester shire, beyng a faire was ter and running by Adon, Frampto, Hambroch, Stapleton, and thorow Bristow, the other by fouth from Dundzey hill & towne, by Bilport and Bedminster) and so discending vet lower, goeth to Kawneham pallage # Cipfton, then by S. Uincentes rocke and Laie, nert of all to Crocampill, and finally into the sea, whether all waters by nature do

15cfide this water, Leland maketh mention of Alderlev brok, which in some auncient recordes is also called Auon, and runneth by Barkeley. In like maner he talketh of Dourefley becke, whose principal hed is in Dourelley towne, howbeit he laith no thing of it moze, then that it serveth lunear tucking luce Topworth king nulles, Egoeth by Toztwozth oz foure miles further, befoze it come at the Sauern. Amally, making mention of an excellent quarrey of hard frome about Dourestep, he telleth of the Toxtworth becke that runneth within a flight shot of Barkeley towner and falleth on the left hande into Sauerne mars ches, taking with all the Alderley or Auon, ercept I missake his meaning, which mav lone be done among his confused notes.

> Of the Sauerne, and fuch rivers as fall into the fame, as also of other, whereby the rest afore mencioned, are increased before we come to the Humber. Chap. 2.

> The Saucrne springeth from the hyghe I mountaines of fouthwales, as I have before remembred, and rumpng fro thence, the first water that it receiveth of any name, is called Dulas, which commeth therinto on the fouth live a fouth well of Lan Jolos . It rifeth as it Mould feeme of divers beds in the edge of Kadnozshire, and taking in sunday small rils, it meteth at the last with & Bzue' Bzucham. ham broke, and so they go togither till they fal into the Sauerne. Beneth lan Idlos likes wife it taketh in the Clewooghe from north Clewoogh ivest, producted by the inducace of four e prety brokes wheref one is called Bacho, another Bacho. Dungum (commyng out of lin Giallin) the third Lhoid riling in lin Begilin, & the most Dungum. foutherly Bigga. After which confluece our Thoid. Sauerne procedeth on by Berblaid toward Bigga. Landyman, taking in by the way on the case side the Couine, thence to Cairfuse castle, where it meeteth with the Carnon and the Couine. Taran both in one chanell, and going not far Carnon. from the afozelaid fortrelle. After this it cros feth the Hawes, on the north halfe beneth A Dawes. berhawes, nert of all the Dulelle, that rifeth Duicle, ... in the edge of Radnozshire, and meteth with it before it come at Pewton, otherwise called Trenewith, as I finde in 182ittisbe lanquage. Being past Pewton, it runneth forth by Landflouarne, and so forth on till it come to the fall of the Dule, whose hed is in heoge Maic? of Kadnoz allo, and therto his vallage by the ry and Lanmereywig. After this allost pro-cedeth further till it mete with the kenlet. Camalet. ry and Lanmereywyg. After this also it prooz the Camalet (which taketh in allo & Tate Cate. or Tadbrokewater, ryling out of the hilles a mple from Bilhops towne) the whole course therof beyng about senen miles from the hed as I have often heard. Of this also I find two descriptions, wherefore I borrow out of Les land, who saith that it is a veety beoke runnong in the vale by Mountgomery, and commpng within halfe a mple of the place where Chirbiry priory stod, it falleth into & savern. about a mile from thence. Df the rils faith he that run from the hils thozow Mountames rp, which are a mple from the Sauern those, Laindlos. & likewise of the Lan Jolos banke that me, teth with all within foure miles of the hed. I speake not but thinke it sufficient to touche those of some estimation, onely leaving brest to such as may hereafter deale with thinges moze particularly, as time and trauaile may reucale the truth buto them, and bitherto Lelande whose wordes I dare not alter. But another noteth this Camalet or Menlet to run by Moze, Liodiom, Sned, Churchstocke, Chirbury, Walcote and Minsbirg. and so into the Sauerne. From hence then, and after this confluence it goeth on by Fo20 don, Leighton and Lanobzeup toward Weluerley, there it meteth with fundep waters in one chanell, wherof the one called the Tar Canet. net, is a very prety water (wherinto the Ades 1).y. uerep

Slaugh

Pocucry or nercy or Hurnewy both fall, which descedeth Education from the hils by west of Patrafall not farre Auerney. from Lhan Film, the other Averny, and iops ning beneath Abertannoth oz aboue Lanna, monach nere buto the oftch of Dffa, it is not long ere they mete with the Pozdant brok, Mordaint and there lufe their names so some as they iounc and mire their waters with it. The hed or p Mordant issueth out of Lanuerdan hils, where divers lay that the paroche church of croffe Diwald oz Diwester sometimes fod. Certes, Diwester is 13. miles northwest fro Shewfoury, and conteyneth a myle within the walles. It hath in line fort foure suburbs or great trectes, of whiche one is called Stratlan, another Muliho, the third Betes rich (wherm are 140, barnes trandying on a row belonging to the citizens of burgelles) and the fourth named the black gate frete, in which are 30 barnes mainteyned for com and hav. There is also a bawke running thos rough the towne by the croffe, comming fro Sumons well, a bowe thot without the wall, and going under & same betwene Thosow. gate and Dewgate, it runneth also under the blache gate. There is another inlyke fozte oner whose course the 13aderikes or 13ete rich gate frandeth, and therfore called Bedes Bederiche, rich produc. The third passeth by the Willigate or Dewgate, and these fall altogether with the croffe broke, a myle lower by fouth mto the Mozdant that runneth (as 3 Capo)by Olwester. from hence also it goeth to Bog. dant towne, and betweine Landbreup & Dele uerley both fall into the Sauerne. After this our pemeipall Arcame goeth to Sheanervon castle, Hountford, and Bicon chappell, and here it receiveth a water on the left hande, that rifeth of two heds, whereof one is about Merton, the other at Ellismere, and sopnyna betweene Wiodhouses and Bagley, the confluence runneth on by Radnall, Palto, Ted, besmer, Keiton, Baschurch, Walsozd, Graf ton, Mitton, and so into the Sauerne. From hence it runneth to fits, Cton, oz Lepton, Barwic, Tipper Rollall, Shelton, and so to Sheewfourd, where it croffeth the Wele was ter, whose head as I heare, is sayd to bee in

The Hele therfore riling at Wielfon, gorth by Brogton, Worthen, Afton Digot, Weifler, Afferler, and at Lea it meteth Haberley. with the Haberley water, that cometh bown by Pentesson and Aunston. After this conduence also it runneth to Newenham, and Crokemele there taking in a ril on y other fide that descendeth by Westury & Stretz ten's thence going on to Danhood, Doball, Buller Bracemele and Shrewbury, it fals leth as I land, into the open Sauerne. From hence our Sauerne hafteth to Uffington, Pection, and betweene Chilton and Beam, pton taketh in the Terne, a faire Arcam and worthy to be well handled if it lay in me to performe it. This river rifeth in a Bere bes lide Welbzioge park, neere onto Tern Were village in Staffordhire. Fro whence it runneth by the parkes side to knighton, Pozton, Betton, and at Deaiton Hales croffeth with a water commong from aboute Adbaston, (where 99.1B20docke dwelleth) and runneth by Chippenham and Amming: so that the Terne on the one side, and this broke on the Cerne. other, do inclose a great part of Bloze beth, where a noble battaile was soetime purpos fed betweene king henry the vi.and & Duke of Borke, but it wanted crecution. But to procede after this confluence, it runneth to Draiton Hales, Ternehill bridge, & ere long takpng in a ril from Sandford by Blechley, it goeth to Stoke Allerton, Peplaw, and Cas ton, where it crosseth with a broke that rys feth about 152inton, and goving by Higham, Mozton, the great Were, Forton, Willon, Wickstocke, Beinton, Tibberton and Bolas, it topneth with the said Terne not far from Water Apton. Thence palling to Trogen, ton, it meteth with another banke, that commeth from Chaltwen Affon, by Dewporte, Longford, Aloney, and to thorow the Wilde more to kincley and Sleepe, and finally into the Terne, which hasteth from thence to Offen briege, and nere buto Walcote taketh in the Roden. This water rifeth at Halton Roden. in Cumber mere lake, and commyng to De uerlev crosseth a rill from Colviemere by Leniall. Thence it goeth to Boston, and (100) ning with another rill beneth Lonnelay that commeth from Widle) runneth on to Wen, Afton (there croffing a rill beneth Lacon hall from Wies ward) and so to Le, Befforde, Stanton, Porton, Shabre, Paynton, Rode, Rodington, and then into Terne that runnoth from thence by Charlton, Apton, Poze ton, Barwyc, Accham, & so into & Sauerne two miles beneath Shrewsbery as I wene. Thus have I described the Terne in suche wose as my simple skill is able to performe. Cow it refleth that I procede on as I map, with the Sauerne Areame with which after this former confluence it goth buto Korater, Brampton, Caton bpon Sauerne, Drais ton (where it toyneth with the Guerne that Euerne. rüneth from Frodellevward, by Withiall & Ditchfoed) Cressedge, Sarnesson, Leighton, and betweene the two Bildalles croffeth the like or Wenlocke water, and so goeth on to wenlock Bestulley and Hoesd parke, where it buiteth or uhe it felfe with another banke to be described in this place whilest the Sauerne rest, and recreate it felfe here among the pleasaunt bot-

This water ryseth aboue Tongcastle, and ere it have run any great distaunce from the hed, it meteth with a rill commyng by Shis riffe Hales, and Staunton. Thence it goeth on to Patton, Royton, there crofting and ther from Modhoules, comping by Haugh. ton and Cuelin, it procedeth to Beckebiry and higford, and not omitting here to croffe g Wolfe that runneth onto it out of Snows don pole, it passeth forth to Badger, Acleton, Ringleford, and so into Sauerne, somewhat aboue Bziogenozth ercept myne infozmation deceive me. From Bridgenorth our Sauerne descendeth to Mobury, Quatford, and there taking in the Parbroke beneath Caton (that rifeth aboue Collaton, and goeth by Worml and Anderto) it runneth by Dio. manton, Dempton, Aueley, and beneath in the way to Bargate, creffeth with a broke commpng from Upton parkey by Chetton, Willingsley, and Highley, which beyng admitted, it holdeth on to Arcies, Cyarnewod parke, Pawbache, and Dowlecte. Bere also it meteth with the Dowlesse water, a pretve banke islaying out of Cle bils in Shaopshire, which are 3, nivles from Ludlow, and running thosow Clebiry park in Wire forrest. and taking with all the Lempe, both fail into the Sauerne not bery far from Beweler. But to procéde. From Bewdep our Sa. verne halfeth ofredly to Ribford, Arelev and Redffon, and here it mæteth with a water called Stoure, descending from Clev. 02 out of the pondes of Hales owen in Wozcester thire where it recepueth one rill from b left hand, and an other from the right, and then gorth on to Sturbzinge (taking in there the third water ere long running from Sturton castle) then to kintuer Whittenton, Drerley and Byoozmister, aboue which it crosseth one be whelet that commeth thyther by churche hill, and another beneath it that runneth by Belbozow, betwirt which two waters lyeth an odde piece of Staffordilyire included, and also the Cle hill. From hence the aforesavoe Sauerne halfeth by Redffon to Shawley, and about this towne receiveth the Affelep water, as beneath the same it doth an other. From Witter the it goeth on to Holt calile. and so to Grimley, taking in therabout with the Dour, and Sulway waters, whereof this bulwaye. riseth at Chavswife, and runneth by Stoke priory a Droitwicke, the other above Chaddelley, and commeth by Dourdale, After this it goeth forth but a Tarceffer, in olde tyme called Cair Brancon, of Cair Francon. where it meteth with the Tiber, or Tiberto Tiber. water on the right hand about that city, and beneath it niere buto Wowic with & Tembe. whose description shall be set downe before A proceede or goe any further worth the Sa-

The Tembe of as some name (t & Tame, Tembe. riseth by in Kadnoz wire out of the Welenith bils and some after bysisse-meeting with a water from Withal, it runneth to Begelop, Lanuerwaterden, and so to Unighton, which is b.o2 bi.miles as I heare from hys oziginall. From knighton it goeth over the ditch of Diffa buto Standish, and crossyng a rill that commeth from betwene the parkes, nas med Clude (and is a bound of Kadnozshire) it Clude. goeth to Buckton, Walford, and Lanuarde, where it meteth with the Barowell or Berfield, and the Clumboth in one chanell, of which I find these descriptions here follow, png worde for worde in Lelande. The Wardwell or Barfield rifeth aboue new chappel, Berficipe. in the honour of Clun, hard by the ditche of Clun. Offa, and goeth by Bucknell. The Clunillus eth out of the ground betweene Lhan Aehan and Maiston, and going on by Bucton, Cluns calle, Clundon, Purlaw, and Clunbiry, it croffeth with a broke that runneth along by Rempton and Brampton. Thence going forth by Clumbury, Brome, Abcot and Warlow-it meteth with the Bardwell, and so inthe Tembe, not bery farre from Tember, ton. I suppose that Lelão calleth the Bardes well by the name of Dwke, but I will not as Dwke. bide by it because I am not sure of it . After these confluences therfore our Tembe, goeth by Trippleton, Dounton, Burrington, and Bromefield, where it meeteth with the Dioney. ney, which is an indifferent Areame, and increased with sunday waters, wherof I say as followeth. The first of all is called the Bow. 180w. It rifeth as I learne in the hilles betweene Himngton and Shelve, and from thence co. meth down by Lindley and Hardwic where it crosseth the Warren that issueth out of the warren. around about Kotly chappell, and runneth by Ablton and Wientnoz. After the confluence allo gopug on by Thoulton and Thernies, it taketh in the Queney and Strabzoke both Quency in one chanell, wherof the first riseth at Le Strabzok. botwoo, and commeth downe by the Streti tons till it palle by Fellanton. The seconde mounteth about Longuill-s goeth by Rulbe. bury, Dewhall, Parton, and Alcaster, from whence it is not long ere it fal into the Que, nv, and so by Stratford into the Dney, which bath bozne that name lithens the confluence of the Bow and Warre at Pardluge, where Hit.

The Seconde Booke

of I spake before. Finally, the Direy which Homergil, some sail the Hamergill beying thus increa, frost runneth on to Hawford chappel, pew, to, Snepburp, Bromeficio, t lo into Tembe, and nert of all to Ludlow. The Temoe bes yng thus brought to Luclow, mæteth with h Corne which commeth thorowe Cornedale fro about Brodon by Horehoules, Shipton, Hungerfozd, and a little beneath taking in a ril that commeth by Augford, and Brancolt callle, goeth on to Cousham calle, and there croffing another from f. Pargarets Cle, ft hyeth to Stanton Lacy, and so likewyle to Ludlow. From Ludlow in lyke fort it goeth to Ludfoed, the Alhefoedes, little Herefoed, Burrington and at Burfford bniteth it felfe Ladwiche. with the Ladwich that commeth beneth Dib burne ftolie, from betweene Bzowne, Cles hill, and Stittertons hill, to Diodelton, Henley, Ladwich, Conam, and so into Tembe, which beneth Temobury recepueth another rill on the other five, and the fecond on pleft hand called Rhesthat commeth from aboue 13hc. Kitton, Staterton, Bounde, Pene, Clebiry, lanighton, and then into the Temde. From hence the Como goeth by Alha, Lingridge, Shelley Welch, Clifton, Whitburns (and croffing a water that commeth from & Sa. pics) to lanightwic and Bradwaies. Here about againe it intertaineth a rill that deli cendeth from aboute Liobury on the right hand, and goeth by Collomathern, Credeley, Aufrike, and so into Temo, and then proceed dying forwards the laid Areame, remneth to Waaunfozoe, terelong (taking in the Lang, herne that ryfeth about Hartley, and patteth by Bengewycht goeth to Powie, and so into the Sauerne befoze it come at Wickece, ffer. Thus have I brought all such Arcames before me that fall into the Sauerne, from the hed, butill I come to Powije, wherof as you may cally perceine the Tembe, is the most ercelient. Dow it resteth that I proced with the rest of the discourse intended concernong this our riner. Certes, fro Powije mils which are about halfe a mple beneath Worceffer, hauerne runneth on to Bemp. fer and Cleveld, whence after it hath croffed a broke comming from Cowley, it halfeth first to Stoke, and so to Apton, but ere it come there, it disunct hanother fall befrenorng from Walnerne hilles by Blackemore parke, and some after the third growing by two braunches, wheresfone commeth also from Maluerne bils by little Maluerne and Wielland, the other from Cloerfoed by Benbock and Longdon. After these confluences in lyke fort, it runneth to Buthelley, t Tew helbirn, where it received the Auon, that for loweth next of all in order to be described, before I proceed any further in my discourse of Sauerne.

The Anon rifeth at Pauelby in the bog. Auon.4. ders of Pozthhampton thire, a little fide had of Gillesbozow, and force of the hits whereon Pauebep frandeth, and eue out of the church pard of the layde village. From hence it goeth to Melford, Stannorde, Lilburne, Clife ton, and Rugby, by north wherof it croffetha water called Swift, which commeth from aboue Hymcote, to Lutterworth, Bzowne of Swinethus. uer and Colffoed. From thence also it goeth to Pewbold, Wolffon, Knington, & between the Stonlies taketh in the Sow. This Some Sours is a prety water coming from aboue Calens don to Whitley, fone after meeting with a riveret from Coventry, which some one call Shirburne water, it goeth thence to Bag. ginton where it taketh in a rill called lignel, as I have red from Kenellworth, fro whence Kynell. it runneth to Stonley, and so into the Auon. After this confluence the Auon procedeth on to Stonley Abbey, Achehow, Wilnerton, Co. monds cote, and a pace to Warwijc. But ere it come there, it mæteth from south east with two waters in one chanell, wherof the least commeth to Parton from bishops Itching, ton, by Perburbiry and Thompe, where it croffeth a rill from Southam. The other is called Leame, 02 Lime that descendeth from Leme. about Belladon, og nære bnto Catelby in Pozthampten thire, and gopng by Duecote, Braunston, Lemington and Perton, it iope neth with the other, and then go from thence together under the name of Leame, to Huns nington, Cobbington, and so into the Auon as I gave notice before. At Wlarwycke also the Auon takethin a water runnyng northwell from Grove parke. Thence it goeth on to Bereford, and there croffing another from Shirburne, it palleth forth to bishops Hams pton, meting finally with the third, fro kines ton that runneth by Walton and Charlcote. After this last rehersed consuence, it hasteth to Stretfoed bpon Auon, and the to Ludding. ton ward, where it taketh in the Stoure that Stour. rifeth aboue Cherington, and whose course from thence is such, as that beyong once past the head, it goeth by Weston, and ere long croffing a water from Campoen, hangyng Aston, and Todnam, it runneth to Barches fron, Aldermasson, Cliffoed, and so into the Auon. From hence then the land Auon goeth to Luddington, Burton, Bitford, and Cleue, and being parted from the faid towns, ere it come at Sawfozo, it receives the Arrew oz Aur, which rifing in the blacke hils in Wood Arrow. cester thire, commeth by Alchurche, Belev parke, Ppfley, Studley, the taking in ano ther ril called Aine, out of Fecknam fozelf, & going by Cowghto park, it haffeth to Alcel ter, Arrow, Kagley, Wheteley, Bouington, Städford, fo into Aus, which after this counato goeth to Effento, the to Couesholm: But ere it come there it recepueth two waters in one Chanell, whereof the first ryfeth about Willerfer, o other nere to Bucks land, and toyning beneath Badley, they fall into Auon, whoer the name of Pludoz bzwke befoze it come to Couesholme. Beyng past Conscholme it crosseth & Aincell, which rps fing out of the hilles somewhere about Sud? lep, runneth two myles farther to Mina chelcome, and Gretton, and taking in aryll by the waye from Hayles, proceedeth on (going within one quarter of a myle of Payles Abbaie) to Tudington, oz Doddington, beneath which when it bath croffed another rill that commeth from Stanwaie, it goeth to Warmington, Seogebozow, and recepting there the last on the rought hande also (as all aboue rehearsed) it falleth into the Auon, whe it is come by Pinton, buto a towne called Hampto, oz as some do write it Ampton. Af ter this confidence the Auon goeth to Charle ton, to Crapthozne (and there taking in a rill on the left hand) to Fladbyzy wike, & almost at Persoze bridge-meteth with a braunched water that commeth by Piodle, whereof one heave is at Alberton, an other at Pidle. Fro Perfozeit goeth to Birlingham, and some after carrying a broke withall discending from Fakenham, by Bradley, Himbleton, Huddenton, Crowley, Churchehill, Pibleto, Belleforde and Delleforde, it fleteth to Co kington, 152cdon, Twining, Pitton, Tew, kelviry, where it toyneth with the Sauerne.

Mindoz.

Now to resume the course of the Sauerne, you thall binderstande that from Tewekel biry it goeth to Derehirft, the how passage, and some after recepuing the Chiltenham water that commeth thither by Bodenton, Sawton, a Porto, it runneth to Athelworth, Sainthirif, there it parteth it self till it come to Glocester, where it butteth it self againe. But in the meane time & easterly brauch recepueth a forked chanell, wherof one heade is not farre from Leke hapton, the other about Unitcob, fro where it goeth to Brockworth. The other beaunche or arme, taketh in the Leaden that cometh down by Presto, Dim mock, Pantley oper Leadon, Leadon court and there taking in one rill that commeth from Linton by Areknoll, and another bes neath it fro Tainton by Rudfozde, it falleth into the lavde beaunche on the right lide, bes foze it come at Glocester. The Saverne therefore being past Glocester, it meteth wyth a little roll on the ryght hande, and thence holding on his course by Elmoze, Minsterworth Longney to Framilode, it recepueth ere it come at this latter the Strowd broke, which rising not farre from Syde, goeth by Pasade, Edgeworth Frampton Strombe, and recepting there a water that commeth from Pannelwijc Lodge, by Bits tescombe on the one side, and another from Radbzinge on the other, it prosequety hys boyage to Stone house, Clington, whyte Wylen, and lo toward Framilede where the sappe Strowde doth fail into the Sauerne. After the fall of Strowde, the Sauerne gos eth from thence to Pelpenham, and Arling, ham, and some after recepuing a water on eche side, whereof one commeth from Elev by Cham and Chambzioge, the other by Blackney and Catcombe, it goeth forth tyll it mete with another water, on eche lyde, whereof that on thenglithe halfe is forked, fo that one heade thereof is to be founde about Borwell, the other at Hozton, and meeting as boue Tortworthy, they runne by Stone and Warkeley Castell, and so into the Sauerne. That on b welch halfe is named pewarne, Pewarne. which commeth from the forcest of Deane, and so into the Sauerne.

The next ryper that falleth into the savde Areame is the Wie, or Buy, whose descrip: wy or tion I have not to exactly as I would with, & Suy. therfore I must be contented to let it down as I may, the like also must I doe withe rest of those of wales, because mine information faileth me, without all hope of redzesse.

The Guy therefoze ryseth out of y blacke mountaines of wales, in Radnoz thire & co. ming by Lhagerik, Kindargop it receiveth one roll from northeast by s. Darmon, & anather from the west called Darnoll. Thence it Darnol. goeth to Lhanuthel, and in the way betwirte Riadar and Lanuthell, it iogneth with the Elland (whose heade is nere to Comerput Elland. with) taketh likewise into him the Clard, wardwe. wenthat deutdeth for a season Radnor thire from Bzecknoch. From Lhanuthel it goeth well of Diffart, where it recepueth & Ithan, Ithan. a river riling above than wifer, and from whence it runneth to Landlov, and Landa, derne valuz. Weneath this also it crosseth, a water on eche fide, wher of that on the ryght hand consisteth of the Dulesse, and the Clue. Dulesse. doch, after their confluence, other the hight Clueboch. Lomaron whose heade to aboue Lanthan: Lomaron. gle. After these confluences, it runneth on Hawy. crinkeling in fraunge maner, till it come to Distart, (taking in the Dawy on the left side ere it come there) and then into & Tuy, which Hitt.

vireceth his course to Bealt, alias Lhanuear where it recepueth the Prwon, a notable fireame, and inlarged by fonday faire was ters, as the Wenevey, the Dulas, and the wenery. Comarch on the one side, and likewise an os Dulesse. Comarch, ther Dvielle, beside sondzy small rils on the other. After this our Irwon goeth to Lhans Duiesse. nareth where it crosseth the Dehon on the one fide, then to Abereduy, and there receys neth the Cowy on the other, and after that Spachany, the Hachawey that runneth by Castle pain, Louenni, with the Loueni, wher of Leland in his com-and to going on meeteth in processe of tyme mentarges, doth write as here insueth. The Lenenni, other wife called the Euer 03 Energisa faire Areame rifing in Welche Talgarthhard by Blain Levenni, among the Atterill hilles, from whence it goeth to Wechnock Here, which is two miles tong, and a myle brode, and where me fifth in Vniligners of botes of one piece, as they doe in Line wenathan, which is foure mples from Beechnoch. Finally beinging great Coze of Bremich. Red lande withall, and there with the Bren nich water (that hath his oxiginall issue at Bennith gaver, and is encrealed with the Senfein. Druffein) it falleth into & Wie aboue Bles sebyzy thie miles from Paie, at a place that of the onelye fall of this broke is named A. berleuenni. Being come to Paie (a pretpe towne where much Romaine coine is found, wortch the people call Jewes money) it mes tech with the Duleac that cometh also from the Atterell by Rerloy, and from thence goeth to Clifford castel, the Whitnesies, Winferton, Letton, Bradwarden, Brobery, 990 umaton, Byforde, Bridgefalers, Caton, Bienton and Herefoide, where it meteth with a water ryling thoric of Wlormellep, and goeth by Daunsell, Lacy, Brinsop, Cres onell, Stretton and Duntington, and some after into the Taye, belide a little ryll that runneth betwene them both euen into Heres forde towns. From hence in lyke sozte the Tilve halfeth to Botheras church, Dampto, and Hordeford, where it taketh in lundave waters in one chanell, of which the Lugoz Lup is the principall, and nert of all to be des feribed before I go any furder with b course of the TIlve, whereinto it dischargeth the chanell. It reseth as I reade, harde by Wes leminth neare to a chappell of our Ladve of Priale, from whence it goeth to Lineton, Duler, Stanbach, Staunton, Pembrioge, Arrilande, Stoebach, Cungton, Bevarley, beneath which it croffely the Wavele, coms ming from new Radnoz, Parton, olde Rade noz, Path, and hereabout meeting with an other running by Wickon hall to Monacht,

Fulbroke, Presson (a market towne) and so to Byton, where forning with & Wladel, they ran on as one to over L&, Ailminster, Lingellande, Etton, and Leon Winster (02 Lemister) taking in the Dney by the waye, Dney. before we come at the towne. At Lemister it selfe in like sort three waters doe mete, and almost enuronne the towne, that is to say, the Lug, the Pinfulley or Pinsell (a ryue, Pinsel. ret ryling at Kingellande two myles from Lemister) and the Kenbroke, which com-Kenbzoke meth out of the blacke mountaines. From Lemister the Lug oz Lup goeth on to Eton, and there taketh in a rill beneath Hampton, inhereof one heade is betweene Hatfield and Buckleton, an other neare buto Wartton, & mætina both at Humber. From Hampton it goeth to Wellington, Mozton, Sutton, Shelwyc, Lugwardine, t Longward, where it crosseth the Fromey or frome a pretie was Fromey. ter, and worthy to be remembred. It ryseth aboue Molferelaw, from whence it coms meth downe to Wzomeyarde, Auenbury, Acto alias Fromscastell, Stretton bpon Frome, and Loden. there taking in a water (called Acton, or Los den as I take it) comming from aboue By-Hoppes Grendon, by Pencomb, Towarne, Stoke Lacy, Cowarne, and Engleton, it (3 meane Frome) goeth on to Barkeley, Dozo nington, and Longwarde, and so into the Lug, which runneth furthwith to Mozdfozd 02 Posthfozd, fo into the Wipe, buto whole description I nowe returne agapne. Being come therefore buto Wordforde, it goeth to Hamlacy, Ballinghã, Capull regis (where it recepueth a water called Treske, from Treske. Berche by Treske) Fawley, Brokanton, Powe capull, Inkeston, fop, Bramps ton, Bziostowe, Wilton Castell, the Kosse (and there a rill from Bishoppes Dyton by Budhall,) Mereferde, Pant, Glewston. Godderiche, (here in lyke fort meeting with another that commeth from Ecleswall, by Peniard Castell and Coughton) to Welche Bicknoz, Englishe Bicknoz, Buntesham & Whitchurch, where it taketh in Gapnar wa, Gapnar. ter that cometh from Birche, by Lanwarne, Michaell church, and at Langarran croffing the Garran backe, that ryleth in Gregwod Garran. fire myles from Monemouth by Porwell, these two doe runne as one, to Marsfon. Whitchurch and so into the Wive-which gos eth from thence to Dirton and Donemouth. where I will fray a whyle till I have described the Mone, next of all to be remembred here.

The Pona ryseth in the foirest of Hene, Mona. twentie myles from Honemouth by welk in Cirillande, and going by Crefwell or Crafe wall, wall, after it hath runne a good distaunce fro the head, it recepueth the Elkon on the one side, and the Eskill or Hesgill on the other: but first of ail this last remembred that commeth thither by Lanthengle, Eskill and the olde Court. As for the other it commeth fro aboue knedoch by Landuchans churche, and this is all that I can say of these two. After these confinences therfoze, the Mona go. eth to Cluedoch, staking in the Hodny that runeth by fine Capell, Lantony abbay, Sta, ton, Michaell churche, it haffeth on to Wal derston, Landsillo, and then sopneth with the Dour, that ryseth a little aboue Dour, fron which is fire miles about Dour abbay, so that it runneth thosow the Gilden dale, by Peterchurch, Fowchurche, Pozhampton, Dewcourt, Dour, and beneath Dour taketh in the Dulene, from Lanueihengle, by Harieswas castell on the one side, and eare long the Mozmelbecke from aboue Revernal by Didley, Deveror, Workebridge and Kenverchurch on the other, and so running all in one chanell bnto Mona, that river goeth on to kinech churche, Grismonde, Cardway, Skenfrith, Warnethall, Perthire and fo to Monemouth, where it meeteth with the Wipe.

Elbon.

Eskill.

The Guy or The therfore being increas fed with thus many brokes and waters, pale feth on from hence, and going toward Landogo, it meteth with h Trolly becke, whose head is aboue Lannam ferry and goeth from thence by Lhantellio, Lanthangell, Grace, - vieu, Diggestow, Monastow, Trop and so into Tupe, that runneth allo by Tules woo chase, taking in there the Elwy that cometb from aboue Landelwy by Langowen, Lans nillen, Penclase, Trilegh, and Langogo, where meeting with the afozelapde streame, the Tive directeth his course from thence by Tinterneabbay, Chepstowe and so into the sea, leaving the Treacle (a Chappell Canding on a rocke) on the left hande betweene it and Sauerne, over against the point that lyeth fouth of Bettelly. Pert but the Tupe, I finde a rill of no great course, comming downe from Pounton chappell, by a place of the bishops of Landaste. Thence passing by Charston rocke, and the point subereon Trinitie chappell franceth, I come buto the fall of Tropy, which rysch thost of Tropy castell, runneth towards the sea, by Landuair, Dewston, Calpcot and so into the D.

The next fall is of a water that commeth lande in § from aboue Penho by Saina Brives, north and by well of Denny Mande, which lieth midway between that Fall & Posthot point, and before I touche at Goldcleffe point, I crosse another fall of a freshe broke, whose heade is aboue Landucigo, and course by Lhanbed, Langston, Lhanwarne, e thozowe the moze to Witton.

The Uske or Wiske, in latin Osca riseth in The. fuch fort as I have already described, & running in processe of tyme, by Trecastell, it tak keth in the Crafe broke, on the right hande Crafe. befoze it come to Kidhurne chappell. Boing also fro thence toward Deuinock, it crosseth the Senney on the same side, (which riseth as bone capel Benney)nert of all the Camblas, Benny. and at Abbraine the Brane, or the Bremich Cambias. whose head is the miles from Brechnock, Branc. and running by Lanthengle, it meteth I fay with the Alke, about Payster Awbries Paner. Beneath Aber Wifer, it recevueth the D: ffer, which rifeth aboue Wartir Kinoch and yffer. commeth by Battell chappell, and going fromthence by Lanspythed, and Pewton, it runneth in the ende to Brecknocke, where it taketh in the Hooney on the one live, whole Hooney. head is in Blaine Hooney, and commyng downe from thence by Desrune chappell, Lanihägle, & Landinilog it mæteth with the Ulke at Bzeknocke townes ende, which of the fall of this water, was sometime called Aberhodní, as I have beine informed: on the other halfelikewise it recepueth & Ter, Tertarith. tarith that reseth among the Bane helles, frue myles from Beecknoch and commeth likewise into the very subburbes of $ towne beneath Trenewith, or newe Troy wherby it taketh the course.

After these conflueces, the Aske proceedeth on towarde Aberkingrike . 02 the fall of a was Expuricke ter whose heade is in the rotes of Penuch. denny hil, and passage by Cantresse. Thence it goeth by Lanhamlaghe, Wenkethley cas stell, Lansanfreid Landetty, Langonider, & some after recepting the Kiangali (which ris Riangall. feth about the bill whereon Dynas Castell standeth, and runneth by Lanyhangle and Tretoure)it passeth betweene Laugattocke and Ceriakhowell, to Langroym, and there crosseth the Ground broke, that discendeth Grouni. from Monegather Arthur hill, by Peter Church, as I finde. When the Uske is palt this broke, it taketh in three other thort rils, from by fouth with in a little distance, where of the first hight Cledoch Want, the seconde Cledoch= Fydan, the thirde Cledochbehan. De these baur. also the last falleth in nere to Lanwenarth. Cledoch= From hence the Ulke runneth to Aberges vehan. uenni towne, where it meteth with the Ges Genenni. uenni water from by north (that rifeth thort of Bettus Chappell) & so goeth on to Hardwije, beneath which it croffeth this nameles Tiwon.

Edup.

rilles on the right hande before it come at Lambangle opon Alke, of whole courses I know not any moze then that they are not of any length nor the chancl of sufficient greats nes fenerally to entreate of. Between Rem Wirthin. mepsano Croffrey it meteth with such an Couries other rill that commeth downe by Bettus of Mic 180 Pewith. Thence it goeth to Cair Alke or of Officiand Lizenbiget, but eare it come there, it receps Carbo on ueth the Birthm on the right hande, which is the other, a pretie water descending from two heades, but Car wherof the first is north west of Panyhylot, ucramica as the other is of Langhangle & Pentinozell. ferver med fert bato this it toyneth with the Clwy as the land. boue Landadocke, whose heade is Cast of Penciale, and running well wardes by Denciaie, Lammillen , Langowen (and beneath Landewy taking in a broket from Kagland castell, that commeth volume thither by Kas glande parke) it bendeth southwest butill it come at the Alike, which crinckling toward the South moteth with thee rilles before it rome to Warthey chappell, wherof the first lyeth on the right hande, and the other on the ich. Fro Barthelly it halteth to Bemmeys, ano care it come at Carleon, taketh in two waters on the right hande, of which the heat commeth downe betweene Landgwy & Landgweth, thy Lhan Henceh, without ang fareer increase; but the other is a moze beaurunh fireame, called Auon, and thus deferis bed as Timbe it among my pamphlettes. The Anoncreseth in the hilles that sæme to part Womemouth and Breckenock thires in lander, and running downe from thence by Capell Debuth and Triuethin, it receve netha water from by fouth almost of equall couries from that quarter of the countrie and in processe of time, another little one fro the fame five, eare it come to Lanphangle, four whence it goeth to Owennocke & Denrose, and so in Tise before it go by Carleon. Being pair Carltonitrumeth to Cryndy. where So. Darbert dwelleth, and there carps ing another biwke withall, that descendeth by Genits and Bettus chappell, it runneth furth to Peloport in Welch castel Dewith) Showith, and from thence into the lea taking the Cbo. with water withall, whole race I described in my field boke, but having nowe moze intelligence of his course, I will ones againe ocale with it in this manner as I reade it. The Chownin rifeth in h very edge of Mones nouth flore, about Blainequent, and comning volune by Lanheleth and Tumberlow hell croffing a rellifrom South east be the war at taketh in therabout b Serowp, that runneth by Treffrent, and is of leffe race its therto, then the Chowith, and fro that same quarter. After this confluence it goeth to Ris Acy, Rocheston castell, next of all thosowe a parke, and so to Grenefeld castell, and is not long ere it fall into the fea, being the last issue that I doe finde in the county, which beareth the name of Monemouth, was in olde time a part of the region of the Silures.

The Kemeney of as some corruptly call it Rememen, the Ponney is a goody water, and from the head a march betweene Bonemouth & Glamozgan thires. It recepueth no water on the east side, but on the west divers smal beckes, whereof the are betwene the riling & Weas thetere chappell, the fourth commeth in by Capel Gledis, the fift from betwene the Falozay and Lanvaboz, the firt and scuenth before it come to Bedwas, and the eyght ouer against Bedwas it selfe, from chappell Wartin: after which confluences it runneth on by Haghan, Leven, Habley and Komenep, and ere long croffing a becke at Porth east, that commeth by Langssen, and Kathe it falleth some after into the Saucrne, Sea, but sæmore of this in my former Treatise.

The Taffe rifeth among the woody hilles, Taffe that lye welt, and by north of Denuchdeny baur. bill, and going downe to Capell Panty, it takethina rollet from by welf, tafterward another from by east, comming by Mozlais castell, called Taffe vehan (as the former is Caffe benamed Taffe vaur) so that Denuch hill doth han. lye betweene these two heades, and therto is an hill of no smal height and greatnesse. We ing topico they go on to Hartyz Tiduil as one, to proceede til they meete with Cunno, Cunnon (or rather Benon, tenne myles from Clauth or kenon. constable, a faire Broke running to Aberdare, and after that with the Rodney, before Rodney. described whereinto the Cledungh falleth, a niple from Retgowghe & an halfe, on & west Cledungh. side, after which confluence it hasteth to the sea without any farder increase, by Castell Coche, Whitchurche, Landasse, and Cardifferas Jaelle.

The Lay ryfeth in the hylles aboue Lan: Lay. trissent (for all the regyon is very hillye.) From whence comming by Lantricent . it runneth by Toit Warchan parke, Lambed. der s.Brides, Lhannihangel, Leckwith, Lä. dolugh, Togamppil, and so into the sea, with out anye manner increase by anye rylles at all saving the Dunclais, which ryseth Dunclais. foure myles from his fall, cast northeast, & Dedwart, mæteth withall a little moze then a quarter of a mple from Dont Helim Haur, and likes wife by west, the Wetheoise that commeth from Glinne Rodeney, and wherein to the Pedware dischargeth that small water gas thered in his chanell.

Leauing

Leaning the Late which some call Clave, and passing the Pennarth baie, that lyeth betwene the Pennarth and the Lauerocke pointes, we left Scilley Baet (which lyeth in the mouth of Scilley haven befoze described) and came buto the Barry whose heade is a bone wintton castell, and from whence he runneth by Deinspowis, Cadorton, Barry and so into the sea. Thawan is the next streame (fauing Come Biog touched afoze) nowe to be described. It ryleth of two headlettes aboue Lanlans nan, and thence greth to Cowbridge, Lan, blethian, Landoghe, Beanpære, Flymston, Gylfton, and betweene the east and the west Aberthawan into the Sauerne Sea. But ere it come all there it recepueth a broke cale led Kenlan, oz Karnlan, oz Kenlec, on the Cassive, whose heade is east of Bolsion, and commung by Charnelhoyde, Lhancaruan, and Lhancadle, it falleth ins to the former aboue either of the Thawans, Lelande layth, that Kenlan hath two heades whereof the moze Portherly called Brane, lieth in Luenlithan, & runneth seauen myles before it meete with the other. Leauing this water we sapled en, casting about the nathe point, omytting two or three waters whereof I have made mencion in my former treatife by the way, because I have nothing moze to adde but o their descriptions, ercept it be that the Colhow taketh in a rill fro Lan Altruit, of whole course (to save the truth) 3 have no manner knowledge.

The Dgur 02 Bur, which some fallely call Dgmur, is a welfaire Greame, (as we were mont to lave in our olde englishe) whose head is in the same hilles, where the Kodeneis are to be founde, but much moze westerlye, and running a long course ere it come to any bils lage, it goeth at the length beneth Languine, uere, to S. 182ides byon Daur, then to newe castell, and Warthermaure, beneath which it méteth the Wenny halfe a mile from Dgoz castell on the east banke. It ryseth five oz fire miles from this place, among the billes, and comming downe at last by Lanharne, it crosseth a roll ere long from northeast, and the confluence passeth forth by Coitchurch, Dgoz castell, and so into the Dgoz. Lelande wayting of the waters that fail into thys Dgo2 farth thus. Into the Dgur also resoze teth the Garrow two myles aboue Lanlan fride bridge, descending from Blaingarow. It taketh furthermoze saveth hee ano ther called Levenny ryling in the Paroch of Olin Cozug, at Porthbelt, and then run ning tho mples lower, butteth it selfe with the Cozug hinke, a little short thing a wor of the description of Britaine. thie no longer (peach. From this confluence the Levenni goeth seven myles farder eare it mete with the Daoz on the west side, at Lansanfride, two mples aboue Penbowt, and so farre Lelande. Pert buto the Dgur is the Kensia water, that commeth downe by the Pyle and Kenfige castell, and being past Kenfig. the same we crosse the Pargan rill, where Margan. Sir Comarde Manrell dwelt, and so onto A Quon. non which having two heades as is faid the more easterly of them commeth downe by Bauodaport chappell, the other by Blin Corug, Dichaell church, Aber Auon, and fo into the sea. From hence we went along by the Cole pittes to the mouth of the Peth. Peth.

The Deth is a faire water, ryling of fine heades, whereof the moze easterlye named Pethucha. Dethbehan rifeth not farre from the head of the Bennon, and comming downe to Aber: Reth pirgwin, it recieueth Dethbaur, a litle aboue Maur. the towne, which riling not farre southeast Craus of the head of Lauy, receiveth & Trangarth, Weltar. the Meltay and the Veplay (all which are ac. Hipfay, compted, as members of his heade) in one chanell about a mple or more before it topne with Dethvehan. After these confluences, the maine freame runneth in and out by funday Duleffe. mples till it mette with the Duleile, whois head is aboue Chappel Brenaunt. Thence it goeth to Cador towne, oz betweene it and Lannstroe, then to Pethtowne, and beneath the same receiuing the Cledoch, that runeth Cledoch. by Relebebilch, and also Neth abbay where M. Crumwell dwelleth, it goeth on by Coit, franke forrell, pethwoo, Berton ferry and lo into the lea.

The Taup (for 3 passe over the Crimline becke, bicaule I want his description) rileth in the thickest of the blacke mountaines, and comming downe west of Calwen chappell, it recepteth on the east banke a ryll, named Cofell, that runneth thither by Cofelburne Coilns. chappell, and being thus butted the chanell palleth forth by Afraguules, and then mes Corche. ting with the Turche, 02 Touche water that commeth from the fote of the blacke mountaine, it rumeth to Langoge, Lanfamled, S. Johns, Swanley, and to into the Baie. Being past this we come by another little falwhose water runneth three or foure myles, ere it come into Swanley Baie, but without name. Thence going about by Postermout castell & Dumbles point, we go forth toward the southwest, by Pennarth point, tyll we Ilston. come to Ilton water, whole head is not far within the lande, and pet a rill or two both fall into the same. Then callyna about by Drwiche point, wie go onwarde thereby and fapling flat north by the Holme, and S.

Caup.

Ben.

The Seconde Booke

Bennettes chappell and then Porth eaft by Whitforde point, we went at length to the Lochar, oz Loghoz, oz as Lhopo nameth it the Lychwi. It rysethaboue Gwenwy chaps pell, from whence it goeth to Landbea, and aboue 15ettus receiveth a rill named Amone that entereth thereinto fro northeaft. Being past Bettus it passeth by Laneddy, Arthelas bzioge, and ouer against Landilo Talabout, it croffeth from by west the Combwily and afterwarde the Wozlais aboue Langnarche Moglais. on the same side. Then comming to Loghoz castell, it taketh in on the east side, the Lhu Lhu. whose course is not about five myles, and thence losing the name of Lochar, it is called Burray as I gelle bntill it come to the lea. Burray. From this water we passed by Bachannis Alle, to the Aberlheddy water, whole heade Theddp. being about Beenacrois, it passeth by Lhanelitier & thence into the lea. Then went we to the Dulche, thence by the Pembray and Calicost pointes, till we came about to the wandzes. Wandzes oz Clendzaith mouth, whose des feription is sufficiently fet downe in the former Creatie, and therfore but in baine to be repeated here, except I might adde some what there but o therby to make it moze per; fice.

The Towy ryling in such loste and place as 3 haue layde, parteth Bzecknocke from Cardigon theze, toz a certaine lealon, till it Teausnat come by the water of Trausmant (that salleth thereinto from by caft, buto pplin Cas pell, and to Litrodefine where it mæteth with the Tothe that commeth thether from Lhinuerwin where it ryseth and so thozowe Lis footh forrest, till it write it selfe with the Bestotter. Pescotter, which mouting out of the ground in theoge of Cardigan theze, runneth along as a limite and marche unto the same, till it ionic with the Tothe, 4 both come togither beneath Istrodefine into Towy. After this confluence it cometh to Lhanuair Awbier, Lonrhewell and Landonuery, and here it rec, pneth two waters in one chanell, where, of the first is called Brane, the other Outher Gutherije. rije (which lyeth moze foutherly of the two) & fall as I fayo into Towy beneath Landon verey, which runeth on till it mete with the first Dulcse that goeth by Lanurdy, then with the Warlais, these on the Pozthwest. Moglato. 13ut a little lower it taketh in many waters in one chancil beneath Langadocke, called Modelov from by cast, whereof I have thus aduertisement. The Hodely of as some pronounce it Notheny, ryleth of two heades. which torning abour Lanyhangle, b ffreame runneth on till it mette with the Cledoch on the left hande, proceeding also farder toward Langadocke, it receiveth not far from thence the Sawthey whole two heades descende fro Sawth the blacke mountaines or east edge of Car: mardineshyze, as mine information leadeth me. After this confluence the seconde Du Dukste. leffe doth meete with the Town (whose head is in the hilles aboue Talthogay abbav) then comming downe by Landilonaur, Dinefar castell, and Golden groue, it recevueth the thirde Buleffe, from by north that commeth Duleffe, in by Dzillan castell and after that the Co. Cothe. they, whose race is somewhat long and there foze his description not betterly to be passed ouer. Pot farre from the head (whole place is alreadie set downe) and somewhat beneath Lanapinsent chappell, it taketh in the Tur Curch. chebecke, that runneth thither from Lanacroves. Thence it goeth to Lanfawell, Abergozlech, Bzeghuangothy, Lannigod and fo into Towy, which halling forwarde by chaps vell Demy, recepueth the Kauelthy, from by Rauelth, north, then the Swilp fro northwest, whose Swilp. head is aboue Lany Pinsent, & race by Canwell, Cluert, Comewply, and Werling hill, as I have often heard. After this confluence with the Swyly, the Towy goeth to Caer. mardine, then to Language, then to Landes phan, f. Imaeles and fo into the fca.

Pert bnto the Town is the Taue, whole Tane. head is in the blacke mountaines as is afores farde, at the rotes of Warenni baur hill in Dembrokeshpre, from whence it runneth bp Lanunrieach, Langludien, Lanualteg, and taking in the Duddery from Couthwell, out Dudden, of the same countie by Lanbederuelfray, it goeth to Eglesware chappell, beneath which it crosseth the Warlais by Porth that runs Marlais neth by Lanbedy & Whitlande. Thence mees ting with one rill called Tenni as I take it) Tienni. that commeth thosow Caroith forrest on the one lide, the Cayze on the other that run Cair. neth into it well of Landowzor, it halfeth to S. Clares where it taketh in the Barthkyn Barth. 119,02 Barthkinni, as Leland calleth it, the kimit Cow both in one chanell, of which the first Cow. rpfeth aboue Capell Bettus, from whence it runneth by Talacouthe, Kilsant and Langrnnyn, the other issueth out of the grounde aboue Trologh Bettus, by Wydzun, & iops ning with the former a little aboue f. Clares they runne into the Taue, and from thence to Lanphangle, and betwene it and Aber, cowen, admitteth finally the Sowe fireame, Sowen which comming likeluple from the blacke mountaines goeth by Ebbernant, and so into the Tauc, who directeth his course, by Lae charne castell and then into the sea.

The next water that we come to is the Swair, which is but a small thing ryling as Swain

Argwaire. Then passed we by another comming out of Kath forrest called Coit Kathe, the water it felfe riling hoat of Templeton. Thence leaning the Ponkelton rocke, we came to Tenby og Dynbechy Piscod, and passing into the Post betweene the castell and f. Catherines rocke, we founde it served with two little backematers, of to smal cour tenaunce, that they are not worthpe of any farder talke to be spent in their descriptions. io Lon- After this we passed betweene Londy and an to Cals other Islet or rock lying by northwest of the lame, to Ludlop point, and lo to Abertrewet where I founde a filly freshe water, that ry seth a mple or thereabout within the lande. Frothence we went southwards by W20de bauen, til we came to S. Gowans point. The gathering west a by Porth before we came at Shepe Mande, we founde another freshe water, that rifeth short of kyring Waharen, and running fouth of Aggarston, Windmill hill, og betweene it and Castell Pogton and Supton, it holdeth on flat west all the wav. till it come at the Dceane. The Shepe Ide not afoze described is but a little plot, lying at the very point of the Bay befoze we came at & Blockhouse, which standeth north of the same at the very entrie into Wilfozde hauen byon the east side. By north of Shepe Ille & betweene it and the Stacke rocke (which ly: cth in the very middelf of the hauen) at anos ther point is Kat Ille, yet smaller then the former. Being therfore palled thele, we call about towarde the northwest, by the Poptos and Dennar, till we came to the Dennar mouth, out of which the Salt Water issueth that in maner environneth Wembzoke. Fro this (omitting funday falt crækes on both fides of the hauen) we came to the fall of two waters in one chanel aboue whose coffuence. Williamson parke standeth, & whereof one (a mære salt course,) incloseth the partes of Carew castell. The other rysing neare to Coit Kath forrest is a freshe, and going by Geffraiston, Treswel and Lawrenny, it leas ueth the Sparck on the fouth fide, and goeth into the hauen after confluence with the foz-

Powe come I to the two swordes, afore mencioned whose courses I finde described in this order. The Clothy resethat the sote of Wenny vaur hill and comming downe to Honachlodge, Langelman, Lannakeuen, and Egremond, it recepueth a ryll from by northwest before it come at Lanhaddon castell. Earclong also it taketh in another on the east side from Parbarth castell, by Ko beston, then going by Cunaston, Slebach, Coit kenles (as I have bene informed) it meteth with the other (worde, named Due Dunledy). gledy wher of I reade as followeth. The bed of the Dugledy, is somewhere at northwest, betwene S. Laurences and S. Dugwels, from whence it runeth to Trauegarne, Ked, barton, and taking in a rill by the wave from Camrole at the well, it goeth to Hauerford west, and there bniteth it selfe with a water, which peraduenture, is the same that Lelão called Suply. Certes it rifeth about Walto, Swyly. and comming by S. Leonardes chappel and Wendergest, it falleth, I say into the Dugles dy, over against the towne of Haverforde, or Herfozde welt, but in Welch Hulfozde as Thoid doth let it downe. Beneath Herforde it taketh in another water from southwest. whole head is thost of S. Wargarettes chaps pelland enteraunce betwene Harraloffon, and Herforde, which Harraldstone, recepueth the name of Harralde the successour of Edwarde the confessour as some call bim. who was a grieuous mail buto the Bettons that remarked in the time of the large Cowarde as I have noted alreadie. The Cults Cultich lell cometh into the Dugledy beneath Bol fron, with a freight course from by Porth. of thee or foure myles, after whose buition with the afozefayde water, they runne on as one till they mette with the Clothy casting out by the wave funday falt creekes as the maine chanell doth from thenceforth butill it palle the Sandy have, the Dale rode (whi ther a filly fresh rill commeth of small value) and be come about agapne into the large D. ceane. Having thus thewed the courses of those few fresh waters that come to Milford hauen, we cast about by the blockehouse and S. Annes chappell to Gateholme Ale, that lyeth betweene S. Annes and the Wilocke Ale.

point, directly ouer against Stockeholme Stocke Illand that is scituate farder of into the sea, holme Ide towarde the fouthwest, and is full halfe so great as the Scalmep & I befoze described.

Betwene the Willocke point also and the Scalmey, directly welf, is the midlande Ille, full so great as the Gateholme.

The Grecholme lyeth directly west of Midlands Scalmey, from whence if you fayle thyther 3fle. on the fouth fide, you must niedes past by the Gresholme newstone rocke: if on the north of Scalmep, vou must leave the Varlance stone on your lefthand. Wherento if you note well the scituation of these Illands already named, and conferre them with the Kamsey and S. Da uids land, you hall finde them to produce as it were two daungerous pointes, including the Bzid baie, wherein (notwithstanding the greate

Modury.

Dulelle.

Cothe.

greatnelle) are 1000, perilles, and no freshe 15: when for me to deale withall. Thushaung doubled the celillocke point, we entred pet into the Baie, to fie what Illes were there against the nerte publication of thys boke, if it maye please God to graunt me lufe to fix it printed once againe, eyther by it selse oz otherwise. $.252:des Firit of all therefore I same S.1B2ides 36 flande, a very little patche of grounde, nære the lande, before 3 came at Galtrop rode. From thence we went aboute by the little hauen, Doluach hauen, Carnay Hauen, Shirelace rocke, Carnbuddy, and Carnay Bayes, Postclais, and so into the sounde betweene Kamley and the point. In thys found lykewite is a little Ifle, almost anners ed to the maine, but in the middelf thereof is a racke called the horse (a myle and more by north of Ribby rockerthat lyeth foutheast of Ramsey and more infortunate then tenne of Sciences coltes, but thanked be God I neuer Thece palling by Ste vangerous paous naie, and Wilhite lande baie, we faluted rocaes to the 13th op and his Clarkes, as they went in procession on once left spde (beyng lothe to take any falted hely water at their hands) and came at lair to the point called S.Das fouthests mos head. From whence we coasted along e died the toward the foutheast, till we came over as billion "d gainst S. Catherins, where going north wardes by the bacade hauen, and the Stroms bles heade, we layled thence northeau, and by north, to Langlas head, then flat fouth by the Cow and calfe (two cruell rockes) which we left on the left hande, and so costed sucr to Abergium or fiscarde, where we founde a freihe water named Owin, og Gwerne. whose course is in manner directly out of the cast into the Welck, butill it come within a umle of the afozelande Lowne. It ryleth flat north of the percely hill, from whence it goe eth by Dont bain, Lauerellidoch, Lanchar, Landucuair, and to to Abergwine, og Abers gwerne, for Tooc read both. Fro Abergwin, we call about by Dynas heade, till we come to the fall of Penerne, where Pewpozt Candeth. The head of this river is aboue Capell Pantgloon, from whence it runneth by Whitchurch, but care it come at Aviginin, it taketh ma little water that refeth short of Wilson vaur, a thence go forth as one butill ther come to Deluport. Cardinan haven is the nert fall that Jovo frumble on, wherein wheth a little Islands over against the north point. Dereinto also commetathe Teife, whereof I have woken somewhat in my fors mer treatife, but fith it sufficeth not for the

for the full knowledge of the course of thus

Areame, I will supply the want even here in such order as insueth.

The Tetty or Tine ryleth in Lintiue as is afozelande, and after it hath runne from thence a little space, it recepueth a bawke fro foutheast that commeth out of Lin Legnant and then after the confluence runneth on to Stradfleur Abbate, beneath which it meteth with the Przicke water (that ryfeth aboue Myzick Stradmyzich) and some after with the Lan. Landant Bis.alias ourch, (both from the northwest) and finally the Bromis aboue Aregaron, that commeth in by the east as Leland hath set down. Bromis Dere to Landwybzeup also it crosseth the Beennige by eaft, then goeth to Landuair, Benni Cleooghe, Kellan, & some after taking in the Batherne from by Call that parteth Car: Mathen digan partely from Carmardine thire, and likelvise & Dulas aboue Lanbedder, (which Dulas, rpseth aboue Langebby, and goeth thence to Bettus) on the northwelf-it goeth nert of all to Lanbedder towne, then to Lampbair, be, neath which it croffeth the Gravelth, thence to Decarocke, Lambether, Lanllopny, Las Grand nphangle, and Landillel, and there it buiteth it selfe with the Clethoz, which conneth down Clethon thither by Lantifilued chappell, Lanfraine, and finaly Landilell from by north as 3 doe here. After this confluence it proceedeth on to Landuap, Allopne, Bangoz, Langeler, Landeurcog and Pewcastell, erelong taking in the kery from by north, whose heade is not kery. farre from that of Clethez, and whose course is somewhat inlarged by such rilles as dis cend into the same. Hez welf of Capel Beno, two beeks in one chanell doe fall into it, ale though they be namelesse, and but of a lyttle length. Beneth Eredwair, also crosseth anos ther from by west, that runneth along by Bettus, Euan, and finally meeting with the Teifp, they runne as one by Bennarth (fill parting Carbigon fhire, from Carmardin, as it hath done lith it met woth & Watherne) and so forth on till they some with the Ches Theach ach which ryling aboue Chapple Euan, both part Carmardine and 15zecknocke thire in funder, till it come buto the Teifp. Frothis confluence, and being fill a Limite buto Cardigon thire, it goeth by Warierdiue, and fo to Cardigan, taking in one rill from by north and two on the fouthwest side, but af: terwarde none at all, before it come to the sca.

Avzon rylyng as is afozclayde aboue Avion. Blain Denial, rumeth on by Lamberwoos op Langutho, Tregrigaron bill, Treuilian, and fone after taking in a rell from by fouth it rüneth by Ifrade, laplkenen, Lanicharin, and finally into the Sea, croffong by the way the Bioder banke, which comming from Dehewide, both fall into the same, betweene Lanychaysin, and Henbennev.

Hidder.

baltque.

Duleffe

of the description of Britaine.

The Arth is no great thing, neyther of any any long course, yet it ryseth thise or foure mules or more within the lande flopewife, & coming by Lambadern, Treucglois, it fals leth into the lea, northeast of Aberarth. The Kis or rather the Werey, ryleth of two heas des, aboue whose convence frandeth a town, named Lambangle, Redred, & from whence it goeth by Lanygruthen to Laristed, and so into the Dccan.

The Dirwith ryleth in the blacke mound ternes, aboue Comeritwith from whence it runneth certeine inples, butill it come buto Plpitty, Istwith, Lanauon, Lanyler, Lan Pachairne, and so into the sea taking withal the Kidall or Kedholl not far from the More. whereof I have this discription. The Kidall releth in the toppe of Olimlymmon hyll out of a lake named Lin Rival, from whence go: ing towarde Spitty Kinwen, it croffeth one water on the north, and another beneath it on the foutheair, and fo gothon by Lanbeder baur, till it come to Aberiatoith, the Istwith and so into the Decan.

The Salique broke descendeth in like sorte from the blackmounteines, and going Time mabouc, toward Cogarth, or Cogythar, it recepueth the Palalique, and from thence goeth into the sea.

The Lery ryfeth toward the lower around of the blacke hylles, and going by Lanthangle castell Swalter, it runneth from thence northeast into the Dcean. Thus have I brought me selfe out of Cardigon thire, buto the Mly, that fameth for a certeine space to be marche betweene the same and Derson nethat here is also I ende with the description on of fouthwales, and likewife of all that region remarning, whereof I have no farder knowledge, moze then is alreadye let downe in my first boke, lith those y promised helpe herein have otterlye deceyned me. Det thus much will I note of such waters as fall into the lapde river on the louth lide, that above Mathanlaith it crosseth the Dowlasse Du and Dowlasse Knen both in a chanell, whose heades lye by west of & Rusluadian hill. We: neath the layde towns likewise I funde the Leuennaunt, which having two heades, the more southerly of them is Limes betweene Kadnoz thire a Hoemoth. After these it cros feth the Evnon, the Kinuer, and the Cledour, and thus farre for wales I faie againe, fith for the rest 3 veloc buts a non plus, butill 3 come to & Die, of whole courle I have some inche a informatio, (after it hath recepted h laying the Morlais, both in one bottome,) on the fouth five of Thirke castell, but not from the very head for want of information. Having therfore, mette with the aforefayde water, the De procedeth to Belfocke, Drton Das docke, Daton bridge and Bangoz, where the flaughter of monkes was made, or not far of from thence, and of which Monasterie I find this note infuing. Their abbaye of Bango? The fritne frode sometime in Englishe Payloz, by hy ation of ther and fouth of the river De. It is nowe the monaploughed ground where that house Kode, by stery of the space of a Welch mple (which reacheth Bangoz. unto a mple and an halfe Englishe) and to thus dave the tillers of the soule there, one plowe by bones as they lave of those monks that were flaine in the quarell of Augustine, and wythin the memorie of man, some of them were taken by in their rotten wedes, which were much lyke onto those of our late monkes, as Lelão doth set it down, pet Erasmus is of the opinion, that the apparel of the Benedicine monkes, was such as most men did were at their first institutio. But to prociede, thys Abbare swoe in a fayze bailey, and in those tymes the rouer ranne harde by it. The compasse thereof lykewise, was as h ciruite of a walled Towne, and to this days two of the the gates may easily be discerned, of which the one is named Pozt Pogan ly. ing by north, the other Port Clais, feitnate bpo the fouth. But & De haung now changed his chanell, runneth thozolo & very middest of the house between those two gates, the one of them being at the left a full halfe mple fro the other. As for the squared stone that is founde hereabout, and the Komaine coine, there is no such necessity, of the rehearfell thereof, but that I mape passe it over with out any farther mencion.

The De therefore beyng past Bangor, goeth to Wzothenbury, and there recepueth fundzy waters into one chanell, wherof the chiefe ryleth niere to Blackmere (a ma: ner pertayning to the Carle of Shreinesbus ry) from whence it goeth to TAhitechurth, Dusacre hall, and some after taketh in a roll that discendeth from Coilley, after which co. fluence, it runneth on by nether Durtwicke, to Dide castell, Tallarne, and ere long cros feth two other waters in one channell also, whereof one runneth by Penly chapell, and ther from Hawmere, and soyning at Emberhall, they go from thence to Worthenbus ry, and so into the Dee, which by and by buis teth it selse with another at Shockebasoge that commeth in from Ridding. Thence it runneth betweene Bolt cattell , and Farne, andere it come to Alfozd two waters com-

Alen.

ming out of Males doe to yne withal, where of the one is named alin and occendeth by Craffogde, Parffogde, Craywilly and Alen towne, the other greth by pewfozd & pot, ton. Beneath Alfoed towne end likewise the De recepueth the Gowy, whole heade is at Pecforien at two fenerall places, and after the confluence goeth by Beuon castell, 1 Befrom towne: thence to Trarton and Hakely where it deniveth it leife, so that one arme runneth by Lotnall, Sowburne (where P. Clenables lyeth) Le hall and beneath Alfozo againe into the other braunche of the ryuer Dæ, which goeth in the meane time by Stapicfozoe, Docknell plat, Diemftow, a alitle aboue Chorneton croffeth a water that coms meth from Cheffer, and goeth to Thogneto by the Baites, Charleto, Blackford, Crow, ton, and Stoke, whereby Myzall is cut fro the maine of Englande and left as a very 3, flance. Finally our De goeth from Altozde to Caton hall, Occleston, Buntungoon hall, 13 oughton and to by Thester townse into the hauen adiopning, and thus much of the Da, which recepteth in like lost the Alen mencioned even now wherof I gave some notice in the corner Areatise, and A have found moze lithens that time in Lelano which I will not here omitte, to let downe worde for word as I reade it in his Commentaries. One of the greated rivers, laith he, that falleth into this tircame, (meaning De) is named Alen. It resech in a pole called Lin Alen, and goeth trem thence by Lanteglan, Lan Armen, Lamuerus, Holeftale, and at Huspalin runeth into the grounde for a certaine space, about a quarter of a mile in length, and there after it is rylen againe with a great behemencie, becommeth a marche betweene Polcloale a Lordhip full of very fine riverets, called in Welche Stradalyn) and flint, for a fine miles arounde. From thence going thozow Doredale, 1520mefielde alias Dayloz & Camrioge, halfe a mple beneath Wolt, it falleth into the Da, which hath the best Trowtes in England. Beside this it recepueth also the Une Dedock, which commeth downs within a quarter of a myle of Ulreram, & meteth typihall a mple about bolt, a verpe partie Arcame, and such a one in dede as biedeth the fame Trotot, for which the Do is come mented. The Abon falleth into p De, with ma nucle of Ruabon churche. Thad almost leggotten, faith the larde Authour, to lycake of the Teria otherwise named Inon Teria, which being aimost so great as the Alen, co. meththorow a piece of Paie Lordhip into

Bolebale, and founts Aim. Tover passe also of Polchale towns, and some after into this water. Also the Bzone, descending fro Regions. nalds tower, tafter the quarters of a myle lpkewyse into the Aien. Finally the Waysal wrall which ryleth within leffe then a quarter of a mple of Chefter, & falleth into De at floc. kers broke, without the north gate, wherein is a Docke called Post pole for great thips to ride at a spring tyoe. Hitherto Lelande, whole fayings herem that not perith, because they may be profitably vied in the next publication of this boke, pfit cuer happen to be

The Seconde Booke

liked and come thereto. Being past the De we come nert of all but winer. to the Amer, then the which I reade of no river in England that fetcheth moze oz halfe fo many windlettes and crincklinges, before it come at the lea. It ryleth in Buckle hilles, which lye betwene Ridley & Buckle towns, and some after making a lake of a myle and moze in length called Rioley pole, it runeth by Riolev to Chalmodly. Thence it goeth to Wrenkurp where it taketh in a water out of a moze that commeth from Warbury: and Combus. beneath Sanford bridge the Combrus from Combermer og Comber lake : and finallye the thirde that commeth from about Dones ton, and runneth by Langerslaw, then bes twone Shenton and Atherly parkes, and fo into the Winer, which watereth all the west part of England, and is no leffe notable then the fift Auon of there Duje, whereof I have spoken already. After these confluences it has freth also to Andlem, Dawklow, and at Bar, derton croffeth the Betley water, that run: Betley. neth by Duddington, Wliddenbery and fo by Barderton into the aforesavde Areame. Thence it goeth to Pantwiche, but care it come at Barchforde bridge, it mæteth with a rill called Salophamke, as I gelle coming Salop. from Caluerley warde, and likewise beneth the layde bridge, with the Lie and the Will. Lie with uarne both in one chancil, wheref the first ris barne. feth at Taleston, the other goeth by Copnall. From thence the Miner runeth on to Winchion and Tardelwije, and the nert water that falleth into it is the Athe, (which passeth The. by Darnall Graunge,) and afterwarde go. ing to Warke, the vale Royall, and Caton, it commeth finally to Posthwiche where it recesucth the Dane, to be described as fol. Dank. loweth. The Dane riseth in the very edges of Cheffer. Darbushpie, and Staffordibuze, and comming by Wharneforce, Switham. lev and Boller, is a limite betweine Staf. force and Darby Chyres, almost cuen from the very head, which is in Parwell forrest. At is not long also ere it met with the Biole Bok. water, that commeth by Congerton, and af ter the coffuence goeth to Swetham, the De remitage, Cotton and Crorton, there taking in two great waters whereof the one is cale led Whelocke, which comming fro the edge of the countie by Mozton to Sanobach crossoth another that descendeth from Churche Cawlton, and after the confluence goeth to Marmingham (tovning also beneath Dio. lewith with the Croco oz Crorto, the fecond areat water, whose head commeth out of a lake aboue Woverton as I heare) and thence both the Alhelocke and the Croco go as one to the Dane, at Crorston, as the Dane doth from thence to Boltocke, Dauenham, She bruch, Shurlach and at Porthwiche into the afozelayd Wlyner. After this confluence the THruer runneth on to Barneton, and there in like fort receiveth two brokes in one chas nell, wherefone commeth from aboue Allos Stocke, by Holme and Lastocke, the other from bevonde Birtles mill, by Chelforde (where it taketh in a rill, called Winerep) thence to over Bever, Holforde & there cros fing the Waterleffe banke (growing of two beckes and iopning at nether Tablep) it goeth forth to Minchambrioge, and then mee ting with the other, after this confluece they proceede till they come almost at Barneton. where the faide chanell topneth with a prette water running thozow two Lakes, whereof the greatest lyeth betweene Comberbach. Rudworth, & Warbury. But to go forwarde with the course of the maine river. After these cofluences our Wiver goeth to Warham, Adonbeidge, and Dutton, oner against which towne, on p other lide it meteth with a rill, comming from Cuddington, also the fecond going by Polep, and Gritton final lye the thirde some after from kimsley, and then proceedeth on in his pallage, by Alheton chappell, Frodelham, Kockesanage, and so into the lea; and this is all that I doe finde of the Myuer, whose influences might have beene moze largely fet downe, pf mine infunctions had beene more amplye delinered, pet this I hope mape suffice for his description, and knowledge of his course.

The Perley rifeth among the Peke hils, and from thence going downe to the Mod house, and taking sundate rilles with al by the waye, it becommeth the confines betweene Theffer and Darbythyzes. Going also toward Goitchal, it meteth with a faire baoke increased by sundape waters, called Gopte, whereof I finde this thout and briefe descrip. tion. The Gopte rifeth not far fro the Shire mere hill (wherein the Done and the Dane have their oziginal) that parteth Darbythire and Chesterthyzes in lunder, and thence co.

meth downe to Govte howles, Duerto, Tare hall, Shawcroffe, and at Wephaidge taketh in the frith, and beneath Berohall the Set frith. that rifeth aboue Thersethall and runeth by Bet. Duersette. After this confluence also the Wersey goeth to Gopte ball, and at Sto2fo2d towne mæteth with the Tame, which deut. Tame, deth Chestershire and Lancastershyzes in funder, and whose heade is in the very edge of Pozkelbpze, from whence it goeth South. warde to Sadleworth Firth, then to Dukele hirff. Staly hal. Ashoon Underline, Dunke, field, Denton, Redoith, and fo at Stockeford oz Stopfozd into the Perley freame, which palleth forth in like fort to Doodelbyry, recepuing a broke by the wave that commeth from Lime parke, by Brumhall parke and Chedley. From Doddelbury it procedeth to Poethen, Alhton, Aisson, Flixston, where it receiveth the Irwell a notable water, and Irwell. therefore his description is not to be omitted before I doe go forward any farder with the Merley. It rifeth abone Bacop, and goeth thence to Kolendale, and in the wave to Aptentielde it taketh in a water from Haselden. After this confluence it goeth to Pelvhall, Brandlesham, Brurp, and aboue Katcliffe ionneth with & Rache water, a faire Areame Ræus, 02 and to be described when I have finished the Bache. Irwell, as also the nert buto it beneath Kate cliffe, bycaule I woulde not have so manye endes at once in hande wherewith to trouble mp readers.

Beyng therfoze past these two, our Iswel Lelande goeth on to Clifton, Hollonde , Cogecroft, speaketh of Strang waves, and to Manchester, where it of the bniteth it selfe with the Pake, that runneth Come thereinto by Koyton Midleton, Peaton hill, water a= and Blackeley. Beneath Panchester also it Manchesmeteth with the Pedlocke that cometh thy, ter, but 3 ther fro the north east lide of Dloham, & be: knowe no= tivene Clayton and Barret Halles, and fo thing of betweene two parkes, falling into it about his course. Polne. Thence our Irwel going forward to Necolocke. Modfall, Ahicleswije, Ecles, Barton, & Denelhom, it falleth niere onto flirton, in to the water of Perfey, where I will Kape a while withall, till I have brought the other buto some passe, of which I spake before.

The Rache conflicth of fundage waters, Kache. whereofeche one in a maner hath a proper name, but the greatest of all is Kache it felf, which ryleth among the blacke from hilles, from whence it goeth to Littlebzough, and beyng past Clegge, rccepueth the Beyle, Beile. that commeth thither by Pyluernaw chap. pell. After thys confluence also, it meeteth with a rill neere onto Kachedale, and sons after with the Sprotton water, and then the Sprotton.

Trentes m D Little Des buch.

3 bon.

Enig.

the Howne that commeth by the senth ende

∄.j.

क्राक

Dudkp.

Sudley broke, whereby his chanell is not a little increased, which goeth from thence to Grifehirst and so into the Arwell, befoze it come at Liateliffe.

Gics.

Spadha. The Geond Areame is called Beatha.It rpleth of two heades, aboue Tureto church, whence it runneth to Braotha, and ere long walmelley, taking in the Malmelley becke, they go in one chanell till they come beneath Bolton in the Poze. From hence (receyuing a water that commeth from the rotes of Kanenpike, hill by the way) it goeth by Deane and Bols ton in the moze, and fo into Braotha water, which taketh his way to Lenermoze, Farn worth, Leuerlesse, and finally into the Ir, well which I befoze described, and whereof I finde their two verles to be added at the

Yrke, Irwell, Medlocke, and Tame, When they meete with the Mersey, do lose their

Powe therefore to refume our Perley you thall understande that after his confluence with the Irwel, he runneth to Parting. ton, and not farre from thence interteineth & Oles, 02 Olesbanke water, increased wyth fundave armes whereof one commeth from Looward, an other from aboue Houghton, the threde from bulton Partke, and the fourth from Shakerley : and beyng all but. ted nære onto Leighe, the confinence goeth to Polcroft, and aboue Polling græne into b lwift Berley. After this increale the laide Areame in lyke fort runneth to Rigfton, & there admytteth the Bollein broke water into his locietie, which rifing nere & Chamber in Darwell Fozelt goeth to Ridge, Sutton, Marnelo, Bollington, Prefibyzy, and Bewton, where it taketh in a water coming fro about Pot Chappell, which runneth fro thence by Adlington, WI woforde, WI ymfley Ryngey, and Athley, there receyung the Byskin broke that commeth from betwene 23irkin. Allerton and Marchall, by Mawberly, and sone after the Darus oz Bar, that cometh thereinto from Bar towne, by Kawirozne, and after these confluences goeth on to Downham, and ouer against Kirton beneth Crossozoe bridge into the Derley water, which proceeding on, admitteth not another that moteth with all nere Lym befoze it go to Thelwall. Thence also it goeth by Bruche and so to Warrington, a little beneath cros fing a broke that commeth from Par by 1320wley, 132adley and Saukey on the one fide, and another on the other that commetb thither from Grovenhall, and with these it rüneth on to nether Walton, Acon grange, and so to Penkith, where it interteineth the Bolde, and some after the Grundiche water Bolde on the othersioe, that passeth by Peeston, and Gunsoick Darelbyzy. Finaltye our Berley goyng by Moulton, it falleth into Lirepole Bauen, when it is pall Runcorne. And thus much of the Merley, comparable to the Ayuer, and of no leffe fame then most ryuers of thys 3.

Beyng past these two we come next of all to the Tarbocke water that falleth into the Tarbock lea at Harbocke, without finding any mo tyll we be past all Enyall, out of Leirpole hanen, and from the blacke rockes, that live bpon the north point of the aforeland Illand. Then come we to the Altmouth, whole frelly Alt. ruling not farre into the lande, commeth to Felton, and some after receining another on the reght hand, that patteth into it by Aughton, it is increased no moze before it come at the lea. Peyther finde I anyother falles till I mete with the mouth of the Parrow and Dualeste, which have their recourse to the fea in one Chanell as I take it.

The Dugleffe commeth from by well of Duglest. Ravenspike hill, and ere long runneth by Andertonfozo to Worthington, to (takping in two or the rolles by the wave) to Wine: inhere it recevueth two waters in on chanel, of which one commeth in fouth from Ben Parke, the other from northeaft. Being paff thus it recepueth one on the north lide from Standiche, and another by fouth from Hole lond at then goeth on towarde Rufford chaps pell taking the Laude with all, that discent Caud of Deth from aboue Skelmer soale towne, and Skelmen goeth thozow Lathan Warke, belonging as I here buto the Carle of Darby. It meteth also on the same side, with Merton mere werm water, in which mare is an Islande called Merion. Betholme, and when it is past the handing brioge, it is not long ere it fall into the Dars rowe.

The Parowe ryleth of two heades, where yarrow. the fecond is called Bagen broke, a making Baun. a confinence beneath Helby wode, it goeth on to Burghe, Egleffon, Crofton, and then topneth next of all with the Dugglelle, after which confluence, the maine areame goeth forth to Bankehall, Tharleton, How, Hele het, and so into the sea. Lelande witting of f Paroly, faith thus of the same, so farre as 3 noin remember. Into the Duglelle also runs neth the Varrow, which commeth wothin a imple or thereabout, of Thoriston towner that parteth Leland thire, fro Darby thire, bnber the fote of Choole also I finde a roll, named Coole, and about a myle and an balf fro thence a notable quarrey of fromes where of the inhatants dee make a great bolt and price, and hetheria Leland.

reell.

The Apbell as concerning his heade is fufficietly touched already in my first boke. Beyng therefore come to Gilborne, it goeth to Sawley or Salley, Chatburne, Clithes row castell, t beneath Witton, meteth with the Doder, which ryfeth not farre from the. crosse of grete, and going thence to Shile burne, Pewton, Kaoholme parke, t Stonp hirst, it fallethere long into the Ribble was ter. From hence the Ribble hath not gone farre, but it meteth with the Calder. Thys broke ryseth aboue Polme church, goeth by Towley and Burneley, (where it receineth a trifeling rill)thence to Higham, and ere long croffing one water that commeth from Micoler, by Colne, and another by and by named Diole broke that runneth by Peive church, in the Biodle:it meteth with & Cals ocr, which palleth forth to Paniam, thence (receputing a becke on the other lide) it runs neth on to Altham, and so to Wartholme, where the Henburne broke, doth topne with all, that goeth by Akingto chappell, Church, Dunkinhalghe, Kilhton, and fo into & Chalder as I have sappe befoze. The Chalder therefore being thus inlarged, runneth forth to Keade (where D. Powell dwelleth) to Mhalley, and some after into Kibell, that goeth from this confluence to Salibury hal, Ribchefter Dibatton, Sambury, keuerden, Law, Kibles bridge, and then taketh in the Darwent, befoze it goeth by Pontwarth into the sea.

The Darwent denideth Lelande Chire from Andernelle, and it rpleth by east aboue Darwent chappel, and some after bniting it seife with the Blackeburne, & Kodlesworth water, it goeth thozowe Howghton Parke, annocke by Howghton towne, to Walton hall, and fo into the Ribell. As for the Sannocke broke, it ryleth somewhat aboue Longridge chaps pelligoeth to Broughton towne, Cotham, Le hall, and so into Kibell; and here is all that I have to say of this ryuer.

The Wire ryleth eight oz ten miles from Varstan, out of an bill in Wiresdale, from whence it runneth by Shirethed chappell, & then going by Madland, Barffan, & Bpzkes lande hall, it first recepueth the seconde Cal der, that commeth down by Edmerley chan: pell, then another chancl increased with son drie waters, which I will here describe bes fore I procede with the Wire. I suppose limpton, that the first water is called Plympton broke. It rifeth fouth of Goiner, and cometh by Cawforde hall, and eare long recepting the Barton becke, it proceedeth forward till tt toyneth with the Bzoke rill, that cometh by Claughton hall where D. Broke hales both lie and so thosow Merico fortest. After this confinece the Plime of Plimton water mæteth with the Calder, and then with the Mire which patieth forth to Mighel church, and the Kaw cliffes , and about Thorneton Skinton. croffeth the Skipton; that goeth by Potton, then into the Whire robe, and finally into the fea-according to his nature.

Bepag palethe fall of the Wite, we coas Coker. fed hove by the falt cotes to Coker mouth. ibhole thoztnette of course deserveth no dis crivito. The nert is Cowdar, which coming Cowder. out of Wire dale (as I take it) is not increase sed with any other waters, moze then Co. ker, and therefore I woll roode my handes thereof so much the soner. But beyng pate these two. I came to a notable rouer called the Lune, whose course doth reast to be de: Lune. scribed as followeth, & whereof I have two pelcriptions, the first being set down by Les land as M. Moze, of Catherine hall in Cambridge, delivered it buto him: the nert I ere habite as it was given buto me, by one that hath taken varnes as he farth to fearche out and view the same, but very lately to sveake of. The Lune laith P. Poze rifeth at Crosses boe, in Dent dale, in the edge of Kichmonde thire out of thee heades. Posth also from Dentdale, is Gardale, and thereby runneth a water, which afterward commeth to Sehbar bale, where likewife is a broke meeting with Garloale water so that a little lower they go as one into Dentoale becke, which is the ryuer that afterwarde is called Lune, or Lane, as I have berpe often noted it. Welide thele waters also before mencioned. it recepteth at the fote of Sebbar vale, a great broke which cometh out of b Worth, betwene Westmerlande and Kichmonde thires, which taking with him the aforelaide chanelles, doth runne seanen myles ere it come to Dentdale fote. From hence it enter reth into Lancoale, corruptive so called peradventure for Luneldale, and runneth therin egght or nyne myles fouthwarde, and in this dale is Hyzby. Vetherto W. Poze (as Leland hath exemplified that percell of his letters) but mine other note wavteth hereof in thus maner. Burbecke water ryleth at Wulfall Burbecke heade, by welf, and going by Whustall fote to Skaleg, it admitteth the Bzeder that des Breder. cendeth thither from Bzeder dale. From hence our Burbecke goeth to Bzeder dale fote, and so to Tybary, where it meeteth with four erplies in one bottome, of which one commeth from besides Daton, another from betweene Kalebecke and Sunbiagin: the thirde and fourth from eche live of Lang. 3.y.

bale, and after the generall confluece made, goeth towarde Roundswathe aboue which it uniteth it leife with the Barow. Thence it runneth to Dowgill, Delaker, Firrebanke, and faillingto, beneth which it meteth with a water comming from the Hozuill hilles, and afterwarde croffing the Dent bambe (that runneth thither from Dent towne) beneath Sebboz, they continue their course as one into the Burbecke, from whence it is called Lune. From bence it goeth to Burborne chappell, where it taketh in an other rill comming from by cast, then to kyzby Lanfoale, and aboue Wihittenton, croffeth a broke comming from the Countie Kone, by Burros, and some after beneath Tunifal the Gretey, which deleeding from about Ingelbozow hill passeth by Twyselton, Ingleton, Chozneton, Burton, Wazatton & neare Thuriande castell toucheth finally with the Lune, which beauncheth and lone after bni. teth it selfe againe. After this also it goeth on towards pew parke, & recepueth the Wien Dinburne. my, and the Dinburne both in one chanell, of which this rifeth north of the croffe of Grete, and going by Benthams and Robertes bill, Rheburne aboue Wizay taketh in the Rheburne thatel feth 1102th of Wulfcragge. After thys confluence also about Pew parke, it maketh his gate by Aughton, Laughton, Skirton, Lancafter, Orcliffe, Aweliffe, Socday, Daton, > to neyther of them both. The nert fall is called Docker, and perad, uenture the same that Lelande both call the Bery, it ryfeth north of Docker towne, and going by Barwyc hall, it is not increased betoze it come at the lea.

> and so into the sca. Thus have you both the descriptions of Lune, make pour conference or election at your pleasure for 3 am sworne

Wring past this we finde a forked arme of the sea called Kensandes: into the first of which dinors waters doe runne in one chanell, as it were from foure principal heades. one of them comming from Grarrig hall, another from by west of Whinsielde, 4 ioy, ning with h first on the east side of Skelmere parke. The third called Sprot or Sprotary. seth at Sloddale, and commeth downe by west of Skelmer parke, so that these two brokes have the aforesavde parke betwene them, and fall into the fourth east of Barnes five not very farre in funder. The fourth oz last called Ben, cometh fro Bentmeres fide, and going to Stauclop it taketh in a rill fro Chappleton Inges. Then leaving Colnebed parke by east, it passeth by Barneside, to Liendall, Pelston, Sigarhe, Siggeswie, Les uenbridge, Diliethorpe, and so into the sea.

Certes this then is a pactie depe river, & yet not lafely to be adventured byo with Botes and Balingers by reason of rolling frones. and other huge substaunces that oft annop & trouble the middest of the chanell there. The other pece of & forked arme, is called Win windar. ffar, & head wherof is aboue Minffar chaps pell, and going downe almost by Carpmas unsell, and Petherslake, it is not long eare it fall into the sea.

The Uninander water ryleth about Dum, winamen balrale Kenes, from whence it goeth to Langridge, where it maketh a mere: the to Amblefide, and taking in eare it come there, two rilles on the left hande, and one on the right that commeth by Clapergate, it maketh as 3 take it the greatest mere, oz freshe water in Englande, foz as I reade it is well neare ten mples in length. Therinto also doe thice or foure waters come, whereby the quantity thereof is not a little increased: finally comming to one imal chanell aboue Rewbzioge, it is not long eare it fall into the lea.

On the well live of the point also commeth Sparks another thozow Furnesse felles, and fro the hilles by north thereof, which eare long may king another Lake not farre from Holling how, and going by Bzidge ende, in a narrow chanell-passeth forth by Cowlton & Sparke bridge, and so into the sea. There is in like lozte a water called the Fosse, that reseth fosse, neare buto Arnelide, and Tillerthwates, & goeth forth by Gristale, Saterthwate, Kub lande, Powbridge, Bowth, & so falleth with the Minander water into the maine lea.

Hauing passed the Leuen of Conglandes Lean. oz Whinander fall (foz all is one) A come to the Lew which riseth at Lewike chappell, & falleth into the sea beside Plumpton. The Rawther descending out of lowe Furnesse Rawth. hath two heades, whereof one commeth fro Pennyton, the other by Elmerstone abbay. and forning both in one chanell, they haften into the sea whither all waters directherz boyage. Then come we to another rill fouth. well of Aldingham, descending by Blaiston castell, and like type the fourth that ryseth neare Lyndell, and running by Dawlto cas ficil and Furnesse abbav, not farre from the Barrow heade, it falleth into the sea oner a. gainst Maucy and Maucy chappell, except mone aduertisementes misleade me.

The Dodon cometh fro the Shire fone bill Debon. bottome, going by Blackhil, Southwake C. Johns, Affay parke, and Bzoughton, it falleth into the faltwater, betwene Hyzby and Mallum cassell, and thus are we now come buto the Kauenglasse point.

Comming to Kauenglasse, I finde harde

by the townes water comming from two heades, and both of them in Lakes or Poles, wherof one issueth out of Denock mere, is called Denock water, the other named Elke from Elke pole, which runneth by Cikedale, Dalegarth, and some after meeting with the Denocke, betweene Pawburthwate, & Raueglasse falleth into the sea. On the other side of Rauenglasse also cometh the Pite baoke, from Myterdale as I reade.

Then finde we another which commeth from the hylles, and at the fyzit is forked, but some after making a Lake, they gather againe into a smaller chanell:finally meeting with the Wzenge, they fall into the sea at Carleton foutheaft, as I weine of Dig.

The Cander or as Melande namethit the Calver, commeth out of Copeland Forreff, by Cander, Sellefielde and so into the sea. Then come we to Euer water descending out of a pole aboue Coswalohow, and thence going by Guerdale, it croffeth a water from Arladon, and afterward procedeth to Egre, mond, S.Johns, and taking in another ryll from Hide, it is not long ere it meteth with the lea. The nert fall is at Hozelby, wherof I have no faill. Fro thence therefore we call about by l. Bes to Derwentlet haue, whole water is truely waitten Pargwent, og Der-Dargwent uent. It riseth in the hilles about Bozrodale, from whence it goeth to the Graunge, thece into a Lake, in which are certaine Allandes, and so to Beswife where it falleth into the Bursemere, 02 the Burthmere pole. In like fort the Burthmere water, rising among the hils goeth to Tegburthelworth, Fornelide, S. Johns and Thelcote: and there meeting with a water from Grisoale, by Waketh. wate, called Grife, it runneth to Burnesse, inclusick and there receiveth the Warwent. From Belwije in like forte it goeth to Thor neswate (* there making a plash) to Arman twate, Itel, Huthwate and Cokermouth, & here it recepueth the Cokar, which riling a mong the hilles, commeth by Lowfewater, Brakenthwate, Lozton and so to Cokarmouth towne fro where it halfeth to Bzidge. ham, and receiving a rill called the Wire on the south live that runeth by Dein, it leaveth Samburne and Wirketon behindeit, & entreth in the sea. Leland sayth that the Wire is a cræke, where thippes lie oft at rode, and that Mirketon or Mirkington towne doth take hysname thereof. But to proceede, the Elme rifeth in the mines aboue Amau træ, and from Amautre goeth to Perelby Harby, Brow, and there taking in a rill on the left hande comming by Tozpenny it go reham & so into the lea. Thence we go about by the chappell at the point, and come to a baie served with two fresh waters, whereof one riling westward goeth by Warton, Kas by, Cotes, co into the maine, taking in a ril withall from by south, called Croco that co. Croco. meth from Crockdale, by Bzomefield. The fecond is named Wampole broke, and this riseth of two heades, whereof one is about Cardein, thence in lyke forte, it goeth to Thuresby, Croffon, Diwton, Gamlesby, Mampall, the Larth, and betweene Whites rioge and kyzby into the faltwater. From hence we double the Bowlnesse, and come to an Effuary, whether thee notable ryuers doe resozte, (and this is named the Solvey mouth) but of all, the first ercedeth which is called Coen, and whole description doth followe here at hande.

The Coen descendeth as I heare from the Eden. hilles in Athelifane moze at the fote of Hul stat Pozuell hill where Swale also riseth and southeast of Pallerstang forrest. Fro thence in like maner it goeth to Mallerstäg towne, Pendragon castell, Wharton hall, Petby, Hartley castell, kyrkeby Stephen, and eare is come at great Dulgrave it receiveth thee waters, whereof one is called Helbecke, by Belbecke. cause it commeth from the derne and elinge Bellow. mountaines by a towne of the same denomis nation, the other is named Bellow and delcemeth fro the east mountaines by Sowars, by, and these two on the northeast: the thirde falleth from Rauenstandale, by Pewbyg. gin, Smardale, Soulby, Blaterne and fo into Eden, that goeth from thence by Wars cop and taking in the Dane about Burelles Dane. on the one lide, and the Dozeton becke on Mozeton. the other, it hasteth to Appleby, thence to Cowlby inhere it crosseth the Driebecke, Dribecke. thence to Bolton, and kyzby, and there mee, becke. ting with the Arowt becke and beneath the same with the Linenet, (whereinto faileth Linenet. an other water fro Thurenly meeting wyth all beneath Clebson) it runneth finally into Eden. After the confluences also the Eden palleth to Temple, and some after meeting with the Milburne and Blincorne waters, Milburne in one chanell, it runneth to Winderwarth Bimcozne and Horneby where we will frate till I have described & water that meteth withall nere the afozesappe place, called the Wife.

This water commeth out of a Lake, which is fedde with fire rilles wherof one is called the Parke, and neare the fall therof into the Marke. plath is a towne of the same name: the seconde hight Bartelop, tunneth fro Barte. Bartlop. thop hall by Depedale: the thirde is Pater Paterdale. dale rill: the fourth Glent Roben, the fift Roben. 3.11j.

Mamus.

Mise.

Glenke'

eth to Hatton castell, Alwarby, Byzthy, De-

Wurth=

Grife.

Dent.

The Seconde Booke

Cerne.

fayde take, fouth of Dowthwate. Afterward when this take cometh toward Pole towne, it runneth into a small chancil, and going by Barton, Dalamaine, it taketh in a rill by the wave from Daker castell. Thence it go, eth to Stockebridge, Voneworth, and some after meteth worth a prety broke, called Los der, comming from Thornethwate by Bau, ton, and here a ril, then by Helton, and there another , thence to Alkham, Clifton, and so torning with the other called Alle, they go to Brougham castel, Pine churches, Pozneby, and so into Eden, taking in a roll as it goeth that commeth downe from Pencath. Beyng pair Homby our Eden runneth to Langun by and some after receiving a roll that come meth from two heades, and topning beneath Wingfel, it hasteth to Lasenby, then to kirke Diwaloc, (on eche fide whereof commeth in a ril from by call) thence to Lonney, & there a ryl, Infable, Cotehvil, Cozby castel. Wietherall, Acweby, where I will Cape till I have described the Irving, and such waters

Sienklvent, but the firth runneth into' the

as fall into the same before I go to Carlell. The Iroing ryleth in a Moze in the bozs oers of Tinvale, nere buto horse hed Crag, where it is called Terne becke butil it come to Spriciag hill, that devideth northumbers land and Cillelland in lunder, from whence It is immed Iroing. Beyng therefore come to Duorhal, it receineth the Pultrose becke, by cast, and thence goeth on to Duerdenton, Actheroenton, Lenercoff, and Castelsteade, Camboche where it taketh in the Cambocke, that runneth by Byzke Cambocke, Alkerton castel, Walton, and so into Irding, which goeth from thence to Iroington, Dewby, and fo into Coen. But a litle befoze it come there, it crosseth with the Gilly that commeth by Cankin, and some after falleth into it. Af ter these configences, cur Coen goeth to Lins stocke castell, (and here it entertepneth a broke, comming from Cote hill warde by Aglionbuithe unto Carleill, which is almost environce with foure waters. Foz beside p Doar ali- Coenit recepueth the Deder, which Leland 13, Logus, calleth Logus from south east. This Weder reseth in the hiles southwest of Denrudock. from whence it goeth to Denruddocke, then to Orallocke castell, Cateley and Bendersidehall, and then taking in a water from Unthanke, it goeth to Cathwave, Pettrell war, Newbiggin, Carleton, fo into Goen, northeast of Caerleill. But on the north side the Winferth bimbe both swiftely make hyg ua after Lelande) which ryling about the Skiolow hilles, runneth to Woledaic, Calo, becke Warnell, Saberham, Kose Castell, Dawlfon, Broundfon, Parrington, and west of Cairleill falleth into Eden, which gopna from thence by Grimidale, kyzke Andros, 13eaumout, fallethinto the sea beneath the Rowcliffe castell. And thus much of the Eden, which Lelande neuerthelesse describeth, after another fost, whose wosdes I will not let to let downe here in this place, as I finde them in his commentaries.

The thirde is named Candan, (if not Des

The Coen after it hath runne a pzety space from his head, meteth in time with the alle alle alle water, which is a great broke in Wellmer, ter Leift lande, and ryling aboue Paredale, a myle west of Loder, it commeth by the late dissol: Locer. ued house of Shappe Postozy, them myles fro Shappe, and by Brampton village into Lo: der 02 Lodon. Certes thys Creame within halfe a myle of the head, becommeth a great lake for two mples course, and afterwarde waring narrow againe, it runneth forth in a meane and indifferent botome. The layde Coeninlyke fost recepueth the Aymote as Armote. bout thee mples beneath Boougham castell and into the same Aymote, falleth the Dacoz becke (already touched) which rifeth by north west in Waterdale hilles, foure inples aboue Dacoz castell, and then going thosowe Das Dacoz. co. Parke, it runneth by east a god myle lower into Epmote, a lyttle beneath Delas maine, which standeth on the left side of Das coz. In one of his bokes also he saveth, how Carleill Kandeth betweene two Kreames, that is to laye the Deua, which cometh the Deua, ther from by fouthwest, and also the Logus that discendeth fro the south east. We addeth mozeover howe the Dena, in times past was named Hala of Bala, and that of the names Claia. of theletwo, Lugibalia for Caerleill hath biene derined. c. And thus much out of Les lande, but where it had the cause of this hys confedure as yet I have not reade. Of thys ... am I certeine that I vie the names of most ryuers here and else where described, accorcoedingly as they are called in my time, although I omitte not to speake here and there of such as are more auncient, where just oc calion moueth me to remember them, for b better understäding of our histories, as thep doc come to hande.

Blacke Leuen and white Leuen waters, Leuen. fall into the sea in one chanel, and with them the Lamforde and the Clke, the last conflu Lamforde. ence being not a full myle from the mayne Eske. sea. The white a black Leven, sopning there, fore aboue Bucknesse, the confluence goeth to Beacken hill, Birkleuenton, at Tomunt Comunt.

water meteth with the Ofke. In lyke forte the Byslop toyning with the Lyose out of Scotland at Ayelop fote, running by Stan. geroike fide, Barlow, Bath water, & takyng in the Eske aboue the Dote, it loseth the fozo mer name, and is called Elke, butill it come to the fea.

Pauing in this maner finished the descrip, tion of the courses of most of the ryuers ly. ing bpon the well coast of our country: now it rearcth that we cut oner unto the well live of the same, and as it were call backe buto mpnoe, the most notable of such as wee erst omitted, butill we come at the Humber, and from thence buto the Thames.

First of all therfore as touching & Twede, this I have to note, that the olde and auncient name of the Till that falleth into & same is not Bromis, from the heade as some doe nowe call it, (and I following their affertis ons have let downe) but rather Wzenniche, & belive that Lelande is of the same opinion. I finde howe the kingdome of Bzenicia, toke denomination of thys water, and that only therofit was called Bzenicia, 02 Bzen nich, and byon none other occasion.

In mp tradatio also of h Tine, I referued the courses of one or two waters unto this boke of purpole, but lithens the impressio of the same, I have found the names & courses of sundape other, which I will also deliver in this place, after I have touched the Alen 02 Alon-and one or two more which I appoint ted hether, because that at the first I buder, Awde but little of them.

The Alen or Alon, bath two heades where of one is called east Alen, hother west Alen. The first of them riseth south east of Sibton Sheles, and going by Simoozp, it taketh in a rill withall from by cast: After which confluence it runneth to Pewhele, Allington, Caddon, Dide towne, and in hys wave to Stauertvele, mæteth with the west Alen. bed Akn The West Alen ryseth in the hilles aboue Wheteley theles, from whence it goeth to Spartwell, Hawcopole, Dwston, & taking in a rill thereaboutes, it proceedeth on to Permandby, and croffing there another ril inlyke maner from by West, it goeth to Whitefielde, and forning some after with f east Alen, they run as one to Stauert pole, Plankfozoe, and so into the Tine.

Into the north Tine likewise falleth the Ridde, at Riddelmouth. It riseth within theé myles of the Scottishe marshe, as Lelande faith & commeth thozowe Ktodeldale where, bnto it giveth the name. Another wziteth howe it refeth in the rotes of the Carter, & epolyop. Redsquire hylles, and ere it hath gone farre

from the heade, it taketh in the Spelhop fro Chedon. the north and the Chellop on the fouth, belide fundave other topid rolles namelesse and obscure, and therfore not worthy to be remem. beed here. After it bath valled Dtterburne, it goeth to the medow Howgh, Modburne, Kilingham, Leame, and to into the Tine, a little lower, then Belindgeham, which sfanbeth somewhat alwfe from north Tine, and is as I take it ten myles at the least about the towne of Herham. Beneath & confluence in like fort of both the Tines, frandeth Co2, bridge, a towne sometime inhabited by the Romaines, and about twelne myles from Come. Pelocasfell, and hereby doth the Cozue run, that metethere long with the Tine. Pot far of also is a place called Tolchester, where by Lelande gelleth that the name of y broke Mould rather be Cole then Coque, and in my judgement his confedure is very lykely, for in the lyfe of S. Plwin (otherwise a fæble authozitie) the wozoe Colbzioge is alwaies pled for Corbridg, wherof I thought god to leave this short advertisement, and bether to of part of my former referuatios. Pow it resteth that I touch b names of a few rivers s beckes togither as Lelande hath left them, whose order and courses may peraduenture bereafter be better knowne then they are to me at this present, for lacke of sound instruct Dill tion. The Deuflles banke, he supposeth to be called Will, of a town not far of that is commonly called Dilffan, wherby & Tine both Darwent. runne. As the Parwent also doth fall into b Tine, beneth Blaidon, fo doe funday baches Blacke into the Darwent in two chanels, as Black, burne. burne, which goeth into Hoxslop burne, as Hoxslop. Dozslov doth into Darwent, on the east side, and on the other banke the Pawkelburne, Rouelop. that runeth into Rouellop, as Rouellop doth finally into Darwent which is layoe to tyle of two heades, whereof one is niere Unedon, the other at kiolambope, and after the confalias midfluence, going to Hunsterworth, Blaunche, lambope. lande, Adon, Alperspeles, Blackehedley, Pantheales, Pewlande, Darwent cote (by by north east whereof commeth in a ryll on the other fide) Spen, Giblive, Hollinside, Smalwel, and so into the Tine. In like sozte heoley. Lelande speaketh of a water called Hedley, that thould fall into the Tine, whose heade is at Skildrawe, from whence it runneth to Aptthelde, Lamsley, Rauensworth towne, Kauensworth castell, Reobughe, and so into wickham. Tine, Southwest of Pelucastel, but he omitteth wickham broke (he fapth) because it ryfeth thoat of the towne, and is but a little rill. Finally & Themis doth fal into Tine a mile Themis. oz therabout above Getihead, 4 not very far Z.iiy.

entraineer inning by Leuerbale, Scalby caffell, and honseden as I am informed.

The Seconde Booke

beneth Rauensworth eastell, rising ten miles by fouth into the land, as Lelande hath like:

2320nie.

were.

Cour.

Gund=

Darc.

wilke.

Thorpe.

wife set downe.

Prolomy wepting of the Where, calleth it Acdza, a ryuer well knowne onto Beda the famous Prieft, who was brought op in a monaftery p frod bpon his bankes. It receis ueth faith Lelande the Dernelle, whereinto the 1320me also both emptie his chanell, that rpseth aboue Repare parke, as I have beene informed. In lyke forte I fynde howe it admitteth lykewyse the Coue, that commeth from Lanchester, which is fire myles high er then Chester in the Streate, and then go: cth to Cheffer it felfe, whereabout it mæteth with the Bedley. Finally the Sawndelesse, that ryseth sire mples by well of Akelande castell, and running by the south side thereof passeth by west Akeland S. Helenes Ake. lande, f. Andrewes Akeland, Bithops Akes land and carolong into the Mere, and thus much of waters omitted in & Tine & Were.

Leiande writing of the These, repeateth the names of funday riverets, whereof in the former Treatize I have made no mencion at all, notwith tanding y some of their cours les may verhaps be touched in the same, as Shurcigut the Thurifgill whole heave is not farre fro the Spittle that I do reade of in Stanmoze. The Orettey commeth by Barningham 4 Mortham and falleth into the These aboue Croftes bridge. The Dare of Dere runneth by Darlington, & likewise into the These a. boue the aforelayo bridge. As for the Wilke it commeth thereinto from by fouth bider Willike burge, Danby, Northalberton, and care long also into a greater freame, which goma a little lower under an other bridge both runne by one chanell into the afozelayd rouce before it come at the Thele. And thele are the brokes that I have observed lith the impredion of my first boke in Leland, those that followe I referred hither of purpole.

The Tho:pe, rifeth of lunday heads, where allie Les of one is abone Pinching Thospe, from whence it goeth to Ponnethozpe, and so to Stokeller. The leconde hath two braunches, and so placed that kildale frandeth betwene them both : finally moting beneath Calby they go by Caton and likewise buto Stokes ley. The last hath also two braunches, wher: of one commeth from Inglelby, and meteth with the seconde beneath Broughton, & going from thece to Stokeller ther mete with the Thorpe about the towner as the other fal into it some what beneath the same. From bence it anoth to Rivley and there taketh in another rill comming from Potto, thence to Crawthoine bimie, Leuanton, Wilto, 1916 ton, Inglesby & so into the These, betweene Parne and Barwijc, whereof I made mention before although I neither named it, nor themed & descriptio. Some cal it not Thospe but the Lenend broke, or Leven water, and thus much of some of the waters exther o mitted or not fullpe touched in the former Treatize.

Of such streames as fall into the maine riuers betweene Humber and the Thames. Cap. 3.

The course of the Duze is alreadic let Duze I forth in the first boke of this description a so eracely as I hope that I shall not neede to adde any moze thereunto at this time. Wherefore I will deale onely with such as fall into the same, omagining a boyage fro the Rauenspurne, butill I come nere to the heade of Thele, and so southwardes about a gaine by the bottome of the hilly lovle butill I get to Burffon, Sheffelde, Scroby, and the very fouth point of Humber mouth, wherby A thall crosse them all that are to be found in this walke, and leave 4 doubt not some especiall notice of their severall heads & courses.

The course of the Hul is already described, Hullon vet here I will not let to insert Lelandes de huine. scription of the same, and that moze for those odde notes which he bath let down in the v20 celle of his matter, then that I thincke his dealing herein to be more eracte then mone, if so much map be sappe without all cause of offence. The Hulne (faieth he) rifeth of thice feuerall heads, whereof the greatest is not farre from Dayfielde, nowe a small billage sirtæne mples fro Hull. Certes it hath bæne a goody towne, and therein was the vallace of Egbzight king of the Pozthumbers, and place of Sepulture of a noble Saron king. whole name I now remember not although his Tobe remaine for ought that I do know to the contrarie, with an infcription by on the same written in Latine letters. Peare buto this towne also is the Danckelde, wherein great numbers of Danes were flaine, and buried in those hils, which pet remaine there to be fiene over their bones and carkaffes. The fecond head faith he is at Effburne, and the thirde at Emmeswell, and meeting altogither not farre from Dapfielde, the water there beginnethto be called Hulne, as I have savde alreadie. From hence also it goeth thorowe Beuerley medowes, and comming at the last not farre from an armeled from the Hulne by mans hande (and able to beare great bessels) almost to Beuerley towne, & Cotting meeting thereabout also with the Cottingha ham.

becke comming fro Mestivod by the way, it halfeth to Lingffon bpon Bulne, and lo into the Humber without any maner impeches ment.

The Fowlney riseth about Godmanham, from whence it goeth by Wighton, Harel well, Seton, Williams bridge, and sone af ter fpzeading it felfe, one arme called Skel-Acte, goeth by Cane Cawley to Bzownellete and so into the Duze. The other passeth by Sandholme, Gilbertes dike , Scalby chap, pell, Blacketoft and so into the aforesappe Duze, leaving a very pretie Illande, which is a percel as I here of Walding fen moze, though otherwise obscure to bs that dwell here in the fouth. The Darwent reseth in the hilles that lye west of Robin Tuhodes baie, or two mples aboue Apton bridge, welt of Scarbozow as Lelande layth: and eare it bath runne farre from the head, it recepueth two rilles in one bottome from by well, which to yne withall about Langdale ende. Thence they go togy, ther to Bzorep and at Hacknesse take in an other water comming from about Silley. Afterwarde it commeth to Arton, then to Hapbridge, and there croffeth the Kenforde that descendeth from Roberteston. After this also it goeth on to Pottersbrumton where it taketh in one rill, as it doth another beneath running from Shirburne, and the thirde pet lower, on the fader bancke, that descendeth from Baumpton. From these confluences, it runneth to Fowlbzioge, Arbzioge, Deldingham bringe, and so to Cotehouse, recept uing by the way many waters. Lelande reconing by the names of the severall brokes. numbeeth them confusedly after his accusto, med order. The Darwent faith he recepueth drahut= divers Areames as the Shpzihutton. The les conde is the Crambecke, descending from Frambeck Dunderskell castell, (so called tanqua à centum fontibus,02 multitude of Springes that rple about the same) and goeth to Rie, which comming out of the Blacke mozes valleth by Rivers abbay, taking in the Ricoll on the left hande, then the Senen, the Costep and Pickering broke. The Seven also saveth he riseth in the side of Blackmoze, and thence distring goeth by Sinnington foure myles fro Pice kering, and about a mple aboue a certapne bridge ouer Rie goeth into y Streame. The Costey in like sozte springeth in & very edge of Pickering towne, at a place called keld head, and goeth into the Rie two mples beneath Pickering, about kyzby miniter. Fi nally Pickering water ariseth in Blacke: more, and halfe a mple beneath Wickering falleth into Colley, meting by the way with the Pocklington becke, and an other small Bockling: rill or two of whose names I have no know ton. ledge. Ditherto Lelande, but in mine opinio it had beine far better to have described them thus. Of those waters that fal into the Darwent beneath Cotehouse, the first commeth from Swenton, the leconde from Ebberlio, the thirde from Dilerston, the fourth from Thorneto, and Wickering, and the fift on the other fide that commeth thither from Willie tringham, for so thouse he have dealt in better order, a rio his hands of them with more erpeditio, referring the reast also buto their proper places. But to procéde after myne owne maner. Being past Cotehouse, geare the Darwent come at Mickham, it croffeth the Rie, which rifeth of two heades, and top: unic. ning west of Locon they run thozow Glans by parke. Finally recepting the Coffey it Coffey, meteth at the last with an other streame increased by the falles of sire waters & moze, eare it come intob Darwent. The most eaferly of thefe is called Seven, & ryfeth as is Seven. afozelapde in Blackemoze, from whence it goeth by Sinnington, Wurton, Pozmanby, Pelplounde How & lo into the Kie. The les conde named Dou hath his opiainal likewife Doue or in Blackemoze, and desceding by Kalmoze, Doue. Keldon and Editon, (where it recepueth the Hodge becke, that commeth by Bernesdale, Hodge Kirkedale and Welburne) it goeth to Saivle becke. ton, and there taketh in first the Kicoll, that ikicoll. goeth by Careton, whereof Rivall as some think (but fally) both feeme to take the name. Then felle, which rpleth about Bilispale felle. chappell, 4 meeteth with the Kie at the Shaking bridge, from whence they go togyther under the Rie bridge, to Rinis abbave, and thence (after it hath croffed a becke from the west) thozowe a parke of the Earle of Rutlandes to pewton, Puniton, and to to Saw ton,02 Sawlton, as I doe finde it witten: Here also it taketh in the Polbecke broke, Polbecke. that commeth thither from by west by Gylling castell, and Stangraue, from whence it goeth on to Braby, nert into the Seven then into the Rie, and so into the Darwent, which from thece doth run to Wickha. Being paff Whichba, it meteth with a water that cometh thereinto from Grynsfon to Setterington at foutheast, and thence it goeth on to Malton & Halton, Sutton, Wellam, Furby, & Kirke ham, recepting by b way one rill on the one live and another on the other, whereof this commeth from Burdfail, that other fro Co. nilhozpe. From kyzkeham it goeth to Cras burne and Diviham bridge, (croffing by the way an other broke comming from S. Co wardes goze, by Faston) then to Aldby, But-thorne.

70

tereram (alias Butterham)buidg, Stamford budg, Lierby bridg, Sutton, Ellerton, Aughton, Bubwith, Wieckill, Babthoppe & fo into y Duze, wher with I finithe the description of the Derwent, fauing that I haue to let pou brocessand how Leland heard that an arme ran sometime from the hed of Darwent also to Scarbozow till such time as two hils betwirt which it ran, did shalder & so choke by bis course.

The Folle (a flow fiream yet able to beare a god vessell) ryseth in Nemore Calaterio, of among the wwody hilles now called Galters forrest, and in his descent fro the higher ground, he leaveth Crake callel, on his well tide: thence he goeth by Warton abbay, Par, ton, Stillington, Farlington, Towthoppe, Erlwisc, Huntingdon, and at Poske into the Duic.

The latte ryfeth flat north at Pelwborow, from whence it goeth by Thorneron on the hyll, Kuskell parice, Awne, Tollerton, and so unto the Luie about Pelvton vpon Duje.

The Swale is a right noble river. It ris feth in the hilles aboue kyzkedale, and from this towns it goeth to helde chappell, Car, ret house, Crackepot, Whitelide, and nære buto Palen, taketh in the Barney water, which commeth from the north east. Thence it goeth by Parcaside to Reth (where it me, teth with the Arcley) and so to Flemington, Crinton, Marrike (taking in the Holgate that commeth from by fouth: & in the way to Thospe, the Barilie becke, or peradueture Applegarth water, as Leland calleth it, that discendeth from the north) then to Thorpe, Applegarth, Richmonde, Galby and Bzun, ton. Here by Posth it entertagneth two os thie waters in one chanell, called Ranen. swathe water, whereof the two fardest doe towns not far from the Dawltons, to go by Rauenswath, Partsorth, Cilling, 4 at Ske by more with the thirde, comming from Richmonde Beaconwarde. By west also of 152unton, the Swale meteth with the Rhe, running from Resoale, and being past Bzunton, it goeth to Caterije bzioge beneath Beunton, then to Clierton, Hyzkeby, Lange ton parna, Thirtoft, Anderby Steple, and before it come unto Catenby, it meteth w & Bedall bimke, alias Leminges becke, that cometh west of Liellirby, by Custable, Bur, ton, Langthoppe, Bedall, and Leming chap. vell. From Sattenby lykewise it goeth to Mawup, and at Wakenbrap, receiveth the Wilke, which is a great water, rpling bes twence two parkes about Swanby in one place, and foutheast of Nountgrace Abbaic in another, and after the confluence which is about Stoolebzioge, goeth on betwene the Rughtons to Appleton, the Smetons, Byst. by, Putto Conters, Danby, Muc, Paffozo, Warlaby, and taking in there a ryll from Bzunton, by Alucrton, it procedeth to Dt teringto, Dewley, Kyzby Wilke, Pewson, and Blackenburg, there meeting as I laybe with the Swale, that runneth from thence by Shipton bridge, Catton, Topcliffe, and Kanpton, and aboue Clompze, meeteth with sundaye other rylles in one botome, whereof the northwesterley is called Cawdebec: the Cawdebe fouth Casterly Rebecke, which toyne cast of Rebecke. Thoenton moze, and so go to Thoeneton in the Areate, Kiluington, Thanke, Sowerby, Crastwic, and some after crossing another growing of the myrture of the Willow, and likewyse of the Cuckwolde beckes, which Cunck. forne about Brioforth, and running on till it wolder come almost at Dalton, it maketh confluence becke. with the Swale, and go thence as one by Thornton brioge, Witton vpon Swale, and so into the Duze.

The Skell reseth out of the west two my skell les from Fountaines Abbay, and commeth as Lelande fapth with a fapze course by the one lide of Kippon, as the Uze doth on the o ther. And on the bankes hereof frode the famous Abbate called Fountaines, somuch tes noumed for the lusty monkes that dwelled in the same. It recesueth also the Lauer water, Lauer. (which ryseth them myles from Byeby, and meteth withall nere buto Rippon) and fis nally falleth into the Tize, a quarter of a mile beneath Kippon Towne, and almost midde wave betweene the Lorth and Ouicke bride

The Piode rpfeth among those hilles that Mide. lpe by west northwest of Gnarresborowe, frue myles aboue Bakeley bridge a geing in thost processe of time by West houses, Long houses, Awdhall, Pewchouses, Wides moze, Kaunsgill, Cowthouse, Gowthwall, Bureley, 1329mbam, Pampelwale, & fone after mæting with the killingale becke, it killingalt goeth after the confluence, by Bylton parke, Gnarelbridge, Walhforde, Cathall, Willef. thosp, Munketon, oz Ponniocke, and so into the Duze, four etænc miles beneath Gnarel ามกระเรา bozow, being increased by the wave with very fewe or no waters of any countenance. Lelande having fato thus much of & Atode. addeth herebuto the names of two other was ters, that is to lap, the Couer & the Burne, Couer. which doe fal likewise into the Tize of Duise, Burne. but as he farth little of the same, so among all my Pampheletes, I can gather no moze of them, then that the first ryseth sire myles aboue Couerham by west, and falleth into &

Me , alittle beneath Middleham betoge, which is two myles beneath the towne of Coverham. As for the Burne, it ryleth at Moze hylles, and falleth into the layde ryuer a lyttle beneth Daltham bridge, and so much of these two.

The Wharste or Gwerfe, ryleth aboue Ughtershaw, from whence it rumeth to Beggermons, Kasemill, Hubberham, Backden, Starbotton, kettlewell, Cunniffo in Bettlewell, and here it meteth with a rill comming from Haltongill chappel, bp Arnes cliffe, torning with al north east of Kilneley craquit passeth over by the lower groundes to Gyzfington, and recepting a roll there als so from Tresselve parke, it proceedeth on to Wzunsail bzyoge. Furthermoze at Appletres wic, it meteth with a ryll from by north, & thence goeth to Barden Towie, Bolton, Weth and Milley hall, where it croffeth a rill comming fro by west. Thence to Addingha, taking in there also a another from by welf, and so to Ikeley, and recepting ere long as nother by north from Denton hall, it hasteth to Wessen Hauasour, Dieley, and Letheley where it taketh in the Padlide, & the Walh. Padhoe. burne, both in one ureame room Agnores washburn. ward, and thence to Calley chappell, * there burne, both in one streame from Lyndley it croffeth one from by north, another ere long from by fouth, and so to Pardwode cas stell, Kereby, Woodhall, Collingham, Linton, Wetherby, Thoppatche, Pewton, Tad, caster, and when it hath received the Cockes becke from fouthwest, that goth by Barwy, Aberforth, Leadhall, and Grymston, it runs neth to Erton. Apply Wharf, Alkel, Kither Aunapleton, and so into the Duze, beneath Cawod, a castell belonging to the Arche bi-Hop of Vozke, where he vieth oft to lye when he refresheth himselfe, with chaunge of avre & thift of habitation, for the audiding of fuch infection as maye otherwise engender by his long abode in one place, for want of due pur gation, and aiering of his house.

The Air ryseth out of a Lake, South of Darnbzoke, wherin as I here is none other high but red Trowt, Werche. Leland laith it riseth nere onto Dzto in Craven, wherfore the oddes is but little. It goeth therfoze from thence to Wawlam, Hamlithe, Kyzby Wol. dale, Calton hall, Areton, and so forth toil it come almost to Gargrave, there crossing the Otterburne water on the west, & the Win: terburne on the north, which at Flatby, reccineth a ryll from Helton as I here. Being past Sargranc, our Air goeth on to Eshton, Elswode, and so forth on, first receputg a broke from fouthwest, (wherof one braunch commeth by Warton, the other by Thornet, from northeast that runneth by Skipton cas stell. After this confluence it hasteth to Pewe biggin, Bradley, and Kildwic, by fouth east whereof, it meteth with one was ter from Pawlis, and Glusburne of Clus kelburne, called Olyke, another lykelpfe a Glyke. lytle beneath from Seton, belide two rylles from by north-after which confluence it runneth by Reddlesoe, quer against this towne the Lacocke and the Wloth doe mete with Lacocke. all in one chanell, as the Mozeton water worth. doth on the north, although it be somewhat Moreton: lower. Thence it goeth to Kilhefozth hall, & so to Bungley, where it taketha ryll from Denholme parke to Shipeley, & there cros fing another from Thorneton, Leuenthorpe, and Bradlep, it goeth to Caluerley, to Chis Ifall, and so to Ledes, where one water runneth thereinto, by north from Wettlewode, and two other from by fouth in one chanell, whereof the first bath two armes of which the one commeth from Duoley chappell, the other from Adwalton, their confluence being made aboue Farnelley hall. The other lyke. wife hath two heades, whereof one is about Porley, the other cometh from Domingley, and meeting with the first not far south well of Lédes, they fall both into the Aire, and to runne with the same to Swillington, there taking in & Roowel becke fouth of the briog; it proceedeth to Dilerton, Eastelforde, 1820. therton and Ferribrioge there receiving the Redwell. Went, a becke from Pontifrag which ry, went. feth of olvers heads, wheref one is among & cole pits. Thece to Beall, Berkin, Rellings to, middle Podleley, Teplehirit, Gowldall, Snathe, Kawcliffe, Pelvlande, Army, and so into the Duse with an indifferent course. Df all the rouers in the Posth, Lelandelin fo many of hys bokes as I have feene) faith least of this. Wine annotations also are very uender in the particular waters whereby it is increased: wherfore I was compelled of necessity to conclude even thus with the bei scription of the same, a had so left it in deve if I had not recepted one other note moveto adde buto it (even when the leafe was at the Prese which saith as followeth in maner worde for worde.

There is a noble water that falleth into Aire, whole heave as I take it is about the forde. From whence it goeth to Treston chapell to Lingfield, and there about recepting one ryll, nere Olfrabight bildge, and allo the Hebden by northwest, it goeth to Brear. lep hall, and so taking in the thirde by north it proceedeth on ealtwarde by Sorthy bridge chappell, (and there a ryll from fouthwell) wathe.

Weball.

Rauenl=

Whc.

Drodic.

23arnep.

The Seconde Booke

and to to Coppeley hall. Beneath this place I finde also that it recepueth one ryll from Hallyfare, which ryfeth of two heades, two other from fouthwelf, of which one commeth by Barellande, and Stanelande in one chanell, as 3 readc, so that after this confinence the aforelayd water goeth on toward Colus forde brioge, and as it taketh in two rilles as boue the same on the porth side, so beneath that brioge, there falleth into it a prety arme increased by sundry waters comming from by fouth, as from Martheden chappell, from Holmesworth chappell, and Lyrke Heton, eche one growing of lundite heades, wherof 3 woulde lay moze, if 3 had moze intelligece of their feverall gates and passages. But to procede from Cowford bridge it runneth to Punfelo, & receiving ere long one ryll from Leuersage hall, and another from Burhall by Dewelburye, it goeth on Porth eaft of Thornehul, louth of Horbyry thornes, ther, about crossing one roll from by south from Woller by newe Milner Damme, and some after another from northwell, called Chalo, ryling in the Poke billes, whereon Wakes fielde frandeth, and likewise the thirde from south eact, and Waterton hall, it goeth by Warmefield, Dewelande, Altoftes, and fy nally into the Aire, well of Callelworth, as I learne. What & name of this ryuer thould be as pet I here not, and therefore no mer, ucile that I doe not let it downe, pet is it pos fible such as dwell thereabout are not ignoraunt thereof, but what is that to me, if I be not pertaker of their knowledge. It that fultile therefore thus farre to have thewed the course thereof, and as for the name I palle it ouer butill another time.

The Trent is one of the most excellent ry. uers in the lande, and increased with so mas np waters, as for that onely cause it may be compared either with the Duje oz Sauerne, I meane the feconde Duze, whose course I hauc lately described. It ryseth of two heads which to yne beneath Pozton in the moze, $ from thence goeth to Hilto Abbay, Bucknel church, and about Stoke, recepueth in the foulbrok foule broke water, which commeth thyther from Tunsfall, by Shelton, and finally mas hing a confluence they go to Pantlete, where they mate with another on the same side, that discendeth fre Dewcastell under Line, which Lelande taketh to bee the very Trent it selfe, saying, that it ryseth in the hylles as boue Dewcastell, as maye be sone by hys commentarves. But to procede. At Trents ham or not farre from thence, it croffeth a riveret from northeast, whose name I know not, thence goyng to Stone Alton, Stoke Burffon, the Sandons and Weston, a little aboue Shubburne and Hawod, it recepueth the Sowe, a great chanell increased with funday waters, which I will here describe, leaupng the Trent at Shubburne, tyll 3 come backe agayne. The Sowe discendeth Sow. from the hylles, aboue Whytemoze chapell, and goeth by Charleton, and Stawne, and beneath Shalfoide toyneth wyth anos ther by northeast that commeth from By. Choppes Offeley, Eglethal, Chelby, Raunto. After thys confluence also, it runneth by Bziogefozde, Tillington, and Staffozde, beneath which Towne, it crosseth the Penke becke, that ryleth aboue Pigleton, & Beres wod, and about Penke bridge, bniteth it feif Penke, with another comming fro lanightley ward, by Gnathall church, Caton, and so goyng forth as one it is not long ere they fall into Sow, after they have palled Draiton, Dunstan, Acon, and Banswiche, where losing their names, they with the Sow the Sow with them, ooc iopne with the Trent, at Shubburne, byon the foutherly bank. From Shubburne & Trent goeth on, to lytle Harwode, (meting by the way one ryll at Duls ley bridge, and another fouth of Riddlelley) thence by Pawkthery, Danessane, Kidware and so towarde Porhall, where I must staye a whyle to consider of other waters, wheres with I mete in this botage. Of these therfore the leffer commeth in by fouth fro Farwall, the other from by well, a fayze Areame, and increased with two bankes, whereof the first rpseth in Pedelmode forrest, northeast of Haggarllep parke, wherinto falleth another west of Hamsted Ridware, called Blythe, Buthe. inhich ryleth among the hylles in Whates ley moze, aboue Weston Cony and thence going to the same Towne, it commeth to Carelwel Dzuicote, alias Dzacote, Painlley Gratwitch, Grymley, Alomatton, Bamited Ridware, and finally into the Trent, direct ly west of Porhall, which runneth also from thence, and leaving kinges Bromley, in a parke (as I take it) on the left hand, and the Blacke water comming from Southton, and Lichefielde on the ryght, goeth Areight waye to Catton, where it meteth with the Tame, whose course I describe as follows eth. It rileth in Staffozolhyze (as I reme, Came, ber not farre from Dettechall & goeth forth by Hamfted, towarde Pyzihall and Bzimis chams Affon, taking in by the way a rill on eache side, whereof the first groweth through a confluence of two waters, the one of them comming from Typton, the other from Alds bury, and so runing as one by Medbury till they fall into the same. The latter commeth

.47

11.

from Wolfhall and sopneth with it on the left hande. After this and when it is past the afozeland places, it croffeth in like lozt a rill fro Smethikewarde: thence it goeth to Parneton ball, beneath which it meeteth with the Uhc, and thence thosow the parke, at Parke hal by Watercote croffing finally the Cole, whose heade is in the forrest by kingesnorto wood, and hath this course, whereof I nowe gine notice. It rifeth as I fayde in the fox rest by Kingelnozton wood, going by Pares lep and kingethirst, it meteth betweene that the parke, with a water running betweene Helmedon and Sheldon. Thence it paffeth on to Coleshull, by east whereof it soyneth with a broke-mounting fouthwest of Soly, hull called Blithe, which going by Henwood and Barton, croffeth on eche fide of temple Balchall a rill, whereof one cometh thosow the Duxnes parke oz chase that lyeth by West of Kenelworth, and the other by Benelworth castell it selfe, from about Hases ly parke. After which confluences it proces deth in like maner to Hampton in Arden, & the Packing fons and so to Coleshull, where it mæteth with the Cole, that going a little farder bniteth it self with the Burne, on the one lide, (whereinto runneth a water comming fro Anlley on the call) flone after on b other doth fal into & Tame. That which some call the Khée, Leland nameth the Bzimichã water, whose head as I heare is aboue Porf field fo that his course shoulde be by Kingel noztő, Bzemicham, Budffon hall, till it fall beneath Parneton into the Tame it self, that runneth after these confinences on by Lie, Ringelbyzy parke, & going by east, of Dzap ton Ballet Parke to Falkelley Bzioge, it meteth with another water, called Wurne also comming from Hammerwich churche, by Chesterfozde, Shenton, Thickebzowne, and the north lide of Drayton, Ballet parke, whereofIspake befoze. From hence our Thame runneth on to Tamwozth, there tas king in the Ancre by east, whose description I had in this maner delivered unto me. It riscth aboue Burton, from whence it goeth by Ponneaton, Witherley and Atheritone. Ere long also it taketh in a water fro nozth eaff, which commeth by Huglescote, Shap, ton, Cunsto, Ewicrosse (bniting it self with a water from Bolworth) Ratcliffe and so into Ancre: which after this confluence passeth by Whittendo, Crindo, Pollesworth Armings ton, Tamworth and so into Tame, that have feth to Hopwath, Töberford hall, Telford, & some after crossing a rill that rpleth shorte of Swinfelde hall, and commeth by Felfyzike, it runneth not farre from Crophall, and fo to Catton, there about recepting his last increase not worthie to be omitted. This broke is named Pele, & it rifeth in the great parke Mele. that lyeth betweene Morthington, & Smethike, from whence also it goeth by Asheby de la souche Packington, Delham & Stretton, therabout croffing a ril about Rether. fale Graunge, from Duerfale by eaff-it p20. cedeth by Chilcote, Clifton, Croral, into the Thame and both out of band into the mains river a mile aboue Kepto. Leland watting of this river as I early noted laith therof in this wife. Into the Thame also runneth the 1822. michambzoke, which ryleth foure or five myles about Bremicham in the Blacke hils in Morcelferthpre, and goeth into the a forelayde water a mple aboue Crudworth bridge. Certes fauth he this Bremicham is a towne maintapned chiefly by smithes, as Paylers, Cutlers, Cogetole forgers, Logie mers of Bitmakers, which have their pron out of Stafforde, and Warwijc Chyres, and coles also out of the first countie, & hitherto Leland. Powe to resume the Trent, which being growen to some greatnesse, goeth on to Walton, Dzakelow, and there croffing a water that commeth by Pewbold hall, it runeth to Stapenell, Winthull, Wightmere. and pewto, Souche, where it recepueth ting chanels within a thost space, to be described a part. The first of these is called the Dow or Done. It ryleth about the three three Dow. mere, is as it were Limes betweene Stafe forde and Darbythyzes witill it come at the Trent. Descending therfore from the head, it goeth by Erles Both, Pilibury Grama. Bartington, Wolfcot, Caton, Dunfington Braunge, and aboue Thorpe recepueth the Manifolde water, so called bycause of & sur, Manifor. date crinckling rils that it recepueth a turnagaines that it felfe theweth before it come at the Dow. Killing therefore not farre from Are edge croffe, (in the bottome thereby) ft runneth from thence to Longmoze, Shene. Wardow Chappell, and Welton. Beneath Welton allo it taketh in the Hanlby water, Bandey. that commeth out of Blackemoze hilles to Materiall, where it falleth into the ground, and afterwarde mounting agains is recepned into the Panifold north of Throwley as I heare, which goeth from thence to lam & aboue Thompe doth cast it selfe into Dowe. Having therefoze mette togither after this maner, the Dow procedeth on to Mapling. ton, beneath which it crosseth one water des scending from Brassingto by Fenny Bentlep, and another somewhat lower that come meth from Hockon hall by Hognaston and Asheburne, and then going to Matterfielde, Parbury,

The Seconde Booke

Parbury, Cliation, Rawson, Rowcester, it mateth with the Churne, euen here to be des scribed before I go any farder. It riseth a god wate aboue Delacrate abbay, and comming thither by Hellesby woo, it taketh in Dunsmere the Dunsmere betweene Parracrafte, and Leike. Thence it goeth to the Malgraunge, and a little beneath recepueth & Dendoz, that commeth fro aboue Parton, thence to Ched, oleton, t having crossed the Aspenhirst broke Xula Ca= aboue Cnutes hall, it runneth by Ppffon, Allenhirft Froghall, Below hill, Alton castell, Prest. wood at Rowcester falleth into the Dow, which eare long also recepteth a rill from Crowlden, and then going to Eton mæteth first with the Seine that commeth thither from each fide of Chedley by Teinetwone, Brambirst and Stranehill. Secondly with Attoreter the Incester of Attoreter water, and then or tinces going on to Werchington, Sidbery, Cawlto, it croffeth a bzoke from Stomiffer colledge, by Saperton. From this confluence in lyke sozte it passeth forth, to Tilbery castel, Parston and at Edgerton, meteth with the was ter that commeth from Peloerlley by Long. forde (whereinto runneth another that commeth from Pollington) and so to Pilton. These waters being thus sopned and many endes brought into one, the Dow it felfe falleth eare long, lykewyle into the Arent, aboue Action Souche: so that the maine ris uer being thus inlarged, goeth onwardes with his course, and betweene Willington and Repto meteth with two waters on funday sides, whereof that which falleth in by Willington rysethnære Dawbery Lyes, & runneth by Truffely and Aspe: the other that entreth aboue Liepton descendeth from Hartelburne, so that the Trent being past thele hasteth to Twifozoe, Ingleby, Staunton, Wieston, Peluton, and Aston, eare long also mating with the Darwent, nert of all to be dispatched. The Darwent riseth plaine west nære unto the edge of Darbyldpze, aboue Blackewell a market towne, and from the heade runneth to the new chappell within a few miles after it be rilen. Fro bence moze. oner it goeth by Howden houle, Darwent chappel, Boskelhyze bridge, and at Waitham bridge doth croffe the Peue or Pouius that commeth from Dewstole hill, by Dethers burgh, Dope, (croffing there one rill fro Cas stelton, another from Bradwell, & the thirde at Watherlage, from from ridge hill) and fo goeth on to Padley, Stockehall, recepuing a rill by the way from by welf, to Stony Mide dleton, and Ballow, and having here taken Burbroke in the Burbroke on the one fide, and another from Vallop on the other, it goeth to Chate worth and to Rowleley, where it is increas led with the Tape comming from by well-s also a rill on the east, a little higher, but 3 will describe the Wipe befoze I go any far-

Tendoz.

The Tupe ryleth abone Burton well, and wre. there is increased with the Hawkelhow, and the Miple broke, whose heades are also far: Hamehon der distaunt from the edge of Warbyshuze, wele. then that of Wipe, and races somewhat ion. aer though neither of them be worthie to be accompted long. For the Whyle, having two heads, the one of them is not farre aboue the place where Wilebecke abbaye fode, the o. ther is farder of by well, about Wilebecke towne, and finally topning in one they runne to Tuckney village, where receiving a beck that commeth downe from by west, it hole deth on two miles farder, there taking in the seconde rill, and so resort to Kufforde, or the Rufforde Pan becke: Unto this also do other two rils alias Mi repaire, wherof the one goeth thozowe & the becke. other harde by Baunskeld, of which two al so this latter ryseth west about foure miles, and runneth forth to Clipston (the myles lower) and so likewise to Kufforde, whereof I will speake hereafter. In the meane tyme to returne againe to the Mye. From Burs ston well, it runneth to Staddon, Cowdale, Cowlow, Dew medow, Wilhouses, Banker well, and Haddon hall, beneath which it recepteth the Lathkell, that runneth by Duer, Lathkell haddon, and the Bradforde both in one bot, Bradford tome after they be topned in one, at Alpost, this is the first great water that our Derwent doth mete withall. Being therfoze vaft the Rowlleics, the favor Derwent goeth to Stancliffe, Darley in the peke, Menlley, Smitterton hall, and at Matlocke taketh in a rill by northeif, as it doth another at Crus forde that goeth by Boteshall. From Wate tocke, it proceedeth to Watsson, or Wats fond, Well bridge, Albertrath and iopneth with an other Areame called Amber come Index. ming in from by Porth by Amber brioge, whose description thall insue, in this wife as I finde it. The heade of Amber is aboue Co. ickon hal, or as Leland faith east of Thesters fielde, and comming from thence by Widle. ton, to Dgffon hall, it taketh with al another broke, descending from Pardwic wode, by Alton and Stretton. Thence it goeth to Hig. ham, Backenfelde, and aboue Dale bitoge, méteth with a broke running from Hucks nallwarde to Shirclande parke lide (there crossing the Hozeton Becke) & so to Alferi Moreton. ton, except I name it wrong. From Dale bridge it goeth by Wingfelde, to Peoge, Fritchlin, and so into Darwent, taking the water withall that discendeth from Swans wur by Pentridge, as Leland both remeber. From this confluence like wife it runneth to Belper, where it meteth with a roll comming from Morley parke : thence to Makes nep, and at Duffelde, recepueth the Eglef. burne, which ryfeth about Alickesworth or Desliverth but in & lame parith out of a rock e commeth in by Authediche . From Bulfeld, it patieth to Bradfall, Barley Abbate, and at Darby Bowne; taketh in a roll comning from Michalton's by Wilelion binder: wode, Bibleffon, and Wecton.

If a man Moulde Cape that Warwent rys ur giveth name to Darby towns, he should not well knowe howe energe one woulde take it, and thereby he might happen to of fende some. In the meane tyme I believe it, let other tuoge as pleaseth them, lithe my contecture can prejudice none i to proceede therfore. From Darby it runneth on by Als ualton, Ambalton, the Wickles, and fo into Trent, which goeth from hence to Sawley, e north of Thrumpton taketh in the Sore, a fagge freame and not worthy to be oner.

palled. It ryleth in Leicelter thyge aboue Wild. ton & thence goeth to Sharneford, Sapcote, and beneath Staunton, taketh in a ryll that commeth by Dounton and Broughton And lep. Thence to Warlebozows and befoze it come to Eston crosseth another ion the same fide (discending by Burton; Glen, Wifi. Nowe, Lithy and Blabye) then to Leicces ffer towne, Belgraue, Burkall, Wanlippe, e ere it come at Cullington 02 Coliton crofs feth the Eve, which rifeth about Bramston, goeth by Knawkow, Somerby Dickewell, an hitelonden, s beneath (a little) recepueth a ryll on the ryght hande from Colonoxton. Thence to Stapleforde, and fonce after croffing a broke from about Sprorton, Colon, Garthrope and Sarby, it tunneth to Wit nerby. Brentingby, and ere it come at Mi ton, meteth with two other smal rils, from the right hand wherof one commeth from as bout Caldwell by Thospe Arnolde, & Waltham in the woulde, the other from Skales forde warde, & from Welton gooth by Silon by there meeting with another from north east overagainst kirby Wellars, after which tyme hname of Epe is changed into Wark, oz Azke, and so continueth butil it come at the Source. From hence also it goeth to Afterby, Kadgale, Paby, Truffington, Kate cliffe, and some after croffeth funday waters not bery farre in lunder, whereof one come meth from Dueston, by Twifozde, Asp. by and Gadelby, another from Loseby, by Baggrane and Crawfon, and foining with h first at Quennyhow, it is not long ere they fall into the wante. The seconde runneth from Engarthy, by Barkeley, and Silon. But the thirde and greatest of the thie, is a chanell increased with their waters luhereaf one commeth from Poston, by Burton, kylby, Fostoir and Blaby, the other from Dounton, by Broughton, and Aftley, and meting with the thirde from Sapcoth, and Konp Staunton, they run togyther by Parbotow, and some after toyning about Cisto. with the Art of the three, they go as one by Ellfon to Letrester, Belgraue, Manlippe, nio above Cullington, doe fall into & Wark and fone after into the Soute. The Soure, in lyke fortegoing from thence to mounts Sorrel, etaking in another broke fouthwell from Leirceffer forrest, by Glensield, Austy, Thursaffon and Rodeley, topneth with the Source which goeth from thence to mount Porell, and Duavendon (where it taketh in a water comming from Charnewode fozi rest, and goeth by Uzadegate and Sowoth lande) and then proceedeth to Cotes, Luch. bosolvand Stanforde, there also taking in one roll out of Potingham there, by north enthand some after another from southwest, comming from Beaceden to Phenethenes, Battington and Dighelp graing, and like wife the thirte from Worthwesten, by Dif. worth, long withitton, & washorne. Appeals in after these confluences; it hasteth to Suttout libration and Matclife 1 and to true the Weith man ticout the runnif all greater to i. These things being thus brought togither, and wendiveresuming the dispurse of the fame river : It obth after bis greeting with the Course expresse with a to ibarton, where tilaketh in the Crimath, which ryleth aliout Erwathe. Priby, and thence goeth to spellion; William be, Coons, castell, Caloube, and croffyng a mater from Bengl rainelisto Collai Croinglife there taking in another bill comming from lacung up bripelen dipracedeth sh to Stapletone, long Caton, and to una the Trent. This bering Done it worth to Oliffon. and ere it come at willforde it metel with a bunde that patieth from Ataunton, by Bis

in wire Moorington, and theure to Potrighay

where it croffeth the Line; which ruleth w

boue perofted, and pallying by Papplemuc,

Bucknall, Bafforde, Madforde and Lintqui, nerte of all to Thorpe and Farmodu sobere ic beauncheth gromaketh an Agana, and in to the finallers then goetha booke fro Bes

ner castell, sobich riting betipiene east Wilek

e Caton in Leirceller is railed the Denesis Denesis from thence varieth by Bramfron to knipe

of the description of Britaine.

ton, a beneth Unipton meteth with a banke that commeth by well of Crorfon, & thence holdeth on w his course, betweene Willels thorp & Becer castel aforsaid, s so to Bottel worth, Pozmanto, Billington, Shilton there recepuing the Soute fro by louth (whole head is nære Clauffon, and course from thence by Hickling, Langer, Whalton, Daffon, and Flarcbozow) and ere long another comming from Bingham, and Sibthorpe. Thence our Arent runneth to Coram, Bawton, Pelv. arke castel, and so to Winthoppe, where the braunches are reunited, and thence go on by Polme, to Cromwell (and some after taking in a broke comming fro Bilahorpe, by Ker, fal, Cawnton, Porwel & Willowby) to Carl. ton, and to Sutton, there making a litle Ille, then to Grinton, where it toucheth a freame one eche five, whereof one commeth from Pozchoule by Welton, and Grefthozp, and ther from Langthozpe, by Collingham, and Bothozpe. From hence lykewyle it palleth to Clifton, Newto, kettlethozpe, Tozkeley, Bnath, Sainsbozow, Waltrith, Stockwith, and leaving Arholme on the left hande, it tas keth with all Hogoike water, out of the Alle. and to goeth forth to Wallolworth, Caftfer. rye, frusworth, Burringham Gummeis, Dirburghe, Burton, Walcote, & at Anker bury into the Humber, receiving the Downe with by the way, which for his noblenesse is not to be overpalled.

The Done therfore rifeth in Borkethire a Done alias mong the Bekchils, t hauing receiued a water coming by Ingbirchworth goth to Perniello, which is foure myles fro the bed, then by Dripzing, to Thurgoland, and some after (foining by the way with the Widhop water, that runneth by Didhop chappell, & Honder thelfe) it meteth with another comming fro Bowferffo chapell. Then goeth it by Wad. delley wood to Waddelley bridge, and at Aluerton receiveth the Bradfelde water. Then palleth it to Crokes, and so to Sheffelde car stell, (by east whereof it recepueth a broke from by fouth that commeth thosowe Shef. feldpark.) Thence it procedeth to Welfford briog, Briklie briog & fouthwest of Timsley recepueth the Cowley Areame, that runneth by Occlefeld. Pert of al it goeth to Rotherha where it meeteth with & Rother a goodly was ter, whose head is in Darbythyze, about Dil. flep, from whence it goeth bnder the name of Doley, till it come at Rotheram, by north Minfielde churche, Mingerworth, & Fore, lande hall twelve myles from Rotherant. to Chesterforde, where it mateth with the Iber, and Brampton water that commeth Trampto. by Poline hall, both in one chancl. Thence it runneth to Dopton castell, sere long cros fing one water comming from Deonefelde by Whittington on the one lide, and the feconde from aboue Brimington on the other. it goeth thozowe Stalep parke, and ere long. mæteth with the Crawley becke, wherof 3 finde this note. The Crawley ryleth not far Cravity from Hardwijc, and going by Stanelby and Ta wohouse, it receineth aboue Petherhozpe. one water on the one lide comming from the olde parkerand another from Barlebozome bill on the other, that runneth not far from: Woodthoppe. After this confluence likewofe they run as one into the Kother, which half. eth from thence to Eckington (there croffing a ryll that runneth by Byzley bill) and so to Bilmarche, in the confines of Darby thire. where it taketh in the Gunno from by east, Gunno. thence to Boughton, builting it selfe thereas bout with another by well from Gledies. called Delebzoke, which deupocth Bozke meles these from Darby these, and to runneth to broke. Treton, Whilfon, there taking in a roll fro Alton and lo to Rotheram, where it meteth wyth the Donne, & from whence our Done halfeth to Aldwarke, Swaiton, Werburge, there taking in the Darne, which I will nert describe, and stape with the Done, until-I have finished the same. It reset at Comb. worth and so commeth about by Bretton. hall, to Warton warde, where it crosseth a water that runneth from Bunthwake Hall. by Cawthorne bnited of two beades. From hence it goeth to Burton graunge, then to Dear, where it toucheth with a water from fouthwest & then goeth to Derfielde & Gold. thospe, but ere it come to Sprotborowe, it be ruteth it seife with a faire ryuer, increased by dyners waters, before it come at & Done. whereinto it falleth as I here northeast of Perburghe. After this confluence lykelyple the Done goeth by Sprotboroine, to Warnesworth, Doncaster, Wheatlep (there mies ting with the Hampall creeke on the north pampal. east side, which ryleth east of kyzby) thence to Sandal, Byshe Sandall, Branwith ferry Stanford, Filhelake, and fo to Thuorne, or Thurne, where it croffeth the 3ole (whose description followeth) a finally into Arent, & so into the Humber. But before I deale with the description of the Jole, I wil adde some. what of the Rume which is a fayze water: for although the description thereof be not so eradly delivered me as I loked for, pet fuch as it is I wyll let downe, conferring it wyth Lelandes boke and helping their defecte fo much as to me is possible. It ryseth by south of Paunsfielde, fyne mylcs from Rumfoede abbaye, & when the Arcame commeth nere

30 S

the abbay, it casteth it selse abroade and mas ketha fapze lake. After this it commeth as gaine into a narrowe chanell, and fo goeth on to Kumfozo village, carping the Budbye dby. off to Market waters with all. From berto, and the Gerberton waters with all. From thence & with a metely long course, it goeth to Bawiry of Cantrpe, a market towne in Pottingham theze, fine myles from Don. carer, and so into the Trent. Beneth Kumford also commeth in the Gyat, which goeth vato Southwel mylles, fo into the Arent. Powe as concerning our Jole. The Jole ryleth at Sutten in Afhfelde, from whence it runneth to Paunifelde, Clypfton and Ale lercon, where it taketh in a water that rifeth in the forcest, one myle north of Bledworth, and runnery on by Rughforde abbaye, tyll it come at Allerton. The foresters call thys Pan becke, whereof Lelande allo speaketh, who veleribeth it in thismaner. Pan bzoke ryleth some where about Linthirst wode, from whence it goeth to Bilithozpe, and fo to allercon, But to procede the Jole having taken in the Panbecke, it runneth to 150: thomiall, by Boughton, and Berlethoppe but ere it come there, it meteth the Meding Bayden, oz Pioding broke, which ryling a. bout Teuerfall, goeth to Pleadley, Pettles worth, Salvcan, Warlop, Budley, Thurel. by, Bothomfall & fo into the Jole. After thys it procedeth to Houghton, well Draiton, but ereit touche at Grauniton oz Bauniton, it taketh in the Willy, which commeth from Clowne, to Crefwell, Holbecke, Mabboule Milebecke, Pozmanton, Elley, Graunfo, and so into the Jole. Beyng thus increased the Jole runneth on to Joleton, Dedlal, Ret. forde, Bollam, Tilney, Patterley abbaye, 4 fo to Bawtry, where it meteth another fro the thire Dies, that rpleth aboue Beptfozo, passeth on to Tacksop(oz Kaofurth) Diber, ton, Bilby, and Blythe, there buiting it felf with their rylles in one botome, wheref one commeth from Waldingwel to Careleton, and to thosowe a parke to Bitthe towne, as nother from by west Furbecke thee mples and so to Blithe, but the thirde out of & white water ner to Blithe, and there being bnited they palle on to Scroby, and to into the Jole. From hence it runneth on to Millen, to Sad lers bridge, a nert of all to Santoft, where it meteth with the Sanobecke, which ryling not farre from Sanobecke towne, paffeth by Tickhill, Kolington bridge, Brampton, Kils holme, Lindholme, sne mple louth of Sans toft into the Jole water, which runneth from thence to Thome, where it meeteth with the Done, fo with it to Crowley. Finally en nironning the Ille of Areholme, it goeth to Barthoppe, Focothy, and to into the Trent, Leland wayting of the Mily, Mile og But, ly, as some wayte it, saith thus thereof. The Wile bath two heades, whereof one is not far about the place where Milbecke abbate Awde, the other ryleth farder of by well as boue Melbecke, or Milebecke Towne: finally forning in one, they runne to Cucker ner village, where crofting a becke that cons meth in fro by well, it holdeth on two myles farder, there taking in the feconde roll, and fo refort to Kufforde. To thys ryger likewife faith he do two other waters repaire, wherof pone goeth hard by Paunifeld (riling foure myles from thence by well) then commeth thie mples lower buto Rufford, the other fo far as I remember goeth quite thozowe the towne. Hauing thus finithed & courle of the Trent, & fuch netable waters as vischarge themselves into the same. I find none of any contenance omitted before I come to Lindis 02 Mitham, where I have to make supplie of foure or fine as followeth, albeit that their caurles be not of any quantitie in comparifon of those, whereof I spake in the Trent. Into Witham therefore from by north and witham? feuen myles beneath Lincolne, there falleth a faire water, the heade whereof is at Hake. Hake. thorne, from whence it goeth by Hanworth, Snarford, Kelby, Stainton, and at Bulling, ton mæteth with a water on cach live, wher, of one commeth from Papto and Turrings ton, the other from Subbroke, and likewyle beneath Byzlinges with the third comming from Barkeworth by Stanffed, and feining all in one some after, it is not long ere it fall into the chanell of Witham, and so are nes uer moze hearde of. There is also a broke by fouthwest, that commeth from kyzby to -Cateley, Billingams, and the ferry. At Ca. Bane. terfall it meteth with the Bane, which ry. feth aboue Burghe, and neere buto Ludford goeth downe to Dunnington, Stanygod, Hemminglby, Bamburghe, Killington, Horne castell (where it crosseth a rill from Belcheworth) Thorneton, Parton, Valton, Hysheby, Comfby, Taterfall and fo to Dog. vike ferry. Aboue Boston, like wife it taketh in a water comming from Luleby by Bo. lingbroke, Stickeford, Stickney, Sibbelep and Pilozike. And to Boston towns it selse doe finally come sundry brokes in one chanell, called Hammond becke, which riling at : Donelby runneth on to Mazightbola where it calleth one arme into Holly well water. Thence it halteth towarde Beinington, resulingcepuing foure brokes by the waye, whereof booksow. the firt commeth from Milthorp, the fecond Semfrom Fokingham, called Bollingbzowe oz pzingham.

Sempringham water, the thirde fro Bridge ende, the fourth from Sempzingham, and afterwardes the maine Areame is founde to runne by treston holme, and so into the Wilis tham. Into the Wiplande likewyle falleth the Dallvwell, which ryleth of a spaying that runneth towarde the east from Halpwell to Dneby, Clonden, Oretlozde, and lo to Cata bridge, where it recevueth another ryling at Witham and Welf of Wanthoppe, and the feconde comming from Laund, and so runne from thence together to Willeshopp & Catbridge, and then into the Pallywell, which after thele confluences, goeth to Teiforde, & Castcole, where it mosteth with a Drapne, comming from Bourne, and to thozowe the Fennes to Binchebeck, Surflete, and Fol dike, where it mæteth with the Waelland, in p mouth of the walke as I have beene aduer: tiko. And thus much of the smaller brokes, wherby the greater are augmented, ouer all the realmost Englands. Tertes I would if it had beine possible, have dealt moze ozderip in their descriptions, but lith many occasios hindered my purpole, that which I have done Those hali suffice for this time, sith here after I may happen to take farder trauaile herem, & bring the whole discourse to some more perate order, as better instruction and god acceptation of that which is done alread die sijali encourage me thereto.

Of the deuision of Englande as it is now generally named into Shyres Cap. 4.

IP reading of auncient waitters as Cæsar Tacitus and others, we finde mention of sundrie regions to have beine sometome in this Mande, as of the Trinobantes, Ordolukes. Tegenes, Silures, Icenes, Brigantes, Cages, and isentifymen and fuch like, but ath the fee ucrail places where most of them lape, are not perfitely eknowne buto the learned of thele daves, A doe not meane to pronounce mp indgement also bpo such boubtfull cases. least that in so dowing I shoulde but increase confedures, and leading peraduenture the reader frothe moze probable, intanglehim in the ende with such as are of lesse value & nothing to lykely to be true, as those which other men have let bowne before me. It thall. Englande fuffice therfore to begin with luch a ground, as from whence some better certaintie of thinges may be derived, and that is with the dimoco by estate of our Islande in the time of Alfrede. Cannedes who first denised England into spres, whis the before his trine, and fithence the comma of the Sarons, was limited out by familes and hydelandes, as Wales hath also being by hundleds of townes, which then were called Cantredes, as olde recorde both witnesse. Anto how many threes the layde Alfrede did first make this particion of the Mande, it is not pet founde out, howbeit if my confedure be any thing at all, I suppose that he left not under evalt and thirtie, lith we finde by no god author that aboue fifteene have bene added by any of his successours, lith the time of his deceale. This prince therefore having Shing made the generall partition of his kingdome thare at into thyzes, or thares, he deutoed agains the fame into lathes, as lathes into hundreds, & hundzedes into tithinges, or denaries, as dis uers have written, and D. Lambert follo. wing their authozities, hath also given out, faying almost after this manner in his des scription of kent. The Danes (latth he) both before, and in the time of king Alfrede, had flocked by the sea coasses of this Islande in great numbers, sometimes wasting and spois ling with swoode and fire, wherefoeuer they might arrive, & sometime taking great bo ties with the to their thips, without dwing Englife any farder hurt,02 domage to the countrey. min noz-Thys inconvenience continuing for manye some to yearestogither, caused our husbandmen to their own abandon their tillage, and gave occasion and country. hardnesse to entil disposed persons, to fall to the lyke pillage, as practing to followe the Danes in these they theftes and robbertes. And the better to cloake their mischiese with all, they feigned the selues to be Danish pp. rates, and woulde sometime come alande in one post, and sometime in an other, defuing dayly great spoyies as the Danes had done buto their thips befoze them. The good king Alfrede therfore (who had marneyloully trae ueyled in repulling the barbarous Danes) clyying this out rage, ethinking it no lese the part of a politicke prince to rate out the noplome lubica, then to holde out the forcen aduct larie: by the aduice of his nobilitie, and therample of Poles (who followed the counfell of Jethro his father in law to the like effeat) devided the whole realme into certaine partes of leatios, which (of the Saron worde, Schyran, fignifying to cut) he termed thires or as we yet speake, shares, or portions, and ere and appointed over every such one thire an Erle Nocima or Alderman or both, to whome he commit ted the government of the same. These Chyzes also be brake into letter partes, where of some were called lathes, of the worde Gelathian, which is to ademble togither, other hundredes for that they coined furifoiction ouer an hundred pleages, tother tithinges, bycause there were in eache of them to the number of tenne persons, whereof every one fra time to time was furetie for others god abearing. De provided also that every man houlde procure himselfe to be recevued into some tithing, to the ende, that if any were founde of so small and balle a credite that no man woulde become pledge oz suretie foz him, he shoulde forthwith be committed to vzvion, left otherwise he might happen to do mozeharme abzoade. Ditherto D. Lambert. by inhose wordes we may gather very much of the state of this Islande in the time of Alfride, whole institution continued after a lost putili the comming of the Pozmans, who chaunged the governement of the realme in such wife (by bringing in of new officers and offices, after the maner of their countries) that very little of the olde regiment remays ned more then the bares names of some offi cers (ercept peraduenture in Bent) lo that in these dayes it is hard to let downe any great certainty of things as they stode in Alfrids time, moze then is remembred, & touched at this present. Some as it were roming or roning at b name Lath, affirme that they were certen circuites in enery couty or Chyze, co. tayning an appopnted number of townes, whose inhabitauntes alwayes assembled to know and understande of matters touching their postions, in to some one appointed place oz other within their limites, especial ive whylest the causes were such as required not the apde of allifaunce of the whole countve. Df these Lathes also (asthey save) some thyzes had moze some leste, as thep were of greatnesse. And M. Läbert semeth to be of the opinion that the lets of our tyme (wherein these pledges be pet called Franci plegij of the worde Fræ burghe) doe pælde some shadow of that politike institutio of Alfrede: but lith my skill is so small in these cas les that I dare not indge any thing at all as of myne owne knowledge, I will not fette downe any thing moze then 3 read, and reas ding no more of lathes, mp nert talke that be of hundredes. The hundrede, and the was pentake is all one, and by this division not a name appertynent to a sette number of townes (for then all hundrede shoulde be of equall quantitie) but a limited iurisdiction, within the compatte whereof were an hundied persons called pledges, or ten denartes, luhing of tithings of men, of which eache one was bounde for other good abering, and laudable behaviour in the comon welth of the realme. The chiefe man lykewyle of enerte Denarie 02 Withing was in those dayes called a tithing man in latine Decurio, but now in most places a box holder as in Kent, where every tithing is more over named a Burrow, als Burrow though that in the West countrie he be Will called a Tithing man, and his circuit a Tithing as have bearde at large. I reade further more and it is partly afore noted, that the lapde Alfride caused eache man of fræ condicion (for the better maintenaunce of his peace) to be ascribed into some hundied by placing himselfe in one Denarie or other. where he might alwaies have luch as mould swere or save bypon their certen knowledge for his honest behausour and civile conversa. tion if it should happen at any time, that his credite thould come in question. In like fort. I gather out of Leland and other, that if any imal matter oid fall out worthis to be discusled, the Tithing man oz boziholder (now officers, at the comandement of & Constable) thould decide the same in their Letes, where as the greatest causes were referred to the Hundredes, the greater to the Lathes, and the greatest of all to the thire daies, where the Carles oz Aldermen opd fet them selues, and make finali endes of the same according buto Justice. For this purpose likes wile in enery Hundred were 12, men cholen Eweine of god age and wishome, and those sinoine men. to grue their lentences without respect of person, and in this maner, as they gather were thinges bandeled in those baies. In mp tyme there are found to be in Englande 40. Hyzes, and likewife iz. in Wales, and thefe Fourtle latter erected of late yeres, by king Henry & Chytes in enght, who made the Baytos or Welchnie, thirteine equall in all respectes onto the Englishe, and in wales. brought to passe, that both nations should indifferently be governed by one law, which in times pail were ordred by divers, thole far descrepant, edisagreying one with an other, as by the leverall view of plame, is pet eafp to be deferned. The names of the flyzes in England are thefe wherof thefirst 10. lie betwens the Brittill lea and the Thames, Bent. in the man willhyze.

Suller: mit if the Porlet thyre. Surrey. Somerlet. Pampthyse. Deuon. Barkelbyze. Coznewall.

There are moreover on the north fide of the Thames, t betwene the same the river Trent, which passeth thosowe the miodest of Englance as Polidore fayth 16. other thires. whereof fire lye towarde the east, the rest towarde the well-moze into the middelf of the countrye.

Eller. Widdleser. Hartfozdibire. Suffolke.

Pozsolke. Cambridge Chyze. Bedfozde. Huntingdon.

brought

Carles

Canges.

Lintons. Dations bofamil.

nato fba es Sobich the Bucking

The Seconde Booke

Lewcesterchire. Buckingham. Pottingham Chyze. Drfo2d. Warwicke. Pozthampton. Lincolne.

Rutland. Wie have 6, also that have there place well. ward towardes wales, whose names infue. Shropelbire. Glocester.

Staffozd. Hereford. Chesterchire. Wlozcester.

And these are the 32. Chires which lie by south of the Arent. Beyonde the same ryuer we have in lyke lost other 8.as mestmerland. Darby. Richemonde. ₩ozke. Durham. Lancaster.

Pozthumberland. Comberlande. So that in the portio sometime called Lhoes gres, there are nowe fourtie thyzes. In Talales furthermoze are 13. wherof 7. are in fouth Wales.

Glamozgan. Cardigan, 02 Monemuth. Cereticon. Bzeckenocke. Denmoroke,02 Radnoz. Denbeoke.

Caermardine.

In Porthwales likewise are 6. that is to say Denbighe. Anglesep. Flint Carnaruon.

Montgomery. Wertoneth.

Withich being added to those of Englad pelo Dode par= 53. Hires oz couties, lo y bnder the Quænes colles of Baielly are so many Counties, whereby it is cally discerned, that hir power farre ers cedeth that of Offa, who of olde time was highelve honoured for that he had so much of Bertaine under hys subtection as after, warde conteined 39.thyzes, when the diulii on was made, whereof I spake befoze.

Thys is mozeouer to be noted in our des uision of thyzes, that they be not alwayes counted or laid togither in one percel, where of 3 bave great marueple. But fith the occafion hath growen as I take it either by 1021. upledge of some lyke occasion, it is better birefelpe to let downe howe some of these partes lve then to spende the tyme in sæking a fust cause of thes their odde division. First therfore I note that in the part of Bucking, ham theze betweene Amondetham, and Bes conffede, there is a piece of Hartforde Chyze to be founde, enuironed rounde about with the countre of Buckingham, and pet thys vatche is not about them mvles in length & two in breadth at the verye most. In Barker three also betweene Ruscombe and Dkings ham is a piece of Willhore, one myle in becaoth and foure mples inlength, whereof one fide leeth on the Loden river. In the boxs ders of Posthamton these directly over against Luffelde a towne in Buckingham Apre, I funde a percell of Drforde Apre not passing two miles in compasse. With Drford there divers doe participate in so much that a piece of Gloceller Chrie. lpeth halfe in Marwicke thyze and halfe in Orfoede Chyze, not very farre from Hoznes fon, Such another patche is there, of Gloces fter theze not farre from long Compton. but lying in Drfoide county; and allo a pece of Morcester thire, oprectly betweene it and Bloceffer fyze: Gloceffer hath & third pece bponthe Posth side of the Winrushe nære Falbrocke, as Warkethpre bath one percell also boon the selfe side of the same water, in the verye edge of Glocestershyre: Lykewyle an other in Orforde Chyze, not berpe farre from Burfoed; and the thirde ouer agaput Lache lade, which is varted from the mapne countre of Warkelhyze by a lyttle frake of Drford three. With woulde thinke that two Fragmentes of Willhyze were to be fæne in Barkethyze byon the Loden, and the rys ner that falleth into it: whereof and the lyke fith there are verye manye, I thinke god to que thes briefe admonition. For although I have not presently gone thorowe wyth them al, vet these mave suffice to give notice of thys thinge, whereof most readers as I perswade my selfe are ignozant. But to procede with our purpole, over eache of thele thores in time of necesity is a feuerall Left Leinte tenant chosen bnoer the Prince, who being naunts. a noble man of calling, hath almost regall authoritie over the same for the tyme beyng in many cases which doth cocerne his office: otherwyle it is governed by a Shirife, who is relident a dwelling somewhere within the same couty, whom they call a Micount, in res spect of b Erle (oz as they called him in time past the Alderman) that beareth his name of the Countye, although it be seldome sæne in Englance, that the Earle hath any great store of possessions, or oughtes to doe in the County whereof he taketh his name, moze then is allowed to him, thosowe his perlos nall reliauns, if he happen to dwell and bee relident in the same. In the election also of these Magestrates, dyners able Persons as well for wealth as wildome, are named by the commons, at a tyme and place appointed for they, chaple, whole names beyng delpo nered to the Prince, he forthweth pricks eth some suche one of them, as he pleaseth to assigne unto that office, to whome he comit feth the charge of the county, and who heres bpon is Shirife of that there, for one whole holdeth the thyre courtes, a law daies buder hpin, opon lufficient caution, unto the high Shirife for hys true erecution of Juffice, and pæloing of accoumpt, when he shall be there unto called. There are likewyle under him certagne Bayliffes, whole office is to ferue t returne such wattres t processes as are dis reaed unto the frothe high Shirife, to make feature of the godes and cattelles, and are rest the bodyes of such as doe offende, prefenting epther their persons buto him, oz at the least wyle taking sufficient bonde, 02 02 ther assuraunce of them for they? due appes rance at an appointed tyme, when y Shirife by order of law ought to prefent them to the Zudges according to his charge. In emerge hundred allo are one or moe high constables according to the quatity of the lame, who recepuing writtes and injunctions from the high Shirife binder his feale, ove forthwith charge the pety constables of every towne, ety cons with in their limites, with the execution of §

In eche countye likewife, are fundzye law dayes holden at their appointed lealons, of which some retaine the olde Saron name, and are called Potelaghe. They have also an other called the Shirifes turne, which they holde twose in their times, in every hundled, and in these two latter such small matters as oft aryle amongst the inferior loste of people, are hard and determined. They have finally their quarter fedious, wherein they are afficed by the Julices and Gentlemen faile de= of the countrey, and twife in the yeare Baile perpor deliverye, at which time the Judges rive a cat alli- bout in theps circuites, into everye feverall countre (where the nobilitye and Gentlemen with the Justices there reliaunt associate them) and mynister the lawes of the realme, wyth great folemnity and Justice. Howbeit in doing of these things, they retayne fill the the olde order of the lande, in ble before the conquest, for they comit the full examination of al causes there to be heard, to & couderatio of 12. Sober grave & wife menscholen out of b fame countre (which number they call anen quelt) and of these inquelts there are more or lede impaniled at every affize as the nuber of cases there to be handled, doth crave and require (albeit that some one inquest hath often divers to colider of a when they have to their bitermost poure consulted and debated of fuch thinges as they are charged withall, they returne agains to the place of Austice? with they? Aerdice in weyting, according whereunto the Judge doth pronounce his les tence, be it for life or seath or any other mate ter, what so cuer is brought before him. Belide thele officers afore mencioned, there are liv Dry other in every countre, as Crowners, whole duety is to enautre of such as come to their death by violence, to attache and prefent the pless of the Crowne, to make inquisives rye of treasure founders. There are open of peax and were also of the best dearness the laws, be quorum. fide fundep Beitlemenschherache number of Lawrers doe not fuffile tand inhole rea nennes doe amount to aboundwenty vound, by the years) appointed by especiali commillion from the prince to lake unto the god government of hir subjectes; in the Count ties where they owell a and of these the. Leaft (bilfull in the laive are of the peace, the other both of the peace and quorum others wife called of Apez & Determiner, so that; the first bave authoritie onely to beare, the or, thereto heare & determine fuch matters as: are brought buto their presence. These alin one priest they warrantes to the keepers of the Gaples which in their limitations for the lafe keping of fuch offenders as they Wah. judge worthie to be kept bnder warde, butill: the great alizes, to thende their causes may. be further examined before the relique of the countress these officers were first deuised in the eighteene peare of Cowarde the thyrder as Thane beneinformed.

They meterallo, and togither with the Shy rifes, doe hold their Dellions at foure times Quarter in the years; whereof they are called quarter fellions. Selfions and berin they inquire of the comnion anovannes of the kings lege people a lundrie other trespalles determining oppor them as infice both require . There are als so a throne, kinds of Sessions holden by the high Constables and Baylifs afore mencios. ned called lactic Sellions inberest the weig ghtes a measures are perused by the Clarke Pety les of the market for the courter, who litteth with the At thele meetings, allo Aiduallers. e inlike fort feruants, labourers, roges, and runnagates are often reformed for their ercelles, although the burning of bagabounds thorow their cares, be referred to b quarter festios or higher courts of Assile, where they are adjudged also to death, if they be take the third time & have not lith their lecond appres benfionapplyed theselves to labor. And thus much have I thought god to let dolume genepally of the lapbe counties and their mas nerof governaunce, although not in so perfit order as the cause requiretb, bycause that of all the rest there is nothing wherewith I am less acquainted then with our tempozall res giment, which to lave truth doth smally com cerne my calling.

rife also hath his vnder Shirife that ruleth & therfes.

yeare, 02 untill another be chosen. The Shi wine

Of the number of Bishoprijcks in Englande and Wales, and of the present state of the churche there. Cap.s.

@ wo pro=

There are two provinces in England, of which the first and greatest is subject to the lie of Caunto2burp, the leconde to that of Porke. And of these epther hath hir Archbi thop resident continually within hir owne limits, who bath not onely the chiefe dealing in things appertaining to the Dierarchy and iurisoicion of the church, but also great authoritie in civile affayres, touching the gouernement of the common wealth so farre forth as their senerall circuites doe ertende. The Archbishop of Cantozbury is comonly called Primate of all Englande, and in the coronation of the kings of this lande, his of fice is to let the Crowne byon their heades, They beare also the name of their high chap: iens perpetually although not a few of them have prefumed in tyme past to be theires qualles and votoe of any subtection buto the, which mape easily appeare by their owne aces, epilles, and auniweres, wherein they have sought not onely to match, but also to mate them with great rigour and moze then ope tirannie. Gramples hereof 3 could bring many, but this one thall suffice of Anselme, who making a showe as if he had beene bery unwilling to be placed in the le of Canto2bury, gaue his auniwere to the letters of fuch his friendes as made request buto hym to take that charge bpo him. Scecularia negotia nescio, quia scire noto, eorum namq; occupationes horreo, liberum affectans animum. Voluntati sacrarum intendo scripturarum, vos dissonantiam facitis, verendumq; est ne aratrum sancte Ecclesia, quod in Anglia duo boues validi & pari fortitudine, ad bonu certantes, id est rex & Archepiscopus, debeant trahere, nunc oue vetula, cum Tauro indomito nugata, distorqueatur à recto. Ego ouis vetula, qui si quietus essem, verbi Dei lacte, & operimento lanæ, aliquibus possem fortassis non ingratus elle, sed si me cum hoc tauro coniungitis, videbitis pro desparilitate trahentium. aratrum non recte procedere. &c. Which is in Englich thus. Of seculer affapzes & have no fkil, bycause I will not know them, for I ruen abhorre the troubles that rufe about them, as one that desireth to have his minde at libertie. Tapplye my whole indevour to the rule of the scriptures, you lead me to the contrary. It is to be feared left the plough of holy church which two frong Dren of equal force, and both like earnest to contende onto that, which is goo (that is the hing and the Archebishop) ought to draw, shoulde thereby now fwarue from the right forrow, by mat ching of an olde theve-with a wilde butamed bull. I am that olde hepe, who if I might be quiet, coulde peraduenture thew my felfe not altogither bngratfall bnto some, by fæding them with milke of the worde of God, and covering them with woll, but if you matche me with this bull-you thall fee that thosome want of equalitie in draught the plough inill not go to right. cc. as followeth in the v20. celle of his letters. Thomas Becket was so Chomas pronde, that he wrate to king Henry the le Becket, conde, as to his Lozd, to his king, and to his some, offering him his counsell, hus renes rence and due correction. ec. Others in like fort have protested, that they ought nothing to the kinges of this lande, but their counsell onely, referuing all obedience buto the fee of Kome: whereby we may cally le the vide & ambition of the cleargie in the blinde tyme of ignozance. But as the Archbishop of Cantozbury hath log fince obtayned the pzerogas tive above Book, (although not without gret trouble, sute, some bloodhed and contention) so the Archbishop of Dozke, is neverthelesse primate of Englande, as one contentung himselfe with a piece at the least when (all) coulde not begotten. And as he of Cantozbus ry crowneth the king, fo thys of Pozke doth the like buto the Duene, whose perpetuall Chaplin he is, and hath beene from time to time as the writers doe reporte. The first al 21, By so hath under his iurisdiction to the number thousak of one and twentie inferiour bishoppes, the botter the other hath onely foure by reason, that the Emire churches of Scotland are now removed fro burp. his obedience buto an Archbishop of their Duche owne, wherby the greatnesse a circuit of the foure his inrisolation of Pozke, is not a little diministrate his fine and the form a little diministrate his fine and the form a file for the file. hed. In like fort eache of these seven a twen thop of ty les, have their Cathedral churches, where your in the Deanes doe beare the chiefe rule, bes Deanes. ing men especially chosen to that vocation, both for their learning & godinesse so nære as can be possible. These Cathedrall churs ches have in like maner other dignities and Canoncies fill remaining unto the as heres Canonic tofoze bnder the Popith regiment. Howbett those that are chosen to the same are no pole and unprofitable persons, (as in times past they have being when most of these livinges were either furnished with straungers especiall out of Italy,02 fuch Jocots as had leaff skill of all in ofscharging of those functions, wherunto they were called by vertue of these (fipendes) but fuch as by preaching and teas ching can, and doe learnedly fet fouth the glozie of God, and farder the ouerthzowof Antichailt to the ottermost of their powers.

of the description of Britaine.

spozeover in the layoe Tathedzall churches byon Sondapes and Festival dayes, the Canones out make certayne ordinary fermons by course, wherento great numbers of all es states one orderly resort, and upon the wor king dates thirle in the weeks one of the layo Canons doth reade and expounde some peece appolitions of holy scripture, whereinto the people doe very renevently repaire. The buthops theme kriptures. felues in lyke forte are not pole in their callings, for being nowe exempt from Court & counsell, they so applye their myndes to the letting forth of the worde, that there are bes ric few of them, which both not enery Sun day of oftner reforte to some place or other, within their iurisolations, where they epi pounde the scriptures with much granities ofose have Chill. They have bnoer them also their Arbhi bone occu- deacons, some one, divers two, a many source or mo, as their circuites are in quantity, whi che Archedeacons are termed in law the byi Moppes eyes: and these beside their ordinai rie courtes (which are holden by themselves or their officials once in a moneth at h leaft) doe keepe yearly two vilitations or Sinodes; (as the Britton doth in enery thirde yeare) wherin they make diliget inquilition & fetch, aswel for h voarine a behaviour of the Hini: sters, as the orderly dealing of the Parishio's ners in resorting to their parish churches & conformity buto religio. They punish also w great severity al such trespassers as are presented buto them:02 if the cause be of & moze weight, as in cales of Herelle, pertinacie, coa tempt & fuch loke, they refer them cother to b Bithop of the Diocette, oz his chauncellour, or elle to fundrie grave persons let in author ritpe by vertue of an high comission directed onto them fro the Pzince to that end, who in very courteous maner doe le the offenders getly reformed, or else severly punished if nea cellitie lo infozce. Belide this in many of our Archedeaconries, we have an exercise lately conference. begunne, which for the most part is called a prophecie or conference, and erected only for the eramination of triall of the diligence of the clearate in their Auor of holy Criptures. Howbeit such is the thirstie desire of the people in these dayes to heare the worde of God. y they also have as it were with sealous violence intruded themselves among them (but as hearers only) to come by moze knowledg thorowe their presence at the same. Herein also for the most part two of the ponger sorte of Ministers doe expounde eache after other some piece of the scriptures ordinarily appointed but othern in their courses (wherein' they orderly go thorow with some one of the Cuangeliffes or of the Chiffles, as it pleas iligent=

ologia, g

feth the the chose at the first in every of these conferences) and when they have spent an houre or slittle more betweene them, then commethances the better learned lost, who supplyeth the rolume of a moderator, mas hing first aburte repearfall of their discours les, and the madding what him thinketh god of his ofness exercised ge, whereby two houres are thus company (pent at this most provitar ble mieting: Whe al is done if the first speas kers have the wed any piece of diligence, they are commended for their travaile and encour raced to co forward. If they have beine found to be flacks, their negligence is openly reproued before all their brethren, who go alide of purpole from the laitie after the exercise em bedito judge of these matters and consulte of the next speakers & quantie of the text to be bandled in that place. The laytie never spake but are analy heavers, a as it is bled in forme places wekely, in other once infouretiena daves, in dinners monethly, and elsewhere tipife in a vere: fo is it a notable four e onto all the ministers therby to apply their hokes which otherwyle as in tymes palt dyd give themselves to hawking, hunting, tables, carpes byte topling at the Alehonie Hopting and other like banities, nothing commendate ble in fuch as shoulde be godly and sealous frewards of the good affes of O D, fatth ful diffributers of his worde but o the people, and diligent pattours according to their cals ling. Dur Cloers oz Ministers and Dese Ministers cons (for subdeacons and the other inferiour Deacons. piders; furnetime bled in the Popily chunch me have not are made according to a certaine forme of confectation concluded byon in the time of king Cowarde the firt , by the clergy of Englande, and some after confirmed by the three estates of the realme, in the high court of Parliamet. And out of the first fort, that is to fave of fuch as are called to the ministery, arc Bithops, Deanes, Arches deacons a fuch as baue the bigher places in the Hierarchy of the church elected, a these allo as al breft, at the first coming buto any spirituali promotion doe yeld buto & Parince the entire tare of their linkings for one whole pearle, if it amount in value buto ten pounde and bewardes, and this buder the name of first fruites. They paye the tenthes yearely first fruis also of they? sayde linguages, according to fee and fuch valuations as have beene made latelye tembés. of the lame: for the recept of which two paymentes an especial office or court is preced which beareth name of first fruits and tens thes wherebuto if the party to be preferred; doe not make his ductifull repayze by smape pointed tyme after polledion taken there to

of the description of Britaine.

compounde for the papment of his fruites. be incurreth the daunger of a great penalty. lymited by a certapne estatute provided in that behalfe, against such as doe intrude into the ecclesiastical functio. They pay likewise subsides with the tempozaltie, but in suche fort that if thele pape after foure Willinges Sublidies for lande, the cleargye paye commonly af ter fire thilings of the pounde so that of a benefice of twentye pounde by the yeare the incumbent thinketh himselfe well acquited, if all thinges being discharged be may reserve tistiene pounde towarde his owne sustentation and maintenance of his family. Seldom also are they without the compasse of a subliope, for if they be one peare cleare from this payment they are lyke in the nert to here of another graunt, so that I sape a gapne they are seldome wythout the limite of a subside. The lasty mape at enery tarationalso helpe themselves, and so they voe thosowe confideration had of their decape, and hinderaunce, and pet their imponerith. met cannot but touch also the Parson of Wie car, as is daily to be fiene in their accompts and tythings.

The other paimetes due buto the Archbi thop and Bithop at their fenerall vilitatios. (of which the first is double to the latter) and suche also as the Archedeacon recepueth at hus Spnodes. cc. remaine fill as they byd, wythout any alteration: onely thys 3 thynke be added within memory of man, that at the comming of enery prince, hys appointed of, ficers doe commonly bifite the whole realme bnder the forme of an ecclefiasticall inquisi-The very tion, in which the cleargy doe pape double cause why fixe, as buto the Archbishop. Hereby the & by weavers, those already remembred, it is founde that the Thurch of Englande, is no lette commohave beine dious to the Pzinces coffers then the laitve. made Mis if it doe not farre ercede the same, since their nufters, for paimentes are certapne continuall and fel-§ learned dome abated, howefoeuer they gather bppe refuse such their owne oucties, or have their lyninges that of the otherwise hardly valued onto the ottermost Wilhops fardings, or threwdely canceled by the cones tousnesse of the patrones, x of whom some do bestowe advoulous of benefices byon thep? fuch by o= Bakers, Butlers, Cokes, and horsekepers. uerlighte in frede ofother recompece, for their long & friendship faithful feruice which they employ buto their I wore most aduantage. But to procede wyth our purpole. The names mozeover blualip give fiold have onto such as feede the flocke remaine in lyke vone with leat as in tymes pall, lo y thele wordes, par. fon, Micar, curate, and fuch are not, as yet as nousons. bolished moze then the Canoniawe it selfe, es for a glo which is daily pleaded as Thane sayde elles where, although the estatutes of the realme tapler wil have greatly infringed the large scope, and be glad of brought the exercise of the same into some an anguanarrower limits. There is no thing redde in or 10.poin our churches but the canonicall Scriptures, by the per whereby it commeth to passe that the Wal, and well to is layd oner once in thirtie dayes, y new that his Testament foure times, and the olde Testa, patrone ment once in the yeare. And herebuto if the thail have Turate be adjudged by the Bilhop or his des all there puties, sufficiently instructed in the holye so he man scriptures, he permitteth him to make some this pensonalition as exposition in his particle some erpolition or erhortation in his parithe, buto tion amendment of lyfe. And for as much as our churches and univerlities have beine lo svole led in tyme of errour, as there cannot pet be had fuch number of learned pastours as map suffile for enery parish to have one: there are certaine fermones or homelies, denifed by fundzy learned men, confirmed for sounde doctrine by consent of the divines, and publike authoritie of the prince, and those appointed to be read by the Curates of meane bnderskanding, (which Homelies doe comprehende the principall partes of christian doctine, as of oxiginal linne, of Julificatio by fayth, of charity and such lyke) byon the Sabbaoth dayes, buto the congregation. Likewise in our common praper, the lessons are onely certeine appointed chapters, taken out of the olde and neive Tessament. The administration mozeoner of the sacraments and relidue of the leruice, is done in the churs ches, wholly in our bulgare tong, that eche one present, maye here and boderstande the same, which also in Cathedrall and Collegie ate churches is so ordered, that the Plaimes onely are long by note, the rest being redde (as in common parithe Churches) by the Pinister with a loude voyce, sauguge that in the administration of the Communion the Quier lingeth the answeres, the crede, and funday other thynges appointed, but in so plaine (I say) and distinct maner, that eche one present may buderstand what they sing, every worde having but one note, though the whole Harmony confift of many partes, and those very cunningly set by the skilful in that science. As for our Churches themselues, Belles, and times of morning and evening praier, they remaine as in times palt, lauing that all Images, theines, tabernacls, rods loftes, and monumentes of Idolatry, are remoned, taken downe, and defaced, onely the Rozpes in glasse windowes ercepted, which for want of lufficient store of neive stuffe, & by reason of extreame charge that Choulde growe, thosow the alteration of the same into white panes thorowe out the realme, are not altogither avolythed in most places at once, but by lyttle and little suffered to be cape, that white glasse may be provided and fet by in their rames. Finally wheras there was wont to be a great varticion betweene the Auire and the body of the Church-nowe it is either very imali or none at all: and to save the truth altogither needelesse, sithe the Minister sayth his service commonly in the bodye of the church, with his face towarde the people, in a little tabernacle of wainescot provided for the purpole, by which meanes the ignozaunt doe not onely learne dyners of the plaimes and viuali prapers by heart, but also such as can read doe reap togither with him. so that the whole congregation at one instant doe poure out their peticions, buto the living God, for the whole estate of hys church in most earnest and ferwent maner. Thus much briefly of the estate of the church of England, I meane touching the regimet of the lame, p lervice of God, forme of com mon Waper: now will I returne to the particular limites of eache severall 180shop2tic. whereby we mail fee they; boundes, and how farre they auxiloidions doe extende, begins ning first with the Sie of Cantozbury in Inch briefe order as foloweth here at hand.

The furifoictio of Cantordury (exerted first by Augustine the Monke) of pou have respect to his provinciall regiment extendeth it selfe over all the fouth part of this Alland. But if you regarde the same onely that belongeth bnto his Sie-it reacheth but over one varcell of kent: the Diocesse of Rochester enjoying the rest: so that in thys one couritey the greatell Archbishopzijcke and at the lest Wishop. rticke of all are buited & Arialy lincked togis ther. That of Cantozbury hath bonder it one Archedeaco, who bath charge over rf. Deas neries or a hudred three score and one parishe churches, and in the Popish time there went out of this Sie to Rome at enery alienation for first fruites 10000. Ducates or Florens (for I reade both) belive cooo. that the new elect blually paped for hys pail. I woulde speake somewhat of his peculiers dispersed here & there in other thires, but fith Ihaue no certaine knowledge of them, I palle the ouer butill an other tyme.

Rochester. The Sie of Rochester is also included with in y limits of Kent, whole Archedeacon hath onelye thie Denaries buder his jurisolation contayning 132. Parithe churches: so that hereby it is to be gathered that there are at the least 393. Parithe churches in Bent, over which these two Archdeacons afoze remembred doe erercile Ecclesiasticall authoritie. This Bythop at enery alienation was want to pay to the Sie of Rome 1300 Dus cates of florens. He was also croffebearer in tome past to the Archboshop of Cantozburp and luftus was the first Byshop that was in stalled in the same.

The Sie of London, whereof Mellitus is London. accounted to be the first Pastor in the Popish Cataloge, is nowe contented to be under the governaunce of a Bichop, which in olde time had hir Archebishop butill Cautozbury bes reft hir of that honour by the practice of Auguitine the monke, who I wote not buo inhat privie occasion, removed his Archebishops Sie from thence farder into Bent. It includeth Ester, Midleser and part of Herefolde thyze, and is nepther moze noz lette in quantitle then the auncient kingdome of the east Sarous before it was butted to that of the west Sarons, as our hystories doe report. The furifoiction of this Sie buder the billion is committed to foure Archedeacons, that is of London, Effer, Widleser, and Colchester and those have amongs them to the number of 3 6 3. Parithes of thereabouts, belide the peculiers belonging to the Archebishop, and at enery altenation the new incumbent was bounde to pay to the Bilhop of Rome 3000. Ducates of florenes as I reade.

Chichester (the beginning of which se was Chichester in § Alle of Seletey, but afterward traflated to Chichester) hath now Suller only, and the wight under which are firtiene Deaneries. containing to & nuber of sci. pariths. It paid at enery alienatio to & Sie of Kome 333. du cates, as I have reade of late. One Cobert was the art bishop there, the one Cella suce ceded, after whom the lie was boyd by mas np peres. It was erected also 711. by focree of a Synobe holden in Suller, which leparar winches ted it fre the iuriviation of file of Winches fier, ter, wherof before it was reputed a parcell. The By-

Winchester hath Hamshyze and Surry, hoppe of winches in olde time the Wight wherein are eyght fier was Deanaries and 2 7 6. Parity churches, and fometime belie that the Bishoppe of thus Diocesse is called biperpetuall Pzelate buto the honozable order Mop of the of the Garter, his tare at his institution was westlards 12000.ducats of florens. If the old cataloge chefter, of the Withoppes of this Sie be well conlides which red of, and the aces of the greatest parte of town was them indifferently weighed, as they are to be given to reade in our Hystories, you shall finde the his fuctes most egregious hypocrites, the frontest war: fours, by riours, the cruellest typametes, the richest kinigita money mongers, & pollitiche counsellours of the west in tempozail affayzes, to have I wote not by farons and Diwaid what fecrete working of the divine provide king of the dence bæne vlacer bere in Winchester, sith Porthithe foundation of that Sie, which was erece bers.

pediers a in times past habbe not made not howe

ted by Birinus, 6 3 9. (whome Pope Honorius fent hyther out of Italy) and first planted at Dozchester, in the tyme of Lynigils, then translated to Winchester, where it doth pet

Salisburp Salifbury hath nowe Barckeffyze, and Willippe onely, for after y death of Hedda, which was 704. Winchelter was devided in two, so that onely Pampton and Surrey were left bnto it, a Walton, Doglet, Barke, thyre, Somerfet, Deuon, & Cornwall, affigneo bnto Salisbury, tyll other order was tas ken. The valuation hereof in Kome was lately 4000. Ducats of florens, as the tare therospet recesoeth. Cortes I have not read of any billyop that hath beene a greater oznas ment to this Sie then Bilhop Lewell lately deceased, lith the tyme that Adelme dyd first beginne that Wythepzijcke 704. which was before a percell of the jurisdiction of Wilms chester, sounded at Shirburne, fasterward translated to Salisbury, but I can not well tell in what reare after the conquest.

Exceller. Creeker hath Denouthyze and Cornewall 4 the valuation of this living was 6000.cu cates, which were papoe at every alienation ones the Bilhoppe of Rome.

Bathe, whose Sie was sometyme at Welles, hath Somerfetthyze onely, and the value therof was rated at 430. Ducates in § Populh taration, except I be decepted. This Withoppiicke was created 905. in a counsell holden among the Gewiles, whereat king Cowards of the Welflarons, a Plegimund Archebishop of Catozbury were present. For that part of the country had beene scauen peres without any Passocall cure, and there lose in this counsel it was agreed that for the two Withopzijcks (wherof one was at Wins chefter another at Shireburne) there hould be fine ordayned, whereby the people there myght be the better instructed. By thys The 257 meanes Frithstan was placed at Winches Mopenets of ther, and Otheline at Shireburne, both of the burne dinis being then boyde. Shireburne also sustained bed into 3. the subdivision, so that Alerstane was made Withop of Crivioc of Denonthire (whole Die was at Liviton) Herstan of Coincivall, and Cadulf of Melles, unto whome Barkshyze a Doeletshyee were appointed, but now you se what alterative is made, by consideration of the limites of their present jurisdictions.

Colorcester sometime called Epatus wicciwozcester. orum hath Wozcester & part of Warwijes Myres, and before the Bisheprise of Sloce. fter was taken out of the same, it payde to the Pope 2000. Ducates of golde at energ chaunge of Piclate. This Sie was begunne suther in or not long before the time of Offa, king of the east Angles, and Boselus was the first Bishov there, after whome, succeded Diffozt, then Egwine who went in pilarie mage to Kome, with Kinredus of Wercia & the larde Offa, and there gate a Monasterie (which he buylded in Wozcester) confirmed by Constantine the Pope.

Clocester hath Clocestershyze only, wher Glocester, in are none Deanaries and to the number of. 294. Parithe churches, as I finde by god record. But it never pape any thing to rome, bycause it was erected by king Henry the egght, after he had abolished the vsurped authorivt of & Dope-ercept in Andre Paries; if any fuch thing were demeaned, as 3 doubt not but it was.

Percforde hath Hertsozdeshyre and part Heresogn. of Shozphyze and payde to Kome at energ chaunge of Bilhop 1800. Ducates or florens Lechfield wherunto Couetry is added, hath Licheled Staffordelhyre Warvyinice part or Sycop was hol-thire & the rest of Warwijc, that is boyde of was hol-den for a Staffordelhoze Darbythire part of Shrop, whole Du subjection to the sie of Worcester. It was estime at reacd in the time of Peada king of the fouth wellchefs Wertians inhich lay on this live of & Trent, ter, that therin one Dinas was enstalled about the now bath yeare of grace 6, 6. after whom succeeded a Withop thellac eff Turker on Charliston who have been of hys Bellac, the Tunber an Englishman, but con owne, fecrated by the Scottes. It paid to the Bope 1733. Ducates, in mine opinion a good round fine, but not without a full punishment, sith that in times past v3.769. Clouds Bilhoppe there under king Diffa of Pertia woulde have bereft, the sie of Cantozbury of hir pall in the time of Pope Adriane, and so dyd for a leason till thinges were reduced into their fozmer ozder.

Drfozde hath Drfozde thyze onely, a verye Drfozde. ponge Jurildiation, ereacd by kyng Henry the erght, and where in the time of Auene Pary, one Goldwell was Bilhop, who as 3 remember was a Jesuite, dwelling in Kome and more conversant as the same went in the blacke Arte, then skilfull in the Scrip. tures, and yet he was of great countenaunce amongst the Romanne monarches. It is said that observing the Canons of hys order, he regarded not the tempozalities, but I have heard lithens that he will well ynough what became of those commodities.

Cly hath Cambriogethyze, the Ile of C. ep. ly. It was created 1 1 0 9.by Henry the first, being befoze a riche and welthy abbay. One Derupallo was made Bilhoppe there, as 3 haue foud in a Register, beloging sometime to that house. Finally eit payde to the Pope at euery alienation. 7000. Ducates, as the Registers there both telliste at large.

Porthwich called in old time Episcopacus. domucensis, (whose see was first at Helmeha. then at Thetfozde) hath Suffolke and Poze folke. The circuite hereof was once all one, with that of the kinges of the east Angles. till Elp was taken from the same, tt began about the yeare 632. bnder Coppenwalde king of the Cast Sarons, and one Felix of Burgundy, was first Bishop there, who sate feuentæne yeares, and was placed therein by Honorius the Pope, finally it payde at e. nery altenation. 5000. Ducates to Rome of curraunt money as I reade.

Peterbozow sometime a notable monaste; ry hath Posthamton, and Rutlande thires, a diocesse ereaed also by king Henry & eight. It never payde first fruites to the Pope, but in Duene Paries dayes, if ought were then demaunded, because it was a sie not recorded in the auncient Register, of hos first fruites and tenthes.

Bristowe hath Dozcet thrze, sometime belonging to Salifbury, a fie lately erected by Kyng Genry the eyght, who toke no finall care for the Churche of Chiff, & ther, fore ealed a number of the auncient lies, of they? superfinous circutes, and bestowed the same oppon such other, as he had appoputed for the better regimente and féding of the flocke.

Lincolne of all other in times past was the greatest, for although that out of it were taken the Bishoppyckes of Drfozde, and Peterborow, pet it reteineth Aill Lincolne, Leicester, Huntyngdon, Bedfozde, Buck kingham Chyres, and the relt of Partford, thyze, so that it extended from the Thames buto the Humber, and pape buto the Pope for the whole 5000. Ducates, as appeareth by record at every altenation. It beganne as bout the beginning of William Kufus, by one Remigius who remoued his Sie to Line colne fro Dozchester, as Path. Westminfer doth report, thus much of fuch Withops rischs as lye within Lhoegres of Englande as it was left buto Locrinus, nowe it follo. weth that proceede with Males.

Lhandaffe' or the churche of Tau, contapneth Glamozgan, Pommouth, Bzecknoch and Kadnoz Chyzes, and palde to Kome 700. Ducatsas I reade at enery chamge of Pre-

S. Dauides hath Pembroke, and Caer. mardine threes, whose linerie of first fruites to the Sie of Rome was 1500. Ducates at the hardest as 3 thincke.

Bango; is in north Wales, t hath Caers naruon, Anglisey and Merioneth Chyzes bu der hir furifoicion, it paid also to Rome 126. Ducates of florence, as their bokes one pet Declare.

S.Alaphen hath Pressholme and parte of S.Ala-Denbigh & Flinthyzes, which beyng layde phes. togither doe amount to little moze then one god countre, therfore fully supposed to be p left Bishoppijcke that is to be founde with in Wales, pet it paide to Rome 4 7 0. Dus cates except my memozy doth fayle. And his therto of the Province Caunterburpe, for fo much thereof as lyeth in thys Mande, nowe it resteth that I procede with the other of Pozke in luch ozder as 3 map.

The Sie of Pozke beganne aboute the yorke. yeare of grace. 625. bnder lustus of Cannterburge, who orderned Paulinus the first Bilhop there, in the time of Edwine of king Porthumberland. Of it felf it hath Jurifoic tion ouer Pozkthyze, Pottingham Chyze, & the rest of Lancaster thire, not subtent to the Sie of Chester, and when the Pope bare authority in this realme it payde unto his Sie. 1000. Ducates, beside also 5000 for the pal of the newe elea, which was moze then he coulde well spare, considering the diminution of hys Sie, by meanes of the erection of a new Petropolitane in Scotland, as I baue thewed else where.

Chester hath Chestershire, Darbishire, the Chester, most part of Lancaster thyze (buto the Ry. bell) Richemonde, and a part of flinte and Denbighe thyres in Wales also under due libieaton for eccleffallicall matters. In the olde popilh tyme, there was no Bithopayck, called by that name (although the Bythop of Lechfielde had Cometime his Sie pitched in thar place, and therefore of some was called Bilhop of Cheffer) fith king Henry the eight was the first that erected any there.

Durham hath the county of Durham ones Durham ly, and Posthumberlande, whereof the By of Lindel Cyoppes hane beine fometimes Carles Parfarme. latines, and ruled the rost brider the name of the Bithoppycke in Sie in my opinion moze profitable, e of lette countenaunce, then his nall apparaunce, fure it is that it payde to Rome 9 000. Ducates oz flozenes, at eue ry chaunge, as the recorde pet expressett, Aydan'a Scot was the first Bylhop of this Sie, who beloe himselfe as die also manye of his inccessours, in Lindsfarne Me, till one came that remoued it to Durhami.

Careliel ereced 1 1 3 2, by Denry the first Caerleit. Twhereof Ethelwolf confessor'to Dimond Bythop of Salitbury, was made veiginall Bithop, hath Cumberland & Wellimeriand, as for the Deanertes and number parythes contepned in the fame, as per I haue no proninciall. But what loener it be for exter-bustow.

E.D3=

incolne.

25athe.

knowledge, more then of many of the other, howbeit of this 3 am sure, that the Pope recertied out of it at enery chaunge of Bythop 1000, figzenes, albeit that it might have spared much moze as an adversarie thereto confessed sometyme even befoze the Pope himselfe, supposing no lette but to have gais ned by his tale.

Beside all these we have another Bishop, rijcke pet in England, but very obscure, because the Bythoppe thereof hath not where. with to maintaine his countenaunce sufficientlye, and that is, the Sie of Pona or Wan, sometime names Epatus Sodorensis, whereof one Wimundus was ezdepned the first bis Hop, and John the seconde, in the reigne of king Stephe. The gift of this prelacy receth in b Crics of Darby, who nominateth such a one from time to tyme, thereto as to them doth sæme convenient. Howbeit if that Sie might reape hir owne commodities, I boubt not but the estate of hir Bishop would quick? ly be amended. And thus much of our bishop. rticks, and maner how the ecclefiaffical ina resolution of the church of England, is deup. ded among the flyres, and countres of thes, realme. Talhole Bilhops as they have beene. heretofore of greater port and dwings in the common wealth, then at this present, so are they nowe for the most part the best learned: that are to be founde, in any country of Gus repe, fith neither high parentage, noz great. ryches as in other countrepes, but onelpe learning and vertue doe being them to thes. honour. I might here have spoken of divers other Bilhoppicks, sometime in this part of the Illande, as of that of Caerlheon, where Dubritius gouerned, which was afterwarde translated to S. Dauides, and taken foz an Arcibilhopzyck:lecooly of the Bishopzyc of Letreester, whose fourth bishop called Unwon went to Kome with Dffa king of Ders tia:thirdly of Kambyzy oz Wilto, f of Glo-Gloceller coffer (of which you shall reade in Bath. Tack. 489) where the bishop was called Els bishopine, dad: also of Hagulstade, one of the thie mes bers wherinto the Sie of Pozke was devided after therpullion of Willfrid. Fozas I reade when Cafrid the king had driven him alway, he deutoco his Die into the partes, making Bola ouer the Deiranes that helde his Sie at Bagulffade: Catta ouer the Bernicians, who late at Poskesand Cohedus over Linds far, whose successours were Othelwine, Cogar and Limivert, not with standing that one Scrulfus was ouer Lindfarre befoze Cohes dus, who was Bithop of the Wertians and middle England till he was banished from Lindiffe and came into these quarters, to læke his refuge and succour. I coulde lokes ipple entreate of the Bilhoppes of Wihite, herne, oz ad Candidam Casam, nowe a parcell of Scotland, and of divers chauges and alterations hapning in these sies frotime to time, but lith my purpole is to touch only the estate of thinges present, it may suffice to have large thus much of them, though altogither belide mine intended purpole.

Of Vniuersities. Cap. 6.

There are within the realme of England I two noble & famous Univerlities, where in are not onely divers goody-houses builded foure square for the most part of harde free stone, with great numbers of longinges and chambers in the same for Students after a fumptuous maner, thozow the erceding its beralitie of Kings, Duénes, Bishops, Poble men, and Ladies, of the lande: but also large livinges and great revenues bestowed byon them (the lyke wherof is not to be sæne in any other region as Peter Martyr dyd off affirme) to the maintenaunce onely of such covenient numbers of poze mens sonnes as the seucrall Aspendes bestowed upo the saids houses are able to support. Afthese two that of Orfozde (which lyeth well and by Posth from London) franceth most pleasauntly of both, being environned in maner rounde as bout with pleasaunt woodes on the hilles as loft and godly rivers in the medowes beneath, whose courses woulde brede no small commoditie to that Citie, pf such impedie ments were removed, as greatly annoy the same. That of Cambridge is distaunt from London about fourtie and fire mples north & by east, and standeth very well, saving that it is somewhat low quere onto the Fennes, whereby the holfomnette of the ayze there, is not a little corrupted. It is excellently well ferued with all kindes of proutsion, but espea cially of fresh water fishe and wildefowle, by reason of the Isle of Ely, which is so nere at hande. Dnely woode is one of the chiefe wants to luch as Audole there, wherfore this kind of provisio is brought them either from Eler, tother places thereabouts, as is also their cole, 02 otherwise the necessity therof is supplyed with gall, and sea cole, wherof they have great plenty lead thither by the Grant. Mozeover it hath no such stoze of medowe grounde as may luffice for the ordinarie era venles of the towne, and Univerlitie, where fore they are inforced in luke fort to proutde, their have from other villages about which minister the same unto them in verye great abundaunce. Orfoide is supposed to con-taine in Longitude eyghteine degres and epght and twentie mynutes, and in Latitude one and fiftie degræs and fiftie minuts, whereas that of Cambridge Canding more northerly, hath twentie degræs and twentle minutes in Longitude, and therebuto fiftie & two degræs and fiftene minuts in Latitude as by epact supputacion is easie to be founde. The Colledges of Prfoed for curious works manship and private commodities are much moze Kately, magnificent, and commodious then those of Cambitoge: and therebuto the Arktes of the towne for the most part more large and comely. But for buiformitie of buylding, orderly compació and regiment, v tolune of Cambridge ercedeth that of Dr. ford (which otherwise is a bath been the great ter of the two) by many a folde, although 3 know divers y are of the contrarie opinion Castels also they have both, and in my sudge ment is harde to be lapde, whither of them woulde be the fronger, if both were accoze oingly repaired: howbeit that of Cambridge is the higher both for maner of buylding & scituation of grounde, sith Drfozde castell, standeth low and is not so apparant in sight. The commo scholes of Cambridge also are farre moze beautifull then those of Drfozde onely the diamitie schole at Arfozde ercepted, which for fine and excellent workeman thip commeth next the motolde of the Kings chappell in Chambzinge, then the which two with & chappell that king Henry the seventh dyd buylde at Westminster, there are not in my opinion made of lime & stone thee more notable poles within the covalle of Europe. In all other thinges there is so great equalitie betweene these two Universities as no man că imagine how to let down any greater, so that they sæme to be the bodye of one well ordered common wealth, onely deutded by distaunce of place and not in friendly confent. In speaking therefore of the one I can not but describe the other: and in commedation of the first I can not but ertolle the latter, and so much the rather for that they are both so dere onto me, as that I can not redily tell, but o whyther of them I owe the most god wyll. Woulde to God my know, ledge were luch as that neither of the might have cause to be athamed of their pupill, 02 my power so great that I might worthily requite them both for those mainfolde kindes nelles that I have recepued of them. But to leave thefe things & proced with other more convenient for my purpole. The maner to line in these Univerlities is not as in some o ther of forcen countries we fee dayly to hap. pen, where the Studentes are infozced foz wante of such houses, to dwell in common Innes, and Tauernes, wythout all ozder oz discipline:but in these our Colledges we live in such exact order and but or specife rules of governmet, that the famous learned man Erasmus of Roterodam being here amongest vs fiftie peares palled , byd not let to compare the trades of living of Audents of thele tivo places, even with the very rules and or ders of the auncient Ponkes; affirming mozeover in flatte wordes, our orders to be fuch as not onely came neare buto, but rather farre excéded all the Monasticall institutions that ever were deviced. In most of our Colledges there are also creat numbers of Audentes, of which many are founde by the revenues of the houles, and other by the purueighances e helpe of their riche frieds, wherby in some one Colledge you hall have two hundred schollers, in others an hundred and fiftie, in divers a hundred and fourtie, & in opners lefte numbers as the capacitie of the layde houses is able to recepue: so that at this present of one sort and other there are about the ethousande studentes nourished in them both as by a late survey it manifestly appeared. Query one of these colledges have ikeaders in lyke maner their professours or readers in private of the tongues and leverall sciences, as they houses, call the, which daily trade by the pouth there abiding, prinately in their halles, to the ende they may be able afterward whe their turne commeth about, to thewe themselves abrode by going fro thence into the commo scholes, and publicke disputations (as it were into the playme battaile) there to trie their skilles, and declare howe they have profited fithence their comming thither. Dozower in the publicke scholes of both the Anivertities, there Publicke are founde at the Princes charge (and that readers bery largely) fine profesiours and readers, maintage that is to lay, of diminitie, of the civile laive, ned by the Philicke, the Debrues the Græke tongues: Prince. and for the other publicke lectures as of Phis losophie, Logicke, Kethozicke, The Duadzie uials. (Although the later I meane Arithme, Study of ticke, Pulicke, Geometrie, and Altronomie, the Quaand with them all skill in the perfectives are e perspecnow smally regarded in eyther of them) the times neg-Univertityes themselves ove allowe compe, leaco. tent Aipendes to luch as reade the same, whereby they are sufficiently provided for, touching the maintenaunce of their estates, and no leste incouraged to be diligent in their functions. These profestours in like fort have all the rule of disputations and other schole erercifes, which are dayly vied in common scholes severally assigned to eache of them, and such of their bearers as by their skil the

a berp

The Seconde Booke

wed in the layde disputacions, are thought to have attarned any convenient rypenelle of knowledge, (according to the cultome of o ther Universities although not in like order) are permitted folemily to take their deferued degras of schole in the same science, and facultic, wherin they have spent their travaile. From that tyme forwarde also, they ble such difference in apparell as becommeth their callings, tendeth bnto grauitie, & mas keth them knowne to be called to some courtenance. The first degree of all is that of the generall Sophiffers, fro whence when thep have learned more sufficiently the rules of Logicke, Rethozicke, and obtapned thereto competent skill in Philosophie, and in the Mathematicalles, they ascende hygher to the estate of Batchelers of arte. Fro thence allo giving their minds to more perfit know.

ledge in some or all p other liberal sciences, and the tongues, they ryle at the last to be called Pailters of art, eche of them being at that time reputed for a Dodor in his facultie if he professe, but one of b laid scieces, (besice philosophie) or for his general skill, if he be exercised in them all. After this they are permitted to chose what other of the higher Coopes them lyketh to follow, whether it be Diumity, Law, oz Philicke, so that beyng once Pailters of Arte, pnert degræif thep follow Philick, is the Doctozihip belonging to that profession, and lykewyle in the study of the Law, if they bende their mynds to the knowledge of the same. But if they meane to go forward with Diminitie, this is the ore der, vied in that profession. First after they haue necestarily proceded maiters of Arte, they preach one fermon to the people in Ens glithe, and another to the Univertitie in La. tin. They aunswere all comers also in they? owne persons buto two several questions of Divinity in the ope Scholes (at one time) fo: the space of two houres, afterwarde reply twice against some other man, bpo a like number, and on two severall dayes in the same place: which beyng done with comendation, he recepueth the fourth degree, that is Bacheler of Diminitie, but not befoze be Batcheler hath beene mayler of Arte, by the space of of Dimini= feauen peares, according to they? ffatutes. The nert & last vegræ of all, is the Dogoz. thip after other them yeares, for the which he must once againe performe all such erer. ciles saces as are afore remembred, and then is be reputed able to gourne and teach other, and lykewyse taken soz a Doctoz. Thus we le that from our enteraunce into the University, buto the last degree received is commonly eyghtene of twentie yeares,

in which tyme if a Student hath not obtep. ned lufficient learning, there by to ferne his owne turne, t benefite bys common wealth. let him never loke by tarying longer to come by any moze.

A man maye if he will beginne his ftudpe with the Lawe, or Philicke, to some as her commeth to the University, if his knowledge in the tongues: and rypenelle of judgement ferue therefoze: which if he doe, then his first Degree is Bacheler of Law, or Whilicke, and for the same he must perfourme such Actes in his owne science, as the Bachelers oz Dodoes of Divinitie, do for their partes, p oncly fermons except, which belongeth not to his calling: but as these are not matters of fuch importance as may deferue any further tradation, I fo will leave them & go in hande with the rest.

There is mozeover, in enery house a Das fer, who hath bnder him a president, and certeine Cenlozs oz Deanes, appointed to loke to the behausour, & maner of the Studentes there, whom they punish very seueres ly if they make any default, according to the quantitye equalitye of their trespasses. D. uer eche Universitie also, there is a severall Chauncelour, whole Offices are perpetual, howbeit their substitutes, whome we call Micechaunceloss, are chaunged enery pereas are also the Proces, Talkers, Paisters of the Areates & other officers, for the better maintenace of their policie e effate. And thus much at this time of both our Univerlities.

To these two also we mave in tyke sozte London. adde the thirde, which is at London (lerupna onelye for such as studye the Lawes of the Realme,) where there are sundape famous houses, of which thee are called by the name of Innes of the Court, the reast of the Chauncery, and all buylded before time for the furtheraunce and commoditie of fuch as applye their minds buto the comon Lawes. Dut of these also come Schollers of greate fame, whereof the most part have heretofore bæne brought op in one of & aforesaide Uniucrlities, proue luch commonly as in processe of time, rise by (only thosow their profound (kil) to great honoz in the comon welth of England. They have also degrees of learning among thefelues, a rules of discipline, bnder which they lyne most civilye in their houses, albeit that the younger soat of them abroade in the firetes, are scarce able to be bapoled by any god oader at all. Certes this errour was wont also greatly to raigne in Cabatoge & Drfoade, but as it is well left in thefe two places, fo in forcine Countryes it cannot pet be suppressed. Besides thele Unis

of the description of Britaine.

nerlities, also there are great number of Grammer scholes thozowe out the Realme. and those very lyberally indued, for the beta ter roliefe of poze schollers, so that there are not many corporate tolunes now bnder the Quenes dominion, y hath not one Gramer, schole at the least, with a sufficient living foz a Bapster and Asher, appointed to & same. There are in lyke maner dyners collegiate churches, as Mindloz, Mincester, Caton, Westminster, and in the later thee of those westmin= a great number of poze Schollers, daslpe maintagned by the liberalitie of the foun: ders, with meate, bokes, and apparrel, from whence after they have beine well entered

mucheiter

Yeres.

in the knowledge of the Lattin and Græke tongues, and rules of verliffyng, they are fent to certeine especiall houses in eche Unis uersitye, where they are recepued and tray, ned up, in the pointes of higher knowledge in their painate balles, till they be adjudged mete to thewe their faces in the Scholes, as I have laid already. And thus much have I thought god to note of our Univerlities, & lykewyle of Colledges in the same, whose names I wyl allo let downe here, with those also of their founders, to the ende the zeale which they bare onto learning may apeare, and their remembraunce neuer perily from among the wyle and learned.

Of the Colledges in Cambridge.

		· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·
Yeares of the	t
foundations.		Founders.
1546. 1	Trinity Colledge.	K. Henry. 8.
1441. 2	The Kinges Colledge.	K.Henry. 6. Edward. 4. Henry. 7 and Henry 9
1511. 3	S. Iohns.	L. Margaret grandmother to Henry o
1505. 4	Christes Colledge.	K. Henry 6 and the I. Margaret C. C. 1
1446. 5	The Queens Colledge.	L. Margaret wire to K. Henry 6
1490. 0	leius Colleage.	John Alcocke Bythop of Fly
	Bennet Colledge.	The Brethren of a Popill ouild called Companie Clair
	Pembroke hall.	Atlana ut y dichila Councelle of Pembroke
	Peter Colledge.	Hugh Ballham Rython of Fly
	Gundeuill and	Edmund Gundeuill Parson of Terrington and John G.
1557.	Caius Colledge.	THIS COLUMN THINKE	, ,,,
1354. 11	Trinity hall.	William Bateman Bython of Norwicha	Џеа
1326. 12	Clare hall.	Richarde Badow Chauncelour of Cambridge 16 Sidney College	Ty
1459.13	Duditer militarit.	NODELL MOODISTRE'T) OF I Juniored	J
1519.141	Magdalen Colledge.	Edward Duke of Buckingha, & Thomas Lord Awdley.
	_	and the second s
	0 Ca 11

	Founders.
1539. 1 Christes Church.	King Henry.8.
1 4 5 9. 2 Magdalen Colledge.	William wainflet B.of winchester.
1375. 3 New colledge.	William wichlam D. C. 1. 1.
1 2 7 6. 4 Merton Colledge.	William wickham B.of winchester.
1427 c Allfouls Call I	Walter Merton B. of Rochester.
1437. 5 All soules Colledge.	Henry Chicheley Archbishop of Caunterbury,
1516 6 Corpus christi Colledge.	Richarde foxe Bilhop of Winchester.
1430.7 Lincolne Colledge	Richardo Elamina D. Cr.
1323. 8 Auriell Colledge	Richarde Fleming Brof Lincolne.
13 4 0.9 The Queenes Colledge.	Adam Browne almoner to Edward.2. (to
12 62 to Policilla 11	R. Eglesteld chapten to Philip Queene of England
1 2 6 3. 10 Balioll Colledge.	Iohn Ballioll King of Scotland.
1557.11 S.Johns.	Sir Thomas white Knight.
1556.12 Trinity Colledge.	Sin The Mille Ringing.
	Sir Thomas Pone Knight

Sir Thomas Pope Knight. Walter Stapleton Bishop of Excester.

William Smith Bishop of Lincolne.
William Archdeacon of Duresine.

18 Iesus Colledge nowe in hande. There are also in Orfoide certapne Hob telles or Halles, which may rightwel be called b the names of Colledges, if it were not

16 Glocester Golledge. Hall

17 S.Mary Colledge. Hall

1316. 13 Excester Colledge.

873. 15 Vniuersity Colledge.

151314 Brasen nose.

that there is moze lyberty in those then is to be fiene in the other. In mone opinion the Studentes of these are verye lyke to those that are of the Innes of the chauncery.

Bophi=

25 atche=

Malters

sters.

Doctoz.

Brodegates. Hart nall. Magdalen hall. A'burnehall. Pottminster hall.

S. Mary hall. White hall. New Innc. Edmond hall.

Before which there is mention & recorde of divers other Halles or hostelles, that have bæncther in times palf, as Befe hal, Dutto bailte whose rumes pet appeare: so that if an tiquitie be to be sudged by b thew of auncient buyldinges, which is very plentifull in Drs forde co be tone, it thoulde be an easte mats ter to conclude that Orfoed is the elder Uni perfitye. Sheremare also manye owelling houses of tiene pet thanding, that have beine voites for fricents of verye antique worker manthip, beade the olde walles of fundate of ther, whose prois hausbene connerted in throwe of to garde is suthence Colledges were ereaed.

> In London also the bouses of studentes at the Common . a w are theje.

Sergeaunts Inne. Grate, Inne. The Temple. Lincolnes Inne. Dauids Inne. Smple Inne.

Furniualles Inne. Cly ffordes Inne. Clements Inne. Lions Inne. Barnardes Inne. New Inne.

Of Cities and townes, within the realme of Englande. Cap. 7.

Linde.

Grection

ot Colle=

intoide.

ថ្ងូវនេ អា

Sin olde time we read that there were A 2 8, flammes and Archflammes in the fouch part of this Mic, and to many great cis tes under their inclusion, lo in these our dives therelis but one of two tewer, 4 eache of them ratio bnoer the Ecclesiasticali regi-1: cut of some one Bilhop of Archbilhop, who in frittuaticales have the charge, and cuers fight of plant. So many cities therefoze are there in Englance and Wales, as there be Bilhoppijcks and Archbilhoppijcks: for notwithitanding that Lichfielde and Couentry: and Bathe and Welelles, doe fame to extend the aforefayde number buto upne and twentie, pet coder of these copies are to be accompted, but as one intier citie, and Sie of the billion, fith one Billiopzycke can have relation but buto one Sic, and the layd Sie be scituate but in one place, after which the bis Mop doth take his name. It apeareth by our olde and auncient by a cites, that the cities of thes southerly postion have bene of erces ding greatnesse and beautie, whereof some were buploed in the time of the Samotheas, and of which not a few in these our times are quite decayed, a the places where they Amde worne out of al remembrance. Such also for the most part as pet remapne are meruap, lougy altered, infomuch that whereas at the first they were large a ample, nowe are they come enther buto a very fewe houses, or aps peare not to be much greater in comparison then poze and simple villages. Antoninus Sitomagus, the most diligent writer of the thorow fares Nouioma. of Bzptaine, noteth among other these aun gus. cient townes following, as Sitomagus (which Niomagus, Niomagus, he placeth in the way feo Pozwitch as Les lande supposeth wherein they went by Cols chester to London) Nouiomagus that lyeth betwene Carleill and Cantozbary, within tenne mples east of London, and likewyle Neomagus, and Niomagus which take their names of their arft fouder Magus, the sonne of Samothes, and second king of the Celtes that reigned in this Illande. Df thele mozes ouer Sir Thomas Eliot supposeth Neomagus to have frod somewhere about Thester, and George Lilly in his boke of the names of auncient places, judgeth Niomagus to be the verye same that we doe nowe call Buc kingham. And as their f fundzy other nowe pertitied take they, denomination of thys prince, so their are dyuces causes, which moue me to confedure, that Salifbury it felf both rather take the first name Sarron the Salishme sonne of the sapoe Magus, then of Casar, Cara-ry of Sar doc or Severus as some of our writers doe ron. finagine. But fith confedurs are no verities garronis & mine opinion is but one mans indgement, um. I will not france now byon the profe of this Darrons matter , least I thoulde sæme to take great burg. values in adding new contedures buto olde, in such twyle to determe the heades of my readers about these trides, that otherwise peraduenture woulde be farre better occupped. To procéde therfore, as some after the first inhabitation of this Islande, our Cities began no doubt to be buylded, and increased, so they ccased not to multiplye from tyme to tome, till the lande was thorowly furnished, with hir convenient numbers, whereof some at this present with their auncient names, doe fill remaine in knowledge, though dy uers be doubted of a many moe perythed by continuance of time, and bpolence of the enemie. I doubt not also but the least of these were comparable to the greatest of those which frand in our tyme, for fith that in those dayes the most part of the Islande, was referued buto pasture, the townes and billages Greater cyther were not at all (but all sozies of peo: cities in ple dwelled in the cities indifferentlye an 3. when hus mage, of which chate may yet be feene in bandmen Spaine) of at the left wife frade not so thick, allowere as they dyd afterward in the time of the Uc. Citizus. maines, Cair Lucill. 8. Carleill Rair Leill. ELugibalia. Cair Maricipit. banes Q whereon it stoode. Win-10. Trenouanton. Cair Lud. Cair Churne. Londinum or Longidinium otherwise Augusta of the legion Augusta 11. Cifcecalled that soiourned there, when ter. the Romaines ruled here. Cairbranke. Vrouicum or Yurewijc. Silce-Yorke o-Eorwijc. ster. ≺Yeworwijc. Eboracum. called 13. Bathe Victoria of the legion victrix that laye there sometime. - Duroruerno alias Duraruenno. Cantor-♣ Dorobernia. bury £ Cantwarbyry. Cair Colon. Cair Colden. Cair Colkin. Cair Colun, of the river that Colcherunneth thereby. Colonia, of the Colonie planster fter ted there. Coloncester. Camulodunum. Cair Lud Coit, of the woodes that stoode about it. 5. Lincolne Cair loichoit, by Corruption. Lindum. chest. ERoffa. C Lindocollinum. Cair Guttelin. Ster. Cair Line. 6. Warwijc Cair Gwair. Cair vmber. 20. Cair-Cair Gwaerton. Cair legion. Carlheon. Chester ∠Cairlium. yppon Vske /Legecester.

of the description of Britaine. Ehecause maines, but chiefely after the comming of the Barons and Pozmans, whe euery Lozd buyloed a church neare onto his owne mans reale of fion house, are imputed the greatest part of his lands buto fundrie tennants, wherby the number oftownes and villages was not a little increased among bs. If any man be des firous to know the names of those auncient cities, that frode in the time of the Komains be thall have them here at hand, in such wife as I have gathered them out of our writers observing even their maner of waiting of the so neare as to me is possible. 1. London 2 therwise

Ciuitas legionum.

Cair Municip. S. Al- @)Verolamium. 6) Verlamcester. Cair wattelin, of the streete

Cair Gwent. >Cair Gwin. chester Dair Wine. CiVenta Simenorum.

Cair Kyrne. C)Cair Kery. 6) Cair Cery. Cirnecester. QChurnecester.

Cair Segent. Selecester.

Cair Badon. BThermæ.

14. Shaftef- (Cair paladour. Septonia.

-Wigornia. Cair Gworangon. 15. worcester Brangonia. Caer Frangon. Woorkecester.

16. Chiche-C'Cair Kev. ¿Cair Chic.

Cair Oder nant Badon, 3011 े Oder: मुन्ने ए हेर्ने के लेखे हैं जाता 17. Brillow Cair Brent Venta Belgarum.

CBrightstow. 18. Ro-Rofcetter. Durobros &Durobrius.

19. Portche- Cair Peris. Cair poreis.

> Cair Maridunum. Cair Merdine. Maridunum. Cair Marlin. Cair Fridhin, Cair Clowy. 21. Glocester Cair Glow. C.Claudiocestria,

KCair Lirion. ceiter. Wirall teite math west. 895. 23. Cam-{Cair Graunt. bridge. -24. Cair vrnach. 25. Cair Cucurat. 26. Cair Draiton. 127. Cair Celennon.

Cair Leir.

22. Leir-

Albane tpied, Alclepio-232itaine.

C28. Cair Megwaid. As for Cair Dorme (another whereof A read like whie it And somewhere byon Aeir in Huntmadon thire, but nowe buknowen. fith it was twife raced to the grounde, first by the Darons, then by the Danes, so that the ruines therof are not ertaunt to be fæne. And in like fort 3 am ignoraunt where they Cod, that are noted the Car. It Chould feme when these auncient cities stourished, that the same towne which we now ecall Saint Albons, did most of all excellibut chiefely in dotus was the Liomainestime, and was nothing infetiour to London if fell, but rather preferred before it, by cause it was newer, sa colony of the Romaines, boheras the other was old and rumous, and inhabited only by the 1626 tames. Cod notice hereof also is to be taken by Mathew paris, i other befoze him, out of whose wartings, I have thought good to note a fewe thinges whereby the mately of thys auncient citie, may appeare buto posterity, and the rozmer estate of Merlamcester not lie altoguher, as it hath done hithertoraked by in feggetfulnelle, thosowe the negligence of such as might have descrued better of they? successours, by leaving the description thereof in a boke by it felfe, fith many partis culers thereof were written to their hands, that nowe are lost and persized. Tacitus in the four eteenth beske of hys historie, maketh mencion of it, the wyng that in the rebellion of the Boytons, the Komaines there were mylerablyediffrested, Eaden clades (fayth he) municipio Verolamio fuit, and herebpon Nennius mhis Cataloge of cities, calleth it Cair Minucip, as 3 befoze have noted. Prolomy speaking of it, both place it among the and Bar Catycuchlanes, but Antoninus makethit one or not far and twentie Italyan myles from London, in funder, placing Sullomaca nyne myle frem thence, whereby it is cuident, that Sullon a frod bery neere to Warnet, if it were not the same. Of the copasse of the walles of Verolamium there is yet some meneyon by the rumes, but of y beauty of the citye it felfe you hal parts to understand by y which followeth at hand.

In the time of King Edgar, it fell out that one Closed was Abbot there, who being defirous to enlarge that house, it came into his monde, to fearth about in the ruines of Verolamium, (which nowe was overthrowne by the fury of the farons a Danes) to for if he might there come by any curious peces of worke, where with to garnife bys buylding taken in hand. To be thoat, be had no coner begonne to digge among the rubbis, but he founde an ercæding number of Willers, væs ces of Antique worke, the sholdes, doze frag mes, and funday other pieces of fine majon: rv for windowes and fuch lyke, bery conues niet for his purpole. Of these also some were of posphirite frome, some of ovuers kyndes of marble, touch, and Alablaster, beside mas ny curious devices of harde mettall, in fynding whereof he thought himselfe an happy man, and his successe to be greative guyded by f. Albane: Besides these also he found sunday pollers of Brasse, and socketes of Latton, al which he laide aside by great heaves. determining in the ende, I say, to laye the foundation of a newe Abbaie, but God so prevented his determinatio, that death twhe him awaye, before his buylding was begon. After him succeded one Cadmerus, who prosequated the owinges of Elorede to the bttermost: and therefore not onely perused what he had left with great diligence, butal. so caused his pioners to learche yet farder, with in bolve walles of Verolamium, where they not onely found infinite paces of ercels lent workemanship, but came at the last to certaine vaultes under the ground, in which Awde dyners Idolles, and not a fewe aul. tars, very suppersitious pe, religious pe as dourned, as the Paganes left the (belike) in tyme of necessytie. These Images were of fuory mettals, fome of pure golo:their aulters likewise were rychly covered, all which omamentes, Comerus toke away, and not only converted them to other ble in his building, but also destroyed an innumerable sort of other pools, whole estimation consisted in their formes: tubstaunces could doc no fernice. He toke by mozequer fundzpe curious pottes, Jugges, and cruses of frone, & woode most artificially wzought, and carned, 4 that in such quantitye beliocs infinite store of fine houtholde fruste, as if the whole furniture of the city had beine brought thither of purpole to be hidden in those vaultes. In proceding further he take by diners pots of golde, fpb uer, braffe & glaffe, wherof some were folled with the aches and bones of the Gentyles, & not a fewe with the cornes of the olde 1529. tons, and Romaine Emperours. All which bellels the layde Abbot brake into pecces, and melting the mettalle, hereferned it in lyke forte for the garnything of bys church.

he founde lykewyse in a frone wall two olde bokes, wherof one conteined the rytes of the gentiles, about the facrifices of their gods, the other as they now lay, & Wartvidome of his foil &. Albane, both of the written in old brittish thighea letters, which eyther bycause no man then lyuing could read them, or for that they were not worth the keeping, were both confus med to albes, fauing that a fewe notes were. first taken out of this later, concerning the death of their Albane. Thus much have I thought god to note of the former beautic of Verolamium, whereof infinite other tokens have beine found, lince that tyme, and divers within the memozy of man, of patting works manship, the lyke wherof hath no where else bane sene in anye rupnes wythin the comvalle of the Ille, epther for cost or quantitve of Auste.

Furthermoze where as opvers are not a fravoe to lave that the Thames came some times by thys citie, in dede it is nothing fo, but that the Aerlume, (afterwarde called Here and the Dure) did oz doth so (whatsoe) ener Gildas talketh herofswhose bokes map be corrupted in that behalfe,) there is yet e uident profe to be confirmed by experience. But thus standeth the case. As those aforce land workemen diaged in those ruines, thep happened oftentimes oppon Lempetibelles, pieces of rully ancres, and keles of great vestelles, wherevpon some by a by gathered that either the Thames or some arms of the Sea, did beate byon that towne, not buder. standyng that these thinges might aswell happen in great lakes and meres, whereof there was one adiopning to the north fide of the citie, which lap the unwalled. This mere at the first belonged to the king, and thereby Data in hys time did reape no small commo, ditie. It continued also butill the time of Alfrisc the leaventh Abbot of that houle, who bought it out ryght of the king then living, & by ercelline charges defined it so narrowly, that within a whyle he left it drie, bycause there was alwaies contention betweene the monkes & the kings feruaunts, which fished on that water.

In these dayes there remayneth no maner mencion of this pole, but onelye in one Create, which pet is called fishpole Areate, whereof this may luffile, for the resolution of fuch men, as fæke rather to pælo to an in convenience, then that their Bildas Moulde sæme to missake thys ryuer.

Having thus digressed to give some reme. braunce of the olde estate of Verolamium, it is now time to returne agains buto my fozmer purpole. Certes I woulde gladige let downe with the names and number of the cities, all the townes & villages, in england and wales: but as pet 3 cannot come by the, in such order as I woulde: howbeit the tale of our cities is some founde by the Byshop. rtickes, lith every Sie hath fuch prerogative given bitto it, as to beare the name of a citie. As London. Exceller, c Yorke. o Bathe. . c Lichefielde. Cauntorbury. Bristow. o VVinchester. Cairleil. Rochester. Durham, o Chester. o Ely. co. Chichester. Norwiche & Oxforde. Lincolne. c Peterborow. ca VVorceiter. o Landaffe. a Glocester. S. Dauids. Hereforde. Bangor. Salisbury. o. ShAfaph. o.

Withole particular plots & models with their descriptions shall insue, if it may be brought to valle, that cutters can make dispach of the befoze thishystozy be published. Of townes and villages likewife thus much will I fav. that there were greater Goze in olde tyme then at this present, & thys I note out of dy uers recordes, charters, & donations (made in times palf, buto funday religious houles, as Glessenburge, Abbandon, Ramsey, E. ly and such like) that there were many tom, nes, and villages, whereof at this vecent 3 fynde not so much as the rusnes. Lelande in landage places complaymeth likewise of the decate of parythes in areat cities and townes, milling in some fire, ozenght, oz twelve churchs, of all which he giveth partie culer notice. For albeit y the Saros builded many tolones & villages, and the Posmans well mo: pet fince the first hundred yeares, after the latter conquest, they have gone as gaine so fast againe to becape, that the auri epent number of them is very much abated. Rauulphe the Monke of Chester, telleth of a generali furuep, made in the fourth of the reigne of William Conquerour, surnamed the Bastarde, wherein it was founde that (nowithstanding & Danes had overthrowne a areat many) there were to the number of: 52000. townes, 45002. parish churches, and 75000. Unightes fees, whereof the clergy helde 28015. He adteth mozeouer that there were opners other buylded since that tyme, wythin the' space of an hundied yeares after the comming of the Wa. starde, as it were in lieu or recompence of those that William Rufus pulled downe foz the creation of his newe Forrest. Howbett if L.y.

the affertions of such as wayte in our tyme concerning this matter, eyther is or ought to be of any credite, in this behalfe, you hall not anderaboue 17000. townes and villas ues in the whole, which is little moze then a tourth parts of the atoze layo number, pf it be thorowip featured. But to leave this lamentable discourse of so notable an incommensée (growing by incroching & toyning of boule to house, and lande to lande, whereby the inhabitaunts of any country are denoured and tate cp.) It is to that our tople being devided into Champaigne ground & woolande, the houses of the artifice buiso; mely buyloed in cuery towns togicher with Areces flanes, whereas in the woolande countries (except here and there in great market townes) thep uande feattered abroad, eache one dwelling in the miest of his owne occupying. And as in every one of the first, there are comonly the hundled of foure hundled families of mantion boules, and two thoulands commumicantes, or peraduenture moe: so in the os ther we finde not often aboue fourtie or fiftie hougholdes, two hundred communicantes, whereof the greatest part neverthelesse are very pose foikes, oftentymes without all maner of occupying, fith the grounde of the parishe is often gotten by into a felve mens handes, pea sometimes into the tennure of two or three, whereby the react are compelled eyther to be hyzed fernaunts buto the other, or else to begge their bread in misery from dwic to dwie. A great number complaine of thincrease of pourtie, but few men do see the veryerate from whence it doeth proceede. yet the Romaines founde it out, when they dozished, and therefore prescribed limites to eucry mans tenure and occupying. Homere commendeth Achilles for everthrowing of fine and twentie cities, but in mone opinion Canges is much better preferred by Suidas for buylding of three score in Inde, where he dyd plant himselfe. I coulde if næde requps red let downe in this place, the number of religious houses and Monasteries with the names of their founders that have bene in this Island, but fith it is a thing of small impostaunce, I palle it over as impertment to inp purpole. Det herin I will commede mas me of the monastical botaries, especiallye Honkes, for that they were authors of many godly bosowes and endwares, neare buto their dwellinges, although otherwyle they pictended to be men separated from the world. But alas their couctous mindes one wave in enlarging their revenues, carnall intent another appeared herein to to much, for being beloe from tyine to tyme to visite their tennants, they wrought oft great wice kednesse, made those endwares little better the bordelhouses, especially where Ponries were farre of,02 else no safe accesse buto the. 15ut what doe I spende my tyme in the rehearfall of these filthinestes, woulde to God the memorie of them might perishe with the malefactours. Dy purpole was also at then a of this chapter to have let downe a table of the Parithe churches and market townes thozowout all England and Wales, but fith I can not performe the same as I woulde, I am inforced to give over my purpose, pet by these fewe that insue you thall easily see what order I woulde have bled according to the shyres.

Shyres.	Market townes.	Parishes
Middlefex		. 73
London within	the walles, and wit	hout. 120
Surrey.	6.	140
Suffex.	18.	312
Kent.	17.	398
Cambridge.	4.	163
Bedford.	9.	/13
Huntingdon.	$ .	78
Rutlande.	2.	47
Barckeshyre.	11.	150
Northampton.		326
Buckingham.	11.	196
Oxforde.	10.	216
Southampton.	18.
Dorfet.		248
Norffolke.		:279
Suffolke.		625
Effex.	25.	575
Ellex.	18.	415.
	÷

And these I had of a friende of mone, by whose traveple and hys maissers ercessive charges I doubt not, but my country men eare long thail fe all Englande set forth in severall shyres after the same maner that Ortelius hathocalt with other countries of the mayne, to the great benefite of our nation and everlatting fame of the aforefapte partics.

Of Castelles and holdes. Cap. 8.

There have beine in tymes past great store of Castelles and places of defence within the realme of Englande, of which some were buylded by the Brytons, many by the Romaynes, Sarons, and Danes, but most of all by the Barons of the realme, in & about the tyme of king Stephen, who licen sed eache of them to buylde so many as they would byon their owne demeasnes, hoping therby that they would have employed their

ble to his aduauntage and commoditie, but finally when he sawe that they were rather fortified against hymselfe in the ende, then bled in his defence, he repented all to late of his inconfiderate dealing, fith now there was no remedie but by force for to subdue them. After his decease king Henry the seconde came no somer to the crowne, but he called to minde the inconvenience which his predestour had suffred and he himselfe might in time fultaine by those fortifications. There, fore one of the first things he dyd was an attempt to race and deface the most parte of these holdes. Certes he thought it better to hazarde the meeting of the enimie nowe and then in the playne field, then to live in perpetuall feare of those houses, and the rebellion of his Lordes byon every light occasion concepued, who then were full so Arong as be, if not more frong, and that made them the redier to withstande & gainelay many of those procedinges, which he and his fuccesours from time to tyme intended. Hereupon there fore he caused more then aleauen hundred of their castelles to be raced and overthrowne, whereby the power of his nobilitie was not a litle restrained. Sithence that time also not a few of those which remained have decaped of themselves: so that at this present, there are very few of no castels at all maintayned within England, lautng only bud the coaffe and marches of the countrie for the better kæping backe of the forrein enemie, when focuer he chall attempt to enter and amove

The most promoent Prince that ever reigned in this lande for the fortificatio thers of agaynst all outwards enemies, was the late Prince of famous memory king Henry the eyght: lith believe that he repaired most of such as were aireadie Canding, he buvided fundate out of the grounde. For having that ken of the moze then feruile poke of the Bo pilh tyrannie, and elpying that the Empe rour was offended for bys dynosce from Ducene Catherine his aunt: and therto that the Frenche king had coupled the Dolphin his forme with the Popes nece: and marped his daughter to the king of Scottes, (where n these by he had cause more instly to suspect then peathe lafely to trust any one of the all as Lambert latth) be determined to frant byon his owne defence, and therefore with no small speede, and like charge, he buploed fundzie Blocke houses, Castelies, and Platformes bpon dyuers frontiers of his realme, but chiefelp the aburnes cast and southeast partes of England, where for pize by no doubt he dyd very much qualifie the softhe concepued grudges of his adversaries and biterly put of their hally purpole of imalio. And thulmuch belefty for my purpole at this present. For I neede not to make any long discourse of castels, sith it is not the nature of a god Englishman to regarde to be caged by in a cope, 4 peoged in with stone walles, but rather to meete with his enemie in the playne fielde at handstrokes, where he map trauaile his grounde, chose his plot and vie the benefite of funne thine, winder wether, to his best advauntage and commoditie. As for those tales that go of Beston castell, how it thall fave all England on a day, & likewife the brag of a rebellious Barron in olde time that layor in contempt (of king Henry the thirde, as 3 gelle)

If I were in my Castell of Bungey V pon the water of W aueney,

I woulde not fet a button by the king of Cockney. I repute them but as topes, the first mere vaine, the seconde fondly offered if any such thing were layde, as many other wordes are and have beene spoken of lyke holdes, (as Wallingforde.cc.) but nowe growen out of memorie, and with small loss not hearde of among the common fort.

Of Pallaces belonging to the prince, and court of Englande. Cap. 9.

I T lyeth not in me to let downe eracly the Anumber and names of the palaces, belonging to the Paince, not to make any description of hir Graces Court, lith my callyng is and bath being such, as that I have scarcely prefumed to peepe in at hir gates, much leffe then have A adventured to ferch out & know the estate of those houses, and what magnific cent behaviour is to to fiene within them. Pet thus much will I lave generallye of all the houses and honours appertaining onto hir grace, that they are buyloed, epther of fquare Cone or bricke, or elle of both, & there buto although their capacity and bugenelle be not fo monfrous, as the lyke of opners Forren Bimces, are to be feine in y maine, pet are thep fo curious, nete, and commodi ous as any of them, both for conneighannce of offices and lodginges, and ercellencye of leitvation, which is not the least thing to be confidered of. Those that were buploed bes fore the tyme of king Henry the eyght, retaine to these dates the thew & I mage of the auncient kinde of workmanihip vied in this lande, but fuch as he erected doe represent as nother maner of paterne which as they are supposed to excell all the rest that he founde Canding in thes Realme, to they are shall L.ity.

come effer, to followe in their workes, and buyldinges of importaunce. Certes Balons ry did neder better flourith in England then in hos tome, and albeit that in these dayes there be manye goody houles created in the

be a perpetuall president, but othose that doe fund:p quarters of thys Island, yet they are rather curious to the epe, then substaunciall for continuaumce, where as such as her did fit bp ercel in both, and therefore may inffe ly be preferred about althorem. The names of those which come now to my remediance, white hall, are these. First of al White hall at the west ende of London (which is taken for the most large and principall of alitherest) was begun by Caromail wolfey, and enlarged and finitied by king Denry p epatt. Piere bito S. James & 15. S. James, sometime a Ponry, builded include by the lame prince. Hir grace hath also Dtelande, Asheridge, Patfelde, Paue Atherioge, ring, Cnueld, Kichemond, Hampton court, Bacfelde. (begonne sometime by Cardinall Wolfep. Enucide. and finished by hir Father) and therevoto Ruhemod. Woodtocke, erected by king Henry the Dampton. Calwarter, etened by king Henry the Wadliocke seconds, in which the Nuches maielty delighteth greatly to fotourne, notwythstan-> ding that in time pass it was the place of hir castiluty, when it pleased God to try hir by afficient and calamity.

For Arength Windlesoz or Winsoze, is supposed to be the chiefe, a cassell buyloed in tyme pall by king Arthur, as it is thought, a repayed by Edwarde the third, who erec, ted also a notable Colledge there. After him divers of his fuccestours, have bestowed excoding charges opon the lame, which note withstanding are farre surmounted, by the Quenes maiely nowe lyning, who hath appointed huge fommes or moncy to be emploped byon the ognature, and alteration of the mould, according to the fourme of bupl, ding vied in our daves. Such also hath being the estimatio of this place, that divers kings have not oncly bene enterred there but also made it the chiefe house of assemblye, and creation of the Unightes, of the honouras ble order of the Garter, then the which there is nothing in this lande, moze magnificent and frately. Grænewiche was first burloed. by Humfrey Duke of Glocester, bpon the Thames lice 4. miles east from London, in htyme of henry the firt, realled Plefance. Afterwards it was gretly inlarged by king Cowarde the fourth, garnythed by king Denry the featienth, and finally e made perfite by king Denry the englished onely phes

nir of his time, for fine and curious malous not much distaunt also from the south side of that land Arcame, Cometime a Ponnerp, but now a very controlleus Wallace, wherebuto it was also conerted by king Henry & eight. Eltham as I take it, was buylded by king Cithan Benry b third if not befoze. There are belide these mozeover opuers other, but what shal I neede to take byon me to repeate all, tell what houses the Anenes maieste hath sith all is hirs, and when it pleaseth hir in the so, mer leafon, to recreate hir felfe abzoade, and viewe the estate of the countrey, every noble mans house is hir Pallace, where the continueth during pleasure, and till the returne againe to some of hir owne, in which the remaineth to long as pleafeth hir.

The court of England which necessarily is Of the holden alwayes where the Prince lyeth, is in Court. these dayes one of the most renowmed and magnificent courtes, that are to be found in Europe. For whether you regard the ryche and infinite furniture of housholde, ozber of Dificers, 02 the interteinement of such fras gers as dailye resorte buto the same, pou thall not finde many equall therbuto, much leffe one excelling it, in any maner of wife. A moght here if I woulde (02 had sufficient dispolition of matter concepued of the same) make a large discourse, of the honourable ports of fuch grave councellours, and noble personages, as give their dailpe attendance bpon the Ducenes maielly there. I could in lyke forte let forth a fingular commendation of the vertuous beautie, oz beautiful vertues of fuch Ladies and Gentlewomen, as watte bpon hir person, betweine whose amiable counntenaunces and costimeste of attyze, there læmeth to be such a daily constituent contention, as that it is berpe difficulte for me to gelle, wheter of the twaine, thal beare away the preheminence. This farder is not to be omitted to the fingular commendation English bf both fozts & feres of our Courtners here courties, in Englande, that there are verye fewe of the best them, which have not the big and their selection. them, which have not the vie and skyll of fundap freaches, befide an ercellent baine of wayting, befoze time not regarded. Truely it is a rare thing with vs nowe, to here of a courtier which hath but his own language, & to lay how many Gentlewomen & Ladies there are that before found knowledge of the Greke & Latin tongues, are therto no lefte' fkilful in & Spanith Italian & French, og in some one of them, it resteth not in me: sith 3 am persivated, that as the noble men, gene tlemen, doe furmount in this behalf, so thefe come very little or nothing at all behind the, for their parts, which industry god continue.

Beside these thinges 3 coulde in like forte let downethe wayes and meanes whereby our auncient Ladies of the Court doe thun # aupyde volcnesse, some of them exercysing their fingers with the nædle, other in caule. worke, divers in spinning of sike, some in continuall reading either of the holye scriptures, or holtories of our owne, or forren nas tions about bs, whilest the ponger sort in b meane time, applie their Lutes, Citharnes, plickelong, and all kindes of Qulick, which they vie only for recreation and folace lake, when they have leglure, and are fræ from attendaunce bpon the Queenes maiestpe,02 fuch as they belong buto.

I myght finally describe the large allows ances in offices, and perely lyueries, & there unto the great plentie of Golde and Soluer Wlate, the leuerall peeces whereof, are co. monipe to great and mallye, and the quanty therof so abundantly serving all the housbolde, that if Midas were nowe lining and once againe put to his choise, I thinke he coulde alke no moze, or rather not halfe so much, as is there to be sæne and bled. But 3 palle ouer to make such néedclesse discours lest resoluing my selfet that even in this also the erceding mercy and louing kindenelle of God doth wonderfullye appeare towardes vs, in that he hath so largely indued vs with thele his to ample benefites. In some great Princes Courtes, it is a worlde to lie what lewde behaviour is bled among dyuers of those that resorte buto the same, & what whosedoe, swearing, rybaldsp atheilme, dicing, carding, carowling, druns kenneste, Glotony, quareling, and suchlyke inconveniences, one daily take holde, and sometimes even among those, in whose es states such behaviour is least convenient: all which inormities, are epther otterly erpelled out of the Court of Englande, 02 else so quallified by the diligent endeuour of the chiefe officers of hir graces housholde, that feldome are any of these thinges apparantly læne there, with out one reprehension, fluch fenere correction, as belongeth to those tres. palles. Finally to anopoe volenelle, and prenent fundage transgressions, otherwise like lpe to be commytted and done, such order is taken, that energe office hath epther a Byble, or the bokes of the Aces and monumentes of the Church of Englande, 02 both, belide some hystogres and Chronicles lying therin, for the exercise of such as come into the same : whereby the fraunger that entereth into the Court of Englande bpon the sodeine, shall rather imagine himselfe to come into some publicke schole of & univerlities, where many give eare to one that reas deth buto the, then into a Painces Pallace, if rou conferre this with those of other natio ons. Totald to god al honozable personages woulde take erample of hir Graces Goolp dealing in this behalfe, and thewe their conformitie, buto thele hir lo god beginninges: which if they woulde, then shoulde manye grieuous enormities (where with GD D is biahelpe displeased) be cut of and restreined, which nowe doe reigne ercedingly, in most Poble and Gentlemens houses, wher of thep fee no paterne within hir Graces gates.

The firme peace also that is maintenned within a certaine compasse of the Princes Pallace, is such, as is nothing inferiour to that we le daily practised in the best governed holds, fortrelles. And such is the senere punishment of those that Arike, wethin the limites prohibited, that without all hope of mercy, benefite of clerate, 02 landuary, they are fure to lose their ryght handes, at a Aroke, and that in very folemne maner, the fourme whereof I will fet downe, and then make an ende of this Chapter, to deale with other matters.

At such time therefore as the party transgressing is convicted by a sufficent enquest impanelled for the same purpose, and the tyme come of therecution of the sentence, the Sergeaunt of the kings wodyarde prouydeth a square blocke, which he beingeth to some appointed place, & ther with ala great betle, staple, and cordes, wher with to fasten the hande of the offendoz, but othe sappe blocke, untill the whole circumstance of his execution be perfourmed. The Poman of the Scullary lykewyle for the tyme beying both promide a great fire of coales harde by the blocke, wherein the learing vzons are to be made readie against the chiefe Surgeon to the Prince or his Deputie thall occupie the fame. Upon him also both the sergeaunt oz thief farrour attend with those yzons, whose office is to deliver them to the land Surgeo when he shalbe readie by searing to vie the same. The grome of the Salary for the time being or his Deputie is furthermore and pointed to be readie with bineger and colde water, and not to depart from the place on till the arme of the offender be bounde by & fully dressed. And as these thinges are thus provided to y Sergeaunt Surgeon is bound from time to time to be readie to execute his charge, and leave the flump, when the hande is taken from it. The lergeaunt of the lellar is at hande also with a cup of red wine, and likely le the chiefe officer of the pantry with Panchet bread to give buto the layoe partie, after the erecution done, and the fromp leas red, as the lergeaunt of the Ewery is with clothes,

Greene=

Dartforde, the Pot farre from this is Dartforde, and clothes, wherein to winde and was by the the arme, the poman of the pultrie with a cocke to lay onto it, the poman of the Chaudre with feared clothes, and finally the mais ffer coke oz his Deputie with a charpe deel fing knufe, which he dely ucreth at the place of crecution to the Sargeaunt of the Larder, who doth holde it brzight in hys hande, untill therecution be performed, by the pub: licke Officer appointed therebuto. And this is the maner of punishment ordayned for those that Arpke within the Pzinces pallace, or limites of the same. The lyke privilege is almost given to churches and churchpardes, although in maner of punishment great difference coe appeare. For he that bralleth or quarrelleth in epither of them, is by and by suspended ab ingressu ecclesia, until be be ab. foluco, as he is also that arriveth with but, or layeth violent handes byon any whome fo cuer. But pt be happen to finite worth fraffe, dagger, or any maner of weapon, and the same be sufficiently founde by the Werdia of twelve men at his arrainement, beside er: communication, he is fure to lofe one of hys eares without all hope of recourrye. But if he be such a one as hath beine twyle condemined and executed, whereby he hath now none cares, then is he marked with an hote pron byon the cheeke, t by the letter F, which is leared into his flely, he is fro thenceforth noted as a common barratour, & frap mas ker, and thereunto remagneth ercommunic cate, till by repentaunce he deferne to beab.

Of the maner of Buylding and furniture of our houses. Cap. 10.

The greatest parte of our buylding in the cities and good towness of Englands consisteth onely of timber, for as yet icwe of the houles of the comminalty (except here & there in the west country townes) are made of stone, although they may in my opinion in divers other places be builded to good cheape of the one as of the other. In olde tyme the houses of the Baptons were littly set oppe with a few postes and many radies, the like whereof almost is to be sane in the fenny countries unto this day, where feelacke of woo ther are inforced to continue this auncient maner of burloing. It is not in bayne therefore in speaking of buyloing to make a diffination betweene the playme and woodye countrie, for as in thefe, our houses are commonly freng & wel timbered, to that in many places, there are not aboue 6.02 nine puches between Andre and Andre, so in the open t champaine loyles they are inforced for want of fruste to ble no fruddes at all, but only rape lines, around lelles, transomes, and byzight principalles, with here and there an overthwart post in their walles, whereunto thep fasten their Splintes or radles, and then cast it all over with clay to keepe out the winde. which other wyle woulde anop them. In like fort as every country house is thus apparel led on the out side, so is it inwardly devided into fundzie rowmes aboue and beneth, and where plentie of woo is, they cover the with tyles, otherwyle with straw, sedge, 02 rede. ercept some quarry of flate be neare hande, from whence they have for they money, fo much as may suffice them. The clay where with our houses are empanelled is epther white, redde, oz blewe, and of these the first doth participate very much with the nature of our chalke, the seconde is called some, but the thirde eftlones changeth coulour to lone as it is wrought, notwithstanding that it loke blew when it is theolone out of the pit. Of chalke also we have our excellent whote lime made in most places, wherewith we Kricke ouer our clay workes & frome walles, in Citics, god Townes, riche fermers, and gentlemens houles : otherwyle in stede of chalke (where it wanteth for it is so scant that in some places it is solde by the pounde) they are compelled to burne a certaine kind of redde stone, as in Wales, and else where other Cones, as I have læne by experience. Within their dozes also such as are of abilis tie doe oft make their flowers, and parget of fine Alabaster burned, which they cal platter of Paris, whereof in some places we have great plentie, & that very profitable agapust the rage of fire. In plattering likewife of our fayzest houses over our heades, we vie to lay first a Laire of two of white moster tempes red with heire opon Lathes, which are naps led one by an other, (oz fometimes bpo rede or wickers more baungerous for fyre and made fall here and there with sappelathes for falling downe) and finallye coner all with the aforelayde plaster, which beside the delectable whitenesse of the staffe it selfe, is layed on so even and smouthly as nothing in my judgement can be done with moze erace nelle. This also hath bene comon in england, contrarie to the customes of all other Par tions, and yet to be læne (for erample in most fretes of London) that many of our great tell houses have outwardly beine very sine ple and plaine to light, which inwardly have beine able to recepue a Duke with his whole trayne and lodge them at their eafe. Hereby mozeover it is come to palle, that the frontes of our frétes have not bene so bnisozme & pederly buylocd as those of forrain cities. inhere to lave truth, the otterside of thep? mansions and dwellings, have oft moze cost bestowed byon them, then all the reast of the house, which are often very simple and bus case within, as experience both consirme. Di olde tyme our country boules in fræde of glasse dvo vie much lattis and that made evther of wicker oz fine riftes of oke in cheker, wole. I reade also that some of the better forte in and before the tymes of the Sarons dio make panels of home in frede of glaffe, and firethem in wooden calmes, but as home is quite lapde downe in every place, so our lattifes are also growne into lesse vie, bycaule glasse is come to be so plentifull, & within a very little so good cheave as the o ther. Heretofoze also the houses of our painces and noble men were often glased with Beril, (an example wherof is vet to be fæne in Sudley calfell) & in divers other places, with fine chaiffall, but this especially in the time of h Komaines, wherof also some frage mentes haue bæne taken by in olde ruines. But nowe these are not in vse, so that onely the clearest glasse is most estémed for wie have divers fortes some brought out of Bur: gundle-some out of Pozmanop, much out of Flaunders, belive that which is made in Englande fo god as the best, and eache one that may, will have it for his building. Pozes over the mantion houles of our country tows nes & villages, (which in champaine groude stande altogither by streetes, and sopning one to an other, but in woodlande soples dispersed here and there, eache one byon the fenerall groundes of their owners) are builded in suche fort generally, as that they have neither dairy, flable, noz bzuehouse, annered buto them buter the same rose (as in many places beyonde the sea) but all separate from the first, and one of them from an other. And yet for all this, they are not so farre distant in funder, but that the godman lying in his bed may lightly heare what is done in eache of them with ease, and call quickly but his meney if any daunger thoulde attache hym. The anneient maners & houses of our gen tlemen are pet & for the most part of frong tymber. Howbeit such as be lately buylded, are commoly either of baicke or harde frome, their rowmes large and fately and houses of office farder diffaunt fro their lodginges. Those of the Dobility are likewise wrought with bricke and hard Cone as provision may best be made: but so magnificent and stately as the basest house of a Barren doth often match with some honours of princes in cide flozish in Englande, it is in these our dayes, wherein our worckemen ercell, and are in maner comparable in fail! with olde Vicrunius, and Serlo. The furniture of our houses also ercedeth, and is growne in maner even to palling delicacie: 4 herein I do not speake of the Pobilitie and gentrie onely, but even of the lowell loste that have any thing at all to take to. Certes in Poble mens boules it is not rare to læ abundance of Arras, riche hangings of Tapility, filter beliefl, and fo much other plate, as may furnish sudie cups bordes to the fumme oftetimes of a thousand or two thousands pounds at the least: where by the value of this and the realt of their fluste doth grow to be inestimable. Likewise in the houles of unightes, Bentleme, Parchauntmen, and some other wealthie Citis zens, it is not geson to beholde generallye their great proudion of Tapiffrie, Turkye worke, Pewter, Braffe, fine linen, and there to costly cupbords of plate worth five or sire hundred pounde, to be demed by estimation. But as herein all these sozics doe farre excéde their elders, and predecessours, so in time pate, the collip furniture staped there, whereas now it is descended pet lower, even buto the inferiour Artificers and most Fermers, who have learned also to garnish their cubbordes with plate, their bedoes with tapilfrie, and filke hanginges, and their tables with fine naperie, whereby the wealth of our countrie doth infinitely appeare. Pepther do I speake this in reproch of any man God is my Judge, but to thew that I doe recopce rather to lie how God hath bleffed be with hes god giftes, and to behold how that in a time wherein all thinges are growen to most epcelline prices, we do pet finde the meanes to obtayne and atchieue fuch furniture as here tofoze hath beine unposible. There are olde men pet dwelling in the village where I remayne, which have noted thick things to be marueyloudy altered in Englande within their found remembraunce. One is the multitude of chimnies lately erected, wheras in their pong dayes there were not about two Chimnies of thee if to many in most oplanoish townes of the realme, (the religious houses, many nour places, of their Lordes alwayes ercepted, & peraduenture some great personages) but eache one made his fire against a reredolle, in the hall where he dined and dreffed his meate. The second is f great amendes ment of lodginge, for layde they our fathers t we our felnes have been full oft byon fraw pallettes couered onely with a thete buder marolog= coverlettes made of pagiwain or hophariots ing. (I vie tyme, so that if ever curious buylding byd

Thié thinges greatly amendeb in Eng=

(3 ble their owne termes) and a good round logge under their heades in feade of a boul. fer. If it were so that our fathers 02 h good man of the boule, had a matteres or flockbed. and thereto a facke of chafe to rest hys heade ppon, he thought himselfe to be as well lod; ged as the Lorde of the towne, so well were they contented. Pillowes layde they were thought meete onely for women in childebed. As for servants if they had any sheete aboue themat was well, for seldome had they any bnder their bodies, to keepe them from the pricking frames, that ranne oft thorow the canuas, and raced their hardened hides.

The thirde thinge thev tell of, is the er, change of træne platters into pewter, and wode spones into liluer oz tin. Foz so comon were al forts of træne vesselles in old time, o a man should hardly find four peces of peinter (of which one was peraduenture a falte) in a good Farmers houle, and yet for al this frugaltie (if it may so be justly called) they were scarse able to lyue and page their ren-This was tes, at their dayes without felling of a cow, of generall four nounds at the attenue of he the foure pounds at the ottermost by the yeare. Such also was their powerty, that if a Fermour of hulbundman had beine at the ales house, a thing greatly bled in those dayes, aniongit fire or feauen of hys nepghbours, and there in a beauery to thewe what store he had, did dass downe his purse, and therein a noble of fire hillings in filuer buto them, it was very likely that all the rest could not lay downe so much against it: wheras in my tyme although peraduenture foure pounde of olderent be improved to fourty or fiftye pound, pet will the farmer thinke his gaines bery small toward the middelt of histerme. if he have not fire or featien veres rent lying by him, therewith to purchase a newe lease, belide a faire garnishe of pewter on his cowborde, thie or foure feather beddes, so many coucrlettes and carpettes of Tapiffry, a filner salte, a bowle for wine (if not an whole neaff) and a dusten of spones, to furnishe bp the lute. Thus also be taketh to be his owne cleare, for what stocke of money soes uer he gathereth in all his yeares, it is often sænc, that the landloide will take such order with him for the same, when he remueth his lease (which is commoly eight oz ten yeares before it be express, fith it is nowe growen almost to a custome, that if he come not to his his locde to long before, another Hall Cep in for a reversion, # so defeate him out right) that it shall never trouble him moze then the heare of his bearde, when the barber hath washed and chauen it from his chinne.

Of Fayres and Markettes. Cap. 11.

There are as I take it, few great townes I in England, that have not their weekely Markets, in which al maner of prouision for houlhold, is to be bought and soulde, for ease and benefite of the countrep rounde about, wherby as it commeth to valle that no buve er thall make any great journey in the purueighaunce of his necessities, so no occupier thall have occasion to travaple farre of with his commodities, ercept it be to læke for the highest prices, which commonly are nære bnto great cities, where rounde and spies diest biteraunce is alwayes to be had. And as these have bene in tymes past ereced for the benefite of the realme, so are they in many places to to much abused: for the relief and ele of the buper, is not lo much intended in them, as the benefite of the feller. Aepther are the Paiestrats for the most part so care, full in their offices, as of right and delutive they shoulde bæ, for in most of these mare kettes neyther fizes of breade nor orders for gwdnesse of graine and other commodities, that are brought thither to be soulde are any whit laked buto, but eache one suffered to feil oz fet bp, what, and how himselfe lysteth, this is one evident cause of darth in time of great abundance.

I coulde if I woulde exemplifie in many, but I will touch no one particularly. Certes it is rare to fie in any market the affise of breade well kept according to the Catute, howbest I finde, in lieu thereof such heador ale and bere in most of them, as for the mightynesse thereof among such as sæke it out, is commonly ecalled huffecappe, the madde Dogge, father whozelonne, Aungels fode, Dagons milke cc. And this is moze to be noted, that when one of late fell by Gods providence, into a troubled conscience, after he had considered well of his rekelesse lyfe, and daungerous effate: another thinking belyke to change his colour and not his mind, carred hym Craight to the Arongest ale, as to the nert Philition. It is incredible to fay how our Maultbugges lug at this liquoz, euen as pigges thoulde lye in a rowe, lugging at their dames teates, tyll they lye Gill againe, & be not able to wagge. Peyther did Romulus and Remus fucke their the Wolfe Lupa, with such eger & tharpe denotion as these men, hale at huscappe, tell thep be read as cockes, and little wpfer the their combes, But howe am I fallen frem the mercate, into the Ale house. In returning therseze tre

of the description of Britaine.

to my purpole, I find therfoze that in cozne great abuse is daily suffered, to the great pacinoice of the towne & countrep, especially the poze artificer & householder, which til: leth no lande, but labouring all the weke to bur a bulbell or two of corne on the mercate hale, can there have none for his money, bes taule bodgers, loders, and common carry, ers of Graine, doe not onely buy by all, but apue aboue the paper, to be ferned of great quantities. Shall I go anp farther well I mill fave pet a little moze, and somewhat by mine owne experience. At Myahelmas tyme pose men must sell theys graine that they may pave their rentes. So long then as the page man hath to fell, ryche men woll bernge out none, but rather bur bope that which the poze bring bnder pretence of lede come, because one wheat often somen with out chaunge of lede, will some decay and be converted into darnell. For this cause there fore they must nædes buy in the markettes, though they be twentye myles of and where they be not knowne, promiting there to lend fo much to thep, nept market, to performe 3

wote not when. If thys shyft serve not (neither doth the fore ble alwayes one tracke for feare of a lnare) they wil compound to some one of the towne where the market is holden, who for a pot of huscappe of mery go downe, wyll not let to buy it for them, & that in his owne name. De else they wage one poze man ve other, to become a bodger, & thereto get him a ly. cence bpon some forged surmize, which being done, they will fiede him with money to buy for them till be bath filled they loftes. and then if he can doe any good for himselfe so it is, if not, they will give him somewhat for his paines at this tome and referre him for another yeare. How many of these proutders framble bypon blynde crækes at the fea colf, I wote not well, but that some have lo done under other mens winges, the cause is to playne. But who care finde faulte with the, when they have once a lycence, though it be but to ferue a meane Gentlemans boule with come, who hath cast op at his tillage bis cause he boasteth how he can buy his graine in g market better cheape, the he can fow his lão, as the rich grafier often doth also bpon p like deuife. If any man come to buy a buthel or two for his expences onto p market croffe, aunswere is made, forsoth here was one es uen nowe that badde me money for it, and I hope he will have it. And to saye the truth, these bodgers are faire chapme, for there are no more words with them, but let me le it, what chall I give you, knitte it op, I will have it, ao carp it to lich a chamber. But to procede by this tyme the pare occupier hath all folde his croppe for nede of money, bes yng readye paraduenture to buy againe cre tonge. And nowe is the whole fale of come in the great occuppers handes, who hythere to have thresped lyttle or none of their olen, but bought op of other men, so much as they coulde come by. Henceforth also they begin to fel, not by the quarter of loade at the first - for mabut by the buthell or two, or an horselode at ring of the most, therby to be seene to kepe the mar, the mars ket, epther for a thewe, or to make men eger ket. to buy, and so as they maye haue it for mos ney, not to regarde what they pay. And thus come wareth deare, but it will be dearer the nert market dap. It is possible also that they myllyke the paper in the begynnyng for whole yeare inluing, as men luppoling that come will be little worth for this, and of bet ter price in the next peare. Derebpon then well they threshe out three partes of the olds come, toward the latter ende of the fommer, when newe commeth a pace to hande, and cast the same into the fourth buthreshed, where it thall live but pil the next Spaping, oz peraduenture tyl it must and putrifie. Dz else they will grade their thenes of by the band and fracke it by of newe in leffe roume to thende it may not onely appeare telle in quantity, but also grue place to the come that is pet to come into the barne, or grow ing the field. If there happen to be such plenthe in the market bron any market vap that they can not fell at their owne pile, then wil they let it by in some friendes house, acount an other or the thirde day, and not bringe it forth bittyll they lyke of the late. If they fell any at home, belive harder mealure, it that be dearer to the poze man by two pence b) a groate in a buthell then they mape fell it in the market. But as thele things are work thy redrelle, to I while that God woulde once open their eyes that deale thus with fee there owne errours: for as perionie of them lyttle cate bowe many poze men latter ex trenitte, fo that they may fill their purfes and carpe awaye the gaine. I coulde lape more but this is even prough and more per adventure then I hall be well thanked for! Deptitue it is though some thinks who tres valle. This moreover is to betailienced, that dhegenerall mealure is not in sie Hofow out all Englande, but every mercate towne hath in a maner a leverall mediale, and the teller it be, the moe lellers it deniveth to rei Tost buto the lame. It is oft founde likewile, that divers bricocionable beaters have one measure to fell by, and another to buy with all, the lyke is also in weightes. Wherfore it were verye god that these two were reduced buto one standerd, that is, one bushell. one pound one quarter one hudzed, one tale, one number, so should things in time fal into better order, fewer causes of contention be moned in this land. But more of this herafter in the next boke, where I have inserted a litle treatize, which I cometimes collected of our weights, a measures, and their comparison with those of the auncient Grækes and Komaines. To coclude therfoze in our markets all things are to be solde necessarie for mans ble, and there is our provision made commonly for all the weeke infuing. There forcas there are no great townes without one wekely market at the least, so there are very fewe of them that have not one or timo fapacs of more within the compasse of the yeare alligned buto them by the prince. And albeit that some of them are not much bet ter then the common kirkemelles beyonde the leasy et there are diners not inferiour bus to the greatest martes in Europe, as Stur, bridge Faire neare to Cambridge, Bare tholomewe fapze at London, Linne mart, Cold farze at Delwort pond for cattell and divers other, all which or at the least wple the greatest part of them (to the end 3 may with the more ease to the reader & lette trauaple to mp felf fulfill mp take in their recitall.) I have let down according to 5 names of the monethes wherin they are holden at & end of this boke, where you shall finde them at large, as I bosowed the same fro Stow.

87

Of Armour and Munition. Cap.12.

How well or how firongly our countrey hath beine furnished in tymes pass with armoz and artillery, it lyeth not in me as of my selfe to make rehearfall. Det that it lass ked both in the late tyme of Duene Pary not oncly therperience of myne elders, but also the talke of certaine Spaniards, not yet forgotten, dyd leauc some manifest notice. Apon the first 3 nede not stand, for few wil denye it. For the seconde I have hearde that when one of the greatest pieres of Spaine es fuped our nakednesse in this behalfe, and did folemnely otter in no obscure place, that it Chouloc be an easte matter in Chorte tyme to coquere England bycaule it wanted armoz, his words were the not forathly ottered as they were pollitickly noted. For albeit that for the present tyme they efficacle was off fembled, and femblaunce made as though he spake but merply, yet at the very enteraunce of thes our gracious Quene onto the pob fession of the Crowne, they were so promibently called to remembrance, and fuch free die reformation lought of all handes for the redrelle of this incouenience, that our couns try was soner furnished with armour and munition, from divers partes of the maine, (belide great plentie that was forged here at home) then our enemies could get budersta ding of any luch provision to be made. By this pollicie also was the no small hope concepued by Spanyardes otterly cut of, who of open friendes being nowe become our fecrete enemies, and thereto watching a time wherein to atchieue some heavie exploite as gaynft bs and our countrye, dud therebpon chaunge their purpoles, whereby Englande obtained rest, that otherwise might have ben fure of tharp & cruel wars. Thus a Spanish worde bettered by one man at one time, ouerthrew or at & leastwife hindered fundep pring practiles of many at another. In times past the chiefe force of Englande consisted in their log bowes, but now we have in maner generally given over that kinde of artillerie and for long bowes in dede doe practise to hote compale for our passime: which kinde of thoting can never yeld any Imart. Froke noz beate downe our enemies as our country men were want to doe, at enery time of næde. Certes the Frenchmen and Kutters deriding our new archerie in respect of their coallets, will not let in open skirmish yf any leplure ferue to turne by their tailes and cry hote Englishe, and all bycauseour Grong thoting is decayed and layed in bedde. But if some of our English men nowe lyned that ferued king Coward the third in his warres with Fraunce, the breeche of such a Merlet thould have beine nailed to his bumme with one arrow a an other fethered in his bowels before he choulde have turned about to lee's who thotte the first. But as our thoting is thus in maner btterly decayed amog be one way, so our countrie men were skilful in some dase other poyntes as in shorting in small Dicres, the Calener, and handling of the Pyke, in the fenerall vies whereof thep are become very erperte. Dur armour die fereth not from that of other nations, there fore consisteth of coallets, almaine riverets. thirtes of maple, Jackes quilted and conered ouer with leather, fulfen of cannas ouer thicke plates of your that are sowed in the same, and of which there is no towne or bile lage that hath not hir convenient furnitures The layd armour and munition also is kept in one feuerall place appoynted by the com fent of the whole parity, where it is alwayes ready to be had and worne within an houres warning. Sometime also it is occupred whe vicaleth the Pagistrate, enther to view the ablemen and take note of the wel keeping of the same, or finally to see those that are inrolled to erercise eache one his severall weapon according to his appointment. Certes there is almost no village so poze in Englande (be it neuer to finall) that bath not fufficient furniture in a readines to let forth three or foure foldiors, or one archer, one gonner, one pike t a byll man at the least. Do there is not so much wanting as their verye lyueries and cappes, which are left to be accounted of, if any halte required. What floze of munition s armour the Duénes maiestie bath in hir tiozehouses, it iveth not in me to velde according compt, lith I suppose the same to be munite. And where as it was commonly lapoe after the lotte of Calais that Englance thould nes uer recover their Dedinance, there left, that same is at this time proved false, sith even some of the same persons doe now confesse. that thys lande was never better furnished with these thinges in any kinges dayes that raigned lince the conquelf. As for the armous ries of divers of the Pobilitie (wherof A also have fiene a part) they are so well furnished wyth in some one Barons custodie, that J have fæne the score coellets at once, beside calquers, handgunnes, bowes, theiefes of arrowes, pykes, bylles, pollares, flathes, touchbores, targettes. Ec. the verye light wherof appalled my courage, what would b wearing of some of the have done this trow pou, if I thould ble them in the field. I would write here of our maner of going to p wars, but what hath the long blacke gowne to doe with glistering armour, what acquaintance can there be betwirt Wars and the Quies, oz how thould a man write any thing to the purpose of that, where with he is nothing acquainted.

Of the Nauie of Englande. Cap,13.

Into the solves, of which the one serveth for the warres, the other for burden, the thirde for subject warres, the other for burden, the thirde for subject warres, which get their lywing by subject on the sea. How many of the suffict order are maintained within the realmest passed into the Pause Royall and common siete, I thincke god to speake of those that belong but the Prince, to much the rather, for that their number is certained well knowne to very many. Certes there is no Prince in Europe that hath a more beautiful sorte of suppose then the Number maiestic of Englands at this present, those generally are of such creeding force that two of them being well appointed and furnished as they ought wil not let to encounter with three or foure of them of other countries, and either bowge them or put them to slight, of they may not bring them home.

Peyther are the mouldes of any forrain Barches to conveniently made to broke the leas many part of the continent, as those of England, Therfole the commo report that fraungers make of our thips amongs the, felties is dayly confirmed to be true, which is that for arength, allurance, nimblelle and swiftnesse of sayling, there are no vesselles in the world to be compared with ours. The Duenes highneste hath at this present als readle mabe and furnished, to the number of one and twenty great th types, which lye for the most part in Gillingham Rove ; belide thie Ballies, of whole particulat names it Hall not be amille to make reporte at this time) was the

The first of them therefore is falled Bon-aduchture.

The nert hight the Elizabeth Ionas, a name deutled by hir grace in remembranice of hir owner deliverance from the fury of hir enemies, from which in one respect the was no leve nerseculously preserved; then was the prophet Ionas fro the belly of the windle.

The White bearcis The Hope

the thirde! The The Lyon!
And after them the The Victorie.
hath the Philip and The Mary role.
Mary.
The Faitclight.

The Pulls

The Swift Rec. 21 22

The Pulls

The Swift Rec. 21 22

The Tygre to called The Ayde and and a company of hys receeding The Handmaide.

ling & Iwithelle of The Bread not. Ing & Iwithelle of The Swallow.

Course. The Anclop.

The Barke of Buller.

Belide thele his grace hath other in hande also, of whome hereafter as their turnels not come about. I will not let to leave formels not there was their turnels not her remediannee. The hath linewise their notable Balles. The However well, the Trye regist, and the blacks Balley, with the higher whereast relt of the pading knowled it is taken bible to saye how makineylainly his Brace is delighted; and not without great cause, with by their meanes hit rollies are kept in quiet, and sundaye forten energials pictioned, which otherwise wonder invade do: The number of those that lerie fill burden, which the other, where I have made mencional ready, and whose die is bally leene, as obtain ready, and whose die is bally leene, as obtain on scructh, in time of the warres, is to me ptterly boknowne. Det if commo estimatio be any thing at all to be credited, there are 17.02 eightæne hundzed of one & other of the, belides fisher boates, fimal Craiers, which A referre unto the thirde lost. Df these also there are some of the Quænes maiesties subscaes that have two or three, some foure of lire, and as I hard of late, one man whole name I supprelle for modelfies lake, hath beine knowne, not long fince to have hade lirtene or seventene, and employed them whollve to the wastrng in and out of our marchauntes, whereby he hath reaped no small commoditive and gaine. I might take occasion, to speake of the notable and difficult volages made into frauge coutries by Englishmen, and of their dayly successe there, but as these thinges are nothing incident to my purpole, lo 3 lurceale to speake of them: onely thys will I adde therefore to the ende all men chail bnder Cande some what of the great malles of treasure, daylye employed byon our Paule, howe there are fewe of those thippes, of the first and seconde forte that being apparelled and made readie to fale, are not worth one thousand pounds, or three thousands Ducates at the least, if they shoulde presently be solde. What shall we shall thinke then of the greater, but especially the Paup Royall, of which some one Tiesfell is worth two of the other, as & ship, wayghtes have often tolde me. It is vosible that some couctous person hearing thys report, will eyther not credite it at all, or sup, pole money lo employed to be nothing profitable to the Quenes coffers, as a god hul band said once when he harde there should be proullio made for armor, withing & Duknes money to be rather laide out to some fpedier returne of gaine bnto bir Grace. But if be wish that the good keeping of the lea, is the safegared of our lande, he woulde alter hys censure, and some gine over his indgement. For in times past when our nation made small account of Pauigation, bow some dyd the Romaines, then the Sarons, and last of all the Danes inuade thys Islande, whose cruelty in the ende inforced our countrimen as it were even agaznif their owne wylles, to proupde for thippes from other places, and buylde at home of they, owne, wherby their enimies were oftentymes diffressed. But most of all were the Normans therein to be commended. For in a thort processe of tome after the conquest of thus Mande. and good confideration had for the well his ping of b same, they supposed nothing more commodious for the defence of the countrey, then the maintenaunce of a ffrong Pauri which they specify provided, mainteyned, & thereby reaped in the ende their withed fecus ritpe, where worth before their times this 30 flande was neuer acquainted. Befoze the The byp= comming of the Romaines, I doe not reade tons falto that we had any thippes at all, ercept a fewe al the wh that we had any inppes at an except a rewe lest their made of wicker a covered with Buffle hides. weire at f In the beginning of the Barons we had a fea in their fewe, but as their number and moulde was thips. lyttle and nothing to the purpole-so Eabert was the frast prince that ever thorowive began to knowe thes necessitie of a Paur, in the defence of his countrey. After him also 9. ther princes as Alfred Ethelred. sc. indeuou red moze a moze to froze thefelues at the ful with thips of al quantities, but chiefly @theldied, who made a law, y every man holding 310. hidelandes, thould finde a thip furnithed to ferue him in the warres. Howbeit, and as I sappe broze when all they? Pame was at the greatestait was not comparable to that which afterwarde the Pozmains provided, neyther that of the Pozmaines anve thing lyke to the same, that is to be siene nowe in our dayes. For piourneys also of our thips, you that binderstand, that a well builded before sell, wyll runne oz sayle thik hundzed lear ques,02 nine hundzeth mples in a weke, 03 peraduenture some will go 2 2 0 0. leagues in fire weekes and an halfe. And furely if their lading be ready against they come this ther, there be of them that will be here, at the welf Indies, and home agapne in twelve 02 thirtene wekes from Colcheffer, ale though the layd Indies be eight hundred leas ques from the cape or point of Cornewall, as I have beene informed.

Of Bathes and hote welles. Cap. 14.

Salmightie God hath in most plenty. A full maner beltowed infinite and thole very notable benefits byon this Ile of 1826 taine, whereby it is not a little enriched, fo in hote and naturall Bathes, (whereof ine have divers in fundaie places) it manifestly appeareth that he hath not forgotten Eng. lande. There are foure Bathes therefoze to be found in this realme, of which the first is called f. Tincentes, the fecond Hally Well, both being places in my opinion moze ob. scure then the other two, e pet not seldome fought buto by fuch as frande in nede. Foz albeit the fame of their forces be not fo genes rallye spreade, yet in some cases they are thought to be nothing inferiour to the other, as divers have often affirmed by their owne experience and triall. The third place wherof the description of Britaine.

in hote Bathes are to be founde is neare onto Burffone (atowne in Darbyfhyze, fcis tuate in the high Peke not pasting firetene mples from Danchester oz Darketchester: folde, t twenty from Darby) where aboute ciant or nine scuerall Welles are to be fene of which thee are counted to be most excellent. But of al the gretell is the hattelf, boid of corruption and compared as lones fayth, with those of Somersett those so colde in dede, as a quarte of bopling water monloe be made, it five quartes of running water were added therbuto: whereas on the others live, those of Bathe likened buto these, baue fuch heate appropriated buto them, as a gal, lon of hote water hath when a quart of colde is mired with the fame. Herebpon the effecte of thes Bath worketh more temperatelye and pleasantipe (as he writeth) then the o ther. And albeit that it maketh not logreat spede in cure of such as resort butout for helpe, pet it dealeth moze effectuallye and ca. modicully then those in Somerset Chyzerand inferre withall leffe grienous accidentes, in y restreyning of natural issues, stregthening the affebeled members, ailifing the lynelye forces, disperling annoious oppilations, and qualifying of fundap griefes, as experience hath oft conffirmed. The like vertues have the other two, but not in such measure and degræ, and therefore their operation is not so speedily percepued. TWARM.

The fourth and last place of our Wathen, is a Citie in Sommerlet thire, which taketh his name of hote waters there to be french vico. At the first it was called Cair bledno not Cair Bledune, as some woulde haue it, for that is the olde name of pauncient callel at Halmelbury, which the Sarons named Ingleburne. Prolomy afterivares callent Therme, other Aquæ folis, but nowe it hight generally Bathe in Englishe, & breier that name it is likely to cotinue. The tity of itself is a very aunciet thing, no doubt as map put appeare by dyners notable antiquities in graned in fione, to bestene in the walles thereof. And first of all betweene the fouth g, ate and the welf, and best wife the freel gade ar, to the riozth. named to Alexander

The first is the antif mechease of a man, ma de all flatte, with recent lockies of beiet, mut blike to the coint; that I 'gave fement' Anthus the Romaine. The fer onde betwiene the fouth a the north gate is an pringe as I take it of Hercules, for he helde liteach halio a screent, to bothy this. Tharvely there standethaman on for te with a fworde in his one band, ta buckle e fretche mont in the other. There is also al maunch that lyeth footand & wrethed into circles, like to the wreath of Ale cimedon. There are more one'r two naked 3. mages, wherefthe one imbraceth the other, belide fundape antique heades, with ruffeled heire, a greve homoe running, and at hys taple certeine Komaine letters, but so defaced that no man living can reade them at this present. There is moreoner the ymage of Lacon, invironed with two ferpents, an other inscription, and all these betweene the fouth and the well gates, as 3 have tapp before.

now betweene the well a north gate are two interiptions of which fome wordes are culdent to he red, the relique are cleane octared. There is allo pymage of a naked man a a Cone in like fort, which bath cupidines et dabruscas intercurrentes, & a table paying at whe hand an ymage bined thinely floatlyed both about beneath. Finally (fapping that A laine aftermarde the ymage of a naked man grafping a ferpent in eache hand) there was an inteription of a tombe or burially inherein thele wordes did plainely appeare, yingt anrios, x a what to defutedly waitten, that letters Awder for lubole wordes 2 and this or the letters combined into one . Ceriss & will not lave whether thele work for into the places where they no me france by the Gen. tiles or, brought, thither from other ruings of the tolongic leife, t placed afferwards in thate wallen in their necessar reparatious. But how were the Antien Comethible 1940 be gathered by our hydrogeration is being a first buyines their exist there and peraduate arenture might allo kinglether and burque commission specificate to bosses continuelly so in the houndarafiletimerus; by in hich occasion p lpzing sthereamout did in processe offine georgi sonunidatificupi dien pasoci umobed. thirds of inflates Independent Pagames Presence that Mirrerya ines inchiefe goodes and your melle bit thefe meters because of theneerements of his temple into the lame. Solitius addered for thermore, home that in shir laybe temple, the five inhirings; conti, Cap.24. nually exept, owne ner confume into deade Sparoles, but to fonces, the embers thereof imere colde, they congested interiors of hard Cone, ait subjet 3 take to be nothing else the the effecte of the aforelayin fyre, of the Soul opharous baine: kindled motherearth : from inherice the maters noe content that these has thes de waters are derived from such so the Parchalites & frones mired with some soppersand daily founde but the mountagnes thereabout will beare inflictent witnesse,

allor o

though I would write thusantrary! Donor eag. . Lurner allo the father of Englith Philicipe, and

The Seconde Booke

and an ercellen Diuine, supposeth that these furings ove drawe theyr forces from Sulphur, or if their be any other thing mingled withall, he gesteth that it choulde be salt pes ter, because he founde an obscure likelyhode of p fame, even in the croffe Bath. But that they participate in any allume at al, he could neuer til his oping day, be induced to beleue. I myght here if I thought it necessary, its treat of b notable leituation of Bath it lelf, which Candeth in a pleasant botome, enuironed on every five with great hilles, out of the which come so many springs of pure was ter by sundape wapes but the Titpe, and in such abundance as that every house is serued with the same by pypes of leade, the said metall being the plentious and lette of value bnto them, because it is had not far of from these quarters. It should not be ampse also to speake of b foure gates, number of parith churches, bridges, religious houles distalued, and their founders, if place doe ferue there. fore: but for so much as my purpose is not to deale in this behalfe, I will omit the mention of their thinges, and go in hand with the Bathes themselves, whereof in thys chapiter I protested to intreate.

There are two springes of water as Les lande lapth, in the west south west part of the towns whereof the biggest is called the crosse Bath, of a certeine crossethat was e reacd lowetime in the middless thereof. This Bath is much frequented by such as are disealed with leapth, pockes, leables, e great aches: pet of it selfe it is very temperate, & pleasaunt, having a leven of twelve arches of stone in the spoes thereof, for men to fland binder, when rapine disth oughts annop

Wathe.

The common Bathe, or as some call it, the hote Bathe, is two hundzeth forte, oz ther about from the croffe Bathe lefte in copaste within the wall then the other, and with onle seauen arches, wrought out of the mavne inclosure. It is worthilp called & hote Bath, for at the first comming into it, menthinke that it would scald their flesh, and lose it fro the bone: but after a leason, and that the bodyes of the commers thereto be warmed thosowive in the same, it is more tollers, ble feasie to be borne. Bothe these Bathes be in the middle of a little freate, and iopne to s. Thomas Hospitall, so that it mape bee thought that Reginalde Bythop of Bathe, made his house niere to these comon Baths, onely to fuccour fuch poze people as thoulde refort buto them.

The Kings Bathe is very faire and large. standing almost in the middle of the towne, at the west ende of the Cathedrall Church. At is compassed about with a very high fience wall, and the beimmes thereof are niured rounde about, where in be two an thirtie ara ches for men and women to stande in seper rately, who beyng of h gentry for the most part. doe resort thither indifferently but not in fuch lacciutous fort, as onto other Bathes Hotches more a greate deale, then modely thould recommiss little bis s hote houles of b maine, wherof some write fes min ueale, and honesty performe. There went a ter thm fule out of this Bath, which ferued in times bordile past the Pariory with water, which was des rined out of it buto two places, and commonive bled for Bathes, but nowe 3 does not thinke that they remaine in blage. As for the colour of the water of all the Bar Colour thes, it is most like to a deepe blewe, and resthe want keth much after the manner of a sething of the s potte, commonly pælding somewhat a suls thes. pherustalte, and very bupleasant sauour. The water that runneth from the two small Bathes, goeth by a dyke into the Auon by West, and beneath the Bzioge, but the fame that goeth from the Kings Bathe ture Callot neth a myland after goeth into Auon about water, Bath bridg, where it loseth both force a task. t is like but the rest. In all the three Baths a man may enidently fee how the water but beleth by from the springes. This is also to fall ni be noted that at certaine times all entraunt fucoff ces into them is bitcrly prohibited, that is to water. lay at highe none and midnight, for at those two fealons & a while before and after, they boyle very feruently, and become so hote, that no man is able to induce their heate, oz any while fustaine their force and behement working. They purge themselves further moze from all such filth as the dyleased doe leave in eache of them , wherefore we boe forbeare the rathe entraunce into them - at that time, & so much the rather for that in , wolde not by contraction of any new diseases. departe moze grieuoullye affected them ine came buto the citie, which is in viede arthing. that eche one thould regard. For the le canter they are commonly e that up from halfe and form houre after ten of the clocke in the fazenway into a to halfe an houre after one in the afternoun that a likewise at midnight: at which tyinks the season keper of them relozteth to his charge; uper neth the gates, and leaveth fre passage tinto fuch as come onto them, hytherto Lelaunck what cost hath of late beine bestowed sipoli these Bathes, by divers of the Pobility, gin tro, comonalty and clergo, it lieth nechin me to declare, pet as I here they are not until berpe much repaired and garnified, whith fundep curious pieces of workemanthippie, partely touching their commendation, and partily for the case and benefite of such as reforte untothem: but alfo better ordered. clentier kept, and more friendly proution made for fuch poperty as neither cepaire ther ther . But noting than dinamil this such 15 the general chains of this articibath, that the rich menimap frenk whilesthenius a the pute begge to hitely they hill for their main tenaunce and oper to long pathepremains there. And yet Adony not but othere is bery and order there for all degrees in but twhere thall a man hub any rqual record of poses rich, though good or give thefe his aifts freis unto both alphe. I would be weint reate fur: ther of & cultomes bled in the la baths, what nüber of Philitions daily attendivon thoir maters, for no ma (especialin fuch sa he able to enterteine them) doth enter into these 13 ar thes before he confult with the Philitionials fo, what diet is to be observed, what particul lar discases are healed there is the inbat ende the comers thither doe dzinke, oftitimes of that medicinable liques, but the I Mondo en code the lymittes of a description, wherfore A valle it oner buto other haping that lome man ere long wyll bouchfafe to performe that at large, which the famous clarke Doc. ter Turner hath brefelp pet happily begun. touching the effects and working of the same. for hitherto I doe not knowe of manye that have transpled in the natures of those Was thes of our countrey, with any great commendation, much leffe of any that bath ref ucaled them at the full for the benefite of our nation, 02 commoditie of fraungers. 2 mil

Land to the lands ¶Of Parkes and Warrens. 1. Sono introduction Capital Capital

bus hominists care

Penery Chyse of Englande there is areat I plentpe of Parkes, whereof forme here and there appertaine buto the Paince the reato fuch of the Pobilitye and Gentlemen, as have their lands and patrimony lying niere onto y same. I would gladly have set pointe the full number of these inclosures, to his founde in enery countres, but lith A can not lo doe, it shall suffice to lay, that in theut and Effer only are to the number of arbundaed. where in great plentie of fallowa. Dere is thereford and kept. As for Wastens of Conies, I judge the almost incomerable to date ly like to increse, by real othat y black thins of those heal's are thought to countervalle, y prices of their nour carkates a this is the onely cause why the gray are lette estimate. Dere butg London their quythele marchaundife is of the yong rabets, inherfore &

oldericonies are brought frafarber of inhers there is no fuch freedy biserace of Mabbets is fucklings in their feelb mos for treat loffe by their litus dith them are fuffentill marrie in to their full us entuelle in their colonier at Dut Barkesiste menerally inslead with frong pale made mi what profinitely beinde of from there in constitute cherification from time in tyma in each and them; invelvious the mains tenamica of the sappe befonder and safe kiet bing of the Weirefranceaudains about the countrer. The circuite of these with fures in leke maner frontaine officiens a finalise of foure as fine moise and foundimenument leffeitherede Misco bie fiene libat fina of ground mempleyed buon that bayne como ditie which bringeth no maneriof traine in profit to the namer, fiththey combuly elains awaye their fields, neuentaking penny for the lame because dediction in england is neit ther haught max foulde by the right otimer, but maintained only for bys pleasure, to the no final decay of infliances, a diminution of mankinde. For inhere in times past, many large and weith occupiers; were dwelling within the compasse of some one parketand therby great, plenty of come a cattell foing sico to be have mongst them believe mose thyious procreation of humaine thee, where by the realme was alwates better furnished with ablemen to fernet be Advince in his ab faires: noive there is almost nothing kept but a lost of wilder fairings beafts; cherithen for pleasure and deliterand pet the above is (lipid deficous to enlarge those grammes, doe not let daily to take in more, afterway that we bave Already to great flore of propie in england, and that youth by mariging to lone doe nothing profits the countrep but fill it full of beauerseall union soca dinama musicaun on Certes if it be not one surfe of the Lordes The deto bane sin countrep continues in inchibite cate of the from the firmitume of stiankinge a litto the people is ivalkes and theologen of wolder beaffor , I the belleuc know not what imany. Dow many families tion of a kingdome allathele great and finall games (for to mott nepther is heepers call them have eaten op, are ther any man in hereafter to become jome men map rois borne to secure, but many moze lamet: fith there is the possesse the hope of refraint to be loked for in this be tone. half, but if a man inay prefetly give a gelle at & universality of this evill by contemplation inf the circumffances, he that fave at a last, that the twentieth parte of the realise is imployed boon Dereand Confes alreadil which fameth very much, if it be onely rome sidered of Mile had no Warkes in Englance before the comming of the Pormanes: who added this calamity also to the fernitade of tum seruilia opera subibunt.

5. Si talis minutus seruus fuerit, tamcito quamin forresta nostra locabitur, liber esto, omnesq; hos ex sumptibus nostris manutene-

6. Habeat etiam quilibet primarioru quolibet anno de nostra warda quam Michni Angli appellant, duos equos, vnum cum fella, alterum sine sella, vnū gladium quing; lanceas, vnum cuspide, vnum scutum & ducentos solidos argenti.

7. Mediocrium quilibet vnum equum, vna lanceam, vium scutum & 60, solidos argentic 8. Minutorum quilibet, vnam lanceam, v-nam arcubalistam & 15. solidos argenti. 9. Sint omnes tam primarij, quam medio cres, & minuti, immunes, liberi, & quieti alt omnibus prouincialibus fummonitionibus, & popularibus placitis, quæ Hundred laghe Angli dicunt, & ab omnibus armorū oneribus qued

Warfcot Angli dicunt & forincesis querelis. 10. Sint mediocrium & minutorum causa & earum correctiones tam criminalium quam ciulium per prouidam sapientiam & ratione primariorum Iudicate & decile: primariorum vero enormia si que fuerine (ne scelus aliquod remaneat inultum) nosmet in ira nostra regali puniemus.

. 11. Habeant hi quatuor vnam regalem potestatem (fahra nobis nostra presentia) quaterq; in anno generales foreitæ demonitrationes & viridis & veneris forisfactiones quas Muchehunt dicunt, vbi teneant omnes calumniam de materia aliqua tangente forestam, eantq; ad triplex Iudiciū quod Angli Ofgangfordell dicunt. Ita autem acquiratur illud triplex Iudicium. Accipiat secum quinque & sit iple fextus,& fic iurando acquirat triplex Iudicium, aut triplex iuramentum. Sed purgatio ignis nullatenus admittatur nisi vbi nuda veritas nequit aliter inuestigari.

12. Liberalis autem homo. 1. Pegen, modo crimen suum non sit inter mariora, habeat sidelem hominem qui possit pro eo iurare iuramentum.1. Ferathe: li autem non habet ipsemet iuret, nec pardonetur ei aliquod iuramentum.

13. Si aducna vel peregrinus qui de longinquo venerit sit calumpniatus de foresta, & talis est sua inopia vt no possit habere plegium ad primam calumniam, quale * nullus Anglus iudicare potest: tunc subeat captionem regis & ibi expectet quousque vadat ad iudicium ferri & aque: attamen si quis extraneo aut peregrino de longe venienti * fibi ipfi nocet fi aliquod iudiciū iudicauerint. 14. Quicunque coram primarios homines meos foreste in fasso testimonio steterit & vitius fuerit, non sit dignus imposteru stare aut portare testimoniu, quia legalitate suam perdidit,& pro culpa soluat regi decem solidos quos Dani vocant Halfehange, alias halfhang.

15. Si quis vimaliquă primarijs foreste meæ intulerit, si liberalis sit amittat libertatem & omnia sua, si villanus abscindatur dextra.

16. Si alteruter iterum peccauerit reus sit mortis.

17. Si quis cotra auté cu primario pugnauerit in plito, emendet secundu præcium sui ipsius quod Angli Pere & pite dicunt, & soluat Pere and primario quadraginta folidos.

18. Si pacem quis fregerit ante mediocres foreste quod dicunt Gethbreche emendet regi Gethbrech decem solidis.

19. Si quis mediocrium aliquem cum ira percusserit; emendetur prout interfectio feræ regalis mihi emendari folet.

-: 20. Si quis delinquens in foresta nostra capietur, poenas luet secundu modum & genus delicii.

21. Pena & forisfactio non vna eademque erit liberalis (quem Dani Elderman vocant) & Calderma illiberalis: domini & seru: noti & ignoti: nec vna eademq; erit causarum tum ciuilium tum criminaliu, feraru foreste, & ferarum regalium: Viridis & veneris tractatio: nā crimen veneris ab antiquo inter maiora & non inmerito numerabatur: viridis vero (fractione chacee nostre regalis excepta) ita pusillum & exiguum est, quod vix ea respicit nostra constitutio: qui in hoc tamen deliquerit, sit criminis forestæ

22. Si liber aliquis feram foreste fugerit, siuc casu, siue prehabita voluntate, ita vt cursu celeri cogatur fera anhelare, decem solidis regi emendet, siilliberalis dupliciter emendet, si seruus careat corio.

.23. Si vero horum aliquot interfecerit, soluat dupliciter & persoluat, sitque præcij sui reus contra regem.

24. Sed si regalem fera quam Angli à stag Staggon. gon appellant alteruter coegerit anhelare, alter per vnum annum, alter per duos careat lihertate naturali: si vero seruus, pro vtlegato habeatur quem Angli Frendlesman vocant.

25. Si vero occiderit, amittat liber scutum man. libertatis, si sit illiberalis careat libertate, si seruus vita.

26. Episcopi, Abbates & Barones mei non calumnibuntur pro venatione, si non regales feras occiderint: & si regales, reslabunt reiregi pro libito suo, sine certa emendatione.

27. Sunt aliæ (præter feras foreste) bestie, que duminter septa & sæpes foreste continentur, emendationi subiacent: quales sunt capreoli, lepores,& cuniculi. Sunt & alia quam plurima animalia que quanqua infra septa foreste viuunt, & oneri & cure mediocrium subiacet,

M.ij. foreste

frendel=

our nation, making men of the best lost fur. thermore to become kepers of their game. whilest they bus our the meante since upport the spayle of their examines; and daily onev the line of the same of the same and the same of the s families, top the sumintenance of their Clears ev. pertheniman and paradimposed in these times to be flately enough sithat conteined notat the leads egyht of teine bivelandes; that is fornamed nubred access tole families. or usaber have beene alivates called in some places of the Renime, carrucates or carre wards, of which tone was fufficient in olds time to maintaine an honest Deoman.

It hould keme that forcells have alwales beens had mid religiously preferned in thys Allande for the folace of the Prince, and the creation of his nobilities howest 3 read not that ruer they were inclosed moze then at this present or otherwise sences then by bliv al notes of finitacion, wherby their bounds were remembred from time to tyme for the better profernation of flicts beneep and vert of all leites as were nourthed in the lame. Identher areany of the auncient laties preferthed for their maintaphaunce before the dais of Canutus now to be had, lith time hath fo dealt with them, that they are perithed & loff. Camucus therfore feing the daily spoyde that was more in all places of his game, ope at the last make sundie Sandiens and De tres, whereby from thenecforth the red and fallow owre, were better looked onto thozow out his whole Dominios: Wie have in these dapes oluers forrelles in England Wales as Waltham forrelt, Minioz , Pickering, fecknam, Delamoje, Deane, Penrife, and many other nowe cleane out of my rememhanne, and which although they are facre greater in circuit then many Parckes and Warrennes, yet are they in this our tyme leffe denouvers of the people then thefe later, fith belive much tillage, many Cownes are the aforelappe inclosures, but it shall suffice at this time to have layde so much as is set bowne alreadie. blowbeit that I may reffoze one antiquitie to light, which hath hutherto Ipen as it were raked by in the embers of oblimon, I will grue out the same Lawes that Canutus made for his forrest, whereby mann thinges thall be disciosed concorning the lame (inherosperadueture some lawiers baue uo kimudeoge) ; diuers other notes gas thered touching the aircient effate of & realm for to be founde in other. But before I venie with the great charter, (which as you may perceptie is in trainy places imperat bureas for or courdens etept in by length of thine? not by me to be testaged) I will inote an other Voles law, which he made with first years de his beigne de woldiche der, and afterward whether and thele his latterious frations Canone 31, 1110 Degianteth thus in this course Saron toughter with that ele one see I will co and graum that eache one that be towarde " of fuch benedy as he by hunting contable eg. " ther in the playmes vy in the winds to with a fir his divite let opdominio (out of the forrest) " but eache man that abtrame from my benes " tie in energipland, where I will that my bew co Wes Gall-haus firme peace and quietnesse " opo paine to forfaid to much as a mair map " forfaid. Pothecto the statute made by the ai " fozelapde Canutus, which was afterwarde confirmed by king Cowarde furnamed the confessour in the fourth years of his reigns. Powfolloweth the great Charter it leffe in Latine, as I knoe it worde for worde, which the Mwoulde gladly have turned into Eng-Hill if it might have founded to any benefits of the bulkilfull and bulearned. 22 1

Incipiunt constitutiones Canutiregu de Forresta.

I I Æ sunt fanctiones de forresta, quas ego Canutus rex cum confilio primariorum hominum meorum condo & facio, ve cunetis regninostri Angliæ ecclesijs & pax & Institia fiat, & ve omnis delinquens fecundum modum delicii, & delinquentis fortunam patia-

1. Sint iam deinceps quatuor ex liberaliori- 19egent. bus hominibus qui habent saluas suas debitas consuetudines (quos Angli pegenet appella) in qualibet regni mei prouincia constituti, all Inflittim distribuendam vna cum pena merita & materijs forrestæ cuncto populo meo, cum Anglis quam Danis per totum regnum menth Angliæ, quos quatuor primarios forveltæ appellandos censemus. क अनिसम्बद्धाः देवाः भाषि

2 Sint sub quolibet horum, quatuor ex md Lespegni diocribus hominibus (quos Aligli Lelpegero, nuncupant, Dani vero poling men vocatie) & cati, qui curam & onus tum vilidis tum vene. ris suscipiant. File of the one and rous

3. In administranda autem Tulkicia muilkitel nus volo ve tales le intromittaire mediocrele tales post ferarum curam susceptain, prodibe ralibus semper habeantur, quos Dari Calver Cameni.

men spiellant.
4. Sub horum iterum quolibet sune duo Cinena. munutoru hominu ques Einchem Angli de degen.

fojathe.

founde in eache of them, whereas in Parkes and Warrens we have nothing elle then eb ther the kiepers lodge, or at the lest wife the manour place of the chiefe Lorde, commer of the loyle. I coulde lay moze of forrelles and

Bubali o-Irm in Anforeste tamen nequaqua censeri possunt, qualia funt equi, Bubali, vacca, & fimilia. Vulpes & Lupi, nec forestæ nec veneris habentur, & proinde corum interfectio nulli emendationi subjacet. Si tamen infra limites occiduntur, fractio sit regalis chacee, & mitius emendetur. Aper vero quanquam foreste sit nullatenus tamen animal veneris haberi est assuctus.

28. Bosco nec Subbosco nostro sine licentia primariorum forestæ nemo manum apponat, quod si quis fecerit reus sit fractionis regalis chacee.

29. Si quis vero Ilicem aut arborem aliquam qui victum feris suppeditat sciderit, preter fractionem regalis chacce, emendet regi viginti solidis.

30. Volo vt omnis liber homo pro libito suo habeat venerem siue viridem in planis suis super terras suas, sine chacea tamen. Et deuitent onne, meam, vbicunque eam habere vo-

31. Nullus mediocris habebit nec custodiet Greyhuds canes quos Angli Griebunds appellant. Liberali vero dum genuiscissio coruin facta fuerit coram primario foreste licebit, aut sine genuilcissione dum remoti sunt a limitibus forestæ per decem miliaria: quando vero proprius venerint, emendet quodlibet miliare vno folido Si veio infra septa foreste reperiatur, dominus canis forisfaciet & canem, & decem folidos regi.

Cleiter

Bam -

32. Velteres vero quos Zangeran appellant quia manifeste constat in ijs nihil este periculi, cuilibet licebit line gemiscissione cos custodire. Idem de cambus quos Rambundt vocant.

33. Quod fi cafu inaulpicato huiufinodi canes rabidi fiant & vbique vagantur negligentia dominorum, redduntur illiciti, & emēdetur regi pro illicitis. &c. Quod fi intra septa foresta reperiantur, talis exquiratur herus,& emendet secundum precium hominis medio-Cas, quod secundu legem merimorum est ducentorum follidorum.

34. Si Canis rabidus momorderit feră, tunc emendet secundum precium hominis liberalis quod est duodecies folidis centu. Si vero fera regalis morfa fuerit, reus fit maximi criminis.

And these are the constitutions of Canutus concerning the forcest very barbaroully traflated by those that twice the same in hande. Howbeit as I finde it to I fet it downe with out any alteration of my copie in any fote oz tytle.

> Of Wooddes and marrifes. Cap. 16.

Great a: bundince Good to Cometime m Eng. duct.

I shoulde sæme by auncient recordes, and I the tell imony of fundate authors, that the whole countries of Lhoegres and Cambria now England and Wales, have sometimes ben very well replenished with great woos and groves, although at this tyme the layde commoditie be not a little decaped in both. and in such wyle that a man thall oft ryde tenne or twentie myles in eache of them and finde very little of rather none at all, except it be neare onto townes, gentlemens houses and villages where the inhabitauntes have planted a few Elmes, Dacs, Halelles, 02 A. thes about their dwellings for their defence from the rough windes, and kieping of the stormie weather fro anopaunce of the same. This scarlitte at offirst grew as it is thought epther by the industrie of man, for main taynaunce of tillage (as we biderstand the lyke to be done of late by the Spaniaros in the Wielf Indes, where they fiered whole woodes of very great compasse thereby to come by groud wheron to fow their graines) or elle thorows the conetoulnesse of such as in preferring of pasture for their thepe and greater cattell, doe make small account of firebote and tymber: 03 finally by the cruel tic of the encintes, whereof we have sundzie eramples declared in our hystories. Howbes it where the reckes and quarry grounds are I take the swart of the earth to be so thinne, that no tree of anye greatnesse other then thaubbes & buthes is able to grow oz prosper long therein for want of fufficient moulture wher with to fiede them with fresh humour, of at the least wyle of mould, to theolod stap bpzight-and chearish the same in the blustes ring winters weather, till they may growe buto any greatuelle, and specad or pelo their rotes down right into the loyle about them: and this either is or map be one other cause, wherefore some places are naturally boyde of woode. But to procede, although I must nædes cofelle that there is god foze of great wood or tymber here and there, even nowe in some places of England, yet in our dayes it is farre valike to that pleatie, which our auncesters have some hertofore, when fates ly buylding was less in vic. For albeit that there were then greater nüber of mesuages 4 mansions almost in energ place, yet were their frames so lite and liender, that one meane dwelling house in our time is able to counternagle very many of them, if you confider the present charge with the plentie of timber that we bestow boon them. In times past men were contented to dwell in houses, buyloed of Sallow, Willow, plummetre, Pardebeame, and Clime, so that the vie of Die was in maner dedicated wholy buts churches, religious houses, Witness palaces

Boblemens lodgings and nauigation, but now all these are rejected and nothing but one any whit regarded: yet fe the chauge, for when our houses were buploed of Willlowe then had we Oken men, but nowe that our houles are come to be made of Dke-our much wer me are not only become willow, but a great many altogither of Aralu, which is a loze al, teratio. In those the courage of bowner was min man a sufficient defence to kepe the house in safe. nerthow tie, but now the affurance of the timber mult tha man- defende the man from robbing. Powe have brourage, we manye chimnyes and yet our tenders linges complaine of rewmes, catacres and voles, then had we none but reredoffes, and our heades did never ake. Hozas the smoke in those dayes was supposed to be a sufficient hardning for the timber of the house. foit was reputed a farre better medicine to kepe the godinan and his family from the quacke or pole, where with as then very few were acquainted. The have manye woodes, forrestes and parkes which cheriff tres abundantly, als though in the woodlande countries there is almost no hedge that hath not some store of the greatest fort, beside infinite numbers of heogerowes, groves, and springes, that are maintagned of purpole for the buylding and provision of such owners as doe posseste the same. Howbeit as enery soile both not bears all kindes of woo, so there is not any woo, park, hedgerow, groue, or forrest that is not mired with many, as Dke, Athe, Hatell, Halvthorne, Byrche, Beche, Hardbeame, Bull, Sozfe, wilde Cherrie, and fuch lyke, wherof Dke hath alwayes the preheminece as most méte for buyloing wherebuto it is referred. This tree bringeth forth also a profitable kinde of malt, whereby such as dwell neare buto the afozelayde places do cherishe and bring by innumerable herdes of fwine. In tyme of plentie of this mall, our redde and fallowe dere will not let to participate with our hogges, moze then our other nete, yea our common poultrie also if they may come buto them: but as this abundance ooth pione very pernicious buto the first, so the egges which these latter doe being foath bes the like lide blackeneue messer founde to breeve be have not seldome beene founde to breeve be were discassed by the large and seldome. I might adde in lyke sort the seldome. he tender profite insuing by the barke of this woode, clades of wherof our tanners have great ble in drefling of leather, and which they buy yearly in Pay by the fadame, as I have oft sene, but it thall not neede at this time to enter into any such discourse, only this I wish that our sole

s opper lethering, may have their due time and not be hafted on by extraordinarie lightes, as with Athe barche. cc. Whereby as 3 graunt that it læmeth outwardly to be very thicke and wel done, so if you respect the ladnelle thereof, it both prome in the ende to be bery hollow and not able to holde out water, Df Elme I have not fæneany great ffoze togither in woodes or forreites, but where they have beene first planted and then suffer red to spreade at their owne willes. Det have A knowen great woodes of Beches Hafell in many places, especially in Barckelbuze, Drfozdihyze and Buckinghamigyze, where they are greatlye cherithed, and converted buto funday bles by fuch as dwell about the. Alh commeth by enery where of it felferand with enery kinde of woode, and as we have very great plenty and no lette ble of thele in our hulbandzie, so are we not supthout the plane, the Aghe, the loste, the chell nutte, the line, the blacke cherte, and fuch like. And als though that we enjoye them not in logreat plentie now in molt places, as in times palt or the other afore remembred, yet have we sufficient of the all for our necessarie turnes and bles, especially of Alghe as may be seene betwirt Rotheram and Sheffilde, and some stedes of Bent also as I have beene infoze med. The Aftre, Frankencence, and Paine, we doe not altogither want, especially the fire, wherof we have some stoze in Chatley more in Warbychyre, Stychydre, Anders nelle, and a molle nière Pancheller, As for the Franckencente & Pine, they baile beite planted in Colledges, and Clopiters, by the the cleargie and religious in tymes paff, wherefoze in my opinion we may rather, lay that we want the altogither, for ercept thep bydgrowe naturally that by force, I fee no cause why they thouse be accounted to a par cell of our comodities. I might here take oc calion to speke of the great fales yerly made of wod, wherby an infinite deale bath beine destroyed within these few peres, but I give *Chis geoner to deale in this behalfe, holbbeit thes & tleman dare affirme that if woodes doe go to fait to caught decay in the nert hundred years of grace as heate with they have done a are like to doe in this (lome, this lose tymes for increale of thene walkes, & fome loade & he maintaynaunce of prodigalitie & pompe, for was faine have known a * gentlema that hath borne Rome for thie score at once in one paire of galigatos philicke, to thew his fregth & branery it is to be fear yet it could red that brome, turfe, gal, heth, firje, brakes, not faue whinnes, ling, dies, hallocks, flags, fraw his life, but fedge riche ruft s forcels will be an in the must sedge, réde, rush, & seacole will be god mar, nédes die chaoize even in the citie of Londo, wher brito homes tome of them alreadie value gotten readie warden. P.lij. vallage passage taken by their Innes in the greatest marchamites parlers. A man woulde thincke that our lawes were able prough to make sufficiet promision for predrette of this erroz, and enormitic linely to infue: but fuch is the nature of our country men, y as many tawes are made, to thep wil kepe none, or if they be beged to make aunswere they woll rather like some croked construction there of to the encrease of their private gaine, then pcloe themselfes willing to be guided by the tame, for a common wealth and profite : fo that in the ende, what some the lawe sapeth we will have our willes, whereby the whole, some oximances of p prince are contemned. the travaile of the nobilitie and counsellours as it were occioed, the common wealth im, powerthed, and a fewe only inriched by this peruerle dealing: whereas many thoulande rersons doc lutter hinderance, by this their croked behaviour, whereby the wholesome lawes of the Prince are oft defrauded, the god nicahing maichrate in confultation as bout the common wealth seduced. I woulde without I might line no longer then to fee four c'thunges in thes lande retormed. That is, the want of oiscipline in the church. The couctous dealing of most of our marchants. in the preferment of other countries, & hinderance of their owne. The holding of faires a markets byon the fondale, to be abolifico and referred to the weomeldayes. And that curry man with in what foener foile entop. eth foure Acres of lande (and bywards after that rate) either by fre dede, 02 coppie bold, o; fix farme, might plant one Acre of wod.01 fow the same with mall, beside that which rei marneth already to be cherished & kept. But 3 feare me that 3 thould then live to long # so long that I should eyther be weary of the worlde, or the world of me, tyet they are not such things, but they may easily be brought to passe.

92

Corres enery finall occasion in my time is inough to cut downe a great wood, centry trific sufficth to lave infinite Acres of come ground onto pasture. As for & taking downe of houses, a small fine will beare out a great manye. Moulde to God we might once take erample of the Romaines, who in restreint of superfluous grasinge made an eractimis tation, how many head of Cattel eche effate ninght kæpe, and what numbers of Acres Coulde suffise, for that and other purposes, neprher was wode ener better cherished oz mancion houses maintained, then by their lawes and flatutes. But what doe I meane to speake of these sth my purpose is onely to talke of wwos: well take this then for a final conclusion in wodes, that within this fortie yeares, we shall have little newe Timber, growing above two and fortie yeares olde, for it is comonly liene that those yong stables which we leave standing, at one and twenty yeres fallare binally at the next sale cut downe, without any daunger of the state, seeme for sire bote, if it please the owner, to burne them.

Mariles and Fermy Bogges we have mas Warden ny in England, but moze in Wales, if you Fennes. have respect buto the severall quantities of y countries, howbeit as they are very profis table, in comer half of the yere, to are a number ber of them to small commoditie in the winter part, as common experience both teath, yet this I find of many of thele mozes, that in times past they have beine harder grond, and fundage of them well replenished with great woods, that now are bopde of bulbes: and for example hereof, we maye le the try all (befores the rotes that are daily found in the depes of Ponemouth, where turfe is dig. ged, also in Wlates, Abergepny, and Perios neth)in funday parts of Lancalthyze, where the people go but othis days into their Fennes, and Pariles with long spittes, which they dathe here and there, by to the verye cronge into the grounde, in which practile, (a thinge commonly done in winter) if they happen to imite bpon a tre oz blocke, they note the place, and about haruest time, when the ground is at the driest, they come agains and get it bppe, and afterwarde carrying it home, applye it to their bles. The lyke doe they in Shroppelhyze with fire wode; which hath beine felled in olde time, wyth, in leauen miles of Salop, to me of them for lishipe suppose the same to have igen there fith Poics floud: and other more fonde then the rest, imagine them to growe, even in the places where they finde them, without all consideration, that in times past, the most parte, if not all Lhoegres and Cambria was generally replenished with wode, which being felled or overthrowne, byon fundry oc. calions, was left lying in some places still on the grounde, and in procede of time, became to be quite overgrowen with earth and monldes, which mouldes, wanting their due sadnesse, are nowe turned into mozy plots, whereby it commeth to passe also, that great plentye of water commeth betweene the new loce (wart and the olde hard earth, that being drawne awaie, might some leaue a drie loyle to the great lucre and acuantage of the owner. We find in our histories, that Lincolne, was sometime buyloed by Lud, brother to Callibillane, who called it Cair

Ludcoite of the great floze of wodes, that environed the same, but now the comodity is otterly decayed there, so that if Lud were as live agains in our time, he woulde nor call it his Citie in § wode, but rather his towns in § plaines: for the wood Any, is wasted altor gither about § same, the his called § peke, were in lyke fort named Penmith Coit, that is, the woody hiles, but howe much wode is now to be seen in those places; let him that hath being there testifie, if he liste, so I here of none by such as travayle that waye, and a thus much of wodes and marises, and so farre as I can deale with the same.

¶ Of the Antiquities, or auncient Coines found in England. Cap.17.

Having take some occasion to speak here and there in thes treatise of Antiquis ties, it chall not be ample to deale pet moze in this chapter, with some of them apart, & by themselves, whereby the secure authoris rie of the Romaines over thys Mand mape in some cases moze manifestly appere. Foz such was they? possession of this Islande on this lide of the Aynethat they helde not one of two of a fewe places onely under there subjection, but all the whole countrey from east the to well, from the Apne to the Wife tilhsea, so that there was no region bopo of they, governaunce, notheythifanding that butil the death of Lucius & extinction of his issue, they did permit & successors of Lud & Cimbalyne to reigne & rule amongst the; though binder a certeine tribute, as else where I have occlared. The chief cause that begethme to speake of Antiquities, is the paines that I have taken to gather great numbers of them togither, entending if ener my Chronology hal happe to come abroad; to let downe the linely protrattures of energ Emperour ingraved in the same sallo the fae ces of Pompey, Crassus, the seamen kinges of the romaines, Cicero and divers other which I have provided ready for the purpole, belive the monuments & lively Amages of fundage Philosophers, and Linges of thys Islande, lithens the time of Edwards the confessoz, whereof although presently A want a sewe, get I doe not doubt but to obtaine them all, if eyther friendelhip oz money Chall be able to prevaile. But as it hath done hetherto, fo the charges to be employed, byon these bear len or coper Images, will hereafter put by the impression of my boke, whereby it maye come to palle, that long travaile thall some prome to be spent in vaine, and much cost come to very small successe, whereof pet 3 force not greatly, lith by this meanes, I have reaped some commodifie bitto my felfe, by fearching of the histories, which often my milite lioze of ermaples, ready to be bled as oceasion chaltrompell me. But to procede with any purpole. Before the comming of the Konnains, thes was a kind of copper money currant here in bystemens Calar confelleth in f fith boke of his comentaries, whereato he addeth a report of certains rings of a propostionate weight, which they vied in his time, in fred likewise of money. But as bes therto it bath not beine my lucke to have the certeine viewe of any of thele-lo after the co. ming of & Romaines, they inforced by to a bandon day owne and receive such imperiall coine jas for the payment of Legions was daily brought over onto bs. What comes b romaines had it is calle to be knowne, & fro time to hime much of it is founde in mappe places of this gliance, as well of Golde and Silver, na of copper, bralle, and other mettall, much toke diele, almost of cucry Emperour , fothat I account it no rare thong to have of the Romaine copie, albeit, that it fil represent an omage of our captinity, a maye be a god admonition for bis, to take heeve howe we relae our selves to the regiment of fraungers. Of the froze of these montes, found bronthe Bentilhe coalt, I have alreas by made mencion, in the description of Riche bosowe, and chapiter of Ides Adiacent buto the Brittich Albion, and there Hewed also howe limple fither men have had plentye of them, and that the very conves in making: profers and holes to brede in, have icraped them out of the grounde in very great abune dance. In speaking also as S. Albanes, in the chapter of townes and villages, I have not omitted to tell what plenty of these copnes have beene gathered thereswherene I halt not nede here to repeate the fame againes Howbelt this is certaine, that the most part of all these Antiquities, to be founde with in the lande, a distant from the shore, are to be gotten eyther in the ruines of auncient Cte ties & Cownes decaped, of in inclosed botowes, where their legions acustomed some, time to winter, as by experience is daily confirmed. What froze hath beine fene of them in the citie of London, which they ralled Augusta, of the Legion that sofourned there, & likewise in Pozke named also Victrix, of the Legion, Victoria 02 (Altera Roma, because of beautie and fine buyloing of the same) I my selfe can partely withesse, that haue læne, and often had of them, if better tell imony were wating. The like I may af firme of Colchester, where those of Claudius Hadriane, Traiane, Vespasian and other, are oftentymes vlowed by 02 founde, by other meanes; also of Cantozbury, Andreschester. (now decayed) Kochester then called Duro brenum. Winchester and dinersother beponde the Thames, which for breuities lake I doe passe over in alenceronely the chiefe of all a where most are founde in dæde is nære bnto Carleon & Cairquent in Southwales, about Kenchester, thie mples aboue Bereforde, Aldbozow, Ancaster, Bramdon, Dodington, Cirnecheffer, Bincheffer, Cama. let Lacock opo Auon, Lincolne, Dozcheffer, Warwick, i Chester, where they are often had in berve great abundaunce. It fæmeth that Ancaster bath been a great thing, for mas no fouare & coloured pauemets, vaults, and arches are vet found , t oft lapde open by fuch as place and plowe in the fieldes about the fame, amongst thefe, one Erelby or Kole, bp, a plowma, dio ere bp not log fince a fone lpke a troughe couered wyth an other stone. wherein was great abundaunce of the afoze. savde cornes: the lyke also was seene not vet fourtie veare agone about Grantham: but in kong thenryes the eight has dayes an but banomanhad far better lucke at Barleffone, two miles from the afczelaid place, where he founde not only great those of this copne, but also an huge brade pot, and therein a large helmet of pure golde, rychely fretted woth pearle, fet with ail kindes of couly fones: he twhe uppeals cheanes much lyke buto beades ef liluer, all which, as beinglifa man might gelle any certaintie by their beautie) not likely to be long hidden, he presented to Quene Catherine then lying at Peterbo. row, and therewithall a few auncient rowles of Parchment written long agone, though fo befaced with mouldinelle, and rotten foz age. that no man coulde well holde them in hys hand without falling into peeces, much leffe reade them by reason of their blindnesse. In the beginning of the same kinges dayes also at Billey a man foud as he eared, an arming girdle, harnised with pure golde, sa great mally pomell with a crosse hilt for a sworde of the same mettalle, belide ftuddes and bars nesse for spurres, and the huge long spurres also of lyke fluffe, wherof doctor Ruthall got part into his handes. The bozowghes or buries whereof, I spake befoze, were certaine plots of ground, wherein the Romaine soul diours dyd ble to lye when they kept in the open ficioes as chosen places, from whence ther might have case accesse buto their ad. uerlaries, plany outrage were wrought or rebellien moued against them. And as these were the bluall abodes for those able Legios that ferried dayly in the warres, so had they other certaine habitations, for the olde am forworne fouldiours, whereby divers cities grewe in time to be replenished with Romaine colonie, as Cairleon, Colceller, Chefler, and fuch other, of which, Tolerfler bare the name of Colonia long tyme, and wherin A. Plautius builded a temple buto the goodes of bidozie (after the departure of Claudius) which Tacitus calleth Aram fempiterna dominationis, a parpetuall monument of that our Bzittish servitude. But to returne buto our bosowes they were generally inalled about worth from wailes, and so large in copalle that lome dud contagne thirtie, fourtie, thie score, or enghtie Acres of grounde within their limites: they had also divers gates or portes buto eache of them, and of these not a selve remapne to be seine in our time, as one for erample not far from great Chesterfoide in Ester, nière to the limites of Cambringthire, which I have often viewed, and wherein the compalle of the very wall with the places where the gates flode is easie to be discerned: the lyke also is to be fæne within two miles fouth of Burton, called the bozow hilles. In these therefoze and fuch lyke, is much of their copie also to be founde, and some pieces or other are daply taken oppe, which they call bosome pence, dwarfes mony, hegges pence, fetry groates, Jewes money and by other folithe names not worthie to be remembred. At the comming of the Sarons the Battons bled thele holdes as rescues for their cattell in the daps and night when their enemies were abrove; the lyke also dyd the Sarons agapute the Danes, by which occations (and nowe and then by carping of their fones to helpe for warde other buyldings niere at hand) midite of them were throwne bowne and befaced, which other wyle myght have continued for a longer time, and to your felues would fappf pou thoulde happen to perble the thicker nelle and maner of buylding of those walles e borowes. It is not long fince a filuer lau cer of verye auncient making, was founde nære to Saffron Malden, in the open fiela among the Stertbyzy hilles, and eared op by Subm a plough, but of such mally greatnesse, that it a plan weighed better then twentie ounces, as I where as have hearde reported, but pf I shoulde stand iven. in these thinges butill I had savde all that might be spoken of them, both by experience and testimonie of Lelande in his Commens taries of Witayne, and the report of divers pet liuing, I might make a greater chapter then woulde be cyther convenient og profitak ble to the reader: wherefore these chall serve the turne for this time that I have laybe als readie of antiquities founde within our 1 flande, especially of coone, whereas I pur posed chiefely to treate.

Of the Marueyles of Englande: Cap. 186

orich as have written of the wonders of Dour countrie in olde time have fooken no doubt of many things which deferue no cres nite at all, and therefore in fæking thanckes of their polieritie by their trauaple in thus behalfe, they have reaped the rewarde of just revioch, and in freade of fame purchased one to theselues, nought else but mere discredit in they better Treatises. The lyke commos ive happeneth also to such as in respect of incre doe publishe bupzofitable and pernicious bolumes, whereby they boe confume they? tomes in vagne, and in manifolde wole become presindicial buto their comon welthes: For my part therefore, having (I hope) the feare of God befoze my eyes, 3 purpose here to let downe no moze, the either I know inv selse to be true, or am credible informed to be fo, by fuch goody men, as to whom nothing is more deare then to speake the truth, & not any thing more odious then to defile them selves by lying. In writing therefore of the unders wonders of England, I finde that there are Eng- foure notable thinges, which for their rare nelle amongli the comon lost, are take for the foure mysacles & wonders of the lande. The first of these, is a vehement & strong wynde, which issueth out of certaine hilles called the Pekc, so violent a frong that certaine times if a man do cast in his cote oz cloake into the caue fro whence it issueth, it demeth & same backe againe hopfing it aloft into the open ayee with great force and behemencie. Df this also Giraldus speaketh. The seconde is the my: aculous franding or rather hanging of certaine fones opon the playne of Salis bury, wherof the place is called Stonehege, and to fay the truth, they may well be from dered at, not onely for the maner of polition, whereby they become very difficult to be nubered, but also for their greatmesse a strong maner of lying of some of them one opon an other, which sæmeth to be with saticle holde that fewe men go vnder them without feare of their present rupne. Howe and when these stones were brought thyther, as yet I can not reade, howbett it is most likely that they were rayled there by the Bzytons after the flaughter of their nobilitie at the readly banket, which Hengelt and his Sarons prontoed for them, where they were also buried and Clostigerme, their king apprehended & ledde away as captive: 3 have hearde that the like are to be feene in Arelande, but boto true it is as yet I can not learne: the report goeth also that these were brought from thence but by what thippe on the fea and cat page by lam, I thinke felomen can imagine. The third is anomple and large hole under the ground, which some rall Carcer Eoli, but in English Chescerhole, whereinto many men baue en trevand walked very farre. Howbeit, as the pallage is languand nothing nophonic fo di wers that have adventured to go into h fame coulde never as vet find the end of that way. nepther le saup other thing then partie rive reites and fireames, which they often crofs led as they went from place to place: Thys Chedderhole oz Cheder rocke, is in Somer letthpre, and thence the lapde waters runne til they meete with the secondare that riseth in Divky hole. The fourth is no lefte notae ble then any of the other, to, well warde up poncertaine bils a man thall fee the clowdes of raine gather togither in faire weather bu to a certaine thickenesse, & by & by to spreade themselues abzoade, and water their fieldes about them; as it were boon the lodaine, the raules of which dispersion, as they are otters ly buknowne, so many men consecure great Noze of water to be in those hilles, and very nere at hand, if it were needeful to be lought for. Belide thele foure marueples there is a litle rocky Alle in Aber barry (a tineret that falleth into the Sauerne fea) called Barry, which hath arist or clist next the first thore, whereunto if a man doe lay his eare, he Chall heare such noples as are commonly made in fmithes farges by clinching of pron barres. beating with hammers, blowing of bellow. ces, and fuch like, whereof the superfittions forte doe gather many toyes, as the gentiles opd it olde tyme of their lame God. Aulen nes potte. The river that rumeth by Ches fer chaungeth his chanel every moneth, the caule whereofas pet I cannot learne, neps ther both fivell by force of any lande flondes but by some behement winde, it oft overruneth hir banckes. In Snowbeny are two lakes, whereof one beareth a moucable 30 flande, which is carped to a fro as the winde bloweth, the other hath thie kindes of fithes in it, as eles, trolutes, e perches, but herein resteth the wonder, that all those have but one eye a peece onely, and the same scituate in the right five of their heades, & this I find to be confirmed by authours. There is a Well in the forrest of Guaresborow, whereof the fayd forrest both take the name, which in a certaine periode of time knowne, couer teth wod, fleth, leaves of tres, and molfe into harde Coite, without alteratio or chaunge

ing of thade! The lyke also is teene there in frogges wormes, and fuch lyke lyuma creatures as fall into the lame, & find no reade Mine. Of this fozing also Lelad writeth thus, a little aboue Warch, but at the farper bank of Ridde react as I came; A faire a wifell of monderfull nature-called Drowning inel. because the water thereof Distilleth out of great rockes harde by into it continuallye, which is to colde, and thereto of furh nature. that what thing socuer falleth out of procks into this pitte or groweth neere thereto. or be cast into it by mans hande, it turnething to frome. It maye be faith he, that some sand or other fine groud illusth out withis water. from these harde rockes, which cleaning but to these thynges, avuetb them in tyme the fourme of frome.sc. . In parte of the holles east southeast of Alderly, a myle fro langel wode, are stones daily founde, persitly fastic enco like cocles, and mighty Posters, which some dreame to have lyen there since & flows. In the cliftes betweene the blacke heade and Archardeth vate in Combal, is a certeine caue, where thinges appere lyke vmaces gilded, on the lides of the lame, which I take to be nothing else but the thining of & bright Die of copper a ther mettals, reop at had to be found ther, if any villigere were vied. How beit breanfe it is marueled at as a rarething 3 do not think it bumcte to be placed amogit our wonders. D. Guile had of late and Apli hath for ought y 3 knowe, a maner in Glo. celler syre, where certaine okes doe grow, whose rotes are verye harde from. And be lyde thys the grounde is so fertyll there as they lave, that if a man hewe a stake of anys wood, and pitche it into the grounde, it inpil growe and take roting beyond all expedation on. Is it any wonder think you to tel of lune dipe caues nære bnto Browham, on the west side of the rouer Apmote, wherein are balles, chambers, and al offices of boufhold. cut out of the harde rocke. If it be, then mape we increase the number of marucyles very much by the rehearfall of other alfo, for wee have many of plike, nere as of to Calaphes, bpo the bank of Clwp, and about the bead of Clendrath behan in Males, whereinto men hane often entered and walked, t yet founde nothing but large rowmes, & landy ground onder their fæte, and other elsewhere. But fichthefe thinges are not frange, 3 let them alone, and go forward with the rest.

In the parpthe of Landfarnam in wales, and in the fide of a from bil, is a place where in are foure and twentpe feates, bewen out of the barde rockes, but who did cut them, & to what ende, as yet it is not learned. As for the huge Come that lyeth at Pember, in Ourthern parith, and of the notable carkas that is affirmed to lye bnoer the same, there is no cause to touch it here, pet were it well done to have it removed thought were but onely to fee what it is, which the veovle have in lo greeat eltimation & reverence. There is also a pole in Logh Taw, among black mounteines in Wzeknocke flyze, (where as Some lave, is the head of Taw that commeth to Swanley) which hath fuch a property that it will bredeno fishe at all, and if any be cast into it, they dre without recoverve. There is also a Linux in Wales, which in the one tide beareth trolutes to reode as famons, and on the other which is the westerlye side, bery white and delicate.

There is a Well not farre frem frome Stratforde, which converteth many things into the Cone, and another in Wales, which is layde to double or trible, the force of any edge twle that is quenched in the same. In Argenia a percell of Wales, there is a no. ble Well, I meane in the parpth of kilken, which is of marucilous nature, for although it be fire mples from the Sea, it ebbeth and floweth, twife in one daye, alwayes ebbyng when the lea doth ble to flowe, & in flowing likewise when the sca both vie ebbe, whereof some doe fable, that this Well is lady & mps sterps of the Dccane. Pot far from thence also is a medicinable spring, called Schyi naunt of olde time, but nowe Wenefrides Mel, in the edges wherof doth bræde a very odoriferous and delectable motte, wherewith the heade of the smeller is marueylouslye refreshed. Other Welles we have lykewise, which at some times burst out into huge freames, though at other featons they run but very loftly, whereby the people gather fonce alteratio of estate to be at hand. Some of the greater foat also give over to rume at all in such times, whereof they concepue the like opinion. What the folish people dreame of the hell kettles, it is not worthy the rehere fall, pet to the ende the lewde opinion cons cepued of them, mare growe into contempt, I will lay thus much also of those pits. Ther are certeine pittes og rather the litte poles, a mple from Darlington, and a quarter of a mple distant from the These bankes, which p people call the Bettes of hell, or the Deuils ketteles, as if he thoulde feethe foules of fire full men and women in them: they adde alfo that the spirites have oft beine harde to crpe and yell about them, with other like talks favouring altogether of pagane infidelitye. The truth is a of this opinio also was Cuth. bert Tunsfall Bythop of Durham) that the

Colemines,

of the description of Britaine.

Colemines, in those places are kindled or if there or no coles, there may a mine of some other unauous matter be let on fire. which being here and there consumed, the earth falleth in, and so doth leave a pitte. In dede the water is nowe and then warme as thev fave, and belide that it is not clere, the new ple suppose them to be an hundred faddame depe, the byggest of them also hath an issue into the These. But prough of these wonpers least I doe some to be touched in thus description a thus much of the hel Bettles.

There is a Well in Darby flivze, called Diddeswell, whose water often sæmeth to rvle and fall, as the Sea which is fortye mile from it: doth blually acculfome to ebbe and flowe, and hereof an opinion is grow. en that it kepeth an ozdinary course, as the lea doth, how beit lith dyners are knowne to have watched the same, it may be y at some times it ryfeth but not continually, and that it so doth I am fallpe perswaded to belieue. But prough of the wonders left I do fæme by talking longer of them, wonderoughe to overshote my selfe, and forget howe much doth rest behynde of the dyscription of my countrep.

The thirde Booke of the historicall description of Brytaine, conteyning these chapters infuing.

Of the foode and dyet of thenglish.

Of their apparrell and attyre.

Of the Lawes of Englande, fithens hir first inhabitation.

Of degrees of people in the common wealth of Englande.

Of prouision made for the poore.

Of fundry kindes of punishment, prouided for offenders.

Of Sauage beaftes and Vermines. Of Cattell kept for profite.

Of wylde and tame Foules.

Of fishe visually taken vpon our coastes. Of Hawkes and rauenous Foules.

Of venimous Beaftes.

Of English Dogges. Of English Saffron.

Of quarries of Stone for buylding.

Of fundry Mineralles.

17. Of Salt made in Englande.

Of Mettalies.

19. Of precious Stones.

20. Of the Coynes of Englande.

Of our accompt of time, and hir parts. Of our maner of measuring the length and bredth of thinges.

23. Of English weightes.

24. Of liquide measures.

25. Of drie measures. 26. Of thorowfares.

> of the foode and diet of the Englishe Cap.1.

De scituation of our region, lying neere buto the north heate of our fromaches somewhat to increase, and become of greater force wherefore our bodies doe crave some what moze ample nourishment, then the inhabitantes of the hotter regions are accustomed withall: whose dygostyne force is not altogither so behement, because they? internal heate is not fo frong as ours, which is kept in by the colonesse of the aprethat from time to tyme especially in winter

both enuiron our bodies. It is no marueple therfore that our tables are oftetimes moze pletifully garnified the those of other nations, this trade bath continued with bs even lithence the very beginning, for before the Komaines founde out & knowe the wave but our country, our predecellours fedde largely bpon flethe & milke, whereofthere was great abundance in thys Ille, because they applyed their chief Audies buto pasturage and feeding. After this mas ner also did our Welch Beptons oeder thes selves in they, dyet so long as they lived as themselves, but after they became to be bus ted & made equal with the English, they fra med their appetites to live after our maner, so that at thys day there is very little diffe. rence betweene vs in our drets. In olde time the north Brytons did give themselves generally to great abstinence, and in tyme of warres their fouldiours would often fæde but once or twice at the most in two or three daves, especially if they helde themselves in fecrete, or coulde have no issue out of thep? Bogges and marples, thosowe the presence of the entimie. In this penurye also they bled to creepe into the water or morth plots by bnto the chinnes, and there remaine a long tyme, only to qualify the heates of their Co. mackes by violence, which other works mould baue wrought and beine readpe to oppresse them for hunger and want of full inance. In those daies likewise it was taken for a great offence amongst them, to eate eyther gole, hare, 02 henne, bicaule of a certaine inperiti cious opinion which they had concepued of Those them creatures, howbest after that the Komapnes had once founde an entraunce into this Idano, it was not long ere open thip. wzacke wacke was made of this religious observation, so that in processe of time, so well the 132ytons as & Romaines, gave over to make anye such difference in meates, as they had done befoze time. From thenceforth also buto our dayes, e even in this leason wherein we live, there is no restraint of any meate, eviber for religions sake, or publike order, but it is law full for every man to feede byon whatfocuer he is able to purchase, except it be bpon those dapes whereon eating of fleshe is especially forbioden, by the lawes of the realme, which order is taken only to the ende our numbers of cattell mave be the better increased, and that abundannce of fishe which the sea yeldeth, moze generally recepued. Belide this there is great confideration had in making of this law for the preservations the naup, & maintenaunce of convenient numbers of lea faryng men, both which woulde otherwyle greatize occape, is some meanes were not found, whereby they might be increased. But how fouer this case standeth, white meates, as milk, butter & chele, which were wont to be accouted of as one of the chiefe Capes thos rowout the Island, are now reputed as fode appertment only to the inferiour lost, why lest such as are more wealthie, doe feede bpe pon the flethe of all kindes of cattell accusto. med to be eaten, all fortes of fifthe taken bro our coaffes and in our fresherpuers . & such divertitie of wilde and tame foules as are erther bredde in our Mande or brought ouer buto be from other countries of the maine.

An number of dithes and change of meate. the nobilitie of Englande doe most ercede, lith there is no daye in maner that palleth o uer their heades, wherein thep have not one. ly befe, mutton, veale, lambe, kiode, pozke, confe, capon, pigge, or so many of these as the lealon peloeth: but also some postio of the redde og fallow dære, belide great varietie of filic and wildefowle, and thereto fundzie o ther delicates wherin the sweet hande of the Portingale is not wating: lo that for a man to dine with one of them, and to tast of energy dishe that Candeth befoze him (which fews ble to doe, but to feede uppon that him best lis keth for the time) is rather to pieloe unto a conspiracie with a great deale of meate foz the specie suppression of natural bealth, the to latisfic himselfe with a competent repast. to sustagne his lyfe withall. But as thes large fæding is not fæne in their geftes, no moze is it in their owne persons, foz lith the p have dayly much reloct buts their tables, (* many tymes buloked for) and thereto retayne great numbers of leruaunts, it is very requilite for them to be somewhat plentiful in this behalfe. The chiefe part lykewyle of their daply prouitio is brought in before the, e placed on their tables, whereaf when they baue také what it pleaseth the, the restis referued & afterward fent downe, to their feruing men & Waiters, who fed thereon in lyke fort with convenient moderatio, their revertion also being bestowed upo the poze, which lpe ready at their gates in great numbers to recepue the same. This is spoke of the chiefe tables whereat the nobleman, his ladie and questes are accustomed to sit, beside which they bave a certapne ordinarie allowaunce davly appointed for their halles, where the chiefe officers, and houlholde fernaunts, (foz all are not permitted to wayte bypon they? maister) & with them such inferiour guestes do fæde as are not of calling to affociate the noble mā himlelf: lo that belides thole afore mencioned which are called to the principall table, there are commonly fourtie or three score persons fed in those halles to the great reliefe of luch fragers, as oft be partakers thereof. As for drincke it is not blually let on the table in pottes of cruses, but each one calleth for a cup of fuch as he lifteth to have. oz as necessitie begeth him : so ý tohě he hath tasted of it he belivereth the curpe agains to some one of the Canders by, who making it cleane, restozeth it to the cubbozne fro whece he fetched the fame. By this occasion much pole tippling is furthermoze cut of, for whereas if the full pottes (houlde continual) lpe Cande nære the trencher, divers woulde alwayes be dealing with them, whereas now they drincke feldome only to anoide the note of great deinkers, or often troubling of p scruitours. Peuerthelesse in the noble mes halles, this older is not bled, nevther in and mans houle commonly bnoer the degree of a knight of Squire of great revenues. The gentlemen and marchant keepe much about one rate, and cache of them contenteth hime felfe with foure, or fine or fire diffes, when they have but small resorte, or peraduenture with one or two, or three at the most, when they have no firaungers to accompanie them at their owne table. And yet their lera uauntes have their of dinarge dyet affigned. belide fuch as is left at their matters bozdes. and not appointed to be brought thither the leconde time, which is often læne generally. in benison, or some especial diffe, whereon the Marchaunte man himselfe lyketh to fæde whe it is colde, or peraduenture is better to then yf it were warme or hote. To be thoat, at such time as the marchauntes doe make their ordinarie or voluntarie feaffs, it is a worlde to see what great provision is made of all maner of delicate meates, from curry quarter of the country, toberein belide that they are ofte comparable herein to the nobilitie of the lande, they will feldome res garde any thing that the butcher blually kilicth, but refeat the same as not worthie to come in place. In such cases also geliffes, conferues, suchettes, codinacs, marinilates, marchepaine, sugred bread, gingerbreade, flozentines, wildfowle, benison of all soztes. s outlandith confectios do generally beare p fwar, with other infinite deutles of our owne not pollible foz me to remember. But amog all these, the kinde of meate which is obtape ned with most difficultie is commonly taken for the most delicate, ther byon eache quest will sonest desire to feede. And as all estates noe ercede herein, (I meane for number of costly dithes) to these forget not to vie b like ercesse in wine, insomuch as there is no kind to be had (neither any where moze froze of al fortes then in Englad) wherofat such great metinges there is not some postion prous ded. Furthermoze when thele have bad their course which nature yeldeth, sunday soztes of artificial stuffe, imust in like maner succede in their turnes, belide Ale & beere which nes perthelelle beare the greatest brimt in brince hing, and are of lo many lottes & ages as if vicaleth the 15 wer to make them. The bere that is vied at noble mens tables is commoire of a yeare olde, (oz peraduenture of timo peres tunning or more, but this is not gel nerall) it is also brued in Warche & therefore called Marche bere, but for the housholdest is blually not bnder a monethes age, eache one coucting to have & same stale as he map fo that it be not foure, and his breade new as is possible, so that it be not hote. The arti ficer, and husbandman, make greatest accompt of such meate, as they maye somest come by and have it quicklyeft readie: their fode also consisteth principally in Biefe and fuch meate as the Butcher felleth, that is to fay Putton, Teale, Lamb, Pozke. cc. where of the Artificer findeth great foze in the markets adiopning, belide Soule, Bzawne, Bacon, Fruite, Pres of fruite, Faules of fundrie fortes, Chele, Butter, Egges. cc. as the other waterh it not at home, by his owne prouttion, which is at the best hande, & commonly least charge. In festing also this latter fort doe ercede after their maner : especially at Bzydales, purifications of women, and fuch like odde mætinges, where it is incredible to tell what meate is consumed and spent, eache one beinging such a dishe, or so many, as hys wyfe and he doe confult byon, but alwayes with this confideration that the læfer friende, chall have the bell intertaine ment. This also is commonly seene at these bankets, that the godman of the boule is not charged with any thing fauing bread, drinke, house rowne and fire. But the artificers in cities and good townes doe deale farre others wyle, for albeit that some of them doe suffer their faires to go oft before their claimes, & divers of the by making god cheare do him der themselves and other men, yet the wiscr fort can handle the matter well ynough in thele Junkettinges, and therefore their frue galitie defermeth commendation. To conclude both the articer and the hulbandman, are sufficiently liberall, and very friendly at their tables, and when they meete, they are to merie without malice, and plaine without inwarde craft & subtilty that it woulde doe a man god to be in companie among them. Herein onely are the inferiour lost to be blamed, that being thus assembled their talke is now and then such as savoureth of scurrilitie and rivaldape a thing naturally eincident to carters, & clownes, who thincke themselves not to be merie and welcome, of their folich vaines in this behalfe be never so little re-Arapned. This is mozeover to be added in their allembles, that if they happen to frume ble bpon a pece of benilon and a cup of wine or very frong bere or ale, which latter they commonly provide against their appointed dayes, they thincke their cheare forgreat, and theselues to have fared so well, as the Lorde I have Payor of London, with whome when their dined to bellies be full they will often make compa, well as rison. I might here talke somewhat of the Mayor. great filence that is bled at the tables of the honorable & wyfer fort, generally over all & realme, like wyle of the moderate cating and brinching that is dayly liene, and finally of the regard that eache one hath to keepe him. felle from the mote of farffetting and drance kennede, (for inhich cause salt meate except befe,bacon, and porke are not any white e fremed, and pet thele thee may not be much polodered) but as in rehearfall thereof A honio commende the noble man, marchant, and fengall artificer, fo I contoenot cleare the meaner lost of hulbandmen, and country inhabitaunts of very much babbling (creeps it be here and there some odde man) a nowe & then furfeting and drunkennesse, which they rather fall into for want of hede taking, the wilfully following or velighting in those errours of let minde and purpole. The breade thosowout the lande is made of fuch graine as the lople yeldeth, neverthelesse the gentilittle commoly provide themtelues lufficients

ly of wheate for their owne tables, whylest their houthold and pose neighbours are inforced to content themsclues with Rpe, 02

Barley, yea & in tyme of dearth with breade made cyther of beanes, pealon, og Dtes, og of al togither, of which scourge the porest oo somest tast, sith they are least able to provide themselves of better. I will not say that this extremitie is oft so well to be sæn in tyme of plentic, as of dearth but if I should I could cally bring my trial: for albeit that there be much more grounde eared nowe almost in es uerye place, then hath beine of late yeares, pet luch a price of corne continueth in eache towns and markets wythout any full cause, that the artificer and poze labozing man, is not able to reach but of but is driven to co, tent hymselse with horsecome, I meane, beanes, yeasen, otes, tares, and lintelles: and therefore it is a true prouerbe, and never fo will be no graine for pore mento fæde on, & some catterpillers there are that can sape so much already. Of breade made of wheat we tic, wherefthe first and most excellent is the manchet, which we commonly ecall white breade, in laim primarius panis, whereof Budeus also speaketh, in his first boke de aske.

The second is the cheate, or wheaton bread, to named because the colour thereof resems bieth the grave wheat, and out of this is the courfest of the beennes (viually called gurge, ous or pollaroc) taken. The raueled is a kinde of chete breade also, but it retepneth more of the groffe, and leffe of the pure subs stance of the wheate: and this beyng moze

Aciabily wrought by is vied in the houses of the nobilitie, and gentry onely, whereas the other is baked in cities and good townes of an appointed lise (according to such price as the coine both beare) by a statute provided in fortes, one baked up as it commeth from the inille, so that neyther the brennes nor the in the seconde place of nourishment. The or ther hath little or no floure left therein at al, howbeit he calleth it panem Cibarium, and it is not onely the luw. It and weakest of all the other fortes, but also appointed in olde tyme for fernants, and the inferiour hinde of peo.

ple. Dereunto likewise because it is divanto brickle withe working for it will hardely be made by handsomely into lones) some adde a at hand is well verified as now, that hunger letteth his first fanc first fote into the horse manger. If the world in shoife last a while after this rate, wheate and rpe maunger, Swhen the pouse dos fail to horsecoine have sundry sortes, daily brought to the tar

The fige of that behalfe. The next fort is named browne breade of the colour, of which we have two at all im= ked buto floure, are any whit diminished, thys Celsus in the con= called Autopirus panis. lib. 2. and putteth it trep ma: kets.

postion of the meale, whereby the rough div. nece or orie roughnece thereof is somewhat quallified, and then it is named millelen, that is bread made of mingled corne, albeit that druers doe mingle wheate and rye of purpose at the mille, & sell the same at the mar, kettes bnoer the afozesappe name.

An champeigne countryes much rye and Somme barly breade it eaten, but especially where wheater with the ate is scant and geson. As for the differ water rence that is betweene the fummer & winter bergran wheate, most hulbandmen knowe it not, sith in Engla they are neyther acquainted with summer wheat, noz winter barley: yet here and there I finde of both fortes, but in so small quantities, as that I dare not pronounce them to be any thing common among bs.

Dur deinke whole force and continuance Drincke is partly touched already, is made of barley, water, and hoppes, lodden and mingled to. gither, by the industry of our beaers, in a certaine crace proportion. But before our barley doe come unto their handes, it suffair neth great alteration, and is converted into mault, himaking wheref, I wil her let down mault, in such order, as my skill therein may extend mank onto, (for I am scarle a goo maultster) chief. lp for that forceme writers have attepted to describe the same of the making of our bere, wherein they have that so farre wyde as the quantity of ground was betweene thefelues and their marke. In the meane tyme beare with me gentle reaver, (3 beseich thæ) that leade the from the description of the plenty. full dvet of our countrey, but o the fonde reposte of a feruple trade, or rather from a tag ble delicately furnished, into a must ye mault house, but such is now thy hap, wherefore I praye the be contented.

Dur Mault is made of the best Barley, Makin which is theped in a cysterne, in greater 03 of mans less quantitye, by the space of thee dayes, and three nyghtes, untyll it be thorowelve foked. This being done the water is drape ned from it by lyttle and lyttle, tyll it be quite gone. Afterwarde they take it out, and laying it byon the cleane floure on a rounde heape, it refleth so butill it be ready to thots at the rote ende, which maltiters call comming. When it beginneth therefore to Anote in thus manier, they lave it is come, and then forthwith ther freade it abroade, first thick and afterwarde thinner and thinner bypon the layde llower (as it commeth) and there it loeth (with turning enery dave foure or five times) by the space of one and twenty dates at the least-the workernan not suffring it in any wife to take any heate, whereby the bud ende shoulde spire, that bringeth forth the of the description of Britaine. blade, and by which onerlight the maulte mouloc be spoyled, and come to small comos ditie. Withen it hath gone or bente turned fo iong boon the floure, they tatye it to a kull couerco with heire cloth, tohele flied avue it neutle heates after they have thieve it there very thinne abroad) till it be dive, and in the meane while they turne it often that it may be uniformly dried: Horthe more it be dryen the better the mault is, and the longer it will continue, whereas if it be not bived bowine (as they call it) but flackely handled; it livel beed a sind of worme; called a winel, which aroweth in the flower of the cothe, and in viocelle of time; will to eate out it felfe; that nothing that remaine of the graine but enen the rinde of hulke. The best midfilt is troed by the hardnesse ecolour, for it is all write luke a pece of chalke, after pour baile botten a kymell in funder in the middelf, then you may affure your felf y'it is obbed bottone. In fome places it is daped with wwite alone, 02 trawe alone, in other with woode and trate togither, but of all the Araboe dived is the most ercellent. Foz the wood dzved mault when it is bruce, believe that it is higher of collour, it both hurt and atmore the heave of him that is not bled thereto because of the lmoke. Such also as ble both friviffereth oo cleave and daye they wode to remove all moulture that thoulde procure the amount thys mault is in the feconde place, and with the same likewise, that which is made with diped fyzze, bzome, co. wheteas if they also be occupyed greene, they are in mammer fo preindiciall to the corne, authentions wode. And thus much of cur Paultes in banging whereof they grynde the same somewhat groleige, and in leithyng well the liquidir that thall be put onto it they about to everye nine quarters of mault one of heavecome, which coulfeth of funday grame, as wheate, Dies, Pealon.ac. They feeth they? wortal. so twife, that is once before they mathe, of mire it with the mault, and once after after, adding furthermoze buto this later fælling, a certeine number of englishe hops, (for the outlandilly are founde nowe to be the work) according to tohole quantitie, the continue aunce of the drinke is vetermined. For it it beth opon the hoppe, and lasteth to long as the force of the same continuety, which being ertinguished the drinke dyeth, and beckinkth of no balue. In this trade also our beners observe bery diligently the nature of the was ter which they daily occupye, tozall waters are not oflyke gwonesse in thes busyness, wherefore the oiligent workening both redenne the iniquity of that element, by chair

ging of his proportions, which trouble in ale cometime our onelye, but nowe taken idith many only for olde & fickmens drinke) is never feene nor harde of. Howbett as the beere well bruted and trale, is clere and well colouted as multavell of malueley, to our ale which is notat all by verye little covert, and without hoppes, is more thicke, fullome and of no luch continuance, which are their omable thunges, to be confidered in that ingnoz, but what for that. Certes I knowe tome ale knig been to much abouted there but to that they will illif ceate from inbrow of tyll euen , to bille thelame; clenling boute after house, till they beate themselves. Such fleights also have the alclottes for the otterraunce of this brinke, that they well mire it with rolen and falt, but if you beate a knyfe teobe botte, and quench it in the ate, to neere the bottome of the pot as you can put it you Mal lee the role hanging on the limite. As for the force of falt, it is well knowne by the effene, for the more the deminer fipleth & more he may, and is both he cary a bay bamben foule to bed with him, except his lucke be the better, but to my purpole. In some places of england, there is a kind of drink, made of ap Cioar. ples, which they call cidar or pomage, but y perry. of peares is named pirry. Certs thele 2. are very common in Bent, Morceller, & other steen, where these kindes of fruites doe abounce, howbelt they are not they anelye dipucke, at all tymes, but referred unto the velicate lostes of orinke; as Pethegin is in Wales, wherof the welchinen make no so the lefts accompt, then the Oreches old of they? glin. Ambrofia, oz Nectar, tobich for the pleatant nelle thereof, was fappoled to bee facty as the hoodelle theinfelines oid vie. There is a kind of fwith twall made allo in Citet, and by hers offer places, with Hony and water, which the countrey wines putting forme perper e alitele other spice among, call meane, spece.
verye guotin night opinish for fuch as thus to be four booker, other will it offereit to much from the true Pethegim, as chalke both from their. Ernely it is nothing elfe but the walking of the combes, tithe the bond is wading out, and one of the best things that A knowe belonging thereto is y they spent builliftle labour and lette con in making of the laine, and therefore no great lotte if it were neuel occupred. Helberto of the opet of my Countreys michine, and tonie what more at large

Petuduenture then mange meme will like of, wherefore I thinke good nowe to fynithe Thes chapter and to will I when I have an beon few order thinges incident unto that 31. C.18 111.

The Thirde Booke

which goeth before, whereby the whole procelle of the fame thall fully be delimered, and mp promise to my friend in this behalfe performed. Heretofore there hath beine much moze tyme fpent in eating and brincking the Leffe time commonly is in these dayes, for whereas of olde we had breakfactes in the forenone, be eating the nerages, or nuntions after dinner, & therto heretotope. rere suppers generally when it was tyme to go to reff (a toy brought in by hard Canutus) nowe these odde repastes thanked be Dod are verye well left, and eache one immaner (except bere and there some young hungry Comacke that cannot fact till Dinner tyme,) contenteth himtelfe with dinner and supper onely. The Pozmans millyking the gurmandise of Canutus, ordayned after their are rivalle, that no table monide be covered as bone once in the day which Duntington imputeth to their auarice: but in the ende either wering weary of their owne frugalitie, or fuffering the cockle of olde cultome to over; growe the good come of their news conficus tion, they fell to such libertie, that in often Canutus a fæding they furmounted Canutus furnames gloutton the haroy. Hoz wheras he couered his table, but thee or four times in the day, they freed Mornans their clothes five or fire tymes, and in fuch wife as I before rehearled. They brought in him in that also the custome of long and stately sitting at meate, which is not pet left, although it be a great expence of tyme, and waithpe reprehention. For the nobilitie gentlemen & marchant men, especially at great metings doe lit comonly till two or three of the clocke at afternone, so that with many it is an hard Long fit= matter, to ryle from the table to go to eugting repres ning praper, & returne from thence to come tyme prough to supper. For my part 3 am persuaded that the purpose of the Pormans at the first was to reduce the auncient Romaine order in feding once in the day, and towarde the evening as I have reade a noted. In dede the Romaines had such a cu-Come, and lykemplethe Gretians as maye appeare by the wordes of Socrates, who lapo unto & Atheniens Oriente sole consilium, occidente conviuium est cogitandum. Plato called the Siciliens monfters in that they be led to eate twife in the day. Among the Persians oncive the king dined when the some was at the highest, and chadolic of the side at the shortest: the reast (as it is reported) went alwayes to meate as their Komackes craved it. Dowbeit at the last they fell generally to allow of suppers toward the letting of the funne, bycaule they woulde have an their family to go to meate togither, where unto they woulde appopint their guelles to come at a certagne length of the Chadow, ta be percepued in their dialles, Their Caues in lyke fort were glad, when it grewed to the tenth fate for then were they fure some af ter to go to meate. In the feripture we read of many suppers and fewe dinnets, only for that dining was not greatly ved in Chailes tyme, but taken as a thing lately fpzong bps when pampering of the belly began to take holde, occasioned by volenelle and great a bundaunce of riches. It is pactic to note in Aurenall both be taunteth Marius for that be gave himself to drincking before the * winth Chat is houre of the day for thincking thee houres at the to be to little for the filling of his belly, he be the class, ganne commonly at eyght, which was an at after houre to some. Afterwards fire houres, one, ly were appointed to worke and confult in. and the other fire of the day to fiede & drinks in, as the Merle laveth.

Sex horæ tanto rebus tribuantur agendus, viuere postillas littera zethamonet,

But how Partial denided his day, and with him the whole trowpe of the learned and wi fer fort, these verses following doe more end bently declare.

Prima salutantes, atque altera continet horas, Li4.44 Exercet raucos tertia causidicos.

In quintam varios extendit Roma labores, 11 Sexta quies lassis, Septima finis erit. Sufficit in nonam nitidis octava paleitris, Imperat extructos frangere nonathoros Horalibellorum decima est Eupheme meoru, Temperat Ambrofias, cuin tua cura dapes.

Et bonus ethereo laxatur Nectare Casar, Ingentique tenet pocula parca manu, Tunc admitte iocos : gressu timet ire licentis

Ad matutinum nostra Thaleia Iouem. Thus we le how the auncient maner of the gentils was to feede but once in the day and that towarde night, till glotonie grewe on, and altered that god cultome. With bs the nobilitie, gentrie and fludents, doe ozdinarie lp go to dinner at aleauen befoze none, aut to supper at five, oz betweene five and fire at afternone. The marchaunts dine and suppe felogme befoze 12. at none, & fire at night & specially in London. The hulbandmen dine alfoat high none as they call it, thup at least upon or erght: but out of the terme in our the nucefities the fehwlers dine at tenne. As in the pozest fort they generally dure and four when they may to that to talke of their order of repair, it were but nedelelle matter,

Of our apparell and attire. Cap. 22000 220 11000

A Englithman indeciouring fometing Ato write of our attire, made landry plat formes for his purpole, supposing by some

them to kinde out one feedfast ground where, on to builde the fumment his discourse. But in the ende like an atatour, long without exrectic)when he fair what a difficult piece of with he had taken in handely be gave over his trancites, and onelyeasue the plantedf audico man, buto inhome he gauen pante of heares in the one harvest and anece of rioth in the other, to the enve he thoulo thave hisapparrell after fuch falhithe as hindelle liked, fith he could find eno kills of paratient that coulde please him any whyte togythen, and this he called an Englishman viceetins tips writer (etherwise being arka inverand vigracious priest) shelworthanselsecherent not to be voyde of indgement; fich the phais talficall follye of our nation is fuch sthat no forms of apparrell liketh belonger then the hrif garment is in the wearing, if it continue fo iong and be not lapoe ande to recevue some other trinket newly beutled by the ficle headded Taylours, who court to have feue rall trickes in cutting, thereby todzalu fond customers to more expense of money. Thos mp part A can tell better howe to inveigha gainst this encemities them describe out at tire: lithens luch is our mulabilities that to day there is none to the Spanishe quile 4 to mozowe the French topes are most fine and delectable, ere long no fuch apparell as that which is after the high Almaine fathiony by and by the Turkish maner is generally best liked of, otherwise the Mozischianimasiand the Barbarian fleues make fuch a comeine Cleffure, that except it were a over in a dubict, you hall not le anpe lo disquiled pas are my contry men of england. And as thefe fadios are divers, so like wife it is a worlde to so the confinence and the curiositie: the epcolle and the varitie: the pompe anothe byauery: the chaunge and the variety: and finally the ficlenesse and the folly that is in alivegrees : infomuch that nothing is more com fant in england then inconfigures of attire. Potther ca we be moze justly wirnered with any reproche, their inordinates behavious in apparrell, for which most nations decide be, as also for that we men doc feeme to bestowe mos con opon our artes e murhimoze then boun all the rest of our booles; as two men vo likewise upon their heads and Houlders. In women also it is most to be lancented, that they one now farre excéde the lightnesse of our men who neuerthelesse are transformed from the cap even to the very thoc) and fuch staring attire as in time past was supposed mete for none but light housewives onely; is now become an habit for chaff a fober mas trones. What should I say of their oublets with vendanut cooviles on the breaft full of tags and cues mitd flewes of funder colours, there galtigueous, couloured netherflocks, rand furt tothe ishereby their bodies are rareperdefolimed then commended. I have met with some of them in London so but disant feorthavit hath patted no skill to discerns delinther they there iten as fromen. Thus it is now come to palle, that wome are become mentradomen turined into inconfers a those godgiftes which almighte Goo hath gitten white victorizations out necellities will all not dethor up server of the all create are server ive to illustration of the state of the stat half thehasquian wed that in this behalfe dur findelle ico loke into that of Sodoma Eich, 164 and Danicha l'ulustrerrors votre pride es relle of viet abule of Gods benefits aburt bantly bestowed by on them; beside want of charitie toward the post and certaine other pointes which prophet hutteth op in lei dence. Cevite the commowealth can not be the lapte to: Avidhe where thele aboles reigne, but is rather oppressed by unreasonable eractions made boo farmers & tenants, where with to inmintappe the fame. Peither was it enermerher with Englands then when an Englishma was knowne by his owne cloth. and contented hintelf e with his fine cartie holey, and a means gop this coate; govent extrake of browne blewar pulse, with form verbe framitate of velue is fixte, a a voubblevot fande Watonic - ozbladke Weknet - oz other comelps Sulks without fuch gawrith couldies as use worne in these dapes, & new wer brought at but by the content of a french, who thinks the folies the gairst men, when they have mon overlities a chaunge of cow lours about them. I might here name a fort of hewes asinced for the nones, where with to please: fantafficall beades, as gwieturde grane the Devell in the header (I houlde fav the beogrand such like; but I passe them ours'thinciang it lufficient to have lavo thus numbofapparell generally, when nothing can particularly be spoken of any constancie thereofore the control of the desired and the section of the control of the desired and the desired and the control of the con

One Greek Lawes of England. off figuementer Cap: 3. milita bu

Ame gland dan ean franch i geleich i

In hat Samothes of Dis gave the first Samo-Lawes buto the Celtes (whole Hings thes. donne he erected about the fifteene of Aym, limite) the testimonye of Berosus, is professely ficient. For he not only affirmeth him to pube lity the same in the fourth of Ninus, but also addeth thereto, howe there lyned none in hys dayes of moze excellent wisdome, noz polic tike invention then he, whereof he was nas med Samothes, as foine other doe affyame. What his lawes were it is now altogrther viilatione, as most things of thesage, but that they were altered agains at the commo of Albion, no mácă absolutly denpisith new Lordes ble commonly to gone nelve lawes, cand conquerours abolify fuch as were in bie before them.

P. j.

The lyke also mave be affirmed of our With a notwyth and and that the certapne knowledge so well of the one as of the other is perithed, a nothing worthy memory left of all they? dopings. Domewhat pet we have of Mulinurius, inho not only, subdued such vein: ces as reigned in this land, but also brought the Realmeto god order, that long before had bene to me with civil discorde. With where his lawes are to be found, and which they be from othermens, no man lyuing in these papes is able to potermine. Certes there was never Brince in Bep. tepnes of whome his lubienes concepned bets ter hope in the beginning, then of Bladudus, and yet I reade of none that made fo ridicus lous an ende: in lyke forte there bath not reigned any Wonarche in thys 3fle, whose wapes were moze feared at h first, the those of Dunwallon, (king Henry the fift ercep, ted) t pet in the end he proued such a Pronce, as after hys death, there was in maner no subsecte, that did not lament his funerralles. And this only for his pollicy in governance. scuere administration of instice, and prouis dent framing of his lawes, and constitution ons. Wis people also coucting to continue his name unto posterity, intituled those his azdis naunces according to theyr maker, callying them by the name of the lawes of Mulmutius, which indured in erecution among the Wireland, folong as our homelpinges had the dominio of this Ille. Afterward when the Sarous had once obtepued the superfortie of the kingsome, the matelice of these laws fell for a time into such occape, that although non penitus cecidit, tamen potuit cecidise viderias Leland layth, and the lawes them. selues had otterive perished in dede at the very first bount had they not bene preserved in wales, where they remained amongst the reliques of the Biptons, and not onely butil the comming of the Pointans, but even bus till the time of Cowarde the first, who obteis ning the fourcinty of that postion, indeuous red to extinguishe those of Muhnutius, and to establishe his owne.

of Dun=

But as the Saros at their first arrivall did what ther coulds to abolifie the Byptishe lawes, to in processe of time they yielded a li-

the to relent and not so much to abhorre and willike of the lawes of Mulimitius, as to rerecepte and embrace the same, especially at fuch time as the Saxon princes entered in to ainitie with the Brittish Princes and af. ter that ionie in matrimome, with the Bry. tube Ladges. Occeofalfo it came to passe in the endes, that they were contented to make a choise and insert no small numbers of them into their dion bolumes, as may be gathered by those of Atherbert o great surnamed king of Ment, Inas & Alfrede, kinges of the well Sarons, and divers other peter tant to be fære. Such also was the lateinard elimation of them, that when anye of the Saren Princes went aboute to make anye newelawes, they caused those of Mulmutius which Gildas fametime translated into Latine, to be expounded buto them, and in thus perufail if they founde anye there alreadye framed, that might ferue their turnes, they forthwith revived the same, and annered them to their owne. But in this dealing, the diligence of Alfrede is most of all to be commended, who not include those out the best, but gathered togither all such inhatso ener the layde Mulmutius had made: & then to the ende they thoulde lye no moze in coze ners as fortome bokes and inknowne, he caused them to be turned into the Saran tongue, wherein they continued long after hys decealc. As for the Aormans, who net ther regarded the Brittiff, nor cared for the Saron lawes, they also at the first otterlye milliked of the, till at the last when they had well weighed that one kinds of regiment is not covenient for al peoples, that no frans ger beyng in a forriene Countrey newelp bzought bnoer obedience, coulde make such equall ordinaunces, as he might thereby gonerne his new conton wealth without some care of trouble: they fell in so touth a desire to fee by what rule the efface of the land was governed in time of the Sarons, that having peruled the lance, they not onch commended their maner of regiment, but also admitted a great part of their lawes, (nowe currant under the name of S. Cowardes laives, and vsed as principles and groundes) whereby they not onely qualified the rygoz of theyz owne, and mittigated their almost intolleras ble burden of feruitude which they had lates ly laybe open the Choulders of the English, but also left us a great number of Mulmutin lawes, whereit the most part are in vie to thus days as I fapoe, albeit that incknowe not certainly howe to diffinguish them from other, that are in Grengthamongit vs.

After Dunwallon , the nert laive gener was Martia whome Lelands surnameth Probat after him John bale also, who in hos Centuries doth tustely confesse himselfe to baue bone holpen by the fayde Leland, as 3 my felfe doe likewife for many thinges contemed in thys treatize. Shee was loyfe buto Sutteline king of & Baytons : Theing made protreatir of the realine, after hyr husbands peceale in the nonage of her tonne, and les ing many thinges daily to growe up among hir people worthy reformation, the deulfeo fundry and those very politike lawes, for the governaunce of hys kingdome, which hie subjectes when thee was deade and gone, did name the Pertian Catutes. Witho turned them into latine, as yet 3 doe not read, hows beit as I fato before of the lawes of Mulmus tius, so the same Alfrede caused those of thys excellently well learned Lady (whome dos uers comende also for hir great knowledge. in the Grake tong) to be turned into hos owne language, where byon it came to palle that they were vailye executed among bys subjectes, afterwarde allowed of (among the rest by the Posmans, and finally remaine in view their dayes, not with fanding that we cannot diffener them very rodily from Sansi da da Agri the other.

The 7. alteratio of lawes was veacifed by the Sarons, for I overpalle the lawes made by the Romaines, whose order do partly tea maine in publike notice : bnoer o names of the mercian, and the Saron Lawe. Beside these also I reade of the Danelawe, so that the people of middle england, were ruled by the people of missile england, were ruled by the leconde, as Cler, Postfolke, Suffolke, Cambridgibire, and part of Werford Apre-were by the third. of altherest the most inequal eintolierable. Among other things also vsed in the time of p Sarons, it that not be amplie to let downe the forme of their Devalian law, which they brought hither with them from beyonde the Scas, and vied onely in the tryall of giltye and bugiltinelic. Tertes it contepned notan ordinary proceeding by dapes and termes, as in the Civile and common lawe we lee practiced in these dayes but a chorte vispatch and tryall of the matter, by fpre, or water, whereof at this present A wil deliner the circumstance, as 3 have faithfully translated it out of an auncient volume, and conferred loyth a payinted copple, lately published by . Lambert, nowe extaunt to be redde.

The Debalian laith the aforeland authour, was a certaine maner of purgation bled two wapes, whereof the one was by fire, the other by water. In therecution of that which was done by fire, the party accused thouse go a certaine number of vaces, with an hote piece of year in his hande, or else bare forted bpon certaine plough thares, redde botte, ac. cording to the maner. This Fron was some time of one pounde weight, and then was it called fingle Ordalium, formetimes of thee, e then named treble, Ordalium, and wholoes ner did beare of freade on the fame without bart of his body; he was adiabated giltleffe, otherwyle if his ikin were scorched, he was forthwith condemned as gritp of the trespalle wherof he was accused.

-There were in lyke forte two kinds of tria all by f water, that is to lay, either by hote, or colde: a in this tryall the partye thought culpeable: was eyther tumbled into some pond, or huge bestell of color water, wherein if he continued for a lealon, without wrest. ling or Arugling for lyfe, he was forthwyth acquited as giltlesse of the face whereof his was accused; but if he begains to plunge, & labor once for breath immediately boon his falling into that lygour, he was by and by condemned, as gifty of the crime. De else he did thurs his arme to to the shoulder into a leadescoppers of Caloron of fething water, from whence if he withozewe the same with. out any maner of damage, he was dischart aed of farder molestation: otherwise he was taken for a trespaller, and punished accordingly. The fiery maner of purgation belonged onely to noble men and women and such as were free borne, but the busbandmen and villaines; were trued by water, whereof to theive the bulearned dealine and blonde ignoraunce of those times, it shall not be importiment to fet forth the whole maner, which continued here in England butill the time of King John, who feeping the manifold subtilities in the same, of oertinaush it altogither as flat lewbeneffe and bouerpe. The Rublik of htreatise enteroth thus. Here beginneth & execution of Aukice; whereby the guitie or bugiltie are tried by hote Iron. The ti followeth. After acculatio lawfully mabe. and the dayes spent in fasting and peaper. the Priese being clade in all his bolly be-Rures, faving his bestiment, thail take the Fron lande before the alter with a payze of tongues, and anging the himme of the three thildzen, that is to lave, D all vie wokes of Bod the Lords, and in latine Benedicire omnia opera, ic. he shall cary it sciently to b fire (already made for y purpole) a first fay their words over the place where have is kindled wherby this purgation thall be made in las tin as insueth. Benedic domine deus locum, istum vt sit nobis in eo sanitas, sanctitas, castitas, virte et victoria, et sanctimonia, humilitas, bonitas, lenitas, et plenitudo Legis, et obedictia deo patri et filio etspiritur sancto. Hec Benedictio, sit super hunc locum, et super omnes liabitantes in co, in English: Wiesse thou D. Lozde this place that it may be to be health holynesse, chastity, vertue, and victory, pures nesse, humilitie, godnesse, gentlenesse, and fulnesse of the laive, and obedience to God the father, the some, a the holy ghost. This blessing be upon this place, and all that divel in it. Then followesh the blessing of the fire. Domine deus, pater omnipotens lumen indeficiens, exaudinos, quia tu es conditor, omnium luminum. Benedic domine hoc lumen. quod ante sanctificatum est, qui illuminasti oinne hominem, venientem in hunc mundu. (vel mundum) et ab eo lumine accedamur igne claritatis tuæ, & sicut igne illuminasti. Mosen, ita nunc illumina corda nostra, et senfus nostros, vt ad vitam eternam, mereamur peruenire, per christum. &c. Lozd God father almightic, light encrialling, beare be, lith & art the maker of all lyghtes. Bleffe D Loin this light, y is already fandified in thy light, which half lightned all inen that come into the worlde, (or the whole worlde) to the ende that by the same lyght, we may be lightned with the chining of the brightnesse. As thou diodest lighten Doyles, sonowe illuminate our hearts, and our lenles, that we may des ferue to come to everlaiting lofe, those we Chaift our to. Thys beyng ended let bim fare the paternoster. &c. then these wordes. Salunm fac seraum &c. Mitte ei auxilium deus. &c. De Sion tuere eum. &c. Dominus vobiscu: &cc, that is . D Lorde faue thy fernant, ac. Sende him helpe D God fra thy holy place descride him out of Spon. ac. Lozde bere. ac. The Lorde be with you ec.

The prayer. Benedic domine sanctepater omnipotens deus, per inuocationem sanctistimi nominis tui, et per aduentum filij tui, atq; per donumfpiritus paracleti,ad manifellädum verum iudicium tuum, hoc gemis metallivet itt fanctificatum, et omni demonum falsitate procul remota, veritas veri iudicij tui sidelibus tuis manifeila fiat, per eundem dominum. &c. in Englishe. Bleffe we besiech the D Lorde, holy father, euerlasting God, thorome the muocation of thy most holy name, by the comming of thy forme, and gyft of the holy ghost, and to the manifestation of thy true indgement, this kinds of mettall, that being hallowed, and all fraudulent practies of the demis betterly remound, the manifest truth of thy true judgement, maye be reueas led, by the same Lorde Jesus te.

After this let the yron be layde into the fire, and if time led tith holy water, and whileft it hea-teth, let the Priest go to masse, and doe as order requireth, and when he bath received the host, he stall the man that is to be purged (as it is written hereafter) first adjuring him, and then permitting hym to communicate according to the maner.

The Diffice of the malle.

Influs es domine, &c. D Lozo theu art fust. ac.

The Paper.

A Bioluc que fumus domine delica famuli tui, vt a peccatorum suorum nexibus qua pro sua fragilitate contraxit, tua benignitate liberetur, & in hoc iudicio quo ad meruit iustitia tua praveniente, ad veritatis censuram peruenire mereatur, per Christum dominum. &c. That is. Pardon we besech thée D Lozde, the sinnes of thy servanut, that bes sing delinered from the burden of his offences, where with he is intangled, he may be cleared by thy benignitie, and in thys hys tryal (so farre as he hath deserved, thy mercy preventing him) he maye come to the knowledge of the truth, by chist our Lozde. et.

The Gospell. War.10. Nillo tépore, cum egressus esset lesus in via; procurrens quida genu flexo ante eum, rogabat eum dicens, Magister bone, quid faciam vt vitam eternam percipiä. Iehis antem dixit ei, quid me dicis bonum? &c. In those dapes when Jelus went forth towards lys four nep, t one meeting in him the way running, t knæling bito him, alked him laying. God Waiter what that I doe that I may possess eternall lyfe. Jefus lapo buto him, why calleft me god.tc. Then followeth the fecrete and so foorth all of the rest of the masse. But before the partye doth compounicate, the Pryest Iball vse these wordes vnto bym. Adiuro te perpatrem, & filium, & spiritum sanctum, & per veram christianitatem quam suscepisti, & per sanctas relliquias quæ in ista eccletia sunt, & per baptismum quo te sacerdos regeneravit vt non prefumas vllo modo communicare. neque accedere ad altare, fi hoc fecifii aut con fennih &c. 3 adure the by the father the some and the holy Shoft, by the true chaiftee dome which thou half recepued by the holly relliques which are in this Church, and by the baptisme, wherewith the Pricst hath re! generated the, that thou prefume not by as ny maner of meanes, to communicate, noz come about the aultar, if thou half done og consented buto thys, whereof thou art accus Sed. Here let the Priest suffer bim to communicate, saying. Corpus hoc, & sanguis do! mini nostri Iesu Christi, sit tibi ad probatione hodie. This body this bloud of our Loed Them Beins Chaiff, be onto the a tryall this days, yet in bit

The prayer. Perceptis domine deus noster facris muneribus, supplices deprecamur, ve huius participatio facramenti a proprijs nos reatibus expediat, & in famulo tuo veritatis fententiam declaret.&c. Pauing receaued D Lord God these holy misteries, we humbly belæche thæ that the participation of thys facrament, maye rydde bs of our guilty. nesse, and in this thy servaunt set footh the truth. Then shall followe Kyrieleson, the Letanye, and certayne Psalmes, and after all them Oremus, Let va prave, Deus qui per ignem figna magna oftendens Abraham puerum tuum deincendio Chaldeorum quibusdam pereuntibus eruisti, Deus qui rubum ardereante conspectum Moysis & minime comburi permisiti. Deus qui de incedio fornacis Chaldaicis plerisque succensis, tres pueros tuos illesos eduxisti. Deus qui incendio ignis populum Sodomæ inuoluens, Loth famulum tuu cum suis salute donasti, Deus qui in aduentu fancti spiritus tui, illustratione ignis fideles tuos ab infidelibus decreuisti. Ostede nobis in hoc prauitatis nostræ examine virtute eiusdem spiritus &c. Et per ignis huius feruorem discernere infideles, vt à tactu eius cui inquisitio agitur, conscius exhorrescat, & manus eius comburatur, innocens vero pœnitus illafus permaneat, &c. Deus cuius noticiam nulla vnquam secreta effugiunt, fidei nostrætua bonitate responde, & presta vt quisquis purgandi se gratia, hoc ignitum tulerit ferrum, vel absoluatur vt innocens vel noxius detegatur. &c.in Englishe thus. D God Which in showing great tokens by fire diddest deliner Abzaham thy servaunt fro the burnyng of p Chaldeis, whilest other perished. D god whis the full credit the bulle to burne, in y light of Poples, t pet not to consume. D God which delinereds the thie childie fro bodily harme in the Fornace of the Chaldies, whilest dy uers were consumed. D God which by fyze diodest wrap the people of Sodome in their destruction, and pet saueds Lot & his daugh. ters from peryll. D God which by the thyning of thy brighnesse at the comming of the holly ghou in likewyle of fire, diodest lepes rate the faithfull, from such as believed not: thew but os in & tryall of this sur wicked. nesse, the power of the same spirit.cc. And by heate of this fire descerne the faithful from the unfaithfull, that the giltie whole cause is nowe in tryall, by touching thereof, maye tremble and feare, and his hande be burned, or beying innocent, that he maye remaine in lafety. tc. D God fro whom no fecretes are bloden, let thy godnes answere to our faith, t graunt that wholoever in thes purgation, thall touch and beare thys 3ron, may either be treed an innocent, or reuealed as an offer Der. c. After this the Priest shall sprynckle the Iron wyth Holly water, saying. The bleffing of God, the Father, the Sonne, and the Holy gholt, be byon this Iron, to the revelation of the full indepenent of God. And foorthwith lette bym that is accused, beare it by the length of nyne foote, and then lette bis bande be wrapped and sealed uppe for the space of three dayes, after thys yf anye corruption or rance fleshe appeare where the Iron touched it, lette him be condenmed as guiltie: yf it be whole and founde, let hym give thankes to God. And thus much of the fierpe Ordalia, wherebnto that of the water bath so precyle relation, that in letting forth of the one, I have also described the other, wherefore it shall be but in vaine, to deale any farder withall. Hetherto also as I thinke, sufficiently of such lawes as were in ble before the conquest. Powe it resteth that I should declare the order of those, that have been made lith the comming of the Pozmás, but foz almuch as 3 am no lawier, e therfoze have but lyttle skyll to procede in the same accordingly, it thall suffice to set downe some generall dyscourse of such as are bled in our daies, and lo much as I have gathered by report and common here laye. We have therfore in Englad fundry lawes, and first of all the civile, bled in the chaunce. ry, admiraltie, and dyners other courtes, in some of which, the senere rygoz of Justice is often so mittigated by conscience, that dyners thinges are thereby made ease and tollerable, whyche otherwyle woulde appeare to be mere infurpe and extremity. We have also a great part of the Cannon laive daily practiced among be-especially in cales of tithes, contracts of matrimonp, and such lyke, as are blually to be some in the consistories of our Wishoppes, where the erercyle of the same is verye hotely followed. The third forte of lawes, that we follow, are our owne, and those alwaies so variable, and subject to alteration and change, that oft in one age, diners judgementes doe passe bpon one maner of calle, wherby the laying of the Woet

Tempora mutantur. on nor mutamur in illis.
maye very well be applyed vnto such as besying vzged with these wozdes in such a yeare of the Pzince this opinion was taken for sounde lawe, doe aunswere nothing else, but that the sudgement of our lawyers is nowe altered, so that they saye farre otherwyse. The regiment that we have therefore after our owne ordinaunces dependeth vpon Statute lawe, Common law, Customary law, Edzescription.

The first is delivered buto be by Warlia. ment, which court is the highest of all other. and conflitteth of thee severall sortes of pens ple that is to lay, the Pobility, Clergy, and commons of thys Realme, and there to is not lamoned, but bppon begent occasion when the prince doth le his time, and that by leveral writtes, dated commonly ful fire wækes before it begin to be holoen. Such lawes as are agreed bpo in the bigher house by the Lordes fpirituall and tempozall, and in the lower house by the commons and bo. ove of the realme, (wher of the connocation of the clearay bolden in Powles is a member,) there speaking by the mouth of the knights of the thire and burgedes, remaine in the ende to be confirmed by the Pzince, who commonly resozteth thither oppon the first and laste daies of thys court, there to bnderstande what is done, & give his royall consent to such estatutes as him lyketh of. Comming therefore thither into the higher house, and having taken his throne, the spear ker of the Parliament (for one is alwayes appoynted to go betwene the houses, as an indifferent mouth for both) readeth openipe the matters there determined by the layde thie cliates, and then craneth the Princes consent and confirmation to the same.

The king having heard the somme & principall pointes of each estatute briefly recited buto him, auniwereth in French with great deliberation buto such as he lyketh, (Il nous plaist) but to the rest Il ne plaist, whereby the latter are biterly made boyde and frustrate. That also which his Paiettie liketh of, is es uer after holden for law, ercept it be repealed in any the lyke allembly. The number of the commons affembled in the lower house, belide the clergie collifeth of ninetie unights. For eache there of England bath two gentlemen oz knights of greatest wisedome and reputation chosen out of the bodye of the same for that only purpose, sawing that for wales one only is supposed sufficient in enerie countie, whereby the number afoze mentioned is made bp. There are likewyle four. tie and fire Citizens, 289. Burgeles, and fourtene Barons, so that the whole astem. bly of the layetie of the lower house, colisteth of foure hundred thirtie and nine persons, if the fust number be supplyed. Of the laives here made lykewyle some are penall and refraine the common lawe, and some againe are founde to inlarge the same. The one fort of these also are for the most part take strice lpe according to the letter, the other more largely and beneficially after their intender ment and meaning.

The Common Lawe Candeth bypon Common Sundape Barimes of Paincyples, and Laut. veares or tearmes, which ove conteme such cales as by great Audre and folemne arous ment of the judges, and thereto the depet reach & foundations of reason, are ruled and adiudged for lawe. Certes these cases are o therwise called plæs og actios, wheref there are two fortes the one criminall & the other civile. The meanes & mellengers also to determine thole causes are our writtes, wher, of there are some Driginalland some Judiciall. The parties plaintife and defendant when they appeare procede (if the case do so require) by plaint or declaration, aunswere, replication and recognoer, and so to asue, the one fide affirmatively, the other negatively. Dur trialles, and reconeries are epther by berdia and demourre, confession or default, wherein if any negligence or trespasse bath bene committed, eyther in processe & forme, or in matter & indgement, the partie grieved may have a writte of errour to bnooe & came but not in the same court where the former sudgement was given. Customarie law con Eustoma lifeth of certaine laudable cultomes bled in ry Laur. some private country, entended first to be ginne oppon god and reasonable considera, tions, as ganell kinde which is all the male childzen to inherite, & cotinued to this day in Ment: 03 Burrow kinde where the pongeft is preferred before the eldeff, which is the cultome of many countries of this region, & so forth of such like to be learned else where.

Prescription is a certaine custome, which prescriptath continued time out of minde, but it is tion. moze particular then cultomarie lawe, as where onely a parith or some prinate person both prescribe to have common, or a way, in another mans lople, of tithes to be payoe at ter this of that maner, I meane otherwyle then the common course a order of the laws requireth, whereof let thys suffice at thys tyme, in flede of a larger discourse of our owne lawes, least I spoulde sæme to enter farre into that whereof I have no fkill. Foz what hath the meditation of the lawe of God to doe with any precise knowledge of the law of man, lith they are leucrall trades and incident to divers persons. There are also suis drie bluall courtes holde once in euery quarter of the yeare, which we commonly ecall tearmes of the latin worde Terminus, where in all cotrouerlies are determined, that hapi pen within the Quenes dominions. Thefe are commonly holden at London except bpo fome great occasion they be transferred to o ther places, at what times also they are kept the table infuing that easily declare. Finally howe well they are followed by futers; the great welth of our lawiets without aim traucple of mine can cality expresse. This fur thermoze is to be noted that albeit the painces heretofoze reigning in this lande have reacd funday courtes efpecially of the chauna serie at Poske and Luclow for the ease of note men divelling in those parties, pet will the poreli (of all men commonly most cone tencious) refuse to have his cause hearde so nere home, but indevouveth rather to hos utter bidwing to travelle op to Londo, thins king there fonest to prevaile against his ade ucrfary though his cafe be never to doubtful. 15ut in this tope our Welchinen ove erciede of all that ever I hearde, for you mall here & there have some one odde poze Danid of the given so much to contention and Arife, that inithout all respect of charges he will by to London, though he go bare legged by the wave, and carpe his holen on his acche (to sue they, fæte from wearing) bycaule he hath no chaunge. When he commeth there also he will make such importunate bedaing of his countrevine, and hard thift otherwife. that he will sometymes carpe downe fire o2. feuen writtes in his purle, wher with to mos lest his neighbour, though the areatest quare rell be learlely worth the price that he pand for any one of the. But prough of this leaf. in renealing the inperduous follye of a feine brablers in this behalfe, I bring no god wil to my selfe amongst the wysest of that natio. Certes it is a lamentable case to sée further. more how a number of poze men are dayly abused and biterly bindone, by sundate barlets that go about the countrey as brokers , betweene the petty foggers of the laive, and mornie to the common people, onely to kyndle coales occions of contention, wherby the one side may reape commodity and the other be put to traueple. But of all that ener I knew in Eller, Deitis and Painford excelled, till John of Ludlow alias Dason came in place; buto whome in comparison they two were but children and babes, for he in lette the three or foure peres, did bring one man (among mainy elle lobete in other places almost to ertræme misery, (if beggery be the ottermost) who before hee had the thaning of his bearde, was valued at two hundred pounde (I speake with the left) who finally fæling that he had not lufficent wher with to luffeine himself, this familie, & also to satisfie that greedie ravenour, that filcalled hoon him for new fees, he went to bed and within foure dayes made an ende of hys wofull life, cuen with care & pensionenelle. Af. ter his death also he so hadled his sonne, that there was never there thorne in Hate, to nere cloved of bos flere velent, as be was of manye to come, fo that he was come pelled to let away his leads land, because his cattell and focke were consumed, and he no longer able to occupie the ground. But hereof let this luffile, and mittede of thele enor mities, two tables that mile, whereof the first shall contains the names of the Countyes, Cities, Bozowesaits bostes inhich fend knightes, Burgeles and Barons to the Parliament house, the other an infailsbie report of the beginnings and ender of every tearme with their returnes, according to the maner, as I have borrowed them of my friende John Stow, whylest this impression was in hande.

The names of Counties, Cities, Borowghes, and Portes, fending Knightes, Citizens, Burgeses and Barons, to the Parliament of Eng-lande.

Bedforde.

Buckingham.

kniahtes The bosowgh of Buckingham, The bosowah of Witchombe, The bosowah of Adelbury. Barckeshyre.

Unightes The bosowah of New Windlose. The bosowgh of Reding. The bozologh of Walkingforde.

The bozowgh of Abington. Cornewall.

Bnightes. The bosott of Launceston alias peropost a The bosoway of Letkerd. The bozology of Losswythick. The bozowgh of Dunheuet. The bozowah of Truro. The bosologhof Bodmin.

The bosology of DelCon. The bozowgh of Saltall. The bozowah of Camelforde. The bozo. of Portighlant alias Portlow. The bosowgh of Graunpount.

The bozowgh of Calilow. The bosowgh of Pourp. The bozowgh Tregonyc. The bozow. of Trebenna alias Bollinny.

The bozowgh of S. Jes. The bosowgh of Foway. The bosowgh of Cermine.

The bozowall of Michell. The bosowgh of Saint Waries.

Cumber-

The Thirde Booke

Cumberlande.		inightes.	2
Enightes.	2	The Citie of Pereford.	2
The ritie of Caerlile.	2	The bosowgh of Lempster.	2
Cambridge.	;	Kent.
lanightes.	2	knightes.	3
The bozologh of Cambridge.	2	The citie of Cantozbury.	2
Cheiter.		The citie of Rochester.	2
Inightes.	2	The bozologh of Paldeston.	2
The Citie of Chester.	2	The bozologh of Duinbozologh.	2
Darby.		Lincolne.
lanightes.	2	unightes.	2
The bosowgh of Darby.	2	The citie of Lincolne.	2
Deuon.		The bozowgh of Bostone.	2
linightes.	2	The bosowgh of great Grinesby.	2
The citie of Ercester.	2	The bosowgh of Stamforde.	2.
The bozolugh of Totnes.	2	The bosologh of Grantham.	2.
The bozolugh of Plimmonth.	2	Leicester shyre.
The bosowgy of Baronellable.	2.	Anightes.	2
The bozology of Plimton.	2	The bozowgh of Leicester.	2
The bozowgh of Taue Rocke.	2	Lancastershyre.
The bosowgh of Dartmouth, Cliston,	and	Unightes.	2
Heropues.	2	The bosowgh of Lancaster.	2
Dorset shyre.		The bosowgh of Presson in Ambernes.	2
Linightes.	2	The bozologh of Liverpole.	2.
The bosowgh of Pole.	2	The bozowgh of Pewton.	2
The bosowgh of Doschester.	2	The bosowgh of Wigan.	3
The bosolugh of Linne.	2	The bozowgh of Elithero.	2
The bosowgh of Pelcombe.	2	Middlesex.	•
The bosowgh of Warmouth.	2	unightes.	2
The bosology of Burepost.	2	The citie of London.
The bosowgh of Shaftelbury.	2	The citie of Welfminster.	4
The bosologh of Warham.	2	Monmouth.	2
Eslex.	-	Unightes.
Linightes.	2	The bozowgh of Ponmouth.	2
The bozolugh of Colchester.	2	Northampton.	.1
The bosowgh Palden.	_	Enightes.
Yorkeshire.	2	The citic of Peterbozowah.	2
Linightes.	•		2
The citie of Pozke.	2	The bosology of Posthampton.	2
The bozowyh of Kingston byon Hull.	2	The bosowyh of Barkley.	2
The bosolugh of Unarelbrugh.	2	The bozologh of Pigham Ferres.	. 1
The horoman of Scharphoedings	2	Notingham.	•
The bosowgh of Skardbozowgh.	2	unightes.	Z
The bosolugh of Ripport.	2	The bosowyh of Potingham.	2 .
The bosolugh of loudon.	2	The bozowgh Effreatfozde.	3.
The bosolugh of bosolughbridge.	2	Norfolke.	,
The bosolugh of Thulke.	2	Unightes.	2
The bosolugh of Aldebrugh.	2	The citie of Pozwich.	2.
The bosowgh of Benerley.	2	The bozowgh of Linne.	2
Glocestershyre.		The bozologh of great Jernemouth.	2
Unightes.	2	The bozowgh of Thetfozd.	2
The Citie of Clorester.	2	The bosowgh of caltell Kiling.	2
The bosowgh of Cirencester.	2	Northumberland.	٠.
Huntingtonshyre.		Unightes.	2
Buightes.	2	The bozowgh of Rew Castell opon Tine.	2
The bosolugh of Puntington.	2	The bozowgh of Wozpeth.	2.
Hertfordshyre.		The bosowgh of Barwike.	2 .
Unightes.	2	Oxforde.
The bosowigh of Saint Albons.	2	Inightes.	2
Herefordeshyre		The citie of Orfozde.	2 .
		Æ I	_
		~;	, -

of the description of Britaine. 101
The bosolugh of Bambury. 2	Unightes. 2
The bosolugh of EU moltocker	The bozowgh of Appulby. 2
Rutlande	Wilton.
the state of the s	Anightes. 44 12 2
Lanightes. Surrey. The first the second	The citie of Pein Sarum. 2
	The bozologh of Wilton.
Linightes. The bozologh of Southwarks.	The bozolugh of Dounton. 2
The bosowgh of Blechingleighe.	OF his has a few arts and Washington 17 h
The bosologh of Kigate.	The bozowgh of Heytelbury.
The bosowgh of Guildford.	The bozologh of Welbury.
The horough of Gatton.	The headman of Makes
The bosowgh of Gatton. 2 Stratford.	And the Table Andrews and the Control of the Contro
	The bearings of Themanican
Linightes. 2	The bosologh of Chypenham. 2
The citie of Lichfielde.	The bozowgh of Palmelbury. 2
The bosowigh of Stratforde. 2	The bosologh of Cricklade. 2
The bosologh of Pew sallel bider Linne. 2	The bozowgh of Badwin.
The bosowgh of Tamwozth.	The bozowgh of Ludgefale. 2
Salop. The path in the first	The bozologh of Olde Sarum. 2
knightes.	The bozowgh of Wotton Basset. 2
The bosowgh of Salop. 2	The bozowyh of Parlebozowyh.
The bozo, of Bzuges alias bziogenozth. 2	Worcester.
The bosolugh of Ludlow.	knightes. 2
The bosowgh of Wenlocke.	The citie of Mozcesfer. 2
Southampton.	The bosologh of Witther.
lanightes. 2	Warwike.
The citie of Winton. 2	Anightes. 2
The bosowgh of Southampton. 2	The Citie of Couentry. 2
The bosologh of Postelmouth.	The bozology of War wike. 2
The bosowgh of Peterfielde. 2	Barons of the postes.
The bosowgh of Stockebzioge.	Pallings. 2007
The bosowgh of Chaist Church.	Minchellep.
Suffolke.	Kpe.
Inightes.	Rumnep.
The bosowgh of Appelwich.	313664
The bozowgh of Dunwich.	9TD-4-4-0
The bozowgh of Detfoed.	Sandinial.
	Mountgomery.
07 h . 1 /	lanightes.
ComayCon	The bosolugh of Mountgomery.
Unightes.	The Flint is present to the
The cities a Calle a constant	Amightes search and season and the
b) he cities of allegation	The bosology of Flint
The sitting and the	Denbighe dessent story
The hardraph of Towns	linightes.
The bosowgh of Launton.	The bosology of Denbiging and and an array
The bosowish Bridgewater.	Merionneth.
The bozowgh of Pinched. 2	knightes.
Intightes.	The bosolugh of Paner for direction and and a
The citie of Their of	Carneruan, 144
The citic of Chichester.	innightes.
The bosowigh of Hozham.	The bozowgh of Carnernan.
~ 10 UU 10 With of an inhouse	Anglesey.
~ UCUUIDING of a cined	Anightes.
~ 10 0020 mgh of Shoshow	The bozologh of Beaumares.
~ 90 UV/UINTH OF MR1000 how	Carmarden.
~ 10 Dillion of Stening	Inightes. 1
THE DUZDING OF POSSON AND THE	The bosowgh of Peto Carmarden.
- 9c bottoman of Arundell.	Pembroke.
Weitmerland.	Anightes.
	The ₩ pt

The Summe of the forelande number of the common house vivelicet, of knights. 90. Citizens. 46. Burgelles. 289. Barons. 14. 439.

A perfect rule to knowe the beginning and ending of euery terme, with their returnes.

Hilary terms beginneth the rriti. bay of January, if it be not Sunday, otherwise the next daye after 4 endeth the twelfth of February, and hath foure returnes.

Octabis Hilarii. Crastino Purific. Quind, Hilarij. Octabis Purific.

T Caffer terme beginneth rby. daies after Caffer, and endeth foure dayes after theafcention dap, and hath five returnes.

Quind. Pasch. Mense. Quinquæ Paschæ. Tres Paschæ. Pasche. Crast Ascention.

Trinitie terme beginneththe nert dape after Corpus Christi daye, and endeth the wednesdaye fortnight after, and bath foure rcturnes.

Crast. Trinitatis. Quind. Trinitatis Tres Trinitatis. Octabis Trinitat.

T Wichelmas terme beginneth the ir. of Daober if it be not Sumday, and endeth the rrbig of Ponember, and bath bij returnes Octabis Michael. Crastanima. Quind. Michael. Craft Martini. Tres Michael. Octa.Martini. Mense Michael. Quind. Martini.

Pote also that the Eschequer oveneth eight dayes befoze any terme begin, ercept Trinitic terme, which openeth but foure daves before.

And nowe followeth the lawe dayes in the court of Tharches, and audience of Canterbury, with other Coclesiafricall & Civill lawes, through the whole yeare.

These daves are not chaunged excepte they lyght on a Sunday or holy daye, and e, nery daye is called a lawday, buleffe it be Dunday ez holydav.

Michelmas terme.

S.Faith. All Soules. S.Andrewe. S.Edward. S.Martin. Conception of S. Luke. Edmond. our Lady. Simon & Iu. Katherin.

It is to be noted that the first day follow ing every of thefe feates noted in every terme, the court of the Arches is kept in Bowe church in the forenone. And the fame first daye in the afternone is the Admyraliv Court foz Civill causes kept in South warke.

The feconde daye following enery one of the layde feattes, the court of Audience of Caunterburge is kept in the Confistory in Paules in the forenwne. And the same dave in the after none, in the same place is the Prerogative court of Caunterbury holden.

The thirde dape after any fuch feaff in the forenome, the confifory court of the Bilbon' of London is kept in Paules Church in the confistory, and the same thirde dave in the afternone is the court of the Delegates and of the Quéenes highnesse Commisponers bpon appeales kept in the same place.

Hilary terme. S.Hilary. S. Scolaftic, S. Chad. S. Wolstan. S. Valentine. Perpet. & Fel. Conversion Ashwednesd. S. Gregory. of S. Paule. S. Mathie. Anunciation S.Blase. of our Ladve.

Pote that the foure first dayes of thus terme be certain and buchanged. The other are altered after the course of the pere, and fometime kept and fomtime omitted. Foz if it so happen that one of those feates fall on wednesdaye comonly called Ashivednesday, after the day of S. Blale (fo that & fame law day after Athwednesday cannot be kept by cause the lawday of thother feast both lyout on the same) then the seconde law day after Abwedneldar thall be kept, and the other o. mitted. And if the lawday after that wednes, day be o nert daye after the fealt of f. Blate. then thall all a cuery those court paies be abo ferned in order, as they may be kept conenis ently. And marke although that Athmednes day be put the seauenth in order, pet it bath no certaine place, but is chaunged as the courle of Galter causeth it.

Easter Tearme.

The fithteene day after Caffer.

S. Alphege. Gordiane. S.Marke. S. Dunstane. Inuention of Ascention day. the Croile.

In thys terme the first sitting is als wave kept the Dunday being the 15. day af ter Caffer, and so fouth after the feaffs here noted, which next followe by course of the peare after Caffer. And the lyke space being kept betwene other feates.

of the description of Britaine.

The rest of the lawe dayes are kept to the thirde of the Accention, which is the last day of this terme. And if it happen that the fealt of & Accention of our Lozd, doe come befoze any of the feastes aforelayde, then they are omptted for that years. And lokewife if anve of those dayes come befoze the rb.of Caffer those daves are omitted also.

Trinitie Tearme. Trinitie Sunday. S. Butolphe. S. Swythune. Corpus Christi. S. John. S. Margaret. Boniface Bishop. S. Paule. S.Anne. Transla. Thomas, S.Barnabie.

of Pote that the lawedayes of this tearme are altered by meane of Whitluntyde, & the first sitting is kept alwayes on the first law dave after the featt of the boly Trimitie, and the seconde session is kept the first lawe dave after Coapus Chaifti, ercept Coapus chaifti dave fall on some dave afozenamed : which chaunceth formetime, and then the fitter dave is kept. And after the fecond fellion account foure daves or thereabout, and then loke which is the nert feaft daye, and the fyaft lawe daye after the layde feath, thall bee the thirde fession. The other lawe daves follows in order, but so many of them are kept, as for the time of the pere halbe thought mete. And note generally that enery day is cale led a lawe dape that is not Sundape or hollp baye: and that if the feast day being knowne of any court day in any terme, the first of les conde daye following be Sundaye, then the court daye is kept the daye after the faye bo. ip dape or feast.

Of the degrees of people in the common wealth of Englande. Cap. 4.

We in Englande benide our people commonlye into foure lostes, as Gentlemen, Citizens oz Burgeles, Peome, and Artificerers og labourers. Df gentleme the first a chiefe nert the king be the Prince, Dukes, Parquiles, Carles, Wilcontes and Barons : and thefe are called the Pobilitie, they are also named Lozdes and noble men, and nert to them be unightes and Elquires, and simple gentlemen.

The tytle of Paince both peculiarly belong to the kinges elock fonne, who is called Prince of Wales, and is the heire aps parant to the Crowne, as in Fraunce the kings el dell sonne hath & title of Wolphine, and is named peculiarly Monficur. So that the Prince is to termed of the latine worde, quia est principalis post Regem. The lainges ponger connes be but gentlemen by byzth, till they have recepted creation of hygher ellate to be epther Allcontes, Carles oz Dukes: & called after their names, as Lord Henry, or Lorde Cowarde with the additio of the worde Grace, properly allianed to the king and prince, and by cultome converghed to Dukes, Parquiles, and their wynes.

The title of Buke commethallo of the La. Duke: the worde Dux, à ducendo, bycause of bys valoir and power over the army. In times palta name of Office due to the chiefe go. nernour of the whole armie in the warres. but now a name of honour.

In olde tyme he onely was called Ware quile Qui habuit terram limitaneam, a mar, ching province open the enemies countreis. But that also is chaunged in common ble, & reputed for a name of great honour next the Duke, euen ouer Counties and sometimes small cities, as the Prince is pleased to be Stowe it.

The name of Carle likewyle was among Erie. Ca Romaines a name of Affice, who had Comites facri palatij, Comites ararij, Comices stabuli and such like, howbest it appereth that with is it hath the nert place to h warquile, and be that beareth it is called pers abuenture Comes à comitiua, quia dignus est ducere comitiuam in bello'. Di elle bicaule he is Comes Ducis, a companio of the Duke in the warres. And be hath his follower the Wiscont, called epther Pro Comes, 02 viceco- Chiscont. mes: who in typic past, governed in the coul tie buder the Carle, and noive without and fuch ferulce of office, it also is become a name of dignitie nert after the Eatle, and in degrée befoze the Barok (1)

The Baron is luch a free Longe, as hath a Baron, Lesothip as Barony, toderest he beareth his name, a holding of him dinors Unightes' e freeholders: inho were want to ferne the king in the tourver and helde their landes in Baronia, for boing fuch fernice. Thele Bracaton (a learner mapter of the laines of Eng. lande in king Benry the tisines to me tear. meth Barones, quali robur belle the mozae Baro is older the that it map takin be found fro whence it came; for even in the place by Noties both of the Bermaines & Frenche men, we reade of Barons ; and those are at this day called among the Wetmaines Libel ri, vel ingenui, as some men des confecture.

Unto this place 3 allo reference Bilhops, Bylhops. who are accounted honourable, and whose countenaunces in time past was much more glozious then at this present stas, bycause those luffy Prelates sought after earthly ex

of the description of Britaine.

Mimation and authoritie with far more dis ligence then after the lost thepe of Chaise. whereof they had small regarde, as men bes ing otherwise occupyed & boyde of leplure to attende boto f fame. Howbeit in these dates their estate remanneth still honourable as before, and the more bertuous they are that be of this calling, the better are thep ester med with highe and lowe. Verein therefoze their case is arowen to be much better then before, for whereas in tymes past the cleargie men were feared bycaule of they? authozitie and seuere governement bnoer the Prince, now are they beloved generally (ercept peraduéture of a few bunarie wobes that couet to plucke and inatch at their lose endes) for their painefuli diligence thewed in their calling, and vertuous convertation. Finally how it standeth with the rest of the cleargie, I nepther can tell noz greatly care to know, neverthelesse with what degrees of honour and worthip they have beene mate ched in times vast Iohannes Bohemus in hys De omnium gentium moribus and other boe erpress. But as a number of these comparifons and ambitions tytles are now becaped a worthily thronke in the wetting, so giving ower in these dates to maintagne such pome pous vanitie, they thincke it sufficient for the to preache the worde and holde their livinges to their fies from the handes of fuch as inde uonr to diminishe them. This furthermore will I adde generally in commendation of the cleargie of Englande that they are for their learning reputed in Fraunce. Worting gale, Spaine, Termany & Polonia, to be the most learned denines, & therto so skisfull in the two principal tongues that it is accoun-

Dukes, Parquiles, Carles, Aiscontes, and Baroun either be created of the Poince, oz come to that honour by being the eldest formes of highest in succession to their parets. For the clock some of a Duke during hys fathers lyfe is an Earle, the eldest sonne of an Cricis a Baron, o: femetymes a Wife cont, according as the creation is. The creation 3 call the oxiginall donation and condition of the honour given by the Paince foz the god service done by the first auncestor, with some advancement, which with the ti-ted a maime in any one of them not to be eractely fiene in the Oreche and Debzue-much more then to be differed ignorant ernothing conversaunt in them. I do the latine ton-que it is not wanting in any, especiallye in such as have beine made within this twelve or fourtiene yeares, whereas before there was small choyle, and many cures were left buserued bycause they had none at all.

tle of that bonopr is alwayes given to hom a to his heires malles onely. The rest of the sonnes of the nobilitie by the rigour of the law be but Clautres: pet in common freach all Dukes and Parquiles fonnes, & Carles eldest sonnes be called Lozdes, the which name commoly both agree to none of lower degree then Barons, pet by lawe & ble thele be not estemed Barons. The Baronny 02 degrée of Lozds doth aunswere to the degrée of Senatours of Rome : and the tytle of no. bilitie as we ble to call it in England to the Romaine Patricu. Allo in Engladno man is created Baron ercept he may dispende of yerly revenues to much as may fully maintapne and beare out his countenaunce and port. But Wisconts, Carles, Parquises and Dukes ercéde them according to the propostio of their degree & honoz. But though by chaunce be or his sonne have lesse, yet he kee peth his degrée: but if the decay be ercelline e not able to maintayne the honour, as Senatores Romani were moti Senatu : so some. tymes they are not admitted to the opper house in the parliament, although they kepe the name of Lord Kill, which cannot be take from them, byon any such occasion.

Unightes be not borne, neytheir is any ma knight. a knight by succession, no not the Ryng 02 Prince: but they are made epther before the battaile to encourage them the moze to ad uenture and trie their manhode, 02 after, as an advauncement for their courage & protoi elic aireadic shewed, oz out of the warres foz some great service done, or for the singular vertues which doe appeare in them. They are made eyther by the king himselfe, oz by his commission and Royall authoritie gineri for the same purpose: or by his lientenaunt in the warres. This order fæmeth to amv iwere in part to that which the Romaines called Equitu Romanorum. Foz as Equites Romani were chosen ex censu, that is accor ding to their substaunce and riches : lobe Unightes in Englande most commonly accoading to their yearelye revenues or substaunce and riches, where with to maintains the estate. Det all that had Equestrem cenfum, were not chosen to be anights, no more be all made knightes in England that maps spende a knightes landes, but they onelye whom the Paince will honour. The number of the knightes in Rome was bucertaine: and lo is it of knyghtes worth vs, as at the pleasure of the Prince. We call him Unight in English that the French calleth Chenalier, and the latine Equitem, oz Equestris ordinis virum. And when any man is made a knight, he knæling owne is Arthen of the Prince or his substitute with his sworde naked boo the Moulder, the Prince ac faying, Sores chenalier au nom de Dien. And imben be rvieth bo the Brince fapth Aduances bon cheualier. This is the maner of dubbing buightes at this prefent, and the tearme (oubbing) is the olde terme for that purpole and not creation.

At the Coconation of a sting or Duéme there be unightes made with longer a more curious ceremonies, called knightes of the Wath. But howfoeuer one be dubbed to made lanight, his tryfe is by and by call o Madame, 02 Ladge, to well as the Barons topfe, he himselfe having added to his name in common appellatio this fillable Sir, which is the title whereby we call our laniables berein Englande. And Cappin The Con-

The other ozder of knighthod in Englav mightes A the most honozable is that of h. Carter, in fituted by king Cowarde the third, who afe ter he had gayned many notable victories; taken king John of France, & king James of Scotland (4 kept them both : payloners in the Cower of London at one time) exoulsed king Henry of Cathil the bastarde out of his realine, and restored Don Petro buto it (by helps of the Prince of Wales & Duke of Aquitaine his eldest some called the black Prince) De then invented this focietie of ho nour, a made a choise out of his owne realme * dominions, * thozowout all Christendome of the best most excellent and renowmed persons in all vertues & honour, & adourned the with y title to be knightes of his Deder, gluing the a Garter garnished with golde & precious stones, to were daily on the left leg only, alfo a Mittle, gowne, cloke, chaperon, coler t other folemne and magnificent app parell, both of fruffe and fallion exquisite. heroicall to weare at high feastes, as to so high and Paincelp an Dever appertegneth. Of this company also he and his successours Linges and Duenes of Englande, be the Soucraignes, and the reast by certaine statutes and lawes amongs themselves be tas ken as beetheen and fellowes in that oeder to the number of fire and twenties as I finds in a certagne Treatize written of the lame an example whereof I have here inferted worde for worde as it was delivered unto me, beginning after this maner.

I might at this present make a long. trace tation of the Rounde table and other of the knightes thereof, erected sometymes by Are thur the great monarche of thys Mand:and therbuto intreate of the number of his unia ghtes and ceremonies belonging to the 02. der, but I thincke in so doing that I shoulde rather let downe f latter inventions of other men, then a true description of such auncient actions as were performed in dede. A could furthermoze with moze facilitie describe the Royaltie of Charles the great & his twelve Deres, with their folemne rites and blages but unto this also I have no great devotion, confidering the truth hereof is nowe fo flayned lopth errours and fables inferted into the same by the leives religious sort, that ercept a manahoulde professe to lye with the for companye, there is little founde know. leage to be gathered hereof worthie premebraunce. In lyke maner dyners aswell subledes as Princes have attempted to refloze againe a rounde table in this lance, but fuch was berreding tharges appertagning therbuto (as they opp make allowaunce) and fo great molestation dayly insued therebyo befide the breeding of fundate quartels among the knightes and such as resorted byther fro forten countries (as it was first bled) that in fine they gave it over & fuffred their whole thuentions to pertihe and decape, butill Cowarde the third denifed an other order not fo much peffered with multitude of lanightes as the rounde table, but much moze honourable for princely port and countenance, as hall appeare bereafter. . 224 25,110 7 14 141 . The order of the Barter therefore was dewifed in the time of hing. Coloned the third, and as fome waite oppose this accasion. The Duches maieffiethe lining, being departed from his presence the nertway towards his longing, he following some after happened to finde hir Garter which llacked by chauned and fo fel from hit legge. His gromes & gentlemen palled byit; as difoniming to ffoupe & take op furba trifle: but he linowing folomer commanued one of them to have & take it op. Why and like pour Grace faieth a Bert tleman this but fome womans garter that hath fallen fro bir as the folower p Duenes maielife. Whatlocuer it be oftoth the kyng take is by and give it me. So whe he had rerepued the garter; belapte to lach as frate about him: you my mailters oos make imal account of this blew garter here (and there: Peraduewith helde it out) but if God lende me lyfe ture it for a feine minnethea I was but a for a fewe monethes, I will make the prow blew Ribdell of powall to reverence the like and even bon. bpon this democracian he gave hintlelfe to the denifung of this order. Certes I have not read of any thing that having had to line plea beginning hath growne in the ende to forgreat honour and ellimation. But to proceede, after he had fludyed a whyle about the persozmanice of his devile & hav fet downe fach orders as he himselfe had invented concerning hisame, he proclaimed a royall feat

The Thirde Booke

to be holden at Wlindsoze, whyther all his nobilitie resorted with their Ladyes, where he published his institutio, and furthwith inuested an appointed number into the afores favo fellowthip, whole names infue, himfelf being the Sourraigne and principall of that companie. Pert buto him also be placed.

Cowarde Prince of S. Thomas Holland 5. John Gray. Maies. Henry duke of Lan S.Rich, Kitzlimon. S. Wiles Stapleton. caster. S.Abomas Wale. P. Carle of Warw. P. Capt. de Bouche. S. Hugh Wizotellep. S. Peale Lozding. D. Garle of faffozd. P. Carle of Sarum. S. John Chandos. S. James Dawdiep. 12.12.9302timer. S. Dtho Holland. Dir John Lille. Sir Bartholomewe S.Henry Eme. Sir Sanchet Dam 13urwach. p.Sonne of S. John bescourt. Sir Walter Pan Weauchamp. nell alias Paganell. Hir P.de Mahun. S. Hugh Courtnay.

What order of electio, and what effatutes were prescribed but othe cleased at this first institution as vet I can not exacely buder. Cande, nepther can I learne what enerve Prince afterwards added therebuto before the fire and thirtieth years of king Henry the cyght, and thirde of king Edwarde the firt: wherfore of necellitie I must refort unto the estate of the sappe order as it is at this prefent, which I will let downe so briefely as 3 may. When any man therefoze is to be es leace (byon a rowme found boyd for his ads millo into this fellowship, the king directeth his letters but ohim, notwithstanding that be before bande be nominate but o the lame, to this effect. Right truftie and welbeloued we grate you well, affertayning you, that in confideration aswell of your appropried tructh a fidelitie as also of pour couragious and valiant accs of knighthode, with other your probable merites knowne by experiece in fundace parties and behalfes: we with the companious of the noble order of the Warter assembled at the election holden this day within our manour of N. haue elected & cho. sen you among to other to be one of the companions of the land Dader, as pour delertes doe condignely require. Wherfore we will v with convenient diligence boothe light here of, vou repaire buto our presence, there to recevue such thinges as to the sappe order appertarneth. Dated binder our lignet at our maner of Grenewich the 24. of April. Thefe letters as it spende seems were written An.

3. Edwardi sexti, bnto the Carle of Buntingdon, e the Lorde George Cobbam pour Lozothippes bonourable father, at fuch time as they were called buto the aforelaide coms ranp. I finde also these names subscribed Edwards Duke of L.KuTell Lozd pring Somerset, Uncle seale. 1. S. John L. great to the king. The Barq.of Pozth: maisset.

Sir John Bage. :: bampton. Carle of Axundell L. S. Anthony Wing. Chamberleine. fielde.

Carle of Shewel Sir Apliam Pas get. burp.

Beyng elected preparation is made for his enfalling at windloze (the place appoint ted alwaies for this purpole) wherat it is renuired that his Banner be let oppe, at two pardes and a quarter in length, and thie quarters in breath, besides the frynge. Secondly his (worde of what soener length hom fæmeth godsthyzdelp his helme, which fro the charnell opwards ought to be of thee puches at the least fourthly the crest, woth mantelles to the helme belonging of such convenient fruste and biggenelle, as it shall please him to appoint.

Atem a plate of armes at the backe of hys Kall, and creft with mantelles and beaffes supportant, to be graven in mettall.

Item longing scoucheans of hys armes in the garter, to be occupyed by the way.

Item two mantelles one to the remayne in the colleage at Windloze, the other to ble at hys pleasure, with the scocheon of the armes of S. Beorge in the garter with La ces Tallelettes, and knoppes of blewe filche and Golde belonging to the same.

Atem a Spreate of Gowne of redde of erimoline beluet with a whoode of the same lyned wyth white Sarcenet or Damalke.

Item a colloz of the garter of thirtie out ces of golde trove weight.

Item a tablet of S. George, rychely gar, nished with precious fromes, or otherwyle.

Item a Warter foz his (left) legge, hauing the buckle and Pendaunt garnished wyth Wolde.

Item a boke of the flatutes of the laybe ozdet.

Item a lcocheun of harmes of S. Weozge in & garter to let bpon the mantell. And thys furniture is to be provided against his instal lation.

Withen any lanight is to be infalled, be bath, with his former letters, a garter fent bute him, and when he commeth to be instale led, he is brought into the Chapter boufe. where incontinently his committion is read before the fourreigne, or his deputie, and the affemblye piclent: from hence he is lead by two languates of the lapoz order, accomvanied with the other of the Pobilitie, and Officers towarde the chappell, haufng bys mantel borne before him, eyther by a knight of the order, or elfe the king at armes, to whome it lecondarily appertaineth to beare it. Thes mantel thall be delivered but o hem for his habite, after his othe taken before his stall, and not before: which done be shall returne buto the chapter house, wher the soue, reigne, or his deputie, shall bettner him his collog, and so he shall have the full possession of his habit. As for his stall, it is not give according buto the calling, & countenace of the recevuer, but as the place is that happe: neth to be boyde, so that eache one called buto this knyghthode, (the fauerciane, & Em: percurs, and Linges, and Princes alwaies ercepted) shall have the same scate which be, came boyd by the death of hys predecestor, howlocuer it fall out, whereby a knight one. ly oftentimes, doth fit befoze a Duke, wyth. out anyemurmuring or gradging at his rome, ercept it please the souereigne, once in hys lyfe, to make a generall alteration, of those seates, and to sette eache one acces. ding to hys degree.

Powe as touching the apparell of these langghtes, it remaineth luch as king Ed, warde the first deusloz of thys ozder left it, that is to fay, every pere one of the culldurs, that is to fay, Scarlet, Sanguine in graine, blewe and white. In type loste the kinges Grace, bath at his pleasure the content of tioth for his Sownes whoode, lyned with white Satine, of Damaske, and multstude of garters with letters of Soide.

The prince hath five yardes of cloth for his Cowne and whoode, and garters with letters of Golde at his pleasure, beside fine timber of the tynesk minener.

A Duke hath fine paroes of wollen cloth, fpue timber of mineuer, 120. garters with title of Tolde.

A Marquise hath five pardes of wolken clothe, fluctimber of mineuer i i o. garters

In Carle fine pardes of wollen clothe, fluc timber of mineuer, and 100.gariers cf

A Associat, five pardes of wollen cloth, hue timber of infinence, 90. garters of fike. I Baron fine pardes of wollen cloth, thece timber of mineuer: grede 80. garters of

A Banneret, fine parden be wollen cloth, the timber of mineuer 70 garters of file. A knight, fine pards of wollen cloth, three timber of thineuer 60, garters of files.

The Bilhop of Winchesset Chaplaine of the garter, hath eyght and twentte timber of mincuer ptirezopnetene timber of gr, thie timber and a halfe of the Dell and foure and twentie parves of wollen cloth.

The Chauncellour of the Diver c. pardes of wolle cloth, thee timber of nineuer pure.

The register of the Dever fine pardes of wollen cloth, the timber of mineuer pure, and this ogvet to be holden generally amog the knights of this companie, which are fire and twentie in number, and whole patrone in time of superstition was supposed to be S. Ocozge, of whome they were also called S. Georges knightes as I haue hearde reposted.

Furthermoze at his installation, he is so lemnely fwome, the maner whereof I have thought good also to annere, in this maner. Peu being chosen to be one of the honozable companie of the order of the Garter, Shall promise and sweare boon the holly Guange, lies by you bodily, touched to be faithful and true to the kings magelife, and to observe keepe all the poyntes of the statutes of the layde order, and enery article in them rone tapned, the fame being agt kable and not repugnant to the aings highweile other godly proceedings, le farre as to you belongeth and appertaineth, as God you belpe. cc. And thus much have I thought god to note concerning the premiles. As touching the estatutes belonging to this order they are many, and therefore not to be touched here. Howbett pf any doubt doe arple aboue the interpretation of them, the king who is the perpetuall Soueraine of that order bath to determine and resolue & same. Beither are any chosen there onto under the degree of a lanight, and that is not a gentleman of bloud and of founde esimation. And for the better understanding what is meant by a gentill man of bloube, he is defined to descend of these descentes, of noblenelle, y is to lay, of name & of armes both by father and mother. There are also foure regræs of reproch, which may inhibit from the intraunce into this order of which & first is herefie lawfully promed, the teconde high trealen, the thirde is flight from the battaill, the fourth root and produgall excelle of expences, whereby he is not likely to holde cui, and maintagne the post of knight of this os der, according to the dignitte thereof. Pozei ouer touching the wearing of their aforelaid apparell it is their cuffome to weare y fame,

The Thirde Booke

when they enter into the Chappell of Saint Crozge, 02 be in the chapter house of their 020 der, of finally dee go about any thing appertaining to that company . In lyke fort they weare also they? mantelles byon the even of H. George, & go with the Soucreine, or his deputie in the same in maner of procession from the hings great chamber buto the chas pel,02 vato the Colledge, and likewyle back againe ento the aforesappe place, not put, ting it from them, butill supper be ended, & the auopoe done. The nert days they resorte vinto the chappell also in the lyke order, and from thence unto diner, wearing afterward they lapoe apparel! buto evening praper, $ lokewose all the supper tyme, butill the aboud be finithed. In the folemnity likewife of these featles, the thirteene chanons there, a five and twentie pore knightes, have mantelles of the order-whereaf those for the chas nous are of Hurrey with a roundell of the armes of S. Seorge, the other of redde, with a cocheon onely of the lappe armes. If as nve kinvant of thys order bee ablent from thys foleamety bpon the cuen and cape of B. Teurge, and be inforced not to be prefent eviner through bodily lickenesse, or hys abs sence out of the land : he doth in the Church Chappell, o: Chamber where he is remay. ning, proutoe an honorable fall for f kings maiestie in the roght hande of the place with a cloth of effate, and cuspions, & kochion of the Garter, and therein thearmes of the order. Also his owne stal of which size focuer it be distaunt from the kinges of the Emperours in his owne place, appoprited so nughe as he can, after the maner & scituation of his Hall at Windloze, there to remaine, h Leftenening praver on housen of D. George, at the of the clocke, tike wife the nert day burring the time of the diame fernice, butyll the Moining proper, and rest of the scrupce be envelo: and to weare in the meane time ins mantell onely, with the George and the the lace, without epther whode, collog or furcate. Driffie be so sicke that he doe keepe his bedde, he deth vie to have that habite lato byon him during the times of diame feruice aforefaide. At the fernice time also bpon the morrowafter S. Clorge, two of the chrefe knights (laung the deputy of the louereigne if he himfelfe be absent thall offer the kings banner of armes, then other two the swoode with the beltes forwardes, which being done the first two that returne agains and offer the helme and creft, having at eache time two harraldes of armes going before, according to the fratutes. The Lorde Deputy or Leeftenaunt unto the kings Grace, for the tyme beyng, alone and affifted with one of the chiefe Lordes, both deliuer at his offe; ring a piece of Solde, & bannig altithe king sfarmes and beraldes going before him, he so proceedeth to the effering. When he hath thus offered for b Prince, bereturneth with lyke folemnity but hys Itall, and nert of all goeth againe with one Baralce to offer for himselfe, whose oblation being made, every knight according to their failes, with an Barald before him proceedeth to the offring.

What folemnitie is vied at b burail of any Burail knight of baster, it is but in vain to declar wherefore I will theme generally what is done at h disgrading of one of these knights. if thosowe any griencus offence he be lepas rated from this companye. Whereas others wyle the signe of the order is never taken from him butill death doe ende and finithe by his dapes. Therfore when any such thing is to be done, promulgation is made there of much after thys maner infuing.

Be it knowne but of all men that. P.P. Digre knyght of the most noble offer of the Gar, ding. ter, is founde aplty of the abhominable and detestable cryine of high treason, for he hath most trapterously cospired against our most high and inightie Prince souereigne of the sappe order contrary to all ryght, his duety, and the faithful othe, which he bath sworne & taken. For which causes therfore he bath as ferced to be devoted from thes: noble order. afelowship of the Carter. Fozit map not be fuffred that such a traytour a disloyall ments ber remayne among the faithfuil knights of noble fromacke and bountifull proweite, or that his armes Hould be mingled with those of notic cinualry. Wheerfore our most excellent wince and supreame of this noble order, by the aduple and counfeil of his Colleacs, welleth and commaundeth that hps armes which he before time had deferued hall be from honcefouth taken awaye and throwne botone : and he himselfe cleane cut of from the fociety of this renowined orders and never from this day reputed any moze wh for a member of the same, that all other by hys crample may hereafter beware howe they committe the lyke trespasse, or fall in to such notorious suame and rebuke. Thys notice being avuenthere relocteth buto the party to be beforaded certaine officers with olucrs of his late fellows appointed, which take fro him his Ccozge, tother inuestiture. after a folenme maner. And thus much of this most honorable order, hoping y no man wil be offeded to me, for othering thus much. Fog lith the noble order of the Topson Dox or Colden fixle, with the ceremonies appers terning buto the creation and investiture of the fire and thirtie knightes thereof: And lukewyle that of D. Michaell and hys one & thirtic knights, are discoursed byon at large by the hylfolyographers of those countreps, her of the wout reprehension or checke, I trust I have queene, not gyuen any cause of displeasure, briefelp to fer footh those things that appertaine bubatter to our renounced order of the Garter, in boto think whole compatie is written commonly. Honi foit qui mal y pense. which is so much to sav. as cuill come to him that entil thinketh: a very marve imprecation, and pet fuch as is not contrary to the worde, which prompleth lyke measure to the meater, as he doth meat to others.

There is pet an other ozder of Bnights in Bancrets. Englande called Unightes Bannerets, who are made in the fielde with the ceremony of cutting of the point of his pennant of armes. and making it as it were a Banner. He being before a Bacheler Unight, is nowe of an bither deares a alowed to difular his armes ma banner as Barrons doe. Howbest these unights are never made but in the warres, the kinges Standard being bufolded.

Clautre (which we call commonly Squire) is a Frenche word, and so much in latine as Scutiger vel armiger, and such are all those which beare Armes, or Armoires, testimos nies of their race from whence thep be difcended. They were at the first Costerelles 02 the bearers of the Armes of Barrons, 02 knightes, and therby being instructed in Armes, had that name for a dignitie given to di fringuishe them from common fouldiours, when they were togither in the fields.

Centlemen be those whome their race and blode doth make noble and knowne. The las tines call them Nobiles & generofos, as the Frenche doe Nobles. The Etimologie of the name expoundeth the efficacte of the worde. for as Gens in latin betokeneth the race and furname. So the Romaines had Cornelios, Sergios, Appios, Fabios, Æmilios, Iulios, Brutos. &c. of which, who were agnati and there fore kept the name, were also called Gentiles, gentlemen of that or that house and race. As the king or Auene doth dubbe knights, and createth the Barons and higher degrées, so gentleme whose auncestours are not knowe to come in with Willia Duke of Pozman. die, do take their beginning in Englad, after this maner in our tymes. Whosoever stw: ofeth y lawes of the realme, who so studieth in the Univerlitie, 02 professeth Philicke and the liberall Sciences, oz belide his fernice in extenses the rownes of a capitaine in the warres, can live polely and without manuell labour, and therto is able and wil beare the post-charge and countenaunce of a gentleman, he shall be called Waster (which is the title that men give to Equires and Gentlemenne) and reputed for a Gentleman, which is so much the leffe to be disalowed as for that & Drince doih lole nothing by it, & gentlema being lo much subject to taxes and publicke paymeta as is the Deoman or hulbandman, which be also doth beare the gladiper for the fauting of his reputation. Being called to the warres. whatfoener it cost him, be will both arrave and arme himselfe accordinglye, and showe y more manly courage and all the tokens of p person which he representeth: Po mã bath burt by it but himself, who peraduenture wil now and then beare a bigger favle then hvs boate is able to sustaine.

Citizens and Burgeles have nert place to Citizens. gentlemen, who be those that are free with in the cities, and are of some substaunce to beare Affice in & same. But these citizens or Burgeles are to lerue the comon wealth in their cities and Bosowghes, or in corporate towner where they dwell. And in the common affembly of the realme to make lawes (called the Parliament,) the ancient Cities appoint foure, and the bosologhs tive Bure geles to have boyces in it, and to give their consent or distent unto such thinges as passe of flay there in the name of the citie of Mo, rowe, for which they are appointed.

In thes place also are our Marchaintes Marchats to be entialled as amog the Citizens, whose number is so increased in these our paves. that they, onely maintenaunce is the cause of the erceding prices of forreine wares, which otherwyle when eache nation was permitted to bring in hir owne commodi tyes, were farre better cheape and more plentifully to be bad. Among the Lacedemonians it was founde out that great numbers of Werchauntes were nothing to the furtheraunce of the state of the common wealth: wherefore it is to be wribed that the heape of them were somewhat restreige ned, to thould the rest lyne moze casily byon they owner few honest chapme be brought to decaye, by breaking of the bankerupt. 3 doe not denie but that the navie of the lande is in part maintained by their trafick and fo are the highe prices of thinges kept by now they have gotten the only fale of things into their handes: whereas in times past when the Crange bottomes were suffered to come in, we had Souger for foure pence the pounde, that nowe is worth halfe a crowne, Kaisons of Corinth for a peny that now are holden at fix pence, and sometime at eight pence 4 ten pence the pounde: nutmegges at two pence halte peny the ounce: Synger at a penny an ounce, Propnes at halfe penge fardyng: Oreat replons these pounde for a peny, Ci. namon at foure pence the ounce, Cloues at two vence, and Depper at twelve, and fire, tene pence the pounde. Whereby we mave fæ the sequele of thinges not alwayes to be such as is pretended in the beginning. The wares that they carry out of the Kealme, are for the most part brode clothes & carsies of all coulours, lykewyfe cottons, fræses rugges, tinne, woil, leade, felles. c. which being thipped at landly posts of our coaffs, are borne from thence into all quarters of the worlde, and there epther erchaunged for other wares, or ready money: to the great game and commoditie of our Werchauntes. And whereas in times past our chiefe trade was into Spaine, Portingall, Fraunce, flaunders, Danlac, Pozway, Scotlande, and Island anely: so in these dayes, as men not contented with thise fournepes, they have fought out the east and west Indies, & made verages not only buto the Canaries, Bor feine and newe Spaine, but likewyle into Cathaia, Hoscoma, Cartaria, the regions there. about, from whence as they pretende they bying home great commodities.

D.j.

pricol thinger.

Dur Peomen, ace those which by our Law, pers are called Legales homines, fre me boan English, and mape dispende of theyz owne fræ lande in percip revenelve, to the fumme of 40.8. Acrimg. This forte of people have a certaine preheminence and more chimation then labourers and artificers, and commo, lo loue welthelo, kæpe god houses, traueis leth to get puches. They are also for the most part fermers to gentlemen, swith grazing frequenting of markets and kæping offere nants, not pole servaunts as the gentlemen doth, but such as get both their owne & part of they: Bailters lyning) doe come to great wealth, infomuch that many of them are as ble and doe buy the landes of buthrifty gen tlemen, toften setting they? somes to the Scholes, to the Univerlities, and to § Innes of the Court:03 other wife leaving them fuf. ficient landes wherebpon they maye ique without labour, doc make their lagde sonnes by that meanes to become gentleme. Thefe were they y in times pair made al Fraunce afrayd. And the kings of England in fough. ten battailes, were wont to remaine among these deemen who were their fotemen, as the french iamgs bid amongst they, horses ment the Prince thereby Howing where his chiefe strength oto consist.

The fourth and last fort of people in Eng. lande are day labourers, poze bulbanome, and some retaylers (which have no free lande) copy holders, al artificers, as Tap. lours, Shomakers, Carpenters : Bricker makers, Palons. *c. As for llanes * bonome for land we have none. These therfore have neither nor bond boice nor authoritie in y common welth, but man in are to be ruled, a not to rule other : yet they England are not altogither neglected, foz in cities and copposalte Townes, for befault of Deomen they are fayne to make up their enquestes of of such maner of people. And in Willages they are commonly made Church wardens Sidemen, Aleconners, Constables, 4 many tymes entope the name of heabozowghes. Thys furthermore amonge other thonges Thane to lape of our hulbandmen and artificers, that they were never so excellent in they; trades as at this prefent. But as the workemanshippe of the later sort was never more fine and curious to the eye, lo was it never lesse strong and substanciall for continuance and benefite of the buyers. Certes there is nothing that hurteth our artificers moze then half, and a barbarous of flausthe defire, by rivding their work to make speedy biteraunce of theyz wares: which infozceth the to bugle by & dispatch many things they care not howe so they be out of they? hands, whereby the buyer is often soze defrauded. and findeth to hys cost, that hast maketh was, according to the proverbe. But to leaue, these thinges and proceede with our purpose, and herein (as occasion serueth) generally to speake of the common wealth of Englande, I find that it is governed and maintained by thice fortes of persons.

The Prince Ponarch and heade governour which is called the king, 02 (if & crown fall to the Moman) the Duxne: in whole name and by whose authoritie, all thynges are administred.

2 The Bentlemen, which be denided into two parts, as & Barony o; estates of Lozds, (which conteyneth Barons and all aboue that degree) and also those that be no Lozds, as linightes, Elquiers, and simple Gentles men. ac.

3 The third and lake lost is named the Deo. manrye, of whome and their sequele, the las bourers and Artificers, I have fayde somes what even nowe.

Df these also some are by the Prince, chose * called to great offices, in the comon welth. of which offices diners concerne the whole realme, some be more prynate and peculyar to the kinges house. And they have their plas of the description of Britaine. ces and degras,preferibed by an Act of pars liament made Anno. 31. H. detaui, after this maner infuing. Chefe fourethe Lozde Chauncelour, the Logor Treasogoup, the Logo president of the Counfell, and the Lorde Prince Seale bes ping perform of the degree of ansaron of as bour, are in the same act appointed to sit in h Darliament and in all affemblies or rountel about all Dukes, not being of the bloud rops all, Videlicet the kinges Brother, Eincle 02 Pephewe. The man a condit the contract and And these fire, the Ligrent Chamberlein of Englande: the L.high Cunstable of Enas landerthe Lorde Parchall of Englande: the Loide Admirall of Englande: the Loide great Haiter, or Lorde Stewards of the timas house: and the Kings Chamberleine: by that acte are to be placed in all affemblies ef Counfell, after the Lozde Prinie Seale, according to their degrées & estates : so that if he be a Barron, then to litte above all Ba rous:0: an Carle-aboue all Carles.

And folikewple the kynges Secretarpe being a Barron of the Parliament, bath place about all Barons, and if he be a man of higher degrés, héchall litte and be vlaced according therebato. In affiliator a moreotte

The Tempozall Poblitie of Englandar cording to the auncientie of they creations of first calling to their degrees, ar we ston costs of the value of the same of th	ĵ

	_
use The Marquile of Wincheller. The Market	ļ
se The Carle of Arondell. Is Bright on the Col.	ı
The Carle of Orfozde. The Hostoph Made	i
The Carle of Pozthumberlande.	3
The Carle of Shewelbury. Millian war	•
The Carle of Bent:	ĵ
The Carle of Derby.	į
The Carle of Mozeesfer. And the Phone	·
The Carle of Rutlande. London of the land	ì
The Carle of Cumberlandens and the Toll	ţ
The Carle of Suffer. The arm and in reason	Í
some Carle of Dunkingdon, and the Lorente	2
Los Carle of Math.	•
Loc Carle of Warwickers , rains mountains	•
~ De Carle of Southamptonet and the property	٠
Life Caric de 113 edforde. La rioria di diche de	K. will Cancoff Benbanker seemid seeming ere are confident for the confidence of the conf	ł
- We walle of the position that the test of the contract of th
who cattle of the fire and the same and the fire	ŕ
The Carle of Lincolne, and tool in the facility	• and the control of th Life Cilicont geonfarme and the contraction of the
The Cifeant 25 yours, Transport of the light	, to the second of
~ CC LUIUE BIMIPPEPPIPHHI
The Lorde Awdeley, and the gib and continued	,
The state of the s

moi Distante.	100
The Lorde Zauche.	ា រកវាទីខាងវិទ្ធា
The Lorde Straunge.
The Harman Country	40 CO S 1844 CO
The Lorde Barkeley
The Lorde Morley.	Cache Are.
The Lorde Wacres of	the Smith
The Lozde Colliam.	and the state of t
The Heart This
The Lozde Talbot.	3 194
The Lozde Stafforde.
The Lozde Grey of W	Milkennyore SOLA
The Lorde Scrope.
The Lorde Dudley.
The Lowe Latymer:	Cices on the order in the
The Laide Stourton.	and a growers in the
The Lowe Lumber.
The Hand of the Contraction	्ट अधूमक् ष् रकृष्णस्य ३० . १ ००
The Lorde Mounting.	per placific stripping or and
The Lorde Date	ra comuliciuent ingi
The Lozde Dascy of t
The Lozde Pountegle	An all the second second second
The Transfer of the Transfer o	କୁ ଓ କ୍ରିଆୟ ଅନୟ ପ୍ରେକ୍ଟର ଅନୟ । ପ୍ରେକ୍ଟର
The Loide Bandes.
The Lorde Manie.	រដ្ឋារជាជាជាការប្រើប្រឹក្សា
The Loide Windsoze.	ខេត្ត នៅ ជាកោយ នេះ ១០គាំ
A he It is no me will treat to
The Lorde Wientwor. The Lorde Borough.	Bearing A Stable
The Total matonati.	到的 的数据的 在分词 17 4的复数
The Lorde Porsaunt.	aranda (dic) edilik
The Larde Cromwell
The Hathe Heine	garage and the second of the second of
The Lorde Cuers.	emirandi an mera ses
The Lagor Outparton.	bonv (gasimiland)
The Liorde Richer	sig dal smales ship ad
The Lowe Willowgh	ได้เ รื่องสาดเกลาะ (ปลิสิ
The House Sheet lan	THE COUNTY OF THE STATE
The Lozde Sheffelde.	Agentary and the magical
The Loade Paget.	n the Cochrist of the optic
The Lopovi Davey of a	biche. The college of
The Larn Bamarnoof	(Difference)
The Lord Proth.	mening paris
	11 4 4 4 6 6 1 4 1 4 1 5 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
arise aristo aristomic and the second and the second aristomic aristomic and the second aristomic aristomi	المرابعة والمراجع
The Lots of Hundoon.
The Lord Saint John	nEARIOFFA
What has added to	AL MANAGERIA DE LA CARACTERIA DE LA CARA
The Lorde of Buckhir	Remarks the same and the same
The Loid Delaware.	a compare from the experience
The Lorde Burgher.	សំសស់សាសម្រាស់ ម៉ាស 😘
The I cone Talenton	Comment of the course Which is a security that or and the second
The Total wheriter.	rija produk at rijs
The Luide Prinche.	i (de de d
The Notor of Principal	jiban Clobertio. Districtor de l'Anti-
The Notor of Principal	jiban Clobertio. Districtor de l'Anti-
alpe nozog partega . " The car tait of call who Upun adoliadad gym	r 1624) Color de l'Origina Lion de l'Origina de l'Origina Un obblighe de l'Origina
Alpe-Norda partepal in the cast daile dail	nest comments in the second comments of the s
A. 19. A. 19. 19. 19. 19. 19. 19. 19. 19. 19. 19	unciencies as they fat
A he words parteys. The car tail and all all and a surface and a fact and a surface a surface Rachanicut in the land to an in the card to an income a face and the analysis and the card to an income an income and the card to an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income and the card to an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income and the card to an income and the card to an income and the card to an inc	unciencies as they fat issoftha Queenes in hetreigne.
A he words parteys. The car tail and all all and a surface and a fact and a surface a surface Rachanicut in the land to an in the card to an income a face and the analysis and the card to an income an income and the card to an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income and the card to an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income an income and the card to an income and the card to an income and the card to an income and the card to an inc	unciencies as they fat issoftha Queenes in hetreigne.
A he divide parteys. The contact and all all and a substantial and	moderna di 10 de 1
Mise Notos parteys. The notos parteys. The contact of all all all and a series of a seri	in some as they at they at infinite that they are in the original and in the attention and in
A he words parteys. The words in their a comin Rachandari in the in comin Rachandari in the in comin Rachandari in the inch in comin Rachandari in the inch in comin in comin in the inch in comin in comin in the inch inch in comin in com	moiencies as they fat infloof tha Oudenessis heareigne. The final control of antical aunterburg. Ness other some chart
A he stored parteys. The stored parteys. The stored parteys are their a common administration of the stored partey of the stored part	moiencies as they fet is soft the Queenes in hearing the Concerns in hearing a soft the Concerns in hearing a soft the Concerns and the concer
A he stored parteys. The stored parteys. The stored parteys are their a common administration of the stored partey of the stored part	moiencies as they fet is soft the Queenes in hearing the Concerns in hearing a soft the Concerns in hearing a soft the Concerns and the concer
A he dio 200 parteys. The contact of all all all all all all all all all al	in other as they fat in the fat i
A he word parteys. The word of all all all all all all all all all al	mind the man and and and an anticeptics as they fat in they fat in they fat in they fat in the fat
A he word parteys. The word and all all all all all all all all all al	in observations and in observations as they fet in the Outcomes in the observation in the observation in the observation of the
A he noto parteys. The noto parteys. The proposition of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey. The Archalleghop of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey. The partey of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey. The common partey of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey.	in addition of the particular of the Outcomes in the first the Outcomes in the first t
A he noto parteys. The noto parteys. The proposition of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey. The Archalleghop of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey. The partey of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey. The common partey of a common partey of a common partey of a common partey.	in addition of the particular of the Outcomes in the first the Outcomes in the first t
A he word parteys. The word of history and all and a sure and all a land and a sure a sure Rachappas in their a sure Rachappas in the land and a sure as a sure and a land a sure a sure and a sure a sure and a sure a sure and a sure and a sure and a sure a sure and a sure a sure and a	in addition of the had in a distribution of the Onderes in the first and
A sudaple vilue of a sudaple of	in contract of they fat in five a superiories as they fat in five a superiories as they fat in five a superiories as they fat in five a superiories and a su
A he word parteys. The word and all all all all all all all all all al	in obvious in they fet unciencies as they fet unciencies as they fet in foot the Queenes in hearing and in the construction of
A he word parteys. The word and all all all all all all all all all al	in obvious in they fet unciencies as they fet unciencies as they fet in foot the Queenes in hearing and in the construction of
A he word parteys. The word and all all all all all all all all all al	in contract of they fat in five a superiories as they fat in five a superiories as they fat in five a superiories as they fat in five a superiories and a su

Of prouisogrande for the poore. Cap. s.

Here is no common wealthat this day I in Europe, wherein there is not great Coze of poze people, and those necessarily to be relieved by the welthier fact, which other; wife would starue and come to otter confusion. TAith hathepoze is commonly devided into the fortes, so that some are pore by impotencie, as the fatherlesse childe, the aged, blind and lame, and the diseased person that is judged to be incurable: the lecond are pore by cafualtie, as the wounded fouldier, the decaped housholder, and the sicke person visited with grieveus and precurable diseas fes: the third confisteth of theiftlesse pose, as the riotour that hath columned all, the vegabond that will abide no wheres, but runneth by and downe fro place to place (as it were fæking worke and finding none) and finally the roge and frumpet which are not postble to be divided in sonder: 2006 acres a

Thiế loz=

paze.

For the first two sortes, that is to say the pose by impotencic and the pose by caluals tic, which are there & true proze in dede, to? whome the word ooth bind by to make some daily providion: there is order taken thorows out enery parich in the Kealine, that weeker lo coileaton thalbe made for their heipe and fustentation, to the end they speuld not seat: ter ablode, and by begging here and there, annov both towns and countrep. Luthoxitte allo is gynen buto the Juffices in chery Countie, and great populities appopuled for fuch as make refaulte) to see that the intent of the Catute in thus behalfe be trucky executed according to the purpose and measure ning of the faint fo that these two fortes are fufficiently provided for and fuch as ca live within the limites of their allowance (as eache one will boothat is godin and inelli dis sposed may weit for beare to rome a range abzode: But if they refuse to be supported by this benefite of the lawe, and will rather in deneur by going to and fro tormaintapne they ide evades, then are they abunded to be parcell of the third fort, aut for in Tread of curteous refreihing at home, are often core rected to flyarpecredutio, a whip of inflice as biod. Dany there are, which not with Kaving (अग्रीकारम्)

the riggar of the lawes provided in that behalfe, pelde rather with this libertie (as they call it) to be daily bnder the ware a terrour of the whippe; then by abiding where they were borne or bred, to be pronted for by the parith. I found not long lines a note of these latter lost, peffect wherof insueth. Idle beggers are such either thosow other mens occalio.02 throwgh their own refault. By other 3 thing mens occasion, (as one way for example) often land when some couetous man espring a further commoditie in they commons, holdes, and tenures, doth find such meanes as therby to wipe many out of their occupyings, & turne the same onto their pawate gapnes. Heres byon it followeth, that although the wife & better minded, do so behave themselves that At whole they are worthyly to be accompted among handes the fecond fort, yet the greater part commos chall the ly having nothing to flay byon are wisfull, blouded and ther bpo doe epther prome fole beggers, thefe mm or else continue farke theues till the gal red. lowes ove eate them bp.

such as arevole beggers thorow they? some befault are of two fortes, and cotinue theprestates either by casual or mere volutorp meanes: Those that are such by casuall meanes, are fully to be referred either to the first or lecond sort of pore: but degenera, ting into the thriftlesse sort, they doe what they can to cotinue their mileries with fuch impediments as they have to fray and was der about as creatures abhorring all labour and every honest exercise. Tertes 3 call these casuall meanes anot in respect of the oziginall of their ponertie, but of the continuance of the same, from whence they will not be delinered thezow their owne bugracis cus lewonesse, and from ard disposition. The volutary meanes.procede fro outwarde canles, as by making of corrolines, and apply ing the same to p moze fleshie parts of their bodies: and also laying of Katabanc, Spere wort, Trowfote, and such like buto thepr whole meders, thereby to raise viteous and colous lozes, am mone the noers by fuch places where they lie, to lament their miles rie, and bestowe large aimes oppon them.

Tinto this neaft is another fort to be referred, more sturdie then the rest, which have uing found and perfite ipnumes doe pet not withstanding sometime counterfait thepos festion of al fortes of dileafes. Dimers times in their apparell they will be like feruing men or labourers: Often trimes thep can play the mariners, and læke for thirs which they never lest. But in fine, they are all theucs and Caterpillers in the common wealth, and by the word of God not permit

of the description of Britaine.

ten to cate, fith they doe but licke the fineste from the true laborers browns, and beremen godly of that which is one bute the, to main teine their excelle, conforming the charitie of well disposed people bestoined byon them after ter a mott wicken, hourtble, and beteffable imy of Cause by might be

It is not yet. 50. year's ath this trade bes gan: but how it hath prolipered sidens that tyme, it is easye to indge, for they are noine supposed of one sere and another, to amount buto aboue.10000.perfous an I have barne reported. Pozeouer, in counterfaiting the @. gyptian roges, they have dentled a laguage among themselnes, which they name Cauting, but other pediars Frenche. A speache compact 30. yeares lince of Englith, & a guent nomber of odde words of their owne dimfing without all order or reasons and pet such is it as none but themselues are able to bunder, fland. The first deutler thereof was hanged by the necke, a fust reward mo doubt foz his defartes, and a common ende to all of that profession. A Gentleman also of late hath taarman, hen great paines to learth out the lecrete placises of this bugracious rable. And as mong other things he letteth downe and describeth.22.soztes of them, whose names it that not be amisse to remeber wherebureach one may gather, what wicked peopletifey are, and what billany remaineth in theurist

> The feueral disorders and degrees and in mongst our idle vagabonds.

575:5

12 Swadders of pedi

2. Apzightmen. lers. 3. Hokers of An 14 Jarkemen 02 par glers. 4. Roges. 5. Wilde Koges. Of vyomen kinder 6. Priggers of prauis not supply to dip cers. 1. Demaunders fox 7. Palliardes. alimmar ozfire. 8. Fraters. 2. Batodie balkets: 3. Portes. 9. Abzams. 10. Freshwater mas 4. Antem Portes: riners, 02 whipe 5. Walking Pozts. lackes. 6. Dores. 11. Dummerers. 7. Dettes. 12. Dionken Tin 3. Kinching Poples. 9. Kinching Coes.

The punishment that is ordained for this kind of people is very tharpe, and yet it can not restraine them fro their gadding: wher, foze the ende must nædes be Partiall lawe to be erercised byon them, as byon theues, robbers, despiters of all lawes, and enemies to the commo wealth and welfare of frand.

rapes, and fealings of children they doe ble (which they billique to begg withal) I neve not to rehearle: but for their idle roging a bout the countrie, the law ordeineth this may ner of intraction. The Roge being apprehe Ded; committed to pailon, and tried in f next affised (whether they be of Gaole deligerts da leftions of the pear) if he happen to be conmided for a pagabond either by inquest of of fice or the test monte of two honest and credible witnesses byon they, other, he is then immediativadiudged to be greeuoully whinped shormed thoso with griffell of the right sare wan bot fron of the compasse of an inch about as a manifestation of his wicked life. and one punishment recepted for the same. And this indgement is to be executed byon him, except some honest person worth fine poundes in the Auenes bokes in gods, or Awentie Spillings in lands, or some rich bon-.firolder to be allowed by the Infices, wil be boud in a recognisance to retaine him in his fernice for one whole years. If he be take the seconde time and proued to have forsaken his land service, he shall then be whipped a gaine, hored likewise therowe the other eare and lette to feruice : from whence if be departe before a peace be expired, and happen afterward to be attached againe, be is condemned to luffer paines of death as a felion (except before excepted) without benefite of clergie or fanctuarie, as by the statute both appere. Among roges and tole persons finally we finde to be compatied at 10200025 that as by and downe with counterfein dis cences, Coliners, and auche as an about the countrep. bling bulawfull games - practisers of Philiognomie and Palmelirie, tellera of fortuies fencers, bearwards, players, muy Areis, impliera, pediers, tinkers, fchollers, Thipmen, pationers gathering for less, and pe there so all an they be taken without suffice ent licence. Cach one allo that berbozoweth or reach them with meet or money is taxed and compelled to fine with the Quienes mas teffic for every time that he shall so succome them as it that please the Zulices of verse to alligne, so that the taration except not end. demicolni ened subd Eas egnissid. Tr thus much of the poze, and fuch providen as is appoynted for them within the Realme of England.

Withat notable roberfes, pilferies, marders.

Of fundrie punishments appoynted for malefactors. Cap.6.

Degreatest and most greenous punished ment bled in Englad, for luch as offend

1. Kufflers.

(o; putteth forth his arme, so niere to p same as be can get, in token that he is willing to fæ true inflice ercented ,) and pulling out the pinne in this maner, & head blocke where in the are is fastened doth fall downe with such a violence that yf the necke of the trans gressour were so bigge as that of a bull, it hould be cut in funder at a frocke, and roll from the boote by an huge distaunce. If it be so that the offendour be apprehended for an ore,02 ore,thepe,kine,hozle,o2 any fuch cate teil: the felfe Beaft og other of the same kinde, have the ende of the rope tred some, where but o them, to that they drawe out the pin whereby the offendour is executed. And thus much of Haltfar law, which I fet down onely to thew the confome of that country in this behalic. Roges and bagabondes are often frocked and whipped, scoldes are duc.

ked byon cucking foles in the water. Such fellons as stand mute and speake not at their arraphement are preffed to death by huge weightes, and these commonly holde theve reace thereby to faue their godes unto their invices and children, which pf they were condemned thoulde be confileated to the prince.

Theues that are faued by their bokes and cleargie, are burned in the left hande, boron

the brawne of the thombe with an hote Fro, so that pfthey be apprehended agayne, that marke bewrapeth them to baue bene arrave ned of felience before, whereby they are fure at that time to have no mercy. I do not read that this cultome of fouing by the boke is bled any where else then in Englande, nep.

ther doe A finde after much diligent inquiry

what Saron Brince ordanned that lawer howbest this I generally gather therof, that it was denifed at the first totraine the inha-biters of this lande to the lone of learning.

which before contempned letters, rail good knowledge, as men only giving themselves to husbanozie and the warres, the like where of I reav to have beene among to Bothesi

a Candales, who for a time monide not fale fer even their princes to be kearned for wear hening of their courages, may any dearned men to remarke in the counsel bouse, but by open proclamation woulderememamide the to anopoe. Pylates and cobbers by leas are condemned in the court of the Admyraltie,

s hanged on the those at loine water markes

where they are left til them tides have puope washed them. Finally such as having wals e bankes necre buto the less, and soe fuffer the fame to decap (after couenient admonition) whereby the water entreth and decloneth by the country: are by a certagne cultome: ape

The Thirde Booke

against the state, is drawns from the prisone to the place of execution bpen an hardle or Sled, where they are hanged til they be half dead, and then taken downe and quartered, after that their mebers and bowels are cut from their bodies, and throwne into a fire promoco neare hand and within fight, even for the same purpose. Sometimes if the tres. patte be not the more haincus, thep are luf. fred to hang til they be quite dead, and when fo cuer any of the Pobilitie are consided of high treason, this maner of their death is co. uerted into the loffe of their heads onely not withstanding that the sentence doe runne af. ter the former order. In triall of cales cocers ning treason, fellonic, or any other græuous crome, the partie accused doth velde of he be a noble mante be treed by his pæres : if a gentleman, by gentlemen: and an inferiour by God and by the countrie rand being condemned of fellonie, mandaughter.cc. be is eftforces hanged by the necke til he be dead, and then cut downe and burped. But pf he be convided of wilfull murder, he is epther hanged alive in chapnes nære the place where the face was commutted, (or else first strangeled with a rope) and so continu eth till his bones consume to nothing. The have vie neither of the whele noz of y barre, as in other countries, but when wifuli manflaughter is perpetrated, beside hanging the Offendour hath his right hande commonly Arichen of at the place where the adewas bone, after which he is led forth to the place of crecution, 4 there put to death according to the law. Under the worde fellonie are mas nie arienous crimes contained, as breche of paplon Annof Edward the lecond. Diffigus rers of 6 122inces lege people. An.c. of Den ry the fourth. Hunting by nyght wyth painted faces and Wilours Ann. of Benry the les uenth. Rape or fealing of women and map, dens An.3. of Henry the eight. Conspiracy as gainst the person of the Prince An.3.0f Den ry the leaventh. Embeliling of godes committed by the mailfer to the feruaunt, about the value of fourtie Hillings. An. 17.0f Hen rp the enght. Carping of horles or mares in to Scotland. An. 23. of Denry the eyght. So. domy and Buggery An 25, of Benrye the erabt. Stealing of Hawkes egges. An.31.0f Henry the enght. Couring, sozerie, Wittch. crafte and digging by of Croffes. An.33. of Denry the eight. Prophecying opo armes, cognisaunces, names, and badges. An. 33. of Denry height. Caffing of flanderous billes. Annales Denry & evant. Telisfull killing by poplon. An i. of Coward & firt. Departure of a foldier fro the field. An. 2. of Coward & firt. Diminution of cornaal offences within cafe premmire, embefeling of recordes, godes taken fro dead men by their fernaunts, frea. ling of whatformer cattell, robbing by the bian war, bron the fea, or of dwelling houses letting out of pondes, cutting of purles, frea, ling of Dere by night, counterfectous of copne, enidences, tharters, and writings, t divers other nædlesse to be remembred. Wer turp is punished by the pillozie, burning in the forehead to the letter P and lotte of all p moneables. Wany trespalles also are punithed by & cutting of one or both eares from the heade of the offendour, as the btteraunce of ledicious words against the maiestrates, fraymakers, pettie robbers. te. Roges are. burned thosow the eares, carpers of thepe out of the land by the loffe of their hads, such as kill by poplon are eyther (kalded to death in lead og læthing water. Heretiks are bur. ned quicke, harlottes & their mates by care ting ducking and dwing of open pennaunce are often put to rebuke. Such as kill thefels ues are burged in the fielde with a Cake oxiv uen thorow their bodies. Witches are hanged or sometymes burned, but theues are baged every where generally, laving in Has lifar where they are beheaded after a ftrage inaner, wherof I find this report. There is t bath ben of ancient tyme a law or rather a cultome at Halifar, that inholoener both comit any fellony: and is taken with the fame. of confesse the face boon eramination, pfit by valued by fower countrables to amount to the somme of thirtene pence halfe peny, be is forthw beheaded byon the nert market day (which fall blually bppon the tueldapes, thurloaves, and laterdayes,) o; else byon the same day y be is so consided, yf market be then helde. The engine wher with erecution is done, is a fquare blocke of wood of the length of foure fote and an halfe, which doeth ryde by and downe in a flot, rabet, or regall betweene two pices of timber, that are fras med and let bpzight of fine pards in beight. In the neather ende of the appling blocke is an Are keyed or fastened with Iron into the wood, which being drawne up to the top of the frame is there fallned with a wooden pinne, (the one ende let on a pece of woode, which goeth cross over & two rabets, the other ende being let into the blocke, holding the Are, with a notche made into the fame after the maner of a Samplons polt,) buto the middest of which pinne there is a long rove fastened that commeth downe among the people, so that when the offendour bath made his confession, and bath lapoe his neck oner the neathermost blocke, enery man prehended, condemned & Staked in & breache, where their remarne for ever as parcell of the foundation of the newe wall that is to be made spon them, as I have bard reported.

> Of fauuage beaftes and vermines. 11 (1837) Cap. 7.

T T is none of the least blessings where with I God bath indued thys Mande, that it is boid of noplome beats, as Lions, Beares. Traces, Mardes, Wolfes, and luch like: by meanes inhereof our countrymen may tras uaile in lafetie, and our herdes and flockes remapne for the most part abroade in the fielde, without any berdeman oz kæper.

This is chiefely spoken of the south & south well part of the Illande. For whereas we that dwell on this fide of the Awede, mave fafely boast of our securitie in this behalfe. Pet can not the scotten doe the lyke in energ point with in their kingdome, lith they have grieuous Wolfes continually conversaunt among them to the generall binderaunce of their hulbandmen, and no smal damage but to the inhabiters of those quarters. The bave py & fortunate want of thefe beats in Enge lande is bimerfally afcribed to the vollitike government of king Edgar, who to the intent the whole Countrie might once be clenfed and clerely riode of them, charged the conquered. Theichmen (who were then per Stured with these ranenous creatures aboue measure) to pape him a pearely tribute of Wholfes Chinnes, to be gathered within the lande. De appointed them thereto a certaine number of the hundred, with fre liberty for their princeso bunt and purine them over al quarters of the realme as our Chronicles doe report. Some there be which write how Ludwaii Idince of Wales payde yearely to king Edgarthin tribute of 300. Williams and that by meanes thereof within the come pade and terms of fours verse none of those moylome creatures were left within Wales and England. Since this tyme also we read not that: mpe Wolfe bath beine leine here that bath bene bredde within the bondes and limites of our country. Howbett there have beine dineral anought over from beyonde the lea for gradinate of gaines to make money onely by theigaling and gaping of the people bpon them, inho couet oft to lie them being Graunge beautes in their eyes and leidome knownein Englance.

Con Di Fores we have some but no great fores Koze, and alfo Badgiers in our landy e light Badgiers. groundes, where wodes, firzes, brome, and plentie of Chribbes are to Chrowde them in, inhen they be from their boarowes, and there to Warrens of Coneys at hand to feed by. on at will. Otherwise in claie which me call p clebgie mondo, we feldeme here of any bes cause the moulture and toughneste of the soile is such, as will not suffer them to drawe and make their borrowes depe. Certes if I map fræly say what I thinke, I suppose that these two kindes (I meane Fores and Badgers) are rather preserved by Gentleme to hunt & have passime with all at their owne pleas fures, then otherwise suffered to love, as not able to be destroyed because of they? greate numbers. For fachis the scantitre of them here in England in compartion of the plens tie that is to be sæne in other countryes, and so earnestly are the inhabitants bent to rote the out: that except it had bene to beare thus with the recreations of their superious, it could not otherwise have ben chosen, but that they hould have bene otterly destroyed by mand peares agone.

Diity.

I might here intreat largely of other vermme, as the Polcate, the Minuer, the Wesfel, Store, Squirrill, Fitchew and such like. Also of the Otter and Bener, of which, as the first socies are plentifull in enery wode and hedgerow: so these latter, especially the Dt. ter, (for to lap the truth we have not manye Beuers, but only in the Deifie in Wiales) is not wanting of to læke in many Areames & rivers. 13 ut it shal suffice in this sort to have named them as I soe also the Martern. although soz number 3 worthity doubt wher ther that of our Beners of Warternes, map be thought to be the lesse.

Dther pernicious beatter we have not ercept you repute the great plentie of red and fallow Deare, and froze of Comesumonate the hurtful fort. Which, although that of the sclues they are not offensive at all, pet they's great numbers are thought to be very premdicial, and therfore fully reproved of many as are in lyke fort our huge flocks of Chépe, where on the greatest parte of our sople is emploied almost in every place. The male of the red Deare was sometime called among Stagges. the Sarons a flaggon, but now a flagge, oz opon some consideratio an Warte, as the female is an 13 inde. And this is one parcell of the Acuery wherof we intreated before; and whose proper dwelling is in the large and woody forrests. The fallow deare as Bucks and Does, are nourythed in Warkes, f Coni nus in warrens and borrowes. As for pares they runne at they? owne adventure, except some Centleman or other for the pleasure doemake an inclosure for them . De these also the stagge is accompted for the most no.

ble game, the fallow Weare is the next, then the Roe (whereof wee have indifferent fraze) and last of all the Hare: all which (notingth, franding our custome) are passimes more mete for Ladies and Gentlewomen to er: ercile, then for men of courage to followe, whose hunting should practise they armes in talking of theyz manhode and dealing w such beates as effores well turne agains and offer them the hardelf, rather then they? fæte, whych many tymes may carp dyners from the fielde. Surely this noble kinde of bunting onely did great Wrinces frequent in times pall, as it may pet appeare by the hos flories of they times, and there to (belie that whych we read of the bluatthunting of the Winces and Kings of Scotland, of the witd 15ull-Wolfe.sc.) the example of king Henry the fecond of England: who offday, ning as he termed it to followe or purfue co. wards, cherished of set purpose sunday kinds of wilde beattes at Modfocke, and one oz two other places in England, whych he walled about with hard stone, where he would often fight with them hande to hande, when thep did turne againe & make any reise byon him.

king Henrye the fift in hys beginning, thought it a mere scoffery to pursue any fallow Deare with hounds or grevhounds, but supposed hym seife alwayes to have done a fufficient ace, when he had tired them by his owne trauaile on fote, and so kylled them with his handes, in the bothot of that erercile and ende of hys recreation. And thus oid very many inlyke fort wyth the Parte, as a ove reade. But I thincke y was very iona a gone, when men were farre higher and livil ter then they are now, and yet I demy not but any hunting of the redde Deare is a reght Brincely pallime. In divers forcen cuntries they cause them redde and fallow Deare to diaw the plowgh as we do our Dren and hop fes. In tome places also they milke they? Onthes as we doe here our kine and Gotes. Hines And the experience of this latter is noted by hane han Spraldus Cambrentis to have beene feene maked. and bled in Wales, where he nine sate chiefe made of hindes milke, at inch time as Balto wine Archbishop of Caunterburie preaches the Croylaide there, when they were both lodged in a Gentlemans house, whose trust of purpose kept a dairy of the same. As foi s plowing with Ares (which I suppose tabe onlikely) and Alkes a thrng commonly hee m the Calicountries, here is no placents speake of it, since we now want these kinds of bealts. Acither is it my purpose to intreat Ather thyings then are to be fone in End iand, wherfore I wil omitte to lay any more of wilde and launge beattes at thes trues thinking my felfe to have spoken already sufficiently of this matter, if not to much in the indement of the curious.

> of Cattell kept for profice. Cap.8.

There is no kinde of tame Cattell blual ly to be sæne in these parts of the spool inhereof we have not some , and that great fore in England, as Horfes, Dren, Sheve. Soates, Swine, & far farmounting the like in other countries, as mape be proved with eale. For where are Pren commonive more large of bone, Horfes more decent & pleasant in pace, Sheepe more profitable for woll, Swine moze hollome of Ashe, & Goas tes more gaineful to their képers, then here with be in England. But to speake of them peculiarly, I suppose that our Dren are sych as the lyke are not to be founde in any countrpe of Europe both for greatnesse of hos ove and sweetenesse of selfe to else woulde not the Romaine wapters, have preferred them before those of Liguria. Their hore nes also are knowne to be more fapre and large in England then in any other places, which quantity albeit that it be given to our biede generally by nature, pet it is oft hele ped by arte. For when then be very sponges many Graliers will oftentimes announce their budding hornes, or typpes of hornes, with Hony, which mollyfieth the naturall hardenesse of that substance, and thereby makethic to growe buto a notable greatnelle. Certes, it is not fraunge in England, to for Dren whose homes have blength of a parde of their forte betwent the trupes, and they themsclues thereto so tall, as the beigth of a man of meane and indifferent flature is scarce comparable buto them?

Our hoifes mozeoner arc bighe, and als though not commonly of (neb buge greate nelle as in other places of the mpine, vetyf you respect the easinesse of there pace, it is harde to lave where their lyke are to be han Dur lande both pielde no Affen and there fore the most parte of our carrage, is suite by these, which remaining Konedare either reserved for the cart, or appointed to beare such burthens, as are connections for them: Our Carte horses therfore are commoly so frong, that five of them will drawe this thousande weeght of the greatest tale with eafe for a log tournep. Such as are kept alla for burden, will cary foure hundreth waight commonly without any burt, or hinderance.

Abrs furthermore is to be noted, that our Princelle and the Pobilitye, have their car reage commonly made by cartes, whereby it commeth to passe, that when the Auénes mateffie doth remove from any one place to another, there are blually 400, cartwares, appointed out of the Countries adjoyning, whereby hir carpage is conneighed lafely buto pappointed place, therby also the auncient ble of lowmers and lumpter horles, is in maner otterly relinguished. Such as ferne for the laddle are comon, Geldings. ly gelded, and naw growne to be very dere among be especially if they be well colonred, infly lymmed, and have thereto an east fie ambling pace. Foz our coutrimen læking their ease manery comer where it is to be bad, delight bery much in these qualyties, but chiefly in their excellent paces, which befides that it is in maner peculiar buto how fes of ame sople, and not burtfull to the river ar owner litting on their backes: it is more oder herps pleasant and delegable in hus espes, in that the noyle of they mell propotioned pale both peeld a confectable found. Det isthere no greater deceit vled any wher then among our hozschepers, bossecossers. and Holteless: for fuch is the subtill knaues up of a great fort of them (wythout exception on of anye beat spoken which agale for pape uate gaine) that an bonell meaning ma hall bane beryogod inche among them, if be be not decepted by some falle trickens other. ewar there are very excellent lith for linet, Shope. nesse of siether they passe all other, a so much are our modies to be preferred before those efother places that if Informas knowns o value of them that are broppe and to be ban in Englande; be woulde never have gone to Molchos to lake for any there. Withat foles then are out countrymen s fir that they seize to berene themselven of this commodifie by processing dania powers transferre the same to other nations in corpus appeals be rappy mes and since to kape and more see among theur. Mort fach ist aus matures could be blinde pre instraction is that the learne incomentence before we fiele friand for a prefent using ins regardenot bebatdamageman palas to one policrity. Portho form other min insula appe also the metice; that over have to be nest thother countries, and to impeche surchande And it show reasonably that the same of the same which cometh from bayonde the loss though ft bie not worththie pence in more effet med then a continuall communitie at home. inhich farragrandeth that hadner It is furthermose to be entered; for the loine Annutules af Belgy humanest: and pattyo experience

Otters.

Marter.

Sphans hoines.

(notwithstanding the sharpeness of once lawes to the contrarge) Doth pet confirme it: that although our Kammes & Wethers one goe thether from bs never so well head. ded according to their kinde, pet after thep have remained there a whyle, they call there they homes, and from thenceforth remapne polled without any hornes at all.

Certes this kinde of Cattell is moze cherps thed in Englande, then standing well with the commo ditie of the commons, or prosper ritie of opners townes, whereof some are wholy connected to their fæding: yet such a profitable sweetenesse is founde in theyr flece, such necessity in their fleth, so great a benefite in y manuring of barraine lople with their dung & pille, that their superfluous numbers are the better borne withall, and there is never an hulbande man, (foz now 3 speake net of our great spepemaisters) but hath more or leffe of thes cattell fedying on his fallowes. There are a peraduenture no fmall babes, which can make accompt cfe nery tennekine to be clerely worth twenty pound in common and indifferent peares, if the milke of frue thepe be daily added to the same: but as Twote not howe true this surmple is, so Jam sure hereof, that some hus topues can and doe adde daily a leffe propors tto of ewes milke buto so many kine, wher; by their chécle doth the longer abyor moit; and eateth more brickle and mellowe then of theriuple it woulde.

Toates we have plenty in the well partes of England, especially in stoward Wales! and amongst the rocky billes, by whom the owners oce reape no small advantage: forme also are cheryshed else where in sundaye fredes for the benefite of fachas are offeas led with limby maladies, but tohom (as I here) it is indued very profitable and their fore inquired for of many farre and niere.

as for Dwitte there is no place that hath arcater fore not more wholsome in cating, the are fane here in england, softhefe, some we eate græne for potche i e other diped by into Bacowto have it of more continuances Larde we make little because it is charges Die, nepther have we such ble theteof as is to Vé Tæne in other Countries, lith we do either bast all our meate with butter, or suffer the fattell to balle it felfe by levlure.

Df our Boses we make Brawne, which is a kinde of meate not utually knowen to framgers (as A falie it) otherwise woulde not the fwart-Katters and trenche cokes, at the loss of Tallis, (where they founde great fore of this provision almost in every house) have attempted with ridiculous successe to toll-bake-broyle, and free the fame for their masters, til they were beter informed. I have harde mozeouer, howe an noble man of engi land old send oner an hoggethead of brawne ready fouled to a Catholike Gentlemen of Fraunce, who supposing it to be fishe reserved it butill Lent, at which fime he did eate thereof with verve great frugalitye. Therto be so wel liked of the provision it self. that he wrote over for more of the same fish. againe the yeare inluing: whereas if he Had knowen it to have beene flethe, he would not baue touched it I dare lave for a thousande crownes, without & popes dispensatio. With bs it is accompted a great peece of feruice at the table from Bouember butyll February be ended, but chiefely in the Chaismas time. Which the same also we begin our dinners eche day after other: & bicaule it is somwhat harde of digestion, a draught of Padluely, Balfarde oz Bulcadell, is blually dzuncke after it, where either of them may convenys ently to be had, other wyle the meaner loste content themselves with their owne drink, which at that leason is comonly very frong, and stronger in decde, then in all the yeare belide.

It is made commonly of the fore part of a tame Boze, let oppe for the purpole by the space of an whole yeare or two especially fit Wentlemens houles (for the hulbandman & farmers never franche them for their owns ble aboue thee or foure monethes, or halfe a yeare at the most) in which time he is dieted with otes and pealon, and lodged on the bare planckes of an bneafe coate, toll has fat be hardened sufficiently for their purpose. Ab terwarde he is killed, fcalded and cut out, & then of his former partes is our 152awne made, the realf is nothing to fat and there fore it beareth the name of souce only, and is commonly referred for the ferring man and and hinde. The necke pieces being cut of counde are called collers of Brawne, the Choulders are named Childes only the ribbes retayine the former denomination, so o thefe foure pieces deferue the name of Brawnis The bowels of the beatt are commonly cal away bycause of their ranchineste, a so were allo his Cones, till a folith fautalle gat bold of late amongs some belicate. Dames who have now founde the meanes to brette them with great courses a delicate of thand billing them to the boarde as a feruice though not without note of their delire to p provocation of flethly luid, which by thus one ace is not a lyttle renealed. But to returne agains with our purpole. Then the Boze is thus cut out, sache perce is lugapped by, enther with bill of the description of Britaine. fer and line, or upon the bry land and periff.

ruihes, offer peles, packethzed og luch ifke, and then fooden in a leade of caldron togy. ther toll they be so tender that a manne map thinfte a baufed ruthe og fost fraise cleane through the fatte, whyche being done thep take it by and laye it abroade to cole. After. ward putting it into close vellels, they poure either god small ale oz bere mingled woth vergeous and falt thereto tyll it be conered, and to let it lye (nowe and then altering and changing the fowling drincke least it hould mare foure) till occasion ferue to spend it out of the way. But of Brawne thus much, and so much may sæme sufficient.

> Of wilde and tame Fowles. Cap.9.

Of the Fowles also of Englance, which I may eafily decide into the wilde and tame, but alas such is my small kill in Fowles. that to say the truth I ca neyther recite their nombers not well distinguishe one kinde of them from an other. Det thys I have by generall knowledge, that there is no nation bnoer the sunne which bath intime of b pere more plentie of wild fowle then we, for lo many kindes as our 3land doth bring forth. We have therfore the Crane, the Bitter, the wilde and tame Swanne, the Bustarde, the Dicron, the Curlew, the Snite, the Wilder gole, Doterel, Brant, Larke, Blouer, Lauwing, Tele, Wigeon, Wallard, Sheldzake. Shoueler, Dewet, Seamewe, Barnacle, Quaile, Modcocke, Partrich and Fealant, belides divers other whole names to me are bitterly buknowne, and much moze the tafte of they? fielh wherew I was never acquainted. But as these serve not at al leasons, so in they, severall turnes, there is no plentye of them wanting, whereby the tables of the Pobilitie and Gentrie thould feme to be dayly bufurnyshed. But of all these the production of none is more maruellous then that of the Barnacle, whose place of generatio we have lought ofttimes to farre as the Dichades, where as peraducture we myght have forms the same nearer home, and net onely bppon the coaffes of Ireland, but euch in our owne rivers . If I thoulde lave howe either these 02 foine such other Fowle not muche bulyke buto them doe biede perely in the Thames mouth, I doe not thincke that many will beamore louc me, pet such a thing is there to be seene, exter of where a kinde of Fowle hath hys beginning the how the horse from where when they time comcount meth they fall downs either into the falt was as Pena the French Derbarien hath also no. ted in the very ende of hys Herball. As for Egretes, Pawperes and such like, they are daily brought buto be from beyonde the fea, as it all the Fowle of our countrey could not kuffice to latiffie our belicate appetites. Dur tame Fowleare such for the most parte as are common both to be and to other Countreps, as Cockes, Hennes, Gele, Duckes, Decockes of Inde, blew Pecocks, Bigeons and such lyke whereof there is great plenty in every Fermours yeard. They are kepte there also to be solde enther for ready money in the open markettes, or elle to be spent at home in god company amongst they? neighbours wythout reprehention or fines. Deve ther are we to miferable in England (a thing only graunted but o be by the especial grace of God and liberty of our Princes) as to dine or luppe work a quarter of a Hen, or to make lo great a repast with a cocks combe as they doe in some other Countreps:but if occasion ferue the whole carcales of many Capons, Hennes, Pigeons and such lyke doe oft goe to wracke, belide Birfe, Button, Teale and Lambe: all which at every feast are taken for necessary dishes amongst the comminal tpe of England. The gelding of Cockes, where by Capons are made, is an auncient viadile brought in of olde time by the Romaines when they dwelt here in thys lande: but the gelding of Turkies or Indiff Deas cockes is a newer deutle: and certainely not bled amille, lith the ranchnes of that by the is very much abated therby, and the tast of the Held in lundy wife amended. If A chould fap that ganders growe also to be gelded, I suppole that no man will beleneme, neptier have I talked at any tyme of luck a fowle fo ferned, yet have I heard it moze then once to be bled in the Countrey, where they? Bele are driven to the fielde like berdes of cattell by a Coleheard, a top allo no les to be merualled at theretheother. For as it is rare to beare of a gelded gander, fo it is fraunge to me, to le orbeare of Bele to be levor to the field lyke thepe: yet to it is, and they? Gole, herd carpeth a rattle of paper of parchement with hom when he goeth about in the mozning to gather the Gollings together, the nople whereof commeth no loner to their eares, then they fall to gaggling, and halten to goe with hym. If it happen that the gates be not yet open, or that none of the house be Mirring, it is ridiculous to fee how they will pepe bnoer the duzes, and never leave cry, ing and gagling til they be let out but o him to ouer take they? fellowes. I might here make mention of other fowles which we repute buclcane, as Crowes, Pies, Choughs, Rokes, c: but fith they abound in all countries, (though peraduenture most of all in Englande by reason of our negligence) 3 shall not neede to spend any tyme in y reher. fall of them. Peyther are they cherished of purpole to catch op the warmes that breede in our soples, (as Pollidore supposeth,) sith there are no vylandishe townes but have or thoulde have nettes of their owne in stoze to catche them withall. Sundite accs of Pari liament are likewple made for their biter destruction. Nothing therefore can be more onlykely to be true, then that thele raumous and noylome foules are nourified amongst vs to denour our Waximes, whych doe not abounde much moze in Englande then else where in other countries of the mayne.

The Thirde Booke

> Of nishe taken vpon our Coastes. Cap. 10.

A sour foules have their leasons, so lykes wife have all sorts of fifth, whereby it cos meth to passe that none, or at the leastwyle very few of them are to be had at all tymes. For my part I am greatly acquainted nep. ther with the leasons noz yet with the figh it selfe, and therefoze pf I shoulde take bppon me to describe or speak of either of them abs folutely, I hould enterprise more then I am able to performe, go in hande with a great ter matter then I can well bring about. It shall suffice therefore to declare what sortes of fishes I have most often fæne, to the ende I may not altogither passe over this chapter without & rehearfall of some thing, although the whole somme of that which I have to say be nothing in dede, of the full discourse bereof be any thing only confidered.

Of fishes therfore as I finde five forts, the Clat, the roud, the long, the legged & Chelled, so the flat are devided into the imothe, scaled & tailed. Of the first are the Place, the Butte, the Turbut, Dorrey, Dabbe, tc. Df the fer conde, the Soles, tc. Of the thirde, oure Chaites, Baidens, Lingsones, Klathe and Thornebacke, whereof the greater be for the most parte epther daped and carped into os ther countries, or foode, fowled, eaten here at home-lubylest the lesser be freed or butter red, sone after they be take, as proussion not to be kept long for feare of putrefacion. Unper the round kindes are commonly comprehended Lumpes an vglv fish to lighte, and pet very delicate in cating, of it be kindle Diesed. The Witighting, (an olde waiter oz fernito: in the Court) the Rochet, Gurnard, Hadocke, Codde, Herring, Pilchard, Sprat, s such like. And these are they wheref Thaue best knowledge and be commonly to be had in their tymes opponour coasses. Under this kinde also are all the great fishe contain ned as the Seale, the Dolphin, the Poppalle, the Thirlepole, Whale, and whatfocueris, round of body, be it never to great and huge, Df the long fort are Cungres, Cles, Bares, fishe and suche other of that forme. Fi nallye of the legged kinde we have not mas npe, nepther have I fane any more of thes sozi then the Polipus, called in Englishe the Lobsfar, the Craiffy, and & Crabbe. As for the little Craifices, they are not taken in the sea, but plentyfully in our fresherquers in banckes and under Crones where they kepe themselves in most secret maner and oft by lykenelle of coulour with the stones among which they lye, they deceive even the skilful takers of them, ercept they ble great oilis gence. I might here speake of sundzie other fices nowe and then taken also oppon our coastes, but sith my minde is onely to touche cyther all such as are blually gotten, or so many of them onely as I can well rehearle bron certarne knowledge. I thincke it and at thus tyme to forbeare the further intreas tre of them . As touching the Welly forte we have plentie of Dyfters, Puscles and Co. cles. Whe have in lyke fort no small store of arcat Whelkes, and Perewincles, e eache of them brought farre into the land from the sca coast in their severall scasons. And albei it our Dysters are generally forborne in the foure hote monethes of the yeare, that is to lap. Pap, Zune, Julp, & August. Det in some places they be continally eaten, where they be kept in pittes as I have knowen by erperience. And thus much of our sea fishe. as a man in maner biterive bnacquainted with their divertitie of kindes: pet so much baue I paloed to do, hoping hereafter to lap lomewhat moze, and moze orderly of them, if it thall please God that I map live and bave leafure once againe to perule this treatise, so make by a perfit pecc of work of y, which as you now fee is very flenderly begunne.

> Of Hawkes and Rauenous foules. Cap. 11.

Can not make as pet any full report howe I many fortes of Hawkes are bredde worthe in this realme. Howbeit which of those that are blually had amongest be are disclosed with this lande, I thincke it more calle and lesse difficulte to let dolone. First of all there toje that we have the Cagle, common expe-

of our rockes whereon they brede, pf speach did ferue, could wel testifie the same. But the motherecitent alory of all is not much from Chefter at a castle called Dinas Bzen, some time burided by Brennus, as our waitters da contenure. Certes this castell is no great thing, but yet a pyle very frong and in acs combic for enemyes, though nowe all rub nous as many other are. It standeth byon an harde rocke in the side whereof an Cagle biedetheuery years. Certes this is notable in the overtheow of hir neaft (a thing oft attempted that he which goeth thither must be fure of two large balkets, and so prouide to be let downe thereto, that he map litte in the one and be covered with the other: for other? uple the Egle would kill hym and teare the fielde from his bones with their tharpe tak lons though his apparell were never fo and. Pert vino y Egle we have the Iro oz Erne (as the Scottes doe write) who call the E. gieby h name. Certes it is a Kauenous bird anot much inferieur to the Egle indede. for though they be black of colour & some what lesse of bodie, pet such is their great. nesse that they are brought by divers into fundace partes of this realme and thewed as Cales onely for hope of gatrie, which is not tenby the light of the. Their chiefe bzeeding is in the Caeffcountry, where the commons complaine of great harme to be done by the in their fieldes, for they are able to beare a youg lambs of kidde buto their neaftes, there with to feede their young and come againe for more. Some call the Gripes. The have also the Lanner the Lanneret : the Tercelfand the Colchawke: the Dulket and the Spar hawke: the Jacke and the Pobby: and final. the fame though very feloe Partions. And these are all the Pawkes that I one here to be biedde within this Zaande. Howbeit as their are not wanting with vs, to are they not very plentifuil: wherfore such as delite in halving doe make their chiefe provision for the fame out of Dantke, Germany, and the Casicountries, from whence we have the in great aboundaunce q at excelline prices, luber cas at home and where they be bredde thep are folde for almost right naught and blically brought to the markets as chickins, Pullets and Pigeons are with vs, and there limight up to be eaten (as we doe the afozei lan cloules almost of every man. But to procede with great. Other ravenous birdes we have also in very great plentye, as the Lusarde, the Birte, the Lingtaile Dunkite, and such as often annoye cure Countrie dames by froyling of their yong brodes of chickins, Duckes and Gollings, wherebus to our very Kauens and Crowes have leare ned also the way: and so much are our ranes given to this kinde of spoyle, that some of set purpose have manned reclaymed and bled them in frede of Hawkes; when other could not be had. I have fiene Crowes fo cunning also of theps owne selves that they have used to soare over great rivers (as the Thames for crample) todenly comming downe have caught a small fithe in their feete and gone away withall wout wetting of their wings. And even at this present the aforesayderpa uer is not without some of them, a thing in my opimio not a little to be wondzed at. There is no cause wherfore I shoulde describe the Cozmozant amogli Palokes (ercept I spolo call him a Water Hawke) but fith fuch deas ling is not convenient, let be nowe fee what may be layde of our venemous Mozmes, how many kindes we have of them within our realme and countrie. and a comparable to the contract of the contra

¶ Of venemous beaftes.&c. Cap.12.

IFI Choulde go about to make any long Loiseourse of benemous Beatles, 02 William mes bredde in Englande, I hould attempt more then occasion it selfe wonlde offer; sith we have very fewe Mormes but no 15eas fes at all that are thought by nature to be epthar benemous of hurtfull in First of all therefore wer have the Adder ; which some . Galenus men doe not rashely take to bee the Appers de Theria-Certes if it bee fo, then is not the Apper ca ad Pifo-Authour of the death of hir * Parents, as nem. somethystories astyrme. And it may well * Plin.lib. be, for Fremember that I have reade in 10.cap.62. Philostrate, howe he sawe a Exper locking of hyz yong. I did lie an Adder once my felf that laye as I thought fleeping on a moule byll, out of whose mouth came aleven your Adders of twelve of thirtiene puches in length a piece, which placed to and from the Graffe one with another, tyli forme of them cluped me. So lune therefore as they late Sc Aristome, they can agains this the mouth of theps tle, Animadamme whome & tiplied, arlo then founde lium lib.5. eacheof them throwned in a diffinit celle, or cap.vltimo pannicle in hy2 belly, much like unto a lost & Theo-white iclly, which maketh me to be of the operate lib.7 pluton that our Adder is the Wiper in dede. Their colour's for famoli part rusop blew, and their Chinging bapngeth death wythout present remedie be at hand, the wounded nes uer ceasing to swell, neyther the venyme to worke till the thin of the one breake, and the other ascende bywarde to the hart, where it

The thirde Booke

finitheth. The effect, the length of the is most commonly two fote and somewhat moze, but seldome doth it ertende buto two fote are puches, except it be in some rare and monificrous Adder: whereas our Snakes are much bygger and læne sometymes to hemount a parde, or thie fote, although their poplon be nothing lo grieuous & deadly as pothers. Dur Adders lie in winter bnder stones in wholes of the pearth, rotten stubs of træs, amoult the dead leaves: but in the beate of the sommer they come abroade, and log enther rounds in heapes, oz at length opon some hillocke, oz else where in the grasse. They are found only in our woodand countrpes and highest groundes: as for our snas kes they commonlye are sæne in mozes, fennes, and low bottomes. And as we have great froze of Todes where Adders comoni Iv are found, so doe Frogges abound where Snakes doe kepe their relidence. We have also the Slowozme, which is black & grapish of colour, and somewhat shorter then an Ado der. We have in lyke fort Eftes, both of the land and water tlikewife Swiftes, wherof to fav any moze it should be but losse of time, fithe they are well knowne and no region bond of many of them. As for fles (fith it that not be ampse a lyttle to touch them also) we have none that can doe hurt or hynderancs naturally buto any, for whether they be cut wasted, or whole bodged, they are bogde of poplon all benimous inclination. The cut walted, for la J Englishe the worde Insecta are the bornettes, Waspes, Bæs, and such toke whereof we have great froze, and of which an opinion is conceived, that the first doe brade of the corruption of deade horles, the second of Peares and Apples corrupted, and the last of Line and Dren: which mape be true, especially the first and latter in some vartes of the beate, and not their whole subs fraunces, as also in the seconde, sith we have neuer Malpes, but whe our frute beginneth to warr rupe. In dede Virgill and others speake of a generatio of Bes, by kyllyng oz imouthering of a beonfed bullocke of calfe, and laving bys bowels or bys fleshe wrap. ped by in his hide in a close house for a cers taine scalon, but how true it is as pet I have not tried. Det sure I am of this that no one lining creature corrupteth with out the pzos dució of an other as we may le in there also for excelline numbers of flesh flies, if they be suffered to lye buburved or bucaten by the donges and Swine, who often pieuent fuch nedeleife generations.

Thus much farder well 3 adds of 136s, that whereas foine ancient wayters affirms

the to be a comodity wanting in our Alland. it is nowe founde to be nothing for In olde time peraducuture we had none in deede but in my dayes there is such plenty of them in maner enery where, that in some vylandysh Townes, there are one hundreth, or two hundzeth hines of them, although the laide hines are not so huge as they of the east countrep, but farre lesse, as not able to containe aboue one buthel of come, or fine peckes at $ most. Dur bony also is taken and revuted to be the best because it is harder, better wrought & cleniver vesselled by, the that which cometh from beyond the lea, where they frampe and fraine their combes, 15 és, quang 15 low, inges altogither into the Auste, as I have bene informed. In ble also of medicine our Philitions and Appothicaries elchewe the forcer, a choice the home made, as bræding leve choloz, which is oftentimes (and I have sæne by experience) so white as suger, and comed as if it were falt. Dur hines are made commonly of Ryc Craw, and wadled about with beamble quarters. But some make the of wicker and call them over with clay. Whe cherish none in trees, but set our hives some where on the warmest side of the house, pronyoing that they may stande days and with out danger of the moule. This furthermore is to be noted, that whereas in vesselles of ople, that which is nærest the toppe is accounted the best, and of wine that in the mid dest, so of hony the best is alwaies nert the bottome, which cuermoze casteth and days ucth his diagges opwarde toward the bery top contrary to the natures of other liquids substaunces, whose groundes and lies, doe generally settle downewardes. And thus much as by the wave of our Bes and Eng. little Hony.

As for the whole bodied, as the Cantharides and such benomous creatures, we here not of them. Bet have we Bettles , Hogleflyes, Turdbugges (called in latine Scarabei) the Locust or the Greshopper and such lyke; whereoflet other intreate, that make an ere ercise in eatthing of flyes, but a farre greater sport in offering them to spyders as did Caligula Cometome and an other Paince pet lyning, who delyted so much to see the for ly combattes betwirt a front five and an old Spider, that divers men have had great rewardes given them for their paincful pronis fion of flyes made onely for thys purpole; Some also in the time of Caligula coulde de! uple to let their Lozde on worke, by letting fiethe flies into his chamber, which he forth, with woulde egerly have hunted all other bulinelle let apart, ineuer cealed til he have caught hir into his fingers. There are some Cockescombes here and there in England* mbich make account also of this pattime as sfanotable matter, telling what a fight is fene betwene the, if either of them be lufty and couragious in his kinds. made a boke of the Spider & the Fly, where in he dealeth so profoundly and beyonde all measure of skill, that neyther he himselfthat made it neither any one that readeth it.can reache buto the meaning therof. But if those jolly followes in stede of the straw that they thrust into the Flies tayle (a great inincie no doubt to such a noble champion) inoulde bestew the cost to set a foles can boon there owne heaves: then might they with moze fee curitie, and leffe reprehension beholde these notable battaples.

Of Englishe Dogges. Cap. 13.

There is no country that may (as I take 1 it compare with ours in number, excels lencie, and discrlitie of Dogges: all which the learned Decour Caius in his Treatize unto Ormere de canibus Anglicis doth baina into them fortes: that is, the gentle kinde fere uing for game: the homly kind apt for funday necessarie vies: and the curriff kinde, mete for many topes. For my part I can fave no more of them then he hath done alreadie, wherfore I wil here let downe only a fomme of that which he hath written of their names and natures, with the addiction of an example 02 two now lately had in experience, where by the courages of our Patriffes thall yet more largely appeare.

The first source tore he deuseth eyther into fuch as rowe the beaff and continue the chasses springeth the Birde, and bewrayeth bir firght by pursute. And as these are commonly called Spanyels, so the other are named hounds, wheref he maketh eight forts, of which the foremoste crcelleth in persite finelling, the seconde in quicke espying, the third in swiftnesse and quicknesse, the fourth in smelling and nimblenesse. 4 the last in subtilty and decettfulnesse: The first kinde of these are also commonly ecalled Paryers, whose game is the Fore, the Pare, Wolfe, (if we had any) Hart, Bucke, Badger, Dt, ter, Poleat, Lobstart, Wesell, Conge. 4c:the second hight a Terrer, & st hüteth the Bade ger and Grey onely: the third a bloudhound, whole office is to follow the fierce, and nowe and then to pursue a these or beatt by hys bry fote: the fourth a Gaschounde, who hunteth by the eye : the fifth a Greyhounde, che riched for hys arougth and swiftnesse: the sixt

a Lvemmer, that excelleth in imelling and fwift running: the fewenth a tombler and the eight a thefe, whole offices (I meane of the latter two) encline onely to deceite, wherein they are oft to skilfull, that fewo men woulde thinke so mischenous a witte to remagne in fuch two creatures. Having made thys enumeration of Dogges which ferne for pichafe and Hunting, he commeth next to suche as serve the Falcons in they times, whereof he maketh also two sortes. Due that findeth hps game on the lander an other that putteth bp such Fowle as keepeth the water. And of these thus is commonly moste bought for the nette of traine, the other for the Hawke, as be doeth theine at large. !Df the first, he says eth that they have no peculiar names affige ned buto them severally, but eache of them is called after the birde whych by naturall appoputmet he is allotted to hunt: for which confideration some be named Dogges foz the Fealant, some for the Falcon, and some for the Partriche. Howe be it, the common name for all is Spanniell, as if these kindes of Dogges had bene brought hyther out of Spaine. In like fort we have of water Spanniels in they? kinde. The third fort of Dogs of the gentle kinde is the Spaniell gentle. or conforter: or as the common terme is the fillinghaund, and called Melitei, of the Iland Palta, fro whence they were brought hither. Their Dogges are little and prettie, proper and fine, and lought out far and nere to las tissie the nice delicatie of daintie dames, and wanton womens willes. Instrumets of fole ly to play and bally withal, in trifling away the treasure of time to wythozawe they? mindes from more commendable ererciles, and to content they? corrupt concupicences with vaine vilport, a filly pore thift to thun they? irkefome polenesse. These puppies the smaller they be (and thereto ef they have an hole in the forepartes of they heads) the bet ter they are accepted, the moze picafure alfo they pronoke as mete platfellowes for min fing milirelles to beare in they bolomes, to kæpe campany worth all in they? chambers, to fuccour wyth flepe in bedde, and nouryly wyth meate at bozoe, to lye in they lappes, and licks: they; lippes as they lie (like yonge Dianaes) in their wagons. And god reason it thould be to, for courlenette with finenette hath no fellowthip, but featnesse to neatnesse hathneighbozhead inough. That plaulible pronerbe therfore verified sometime byon a tyrant, namely y he loved hys Sowe better then hys sonne, may well be applied to some of thys kinde of people, who delight moze in they, dogges, that are deprined of all posible

The Thirde Booke

litye of reason, then they doe in children that are capable of wisdom and indgement. Pea, they ofte fæde them of the best, where the pore mans child at they? dozes can hard ly come by the worlf. But the former abule peraduenture raigneth where there hath ben long want of illue, els where barenes is the best blossom of beauty:02 finally, where poze menschildzen foz want of theyz owne istue are not redy to be had. It is thought of some that it is very holesome for a weake fromake to beare such a Dogge in ones bosome, as it is for hym that hath the palle to feele the dat ly finell of a Fore. But how truly thys is af urmed let the learned indge: onely it Chall suffice for D. Caius to have sayo thus much of Spanicis and Dogges of the gentle kinde. Dogs of b homely kinde, are eyther thep. heardes curres, or Wallistes. The first are to common, that it needeth me not to speake of them: Thepz vie also is so well known in kes ping b berd together (either when they grale or go before the Hepheard,) that it Hould be but in vaine to spend any time about them. Witherfore I will leave thys curre buto hys owne kinoc, and goe in hande weth the Was fifte or bandbogge, which is an huge dogge, Aubbozne, ougly, cagre, burthenous of bor op, (and therfore but of little swiftnesse,) ters rible and feareful to behold, and moze fearle and fell then any Archaeien curre. Dur English men to the entent that these Bogges maye be moze fell and fearle, affift nature with some art, vie a custome. For although thus kinde of dogge be capeable of courage, violent, valiant, front and volve: yet wil they increase these they tromackes by teaching them to batt the Beare, the Bull, the Lyon, and other such lyke cruell and bloudy beasts wythout any coller to defende they? theotes, and oftentimes thereto, they traine them bp in fighting and wealfling woth a man, has uing for the lanegard of his life either a pike statte, clubbe, sword, or privile coate, whereby they become the moze fearle and cruell buto Araungers. Df Pafiffes, some barke onely with fearle and open mouth but wil not bite, some do both barke and bite, but the cruellest doeth cyther not barke at all, oz bite befoze they barke, and therefoze are moze to be feared then any of the other. They take also they, name of the word male and thefe (or matter thefe if von will) because they often put luch persones to ther: thistes in townes and villages, and are the principal causes of there apprehension and taking. The force lubrch is in them furmontethall beimfe, and p fast holde which they take with they tath ercedeth all credite, for them of them against a Beare, fowie against a Lion are lufficient both to trie mastries with them, and otterly ouermatch them. Ling Benrye the feuenth, as the reporte goeth, commaunded all suche curres to be hanged, because they durst presume to fight against the Lion who is they? king and louer aigne. The like be did with an ercellent Falcon, because be feared not hand to hand to match with an Cagle, willing his Falconers in his owne presence to plucke of hps heade after he was taken downe, faring that it was not mete for any subject to offer fuch wrong buto his Lord and superior. But if king Henrye the seventh had lived in our time, what would be have done to one Engs lish Wastiste, which alone and wrthout anve help at al, pulled downe first an huge Beare, when the then a Parde, and last of ala Lyon, eache affloed was ter other before the Frenche King in one hurd was ambasa, day: where it I should wryte the circumsta, dor thing ces, that is, how he toke his advantage being let lose onto them, and finally or aue them into such exceding feare, that they were al glad to runne away when he was taken fro them, I hould take much paines, and pet reape but small credite, wherfore vt thall suffice to have lavo thus much thereof. Some of our Mastiffes will rage onely in the nught, some are to be tied op both day and night. Such als foas are suffered to go lose about the boule and parde are so gentle in the day time, that children may rive boon they? backes & play with the at they pleasures. Some of them also will suffer a Graunger to come in and walke about the house or yarde where him li feth, without giving ouer to folow him. But if he put forth his hand to touche any thrng, then wil they file byon him & kill hym if they may. I had one my felfe once, whych woulde not suffer any man to bring in bys weapon farder then my date: neither those that were of my house to be touched in his presence. Dr if I had beaten any of my children, be would gently have allayed to catch the rodde in bps tæthe and take it out of my hande, oz else plucke downe thepz clothes to faue them fro b Aripes: which in my opinion is worthy to be noted, thus much of our Palliffes. The last lost of Dogges consisteth of the currish kinde mæte for many topes: of whyche the way oz pzickeard curre is one. Some me cal them warners, because they are good for no thing else but to give warning when any body both Aurre or lie in waite about the boule in the nraft season. It is unpossible to de feribe thefe curres in any order-because they have no one kinde proper buto themselves, but are a confused companye mirte of all the reft. The seconde sorte of them are called.

turne spittes, whose office is not buknowne to any. And as these are onely reserved so, this purpose, so in manye places our Paistiffes are made to drawe water in greate whiches out of diepe welles, going much like unto those which are framed so, oure turne spittes, as is to be seene at Royston, where this seate is often practiced.

The last kind, of topith curres, are named bauncers, and those being of a mongerel fort also, are taught a exercised to daunce in meas fure at & mulicall found of an inftrument, as at the full froke of a dzomme, swete accent of the Citharne, and pleasaunt harmony of the Harpe, shewing many tryckes by the acture of they bodges. As to fland bolt bui ryght, to lye flat opon the grounde, to tourne round as a ryng holding their taples in their toth, to law and begge for meate, & fundape such properties, which they learne of theve pole rogithe mailters, whole instrumentes they are to gather gaine, as olde Apes clos thed in motley, and colloured thost walked Jacketes are for the lyke vagabondes, who fæke no better lyning, then that which they may get by fonde partime and polenelle. 3 involt here intreat of other Dogges, as of those which are bredde betweene a bytche a a Cololfe, and betweene a byche a e fore, oza beare and a maltife. But as we otterly want the first lost, ercept they be brought onto bs, foit happeneth sometime, that the other two are ingendied and feine amongst bs. But of all the rest heretofoze remembred, in this Chapter there is none moze valve in light, cruell and fearce in dede, not butrac, table in hande, then f which is begotten betwen the Beare a the bancdoge. For what four he catcheth hould of he taketh it so fait that a man may foner teare a rend his body in funder, then get open his mouth to separate his chappes. Certes he regardeth neps ther Wolfe, Beare, nor Lyon, and therfore may wel be compared with those two dogs which were sent to Alexander out of India (and procreate as it is thought betweene a Pallisse and male Tyger as bee those also of Hyrcania) og to them that are beed in Archada, where copulation is oft fene betwen Lions and Byches, as the like is in framce betweene the Awlfes and Dogges, where of let this luffise.

¶ Of English Saffron. Cap.14.

A sthe Saffron of England is the most excellent of all other, (for it gineth place neyther to that of Cilicia, whereof Solinus speketh, neither to any that commeth from Etolia, Sicilia, Cirena, or Licia, in sweteness tindure and continuance) so of that which is to be had amongst be, the same that groweth about Sastron Walden in the edge of Eller, surmounteth all the rest, and therfore beareth worthsly the heigher price, by sire pence, or twelve pence most commonly in the pounde.

The rote of the berbe that beareth this commoditie is rounde, much like onto an independent Dnion, and yet it is not cloved, as the lylly, not flaked as the Scalion, but hath a fad substaunce interbulbosa, as Orchis and Statyrion. The collocation of the rind is not much differing from the innermost shell of a chestnutte, although it be not altogither so blacke as the sayo shell, neither altogither so baicle as is the pill of the Dnion.

The leafe or rather the blade thereof is long and narrowe as Graffe, in the winter times our Cattel delight very much to fede byon the same, which come uppe alwaies in Daober after the Cowses be gathered and gone. The whole hearbe is named in græke Crocos, but of some as Dioscorides satth Cafor Cynomorphos of Hercules blond. Det in the Arabian speach, from whence we take the name that we give thereunto. I find that it is called Zahafaran, as Rembert ooth bere witnesse. The cause wherefore it was called Crocus was this as the Poetes feigne, especially from whome Galene hath bozowed the billozpe which he noteth in hys ninth boke, de medicamentis secundum loca, where be waltethafter thys maner. A certaine pong Gentleman called Crocus went to playe at coptes in the fielde with Mercury, and beying hedelesse of himselfe, Mercuries coite happes ned by his michappe to hit him on the heade whereby he recepued a wounde, that ere long killed him altogither, to the great discofort of his friends. Finally in the place wher be bled , Saffron was after found to grow, whereupon the people læying the coloz of the chine as it frode, (although I doubt not but it grewe there long before) adjudged it to come to the bloube of Crocus, and therefore they gave it his name.

In dede the chine while it remaineth whole budined resembleth a darke redde, but being broken and connected into ble, it yeldeth a yelow tindure. But what have we to do with fables. The heads of Saffron are raised in July either with plough or spade, and being scowed from they? Rose, and se vered from such heades as are sugendred of them since the last setting, they are enterred agains out of hand by rankes or rowes, and being covered with moulds, they rest in the earth, where they cast sorth little filets & small rotos like buto a scalion butill September. in the beginning of whych moneth & ground is pared, and all incedes and graffe that groweld opon the fame remoued, to the intente that nothing may annoy the flower when his time both come to rife. Gathering These things being thus ordered in the later ende of the aforeland moneth, the flower beginneth to appeare of a whitish bleive colour, and in the ende thewing it felfe in the owne kinde, it resembleth almoste the Leu-De Rem couon of Theopheast, laving that it is lover. and hath in middelf thereof, either thie oz four chines, very red and pleasant to behold. These flowers are gathered in the moznyng befoze the riling of the Sunne, whych would cause them to welke or autre: and the chines being riched from the flowers, these are throwne into the dunghill, the other dry. ed upon ittle kelles couered wyth Araigned carrades over a loft fire: wherby and by the waigh, that is layed byon the, they are dried t pasted into cakes, then bagged bp for p benefite of they? owners. In god yeares we gather an 100. poundes of wette Saffron of an aber, which being bated doth yeld twentie pound of dry and more. Witherby and fith the price of Saffron is commonly about there the hillings in money, it is easie to fee what benefit is reaped by an acre of thys commo.

Railing.

ditie, toward the charges of the letter. The heads are raised energ third yeare as bout vs, and commonly in the first yeare after they be let they peide very little increase, pet that which commeth is couted the finelly. and called Saffron du hort. The nert crop is much greater, but the third ercedeth, and then they raile agains. In thys Periode of time also the heads are sayd to childe, that is to yelde out of some paries of them dyners other hedicis, wherby it hath bene fæne that fome one head harh bene increased to 3.02 4. 02 5.62 6. whych augmentation is the onely cause whereby they are sold to good cheape. Not to my respiblance I have not knowne a quarter of them to be valued much aboue two thillings eight pece, creept in some odde veres, luhen over great floze of winters was ter bath rotted y most of them as they frod run the ground. It is thought that at energ railing they enercale comonly a third part.

In possiblic and Sustolke they raise but once in fenen peres, but as them Saffron isnot fo fine as that of Cambridge Myze and about Malaen: so ic wil not right noz holde colour with all, wher in lieth a great part of the value of thes unite, Some craftle lackes victo mut it inpth the flower of Sonchus, whych commeth somewhat neare in dede to the hew of our god Saffron, but it is some bewraped both by the colour and hardnesse, Such allo was the plenty of Saffron about 20. yeares passed, that some of the townes men of Malden not thankful for the aboun. dance of Gods bleffing bestowed byon them, (as withing rather more fearcitie therof because of the keping up of the price) in moste contemptuous manner murmured agaput him, laying that he did thite Saffron at that present, ther with to choke f market. But as they thewed them felues no leffe then ingrat infidels in thes behalfe, fo the Lord confide. ring they? buthankfulnelle, gaue them euer fince luche learlitie, as the greatell murmurers have now the least flore, and moste of them are either worne out of occupying, or remain scarfe able to maintain their grouds wythout the helpe of other men . Certes it hath generally decayed about Walden fince the layd time, butill now of late with in this two yeares, that men began againe to plant and renew the same. But to proceede, when the heads be railed and taken up, they will remaine 16.02 20. daies out of the earth. And I know it by experience, in that I have caried some of them to London soyth me, and notwethkanding that they have remayned there bulet by the space of 15. dates, yet some of them have brought forth 2.02 3.flowers a pece, and some flowers 4.025. chines to the great admiration of such as have gatheren the same, and not bene acquainted with the countrey where thep grew. The Crokers or Saffron men doe ble an observation a little before the comming uppe of the flower by: spening of the heads, to indge of plentre and fearcitie of thys commoditie to come. For it they lee as it were many fmall heary baines cf saffron to be in the miedelt of the bulbes they pronounce a frutefull yeare: And to fay? truth, at the cleaning of each head a ma thail, discerne the Saffron by the colour, and-in wherabouts it will iffue out of the rote: walls Warme nights, fwete dewes, fat grouds (chicky the chalky) and milly morningsave) bery good for Saffron, but froft and colo doc kill and keepe backe the flower: And thus much have I thought goo to speake of Ento glish Saffron whych is hote in the seconde and dry in the first degrée.

How if it please you to be are of any of the vertues thereof, 3 will note thefe infining at the request of one who required me to touche a fewe of them with what some beentye 3 lifted. Therfore our Saffron is bery profile. bly mingled with those medicines subject wert take for the offeales of the back, of filoinges;? of the liner, and of the bladder. It is good als!

to for the Nomacke if you take it in meate, for it comforteth the same and maketh god digestion: being sodden also in wine, it not only kapetha man from deonkennelle, but encourageth also unto procreation of issue. Af you drinke it in fluete wine it enlargeth the bacth and is good for those that are from bled with the telike and thortuelle of & winds Dingled with milke of a woman and laned buon the eyes it frageth fuch humors as de fend into the fame, and taketh away the red wheales and pearles that of egroweth about them. It is verye profitably layde onto all inflammations, painefull. Apostemes; and the thingles, and doth no Imalicale buto dv ners if it be mingled with fuch medicines as are beneficiall onto the eaces. It is of great pleato in riping of botches and al fivellings proceding of raw humors. Drifit that please pouto deinke the rote therof with Maluelie it will maruelloudy proude brine, distolute and cruell granell, and peldeno small ease onto them that make they? water by droppe meales. Finally thice drammes thereofta. ken at once (which is about the weighte of one thil. 9. pence halfepeny) is deadly poplon as Dioscorides both aftirme. There groweth fome Saffron in many:places of Almaine, and also about Hienna in Austria, which ia. ter is taken for p belt that springeth in other quarters. In steade of thys also some doe vie the Carthamus (called amongst bs bastarde Saffro) but nepther this is of any value noz the other in any wife comparable onto ours, whereoflet this suffice as of a commodity? brought into this Ilandenet long before the time of Edward the third, and not common ly planted buill kichard & fecond did raign. It would grow bery well as I take it about Chiltern hilles, in all the vale of the whyte

Of Quarries of stone for buylding. Cap. 15.

Clarryes with bs are pittes or Mines out of which we diage our Stone to builde withall, and of thefe as we have great plentic in Englande, so are they of divers fortes and those very profitable for sundrie necessary bles. In times past & ble of stone was in maner dedicated to the buylding of churches religious houses, princely pallaces Bishoppes manours and holdes onely: but now that ferupulus observatio is altogither infringed, and buylding with stone so commonly taken by that amongest noble men & gentlemen the timber frames are supposed to be not much better then paper worke, of little countinuaunce and least countinuance of all. It farre passeth my cumning to set down how many fortes of frome for buyloing are to be founde in Englande, but much farder to call each of the by their proper names. Hawbeit luch is the curiofity of our country menthat, notwithstanding Almightie God hath to bledled our realme in most plentifull: maner with fuch and formany Auarries apt and meete for pyles of longest countinuance. pet we as lothsome of this aboundance or: not liking of the plenty-doe commonly leaus these naturally iftes to moule and sinder in the ground and take op an artificial bricke. in burning whereof a great part of the wood. of this lande is dayly confumed and spent to the no small decay of that commoditie and hinderaunce of the poze that perith oft for colde. Dur elders have from tome to tome following our naturall vice in millyking of our own commodities at home, and deliring: thole of other countries abzoade, most estées med the Cane Cone that is brought hyther. out of Pormandiest many even in these our dayes folowing the same vaine doe couet in. their workes almost to ble none other. How beit experience on the one fide and our skilful Palons on the other (whole indoment is no thing inferiour of those of other countries) do affirme that in the Porth partes of Englad and certagne other places, there are some quarries which for hardenelle & beautie are equall but the outlandiff greete. This map also be confirmed by the kinges chappell at Cambiloge, the greatest part of the squared Cone wher of was brought that her out of the Porth. Some commend the vaine of white fre frome, flate, e mere frome which is betwirt Pentowen and the black head in Coza newall-foz very fine fruffe. Dther doe freake much of the quarries at Hamden nine miles. from Mylbery a pauing Cone of Burbecke. For Mophe frome not a felvallow of b quare rep that is a Drilley, divers mullyke not of the vaine of harde Cone that is at Drforde and Burford. One prayleth the free frone at Mancheller and Presidence in Glocester thyze. Another the quarryes of the lyke in Richemont. The third liketh wel of the hard. Kone in Cle hill in Shropshire. The fourth of that of Thosowbridge; Welden & Terringto. Where by it appeareth that we have quarries ynough in Englande lufficient for vs to buylde withall, if the peutsh comtempt of our owne commodities and delectacions to enriche other countries dyd not catch fuch folishe holde bypon bs. Thereby it is also veryfied (as any other wave) that all Pao tions have rather nede of Englande, then 19.y. Eng=

of the description of Britaine.
but for a whyle) it causeth us to give over lyke sorte of white ul

Englande of any other. And thys 3 thincke n or luffice to, the lubstance of our works. Bair if you have regarde to their ognature. how many wines of fundate kindes of course and fine marble are then to be had in Ena: lad. But chicky one in Staffordhyre, an o ther nere to the Deke, the thirde at Claul. Dip, the fourth at Snothill, (longing to the Lozo Chambois) the fifth at Calchone, whi che is of blacke Warble spotted with gray oz white spottes, the sixt not farre from Durhã. But what meane I to go about to recite all or the most excellent, sith these which I have namedalreadie are not altogither of h leaft not scarcely of any value in comparison of those whose places of growth are otterly bn. knowne buto me, & wherof the blacke mare ble spotted with græne is none of the bylest fort, as map appeare by parcell of the paues ment of the lower part of paules in London where some peeces thereof are pet to be fine and marked, pf any will loke for them. If marble will not serve then have we the finch Alabaster that mav elsewhere be had, as about S. Dauides of Wales. Also nere to Beau Waner, which is about foure or aue nules from Leicester, and taken to be the best, although there are divers of ther quarries hereof beyond & Trent, whole names at this tyme are out of my remembraunce. What thoulde I talke of the plas ther of Areholme, (for of that which they dia out of the earth in fundrie places of Lincolne + Darbphpies wher with they blauch their houses in fred of lime, I speake not). Certes it is a very fine kinde of Alabaker, but lith it is folde commonly but after twelve pence the loade, we judge it to be but byle and courle. For my part I cannot skill of stone, yet in my opinio it is not without great vie for platter of paritie and such is the Wine of it that the Cones lve in flakes one bypon an other like planckes or tables, and under the same is an harde stone verye profitable for building as hath oft tymes beine proued. If neyther Alabaster noz Warble doth suffice, we have the Touche Stone called in latin Lydius lapis, epther to matche in sockets with our pillers of Alabatter og contrariwife:ifit pleaseth the worke man to some villers of Alabaster of Couche with sockets of brasse. pewter, 02 copper, we want not these met. talles: So that I thincke no nation canne have more ercellent and greater diverlitie of Auste for burloing, then we may have in Englande, rf our selfes coulde so like of it: but such alas is our nature that not our own but other mens do most of all delite vs: and for delire of noueltie we oft erchange our fi.

nest Cloth, Come, Tinne and Wolles for halfe penny cockborles for children, bogues of were two penny tabers, leaden swordes. vainted feathers, gewgawes for foles, dog. trickes for doltes, hawkes who des, and fuch lyke, whereby we reape fuffe mockage and reptoch. I might remember here our pitten for Williams that are to be had in divers places of our country as in Anglesep, also at Quene hope of blew grete, of no telle balue then the collein, ven then the Frenchkones. Dur gryndsones for hardware men. Dur whethones and late of funder conflours are cuery where in maner to be had, as is § flint and chalke, the Chalder and the peble. How. beit for all this we must fetch them skil from facre, as dyd the hull men their Kones out of Iselande, wher with they pauco their towne for want of the like in Englandein as bir Thomas Gretham dyo, when he bought the Cones in Flanders, where with he paved the Burle, but as he will aunswere that he bar. gened for the whole moulde and substaunce of his workmanshippe in Flaunders: fo the Bullanders of Bull men will fav, howe that fockefishe is light loding and therefoze they dvo balasetheir vessels with these Iselande stones to kæpe them from turning over in their so daungerous a voyage.

¶Of fundry Mineralles. Cap. 16.

Which howe great benefites thys Filande of oures hathe beine indued from the beginning, I hope there is no god, ly man but wyll reotly confeste, and pælde buto the Lorde God his due honour for the same. For we are blessed every way, a there is no tempozali commoditie necessary to be had or craved by any nacion at Woos hand. that he bath not in most abundannt maner bestowed byon bs Englishmen if we coulde le to ble it, and be thankefull for the lame. But alas (as I favo in b chapter precedent.) we love to enrych them that care not for bs, but for our great commodities: and one tryding tope not worth the carpage coming (as the proverbe latth), in three thous front beyonde the feats more worth with bs, the a ryght god Jewel, easie to be had at home. They have also the cast to teach vs to neas led our owne thinges, for if they le that we beginne to make any accounte of our come modities (if it be so that they have also blike; in they? owne countryes) they will lodaine. ly abase the same, to so lowe a price that our gaine not being worth our travaile, & the same commoditie with leffe cost ready to be had at home from other countries (though cur indevours, and as it were by and by to forget the matter whereabout we went before, to obteine them at their hands. And this is the onely cause wherefore our commody. tics are oft fo little effemed. Some of them ca fay wout any teacher, that they wil by & cafe of a fore of an English man for a grote, & make him afterward gine twelve pence for the tayle. Coulde to God wee myght once were wyler, and eache one indenour that the common wealth of Englande may flourish againe in hir olde rate, and that our como. pities may bee fully wrought at home, as cloth if pou will for an erample, and not casrued out to be shoone and dressed abroade. whiles our clothworkers here doe fferne and bea their bread, for lacke of daply practile, pterly neglea to be skilfale in the science: But to mp purpofe. The have in englad gret plety of quick Sylver, Antimony, Sulphur, black Lead, and Depiment red and pealow. Tele have also the finest Alume (wherein the viligence of one of the greatest favourers of the common wealth of Englande of a fub. ica hath beine of late egregiously abused. & cuenalmost with barbarous incivility) the natural Cinnabarum oz Wermilion, the Sulphurus glebe called Bitumen in olde tome bled for morter, and pet burned in lampes where Dyle is scant and geason: the Chap. focolia, Coperous, & Minerall Cone, where of Petreolum is made, and that which is most straunge the minerall Pearle, which as they are for greatnesse and coulour mos excellent of all other, to are they digged out of the maine land, and in funder places farre distat fro the shoze. Df Tole mines we have such plentic in the Posth, and Westerne partes of our Illande as may fuffice for all the Mealme of Englande. And fo must they bocherrafter in debe, if wode be not better thereford then it is at this prefent, and to fay the truth, not with francing that very many of them are carped into other Countryes of the maine, yet they greatelt trade beginneth nowe to growe from the Forge into f lattchin and hall as maye appeare already mmost Cities and Townes that lye about the cost, where they have little other fewell, ercept it be turfe, and halfocke. 3 marneyle not a little that there is no trade of these into Suller and Southampton fgire, foz want whereof the Smithes doe worke they you with charre coale. I thinke that farre carry age be the only cause, suhich is but a slender creuse to inforce bs to carpe them unto the mayne from hence.

Belide our ceale mines we have pyttes in ipke forte of white viaffer, and of fatte and white Parle, where with in many places the inhabitors doe compett their foile. We have Salte Peter foz our ozdinaunce, and Salt Soda foz our glasse, and therto in one place a kinde of earth (in Sotherep as I wens harde by Codington, and sometime in the tenure of one Crorton of London) which is fo fine to make mouldes for goldsmithes & casters of mettal, that a love of it was worth fine shyllinges thirtie yeares a gone. Rone fuch againe they fay in England. But whe ther there be or not, let be not be buthanked full to Goo for these and other his benefites bestowed byon bs, wherby he sycweth home felfe a louing and mercifull father buto bs. which contrarywyle returne but hym in lieu of humilitie and obedience, nothing but wickednelle, anarice, mere contempt of bys will-and notable ingratitude.

of common or artificial Salt made in Englande. Cap. 17.

There are in Englande certaine weiles where Salt is made, whereof Lelande thath written aboundantly in his comentarpes of 152ytaine, and whole words onely 3 well let downe in Englishe as he wate the because he seemeth to have had diligent con-Aderation of the same, without adding amp thing of my owne buto hym, ercept it be where necessitie both infoze me foz 6 mere aid of the reader, in the understanding of his mynd. Directing therefore his fourney from Magceller in his percerination and laborious traveile over Englande, he faith thus. From Worceller 3 robe to the Wiche by inclosed sople, haning metelp god Cozne grounde, lufticient wode and god paffure. aboute a fire mples of. Wasche standeth somewhat in a valley of lowe grounds, betwirt two finall hylles on the left ripe (for fo he calleth the banche of enery broke thorow out all his Englishe treatizes) of a pretie rp. uer which not farre beneathe the Wiche is called Salope broke. The beautye of the Lowne in maner franceth in one freat, pet be there many lanes in the Towne belives.

There is also a meane Church in 5 matrie Areate and once in the weeke, an indifferent rounds markette. The Towns of it selfe is somewhat foule and ourty when any rayne falleth by reason of much carpage thosowe foreates, which are very plt paned of rather not paned at all. The great adminiscement also hereof; is by making of Salte, and though the commodity thereof be singular great, yet the Burgosses be pose generally

19.1g. be

X comon bushe but because Centlemen haue generallye for the most parte gotten the great gaine of st into their handes, whilest the poze Burges, piagem all ses potoe buto all the labour. There are at thinges of this present time three hundred Salters: and any great thie Salt springs in the Towns of Wiche. commodity whereof the principall is within a butshote beateth & of the ryght rype (02 banks) of the river that there commeth downe : and this spring is another double so profitable in pelding of Salte ly quer, as both the other. Some say (oz rather the birdes, fable) that this Salte spring did sayle in the from Bat tyme of Richarde dela Wiche Bothoppe of Thicheffer, and that afterwardes by his intercellion it was restozed to the profit of the oide courle (such is the superstiton of the people) in remembraunce whereof, or peradventure for the zeale which the Wiche men and Salters did beare buto Rychards Dela Miche there countryman, they bled of late times on his page (which commeth once in the pere) to hange this Salt spring or Will about which tapillery, and to have funday games, dainkinges, and folish revelles at it. But to procede. There be a great num, ber of Salte cotes about this Well, wherin the Salte water is sodden in leades, and brought to the perfection of pure white falt. The other two Salte springes be on the left side of the rpuer a prety wave lower then $ first, and as I founde at the very ende of the Towns. At these also be divers fornaces to make Salt, but the profite & plenty of these two are nothing comparable to the gapne, pryseth by the greatest. I asked of a Salter how many fornaces they had at all the three springes, and he numbred them to eightene scoze that is their hundred and firtie, saying howe every one of them payde pearely fire fillings and eight pence to the king. The truth is that of olde they had liberties given unto them for three hundreth furnaces or mo, and therebpon they grue a fée farme (oz vectigall) of one hunnzeth pounde pearely. Certes the pention is as it was, but the num: ber of fornaces is nowe increased, to foure hundreth. There was of late ferch made for another Salte spring there aboutes by the meanes of one Deweport a Gentleman dwelling at the Wliche, and the place where it was appeareth, as doth also the wode and Dimber which was let aboute it, to kepe by the earth fro falling into the same. But thus vitte was not sence occupied, whether it were for lacke of plentie of the falt fpzing, or for letting-or hindering of the profite of v other thie. De thinke that if wode and fale of Salte would ferne, they might bigge and find more falt fringes about the Wifeh the them, but there is somewhat else in the wind, For I hard that of late yeares a falt fpring was sounde in an other quarter of Worce, phus fer thire, but it grew to be without any vie leges by fith the Wich men have such a priviledge, somning that they alone in those quarters thall have harme. the making of falte. The Pittes be fo fet a. bout with gutters that h falt water is easily furned to everye mans house, and at Pant wich very many troughes go over the river for the commoditie of such as dwell on the o. ther side of h same. They seth also their salt water in fornaces of leade, and lade out the Salte some in Cases of wicker, thosowe which the water dealneth, and the Salt remaineth. There be also two or the but very lyttle Salt springes at Dertwitche in a low bottome, where Salt is sometyme made. Di late also a myle from Cumbzemere ab. bay a piece of an hill byd fincke & in & fame pit role a spring of salt water where the Abs bot begunne to make falt, but the men of the Citie compounded with the Abbot and Co. uent that there houlde be none made there, whereby the pit was luffered to go to lose. And although it pielded falte water stil of it selfe, yet it was spopled at the last and filled by with filth. The Wich men vie the commoditie of their falt spring in drawing and decoaing the water of them only by fire monethes in the yere, that is from Midlomer to Chailmalle, as I gelle to maintayne & paice of falte, 02 for fauing of wood, which I thinke to be their principall reason. For making of falt is a great and notable destructio of woo and thall be greater hereafter, ercept some proutsion be made for the better increase of fiering. The lacke of wood also is alread perceived in places niere the Witche, for inhere as they bled to buye and take their loode nære unto their occuppings, those wonted Tpringes are nowe decayed, and they be infoiled to læke their wood lo farre as Wloje cester towns and all the partes about 1820. migraue, Alchirche, and Alceffer. 3 alked a falter how much woo he supposed yearly to to be spent at these fornaces, and he aunswer red that by essimation there was consumed about fire thousand cload, and it was rounde poale wode for the most, which is easy to be cleft, and handlomely reven in pieces. The prople that are about the fornaces are very ill couloured, and the full rate of every for nace is to make foure leaves of falt pearely and so enery loade goeth fine of five quare ters as they make their account. If the fox nace men make more in one fornace then foure loades it is as it is fa: de imploped to their owne anaple. And thus much hath Lee lande left in memorie of our whyte falt, who: in an other boke not now in my handes hath. touched the making also of Bay salt in some part of our coutry. But fith & in boke deline. redagaine to the owner, the tractació of bay falt can not be framed in any oeder, bycaufe: my memorie will not ferne to shew the true maner and the place. It Chall fuffice therfore. to have gruen such notice of it, to thende the reader may knowe that aswell the Bape as: whote are wrought and made in Englande: and more white also byon the well coall, tor warde scotlande out of the falt water bee twene Clyze and Cokermouth. Fnally har uing thus intermedled our artificiall Salt withour Minerals, let be give over and go in hande with such mettals as are growing. here in Englande.

of the description of Britaine.

Of Mettalles. Cap. 18.

T T was not sayde of olde tyme without L great reason that all countries have neede of Britaine and Britaine it felf of none. Fox trucly pfa man regarde such necessities as nature onely requireth, there is no Pation binder the fun, that can fay fo much as ours? fith we doe want none that are convenient for vs. Certes if it be a benefite to have and golde at all, we are not boyde thereof, nepe ther lykewyle of filner. And albeit that we bane no such aboundannce of these as some other countries doe peelde pet hane mp rpch countriemen store prough of both in thepz purles, where they were wont to have leaft, by cause the garnishing of our thurches, tas bernacies, ymages, theynes and apparell of the Pricites confumed the greatest part as erperience bath confirmed.

Tinne and Lead are very plentifull wyth bs, the one in Cornewall, Denonthire, telle where in the Porth, & other in Darby thire, Weredale, and sondry other places of thys Iland: whereby my countreymen doe reape no small commodity, but especially our pews terers, who in time past employed the vie of pewter only byon diffics and pottes, and a feive other trifles for fernice, whereas nowe they are growen buto such exquiste cuning, that they can in maner imitate by infusion a. ny forme or fathion of cuppe, oith, falt, bowle or goblet, whyche is made by Goldsmithes craft though they be never to curious & very artificially forged. In some places beyond the leas garnith of good flat English pewter (I lay flat, because oithes and platters in my time begun to be made depelike basons, and are in dede moze convenient both for lawle and hæping the meat warme) is almost ester fels that are made of fine filuer, and in many ner no lelle delired amogif the great effates,, whose workemen are nothing so skilfull in that trade as ours, nepther they mettall so god, not plenty logreat, as the have here in England. There were mines of Lead fome. times also in Wales, which indured so long. till the people had confumed all they immog by melting of the same as they did also at Comernst with, sire miles from Stradseur. And here by the way it is worthy to be noted: of a Crow which a miner of tinne, dwelling nere Comerpitwith had made to tame that: it would daily fie & folow him to hys works: and other places where so ever he happened. to tranaile. Thys laborer working on a time in the bottome where the first Wone was knowne to be did lap his purse and girdle by himas mencomonly doe that addresse them felues to apply they butinette earnestly, and be him felfe also had bled from time to time. before. The Crow likewole was very bulic flittering about him, and so much molested hym in dede, that he wared anary with the by de fin his fary threatned to wring of his necke, if he myght once gette hym into hys hands: To be hort, in the ende the Crow has Air caucht op bis girdle and purfle, & made away wyth all so fast as hir wyngs coulde cary byz. Herebpon, the poze man fallyng into great agony (for he feared to lose peraduenture all hys money) threwe downe hys mattocke at adventure and ranne after the bird, curling and menacing that he hould lose bys life if ever be gotte him againe: but as it fell out, the Crow was f meanes wherby hys lyfe was faued, for he had not bene long out of the mine, ere it fell downe and killed all his fellowes. If I hould take byon me to discourse of the dealing of thes by toe at large. I hould peracuenture fet my selfe further into the bapers then wel finde which way to come out agapne: pet 3 am perlwaded that the Crow was Gods instrument herein, wherby the lyfe of thys paze labozer was preferred. It was done also in an other order then that whych I reade of an other tame Crowkept op by a Chomaker of Dutch lão in hys thop az Coue: who fæina the same to litte bpon the pearch very heanily & doons sie, sayde buto the birde. What ayleth mp Tacke why art thou so sad and vensue. The Crow hearing his malter speake after this fort bnto him, answeared (or elle the Deuill inpthinit) out of the Walter. Cogitaui dies Plat. 76. antiquos & eternos in mente habui, but whe ther am I digrelled, fro lead buto Cromes, and from Crowes onto Denils. Certes it ÍS medifopectous as the like number of bef

Pily.

is now high time to retourne onto our mettals, and resume the tradation of such thinas as I had earst in hand.

From is found in many places as in Sub fer, kent, Weredale, Dendip, Walhall, Copper.

Manchester and elsewhere in Wales: of which mines others doe bayng forth to fine. and good fruffe as any that commeth front. beyond the lea. It is also of such toughnesse, that it væloeth to the making of Clarico20 wire in some places of the realme. Copperis lately not folio, but rather restozed againe to light, for I have read of Copper to have bæne heretofoze gotten in our Flande. How beit, as fraungers have most commonly the gonernaunce of our mines, to they hytherto make finall gaines of thosin bande in the Porth partes: for as I am informed the prout both very hardly counternalle the charges, whereat wple men doe not a little mari uavie, confidering the aboundannee whych that mine do læme to offer and as it were at hande. Lelande our countryman noteth fundrie great lykelyhodes of copper Wines to be Castwardes; as betweene Dudman and Trewardth in the lea cliffes, belide fundav other places, wherof divers are noted here a there in sunday places of this boke already, and therfore it thalbe but in vaine to revete them here agavne. In Doglet flipze also a copper Dine lately found is brought to god perfection. As for our freleit is not to door for edge twle as that of Tullen, and vet the one is often folde for the other, and lyke tale bled in both, that is to lay thirtie gaddes to the thicke and lire thickes to the burde. Dur Alchump is artificiall a thereof our spones and some saltes are commonly made & preferred befoze our peloter. The common fort Some tell call it Alcainine, but when I know more of the substance and mirture of this metall my selfe, I will not let to write thereof at large, wheras now I must needes conclude bicante 3 have no moze to say of the mettalles of mp country, ercept I thould talke of bratte, bell mettall, fluch as are brought over for marchandise from other countries, but what is me y it is ameriure of braile, lead and that to my purpose.

Of precious stones. Cap.19.

The olde writers remember fewe other I stones of estimation to be sounde in this Illand then that which we call Ceat, thep in latine Gagates: wherebuto furthermoze they afcribe fundey properties as bfually practiced here in times past, whereof none of our writers doe make any mencion at all. Howbeit what somer it hath pleased a number of Arangers to write of b blages of this our Countrie, aboute the tryall of the hir ainitie of our maidens by dainching of the vowser of thes from against the tyme of their bestowing in marpage: certaine it is that even to this day there is some plenty to be had of this commoditie in Darby thpre & about Barwycke, although that in many mens opinions nothing to fine as that which is brought over by marchauntes from the mayne. But as these men are drowned with the common errour of our nation, fo 3 am. fure that in differning the price and value of things, no man now living can go beyond $ judgemet of the old Romaines, who prefere red the geate of Britain before & like fones bzed about luke & all other countries. Mozen, uer as Geat was one of b first stones of this Ille wherof any forrein account was made, fo our vearles also did match with it in renowne, in so much that the only desire of the Case caused Casar to aduenture hyther, after he made an had seen the quantities a hard of our plenty bedom of them inhabet he ahode in France Certes of them, whylest he abode in France. Certes with Si they are to be founde in these our dayes, and tilh per thereto of divers coulours, in no leffe nume andoffen bers then ever they were in olde tyme. Det bppe u are they not now so much desired bycause of Kome in them, small nesses, and also for other contents. they? smallnesse, and also for other causes, when but especially lith churchwork as copes, be hunging frements, Albes, Tunicles, alter, clothes, timesi canaples, and such trash are worthily about things lithed. Apon which our countrymen hereto fant, fore bestowed no smal quantities.

For I thinke there were fewe churches & religious houses besides Bishops myters & Potifical vectures, but were either thozow ly fretted or notably garnished w have nue bers of them. But as the Brittin Geat or of rient Bearle were in olde tyme estæmed as boue those of other countries, so tyme bath lince the conquest of the Romaines revealed many other: in so much y at this season there are founde in Englande the Ætites and the Hematite and thefe bery pure and ercellent; also & calcedony, the Porphyrite, the Christal, those other, which we call Calaminares, speculares beside a kinde of Diamod og Adamant, which although it be very fair to light is yet much softer the * those y are brought * 3mb byther out of other countries. Wile have also aremat byon our coastes the white cozall and other are found stones to dayly founde in cliffes and rockes, toward whereof such as finde them have evther no popt knowledge at all, oz elfe doe make but fmali account, being seduced by outladish Lapida. ries. whereof the most part discourage be fro the fetching and leking out of our owne cou modifies, to the ende that they may have the more fre offerance of the frnaturall and artificial wares, wherby they get great gaines amongit such as have no failt. I have harde that the best triall of a stone is to lave it on the naple of our thombe, and to to go abroade into the cleare light, wher of the coulour holo in all places a like, the Cone is thought to be natural. tc. But if it alter especially towarde o navle, the is it not found, but tather an artificiall practize. If this be true it is an erveriment worthy & noting: (Cardane also hath it in his De subtilitate) pf not I baue reade nere moze lies then this as one erample out of Cato, who lageth that a cuppe of Jup will holde no wine at all, but I have made some pellels of h lame woo, which refule no kind of liquo, and therefore I fuppole that there is no luch Anthipatia betweene worne & Jup as some of our reading Philosophers with out all maner of practise wil feme to inferre amongest vs. What thouse I save more of stones : truely I can not tell, lith I have savoe what I may already & peraduenture moze then I thought. This per will I adde that of those which are founde in Wulelles (for 3 am otterly ignoraunt of the generatio of yearles) be good pearle in beede I have at fundric times gathered more then an ounce of them, of which divers have holes already entred by nature-some of them not much inferiour to great pealon in quantitie, & theres to of fundate colours as it happeneth amout fuch as are brought from the Casterly coast to Saffron Walden in Lent Johen for want offiche, stale tincking fithe & welker wif the and kies are thought to be god meate for other which file is to be dere, amongst bs.

TOf the Coynes of Englande.

Cap. 20. The Saron Coyne before the Conquest is otterly buknowne buto me: how bee it if my confedure be any thing, 3 supporte that the hillpinges of filter, in those dayes Did counterpeile our common ounce, though afterwarde it came to paste that it arose to twentie pence, and to continued bittyll the tyme of king Henry the eyght, who first brought it to the thillings and foure pence, and afterwarde our Splitet Copne with braffe & copper montes, by reason of those in estimable charges, which dyners waves op preffed him. But as king Colward his forme began to restoze & afozesayde Coine againe buto fine filuer: so Duene Pary his factef four did continue his god purpole: notwith fanding that in hir time the Spanish mos nep was very common in England, by read fon of hir martage with Philyp king of Svavne.

After hir discease the Lady Elizabeth hy2 Sylum re= after, and now our most gracious Auene, and fouereigne Princes, oid finish the mate ter wholly, otterly abolishing the vie of cops per Coine, and converting the same into fine Spluce, as pieces of balfpeny fardying, of a pemp, of thise half pens, peces, of thin pence, of the pence, of foure pence (called h aroate) of fire pence blually named the teltone, and thilling of twelve pence, whereon the bath imprinted hir owne pmage, a einphaticall Imperictiption. Dit Gould is ep Dide gold ther olders neto. The old is that which bath remained lines of time of king Cowarde the thirde, 02 brene Copned by fach other Pzin ces, as have reigned lince his bifceale, with out abaling of the freelf of that mettall. Therofallo we have pet remayning, the Kyall, the George noble, the Henry Kvall. the Salutithe Angell, and their imaller vée cesias halfes or quarters, though thefe in my time, are not so common to be seene. I have also behelve the Sovereine of twenty hillinges, the piece of thirtie hillyngs, I have harve lykewife of peces of forty thile lings, three pointes, five bounde, and terme pound. But lith there were fewe of them con ned, and thole only at the commaundement of the kings, yearely to belfow where their maielfies thought god in lieu of new yeres cyftes and rewardes: it is not requilite that I thould remember them here amongs our currant cornes.

The newe Golde is taken for fuch as bes New gold ganne to be copned in the latter daves of king Beney the eyght, at which time the Re nelle of the mettall began to be very much alayed and is not likely to bee restored for bught that I can lee : 4 pet is it fuch as buth beene contred fince by his successours ville ces of this Realine in value and andustra equall and not inferiour to the turtant Golde of other nativits, where ethe one both court to gather oppe our olde Ante Bolder to that the Angels, Rhalles, & Ado bles, are illose plentifully leine in France and damiders, then they be by a great beale within the Realine of England. Dut pecces nowe currant are of tenne Billinges, fine Willings two thillinges and live pence on ly: and thole of lundry flairings and names, as ball fourteines, quarters of Souerantes, (otherwyle tailed Crownes,) i halfe Crown nes:lyketolle Angels halfe Angels, e male ters of Angels, or if there beam otherim god loth I knowe them not, as one leaking acquainted with am filmer at all; much lette then God it wote with any Rose of Gonibe.

Chalcho-

Peuer

deare as

The first currant shilling, 02 pieces of twelve pence were conned by kyng Henry the eight: those of fyne chillinges, t of 2. Chil, 4 6. pence, 4 the half thil. by king Coward & firt:but the odde peces aboue remebzed onder the groat, by our high & mighty Payns ces Duene Elizabeth, the name of p groat peny: 2. pence: ob. 4 farding, being moze auncient then y I can wel discusse of the time of their beginnings. Det thulmuch I read that king Edwarde the first in the eight yeare of his reigne, did first coine the peny smallest & pieces of filuer roundewyle, which befoze were square, and wont to have a doubble crosse with a crest, in such sozte that the peny might easily be broke, epther into halfs oz quarters, by which thift onely the people came by halfe pence and fardinges, that o therwyle were not stamped no; copned of let vurvose.

Of forcen copnes we have both the Duce cates, the lingle and the double: the Eruladoes, with the log cross the short: have tigue, a piece very solemly kept of dyners, the pet of times abased with washing, or else absolutely conterfested; and finally hered and slemish crownes, onely current among bs, so long as they holde weight. But of silver copnes none at all: yet are the Dalders and such, often tymes brought over, but neverthelesse erchanged as Bullion, according to their sinchesse and weight, and after wards converted into copne, by such as have authority.

In olde time we had lundipe Mintes in Englande, and those commonly kept in Ab. baies and religious houses before the conqueite, where true dealing was commonly supposed; most of all to dwel. As at Ramseye, Bury, Caunterbury, Glassenbury and such like, sundry exemplificats of b graunts whereof are yet to be some in wayting. But after the Pozmans had once gotten the ma-Acrys, they trusted themselves best wyth the overlight of their Mintes, and therefore ereacd divers of their owne, although thep afterwarde permitted some for small peces of Silver, buto fundzy of the houses afozes layd. In my time divers mints are suppres led as Southworke, Bapfrow, c. and al coinage is brought into one place that is to sap the Tower of London, where it is continu ally holden and perused, but not without great gaine to luch as deale wall. There is also coinage of Tin holde yearly at two ses nerall times, that is to lave Pidlomer and Wichaelmas in the well country, which at the first hearing, 3 supposed to bave beine of money of the lappe metall and graunted by Paintledge from the Paince, buto & towner of Papistone, Trurp, & Loss withiel. How. beit byon farder examinatio of the matter. I finde it to be nothing lo, but an office one ly erected for the Prince, wherein he is alo lowed the ordinary cultomes of the mettall: and such blockes of Tinne as have passed of handes of his Officers, are marked worth an especial stampe whereby it is knowne that the cultome due for the lame, bath ordinaris ly bæne aunswered. It should sæme & in my opinion is very likely to be true, that whole Romains reigned here, Kingstone bypon Thames was the chiefe place of their cops nage for this province. For in earing of the grounde about that Cowne in tymes past. and nowe of late (belides the curtous fundai tion of many goody buyldinges that have bene ripped op, and divers coines of braffe, filuer, and Golde, with Romaine letters in painted pots that have beine found there) in the dayes of Caroinall Wolfey, one fuch not was discoved full as it were of newe file uer lately comed. Another with plates of file ner ready to be copied. And the thirde wptb cheanes of filuer, ready as it should appeare to be melted into coinc, whereof let thys fu ffice to countenaunce out my conteaure.

Of our accompt of time, and partes thereof. Cap.21.

S Libra is As 02 Assis onto & Romains A for they waight, & the fote in standard measure: so in our accompt of the partes of time, we take the houre to be the greatest of b least, and least of the greatest, wherby we kepe our reckening. For my part 3 do not fæ anv great difference bled in the observatyon of tyme and hir partes betweene oure owne and any other forcine nation, wherefore I that not neede to fand long byon this matter. Howbeit, to the ende our erac ozder herein shall appeare onto all men, I wil let downe some thost rehearfall therof, and that in so bricke maner as buto me is possible. As for our Alfronomicall practiles, 3 meane not to meddle with them, lith they; course is be nifozmely observed over all. Dur common order therfore is to begin at the minute, as at the smallest part of time knowne buto the people, not with francing that in most places they descend no lower then the halfe quarter oz quarter of the howze, and from whence they procede onto the houre, whych is the 24 part of that whych we call the common and naturall day, & both begin at mionight. Of brequall houres or dayes, our natio hath no regard, and therefore to thew they quan

of the description of Britaine.

titics : differences, it should be but in vaine. In lyic fost, whereas the Egyptians, Itali. ans, Bohemians, and Jewes begin their day at the Sunne fet ouer night : the Werlians. Babylomans, Grecians, and Pozibergians at the summe rifing (each of them accounting there daves and nights by bnequall houres) alfo the Athenienles, Arabians, Dutchmen and Aftronomers at hygh none: We after the Romain maner vsed in the Church there of long time chose the very popute of midnight, from whence we accompt. 12. equali houres into mioday enfuing, and other. 12. agains buto the aforelaid popul. And this is our generall eader for the naturall day. Df the artificiall we make to farre account, as that we rection it to be day when the Sounne is by, and might when it leaveth our Horris 3011: otherwise also we decide it into two partes, that is to lay, forenone and after, none, not regarding the ruddy, thining, bur, ning and warming leasons (of thee bnequal houres a pace,) whych other fæme to ob. ferne, and wheref I read thefe verles. Solis equi lucis dicuntur quatuor hora.

Hac rubet, hac splender, hac caler, illa tepet.
In devo our Philitians have another partition of the day, as men of no lesse learning no doubt then the best of forcein countryes if we could so conceaue of them. And herein they concurre with those of other nations, who for distinction in regiment of our humours, divide the artificial day and night in such wise as these verses doe import, and are in devoca generall rule whych each of them both fillow.

Tres lucis primas, noctis tres fanguinis imas. Vis cholere medias lucis sex vendicat horas. Dato; melain primas noctis, tres lucis & imas. Centrales ponas sex noctis phlegmatis horas.

Otthus, as Cansseter hath genen them forth in hus Presenting.

A nona nocus donec six tertia lucis,

Est dominus fanguis, sex inde sequetibo horis Est dominus cholera, dum lucis nona sit hora Potenter humid inest donec sit tertia noctis. Postinec phlegma venit, donec sit nona quietis 311 Cuglish thus in estet.

Free houres ore fun do rife, of so many after, Blud, Fro 9. to 3. at after none, but choler beares the sway; Fuen so to 9. at night, swart Choler hath to rule, As Phierme from thence to 3. at morne: 6. Boures eache one I say

In like fert for the night we have none of their partes then the twylight, varkenight, midwight, and rockes crowing. Wheras the Latines divide the same into.7. partes, as Velper the Guening, which is immediately after the setting of the Sunne. Crepusculum

the twylight, when it is betweene day and night, lyght and darknesse, or properly neve ther day not night. Conticinium the still of the nyght, when each one is layd to rest. Intempellum, the dul or dead of the night, when me be in they? first or dead sæpe. Gallicinium the cockes crowing. Maturinum the breache of the day and Diliculum five aurora, the rud. dy, ozenge, golden oz thining coloure, fæne immediately before the riling of the Sunne. Other there are whych doe recken by watches, dividing the nyght into 4 equal partes. Df whych the first beginneth at Euening, watche. called the first watch, and continueth by 3. bucquall houres, and so forth butill the ende of the nynth hours, wherat the fourth watch entreth whych is called the mouning watch, because it partly concurreth with b morning s breache of the day before the riling of the Sunne. As for the original of the worde youre. houre, it is very auncient, but pet not so olde as that of the watch whych was deutled firt among fouldiers for theyr better lafegarbs and chaunge of watchmen in thep? campes. the lyke whereof is almost bled among our feafaring men, whych they call clearing of the glaffe, and performed from time to time with great bede and some solemnitie. Cers telle the worde Hora among the Grecians, lignified to well the 4. quarters of the yeare, as the 24 part of & day, but what frand I op, on these things to let my purpose stap. To procede therefore. Of naturall dayes is the webe weke compacted, which consisteth of 7: of them. The first entreth with Wonday, where by it commeth to passe that we rest boon the Sunday, whych is the 7. in number, as ale mighty God hath commaunded in his word. The Jewes begin they? weke boon our Sa. terday at the lefting of the Sunne, and the Aurkes with the Saterday: whereby it come meth to palle, that as the Jewes make our last day the first of thep; weeke, so the Turks make the Zewin Sabaoth the beginning of thep: Hebdonia because Pahomet they? prophet (as they fay) was borne a dead byo fire day to be was indede, except their Alcharo beceaue me. The Jewes doe recken thepr Bayes by thep; diffance from thep; labaoth, so that the first cap of they? weke, is the first day of the labaoth, and so forth buto the lirte. The Latines accompted they, dayes after the 7. Planets, chosing the same for the denominator of the daye, that entreth hys regis ment with the first busquall houre of the fame after the Sunne be rilen. Powbeit, as Mys order is not wholly reteined wyth vs, so the vie of the same is not pet altogither as volvihed, as may appeare by our Somoay, Wonzap, and Saturday. The reft were cha. ged by the Sarens, who in remembrance of Theut sometime they prince, called the second day of b weke Theutloach & in. Wo. ben, Dthin, 02 Dthen, Wodensbach. Lykes wife of Thoz, they named the iii day Thozis dach, and of frea wpfe to Woden the b. was named Freadach. Albeit there are (and not amilie as I thinke) that suppose them to meane by Thoz, lupiter, by Woden Marcury, by Frea Venus, and finallye by Theut Mars: which if it be forthen it is an easie mas ter to finde out the Germaine Mars, Venus, Mercury and Iupiter wherof you may reade moze hereafter in mp Chronologie. The trathis, that frea had 7. sonnes by Wooden, as Moden the first, father to Wecca, of whome desceded those that were afterwards kings of kent, Fethelgeta was the leconde. and of hom came the kings of Mertia: Balday 3. father to the kings of the Welksarös. Weldagins 4. parent to the kings of Bzennicia or Porthumberland. Weogodach s. author of the kings of Depra. Caler.6.rote of the Changle race, and Palcad oziginall burgeaunt of the kings of Eller. As for the kings of Suffer although they were of the same people yet were they not of the same Areigne, as our old monuments do expresse. But to procede. Df wekes, our monethes are made whych are so called of the Mone, each one conteining 28. dayes, 02 4. wekes, wortheat any further curiolity. For we recks not our time by the peare of the Mone, as the Jewes, Orccians of Romains oid at the first, or as the Turks, Arabians Dersians do now:nepther any parcell therof by & laye planete as in the Wlest Indies, where they have neither weke, moneth noz pere, but on, ly a general account of hundreds & thousands of Mones: wherfore if we lap or write a moneth, it is to be erpounded of 28. dayes of 4. wakes only. D2 (if you take it at large) for a moneth of the common Halender, whych ne uerthelesse in ples and sutes is nothing at all allowed of, lith the Wone maketh hir ful revolutio in 28.0ayes, that is, buto the place where the left the Sunne, notwythstanding that he be now gone, and at hir returne not to be found where the departed from hym.

In olderine eche Honeth of the Komaine Calender, was reconed after the course of home, and they entraunces were incertaine, as were also the changes of that Plainet. But after lulus Casar had once corrected the same, the severall beginninges of energy one of them do not onely remaine force, but also the olde order in the devision of their partes continued fill bualtered:

so that the Moneth is vet devided as before into Calendes, Ides, and Nones, aibeit that fit my dates, the vic of the same be but small, & their order retained only in our Calenders. for the better understanding of such tymes, as the historiographers and olde authors do remember. The reconing also of ech of these goethas you le after a preposterous order. whereby the Romannes dyd rather note howe many dayes were to the nert channge from the precedent, then contrapwile, as by perulall of $ same you shall moze easily percepue. The dates also of the change of p 900. neth of & Done, are called Calenda, which in time of Baganisme were consecrated to Iuno, & facrifice made to that goddeffe on b fame. On these daics also, and on & Ides and Nones they would not marve. Likewise the mozow after eche of the were called dies Atri, blacke dates, as some bokes doe pet res member. The word Calenda (in Breke Neomenia) is derived of the worde Calo, to call: for byon the first days of every Poneth, the Priest bled to call the people of the Cities country togither, and thewe them by a cub tome howe many dates were from the laide Calendes to the Nones, and what featts were to be celebrated betweene that and the nerte chaunge. The Nones commonly are not a bone 4.02 6.m enery Woneth, and so long as the Nones latted, so long did the Apercates continue, therfore they were called Nonz quasi Nundinæ. In them als were nepther Pollydages (moze then at thys prefent ercept & day of the Purification of our Lady) noz facrifice offred to the gods, but each one applied hys businesse and kept hys market. reckening the first day after the Calends oz chauge, to be the 4.02 6.day before the faire ended. Some thinke that they were called Nonæ, of the word Non, quia in issdem di non coluntur, oz as Duide faveth. Nonarum tutela deo caret. But howfoeuer it be, fure it is that they were p mart capes of every mo neth wherein the people bought, folde, and dyd nothing else. The Jour are so named of the Dethaulcien worde Iduare to denide, and before that Telar altered the Talender, they beutded the moneth commonly by the myde dest. But afterward when he had added cers taine dayes thereto, thereby to make it as grownth the yeare of the funne (whych he intruded about the ende of everye mo neth, because he would: not alter the ces lebration of theyr bluall Feattes) then came they shorte of the myddest, some time by two or three daics. In thefe therfore Applich alwaics are cycht) the Warchauntes Jad layfure to packe op and conucigh thep.

marchaunoise, to paye their creditors and make merry with their friendes. After the Idus do the Calendes followe, but in a decreasing order, as the Pone doth in light when the is past the full. But herein lyeth all the mysterie, if you can save so many dayes bestore the nert chaunge or newe Pone, as the number there expressed doth betoken. As for individual second these calendes, I meane touching their number in every Poneth, I synde these verses insuing.

Ianus & Augustus denas nouemq; Deceber, Iunius, Aprilis, Septeber & ipse Nouember, Ter senas retinent, Februus bis Octo Caledas Iulius October Mars Maius Epidecemq;

In Englishe thus.

December, Ian, and August moneth full nyneteene Calendes haue.

September, Iune, November and Aprill twyfe nine desire,

Syxteene foule Februarie bach, no more can be well craue.

Ostober, Maye and Iuly bote, but seauenteene doe require,

Inlyke maner of nones and Ides.

Sex maius Nonas, October, Iulius & Mars Quatuor at reliqui, dabit Idus quilibet octo. To Iuly, March, October, May, sixe nones Is hight, The rest but 4, as for your Ides they aske but eight Agayne touching the number of dayes in enery moneth.

lunius, Aprilis, Septemq;, Nouemq; tricenos vnū plus reliqui, Febru⁹ tenet octo vicenos, At si bissextus fuerit super additur vnus. Thirty dayes bath November

Aprill, Iune and September, Twentie and eyght hath February alone, and all the rest thirty and one,
Eut in the leape you must adde one.

Our yeare is accounted after the course of the funne, and although the church hath some ble of that of the Done for the observation of certaine moueable feaftes, pet it is reduce ted to that of the Sunne, which in our ciuile dealinges is chiefly had in ble. Herein onely I finde a scruple that the beginning thereof is not buifozme and certaine, foz our recordes beare Date the 25. of Parch, and our Calenders of the first of January. Dur fundzie officers also have sundzie enteraunces into their charges of custome, which bewocth great confusion, whereas if all these might be referred to one oxiginall (and that to be the first of Januarie) I do not thincke but there would be moze certaintie and lefte trouble for our historiographers and offices in their account of the yeare. Furthermoze, whereas our intercalation for the Leape peare is somewhat to much by certaine mis nutes (which in 309, peares do amount onto an whole day) one intercalation in so may ny were omitted our Calender would be the more perfite: 4 3 woulde with that the fame pears wherein the faire interculation thould De otierpalled, might be called Annus magmus Elizabethæ in perpetual remembrance, of our noble and loueraign princelle. Certes the next omission is to be performed yfall Princes woulde agree thereto in the Leave peare that thall be about the peare of grace 1700. If it shall please God that the morle may last so long. About the years we have no mo partes of Time, that carp any scuerall names with them, except you will affirme the worde age, to be one which is taken for roo peares, fignifieth in Englishe so much as Seculum oz Euum doth in latine, whereof this may luffice. But to conclude withal, you Mall have a table of the names of the dayes of the weke, after the olde Saron and Scottith maner, which I have bosowed from a mongest our auncient weyters.

The present names. Thunresdeg. Monday. Firgeldeg. Tuesday. Saterdeg. Wednesday. Sunnandeg. Thursday. The Scottish vsage. Fryday. Diu Luna. Saterday. Diu Mart. Sunday. Diu Yath. The olde Saxon names. Diu Ethamon. Monendeg. Diu Friach. Tuckdeg, Diu Satur. Wodnesdeg. Diu Serol.

Of the maner of measuring the length and bredth of things after the English vsage. Cap.22.

De first and smallest of our measures in the Barly come, whereof thee being taken out of the middelf of the ere, well dated and laybe endewardes one to another, are lapde to make an puche, which the Latines Inche. measure after the bredth of the thombe, and therfore of some is called Pollicare, although the true name thereof be Vncia, as I have often reade. That which they call Digitus 02 Finger the finger breath, is not in ble with vs: pet is bredth. it the lirtenth part of theyz fote, as the inche is the twelfth of ours. Cach palme or hand palme. bredth cotaineth also foure of thepr fingers, as by the figure here inluing, may easily be percepned, whych I have let downe onely to the ende that who folisteth may beholde the diversity.

divertity not onely betweene the Romaine incalure a ours, but also of their owne standard which hath chaunged oft among them,

Certes it coulde not well be brought to palle, to give out the whole forte because the quantitie of the page would not luffer me to to one, wherefore I have exemplified only in the halfe, which I hope thall abundauntly fatistic eche one that is desirous to see and percepue their difference. The first columne therefore letteth downe the halfe fote after the standard of Englad. The 2. semeth to be a Komain fote, found out of late by Bartholomeus Marlianus, and set downe to be séene in his Topography of Rome. Therin allo es

1 2 3 2 4 4 5 3 was foude long since, by Leonardo de Portis, in a Warden at 8

nerve fynger breadth contei neth two of the old affize, where by hee maketh not 16. but ones ly eyght in the whole, as you may there bes hold. The third is that which Budeus had loce time delpuered onto him, who was very euryous in ferching of the weights. and measures, of olde tyme as maye pet aps peare by his er cellent treatise De asse, wherin hps spngular skill in thys be. halfe doth ents dently appeare. The fourth

Rome, belong, png to Angelus Colotius. The fift is the balfe fote of Paris, dinyded by the puche, and pet equall to 6 Ko. maine fanderd vescribed by Budeus. The last thoweth the the quantitie of their Palme, whereof their fote hath foure, and eche Palme conteyneth

4. fingers as I have faide already. By this Tablet also as you may le, howe eche fram derde ercædeth og commeth shorte of other. Wherefore it Chall not neede for me to Cap any longer oppon they? differences, which may so well and better be determined by the epe. Df our measures therefore.

Three Barly cornes do make an ynche.

Twelue puches pælde a fote.

The fote are our parde. One parde and nyne puches giue an eine. Seauen fote pelde a fadam.

By the franderde. Although we ble comi monly to call the space betweene the toppes of our middle fingers (when our armes bee fretched out at length) by that name alfo: the same like wyle beyng called Paslus some; times, as the height of a man is Status, flup. poled to be all one with the leffer fabain, 02 or ertention of his armes. But to proceeds.

Sirtene fote & an halfe, oz 5. pardes & an halfe do make a pole in whole Area are 272. of our fæte an half. Foure poles in length. and one in breadth, do pelo a rodde, or rode of grounde, which some call a fardendele oz pardlande. Foure roddes doe grue an Acre, whose plotte hath 43600. or fortie pole in length, and thereto foure in breoth.

The auncient Romannes had for they: land as Columella fafth. lib.5.cap.1. The finger breoth.

The fote of firtene finger bredthes. The pace fine fote.

Actus enerp way had a 120. fote. In Hispania Betica, it hight Agna: but in Gallia Arepe.

Iugerum, had two Actus and was to called taquam a iunctis Actibus: so that it conteined one way 240. fote, and 120. another, that is, 28800, fate in the whole plot.

Porca. 7200.féte. Versus, 8640. Agna. 14400.

The furlong hath 125. paccs, 02 625. feete. Enght furlonges also made a mule.

Centuria, hath 200 lugera, but in olde time onely,100. for notwithstanding that the first be doubbled, yet it retaineth still the pristie nate denomination, as we lee in the worde tribe, which was at the first but one part of the thie, wherinto & whole people of Rome were seuered & denided. But let be returns unto our owne againe.

It lpke fort for fuch as trauaile.

Frue fote measured by the sayde puche make a pace # 125. paces boe velce a fire

Enght furlonges or 1000 paces is a mile, and after the Scometricall pace are our mples measured, which some notwithstand ding doe recone by about 27 8, tournes of a of the description of Britaine.

Carte whiles, whole compate is commonly of erghtene fote of the Canberd, and and height frac fote and an halfe, as 3 haue home informed by Withelerighthes in the

By the fote allo we meature glaffe, and Trinber and all others our bupidings. By the varde our wollen eloth, tanifery, Arras Spikes, and Laces; but our lumen by beine. finally our wodes and pattures are laved out by the pole, and therto our henging, and ditching, after the same rate; although the depth of our ditches is measured by the fote tlikewise their bredth as experience daply cofirmeth. Belids this we have also another kind of measuring, & that is by the fadam, the vic whereof is onely fæne in the dig. ging of pittes, welles & mines, measuring of ropes, a founding the depth of the fea. when breade of perill inforceth our mariners to læ bnto their lafegarde. It is furthermoze a common opinion amongs ba, that energ hundled acres of grounde, containe init a mple in compale rounde aboute : but as 3 have not yet eramined boing truely thys is faide, to I am most fure that a plot of 400. Acres, hall not pecide a; lyke proportion; by the one balle . when foener you walke a bout it.. And even thus woulde I ender with: this chapter, concerning our maner of meafuring before remébend ivereit not that 3 thinke god to let dainne iphat A baue gathered of the lybe measurynges as they have ben bled in other countries where thep also doe reconne by the Graine, making their accompt much after fach moner as fals loweth.

TRANSPORT OF The Digitus of finger breadth hath foure grames layo five to five.

The Vincia major, the fingers, The palme hath foure fingers, 3 minutes

Cheir dichas two hande breadthes or enght fingers.

Their spanne the hand bredthes or twelve fingers bredthes.

Their fate is firtiene fingers of foure hand, breathes, comment one grant Their fate and halfe in latine. Schuipes att Cubicus,24 finger beedthes.

The steppe two fote and expusses The common pace thick fote.

The Geometricall fpue fote. The Orgia fire fote, as I gather out of Su-

Ebe league thic myles English 3 The common outche myle 400.0. paces: The greate dutch myles on paces. 341

In lyke sorte the Matines & we doe meas luce ogniquees bymyles. The. Orecians by furlonges. The french and (panishe by leagues. The Egiptians by Signes.

The Perlians by Paralangas, of whichcet one conteyneth thirtie furlonges.

As for the clos Brytishe myle that includeth 1500.paces englift, it that not greately, neede to make any discourse of it, & so much the leffe lith it is yet in ble and not forgotte among the Welch men, as Leland bath no. ted in his commentaries of 13 spreing inherfore it may luffile to have faide thus much of the lame, and so of all the rest, beging mind, full to goe forwards and make an enve of is treatize. this treatise.

Of English weightes and their company rison with others.Cap, 23.

The least of our waightes is a graphe, betweene which and the ounce we have, the halfe quarter, the half, and the quarters of the ounce. In olde tyme these smaller partes were commonly erecones by peces of coone and not by quarter and balle quara ter as we doe nome. As by the farding as fourth part of a peny, which maighed except graines, the halfepeny that pepsed grianes and hend that conntechented 34 land man its depoethe 32 part of an oppice. To that fouther halfe quarter the land the peace baltepente for the quarter fine pence, and balls gunce. tenne pence , which is nowe growne out of plest our coine to inhaunced that 60. of pur pence doe bardly make an outer, and alegue graines luffice with the mose to counterpeple a penp.

The Athenien sunce was leve then muss by 64. grapnes, and deutoed into bis partes; after this maner following, who will be

Lepta the feauenth part of the graynes. Granum. A graine. Chalchus timengraines and featien Lepter

Siliqua forme graines, de taliquite et qui de Semiobolus fire graines or thre Chalchille Obolus heth tipelue graines cons cros cros Songet when the Chalesto first of I earned Dischins 3 Zeistich sos Ms allanter milli

Yngs & Arachines: 14. Seripulatin & Qba 5-74 Sourance, whereby they differed man ala to from the komaines in their wace luber reconcather small weighter after this man la de liechthe Orecess arrangiffellen isn

A graine the least of all anna and a tag Silique had the graines and come and the Semiobolus 6: graines, Eugy noone 20 and Opening the first the Bankara selected Argonatus one thickenth part of an aumor 02 41. graines and in of a graine.

Denarius the seaventh part of an ounce. Sextula the firt part.

Sicilicus the fourth part. Duella the thirde part.

Semuncia the fecond part, or half an ounce otherwyle called a Stater.

Vacia the ounce which had two Semuncias 3. Duellas: 4. Sicilicos: 6. Stextulas: 7. Denarios:14. Victoriatus: and c 76. graines, as they themselves doe number them.

Epiphanius in his De mensuris & ponderibus, speaking of the ounce devideth it into two Stateres, 4. Siclos, and 8. Deach mes, whereby he maketh the Stater to containe halfe an ounce or two Diorachmas. And as he agreeth with bs in 8. Deachmes to the ounce, so he maketh the lesse Holcen to counternaile the Deachme, and the greater the Sicle: after which also the heare of Ab. solon was weighed and founde to have Holcen fictorum 125, that is two pounde and an balle as he maketh op his reckening.

That the Siclus was once called Talentum I referre pou to Euschius his 9. boke De preparatione Euangelica, where he alled. geth the authoritie of Eupolemus, writing of Dauld, Salomon and the buylding of the Temple at large. In the 30. of Exodus wee Ande the Jewith Sicle to containe 20. obolos, which losephus erpounding in the thirde of his Antiquities, layth that the Sicle of the Debrues dyd countervaile foure Deachmes of Athens. The like doeth Jerome affirme bpon the fourth of Ezechiel. Bereofallo Eupolemus gathereth manifelly that the 10. talentes of golde which Salomon gave onto eache of those workemen that wrought opon his Temple, werebut so many Sicles of his authoritie be sounde. But to our owne.

Wie have also a weight called the pounde, whereofare two fortes the one taking name of Trop containing twelve dunces (after which our liquide a drie measures are welthe d and our viat (cide) the other commonly called Haberdupois, whereby our other artis ficers and chapmen dos bupe and fell they? wares. The first of these confavneth 7680. graines wheras the other hath 10240. Each of them also are devided into the valle quare ter, quarter, and halfe pounde, s thice quare ters as we have lavde before in the description of the onnce. Powe in conference of the same with the Oracian weightes if pou respeathe Mna commonly bled amongest the Whilitios and Surgeons (I meane for num. ber of ounces) you thall finde finall difference betwene thele and our Baberoupois, but of you better colider of their difference in oun.

ces, pon thall fé fome oddes which I will bereafter lette downe. Purthermoze as me have two fortes of poundes in Englande, for the Crakes belide the fore alleadged, have thie kindes of Mnas, whereof the first called the greater of the newe, bath

12. ounces and foure Drachmes, 02

100. Drachmes, or

600. Obolos, 02 Semiobolos, 1200.

3600. Calchos, 02

25200. Leptas & of these Livie sveaketh. Their fecond is called the olde Mna, whole proportion is given out after thysmaner. and bath

9. ounces and thee Deachmes, 02

75. Dzachmes. 02

450. Obolos, 02

900. Semiobolos, 02

2700. Calchos 18900. Leptas.

As for theire Apothecary Mna, if conteined after their common account.

ic. ounces oz-

_ 112. Drachmes, and an balfe-62

337. Scruptulas and an halfe-02

675. Obolos, whereoflet this suffice. In lyke fort the Komaine's baning but one-Libra, devided it also into these even partes infuing, 12. Dunces D2 576.graines.

2. Semisses 02 6. punces.

3. Trientes, 02 4.0unces.

4. Quadrantes, 02 3. ounces.

6. Sextantes, 02 2.0unces.

8. Sescuncias or one ounce and an baise. Belide these also they had certaine obbe weightes (percelles of their Libra) which bio hit in as it were betweene there, and whole names for helpe of the diligent in hylforicall studie T will set vowne as thus.

Denux of in.ounces. Dextans of 10.000 ces.

Dodrans of 9. ounces.

Bes of S.ounces.

Septunx of 7.0unces. Quincunx of fine ounces, whereby we sé that the Romaine Libra is not all one with the Athenien Mna as may like tople be farther læne by this divilion inlaing for the Komaine Librahath

12 Vncias.

24 Semuncias.

36 Duellas.

48 Sicilicos.

72 Sextulas.

Sa Denarios. 168 Victoriatus & 288. Scriptula.

Andas Libra formounteth the plac Massis the new Mna crosedeth the Libra, and to byb of the description of Britaine.

also the Apothecaric weight as I have sappe before. But yet to lay somewhat more of the Romante Libra 02 pounde & other like popfes. I thincke it very expedient for the helpe of such as thall mete with the same in reabing of the Pytrozies, & better conference of their proportion with ours.

It is to be noted that As og Alsis, is a woode properly to be applyed buto any thing that may be devided into partes, wherby it come meth to passe that as the fote is As unto the Imaller measure, and Libra buto the smaller copne, so Libra oz Pondo is As oz Assis, unto the partes of hys division being left of the greatest, & greatest of the fmallest weights. Of Libra also the pound weight was some tome called Libralis, 2. pounde Bilibris, thie pounde Trilibris &c. And in like fort was Pondo vico and also As, so that for the afore favor povies we thall reade Pondo, dupondius, trepondius in the one: and for 3. pound. 4. pounde 9. pounde, and 10. pounde, Tressis. Quadrassis, Nonulsis, and Deculsis in the o: ther. Also for two Deculses 3. Deculses and 10. Decusses: Vicessis, Tricessis, and Centussisthat is, 20. Asses, 30. Asses and 100. Asses or voundes as the authours doe expound it. In like sozte Apondus 02 Assipondius is a pounde weight, Dua pondo, two pound, Trepondo the pounde, as by reading may be found out. Whenloever you find Pondo put with an other worde of weight, it significth the worde fimply wherento it is referred as Pendo, Libra a pound, Pondo vncia an ounce and so forth in the rest. I might here say that the braile penny of the Romaines weight at the first wared 10. pounde, of which Seltertius being the fourth parte contapned two pounds and an halfe; but when they beganne to copie filuer money, the filuer denarius 02 Libra was valued after the estimation of the substaunce at 10, pounde of the brasen met tail, and yet pe hall not reade that the Romaines did ever ble the worde As, Assis at any time for the filner coine, but Libella whi the 3 does take as a thing worthis to be no ted. In like foat Quinarius was the halfe of the denarius, and Quadrans, a copne of thee ounces in braile, whereof this may fuffice. Furthermore in observation of the word Scstertium. Pou thall buderstande that mille Sestertium, mille Sestertium numum, mille Numum and mille Sesteruj are all one. In like fort Seitertia in the Penter gender, doe counternaile mille Sestertios in the Pacciline gender. But if any Aduerbe of number be acoed bute them, it figuifieth hundreds of thousandes. Decem Sestertia therefoze are 10000. Seltertium oz Seftertios. And decies Sestertios. 02 Sestertiu is all one with 100000. Sestertios 02 Sestertium, as Budens Glarcan and other bane let downe.

Thus it chall nowe be an easte matter to finde the difference betweene these here rea membred & our English poifes, if the nums ber of odde graines be duely confidered, and these resolued into ounces, 102, lesse weight, as occasió doth require. Hitherto also I haue spoken of small weightes , nowe let be fæ what they be that are of the greater fort, but first of such as are in ble in Englande, reco. ning not after trope weight, but Haberon pois, whole pounde hath lirteene ounces, as I have lande befoze. Of great waight therfore we have

The clone weighing 7 pound or half a frome. The halfe quarterne of 14. pounde, in moll a ffone, whereof 26.00 make a lacke.

The quarterne of 28, pound, in wol a Toobe The halfe hundred of 66. pounde.

The hundred of 112.02 1792 ounces.

And these are blually reconed next buto the hundred weight, which is the greatest of all that we doe commonly vie, and of which dys uers other are commonly made about the fale of our Tinne, Leave, Flare, Spyce, and all kinde of marchaundise with others, whole quantities a names are otterly buknowne onto me. Befe is epther folde by & None of eyght pounds or by the score, Chale by the weigh. And hereof we finde two feur rail weightes, whereof one containeth 32 Cloues, eache cloue being of leaven vound. (although some Bokes have one but of fire) whereby the one-weigh bath 224, the other 256. pound, that is 36 cloues & foure pounde oner weight. This is mozeoner to be noted, that the worde bonozed, is not altoapes pled after one fort in waight or tale, for as fine Core are off taken for an bundred in some respect as in money & men : so 120. do make but an hundled as in cattell. cc. after another accourt. But if you deale by waight the 112. is alwayes your full number. And as the hundred is the greatest here in England, so the talent was the greatest in Grece & other countries. Powbeit as our hundzedes in tale doe differ from our hundzedes in waight, fo Did the talents differ one from another, and also from them selues, for -

The great talent of Athens werghed 1000. of they comices.

The lette of Athens 750.0unces, 02 6000. in deaciones.

That called Egyncu 1250. ounces (of theirs) C 02 10000.deschmes.

That of Systa 187.0uces,021500.dzachms. That of Babylon 875. ounces, or 7000. Dzach, diachmes.

And all after the rate of the Athenian ounce, unto inhose talent also the Cuboske did sæme to come very neare, as may appeare by conference. Pow to make some collation of our meightes anothèle afore remembred togis ther, and so farre as thalbe necessary for the reading of forceine hyltories.

I Df the Dunce.

Pou Chall bnoerstand that our ounce erces octh the ounce of the Komains oz Trecians by 64. grains, as may eafily be gathered by that whych is already let downe.

Dur drachme therfore mult nædes coteine 80. graines, which is 8 moze then any of the other.

Dur Scriptulum (if we had any) 26. grains. and a third part of two graines.

Sur Obolus 13, graines and third part of a grain, so that in our mony after s. Millings to the ounce 7. pence ob. is the full waight of a deachine, whereby it is easie to cast the true quantitie of the lette.

T Df the Mna.

The first also of the three Mnas afore remembred called the greater, being call af ter his proportion, bath 11. ounces and two brachmes, that is 56. Millings and 3 pence, whereby it wanteth somewhat of a pounde of Trop waight.

The olde Mna hath 67. deachmes and an halfe, that is 8. of our dunces, & thie drams, 02 42. Hillings, and 2 pence ob. after our Enulish reckening.

The thirde Mna hath 13. ounces & a halfe, that is 3. pound Englith, 7. Chillings 6. pence farding, and halfe farding.

The fourth Mna first of all remembred, (A meane of 16. ounces) bath in like fort 14. ounces, 3.drachmes 16.graines or 3.pounde 12. Millings of currant money of Englande, after c. Willings to the ounce.

a In lyke lost of Talents.

The great talent of Athens hath 900.0000 res, that is of our money 225, pound.

The small talent of Athens, hath 671.0uns ces and 7. deachnes: 02 167. pounde 19. Wil lings 4. pence ob. Englith.

The third talent of Aegynen 1156. cunces 2.dachmes, that is 289.pound Engliff, one Willing and 3. pence.

The fourth of those afore remembred 168. ounces 2.drachmes or 42, pound one Willing 6, pence English.

The last 787. ounces and 4. drachmes, 02 196. pound, 17. thil. 6. pen engloth, as 3 haue truely cast it, except 3 missake oughts in mp reckening, which is a thing some done: only thus cannot faile, that 3. pounde in councis one pound in waight, after s. chillings to the ounce, wheroflet the suffice, for the talent in waight. I fap in waight, because there was a peccof copne called also a talent, as I have noted out of Eupolemus befoze, who confoundeth it with a licle. And thereof a read furthermoze that the Debrues Tetras drachma was such a talent. As for that of the Athenienles, it contained 3. Stateres and of thys also prongh.

Of liquide measures. Cap. 24.

I Istherto have I spoken of waights, now lit resteth that I doe the lyke of suche lie quide measures as are presently bled in En. gland, and have bene of olde time amongst the Grecians and Komaines. Wherin I wil deale so faithfully as 3 may, to the ende thys travaile of mine may be some helpe to suche as that come after in conferring forcen with our home made weights and measures, and for the better bider francing of the histories, wherein such thyings are spoken of. The first therfoze of our English measures, is

A sponeful which bath one of our deachmes and 6. graines.

An allay, talte of fippet 4. (ponefuls: 02 4. drachmes and 24, graines. -

A fardendele is a quarter of a poud, pinte, 02 3. ounces of Arop.

An Muytch 6. ounces oz halfe a pinte. A pinte 12.0unces, 02 a pounde, 02 4.farden deles. A quart 24.0unces, two pintes, 02 2.pounde Trov.

A pottle, 48. ounces of 4. pounde, of so many vintes.

A gallon 96.0unces,028.pound,028.pintes. A firkin 8.gallons oz 64.pound, and thys in Ale, Sope, and Herring.

The kilderkin 16. gallons.

The barrell 32 gailons. And these are our meare English liquide measures. The rest p we have are outlandish vessels, and such as are brought over buto vs with wares from other countreys. And yet are we not altogis ther guided by thys rate (the moze pitye)but in some things severall measures are bled and recepued, as for example.

The fyzkin of beare hath 9. gallons. The kilderkin 18. gallons.

The barrel 36. As for the housead of bere ttis lately come bp, and because I se none made of thys allife, but onely the emptye calkes of wine referred to thus ble, I palle over to lay any thing thereof. If it were ac cozding to the Candarde for bere, it Choulde containe 72. gallons, which now hath but 64 a Bint of Cles and Samon.

of the description of Britaine.

The fickin 10. gallons and an halfe. The halfe barrell. 21. gallons.

The barrell 42.gallons.

The butte 84 gallons. Pet some estatutes limite our Cle measure in an equalitie bnto that of herrings, of whych 120.go to the hu. pred and 10000.to the last, as they are commonly folde.

Of wine and such vessels thereof as come from beyond the leas we have the rundlet of 18.gallons and a pottle.

The barrell (whych is rare) of 31. gallons

The hogshed of 63.gallons. The tiers of 34.gailons.

The pipe of butte of 126.gallons.

The tunne of 252.

There are also thirdes of pipes or hoggel heads, and of barrelles, which are likelyife called tertians, but of these I say nothing. hecause they devision is easie. Suche also bath bene the care of our maiestrates here. tofoze, that thefe very vellels have had thep? limitation of waight, in fo much that

The firkin (hould ivey 6. pound 6. ounces. The halfe barrell oz kilderkin 13. pomo. The barrell 26.11. Whereof let this fuffice.

And these are the quantities and names of most of our liquide measures, wherebuto we wil adde first those of the old Grækes, where by they measured thep; wines, opleand bo. ney, and wherof the formost is.

The sponeful, which weygheth one deachme halfe a Scriptula,2.graines & 2.fifth partes of a graine.

Cheme hath 2. sponefuls 02 2.dzachines, one scriptulum 4. graines and 4 of a graine in waight.

Mystrum 2.sponefulies and an halfe, of 3. drachmes in weight of theyes.

Concha: 2. Mystra, 025. sponefulles, 03 stre Drachmes:

Cyathus 2. Conchas,02 one ouce & a deachme Oxybaphon 3. Conchas 0215. Sponefulles, in weight 2.0unces 3.drachmes.

Quartarius 2. Oxybapha, 02 4. ounces and 4. diachmes.

Cotyla alias Hemina 02 Tryblion, 2. quartaries, in weight 9. ounces of their owne.

Sextarius 2. Cotylas 02 120, sponefulles: in weight 18.0f they? ounces.

Chus, Choa, 02 Choeus, 6. sextarios 108.0011 ces or 9. pound.

Metretes, Cadus, Ceraunius 02 Chous 1296. ounces, and these were certe: howbest they had other measures that bare the name of some of these, as Concha the greater, of 2. ounces 2. drachmes equall with the Oxybapha.

Mystrum the greater of 3. diachmes 3-of a deachme.

Mystrum the lette of two deachmes one scriptulumand 4 partes of a graine.

Cheme the greater of 3.drachmes.

The lette of 2.drachmes. Coclearium the greatest as afore.

The letter the tenth part of a Cyathus.

The lesse hath the 24.02 30 part of a Cyathus, for this was also divers, as I do finde in Budeus, Agricola and the Grecian way, ters, (especially for they, townes) because I read of an other Canderd in the rurall pople whereof I will not let also to make mention, because I would omitte nothing that may be beneficiall to the reader, fo neare as I can politibly. Of rurall poples therefore in the aforelande measures I finde that the Mystrum weygheth 4. drachmes and a halfe. Cyathus 4. Myftra 02 2 ounces & 2. deachmes. Oxybapha 6. Mystra oz 3. ounces and thice brachmes.

Cotyle 4. Oxybapha one pound one ounce & an balfe.

Chus hath 12. Cotylas 02 thirteene pound. Amphora 4. Cotylas,02 54. pound.

Metretes 2. Amphoras 108. pound, as like wile the Dedomnus.

Pow let vs le the liquide measure of the Romaines, whych is all one with they? dzy, therfoze thep? Ligula Coclearu oz spone full hathe 240. graines or 3. drachmes in weight, whereby it farre surmounteth the Grecian sponefull

Cyathus 4. sponefuls, 02 960. graines. Acetabulum a Cyathus and an haife, of fire sponefols, 02 2 ounces and an balfe.

Quartarius 2. Acetabula 02 5. ounces. Hemina 2. Quartario 02 10.0unces. Sextarius 2.Heminas 02 20.0unces. Congius 6. Sextarios 02 10. pount.

Vrna 4. Congios 02 40. pound. Amphora 2. Vrnas 02 80. pound.

Culeus 20. Amphoras 02 1600, pound. After the Romaine franderd, so well in the daye as in the liquide measures. And thus muche of these in generall.

A Pow let be compare them with ourse let what proportion or oddes is to be had betwenc them.

Our sponefull hath a Deachme and Are graines and two fift partes of a graine after our flamoard of Weachmes, whereof one is alwayes the eyght part of an omice.

They? Cheme is of ours Drachmes 12 Ditt. grames. graines and - part of a graine.

Their Mystrum one Drachme and one

Concha fiue Dyachmes oz 32, graines oz 3. Willinges and peny halfe peny after five Billinges to the ounce.

Cyathus one cunce and epght graines. Oxybaphon two ounces and 16. graines. Quartarius foure ounces and 32 graines.

Cotyla epght ounces 64. grames of the quarters of a Dzachme and foure graines. Sextarius firetæne ounces, one Deachme 48.graines.

Choa 97. sunces one Deachme or epatt pounde Erop, one ounce one Deachme and 43.graines.

Metretes 1166, ounces and theé Deach mes, 62 97. pennde Trope two ounces and thre Drachmes, which is all one with 12. gallons za pint after our english measure.

Their rurall measures also being compared with ours, yelde thys proportion.

Mystrum hath seure Deachmes 4. graines Cyathus two ounces and lirtaine graines. Oxybapha 3.ounces 24.graines oz a quars ter of a pint and somewhat moze.

Chus twelue pounde one ounce 6 Dzach. mes and 32. graines: the pottels and odde mealure.

Amphora 47, pounde scauen ounces and an halfe and +8. graines which wanteth not full fine cunces of 6. gallons, after our Cuglith measures.

Metretes hath 97. pounde two ounces their Deachmes 16. graines of twelve gallons ? a pinte. 4c. that is, three gallons and a pint. graboue our kilderkin of bære.

Thaining thus proceeded in extent & comparison of the Grecian incalures with ours. let us do the like with those of the Ramaines and then our talke is verformed.

The Romaine sponful is exactly 3. Deach. mes englich.

The Crathus twelne Drachmes, that is, one ounce and an halfe.

Acetabulum two ounces # 2. Drachmes. Quartarms foure ounces, and 4. Deachmes Chaliff.

Hernina nine onnees of this quarters of a pinte.

Sextarius one pinte and an halfe. Conclus the quartes of 72, ounces. Vrnathie gallens of 24, pounde. Amphora 6. gallens 02 48. peunce.

Culcus 120.gallons, which is two hogges. heades of our anneient measure, saving 8. gallons:0; thic barrelles and akilderkin, fauing that there are 6. gallons over meas fure, whereby our account eremoeth that of the Romaines.

And thus much briefly of liquid measures. wherein pf I have bone moze long + tedi ous then theu peraduenture diddeft loke for at the first, yet the benefite gotten thereby thall, I hope, countervaile the travaile in reading of the same. And as I have dispate ched my handes in this forte of the liquide, now it relistes that I doe the lyke with the dzie measures, then thall that little Trea. tise have an ende, whereof I spake befoze t might otherwyse have perished hereafter (for me) yf it had not bene inferted here bupon this necessarie occasion.

Of the drie measures of Englande, and their comparison with others.

Cap. 25.

S befoze we lie in the mople, so ove all A our dzie measures ketch their oziginall from the sponefull sc. untill they come at the gallon: beyonde the which wie have the Pecke or farthendeale of a bushell (for that is our Englishe worde for a fourth part) of two gallons.

Halfe buthell of foure gallons.

Buthell of eyght gallons, of 64. pounde, Trope.

Strike of two Bulhelles of 128, pounde of 16. gallons.

Come rafoz oz coznocke offoure buthels 62 256. ponnoe or 32. gallons.

Quarter og feame of 8. Buffelles og 512. pounde o; 64. gallens.

E Way, or 6 quarters of 5 7 0 2. pounde of 384. gallons as by the rule of proportion is calle to be founde.

By these measures also we measure our Bustard lede, Lape lede, Carot rotes, falt, and fruite, notwithstanding that the filling of the Bulhell be diners, fith in Coine, falte, and ledes we frike with a rule, but in Ad pics & Rotes we poure them on by heapes. This is furthermore to be confidered, that although one wheate or barb be heavyer then an other, as the soyle is wette oz bzie, Barly comonly then Dtes. Rye then barly wheate then Rye. 4c. also in liquide wares. Dyle compared with wine, and both wyth honv, vet v measure framed after the afores lande weightes both meate them all moiffed rently fothat the quantitie of the frandards and not the qualitie of ware measured, is as wapes to be loked on. In deede it is founds by experience that a lyke measure, of topne-Dyle and hony being weighen togither, the Ople thalbe lighter by a ninth part then the wine, and the hony heavyer then the wine almost by a thirde. Certes there is nothing that cometh never the weight of wine then the purell water, and pet one Wline is hear uver then an other as waters also are, of which the most grosse is ener moze & weighticit. And these thinges have not beine buknowne intymes pair also bits the Brecians: for weyghing they? Culeus of Dple, ft peyled but 1333. pound, 4 ouces, wheras that of Mine came buto 1 4 8.1. li. fine our ces fire Deachmes and foure Silquas, Mont of hony buto 2 2 2 2. pounde, two ounces; 5. Dachmes, one Scripkula. &c. whereof this maye suffice for an admonition to the reas per. Lowe let bs fæ those of the Grecians for my former purpole, whole Cyathus hath tenne sponfulles, oz an ounce Endbaldus. and one Drachme.

of the description of Britaine.

Oxybaphon 15. sponfalles oz two ounces and two Drachmes.

Cotyle foure Oxybapha oz nine ounces. Sextarius 2. Cotylas 02 18. cunces.

Chenix. 3 Cotylas 02 27. ounces, so called bycause that quantitie sufficed to finde a man breade for an whole daye.

Medimnus 92 Metreces: 48. Chenices 93 et, is flay 108. pounde.

A Inlyke fort in Rurall measures their Myfrum hath 2. Confulles and an haife. Cyathus 4. Mystra, 02 fire sponfulles along Oxybaphon 4. Mystra 2. ounces 2. Datche Thagoras mes.

Cotyle foure Oxybapha, nyne ounces. Chenick 3. Cotylas 27.0unces. Semiduodecima Medymni 2. Chenicas 4. pourde 6, ounces.

Semisextarius 9. pounde.

tade of a

ग्री सः = १००

Beens

taftere.

therwise

thong

micuned

and the e ha Ke.

Sextarius 18. pounde. Tertiarius 16. Chenicas 36. pombe.

Semimedyinnu 24. Chenicas 02 54. pourto; Medymnus 28. Chenicas 02 20 8 pound and these of the Grækes.

Pow hall those of the Romaines foliains in such order as in sueth. Cloclerium a sponefull 3. Drachmes and mptites one Scriptula. Cyathus 4. sponefuls one ounce & an halle, one Deachme one Scriptula. Here III Acetabulum a Cyathus & an halfe 2. our Rome of ces and foure Deachmes.

Hemina 0; Cotula foure Acetabula 0; tenne ounces.

Sextarius two Heminas 02 20.0unces. अ काराड Semodius epaint Sexuarios 13. pounde foure Modius 16. Sextarios 26. pomite 8. denices. Thele aforelande mealures compared ale fo with our English have such proportion.

Cvathus as afoielapos, one ounce & eight graines. Englishe.

Cotyle, 6. ounces 48. graines English.

Chenix one pounde 6, ounces, one Deach me 64.graines English. Medymnus 72, pounde, to, ounces, 32.

grains English.

Their Rurall measures conferred . per to the state to with ours.

Chenix a quarte.

Soniduodecima a Bottle & 4. Deachm. Sémiféxtarius, a gallon and an onnce. Sextarius, two gallons and two ounces.

Tertiari, foure gallons & foure ounces. Semimedimnus 6, gallons & baife a pint.

Medymnus granly 13. gallons.

Whereby we see that their lyquide meafure is somewhat greater then the daye by two ounces and thee Deachmes. Powe it resteth y 3 do the like w the weightes of the Romaine day measures, after which I will grae out the weightes of Wenice as Augustinus Pantheus in his de rebus Voarchadumicis and other doe fet them downe.

Cyathus one ounce and an balfe. Semodius, 12. pounde Trop, that is, & galion and and alfe: ...

Modius 24. pound, that is, tipe gallons. . And maie's comember not at this prelend of their dive measure.

3 might bere adde other measures of the Debaues al foodbut I find fuch variety in the as maketh me rather to omit then publifie them in this treatize. And frost of all thepe Chor, which lignifieth an heape of graine, PChor. is not onely the full loade of a Camell, but allo contentelle 301 Modies as Epiphanius both let downe, notwithstanding that Bude hath 41. Medimmos The Lether also (wheref Lether. Ofce speaketh, saying, Mercede conduxi mihi Lethec horder. &c.) is al one with the Gomor Gomor. oz halfe Cor, and called Lether of lifting bp, because a yong man might stalely lift it bu to lave it boon his alle. Their Batos of Dyle, Batos. with Epiphanius halff, co. Sextarios, with Budee 27. The Modius of p Iues, 22. Sexuarios in the first, but in the Greatize of this later? only 16. Intyke lostothere is difference in: the Cab ve fourth part of the Modius. Alfo (1) Modius. & Mansis, 02 Medimnus, which after Epipha-Cab. nis hath 10. Modios, & Salanien of Conflant Mnalis. tinuan 5. Modios and that of Paphos and Si-in turning ouer fuch old bokes as came but D.III.

cilia, onely 4-1 all which discozdances 3 am not able to reconcile, especially being things of fuch antiquitie, and therfore I give oppe

to speake any longer of them. Aurthermoze

The Thirde Booke

to my handes I finde also this note insuying 6. which Charcte bath 4 graines Beny & Carettes. Antonomical a Query grame of Batement a Beny in Cold but after Fraunce, Clenice, and fome oth -places, they have but fire Carettes in the grap, and 4. graines in the Carette, which obles growets by the difference of weighteg, for beyonde the fea they have 24. pence in the ounce, which is 4. pence moze in value, then the ounce English, after the olde account of pence. 13p these Carettes pearles and fromes are balued and folde, but not gold, which bath neverthelesse the name of Carettes in his Pois, but after an other proportion.

Of Weightes of Venice, also Augustinus Pantheus, faith thus.

Eximo is the 196.parte of a graine. Laraine conteineth 156.Eximos. Charattus 02 Siliqua 4 graines. Quartus 36. Carattes, or the olde guilden, Onnce 4. martes 144. Carattes: 1...) Marca 02 Bes 8. punices 02 11 52. Carattes, Marchus 16.0unces,02 2804. Carattes. Rubus 20. Marcas. Polh 4 b. Marchas, whereof let this fuffice, & for the lettying forth of the tuft proportion of weights and measures, Thopethat which is aiready spoken thall be prough. ា សិក្សា សិក នៃការបាន សម្រាស់ បើអាមេរិក ប្រជាពី ប្រជាពី សេក្សា សេក al haue thought good to deliuer the names of the Archbyshops and Byshops of London, as they succeded since the Brytons were first conuerted into the faith.

in the property and took Occurre Archbishops :

Theon.	Theodwinus
Eluanus.	Theodredus.
Cadocus.	Hillarius, C. Carlo of
Oumus.	Guittelinus.
Conanus.	Vodinus, flaine by the
Palladius.	Saxons.
Stephanus.	*Theonus.
Ikutus.

The Sie voide many yeares.

Augustus Monachus,

The Archebishop remouing his Sie to Cantorbury these Byshops fucceeded.

The Sie voyde a feafon.

	4 . 1
Wina.	Cernulphus.
Erkenwaldus.	Suithulphus.
Waldherus.	Eaditanus.
Iugaldus.	Wulfinus.
Egulphus.
Wigotus.	Elstanus.
Eadbricus.	Brithelmus.
Edgarus.	Dunstanus.
Kiniwalchus.	Theodoricus.
Eadbaldus.	Alwijnus.
Eadbertus.	Elswoldus.
Oswinus.	Robertus.
Ethelmothus.	Wilhelmus.
Ceadbertus.	Hugo.
	5 ·

The Sie voide 11. yeares.

Mauricius.	Michaell.
Richardus Beaumish.	Simon.
Gilbertus.	Robertus.
	Thomas.
Richardis: 15.5 : ::	Richardus
Gilbertus.	Thomas Sanaoine
Richardus.	Thomas Sanacine. Wilhelmus. Wilhelmus warham?
Wilhelmus:	Withelmus warham?
Eustathius.	Wilhelmus Barnes.
	Richardus fiez lames
Fulco.	Cuthbertus Tunstalt:
Henricus.	Johanes Stokelley
Richardus.	Edmundus Boner
Radulphus.	Nicholas Ridley
Gilbertus.	Edmonde Boner
Richardus Biutworth	. gaine.
Stephanus.	Edmond Grindall.
Richardus.	Eadwijn Sander
Radulphus Baldoc.	Elmer. is intent
7	tion of the state

Here followeth the principall Faires 199 kept in Englande.

Faires in Ianuary.

Thefirt day being Ewelfe day, at Salit I burp. The 25. being S. Paules day, at Billowe, at Cranelende, at Churchinglin at Porthalerto in Porkethire, where is kept a faire emery wednelday from Chilimale bntill Itme.

3.20

Favres in February.

Be first day at Bromley: The fecond at Linne, at Bath, at Paidfone, at Bics beilworth, at Buoworth. The 14.at Feuerham. On Ahlwednesday at Lichfielde, at Cammonth, at Royllon , at Ercelfer, at A. bington, at Ciceter. The 24 at Benley bpon Thames, at Tewkelbury.

Fayres in March.

Of f. Georges daye, at Stamforde, and at Suddury. The 13. day at Wie, at the Mount, and at Boomin in Comewall. The s. Sunday in Lent; at Granthameat Salif. bury. On Monday before our Lavy dave in Lent, at Milbich, at Bendale, Denbigh in Males. On Palmelundaye euen, at Pum nhiet. Dn Balmimdap, at Wiczeffer. The 20. day at Durham. On our Ladpe daye in Lent at Porthamton, at Daloen, at great Chart, at pewcastell. And all the Ladge paies at Huntington.

Fayres in Aprill.

The 5. day at Walingtows. The 7. at Darbye. The 9. at Bicklestwathe, at Bilingworth. Dn monday after, at Euglia in Wozceffer thire. On Liveloav in Caffer weke, at Boathflete, at Rochfold, at Bifchin. The thirde Sumday after Caffer, at Louth. The 22. at Stabford. on S. Bediges dap, at Charing, at Ipfivich, at Amt. bill, at Himingham, at Bilfozde, at 13. Pombes in Cornewall . On faint Parkes day at Darby, at Dunmowin Effer. The 26.at Tenderden in Bent.

Fayres in May. Of Pay daye at Rippon, af Perin in Cornewall, at Dieffice in Males, at Lerficlo in Suffolhe, at Stow golo , at Rene. ding, at Leicelfer, at Chenffoto, at Pailtone at Brickchill, at Blackebotte, at Cogficon. The 3. at Bramparde, at Deinfigham, at. Plitow. The 7. at Beuerley, at Peinton, at-Orfoide. On Ascention day at Pewcalfell, at Berne, at Baimechame, at S. Cdes, at Bulhop Stratforde, at Wileham, at Dide. wiche, at Stopfozoe, at Chappell Frith. On Whiten enen, at Skipton oppon Crauen. On Whiliunday, at Michell, at Gribby, and euerp wedneldap forfnight at Bingston bpo Thames at Ratefoale at Birby Stephin in Elelimerlande. On munday in Illhitiume weke, at Warington, at Creeker, at Bad. forbe, at Abgate, at Burton, at Salforth, at Whitechurch, at Cokermouth, at Appelby, at Wicklesworth, on Tewsday on Withissun, where, at Lewie, at Kochford, at Cantorbus that Derielkithe, at Berith. Dn wednes dav in Wahitlun weke at Sandbarre . On Trinitie fundaviat Bendall, and at Kowell, On thurlday after Trinitic lunday, at 10266 cote, at Stapforde, at S. Annes, at Bembus ry, at Couentry, at S. Edes, at Bilhoppe Stofforde, at Rolle. The 9. at Locheller, at Dintstable. The 27. day at Lenham. The 29.at Crambzoke.

· Fayres in June.

The 9.day at Payoclione. The 11. at D. I kingham, at Pewbozowgh, at Parfield at Wolfe. The 23. at Shewelburp, at Saint Albons. The 24. day at Botham, at Bedel. at Strackfocke, at f. Annes, at Wakefield, at Colchester, at Reading, at Bedforde, at Barnewell, at Wollerhampton, at Crambiwie, at Glocefter, at Lincolne, at Peters bezoilghat Windloze, at Hardone, at Lane cafter, at Westchester, at Wallsfare, at Athe borne. The 27. at Holkeltone. The 28. at Detcome, at S. Bombes. The 29. at Woods hurlf, at Warlebozough, at Polletworth, at Mofferhampton, at Peterfictor, at Lempi Her, at Bubbary, at Gargraungt, at 15,000

Fayres in July complete the first the factor of the factor

कार्य अन्तर १९ क्ष्मिके १९ १८ क्षेत्र, युक्त क्रांक्षिक किर्या

The 2. at Congreton, at Anton bimer Line. The 11. at Barrney, e at Lto. The 15. at Pichbacke. The 17. at Willichecombe. The 20. at Arbridge at Catelby at Bolton The 22. at Parlebozough, at Minchelter, at Colchester at Tethury, at 18210genozib, at Chiberali, at Poziosche in Cheinire, at Chefwike at Battelffelde, at Bikelwoath. The 24 at Brittowe, at Doner, at Chilliam, at Daiby at Ipfiotch, at Porthanton, at Buder in Stattozofhire, at S. James befoe London, at Reading, at Louth, at Palinel bury at Browneley at Chicheffer, at Liver. pole, at Airergam, at Ranenglatte in the Porty. The 27 . at Canterbury at Posham at Richmonde in the Posth, at Warington, at Chappelt Frith.

Fayres in August.

The art day at Ercetter, at Fenertham I at Dunftable, at S. Coes , at Bedfozd, at Portham Church, at Willich, at Dorke, at Rumney, at Dewton, at Pelande. Ther. at Maltham, at Blackemeze, at Bunger. force at 15edforde, at Stroydes, at Farnam at Saint Laurence by 1300min, at Walton, at Croily, at Seodell, at pewe Braineford. Cheig.at Dunmow, at Carleile, at Preffu at Makefielde y two Lady dates. Dn Bartholomew day at London, at Beggers buthe befice Ape, at Teinkelbury, at Sudbury, at Upe,at Bantwiche,at pagets, at Bromly. at Pozwiche, at Pozthalerton, at Douer, at the Sundare after Bartholomewe dage at Sandbiche. The 27. at Alhfoide.

Favres in September.

The first daye at S. Oiles at the Buthe. I On our Lady day, at Wakcheide, at Sturbeidge, in Southwarke at London, at Smoe, at Recolner, at Gifbzonghe both the Lady daics, at Partneye. The thie Ladye daies, at Wlackbozne, at Cilvozne in Dozke. fbire, at Chalton, at Atcester. On Holy Lode day, at Richmonde in Pozkethire, at Ripond a hogic faire, at Penhad, at Berles lepat Waltham Abbay, at Wotten bnder hedge, at Smalding, at Chesterfield, at De. bigh in Wales. On Saint Pathies day at Barlebornugh, at Beoforde, at Croidon, at Polocn in Polocrnes, at faint Comondibus rp, at Malton, at laint Jues, at Shewelbus rp,at Lancha, at Wittnall, at Sittingbozne, at Bainetry, at Batherine bil beade Oil tozde, at Doner, at Caliric. The 29. Day bes ing Michaelmas daye, at Canto; bury, at Lancafter, at Blackeborne, at Wellcheffer at Cokermouth, at alhborne, at Haoley, at Maiden at horse faire at Way hill, at Rew burp, at Leicelfer.

Fayres in October.

The fourth day at Michell. The 6.day at Saint Faithes beside Admiche, at Maidelione. The 8. at Werbozough, at Warmorde, at Bythop Stotforde. Dn Saint Cowardes day at Holfton, at Gravelende, at EAmologe, at Warchfield, at Colchester. Dn Saint Lukes dave at Clp, at Willie, at Upanc, at Chirly at Bridgenorth, at Stanton, at Charing, at Burton boon Trent, at Charleton, at Wigan, at Frilwides in Dr. forder at Trivale, at Widlewicke, at Wolt in Walcs. The 21. day at Saffron Waldon, at Pewemarket, at Hertforde, at Ciceffer, at Stokelley. The 23. at Pacifon, at Bikells worth, at Ritchoale, at whitechurch. Dnall Sainces euen at Wakchelde, at Kithen.

Fayres in Nouember.

The lecond, at Blechingly, at Kingsfone 1 at Parfielde. The 6.day, at Pempozte ponde, at Stanley, at Aregnep, at Salfozd. at Lessone. The 10. at Leuton. The 11. at Warlebozough, at Douer. The 13. at Saint Comondes bury, at Gilforde. The 17. day at Low at Hide. The 19. at Horham . Dn D. Comondes daye, at Bythe, at IngerCone. The 23. day at Sandwiche. Dn Saint Ani drewes day at Colingbozough, at Rochel ter, at Peterfield, at Paidenhead, at Bewd lep, at Marington in Lancachire, at Bed. forde in Porkethire, at Bleffrie in Wales.

Fayeres in December.

A Saint Picholas even at Pluckeley.
On Saint Picholas day, at Spalding, at Erceffer, and Sinocke, at Arnedale, and at Aosthwiche in Chelhire. The 7. day at Sandhurff. The egght day being the Conception of our Lady, at Clitherall in Lancahire, at Walpas in Chechire. The 29. day at Canterbury, and at Salisbury.

■ How a man may lourney from any notable towne in England, to the Citie of London, or from London to any notable towne in the Realme.

> The way from Walfingham to London.

Rom Wallingham to Pickes nam ry.mile from Pickenam to Brandontes From Brandonfery to Decomarket r.mile From Pewmarket to Babram r.mile From Babyam to Barkeway rr.mils: From Barkeway to Puchzich by.mile. From Puchzich to Ware b.mile. From Ware to Waltham biij.milen From Waltham to London ru.mile

The way from Barwike to Yorke, and fo to London.

Kom Barwike to Belfozde rij.mae From Belfozde to Anwike ry.mile From of the description of Britaine

From Intolke to Mozpit rii.mile g rom Poppit to Pewcastell rij.mile From soweadell to Durham rii.mile From Durbam to Darington riii.mile grem Daringson to Porthalerto ring, mile From Porthalerton to Coplife bij.mile From Zoplife to Poske rbj.mile. From Poske to Ladcaster viy.mile grom Sabcaffer to Wantbaloge ty.mile From Menthatoge to Dancaller big.mile from Dancaffer to Tutfozde rbitj.mile From Luctoide to Pewarke r.mile From Acwarke to Grantham r.mile From Grantham to Stanforde rvi.mile From Stanforde to Stilton rti.mile From Stilton to Guntington ir.mile From Dunting to Roilfon rv.mile From Reiden to Ware ru.mile bitj .mile From Mare to Waltham From Waltham to London rtj.mile

The way from Carnaruan to Chefter and fo to London.

Firm Carnaruan to Conway rriff.mile from Conway to Denbigh rifimile From Denbigh to Flint. ry.mile r.mile from Flint to Cheffer 👫 From Chester to Wiche riiif.mile From Wiche to Stone. rv.mile From Stone to Lichfield rvi.mile From Lichfielde to Colfill rti.mile from Colfill to Coventry biti.mile And fo from Coventry to London, as heres after followeth.

The wave from Cokermouth to Lancafter, and fo to London.

Cliem Cokermouth to Hiswike bi.mile I from kilwike to Grocener big.mile from Grecener to Bendale riiti.mile From Rendale to Burton bu.mile From Burton to Lancaffer biiti.mile from Lancaster to Pzeston rr.mile From Presson to Wigam? riin.mile From Eligam to Warington - rr.mile From Clarington to Pewcastell rr.mile From Deweatfell to Lichtield a gr.mile From Lichfield to Couentrie sinu u From Couentry to Daintrie riiti.mile From Daintrie to Docester? From Coccster to Stonistratsozd bi.mile From Stonifratforde to Bzichill bij.mile From Brichill to Dunftable bu.mile From Dunffable to Saint Albons gr.mite From Saint Albons to Barnet r.mile From Barnetto London r.mile

¶The wave from Yarmouth to Colchester, and so to London.

Kom Parmouth to Becclis bitf.mile I from Becclis to Blybour by.mile From Blybour to Snapbzydge viif.mile From Snaphzioge to Mobblioge biff.mil From Woodzidge to Ipsivich v.msle From Ipswich to Colchester rij.mile From Colchester to Castfozde viti.mile From Califorde to Chelmelforde r.mile From Chelmessozd to Beentwod r.mile From Beentwood to London rv.mile

The way from Douer to London.

Kom Douer to Cantozbury rif.mile from Catozbury to Sittingbozne rif.m. From Sittingbozne to Kochester bigimile From Rochelter to Gravelende v.mile From Grauelende to Datfozde vi.mile From Datforde to London rij.mile

The way from Saint Burien in Cornewall to London.

Trom Saint Burien to the Bount rr.mile I from the Mount to Thurp ru.mile From Salif Thurp to Bodman rr.mile From Booman to Launstone rr_mile From Launstone to Dcomton rv.mile From Desinton to Crokehoznewell r.mile From Crokeboznewell to Extesfer r.mile From Excesser to Honiton ry.mile From Boniton to Chard r.mile From Chard to Crokehozne bij.mile From Crokehozne to Shirbozne r.mile From Shirborne to Shafifburpr.mile From Shafelbury to Salisbury roits.mile From Salifbury to Andenox ro.mile From Andeuoz to Balinglocke rbij.mile From Ballingfocke to Bartfozo biy.mile From Battlozo to Backot bitt.mile From Bagibot to Stanes biti.mile From Stancs to London rb.mile तीमस्य कार्यक्षित्रीक्षित्री The tray from Bristowe to anger of the fill of London whitee

From Particle to Chipnam r.mile From Chipnam to Warlebozough rb.mile Fro Mairbozonghto Dungertozo biy.mile From Hungerfoed to Pewbury btf.mile From Dewbury to Reading rb.mile From Keabing to Paidenbead r.mile From

The way from Saint Dauids to London.

Thom Saint Davids to Arfold	rr.mile
From Baint Davids to Arford From Arforde to Carmarden	r.mtle
From Carmarden to Pewton	r.mile
From Pewton to Lanbury	r.míle
From Lanbury to Becknocke	rbj.mile
From Brecknocke to Pap	r.mile
From Day to Darfozo	riiti.mile
From Harfoed to Kolo	ir.mile
From Roso to Gloceffer	ry.mile
From Sloceller to Ciceller	rb.mile
From Cicelter to Farington	rbj.mile
From Farington to Habington	by.mile from ihabington to Dozcheffer	by.mile
From Dorchelter to Benlay	rij.mile
From Penlay to Payoenhead	vij.mile
From Paydenhead to Colbzoke	by.mile
From Tolbzoke to London	rb.mile

¶Of thorowfarres. From Douer to Cambridge.

From Doner to Cantozbury. 12 myle.
From Cantozbury to Koschester. 20 ms.
From Koschester to Grenesende. 5. msle.
Fro Crancsende ouer Thames, to Hozne.
bon. 4.msles.
From Hoznedon to Chelmessop. 12.msle.
From Chelmessop to Dunmow. 10.msle.
From Dunmowe, to Tharsted. 5.msles.
From Charsted to Kadwinter. 3.msles.
From Kadwinter to Linton. 5.msles.
From Linton to Habzenham. 3.msles.
From Badzenham to Cambzidge. 4.msle.

From Cantorbury to Oxforde.

From Eaccansseld to Eaccansseld.

From Eaccansseld to Eaccansseld.

From Eaccansseld to Eaccansseld.

From Eaccansseld to Eaccansseld.

From Eaccansseld to East Wickhä.

From Eaccansseld to Editor.

From Etocking church to Ebetistord.

From Etocking church to Ebetistord.

From Etocking church to Ebetistord.

From Editsseld to Whatley.

From Whatley to Orforde.

4.mile.

From London to Cambridge.

Firom Comondton to Waltham. 6.mile.

From Waltham to Poddeloon.
From Poddeloon to Ware.
From Ware to Pulcherchurch.
From Pulchurchurch to Barkewate. 7.mi.
From Barkeway to Fulmere.
From Fulmere to Cambridge.
6.mile.

Or thus better waye.
From London to Hoddesdon.
From Hoddesdon to Hadham.
From Hadham to Saffron Walden.12.mi.
Fro Saffron walden to Cambridge. 10.ms.

Tegnald Wolfes his Annotations.

From Barwijc to Edenborowe.

From Chirneside to Coldingham. 3.ms.
From Coldingham Pinketon.
From Pinketon to Dunbarre.
From Dunbarre to Linton.
From Linton to Haddington.
From Haddington to Seaton.
From Seaton to Aberlady of Puskelborow.
From thence to Edenborow

8.mile.

From Edenborow to Barwijc another waye.

From Dalketh to Pewe Battell and Lander.

From Lander to Arfyldon.

From Arfyldon to Dzyburg.

From Dzyburg to Caryton.

From Caryton to Barwijc.

14.mile.

From Edenborow to Dunbrittaine weilwarde.

From Edenbozow to Kirkeliston. 6.mile.
From Kirkeliston to Lithco. 6.mile.
Fro Lithco to Farekirke over Fozth. 6.mi.
From thence to Strivelin vpo Fozth. 6.mi.
From Strivelin to Dunbzittaine. 24.mi.

From Striuelin to Kinghome Eastwarde.

From Downe to Campskenell. 3.mile. Fro Campskenel to Alwey vpo forth. 4.m. From Alwey to Culrose on Fifte. 10.mile. From

of the description of Britaine.

From Culrose to Dunfermelin. 2.mile. From Dunfermelin to Eucrkennin. 2.mi. Fro Cuerkennin to Aberdoze on forth. 3.mi. Fro Aberdoze to Linghozne byon forth. 3.mi.

From Kinghorne to Taymouth.

From Dislarde to Dislard in Fisse. 3.m. From Dislarde to Cowper. 8.mile. From Cowper to D. Andrewes. 14.mse. From D. Andrewes to the Laymouth. 6.ms.

From Taymouth to Stockeforde.

From Laymouth to Balmerinoth Abstrom thence to Londozes Abbay. 4.mile. From Londozes to (. Johns Towns. 12.mi. From Londozes to Schone 5.mile. From thence to Abernithy, where y Erne runneth into the Tay. 15.mile. From Dunde to Arbzoth & Puros. 24.mil. From Dunde to Arbzoth & Puros. 24.mil. From Huros to Aberden 20.mile. From thence to the water of Dokey. 20.mi. From thence to Stockefozd in Koile, and so to the Pelle of Paben, a famous point on the well side.

From Carleil to Whiteherne wellwarde.

From Carless over the Ferry against Licokyrke.

from Hunfræste the ferry of Cre. 40.m.
from Hunfræste the ferry of Cre. 40.m.
from thence to Alygian.
from thence to Alygian.
12.mile.

Aitherto of the commo wayes of England and Scotland, where but I will adjoyne hold thosowfares afcribed to Antoninus, to the end hy their conferece the diligent reader may have farder confideration of his lame then my legiure well permitte me: In letting foothallo thereof, have noted such divertitie of reading, as both happened in the fight of such written and printed copies, as house were in time.

Iter Britanniarum

A GESSORIACO.

Le Gallis Risupis in portu Britanniarum sadia

numero. CCCCL.

A LIMITE, ID EST A VALLO Prætorio víque M.P. CLVI. sic: A Bramenio Corstopitum. M.P. x x. Vindomera M. P. VIIII. Viconia M.P. XVIIII. Vinouia Vinouiam.

Cataractoni M. P. XXII.

Isurium M. P. XXIII.

Eburacum legio, VI. Victrix M.P. XVIX.

Deruentione M.P. VII.

Delgouitia M. P. XIII.

Prætorio M.P. XXV.

Catologie.

Portum Ritupis M. P. CCC. LXXXI. 491. fic.

Ablato Bulgio * castra exploratorum M. P. âlias à Blato. Lugu-vallo * M.P. x II. alias à Lugu-valio. Cairlest. Voreda M. P. X I I I I. Brouonacis* M. P. XIII. Branoniacie. Verteris M. P. XX. 13. Lauatris M. P. XIIII. Casurractonium. Cataractone* M.P. XVI. Iforiam. Isuriam * M. P. XXIIII. Eburacum * M. P. X V I I I. Eboracum. Calcaria * M.P. VIIII. Cacaria. Camboduno M. P. X X. Mammuncio * M. P. XVIII. Manucio Condate M.P. XVIII. Deualegio.xx111.C1.M.P.xx. Bouio * M. P. X. Mediolano M. P. X X. Rutunio M.P. XII. Viroconium. Vrio Conio * M.P. XI. Vxacona M.p. x I. Penno-Crucio M. P. X I I. Etoceto M. P. X I I. Mandues Sedo M.P. XVI. Venonis M. P. X I I. Bennauenta* M.P.XVII. Banna venta. Lactorodo * M. P. XII. Lattodoro. Maginto * M. P. XVII. 12. Magionineum. Duro-Cobriuis M.P. x 11. Dunstable. $.Albanes. Vero-Lamio M.P.XII. Sullomacis * M.P.IX. Warnet. Londinio. London. Longidinio M. P. XII. Nouiomago M. P. X. Vagniacis m. p. xviij. Durobrouis m.p.ix. Duroprouss. Durolcuo M. p. xvj. 13. Duror-Verno * m. p. xij. Drouerno Duronerno.

ITEM A LONDINIO ad portum Dubris M.P.LVI.66.fic: abobrus * m. p. xxvij. Durobronis Durobrine.

Ad portum Ritupis m. p. xij. Duraruenno Daruerno.

Dubobrus m. p. xxvij.

Durobronis Durob

Portum Lemanis M. P.L. XVIII. Sic.: Durobrius m. p. xxvij. Duraruenno m. p. xv. 25. Ad portum Lemanis m. p. xvj.

ITEM A LONDINIO Lugu-Valio ad Vallú m.p. c c c c x 1 1 1 1. sic: Czsaromago m. p. xxviij. Colonia m. p. xxiij. Villa Faustini m. p. xxxv. 25. Icianos m. p. xxiij. Camborico m. p. xxxv. Duroliponte m. p. xxv. Durobriuas m. p. xxxv. Gausennis m. p. xxx. Lindo m. p. xxvi. Segeloci. m. p. xiiij.

Dane

The thirde Booke

Dano m.p.xx). Logetium. Lege-Olio * m. p. xvj. Liberaco in. p. xxj. Isurium Brigantian Rubrigantum' m.p. xvj. Cataractoni m.p. xxinj. Leuarrix. Lenaters * mip.xviij. Verteits m.p. xiiij. Brocouo * m. p. xx. Lugu-Vallo m.p. xxv. 22.

ITEM A LONDINIO Lindo M. P. CLVI. sic:

Verolami m.p.xxj. Duro Cobrius m. p. xij. Magiouinio * m. p. xij. Magis. Lactodoro m. p. xvj. (Isama vatia. Isanna Vantia * m. p. xij. Usanna varia Tripontio m.p. xij. Venonis m.p.ix. Ratas m. p. xij. Verometo m.p. xiij. Margi-duno m. p.xij. Pons Aclis. Ad Pontem * m.p. vij. Croco Calana * m. p. vij. Lindo m. p. xij.

ITEM A REGNO Londinio M.P.CXVI.96.fic:

Clausentum m. p. xx. Venta Belgarum m.p.x. Galleua * Atrebatum m.p.xxi. Pontibus m. p. xxij. Londmio m. p. xxij

ITEM AB EBVRACO.

Londinium m.p.ccxxvij.sic: Lagecio m. p.xxi. Dano m. p. xvj. Segoloco. OH Ageloco * m. p. xxj. Lindo m. p. xiiij. Crococalano m. p. xiiif. Margi-duno m.p.xiiij. Verometo. Vernemeto * m. p. xij. Ratis m.p. xij. Vennonis m.p.xi. Bannauanto m.p. xix. Magio Vinio m.p. xxviij. Durocobrius m. p. xij. Verolamo m.p. xii. Londinio m. p. xxj.

ITEM A VENTA ICINORVM.

Londinio. m. p. exxviij sic Sitomago in. p. xxxj. Combretouio * m. p. xxij. Ad Ansam m. p. xv. Camoloduno m.p.vj. Canonio m. p. ix. Carlaromago m. p. xij. Durolito in. p. xvj. Londinio m. p. xv.

ITEM A GLAMOVENTA Mediaolano m. p. cl.sic:

Galaua m. p. xviij Aluma * Aliona Alione. Alone * m.p. xij*

Galacum * m. p. xix. Galacum Brignasian. Bremetonaci m. p. xxvij. Cocci om . p. xx. Maticunio * fit. p. xviij. Mammucio vel Manucio, Condate m. p. xviij. Mediolano m. p. xix.

ITEM A SEGONTIO. Deuam mp. lxxiiij sic:

Canonio m.p. xxiiij. Varis m.p. xix. Dena th. p. xxxij.

ITEM A CALEVA alias MVRIDONO

alias Viroconiorum. Per viroconisan. Vindonu *m. p.xv. Venta Belgarum m. p. xxj. Brige * m. p.xj. Soruioduni. m. p. ix. Vindogladia m.p.xiij. 15. Durnouaria m. p. viij. Muriduno m.p.xxxvj. Scadum Nunniorum* m.p.xv. 12. Ucabun Leucaro m. p. xv. Bomio m. p. xv. Nido m. p. xy. Mcelegua Augusti* m. p. xiiii. Burrio m.p.ix. Gobannio m. p.xii. Magnis m.p.xxii. Brauinio * m. p. xxiiii. Viriconio m.p.xxvii.

ITEM AB ISCA Calleua m.p.cix.fic:

Burrio m.p. ix. Blestio m.p.xi. Ariconio m. p. xi. Cleuo m.p. xv. Durocornouio m. p. xiiii. Spinis m.p.xv. Calleua m. p. xv.

ITEM ALIOITINERA ab Isca Calleua m.p.c111.fic;

Venta Silurum m. p. ix. Abone m.p.ix. Traicflus m. p.ix. Aquis Solis m. p. vi. Verlucione m. p. xv. Cunetione m. p. xx. Spinis m. p. xv. Calleua m.p. xv.

ITEM A CALLEVA Iscadum Nunniorum m. p. CXXXVI.fic:

Vindomi m.p. xv. Venta Belgarum m.p.xx 1. Brige m.p.xi. Sorbiodoni m. p. viii. Vindocladia m. p.xii. Durnonouaria* m. p. viiii. Diamourie. Moriduno m.p.xxxvi. Iscadum Nunniorum m. p. xv.

FINIS.

THE HISTORIE

of Englande.

HAT manner of people bid first inhabite this our coutrey Inerally & of longest Continuaunce bene mowne among all nations by y name of Britaine, as yet it is not certainly knowne: neither can it be des cided from whence the first inhabitantes thereof came, by reason of such dinersitie in indocements as have rifen amongst the learned in this behalfe. But lith the originall in maner of all nations is 20 poubtful, and even the same for the more parte for the worke fabulous (that always excepted which we fynde in the holy scriptures) I withe not any man to leane to that which figall be heere let downe, as to an infallible touth, lith I do but only thewe o= ther mennes coniedures, grounded neverthelelle hopon likely reasons (concerning that matter Whether Bri wherof there is now left but little other certapn= sayn vvere an tie, og rather none at all. To fetche therfoge the matter from the furthelt, and to to stretch it for= 30 ward, it senisth by the report of Dominicus Ma Guer.com- rius Piger, o in the beginning whe God framed ment. lib.: the worlde and divided the waters aparte from the earth, this Ille was then a parcel of the con= No glands at tinent, 3 ionned without any separation of sea to fone colecture. the mayne lande. But this opinion as al other the luke uncertagnties. A leave to be decided of the learned: Howbeit for the first inhabitation of this Ide with people, I have thought good to let down in part what may be gathered out of such 40 writers as have touched that mater, & may from to give some light buto the knowledge thereof.

fyilt therfore John Bale our countrepman, the Fuglishe who in his tyme greatly tranapled in the learche of suche antiquities, bothe probably contesture, that this lande was inhabited and replenished with people long before the floud at that tyme in the which the generation of mankinde (as Moy= les writeth) began to multiplie bpon the bniuer= fall face of the earth: and therefore it followeth, that as well this land was inhabited with people long before the dayes of Poc, as any the other countreys and partes of the worlde belive.

But when they had once forlake the ordinances appointed them by God, and betaken them to new ways invented of themselves, such losenesse oflyfe enlued enerywhere, as brought bpon them the great veluge & viium fall floud, in the whiche perilbed as well the inhabitants of thele quarters as the relique of the race of mankings generally dispersed in energ other part of the whole world, which hathmost ge= 10 saving only Poe & his familie, who by the pro= uidence and pleasure of almightie God, was preferued from the race of those waters, to recontinue and repaire the newe generation of manne bpon the earth.

Noe.

After the floud (as Innius of Uiter= bo recordeth) & reason super. 4. lib. allo enfozceth , Poe Berof. de anwas the only Monark tiquit.li.1. of althe world, and as the same Annius ga-Sthereth by the accounte Annius ve Hot Movies in the. 100. Supra.

Doe devided the earth among his three fons: alligning to the pollelli= on of his elvelt some, all that portion of lande, which nowe is knowne by the name of ASIA, and to his fecond somme Chant, he appointed all that part of the world which now is called Affries. Unto his thirde sonne Japhet, was allotted all Europe, with all the Ales thereto belongyng, wherin among other was conteined this our Fle of Britagn, with the other ples therto belonging.

Iaphet.

This Japhet third fon of Poe, who is of fome called Ja= petus, and of o= ther. Atlas Mau rus (bycause bee departed this life in Mau ritania) was the firste as Bodinus affy2 = Iohafenes Bo.

meth by the authoritie and tolent of the Hebrue hist. cogn. Greke & latin writers) that propled the contreps? o of Europe, which afterward he devided among his connes: of the which Tubal (as Tarapha af- Franciscus firmeth)obteined the kingdom of Spain. Bomet: Tarapha, had dominion over the Italians, and as Berolus: and divers other authors agree, Saniothes was the founder of the kingdom of Critica, which co. trined in it; as Bale witnesseth) a great parte of Europe, but specially those coutreps, which now are knowne by p names of Gallia & Britannia.

Britavn inha-

Gen 2.

cen.

Le migr.

Thus was this Ilande inhabited and peopled within, 200, percs after the floud by the children bited shorely after the floude of Japhet the some of Poe: and this is not on= ly proued by Annius, writing bpo Berolus, but also confirmed by Moyles in the scripture, where he writeth, that of the offpring of Japhet, the yles of the Gentils (wherof Britagn is one) were forted into regions in the tyme of Phaleg, the son of Hibr, who was born at the tyme of the vivilion The everdes in Arabia & Chaldaa post linguarum dinisionem of Theophilus aucti Omultiplicati paulatim sunt: hinc quidam cherche, who dam abierunt versus Orientem, quidam concessere ad partes maioris continentis, aly porrò profecti sunt ad Septentrionem sedes quasituri, nec prius desserunt terra vbig occupare, qua esta Britanos in Arctois climatibus accefferit. oc. engliffed thus. VVhen at the first there were not many men in deuision of tongs, they began somwhat better to increase & multiplie, by which occasion some of them went toward the east, & some toward the parties of the great mayn land: Diuers went also northwards to seeke them dwellyng places, neyther stayed they to replenishe the earth as they went, til they came vnto the yles of Britain, lying

> These things considered, Gildas the Bziton had great reason to think that this countrey had 20 bin inhabited from the beginning: and Polydoze Tlerail was with no leffe collocration hereby in= forced to cofesse that the Ile of Britagne had re= ceived inhabitauntes forthwith after the floud.

under the north pole. &c. Hitherto Theophilus.

Samothes.

Amothes & 6.begotte Oson of Japhet called by Moyles Melech, by others Dis, recepued for his portion,) according 40 to the reporte of Molf= gangus Lazius, all the countrey lying betwene the river of Rhepn & the Prienian mountarns, where hee founded the kingdome of Celtica oner his people called Celea. Wilhich name Bale affirmeth to haue bin inviffront to the inhabitants both of the countrey of Culta, and the Ale of Britain, and that he plan= 50 ted colonies of me broght forth of the east parts) Intiliber in either of them, frest in the marne land, a after in the Fland. He is reported by Berolus to have I de foiet. excelled al men of that age in lerning and know= triticent. 1. ledge: and also is thought by Bale to have int= parted the same among his people, namely the Celar comen. understanding of the sunder courses of the star= res, the order of inferiour things, with many o= ther matters incident to the morall and politike governement of mans life: 4 to have delivered the fante in the Phanician letters : out of whiche the In epithet. Grekes (accozoing to the opinion of Archilochus) temp. denifed & derined the greke charefters in somuche De equine, that Ecnophon & Josephus do constantly report Contra 13. (although Diogenes Laertius be against it that pionem. both the Grekes and office nations recepued their letters and lerning first from these countreps. Df this king and his lerning, arole a let of Phi-Theophilus episcop. Antiopiscop. Antiochi. 2d Antol.

lib.2.

of languages. Herebyon Theophilus hath these io losophers, saith Annius, siest in Britain, faster in Gallia, the whiche of his name were called salib. 2.

of languages. Herebyon Theophilus hath these in Gallia, the whiche of his name were called salib. 2. mocher. They, as Aristotle & Secion waite, were successibility, passing tkilful both in the law of god & man: and for that cause excedingly given to religion, espe= cially the inhabitants of this yle of Britain, in fo much that the whole nation did not only take the Scripe. Brit. name of the, but the pland it selfe, as Bale & doc= cent.L tot Cap agree, came to be called samothea, which De ant. Can, was the firste peculiar name that ever it had, and cent. lih. 1. Arabia & Chaldea, it came to passe, that after the 20 by the which it was especially known: before the Samother. arrivall of Albion.

Magus.

Magus ý son of Sæmothes, after ý deth of his father was the le= cond king of Celtica, bp who (as Berolus wi= Lib.s. teth) there were manye townes builded among the Celtes, which by the witnesse of Annius, dpd Annimin bear the addition of their commen. su fouder Magus: of which per eundem townes divers are to be found in Ptolomie: and Goer. Antoninus a painful furuepoz of the world & fer= ther of cities, maketh mencion of.4. of them here in Britain, Sitomagus, Peomagus, Piomaqus, and Pouiomagus. Peomagus, sir Thomas Eliot writeth to have stode where the citie of Chester nowe standeth: & Pioniagus Beorge Lilly placeth where the towns of Buckinghais now remaining: belive this, both Bale to highly comeno o forlaid Magus, for his lerning renoumed ouer al the world, i he wold haue i Perlias s other nations of the fouth & west partes, to be rine the name of their dinines called Magi from him. In dede Rauisius Textor & fir John Prife affirme, of in the days of Plinie, the Britons wer fo expert in arte Magike, & they might be thought to have firste delivered the same to the Persians. Withat the name of Magin importeth, cof what De dini.lin profession & Magi were, Tulli declareth at large, De faftilis and Mantuan in brief, after this maner: Ille penes Perfas Magus eft qui sidera norit, Qui sciat herbarum vices cultumin deorum, Persepolifacit ista Magos prudentia triplem! The Persians terine him Magus, that the course of starres doth knowe, The power of herbes and worthip due to god that min both owe

H.F.

Sarron.

By threefolde knowledge, thus the mome of Migus then doth growe.

Sarron.

Arron the third king Sof & Celtes, succeded hys father Magus in Bouernemente of the countrie of Ballia, and the Alle Samothea, wherein (as Wosseure toed certaitioublike pla= ces for them that profelled learning, whiche

(Berofus affirmeth) to be done to the intente to restrapne the wilfull outrage of men, beeing as then but raive and voyde of all civilitie. Tilo it is thought by Annius, that he was the firste an= thos of those kinds of Philosophers, which were called sarronides, of whom Diodogus Siculus the Celtes certain divines & philosophers, whom: they call surroundes, having them of all other inorcatell ellimation: for it is the maner among them not without a Philosopher to make anye facrifice: for they are of beleefe, that facrifices ought only to be made by fuche as are skilfull in the divine misteries, as of those who are neerestbuto God, by whose intercession they thinkefall and things are to be required of Godingo whose aduite they ble and followe, as well in warre as 20 in peace. The state of the s

Druis.

DRuis, who Serica calleth Dzyus, biing the son of Barron, was after his father e= stablyshed the fourthe king of Teltica, indif-Britons, or rather (as the inhabitantes of this Ille were then ealled)

ர என்ற

Samothiang. :

This Prince is comended by Beroftis to bee lo plentifullye endued with wiscoome and ler= ning, that Annius taketh him to be the vindoub= ted authour of the beginning and name of the fantous lede of Philosophers called Druides, whome Cefar and all other muncient Greeke and 50 Latine writers doe affirme to have had their beginning in Brytayne, and to have bin brought from thence into Gallia, in to muche that when there arole any doubt in that countrey touching any point of their discipline, they did repaire to be resolued therin into Bzitayne, where, especi= oglig in the Fle of Anglescy, as Humfrey Llhuigo witheffeth, they made their principal aboade.

Touching their vlaces many things are wife Antilib. & ten by Artitotle, Secion, Plinic, Lacetius, Bos Senting fuvinus, and others : which I will gather in bitel, per eundem. and let downe as followeth.

They had (as Oclar favth) the charge of co- lico.lib-9: nton and prinate facrifices, policulting of poin- De bollo Galtes of religion, the bringing ou of youth, the de- lies. lib.s. termining of matters in variance, with full po-Mains writeth) be wife to wer to interocte so manye from the sacrifice of their goddes, and the company of men, as difo = beyen their awards. The american events are a second elections of the control of u Polidoje affirmeth, how they taught & mens Hist.a... li.i. foules coulde not dye, but departed from one bo= ope to an other, and that to the intente to make: nien valiant and vicadlesse of death.

Tullie writeth, that partely by tokens, and De dini. li 1. partely by furmifes, they wold foretell of things to come And by report of helior Boetius, some Hist. Scoti writeth in this lost: There are (layth he) among 20. of them were not ignozant of the immortalitie lib. 2. of the one and everlating Goo.

All these things they had written in the greke De migr.gen toung, in so much that actorige Lazies byonete lib.2. porte of Marcellinus declareth howethe Greeke Marcellinus. letters were first brought to Athenes by Tima= oines from the Dzuides, and berevoon it cometh. allo to palle, the Britill toung to this paye hath in it remayning some smacke of the Breke.

Among other abules of the Druides, they hav faccording to Diodozus) one cultome to kill men, and by the falling, bleeding, and dismem= bring of them to divine of things to come: for the whiche and other wicked pradiles, their lette was first condemned for abhominable (as Cor. De vice A-Tacitus weiteth,) and vissolucd in Ballia (as gricole. Auentinus witnelleth) by Tyberius and Clauditisthe Emperours: and lattly abolitied heere Anna. Boioin Britanne, by report of Caius when the gol= rum lib.22. fuel of Christop the preaching of Fugatius and ferentely reigning as 40 Damientis was recepued aniong the Britons, De ant. Cant. well over the Celtes as 40 binder Lucius king of Britagne, about the peare cent. of our fanious. 77.

Bardus.

Bis, succeeded his ta- Berofu ans. ther in the kingdome of lib.s. Celtica, e wasthefitt K.ouer the Ceitre. whome he was bight? renoumed (as appereth by Beroins for innen- canim in tion of Dities and mi' commen. Galike, wherein Annius per enndem.

of Aliterbo writeth, that her trayned his peaple : and of tuche as excelled in this knowledge he made an order of philotophicall Poete of he raulds.

raids, calling them by his own name Bardi. And Ane. Cane. it fipelo ferme by dodor Caius and maffer Bale, 1. 1. fcripe. Bri that Cefar founde some of them here at his artiuall in this Afte, and reported that they had also ten .cent. 1. their first beginning in the same.

The profession and blages of these Berdi, by № оппны Ponnius, Strabo, Diodozus, Stephamus, Bale Marcel. and fir John Brife, are in effette reported after Strabo. Diede. sicul. this fort. They did ble to record the noble exploi-10 6. Carel Stepha, pedigrees & genealogies of fuche as were lining. They woulde frame pleasaunt dities and songs, in diet hift. learne the same by hart, and sing them to instruments at folemne feastes and assemblies of noble lean Prife. men and gentlemen: and were therfore hadde in so high estimation, that if two hostes had bin redp raunged to joyne in battaple, and that any of the ban fortuned to enter among them, both the ho= stes as wel the enimie as the frends would have craffed from fight, untill thele Bardes had bene Incan.lib.1. Poet Lucan writeth thele berles. Vos que qui fortes animas belle q peremptas, Laudibus in longum Vates dimittitu auum, Plurima securi fu distu carmina Bardi.

Whiche are englished thus. And you o Poet Bardes from danger voyde that dities sounde.

Departed out of the battaple. Df the Bardes the

Of soules of dreadlesse men, who rage of battaile 20 would confounde.

And make their lasting praise to time of laterage redounde.

Bycaule the names of thele Ports were nepther discrepant from the civilitie of the Romans, nor repugnant to the religion of the Christians, they of all the other fedes before specifico, were fuffred only to continue buaboliflied in all ages, in somuch that there flourished of them among. the Butains, according to Bale before the birth 40 feript Eritan. of Christe, Plenious and Dronius:after Christ (as Prife recounteth) Salelline, ethe two Mer= 10. Irise defe. ling, Wilkin, Blatkirion and others: and of late dayes among the Welchmen, Pauld Die, Jollo Caim de ant. Bouch. David ap William, with an infinite number more : and in Wales there are fundipe of them, as Caius reporteth, remayning buto this day, where they are in their language called (as Leland writeth) Barthes. Illo by the witnes Hum. Lluyd of humfrey Llbuyd, there is an Fland neer bn- 50 de Monain- to Wales, called Infula Bardorum and Bardley, wherof the one name in Latine, and the other in Saron or olde Englith, lignifieth the Flande of the Bardes of Barthes.

The ende of the Celses gouernement in this Isle. -

Ifter Barous, the Celtes (as Bale layth) loa-thing the lirante ordinances of their auncient

kings, and betaking themselves to eleasure and idelnesse, were in Mort tyme, and with small ia= hour broughte buder the subiection of the Gigunt Albion, the forme of Pertune, who altering the fate of things herein this plane, fraited prisme of Celtica and the Celtes within the boundes of Ballia, from whence they came first to inhabite this land brook the conduit of Sathothes, as before pe have hearde, accordingly as Innius bath Annius. tes of the auncient capitaines, and to drawe the 10 gathered out of Berolius & Chaldran who therin agreeth also with the Scripture, the laning of Theophilus the Doctor, and the generall coleinte Theophilus of all writers, whichefully agree, that the firste inhabitantes of this Alle came out of the parties of Fallia, although some of them disagree of the Take thinking it to be meant of the arrivall of The Brief tyme and maner of their comming, Sir Prian Brute, when he came out of those countrers into Take. this Tle. Cefar and Tatitus feeme to be of opiholden their handes ginen eare unto them, and 20 mion, that those Celtes which first inhabited here, Cafar, came ouer to view y courry for trade of merchan. Tacitue. dife. Bodinus wold have them to come iti(a gods Bedinu. name) from Laguedoc, and to to name this land Albion, of a citie in Laguedoc named Alby. Be-Da and likewise Polidorer who followeth him af Beda. firme that they came from the coasts of Armori= Polydere. ca. whiche is nowe called little Britann.

But as the authorities afore recited, are lufficient to move the tyme, so that this Jiand was first inhabited by the Celtes, the olde possessiours of Fallia, not only the necrenelle of the regions, but also the congruence of the languages, two great argumentes of oxiginals, to fully confirme the same. Bodinus writeth opon report, that the Bodinus. Butiffe and Ccitike language was all one : but whether that be true or not, I am not able to affirme, bicause the Celtike toung is long lithence growne wholly out of ble. But yet some suche Celtike words as remain in the writings of old authors may be perceived to agree with & Welch tong, being the incorrupted speech of the auncient Biptons. In deed Paulanias the Gereke,ma= Paulania. keth mention bow the Celtes in their lang nage called a horse marc: and by p name on the delect men call a horse buto this daye: and the worde erimare in Paulani as, liquifyeth in the Celtike toung, three horles.

Thus it appeareth by authortic of writers, by situation of place, and by affinitie of language; that this yland was first found and inhabiteed by the Celtes, that their name from Samothes to Albion continued heere the wace of. 310. peres of therabouts And finally it is likely, that aswel the Iohn Bale. morenie as the speeche of them is partely remain ning in thys Ille among the inhabitantes, and fuccially the Britishe, even buto this daye. But nowe to oure purpose of Libion his come ming into this Ide. Albion erbe.

ıılm.

Hi mik.

Pictonim.

Stip. Bri.

Dioderm Si-

Optimus called by Moyles (as foine takeit) Pepthuim, the firte sonne of Dlyris. after the account of Innius, and the brother of Dercules, had appopris as Diodorus wuterfd the government of the Decan lea: wherefore te furnished himself of sunder light ships for p misie redic passage by water, whych in the end crew to Places or Ga- the nuber of a ful naule : & lo by continual exercife he became to fkilful, and therwith to mightie boon the waters, as Higinus and Biccoming doe write, that he was not onely called the king but a Lady called Imphitrita, who was also honos red as gooddelle of the leas, and on hir he begate funden children: And as Bale reporteth, he made enery one of them king of an Iland. Ind in the Ille of Britagne he landed his fourth fon called albyon the Giant, who brought the same buder his lubication. Ind herebpon it resteth, that Johie ubi Textor. Tertoz and Polyboge Mirgile made mention filid Pag. that light thippes were first invented in the Bus with the hyde of bealts, for defending them from the furges and water of the water. The research This Albion being put by his father in polfellion of this Alle of Bettayne, within Gogte tome subdued the Samothians, the firste inhai bitaunites therof, without fynting any great relistance, for that as before pe haue hearde, they had given over the practife of all warlyke and other paynfull exercises, and through ble of effethemselves over, they were become nowe bnapt to withstande the force of their enimies: and to Nubel. Fe- by the tellimonie of Picholaus Perottus, Rigmanus Philelius, Arillotte, 4 Humfrey Lihnyo to gamane With diners other, both forraine and home way ters, this Flande was first called by the name of Antale. Libion, hauing at one tynte bothe the name and Bum Aley I, inhabitauntes chaunged from the line of Japhet buto the accurled race of Cham.

of this file) and his companie, are called Epi auts, which lignifieth none other tha a tall kind of men, of that bucogrupte Cature and highnelle naturally incident to the first age (whiche Bros sus also semeth to allow, where he writeth, that Dec was one of the Eyantes: and war not lo called only of their monthrous greatnesse, as the common people thinke (although in deede they exceeded the vivall flature of nun nowe in these dayes, (but also for b they toke their name of the lople where they were born: for Giganes liamitis V Vhat gigan tth the long of the earth : the Abortines (01 antes figuryeth Celar calleth them Indieine)fhat is, boine and beed out of the earth where they inhabited.

Thus some thinke, but verily although that their oplition is not to be allowed in any comis tion, which maynteyne that there and the original the or bongines, or other kynds of men than those of rigines. ted to hom, of hos lather to Adams lone, bet that there have but invince of face greater flature than are nowers be founded is lutherently proneo by the home bones of this le that have but founde in our tylite, or lately bes fore: whireof here to make further relation, it no bes notice Wall not neede, lith in the description of Butain herebute annexed, pethall fynde it infaciently Declared: 1 100 mold 2 to other site soule at

But now to our purpole As Albiorheld Bis Bale. farn in submuten, se his Drothet Beigion kint Bergion bre. allo cliermed the god of the leas. De had to wife 20 Frelande and the Dekeneys Under his rule aile Dominion and hearing that their coulin Hereules Lycules Libicus haulng finified his Conquelles in bicus. Spayn, ment to paffr in tough Gallia into Tau be, against their brother Celltigo, that oppfilmo. Italp, priver tubication of hitro mibother of High brethren the long alle of Peptinte, as well affu bibn as Bergien, allembling theit powers folis ther, palled directifto Ballia, to fopple the pari lage of Hercules, whole intention wis to this tille leas, and that the fame were courte round to quithe and delirop thole tylantes the former of Peptine and their complices that kepte boutell conntrips and regions unver the paymetill pour of their beaute thealbomer will wit wordeling

The cante that moned thereales thus to wit! The cante file boon thole typanites nowe reignying thinken very Berenthe world, was too that not long before the great his contine. fell part of thein had confired together, & Clayne his father Dlyzis, norwithflanding that thep were nephies to the fame Divis, as fonnes to minate pleasures wherebuto they have gineri 49 bis bfother Deptune, and tot contented with his Caughter, they deutoed by se eareille allo als mong them, to that rehe of them got a peece fit token of recopcing at their numberous atchience That an eireighnafin for this cante herrales whome Mortes tall leth Labin, proclaymeth wairs agapall them at in cruege of his fathers Death to Bull he killeth Cryphon and Balyris in Coppe, then Buttle to the accursed race of Cham. in Mauritania, the Gertons in Spanne, which allows (that thus chaunged the name so enterpile archieuco, he ked his army contains 42 taly, and by the wave palleth through a partit Gallia, where Albion and Bergion hauling ville Pomp. Malas to they powers togither, were ready to receive him with bataile: anote nere to the mouth of the river colled Rholne, in latin Abedians, they fill and fought. It the field there was a right terrible and cruell conflicte betwirte them. Invialbeit that Hercules hadde the greatelf miniber of menne, 'yet was it berye boubirfull a greate.

John Bale

cent .:.

bift Brit.

Cans, lib.1.

10. Leland.

Syllab. ant.

ditt.

Hercules dicconfigers his enunyes.

Albion is flayn Albion there in the fielde, together with his byo-

The occasion

Hercules.

Bale.

whole armie. This was the ende of Albion, and his brother Bergion, by the valiant prowes of hacules, who as one appointed by the providence of ELD to subdue the cruell and unnercifull typants, spent his tyme to the benefite of mankynde, delivering the oppressed from the heavie yoke of myserable thialbome, in enery place where he came.

whyle to whether parte the glozze of that dayes beganne outrighte to turne buto Aibion, and to his hasher Bergion, Hercules perceyung the daunger and likelyhode of btter loffe of that bat= tayle, specially for that his men had walted their meavons, he caused those that stod stil, and were not otherwyle occupied, to floupe down, and to.

gather by stones, wherof in that place there was they bestomed so freely byon they? enimies, that in the endelice obterned the vistorie, and dyd not only put his aquerfacies to flighte, but also flew ther Bergion, and the moste parte of all they?

... worke would bend: wherepon when the victorie

And by the other of this battayle were maye Icarne whereof the Poets hadde their innermion, when they farne in their writings, that Jupiter ping his sonne holpe his somme Hercutes, by throwing cowne stones from heaven in this battagle agaynst Albion and Bargion:

Morcouer, feo heceforth was this Ille of Bri-Howe this life tayn called Albion, as (before we have layde) afbion, of the gi- ter the name of the layde Albion, bicaule he was established chief ruler and king thereof bothe by his grandfather Olyris, and his father Arptime that cumning faylour, reigning therein (as Bale fayth by the space of rling yeares, till finally be was flague, in manner afore remembred, by his bucle Dercules Lpbicus.

After that Hercules have thus hanguilhed and rough Gallia, suppressing the tyrantes in eucrye part where he came, and reflozing the people bn= to areasonable knive of libertie, under lawfull gonernours: and as we fonde, he buplow the citic of Aleria in Burgongne nowe called Alize.

Moreouer, by Litius Enaldus in the lyke of Percules it is anonched, that the came Percules came over hither into Britayne. And this bothe Giralous write by warraum of luche Byrtons (as fayth be) have so written themselves, which 50 our chronicles ignorantly write to be the daughe thing peraduenture he hath redde in Gilbas the auncient Bapton poet : Wilhiche boke he confel= feth in the. v. Dialogne of his hiltogies of Ports that he hath feen. The fame thing also is confir= med by the name of an head of land in Britarn called Promontorium Herculis, as in Ptolomie re may reade, whiche is thought to take name of his arrival at that place. Thus much for Albion and Hercules.

But nowe where as it is not benyed of anye, Dyners one that this Ale was called aunciently by the name lie was called of Albion: pet there be dyners opinyons how it Albion. came by that name : for many doe not allow of this historic of Albion the Giaunte. But for lo much as it apportagneth rather to the velcription than to the Syllogic of this The, to rippe op See more hare and lay forth the fecrete mysteries of such mate of in the de. great plentie, whyche by his commonnemente to ters: and bicante I think that this opinion which teripion, is heere auouched howe it toke that name of the foreland Albion, Conne to Peptune, may be confirmed with as good authoritic, as some of the of ther, I here passe over the reste, and thus proceede with the historie.

-When Albion chiefe Capitapn of the Grants was flayn, the relidue that remayned at home in the Ifle, continued without any rule or restraint of lawe, in so much that they full to such a dis-20 Colute of oer of lyfe, that they sceemed little of nothing to differ from brute beaftes: a thole are thep which our auncient Chronicles call the Giants, who were so named, as well of the hinge propor= tion of their flature (lithens as before is layd, that age brought forth fargreater men than are now living) as also so, that they were the firste, or at the least the furthest in remembrance of any that had inhabited this countrep. For this word Gigiver, of rather Gegines, from whence our word e giant (as fome take it) is derived, is a greek word. and lignificth borne or bred of or in the earth: for our fozeelders wecially the Bentiles, being ignorant of the true beginning of mankind, were pers (waded, that the first inhabitaunts of any contrey were been out of the earth, and therfore when they could go no higher, reckening the discentes of their predecessors, they wold name him Ter- Terresting, rafilme, the some of the earth: and so the Giants syah. which the Poets fain to have fought to make bas destroyed his enimies, her passed to and fro tho= 40 tayle against heaven, are called the sonnes of the earth: and the first inhabitantes generally of euery countrey, wer of the Brekes called Gigines, 02 Gegines, and of the Latines Aberigines, and In- Aborigina.
digina, that is, people boane of the earth from the Indigina. beginning, and coming from no other countrey, but bred within the same.

And these Giaunts and first inhabitauntes of thys Flic, continued in their beautly kinde of lyfe bnto the arrivall of the Lavies, whiche some of ters of Wioclesian the king of Assiria, wheras in dede they have been decrived in taking the worde Danaus to bee Most weitten for Dioclesianus: Thempaling and by the fame meanes have dyners worden of the name of and names bene milaken bothe in our Chio- Danau. nicles and in dinerfe other aunciente written workes. But this is a faulte that learned men Moulde not lo muche trouble themselues about, confi=

out of Danid

Pensau.

The youg Gentlemen accordying to thepe

The Historie of England. conflorring the same bath bin aircadie founde by funder authors long Athence, as buch the Tratiane, John Derding, and John Roufe Hughethe Ita- Of Warwicke, and others, Specialize by the healpe of Dauid Pencair, a Bzitifhe billogicien, who recite the hillorie bnoer the name of Danaus and his daughters : and bycaule me would not any man to thinke, that the biflorie of thefe daughters of Danaus is onelp elelian, to excuse the imperfedion of our mais ters, whereas there was eyther no fuch hillo= rie, o; at the least no such women that arrived inthis Ille, the authozitie of Pennius a Bziton writer may be auouched, who wrote aboue ir. C, reares palt, and maketh mencion of the arrinall of suche ladies.

To bee Morte, the Hillorie is thus : Belus the sonne of Epaphus, (or as some wepters ter the death of Apis maried) hadde illue time fonnes: the first Danaus, called also Armeus, and Egyptus called also Rameles, and thefe two were kings among the Egyptians. Danaus the elder of the two, hauping in his rule the opper region of Egypt, had by fundry wiucs.50. daughters, whiche his brother Aegyp= tus gaping for the dominion of the whole. did instantly desire, that his sons being also. 50, in number, might matche with those fifty ladies. 20

But Danaus hauing knowledge by fome prophecie or oracle, that a fonne in lam of his Coulde be his death, refuled to to bestowe his daughters.

herebpon grew warre betwirt the brethit, in the end wherof, Danaus being the weaker, was inforced to fice his countrey, wherevon he prepared a nauie, imbarqued bimfelfe e bis daughters, and with them palled ouer into Gelenoz (fonne to Stenelas king of Argos,)of his rightfull inheritance, beiuing him oute of bis countreye, and reigned in bis place by the affifiance of the Ergiues themfelues, that had concepued an hatred towardes Belenez, and a great likyng towardes Danaus, who in very Derde bid lo farre excell the kings that had reigned there before hym , that the Breekes in remembraunce of bym, were after called fathers commaundemente, beeing arrived in Brecce, made fuch warre agaynfle Danaus, that in the ende be was confragued to grue vald thole his lifty nephues his. 50. daughters, to love with them in mariage, & fo accordingly maried they were: but as the proner lapth, In truft appeared treacherie : for the arlt night of the mariage, Danaus Delinered to eche ot his daughters a twoide chargeng them that of purpole deuiled, & brought in place of Dio- 10 when their bulbands after their banquets and paffimes were ouce bjought into a loud flepe. eche of them Chould flea bir bulband, menacing them with death bulelle they fuldiled his com= maundement. They all therfoze obey the will of their father, hypermueltra onely excepted, with whom prenayled more the lone of kinred and wedlock, than the feare of hir fathers dife pleature : for ther alone tpared the lyfe of bir bulbande Lynceus, wakening him out of his haue) of Peptune and Libpes, whom Mis at- 20 fleepe, and warning bym to Departe and flee. into Egypt to his father. De therfore hauing all the wicked practite renealed to hym by his wrfe, followed hir adulte, and to escaped.

But his brother Aegypfus, taking greate disdayne for that hee and his sonnes were in luche lotte Despiled of Danaus, fente bis long with a greate armie to make warre on theys Eincle, giving them in charge not to retuene tyll they had eyther flagne Danaus, oz obtey= ned his daughters in mariage.

But when Danaus perceined home all his Paulaulae. daughters had accomplifhed his comaundemet fauing onely Typermneftra, be cauled bir to. be brought forth into judgemet for bilobeping him in a matter wherin both' the lafette a loffe of his life relled : but the was acquit by the Argines, and discharged: howbest hir father Kept bir in milon, and feeking to fynde onte other hulbandes for his other baughters that babbe. obeyed his pleature in fleaing their fielte bulbandes , long it was ere be coulde fonde any to matche with them : for the hepnous offence committed in the flaughter of their late bulbandes, was pet to freihe in memorie, and their bloud not wiped out of mynde. But pet neuertheleffe to bing bis purpole Greece, where he found meanes to disposselle 40 the better to palle, he made proclamation thet his Daughters thauld bemaunde no toynters, and every luter fluid take his choyce without refed to the age of the ladie, of abilitie of him that came to make his choyce, but to as fyille come, belle ferued, according to their owne phantalles and likings. But when this policie alfo fayled, and mould not ferne his turne, be deviled a game of running, ordeining there with, that who focuer got the bell price Could so haue the first choyce among all the fiffers, and he that got the fecond, thato chofe nert to'the typit, and le forth eche one affer att other, accordying to the tryall of they Implemelle of how muche this practile anapled, I knowe not: but certain it is, divers of them were heflowed either by this means, orby fome other: tot we finde that Antonomes was marito to

. ประเทษฐ์

Zechi

Architeles Chrylantas, or (as Paulanias hath) Scea was matched with Archandius, Anchome with Pertunus Equeliris, on whome he begate

Paulaniae.

Pauplius.

But nowe to returne buto Lynceus, whome his wofe Hipermneltra preferued, (as before pe haue herd) after he was once got out of the reach and daunger of his father in law king Danaus, he gaue knowledge thereof to his wyte, in rayfing afyze on heyghte beacomwyle, accordingly as thee tadde requested him to doe at hys departure from hir: and this was at a place which afterwardes toke name of him, and was called

Cipon his returne into Egypt, he gaue his fa= ther to biverstance the whole circumstaunce of the trecherous crucitie vito by his vncle and hys daughters in the nurver of his beetheen, and how hardly he himselfe hadde escaped death out of hys he was furnished forth with men and shippes by his father for the freedic revenge of that heymous bunaturall and molle diflopall murder, in which enterpeile he speo him tweth with fuch viligence, that in Morte tyme he found meanes to difpatch bys bucle Danaus, let his wyfe Hypermueltra at libertie, and brought the whole tingvome of the Argines bnoer his subiection.

This don, he caused the daughters of Danaus (to many as remayned within the limittes of his 30 permueltra. dominion) to be sent for, whome he thought not worthie to lyne, byrause of the cruell murther which they had committed on his beetheen: but pet for that they were his wines lifters, he would not put them to death, but commaunded them to be thrust into a Chippe, without maisser, mate or manner, s to to be turned into the mayn ocean lea, and to take and abyde such softune as should chence buto them, thinking the world that might break on them, coulde bee no worke than they 40 or by some other occasion. had deserved.

These Ladies thus imbarqued and lest to the mercie of the raging feast, at length by hap were brought to p coall's of this ple then called Albio, where they took land, s in seeking to promide thes felues of viduals by purfete of wylde bealls, met with no other inhabitantes than the rude and fas uage gianutes, of whome before we haue made nunction, which our till opicians for their braffly kynde of lyfe, doc call Denilles : Ind with thele 50 of the ladies they are not most probable, yet haus monsters the cladics finding none other to latiffre the motions of their linfuall lufte, iopned in the air of generation and ingenders a race of peos ple in proportion nothing differing from their fathers that begote them, not in conditions from their mothers that bare them.

But now peraduenture pe will thinke that I haue forgotten my leike in reharling this hillople of the Lavies arrivall here, bycaule I make no mencion of Albina, whiche floto be the elbell of the filters, of whome this lande thoulde also rate the name of Ilbion.

To this we answer, that as the name of thete father hathe bene millaken, so lykewyse hath the whole course of the hillogie in this behalfe : for althoughe we shall admit that to be true whiche is reberlid (in maner as before pe have heard) of the arrivall herre of those ladies, yet certain it is that none of them bare the name of Albina, from whom this land might be called Albion. for further assurace wherof, if any ma bedesirous to Higinas. knowe all their names, we have thoughte god ehe daughter here to reherfe the as they be founde in Higinius, of Danius, Paulanias, e others. : Joea. 2. Philomela. 3. Scillo. 4. Phicomene. 5. Chippe. 6 Demoditas 7. Spale. 4. Trite. 9. Damone. 10. Hippothoe. 11. Mirmibone.12. Euridice. 3. Cleo. 14. Trania. 15. buckes handes. Wherepon at tyme convenient 20 Ckeopatra. 6.Phylea. 17. Hypareta. 18. Chrisothemis. 19. Piranta. 20. Irmoafte. 21. Danaes, 22. Scean. 24. Blaucippe. 24. Demophile. 25. Aus todice. 26. Policena. 27 Hecabe 28. Achamantis, 29. Arfalte 30 Monufte 31. Amimone. 32. Helice, 33. Amaome 34. Polibe. 35. Pelite. 36. Cleura 37. Cubule.38. Daphildice.39. Pero.4 o. Europonies ne. 11. Critomedia. 42. 19 pare. 43. Cupheno. 44. Themiltagota. 45. Paleno. 46. Crate. 47. Aus tonomes 48. Itra. 49 . Chyplanta . 50 . Hy=

These were the names of those Lavies, the daugisters of Wanaus: howebeeit, whiche they were that Moulde arrive in this Ille, we can not lay. But it luffiscth to bnoerlande, that none of them hight Albina, so that whether the historie of their landing herre shoulde be true of not, it is all one, for the matter concerning the name of this Alle, which undoubtedly was called Albion, ey= ther of Albion the giaunt as befoze I haue layd) See more in

And thus much for the Ladies, whole Arangeaburnture of their arrival here, as it may feme to manie, and with good cause incredible, so without further anouching it for a truthe, I leane it to the consideration of the reader to thinke therof as refon that moue him, fith I fee not how either in this, or in other things of luche antiquitie we can have any sufficient warrant otherwyle than by lykely conichures. Whiche as in this billogie we flewed the likelyeft, p (as we think) map be bemed to agree with those authors & haue writ of their comming into this ple. But as for an assured profe that this Flewas inhabited with prople befoze the comming of Bzute, Ftrulle it may luffile whiche beloze is recited out of Innio de Citerbo, Theophilus, Gildas, and other. eithough muche moze might be layo: Is of the

The Historie of England.

commyng hyther of Dlyris, as well as into the other parties of & world : And likewyle of Tilplveria Bri- les his bring here, who in performing some bow whiche he cyther then did make, or before hadde made, ercifed an Altar in that parte of Scotland which was aunciently called Calibonia, as Tuling Soliums Politictor in playne wordes voth

So that boon these considerations I have no doubt to beliner buto the Reader, the buinion of thole that thinke this lande to have bin inhabited before the arrivall here of Brute, trusting it may be taken in good parte, fith were have but forweb the confederes of others, till time that forme fulficient learned man half take boon from to beltipher the doubts of all thele matters.

BRVTE.

HIstherto have wice floored that fore the communit of Bzute, although some will needs have it. that he mas the fielte which inhabited b same with his people, descended of the Tropas, some few Biaunts onely excepted whome hee preerly destroyed, and leste not one of them aloue through the whole Ide. 32 But as wee hall not coubte of Brutes byther comming, so mape wee affiredly thinke, that he found the Ide peopled either with the generation of those, whiche Albion the Giaunt had placed here, or some other kynde of people, whom he did fubdue, and so reigned as well over them, as othey Libuyd uer those whiche he brought with him.

This Brutc(as the author of the Bok(which Ceffrey of Monmouth translated) both affirme, that was sonne of Aeneas the Troian, begotten of his wyfe Creula, and bozne in Trope, befoze the Citie was destroped.

But as other doe take it, the Author of that kin Neugl booke (what societ he was) and such other as so= lowe him, are decepued only in this point, my= staking the matter in that Posthumus the sonne of Acneas (begot of his wyfe Laninia, and borne after his fathers occeasie in Italy) was called A framins, who had iffue a founc named Julius, 50 the whiche (as these other doe coniecture) was the father of Bzute, that noble chieftain and aduen= turous leader of those people, which being descended (tog the more parte in the fourth generation) from those Troians that escaped with lyke, when that royall Citie was delitroged by the Grekes, got possession of this worthic and most famous

To this epinion Gionan Alflant, a florentine in his winerfal billoxie theaking of Aeneas. inhabited this land be 20 and his offining kings in Italy, fectueth to a - Neuris Basgree, where he hathe thele mozes : Silnius (the thorenfis sonne of Acneas by his wife Lauinia) fell in louis with a neece of his mother the same Lauinia. and by hir had a fonne, of whom the dyed in tranayle, and therfore he was called Brutus, who after as be grewe in some flature, and buntyng in a well flew his father at buwares, and therebpon for fear of his gradfather Siluius Hollbumus he fled the countrey, and with a retinut of luche as followed him, pallying throughe biners feas, at lengthe bee arrived in the Ale of Bris

But now wheras by reason of the bucertagns tie in the Roman authors themselves, touching the lyne of Teneas, some fozein writers hane either with Aender argumente, of else berit arros Theuet, Bodigantly without any grounded relon flicined, tag nus, and other. ken byon them to denye that there was any fuch Italyan Brutus, lineally coming from Achees was the some of Silvius, the some of Ascanius 40 the Troian, of whom the race of the Bettill nation that possessed this The should proceede: pet bycause the argumente of the one soute of those that so write, is found insufficient to the lerned. and the arregancie of the other being boid of reafon, is finally to be regarded; and feing that neis therethe one not the other of these our adversaries. can as pet fynd out any other, either by parents. tyme, place of name, that floulde in fuebe my & conquer, fubdue and gouerne this noble Alle but only our Brutus or Brytus. For this letter(p) hath han of auncient tyme bothe thole founders as of UL and of I. by the basel has leagues.

And lith also we have choure lode, as many or rather more, and of as good credite (if me sign freake generally, beying like myle forreping in the ters, which aftirme and undountedly ensuch the regalistate of the forelappe Brains, asthe fole ruler; monarche and governour therrol: Sepang

Hardyng. out of Usuid

The Historie of Englande.

Jay, the cale Candeth in such termes, Joseph not but myne opinion wil be deemed allowable, illerein I folow the receyued opinion of mott muiters, and esteemed the lykelyest fundty ways to the carefull ferchers and skilfull examiners of the antiquities of this triumphant Hand. Trufling & this poynt with fundey other concerning the hillogie of this our great Britagn, either bin= truly or imperfectly recorded, or biterly in ma= necrer perfection and more apparant enidencie of ... trouth by some discrete and experte Bentleman, being of the auncient Britishe nobilitie lyneally beliended, as also very fludious of to morthy be-

Concerning therfoze our Brute, whether his. father Julius was founc to Ascanius, the forme of Leneas by his wyfe Creula, or longe to 19 0= Abumus, called allo Afcanius, and fonne to Itneas by his wyte Lauinia, wer will not further stande. But this we sonde, that when he came' ner buknowne, thall in due tyme be brought to a 10 to the age of.rb. yeares, fo that he was now able to ripe abrove with his father into the forells and chales, he fortuned cyther by million, or by gods promoence, to frike his father with an arrowe, in flotting at a decre, of whiche wounde heals ducd. His grandfather (whether the same was 19 of thursus, or his cider brother) hearing of this greate misaduenture that had chaunced to his fonne Sylnius, liued not long after, but decealfed of very criefe and forrow (as is to be suppofed) which he concepued therof. And the young gentleman immediatly after he had flayn his father (in maner before alledged) was baniffed hys 40 had bene thus delivered unto him, and after varcountrey, and therebppon got him into Grecia, where traveling in & coutrep, he lighted by chace among some of the Troyan offpring, and alsociating himselfe with them arewe by meaner of the lianage (wherof he was descended)in proces of tyme, into areate reputation among them: shicflye by reason there were yet dyners of the Trojane race, and that of greate authopitie in that country . For Pirrbus the fonne of Achilles, having no issue by his wyfe hermione, mas an rico Indiomache, late wefte buto Hedog: and by hir had there fonnes, Molostus, Dielus, and Pergamus, that in their time grew to be of great power in those places and countreps, and so their ofipzing likewise: Wihereby Bzutson Brytus wanted no fregothip. For euen at his firste comming thither, duers of the Tropans that were remayning in femitude, being desirous of liber= tie, by heapes resorted buto hym. And amongest other, Maracus was one, whom Bzute entertapned, recepuing at his handes the possession of fundep fortes & places of defence, before that the king of those parties could have bnoerstanding or knowledge of any fuch thing. Herewith also fuche as were redie to make the aduenture with him, repaired to him on eche fide, wherebpon he firste placed garnisons in those townes whiche des with Allaracus and the relidue of the multitude. he withdrowe into the mountagnes neere adiopning. Ind thus being made frong work suche assistance, byon consultation hadde wyth them that were of moste authoritie about hym, mente buto the Kong of that countrepe called Bandzalus, in fourme as followeth.

The Letter of Brute to Pandrasus, as I fynd it sette downe in Gelfride Monunetensis.

Rute leader of the remnant of the Trops ane people, to Pandralus king of the Grekes, sendeth greeting: Bicause it hath bin thous ght a thing unworthie, that the people discended of the noble linage of Dervanus, to be otherwise delte with than the honoure of their Pobilitie

The Historie of England.

pothe require: They have withdrawne thems fitnes within the close concret of the woodes: for they have chosen rather (after the manner of wyloc beattes) to lyue on fleffe and herbes in libertie, than furnished with all the riches in the moride to continue water the yoake of feruple the aldome. But, if they there downer offende thy might pe highnesse, they are not to bee blamed, but rather in this behalfe to bee parsoned, fith enery captine puloner is delirous to bee re- 10 Moulde growe to a greater innititude. flored buto has former effate and dignifie.

Poutherchote pitying their cafe, bouchclafe fo granute them their abridged libertie, and fintfer them to reinapue in quiet within thele wood des whiche they have gotte into their posselsion:

If not so, pet gyne them lycence to veparte fourthe of thes Countrepe into some other partres.

The light of these letters and request in thent coteyned made pandralus at the first somewhat amazed, Howbeit aduiting further of the matter, and confidering their finall number, he made no greate accompt of them, but determined out of hande to supperfix them by force, before they

And to bying his intention the better to palle, pareth an army he leuged hys power, and made towardes them. Troian of-But as he palled by a towne called Sparatinu, spring. Sparatinum, marching towardes the wods within the which he thought to have founde his enimyes, he was

Pandrafus pre-

lovenly affailed by Bzute, who with three thous fande men was come fwith of the woods, and flaughtet of them, to that they were veterly oilcomfitted, and foughte by flyghte to fant theinlitues in palling a ryner there at hande called Brute with his men tillbinding tall broth the advertaries, caused them to plaine into the foater at adventure, to that manye of them were Pandzalus didde what hee railde to flave the Oncians from fleeing, called them back agagit, and getting some of them togither, placed them in order, and began a newe fielde : but if nothing twichim prisoner, Active and Ceattered his companic (and ceassed not tyll they had rid the fields of all their aductiaries.

This dwn, Brute entring & towne, furnilled it with fire hundred able fouldiours, and affer= wardes went backe to the residue of his people that were incamped in the lowdoes, where he was recepued with bulpeakeable iope for this

Propersus at thicued enterpiele a But at chouche this suil luccesse arthesirst beginning so betrous fictelly fetting bpon bis enimies, made greate 40 bled Pandralus, as well for the lolle of the Held, as fer the taking of his brother, yet was he rather kylideled in Deligte to leeke truenge, than Di therwhenteninger. Ind theribre allemblyng bis people affirme together that were Crattered have and theres he came the nexte day before the towns of Sparaclium, inherent be thoughte to have toube Brute encloses tagyther with the Pilinetis; and therfore he therived his tobale cit-Bener De haide liege aim Berce allaultes to theck them within to pelbe the last to a read any inclina To conclude, is long he vit continue the Antici

All billuals begin to ware lemu within what anarled, for the Troyans preasing upon hom, 50 threwar no way but so yels, if present likeout come not to remoue the dieger whereparther digdifferenciellitic bitte Beite, thio to und he had not power lufficient to fight with the ent mics in open field, he ment o give the a camilado in the north featon, to ordered his bulinelle, that enforcing a prolonce name Anaelems, whiche he had taken in the tall barayle, to finie his furne, by conficuenting him to take an othe

he found meanes to encounter with his enimics throws they? wholepower, but also twke Panwhiche he durste not for conscience lake breake) boon the advantage, that he did not only oners

Pandrabestake vialus psyloner, whervy all the trouble was en-Ded : and flogtly after a perfeit peace concluded, ppon thele conditions following.

Kysst that Pandzalus Chuld gine his daugh= ter named Innogen bnto Baute in mariage, greement be- with a competent lumme of golde and fluer for evvisite Brute hir Dower.

Secondely, to furnishe hym and his people with a nauce of thips, and to floze the fame with virtuals and all other things necessarie.

Thridly, that Brute with his people (houlde have licence to departe the countrey, to feeke abuentures whether to ever it thould please them to direct their course, without let, impeachement of trouble to bee offered any wayes fouthe by the dereckes.

To all these conditions by cause they touched not the precogatiue of his kingdom) Pandralus Die millingly agree, a lykemyle performe, to that 40 adistance acing once put in a redyncle, and the appace fireing that purpole, Brute with hys wrfe Januan and bis prople imbarqued, and plucking by faples or aited from the coaffes of Sectia : and after two dayes and a nyghtes farlyng, they arrived at Leogitia, (in some olde written bakes of the Brytithe hyfforie, noted Downe Lergetia) an Jland, where they confulted with an Deacle. E jute himlelf knorling before the Book, and holding in his right hande 50 lufala in oceano eft, habitata gigantibue olim, aboll prepared for facrifice ful of wome, and the bloud of a whyte hynde, wake in this maner as herefoloweth:

Dina posens nemerum, Terror filueftribus aprin. Cus licet anfraction tre per atherens Infernaf à domes serrestria invarefolue, Es die quas terras nos habitare Velis ?

Die certam sedem qua te venerabor in anum. Qua tibi virgineis templa dicabo choris.

These verses as Ponticus Clirumnius and others also doe quelle, were written by Gildas Cambrius in his book intitled Cambreidos and may thus be englifted. Thou goddeffe that doest rule the wooddes and forrests greene,

And chaleft forming boares, that flee thyne awfull fight.

Thou that mayest passe aloste in ayrie skyes so

And walk eke under erth in places void of light, Discouer earthly states, direct our course aright, And shewe where wee shall dwell, according to

In feates of fure abode, where temples we maye

For virgins that shal sounde thy laude with vol-

After this prayer and observances bone accopding to the Pagane rite and cullons, Bzute abibing for andwere, fell a fleepe: in tyme of which Acres ameared to bym the layde godocile, bites ring an aunswere, as in these Clerks followpng is expressed.

Brute, Sub oscasum Solintrans Gallicaregna, Infula in Oceano est, undid claufa mari, Nune defersa quidem, gentibus apta tuis? Hane pete, nama tibi feder erit illa perennis, Hic fiet natis altera Troia tuis : Hic de prole qua reges nascentur & ipsis, Totime terra subditus orbis erit. Mhiche are thus Envilled. Brute farre by wealt beyonde the Galike lande Anyle whiche with the Ocean feas enclosed is a

VVhere Giants dwelt fometyme, but now is defarte grounde, - 100 miles and 100 miles

Most meet where thou mayst plant thy self with all the route: A see A la light of the light of the

Make thitherwardes with speede, for there thou Shaltfynde out and to be and a said

An euer during feate, and Troy shall rife anewe no doubt.

That with their mightie power, the worlde shall whole fubdue.

After that he was awakened out of his fleene and had called his dreame to remembrace, he first doubted whether it were a berp decame of a frie vision, the goodesse haupng spoken to hom withloucip to ce. Whereopon callyng fuche of ing companie unto hym as he thoughte requilite in fuche a cufe, her declared unto them the whole matter with the circumstanners, whereat they greatly recovering, caused mightie bonfpres to be made, in the whiche they cafte wyne, milke, and other licours, with dyners gummes and fpyces of molte fwete fmell and odour, as in the Dagan religion was accustomed: whiche observaunces and ceremonies being once performed & brought to ende, they returned Areighte waves to their Chippes, and as some as the toynoe ferned, they palled foreward on their tourney with great toye 30 and gladuelle, as men put in comforte to synde out the wither feates for their firme and fure habitations. From hence therfore they call about, and making wellwarde, they first arrive in Africa, and after keeping on their courfe, they palled the fraites of Gibzalterra, and coasting alongst the flore on the right hande, they founde another companye that were lykewyle descended of the Croiane progenie, on the coaffs nere where the Pytenine hilles thate downe to the fea, inherent 4 the fame sca by good reason was named in those Days Mare Pyrenaum, although hitherto by fault of Writers and copiers of the Beitille hillefie receiued in this place Mare Tyrhenu was lightly put downe in stede of Pyrenaum.

I knowe right well that some will condemne me of lacke of biderstanding the names whiche the later weiters Breckes of Latiniftes haue gis uen unto our known feas: foz y we reade not in gainst the premine mountagnes, have bin cal-Mare Pyrenaum. But verily the course of thehi= floric both mone me to thinke affuredly, that the author of Beffrey Monmonths booke, ment in that place the seas neere to the coast, whereoute the Przenine hilles voiogn. For what reason is it, that after the Croians were palled the pollers of hercules, that Clande on eyther wors the Crait of Marrocke oz Gibzalterra (whether you lift to name the place) Moulde returne lo great a courle backe agapne, and fall opon the coaftes of Tufcaste (from the whiche he purposely was fledde) which lay nothing well ward, whither they bent their whole course.

I have theroed my reason, grounded byon the opinion of some that are known to be learned, no lesse similarity of fuch matters of an-Pnto thy race, of whome shall kings bee borne 10 fiquiffe; whole jungementes I can not but reue= rence; and therfoze I am'the bollocr to fet it voion as I have hearde it, and also by other allowed.

To proceede then with the hillorie,

The offpring of those Trojanes with whom Bzute and his companie thus did meete, were a remnat of those that came away with Interiore. Their capitayne hight Cozineus, a man of great modellie and apper neo wiledonie, and thereo of incomparable ffrength and bolonelle. After they binderilimbe of one an others ellates, and howe Brute and Co. they were descended from one countrey and $20= their compagenie, they buited themselues together, greately nies together. eloycing that they were so fortunately mette. They arrive on And after this, hoyslying op their layles, they the coases of Directed their course forward stil, till they arrived Gallia, novve called Fraunce within the mouth of the river of Lopze, whiche

Deuideth Aquitayn from Gaule Celtique, inhere they take lands within the Dominion of a king, named Pictus. called Goffarius, and furnamed Pirtus, by tea. Les annales fon that he was deftebed of the people called a- d'Aquicain garnyeses, that otherwise were named allo pica Agunystes, otes, for somuche as they pled to paperte their tan led place, of ces and bodies, in luche mile as the richer a man painting their any autentike authoz, that those leas nert and a- 50 was amongst them, the moze colle be bestowed of paynting himselfe: and commonly the heare of their head mas redde....

The countrey of the fources some hold inhere the layde Gofferius rection, with name of thes people: and likewise a parte of this our Alle of Britayn nowe contexued within Scotland in Pigheland. ancient time was called Pightla as ellimbere both in this hillorie of England, allo of Scot-

The Historie of Englande.

lande, it may further appeare.

But nowe to our purpole. When Goffarius the king of Poisson was aductifed of the lanbing of these straungers within his countrey, he Goldriussen- lent first certain of his people to bnorrstad what they ment by their comming a lande within his dominion, withoute licence of leaue of him ob-

They that were thus sente, by chaunce came where Cozineus with two hundred of the com= panic were come from the thippes into a forrelle neare to the fea fyde, to kil some venison for their fustenannce : and being reproved with some dis-Daynfull speache of those Pointeuins, hee Mapen Corineurs. them a rounde aunivere: infomuch that one of wereaker them whole name was Invert, let dive an ar = Imbert. row at Colincus: but hee advoyding the danger Imbert is an therof, fhotte agayn at Imbert, in reuenge of that by Comen injuric offered, and clane hys head in funder. 1/

The refte of the Poissenins fledde therebrpon, and broughte worde to Goffarius what hadde happened: whose immediatelys with a Gossium, leth an ame myohtie armie, made forwarde to encounter with the Troians, and comming to iopne with them in battaile, after a tharp and loge conflict, in the ende Brute with his armie obterned a triuniphant victorie, specially thorough the noble

Coffarius is

Goffarius fee- the inner partes of Gallia, making fuite for alli= flaunce bnto fuche kings as in thole dayes reig= ned in druces proninces of that lande, who pro= ninfed to appe him with all their forces, and Araungers as without his licence were thus en-

Brute spayleth

Turonius or Touts buyer by Brute.

uing renued her tores of high promes of Corincus. Boffarius escaping from the fielde, fled into tred the countrey.

But Bjute in the meane tyme palled foge= ward, and with fire and fworde, made hauock in places where he came: and gathering great spoy= les, fraughte his thips with plentie of riches. It length he came to the place, where afterwards he bupit a Citie named Turonium, that is Tours.

bere Goffarius with luche Baules as were assembled in his and, game batayl again unto the 50 Tropans, that were encamped to abyve his co= ming. Celhere after that they have fought a long thine with fingular manhouse on bothe parties : finally the Croyans oppressed with multitude of their aductaries, being thirtie tymes as manye more as the Treyans) were confirmined to retresents their campe, within the which the Gaus les kepte them as belieged, longing rounde about them, and purpoling by famine to compell theme to yelde themselves onto their mercie.

But Cozineus taking counfell with Bzute, deuised to departe in the darke of the night forth of the canme, and to lodge himselfe with three thousand chosen souldiours secretly in a woode, and there to remayne in couert tyll in the motning that Brute foulde come forth and gine & to expell oute of the coastes of Lquitaque, suche 40 a charge oppon the enimies, wherewith Corineus Mould breakt forth and affayle the Gaules

This policic was putte in pradile, and toke fuch effed as the deuplers themlelues wilhed: tot the Gaules being Harply affailed on the front by Brute and his companie, wer now by the fodain comming of Cozineus, who let vpon them behinde on their backes, brought into such a feare, that incontinentely they twke them to flighte, whome the Troyans egrely purfued, making no small flaughter of them as they might ouertake them. In this batteile Bzute loft many of his men, and amongst other, one of his nephues na= med Turinus, after be had fijemed maruellous profe of his great manbode. Ef hym (as tome hane written) the forefago citie of Cours twie the nanu, and was called Taronium, bycause the The Historie of England.

land Turinus was there buried: Althoughe Inpiew Theuet affirmeth the contrarie; and mayn= ttritth, that one Caurus the nephewe of hanmball was the fielle that closed it about with a pale of woode (as the maner in those pays was of fincing their towns) in the years of the world 1374, and befoge the bieth bf our Sauionie: 197. But pet by Theuers lealie, Brute and his com vanie myghte fyilt bupide the came towne: and with a pale, at that supposed time whe his bucle Danibal came forth of Spayn, to palle through Gailia into Italy. But to speake what I thinke. I beleeue Theuet is as little able to proue his Taurus to be the first that enclosed it, as other are to prone, that it tweethe name of Turinus his burpall there.

But now to our matter concerning Brute. who after he had obteined to famous a victorie. albeit there was good cause for him to reionce, pet 2 c it lose troubled him to consider that his numbers dayly occaped, and his enimies still encreased. mendants and grew fronger: wher open relling doubtfull what to doe, whether to proceede againste the Caulles, or to returne to his thippes, and to feke the ple, that was appopulted to him by ozacle, at lighth he chose the surell way and best (as he toke it, and as it prouced for whylest per the more parte of his armic was lette aloue, and that the rame of the victorie remarned on his fide, hee 30 elewe to his navie, and lading his thirpes, with erceding greate floze of riches whiche his people had got abrode in the countrey: he toke the feas, againe: Indacter a few payes layling, they lanement of ted at the hauch whiche is now called Cornelle, the reare of the worlde. 2850. after the destructi= on of Croy. So. afterthe odiucrare of the Itrae= lites, from the Captinitie of Babylon. 397. almost ended, in the. is. yeare of the reigne of Ty= masking of Babyloh.13, of Mclanthus king of 40 Athenes, befoze the buyloing of Rome 308 whithe was before the nativitie of our laulor Christ 116. almost ended, and before the reigne of Alexander the great. 783. This computation have I let down acording to the Chronologic of William Harison not yet published, whose accompte (as he hath gathered it. I have folowed for the more parte, as well in the hillorie of Scotland, as here in this hillorie of England, especially til I come buto the time that the sarons lettled themselves bere: the ra= ther breause Fam persuaded & he hath bin verie diligent inserching out the true conquitation of reces, in reforming the fame according to y best authorities, as I truste to the learned reader it may appeare. And if there be any errour therein, Tochbt not but some suche learned Gentleman as hat; spent some fludie about the searche of the first province of this land, will fur the benefite of his countrep in tyme convenience reforme that which is amille, and publishe to the worlde that whiche may better fatifie the ledenen, and electe. affibilities as will hithe accomprof the ture of Brutes commind hither as wall other circums stances of the Whole Brytillichistopie.

But mweto proceede. Withen weuer Brute entred this lande, immediatly after his arrivall) Taurus peraduenture might after fence it about 10 (as writers der treozde) he learshed the countrey from live to live, and even from the one ende to the other, finding it in moste places must fertile and plentuous of woode and grade, and full of pleasant springs and faire rouces:

> But as he thus tranapled to vikroner the flate and commodifies of the plande, he was encoun- Brute encountred by Diners frong & mightie Giannes, whom cred by the Giannes. he destroyed and seive, or rather subdued them, with all luche other people, as his founde in the Ilande, whiche were moze in hunther brooghteoly than by report of come authors, it Moulde appere there were. Imong thele Giants as Geffrey of Monnions writeth, there was one of palling lirengthe and greate efficient thanked Corineus ovre Bogmagog, with whome Bing suled Egzi= Gogmagog. neus to wealien, at a place beine Doute, where it chaunced) that the Butunt brake a tibbe in the lyde of Corneus, whyte they know to train and the one to aucithfowe the other inherewith Cozineus being fore chafed and Airred to wrath, he to doubled his torre that he got the hiper hand Gogmagog of the Graunt, and caue thint bording headlong is nayne from one of the rockes there, not faire troin Douer, and to dispatched hynt: by teason whereof, the place was named long after, the fall of leave of Gogmagog, but afterwards it was called the fallof Douct."

For this valiant occue and other the like fire to Gornieus. nice firfte and laffe atchiened, Brufe gaue binto Corneus the whole countrey of Cornoatt.

Co be bricke: After that Brute fiap bestrover lui he as love agaginffe him, and biblight friche people bnder his fubiedion, as he found in the Alle, and fearched the land from the one end to the other : he was destrous to buyld a citie, p the same might be the regal feat of his empire or king bom. Wherbpon he chole forth a plot of ground, lying on the north spoe of the river of Thames, which by good confideration fee= med to be most pleasant & convenient for any creat multitude of inhabitants, alwel for hol-Comnelle of aire gronnelle of loyle, plentie of woodes, tommoditie of the river, leruing as wel to bring in as to carrie forth all kindes of merchandile, and things necellarie for gagne flore and vie of them that there fould inhabit.

The citle of

here therfore, he began to buyld and lay the foundation of a citie, in the tenth, or (as other thinke) in the seconde yeare after, his arrivall, Seemore here- which he nameth(laith Bal. Mon.) Troy noof in the defert nant, 01 as hum. Elburd farth, Tropuewith, that is new Trop, in remembrance of that no= ble citie of Trop, from whice he and his people were for the more part bescended.

Miben Brutus had buglded this citie, and brought the Iland fully bnder his fubication, be then by the adulte of his nobles, commaunbed this Ale whiche befoze hyghte Albion, to bet called Bzitagne, and the inhabitauntes Bitons after bis name, for a perpetuall mes mogie that he was the first bringer of them into the lande. In this meane whyle also be bad by his topfe. iii. fonnes, of which the firste was named Locrinus, of Locrine, the fecond Cambris of Camber, and the third Albanadus or Albanad. And when the tyme of his death Diewe neere, To the arft he betoke the gouern. ment of that part of the lande which is nowe knowne by the name of England: so that the fame was long after called Loegria, 02 Logiers, of the layd Locrinus.

To the seconde be appoynted the countrey of Wales, the whyche of hym was fyill named Cambria, Deuided from Loegria, by the ri= uer of Scuerne. Co bis thirde fonne Mibanade, bee bely= nered all the Botth parte of the Ille, aftermarden called Sibania, after the name of the faid Albanafte: which postion of the faid Alle lieth beyond the humber tiogthward.

Thus whe Brutus had deutoed the Ide of Britain(as before is mécioned) into.3 parts, bad gouerned & fame by the fpace of. rv. peres, be died in p. 24 . pere after bis artiual, as ba= rilon noteth it, and was burged at Gropnonant of London: although the place of his faid this one brid burial there, be now grown out of memorie. Sauke and is mutell goods.

If rack.

Locrinus, the second ruler of Britayne.

Derinus , 02 20= erine, the first bes gotte sonne of Brute begato reigne oner y coutrep called Logiers in the yere of y world Gal. Min. 1874. and held to his Mat. VVa part the countrey that Facut of ftretched fro b fouthe de Cofea bnto the riner of Dumber, as is afore remembred.

Whyle thys Locrinus gouerned Lo= Gal. Mon. giers, his brother Elbanad ruled in Elbania, Ma.PVd as is fapte, and there was finally flagne in a bataile by a King of the Qunnes or Scythis ans, called humber, which inuaded that part of Britain, a got policillo therof, til Locrinus with his brother Caber, in reuige of their other prothers death, and for the recovery of the kingpoint, gathered their powers togither, and comining against the said King of the Hines, by the valiancie of their people they discomfitted hym in battell, and chased him so entrely, that he himselfe and a greate number of his men were dzowned in the Sulfe that then parted Locgria and Albama, which after twice name of y layo king, a was called lyumber, and so continueth buto this day.

Morcouct, in this battell against the Hunes 10 were there youg Damolels taken of excellente beauty, specially one of them, whose name was Ellrilo, daughter to a certagne king of Scithia. collith this Effrito king Locrine fel fo far in louc, not withstading a former contract made betwirt him t the Lady Guendoloena, daughter to Co= micus Duke of Cornewall, & he meant yet with all speede to marrie the same Estrild. But beyng carnefly called bpon, and in manner forced ther= to by Cozincus, her chaunged his purpole, and 20 married Guendoloena , keeping neuerthelelle the fortapoe Eftrilo to paramoz fill after a fecrete lott, during p life of Cozineus his father in lame. But after p Cozineus was departed this world, Locrine forfoke Buendoloena, and maried C= firild. Suendoloena therfoze being caft off by hir hulband, gote hir into Coznewall to hir friendes and kinrede, and there procured them to make warre against the sayde Locrine hir husbande, in the whiche warres hee was flaine and a battaple 20 foughte neere to the river of Sture, after he hadde raigned (as writers affirme) twenty yeeres, and buried by his father in the Citie of Troynouant, leaung behind him a pong sonnesbegotten of his wife Guendoloena) named Madan , as get bnmeete to gouerne.

Guendoloena or Buendoleyn the wife of Locrimus, + daughter of Cozineus Duke of Cozne= wall, for so nuche as hir sonne Madan was not of recres sufficient to governe, was by common 40 consent of the Britons made ruler of the File, in the years of the world. 2894. and so having y ad= minustration in hir handes, the did right discretly vie hir felfe therein, to the comforte of all hir fub= icus, till hir sonne Madan came to lawfull age: and then the game over the rule and dominion to bum, after thee had gouerned the space of fisteene peereg.

Madan the third Ruler.

Mada. Madan the sonne of Locrine, and Guindos line entred into & government of Britaine in the. 2909, of the world. There is little lefte in writing of his doings, fauing that he vsed greate tyranny amongst his Britons: and therefore after he had ruled this land the tearme of.40.percs, be was demonred of wilde beaftes, as he was atroad in huting. He left behind him two fonnes, Mempicius, and Maulius. Hee builded as is reported Madan Caistre, now Dancastre, which reteineth still the later parte of hys name.

Mempricius the fourth Ruler.

Moest some of Wa= Memdan, began to raigne a= pritius. uer the Britappes in the Fabian. yere of the world. 2949. her continued not long in peace. For his brother Manlius byon an am= bitious minoc provoked the Britannes to rebell against him, so that soze and deadly warre continued long betweene the. But finally, buder colour of a treatie, Manlius Manlius is was flaine by his brother Mempricius, fo that flayne. then be liued in moze tranquilitie and reft. hom. Gal: Mon. beit, being delivered thus from trouble of warres, he fell into flouth, and so into bulawfull lust of Slouth engenlecheric, and thereby into the hatred of his people, ared Lechery. by forcing of their wines and daughters. Ind finally became to beattly, that he fortoke his lawfull wife and all his concubines, and fell into the abhominable sinne of Sodomy. And thus from one vice he fell into another, till he became odible to God and man, and at length, going on hun- Mempritius ting, was lost of his prople, atto destroyed of wild beatts. bealtes, when he had raigned twentie yeares, leauing behinde him a noble pong fonne named Cbranke, begotten of his lawfull wife.

Ebranke the fifth Ruler.

Estanke the con Ebrack began to rule ouer the Britannes in p pere of the Morlos 2969. He had as writers ove of hom record, one & fwety Ebranck had wittes, on whomie xxi wives. he begote. rr. sounts Thirty daugh and thirtie daughs least ent into ters, of the whiche the clock hight Buales, or Bualca. These daughters he sent to Alba Silut-50 us, which was the eleventh king of Italy, or the firth King of the Latines, to the end they might be married to his noble men of the bloud of Troians, bycaule the Sabines refuled to ione their daughters with them in marriage. Furthetmore, Bergomas he was the first Prince of his lande that evering lib. 6. uaded Fraunce after Brute, and is commended as author any original builder of many Cities. both in his owne kingdome, and elle where hys fonnes Cambria.

Brute had three

Loegrid.

The Citie of Cierbranke builded. Mas. VVeft.

of their elocit brethren, returning out of Italy, after they had conquited their Afters thither, inuaded Germany, being first molested by the people of that countrey in their rage, and by the beloe of the fard Alba, subdued a great part of that coun= trep, and there planted themselves. Our bistozies fap, that Educus their father married them in their returne, and apped them in their conquests, and that he builded the Citie of Caerbrank, now 10 called Borke, about, the 14. peare of his raigne. He builded also in Albania now called Scotland, the Castel of Mayoens, afterward called Eden= burgh of Aidan one of their kings. The Citie of Alclud was builded likewise by hom as (some write) now occased. After which cities thus buil= Ded, he sapled ouer into Ballia, now called frace with a great army, and subduing the Balles as is aforefande, he returned bome with great riches Portie yeeres and triumph. And when he had quioco the lande 20 of Bzitagne in noble wife by the tearine of fortie peares, be died, and was buried at Porke.

somes also under the conduct of Assaracus, one

Brute Greeneshielde the. 6. Ruler.

Brute Grene-Shielde.

Monume.

Incobin Lef.

Bikute Greeneshielve, the sonne of Ebrank, was made governoz of this lande in the peere of ý world.:∞9. Ala raiq= ning in Juda, and 2Ba= ala in Alraell. Thus Prince bare alwayes in the field a greene fhielde. whereof he toke hys fur= name, and of him some fograme authogs attieme, b he made an attempte to bring the whole Bealine of Fraunce binder his subication, which he performed, by cause his father full cined some distance and losse in his last boy = age into that countrey. Exombett they say, y whi serabo bb.4. he came into Henaud, Bzinchilo a Pzince of p quarter gaue him allo a greate querthrowe, and compelled him to refire home agaphe into hys countrey. This I bogrow out of William Harrison, who in his chronologic toucheth the same at large, concluding in the end, that the faid pallage of this Prince into France is very likely to be true, and that he named a percell of Armozica lying on the South, and in mann topon the bery lopne after his omne name, and also a Citie so liuco. which he builded there Britagne. For (layth he)it Mould seeme by Strabo. lib.4. that there was a noble Citie of that name long before his time in the lapde countrep, whereof Plinie also weaketh lib.4.cap.-. albeit that be ascribe it bnto France after a discolored maner. Poge I finde not of this aforesaid Brute, saving that he ruled the lande a cortains time, his father pet lining, and after bys decelle the tearme of twelue peeres, and then dpa ed, and was buried at Caerbranke nowe callen Pozke.

Leill the seventh Ruler.

Eil the Con of Beute Leil. L Greeneshielde, began to raigne in the peere of the world.3021.the Tame time that Ala was raig-Ining in Juda, and Am= bei in Firacl. De built the Citie nowe called Carlile, which then after hys Carelell but owne name was called ded. Caerleil, that is, Leil his Citic, or the Citic of Leil. He repayres also (as Henry Beadlyawe hathe, the Citie of Caerleon Cheftern. now called Chester, which as by the same Brad- payred, thaw it appeareth, was built befoze Bzutus entring into this lande by a Giaunte named Leon Gauer. But what authozitic he hadde to auduche this, it may be doubted, for Ranulfe higde in his worke entituled Policronicon, faith in playne wordes, that it is buknowen who was the fuste founder of Cheller, but that it toke the name of $ foiourning there of some Romapne Legions, bp whom alle it is not bulike that it might be firfte. built by P.Osforina Scapula, who as we find, after 30 he had luboued Caratacus king of $ Debonices p inhabited p countreys now called Lancathire, Chelfhire, Salopfhire, built in thole partes, & & mong & Silures, certain places of befence, foz the better herbourgh of bis men of warre, & keeping down of luche Baitagnes as were fill ready to moue rebellio. But now to & purpole concerning K. Leil. Wie find it recozted o he was in o beginning of his raigne very bpzight, & delirous to lee iustice executed, 4 aboue all things loued praces o quietnelle, but as yerrs encreased with him, so his bertues began to binninifly, in fo much, that abadoning & care for the body of & common welth. he fuffered his own body to welter in all vice and voluptuouincife, to procuring the hatred of hys fubiedes, cauled malice and discorde to tyle amögst them, which during his life, be was never able to appeale. But leauing them fo at bariace, departed this life, and was buried at Careleil which as ye have heard he had builded, whyle hee

Lud Hurdibras the eight Ruler.

D Eld of Ludhurdibras the sonne of Leil began K to governe in the peare of the world. 3046. In the beginning of his raigne, her soughte to Lude appeale the debate that was repled in hys fathers dapes, and bring the Realme to hir dibiniformer quietnesse, and after that hee habbe inought it rogod ende, he builded the towns of Karrayn now called Canterbury: also the towne of Caerquent nowe cleped Winchester, & Mont Baladour now called Shaftesbury. About the Caerguent is mulding of which towne of Shafte (bury, Aguila a Prophet of the Brittill nation wrote his prophecies, of which some fragments remarne yet to be frene, translated into the Latine by some aun= tient writers. When this Lud had raigned. rrir. med Baldub.

Baldud the.9.Ruler.

Kacikin or

Cictorbury

is builded.

builded.

builded.

PaladouTis

Pare bathes

Ma. Prest.

Leir.

Baldud the sonne of Aud Hudibias, begä to rule ouer the Bri= tapnes in the pere afthe world.3085. This man was well feme in p fei= ences of Altronomy, and Digromancy, by which 20 (as the common reporte faith) he made the whote -bathes in the Citle of Caerbian now called Bath. But William of Malmelbery is of a contrary opinion, aftirming that Inlins Cclar made thole bathes, or ratherreparzed them when he was here in Englande: which is not like to be true : for Julius Celar, as by god confedure we have to thinke, never came of these bathes more shall be fand in the description on. But to proceede. This Baldud toke fuche pleasure in artificiall practiles and macike, that he taught this arte throughout all his Realme. And to flicto his cunning in other points, bopon a prefumptuous pleasure which he had therein, he twice upon him to flie in the appe, but he fell upon The prince did the temple of Apollo, which flode in the Citie of Cropnouant, and there was tozne in pecces afpetres.

Leir the.10.Ruler.

Eir the son Lof Baloud, was admitted Ruler ouer the Bzitaynes, in the peere of the what time 30= as raigned as yet in Juda.

This Leir was a prince of righte noble demeanoz, gouerning his land and subicus in great wealth. Section is Dec made the towns of Caerleir nowe called Leiceller, which standeth voon & River of Soze.

It is writte that he had by his wife three daughters without other iffue, whole names were Gos nozilla, Began, and Cozvilla, whiche daughters he greatly loued, but specially the yougest Cezdrilla farre about the two elder. When this Lete Gal. Mon. therefore was come to great yeeres, and beganne to wave buwelop through age, he thought to bn= derstand the tempts of his daughters towards bim, and per bir whome hee best loued, to the perres he dyed, and lefte a sonne behinde him na- 10 succession ouer the kingdome : therefoze hee fielle A crial of lone alked Conoxilla the clock, howe well thee loued him: the which calling hir woods to record, protefled, that the loued him moze than hir swine life, which by righte and reason thoulde be most geere buto bir. With whiche antwer the father beryng well pleased, turned to the second, and bemanded of hie how well the loued him: whiche answered (confirming hir farings with greate othes) that the loved him moze than tong could expresse, and farre aboue all other creatures of the world. The called he his yongest daughter Cordeilla befoze him, and afket of hir what accompt the made of him: onto whome the made this antwer as follo- The antwere weth: Knowing the great loue and fatherly scale of the yonges that towards me you have always borne, (for the whiche I may not answere you otherwise than thinke, and as my colcience leadeth me) pro= tell buto you, that I have loved you ever, and thall continually while I line, love you as my fo faire within the land that way forthe. Both 30 naturall father, and if you woulde more buder-Stand of the loue that I beare you, affertayn your selfe, that so much as you have, so muche you ars worth, and so much I love you, and no more. The father being nothing content with this an-fwere, married his two clott daughters, the one The two el-onto the Duke of Cornewale named henninus, ters are marand the other buto the Duke of Albania, called ried. Magianus and befwirt them after his death, he The Realme miller and concerned that had been them the best him to be is promifed willed and orderned that his land thould be deut to his two ter he had ruled the Britagnes by the space of.rr. 40 ded, and the one halfe thereof immediately Gould daughters. be alligned to them in hande: but for the thirde Daughter Cordeilla, he referued nothing.

Pet it foziuned, that one of the Princes of Gallia (which now is called France) whole name was Aganippus, hearing of the beautie, womanhope, and good conditions of the Capo Coedeilla, Delired to haue hir in marriage, and lente ouer to hir father, requiring that he myghte have hir to wife : to whome aunswere was made, that hee world. 3105. at 50 nughte haue hys daughter, but for any dower hee coulde haue none, for all was promised and alfured to hir other fisters already.

Aganippus norwithstanding this aunswere of denyall to recepue any thying by way of do= wer with Cozocilla, toke hir to wist, only moued thereto (I laye) for respecte of hir person and He gouerned amiable berties. Thes Aganippus was the third parte one of the twelue Krings that ruled Gallia Gal. Mon, hath daughter.

In those dayes, as in the Brittill historie it is recorded. But to proceede, after that Leir was fal-

Irn into age, the two Dukes that had married his two eldest daughters, thinking long ere the go-uernemente of the land did come to their handes, arole against him in armour, & rest from him the gouernance of the land, bpo conditions to be cotinued for tearnie of life: by & whiche he was put to his portion, that is, to line after a rate alligned in proces of time was diminifiled as well by Magbanus, as by Henninus. But the greatelt griefe that Leir toke, was to fee the bukindnesse of his daughters, which seemed to thinke that all mas to much which their father hadde, the same bring neuer so little: in so muche, that going from pone to pother, he was brought to that milerie, that wnneth would they allow him one f...aunt to waite upon him. In the end luch was the bn= which he founde in his two daughters, notwithstanding their faire & pleasante wordes bttered in time pall, that being constreyned of necessitie, he fled p land, a layled into Ballia, there to leke some comfort of his yogelt baughter Cordeilla whont befoze time he hated. The Lady Cozdeill hearing

b he was arrived in poze effate, fhe first fet to him paully a certagne funime of money to apparrell himfelfe withal, to retepne a certagn number of rable wife as appertenned to the estate whiche he had bounce and then to accompanged, the appointed him to come to p Court, which he bid, was to ionfally honozably, and louingly received, both by his fon in law Aganippus, also by his daugh ter Cordilla, that his hart was greatly comfore

ted: for he mas no leffe honozed, than if he hadde bin king of y whole countrey binfelfe. Alfo after p he had enformed his fou in law this daughter ters, I gamppus cauled a mightle army to be put in a readinelle, a likewile a greate nauie of Ships to bee rigged, to passe ouer into Butagne with

Leir his father in law, to fee him againe restozed to his king donit. It was accorded, that Cordil=

La fliguld also goe with him to take policision of b land b whele he exomifed to leave onto hir, as hir rightfull inheritour after his decesse, notwithflanding any former graunte made to hir filters be o whe this army thanic of Ships wer ready,

Teur this daughter Cordeilla w hir bulbadtoke

p fea, arrining in Butaine, fought w their eni= mics and discomfited them in battaile, in p whithe Paglanus + Herminus were flainciand then was Lerrifozed to his kingdome, which he rules after this by the space of two peeres, and then died, festie peres after he bell began to raigne. Sis kinonelle, og (as I may laye) the bunaturalnelle 20 body was buried at Leycester in a bault bnder y Ma. PVeff. channel of the Riner of Soze beneath the towne. Cordeilla Queene. -Devell-gest daugh= Cordeil. ter of Leir, la. was admitted for D.€ fupteme go= nernoure of Bzitapne, in the peere of p Morio.355.

befoze the building of Rome. 54. Uzias them raigning in Juda, & Jeroboa ouer Ffraell. This Corocilla after hir fathers besease ruled the lao of Britagne right worthily during the space of fine perce, in which meane time hir hulband died, and then about y end of those five peres, hir two De= phetoes Margan and Cunedagius fonnes to hic aforesaide listers, disorigming to be bider the gouernement of a woman, leuied warre against hir, and destroyed a great part of the land, and finally toke hir prisoner, and lego hir fast in ward, where with flice toke fuche griefe, bering a woman of & manly courage, and despaying to recouer liber= tic, there the flew hirfelte whe the had raigned as befoge is mencioned the teamne of fine peeres.

Cunedag and Margan contende for the governement.

Canus Pephews to Cune-Corveilla, having reco- day of nered the land out of hir hands, deuided the same Marbetwirt them, that is to wit, the countrey over & gan. beyonde Dumber fell to Margan as it fretcheth cuen to Catnelle, the other put lying South, and by well, was affigued to Cunidagius. This partition chanced in the yeare of the World. 3170. besoze the building of Rome. 47. Uzia as pet raiguing in Juda, Feroboam in Firacl. After= wards, thefe two coulins, Cunevag and Marga, had not raigned thus past a two yeares, but thorough fome feditions persons, Margan was per= (waded to reife warre against Cunedag, telling hun in his care, howe it was a thame for him bemo come of the cloer lifter, not to have the rule of 10 the whole Ile in his hande. Herebvon, ouercome withplive, ambition, + conetoulnelle, he reifed an grup, f entring into y land of Cunedad, he beened t destroyed & courtey befoze him in miserable maner. Cunedagin all halt to relift his aduer= facie, affembled also al p power he could make, & comming with the same against Margan, gave him battell, in the which he flew a great nuber of Dargas people, and put & relidue to flight, and furthermoze purlued him from countrey to cou= 20 trev, till hee came into Cambria, nome called Wales, where y faid Margan gaue him eftsones a new battell:but beeing to weake in number of men, he was there ouercome & flaine in & field, by reason wherof, p countrep twke name of him, being there flaine, and fo is called to this day Glau Marga, which is to meane in our English tong, Margans land. This was the end of that Mar= gan, after hee had raigned with his brother two peres, or thereaboutes. A fter the death of Margan, Cunedagius the fon of henius & Ragay (middlemost daughter of Leir, befoge mentioned) became Ruler of all the whole lad of Britagne, in p pere of p cologlo er: befoge the building of Rome. 45. Wija ftill raigning in Juda, and Jeroboam in Ifracil. He governed this Fle wel & honozably for the tearme of rrrill, yeeres: And then dying, his body was busied at Tropnouant of Londo. Moteouer, our writers do reporte, that hee builded also three te= 40 ples.one to Mars at Perth in Scotland, another to Mercury at Bangoz, and the thirde to Apollo in Comewall.

Ryuall the.13. Ruler.

D Juallon, the son of Cunedag, began to raign ouer & Bzitaines, in the perc of the world 3202. befoze the building 50 of Rome. 15. Joathan 133 then beeing King of Juda, and Phacea king of Firael. This Ryuall governed the lande in greate wealth and prosperitie. In his time it raigned bloud by the space of three dayes togither. After which raigne enlu-

ed luch an exceding nuber and multitude of flies. to novlome and contagious, that muche provis died by reason thereof. When he had raigned. 46. preces he vied, was buried at Caerbranke nome called Porke. In frime of this Ryuals ratgue, was the Citie of Rome builded, after the accors Rome builded dance of molt parte of writers. Perdir elfo a wischart, and a learned Astrologian florristethe writeth his prophecies, and hereur alfo.

Gurgust the 14 Ruler

Gurgultius, the son Gurgust Rivall, beganne to gouerne the Bzitaynes in the peere after the Cres atio of the world. 3249. and after the first founs Pration of Rome. 13. C. sechias raigning in Tuloa. This Gurauffius in b Chronicle of Enga land, is called Gorbodian the fonne of Reignald, he raigned.37. peres: then departing this life. was buried at Caerbranke (now called Porke) by hys Sysillius the.15. Ruler.

Spallius, or after Sysillius us, the brother of Gura gustius, was chosen to have the governance of Bzitayne, in the yeere of the worlde. 2287.and after the building of Rome. 71, Manasses still raigning in Juda. This Silillius in the Englift) Enzemeie is named Stiff. Be raigned 49 .preces, and then died, and was buried at Car. badon, now called Bath.

lago the. 16. Ruler.

Ago of Lago. y cou-fin of Gurgullius, as Iago. next inheritor to Sills lius, toke buon hom the gonomemente of Bis tayne, in the yeare of the world. 3336, and after & building of Rome, 120% din whole time the Citte of Arrufalem was take by Pabuchodono302 and the King of Juda, Mathania, otherwile called Zedechias, bring flaine. This Jago of Lago dyed without issue, when hee had raigned erght and twentie perces, and was buried at Potke.

The Historie of Englande.

Kinimak the 17. Ruler.

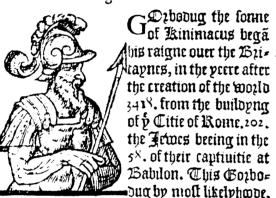

K inimak.

-Inimacus oz Kininarus i fon of Sicilius as some write, or rather b brother of Jago began to governe \hat{p} lad of Britanne, in the pere of the World.3364.and after the buildying of Rome. 148. the Tewes 10 as then being in f third peers of their captinitie ot 25 abilon. This Kinimachus Departed this life, after hee hadde raigned. 54. peeres, and was buried at Volke.

Gorbodug the 18. Ruler.

to bring histories to accord, flould raigne aboute the tearnic of. 3, perres, and then departing thys 30 world, was buried at London, leauing after hym two fonnes ferrer and Porrer, or after fonte writers, Ferreus and Porreus.

Ferrex the.19. Ruler.

and Porrex.

Ferrex fledde

soto Gallia.

Ecces with Poster his brother, beganiopntly to rule over the Britapnes, in the peere ter y building of Rome 2300 at whiche tome, the people of Rome forloke their Citie in they? Re= bellious mode. These two breethren continu-en for a time in good frienoship and amitie, till at length, through couctoulieffe, and beffre of greater dominion, prouoked by flatterers, they fell at variance and discord, whereby Ferrex was co-Arepned to flee into Gallia, and there purchaled 50 appe of a great Duke, called Gunhardus or Suarbus, and so returned into 13 pitagne, thynkona to prevaile and obteine the dominion of p whole Fland. But his brother Pogrer was ready to recepue him with battell after he was landed, in the which battell Ferrer was flapne, with the more parte of his people. The English Chronicle fay= eth, that Porrer was he that fledde into France, and at his returne, was flavue, and that ferret furuined. But Geffrey of Monmouth, and Polis cronicon are of a contrary opinion. Watheme Welfmonasteri. writeth, that Porrex benising waves to kill Ferrer, atchieued his purpose and Mappell Arw him. But whether of them fo euer furufued. the mother of them was so highly offenced for the deathe of him that was flagne, whome thee most entierly loued, that fetting aparte al motherly affection, the found meaner to enter the chainler of him that furniucd, in the night featon, and as hee him that furniced, in the night trawn, and as he acept, the with help of hir maidens flew him, and The mother acept, the with help of hir maidens flew him, and killendaria cut him into small peeces, as the writers doe aftirme. Suche was the ende of thele two bretheen after they had raigned by the space of foure or five peeres.

After this followed a troubleous leason, full of cruell warre, a seditious discord, whereby in the ende, and for the space of fiftie percy, the governes his raigne over the Bis 20 mente of the Flande was denided betwirt fine Kings of rulers, till Dunwallon of Cornewall ouercame them all. Thus the line of Brute after the affirmance of most writers, toke an ende: for after the death of the two forelande beetheen . no rightful inheritor was left alive to succeede them in the Kingdome . The names of thele fine Robert le Kings are found in certaine olde pedigrees : and corde. although the same be muche corrupted in dyners copies, yet these are the most agreeablest.

> Rudacus King of VVales. Clotenus King of Cornewall. Pinnor King of Loegria. Staterus King of Albania. Yewan King of Northumberlande.

But of thele fine Kings of Dukes the Eng. lift Chronicle alloweth Cloton king of Cornes wale for most rightfull heire. There appeareth of the alloglo. 3476. af= 40 not any time certagne by report of auncient Authois, howe long this variaunce continued as mongst the Britapnes:but as some late witers Fab. haue geffed, it Could continue for the space of.51. peeres, conteduring to much by that which is re- Civil warm corded in Policron: who fayth , how it did conti= $1 yeere. nuc even till the beginning of the raigite of Muimutius Dunwallo, who began to gourne from the time that Bzute first entred Bzitayne, about the frace of lenen hundred and three yeares. Heere pe mult note, p there is differece amogli weiters about p supputation accompt of these peres.in formuch o fome making their reckoning after certain writers, and finding & fame to vary about thice C. pecres, are brought into further boubt of the troth of the whole billozic: but where other have by viligent fearth tryed out the continuance of every governoze raigne, and reduced the faine to a likelyhope of some conformitie, I hane thought best to follow the same, leaving the erevice thereof with the firste Authours, as I have fand befoge.

Mulmutius the first crowned King of Britayne.

[[!]-

h(iill)

 V_{i}

-D proces therefore w the aforesappe Luthors, Nul= nucius Dun= uallo, or as o= 10 ther haue Duuallo Mulmu= cius, the fonne of Cloten, (as testifyeth the and Michonicle, + also Gettrey of Momonth; note the upper hand of p other Dukes or rulers: And after his fathers decesse began his raigne o= ner the whole Monarchie of Britagne in & peere of the world. 1529. after y building of Rome. 314. 20 and after the delinerance of the Maelites out of captiuitie. 97. and about the.26. perc of Parius Artarerres Longinianus, the fifth King of the Palias. This Bulmutius Donuallo is named in the Englid Chronicle Donebaut, and proued a right worthy Prince. He builded within & Citie of London then called Tropnouant a Teple, and named if the Temple of peace: the which (as some holde opinion,) I wote not byon what wel halle, where the market for bying and felling decention of clothes is kept.

he also made many good lawes, the whyche were long after bled, called Mulmutius lawes, turned out of the Bzittish speech into the Latine by Gilbas Prifcus, and long time after traflated out of Latine into Englishe by Alfrede Kyng of England, and mingled in his estatutes.

Hopconer, this Mulinutius gaue primleges wayes leading to the same, so that who somer fled to them, Mould be in lategard from bodily harme, and from thence he might depart into what coutrep he would, without indemnitie of his person. ne authors write, that hee began to make the foure great high wayes of Britayne, the whyche were faithed by his sonne Belinus, as after shall be declared.

The Chaonicle of Englav aftirmeth, that this Daluntus whom y olde boke nameth Molle, 50 builded p two tolunes Malmelbery, & the Elies.

Liter be had established his land, a set his Bzitons in good a connenient ozder, he ozdeyned hint be paduice of his Lozds a Crowne of golde, and cauled himselfe with great solenitie to be Crowese ned according to the custome of the Pagan laws then in oferand by cause he was the first that bare Crowns hecre in Bzitapne, after the opinion of fomewriters, he is named the first King of Baltanne, and al the other before rehearled are named Rulers, Dukes, oz Gouernozs.

Amongst other of his ordinances, he appopus Polid. ted weightes and measures, with the which men measures. flionid buy & fell. And further he denifed fore and Their punifreight ofders for the punishing of theft, finally, fad. after he had guided the land by the space of fortie yeeres, he died, and was buried in the fozelande Temple of peace which he had ereded within the citie of Trophonant nowe called London, as before pe have heard. Appointing in his life tome. that his kingdome flould be devided betwirt his two lonnes, Brennus, & Belinus (as some inen do conicifure.)

Belinus and Brennus, the fonnes of Mulmutius.

Rennus Belinus and and Be- Brennus. linus began to raigne iopntly as Kings in Bzitaine, in b vecre of the World. 1574. after the buile ding of & Ci= tie of Rome.

355. and after the deliverance of the Afraclites out ground, was y same which now is called Black= 30 of captiultie.142. which was about y seuenth yere u. Artarerres furnamed Mnenon, the leueth &. of the Perlians. Belinus held under his gouernance Lorgria, Wales, & Coincwale: and Bifnus all those countreps over and beponde Bumber. And with this partition were they contented by the tearme of fire or fenen yeres, after whyche 5. hath Police. time expired, Bzennus concting to have moze than his poztio came to, first thought to purchase Brennus noc himselse art in sorreine parties, and therefore by content with to Cemples, to ploughes, to Cities, and to high 40 the pronocation & counsel of young buquiet heads, his portion. failed over into Posway, and there married the daughter of Ellung of Elling, as then Duke of Ruler of that countrey. Beline offended with his brother, that he floudoe thus withoute his aduice marrie with a ffranger, now in his absence seased al his lands, townes and fortreffes into his owne hands, placing garrifons of men of warre where he thought conucnient.

In the meane time, Brenne aduertised hereof, assembled a great name of Ships well furnished with people and Souldiers of the Porwegians, with the whiche he toke his course homewardes, but in the way he was encountred by Builthda= Guilehdacus cus king of Denmarke, the whiche had layen log: King of Denin awaite for him, bycaufe of y pong Lady whis che Been had married, for whom he had bin a sutog to bir father Elling of long time. Wibe thele two ficetes of y Danes & Porwegias met, there. b.iiii.

M.W.

Ellingius.

A tempest.

Guithdachus

North.

The Historie of Englande.

was a fore battell betwirte them, but finally, the Danes ouercame them of Porway, and toke p Ship wherein the new Brite was conveyed, and there was the brought aborte & Ship of Builth-Dachus. Brenne escaped by flighte as well as hee might. But when Guilthdachus had thus obtai= ned the victory tyray, lodarnly therupon role a fore tepest of winde & weather, which escattered the Danille fleete, and put the King in daunger ter, being veinen by force of winde, he landed in Porthumberland, with a fewe suche Shippes as kept togither with him.

Beline being then in that countrie, providing for pefence againste his brother, byon knowledge had of the King of Denmarkes arrivall, cauled him to be ftaped. Shortly after, Brenne haurng recovered and gote togither the most parte of by s shippes, that were dispersed by the discomsture, and the newly rigged and furnished of althings necessary, sente worde to his brother Beline both to restoze to him his wife wrongfully rauished by Buithdacus, and also his lands incurrously by him feased into his possession. These requestes be= to have bin lost; but finally within five dayes af- 10 ing playnely and Chostly delived, Berine made no long delay, but speedily made towards Albania, and landing with his army in a part thereof, encountred with his brother Beline necre unto a encountred with his voother Deune never onto a Calader wood and named as then Calater, where after cruell is in Scotice. fight, and mortall battell betwirt them, at legth of the Allo the Delphi-

the victory above with the Britons, and the difcomfiture light to on the Porwegians, that the most of them were slapne, and left dead byon the groud. Hereby Brenne being forced to flee, made Mift, and gote ouer into Gallia, where after hee had fued to this Prince and that, at legth he was 40 welreceiued of one Sequinus or Seginus Duke Seginus Duke of the prople called then Allobzoges, as Galfrid broges, nowe of Monmoth laith, og rather Irmozica, why che now is called Britaine, as Policronicon, and Date or Sauoy. the Englisse buffogie printed by Carton, more trucly may feme to affirme. But Belyne hauing got the opper hand of his enimics, affembling hys counsell at Caerbyanke, now called Forke, toke aduice what he should do with the King of Delet at libertic, with condition and under concesse. to acknowledge hunselfe by boing homage, to holde his lande of the King of Britaine, and to pay him a peerely tribute. These conenauntes therefore beeing agreed bisto, and holtages taken for assurance, he was let at libertie, and so retur= ned into his countrey. The tribute that he cours nated to pay, was a thousand pound, as & Eng-list Chronicle saith. When Beline had thus expelled his brother, and was alone possessed of all the land of Brittains, he first confirmed the laves made by by's father: and for so much as the fourt wapes begun The fourt by his father were not brought to perfection, her high wave therefore caused workmen to be called forth and assembled, whom he set in hand to paue the sappe wayes with stone, for the better passage and case of all that should transil through the countrives from place to place, as occasió fluid require. The first of these foure wayes is named Hosse, & stret= the Folic cheth from the South into the Porth, beginning at p comer of Totnelle in Comiwaile, e lo palfing forth by Deuenthire, and Somerfetskire, by marketwhere it was opperated, that he flould bee 50 Tutbery, on Cotteswold, a then forwarde beside Couentrie onto Leiceller, & from thence by wilte playnes toward Pewarks, rendeth at the Citic of Lincoln. The fecond way was named Williag ling freete the which freetests and the Street. ling Arecte. the which Aretcheth overtiwert the Folle, out of the Southeast into the Quetheast, beginning at Douer, and passing by the middle of Kent ouer Thames beside London, by West of Westminster as some have thought, a so forth by 3. Albanes, 4 by & Wielt five of Dunstable, Stratford, Toucester, and Wicdon by south of Lilleborne, by Itherston, Gilberts hill, that nowe is called the Wireken, and to forth by Seuerne, passing beside Wozcester, buto Stratton to the nuddle of Males, and to buto a place called Car= vigan, at the Friff fea.

The Historie of Englande.

The thirde wave was named Ermings Arcete, the which Aretched out of the well north-Menenia, the which is in Saint Danids lande in well Wales, and fo buto Southampton.

The fourth and laft way hight Dikenellfreete, which leadeth by Wlozceffer, Winchcomb, Birmingham, Lichfield, Darby, Chellerfielde, and by Porke, and so forth onto Tinmouth.

And after he had caused these wages to be wel and sufficiently reysed and made, her confirmed unto them all luche privileges as were graunted by his father.

Priviledges graunted to the wayes.

In this meane tyme that Beline was thus occupied about the necessarie affapres of his realm and kingdome, his brother Brenne that was fled into Gallia onely with. rij persons, bycause hee was a goodly Bentleman, and seemed to buder= stande what apperteened to honour, grew Goztly into fauoz with Seginus the Duke afoze menti= oned, and declaring buto him his advertitie, and the whole circumstaunce of his mishap, at length was fo highly cheriffed of the fayde Seginus, De= 3° Come peace to be had. liting in such worthic qualities as he saw in him there mary dayly appearing, that he gave to him his daughthe Alabrages ter in marpage, with condition, that if he dred. without issue Male, then shoulde he inherite his estate and Dukedome: and if it happened him to leave any herze Wale behinde him, then Moulde he pet helpe him to recover his lande and dominion in Baytaine, bereft fro him by his baother.

These conditions well and surely bypon the Dukes part by the affent of the Pobles of his 49 he) there could be no peace graunted. lande concluded; ratified, and affured, the layde Duke within the snace of one yeare after dyed. And then after a certaine time it beeing knowne that the Duches was not with childe, all the Loids of that Countrep did homage unto Bicn, recepuing him as their Lozde and supreme gourmour, byon whome he likewise for his part in recompence of their curtefie, bestowed a great poz= tion of his treasure.

Erenne with an armic returnuth into Bry. red an army, and with the same estsones came oucr into Bartagne, to make new warre byon his brother Belone. Di whole landing when Beline was informed. he affembled his people and made himselse readie to meete him, but as they Francis were at point to have some battell, by the intre es by in- tercessió of their mother that came betwirt them, tici notes, and demeaned hielelfe in all motherly order, and most clouing maner towardes them both, they fell to an agreement, and were made friendes og euer they parted asunder.

After this they repayzed to London, and there taking aduice togyther with their Peeres and Counselloss, for the good order and quieting of the lande, at length they accorded to passe wyth both their armies into Gallia to subdue that whole Countrey, and so following this determiwill, buto the east southeast, and begynneth at 10 nation, they toke hipping and sapled over into Ballia, where beginning the warre with fire and fwozd, they wrought such maysteries, that with- They inuade in a flort time (as fayth Beffrey of Monmouth) Gallia and they conquered a great part of Gallia, Italy, and Germanie, and brought it to their subication. In the ende they toke Rome by this occasion (as wipters report, if these be the same that had the leading of those Galli, which in this season did so much hurt in Italy and other parts of the world.

20 After they had valled the mountagnes, & were entred into Tulkaine, they belieged the Citie of Now Ching. Clusium, the Citizens whereof beeing in greate daunger, sent to Rome for apde agaynst they? enimics. Wherebpon the Romaines confidering with themselves, that although they were not in any league of locietie with the Clulians, pet if they were oucrome, the dauger of the next bount were like to be theirs: with all speed they sent am- Ambasadors balladours to intreate betwirte the parties for feat from Rome.

They that were fent, required the Captaynes of the Baulles in name of the Senate and Citi- Brennusanzens of Rome, not to molest the friendes of the swere. Romaines: Wherebuto answere was made by Brennus, that for his part he could be content to have peace, if it were so that the Clusians would be agreeable that the Baulles might have part of they? Countrey, which they held being moze than they did alreadie well occupie, for otherwise (land

The Romaine Imballadors being offended with these wordes, bemaunded what the Gaules The treatic had to bo in Tuskain. By reason of which and of peace break other the like ouerthwart wardes, the parties be keth off, gan to kindle in displeasure so farre, p their comunication braketof, and to they from treating fell a= gaine to trie the matter by dynt of fworde.

The Romaine Ambassadors also to shewe of what prowes the Romaines were, contrarie to Shortly after also, with their assent be gathes 50 the law of Pations, & forbiodeth such as come in Ambassave about any treatie of veace, to take either one part of other, tok weapon in hand & ioyned themselves with the Clusians, wherewith the Gaulles were so muche displeased, that incontie nently with one boyce, they required to have the siege rayled from Clusium, that they might go to Rome. But Brennus thought goo first to send Mellengers thither, to require the deliverie of fuch as had broken the lawe, that punishment might be done on them accordingly as they had defer= ucd. This was done, and knowledge brought a= gains, that the Imbassadors were not onely not punified, but also chosen to be Tribunes for the nert veare.

The Danes the Britons.

The Gaulles then became in such a rage (by= cause they saw there was nothing to be loked for at the handes of the Romaines, but warre, iniurious wrongs, and deceptfull traynes) that they turned all their force agapulithem, marching The Gaules Areight towards Rome, and by the way deftroy= make toward ing all that stode before ihem.

The Romaines advertifed thereof, affembled themselves togither to the number of .rl. 99. and encountring with Beline and Brenne, neare to The Romaine the river Allia, about.xj. miles on this fide Rome, encountring with the Gall mere flaine and quite discomfited.

are outrthrowne.

The Galles could bucth bekene that they had ourrthzowne, and that the field was clerely rid of them, they got togither the Goode, and made towards Rome it felfe, where fuch feare and terroz was stroken into the heartes of the people, that all The Korpains men were in dispayze to desende the Citie : and withdraw into therefore the Senate with all the warrelike vouth the Capitoll. of the Citizens got them into the Capitoll, which they furnified with vitayles and all things ne= cessarie for the maintenance of the same agapust a long siege. The honourable fathers and all the 40 After this, the Gaulles attempted in the night The Capitoll multitude of other people not apt for warres, re-

got the victoric with so small resistance: but whe mapned fill in the Citie, as it were to periff with their Country, if tappe fo befell.

In the meane time came the Gaulles to the Citie, and entring by the gate Collina, they passe forth the right way buto the Warket place, marueyling to fee the houses of the pozer sozt to bee Out against them, and those of the tycher to remaine wide open, wherefore being doubtfull of fome beceptfull traynes, they were not ouer raffie co renoise Furius Camillus from exile, whome not to enter the fame, but after they bad espied the an a cient fathers lit in they? Chavies apparelled in The reversal there riche Robestas if they had beene in the Sealbest or the nate, they renerenced them as Gods, so honozable was their post, grauenelle in countnaunce, and flicto of apparell.

In the meane time it chaunced, that Barcus Marcus Papy-Pappins Aroke one of the Eaulles on the heade with his staffe, bycause he presumed to stroke his bearde: with whiche iniurie the Gaulle beeing they percepted that the Romaines were wholy zo proposed, flue Papyzius (as he fate) with hys fwords, and there with the flaughter being begun with one, all the residue of those auncient father= ly nien as they fat in they? Chaptes were flaine and cruckly murthered.

After this all the people founde in the Citie Romelackel. without respect of difference at al, were put to the swords, and the houses lacked. And thus was Rome taken by the two brethren, Beline, and Bernne. 265. yeares after the first building therof.

feafon to have entred the Capitoll: and in deede defended. ordered their enterprise to feeretely, that they had atchieved their purpose, if a fort of Ganders had not with their crie and nople viscoled them, in wakening the Romaines that were afterpe: and fo by that meanes were the Gaulles beaten backe and repulled.

The Romaines beeing thus put to their extreeme fift, denied among themselves howe to long before they had brinkly banifled out of the Camillotte-Citie. In the ende they did not onely fembe for woked en of him home, but also created him Diffatoz, com= exile. mitting into his handes (fo long as his office las sted)an absolute power ouer all men, both of life and beath.

Camillus foggaful of the iniurie done to him, and mineful of his dutie towards his Countrey,

The Historie of Englande.

sun lamenting the state thereof, withoute velay gathereth fuche an armie as the present time per-

In the meane time those that kept the Capis toll being almost famished for lacke of bifavles) rompounded with Bzenne and Beline, that for sposition. the fumme of a thouland pounde weight in gold, the Romaines Chould redeeme thep? libertics: and the land Brenne and Beline to depart with their Rome. But at the deliverie of the money, and by a certaine kinde of happe, the Romaines name mas preserved at that time from suche diffionour and ignominie as was likely to have insued. For forme of the courtous fort of the Baulles, not co= tented with the full weight of the golde, did cast their swordes also into the Ballance where the meightes lay, thereby to have over weight: where buon the Romains refused to make payment after that weight.

And thus whilest they were in altercation a= bout this matter, the one importunate to have. the other not willing to graunt, the time passed, till in the meane leason Camillus commeth in amongest them with his power, commaunding Galler of that the gold flould be had away, and affyrming cirpsyment that without concent of the Dictatoz, no compos lition of agreement might bee concluded by the meaner Magistrate. De gineth a signe to the bnto they lightly agreed, and togither they went. The battaile being once begon, the Baulles that loked earlt for golde, and not for battaile, were cally ourrome, such as stode to the brunt were flaine, and the rest by flight constrayned to de= part the Citie.

> Polybius wryteth, that the Gaulles were turs ned from the liege of the Citie, through warres which chaunced amongest their owne people at home, and therefore they concluded a peace with 4 the Romaines, and leaving them in libertie returned home againe.

But how foeuer the matter paffed, thus muche have we stept from our purpose, to shewe some= what of that noble and molt famous Captayne Brennus, the which as not onely our Hyllozics, but also as Giouan Willami the Mozentine both report, was a Baptain, and brother to Beline (as before is mentioned) although I know that many other writers are not of that mind, affryming 50 him to be a Gaul, and likewise that after this prefint time of the taking of Rome by this Brennus 110 . yeares, or there aboutes, there was another Bunnus a Baull also by Pation (say they) bu = der whose conduct an other armie of the Gaulles muaded Grecia, whiche Bzennus had a brother that hight Belgius, althoughe Humfrey Lihnyo, and lir John Price doe flatty denie the lame, by reason of some discordance in writers, and namely in the computation of the yeares let vowne by the that have recorded the doings of those times, whereof the error is growen. Howbert Joubt not but that the truth of this matter fiall be more fully lifter out in time by the learned and Ludis ous of fuch antiquities.

But now to our purpole. This is affo to bee noted, p where our hillories make mention, that armie out of the Citie and all the territogies of 10 Beline was abzode with Brennus in the molle part of his vidozies, both in Gallia, Bermany, Fraly, Titus Linius fpraketh but only of Brens Tit. Lin. nus: wherevon some write, that after the two Polidor. barthaen were by their mothers intreatance made friendes, Bzennus onely wellf over into Gallia. and there through prouse of his worthis promes. atterned to luch ellimation amongelt the people called Galli Senones, that he was chosen to be their general Captaine at they? going over the moun-20 taynes into Italie. But whether Belinewent Marvest over with his brother, and finally returned backe againe leaving Brennus behinde him, as some write, or that he went not at all, but remayned fill at home whilest his brother was abrove, wee carraffpznieno certaintie.

The truth is, that the moste part of all ours writers make report of many worthie beever accomplithed by Beline, in repayzing of Cities Decaped, and ereding of other newe buploings, to Gaulles to prepare themselues to battaile, where= 30 the adorning and beautifying of his Krauite and kingbonir.

And amongest other workes which were by Poliche. him erected, he buploed a Citie mithe fouth parte Gal. M. of Wiske buyls falleth into Sruerne, fall by Glaumozgan, which by Belin. citie big bi Cairlleon, of Cairllegioti Tr duiffte.

This Cairlingion was the principall Citie in tyme pall of all Demetia, nowe called Southwales. Many notable monumentes are remays o ning there till this vay, tellifying the great mag's nificence and royall buyldings of that Citie in

There were in the lame Citik allo lithe the time of Chaill three Churches, one of Saint Jus lius the Martyz, an other of Saint Aron, and the third was the mother Church of all Demetia, and the chiefe Sea: but after the fame lea was franclated onto Meneuia, (that is to tay) Saint Dauidin Westwales.

In this Cairlicon was Imphibalus borne that taught and instructed Saint Abon.

Also this Beline buyloed an bauen , with a Fabian. gate ouer the fame, within the Citie of Cropilo uant, or Louvon, in the funimet whetrof afferwards was fet a vellett of Bralle, in the whiche were put the albes of his bodie, which bodie after his decrasse was burnt, as the maner of burpang in those vapes viv require.

The Gaules

enter into Senators.

lehn Ley Lord.

The tower of by Boline.

This gate was long after called Bellinus gate, and at length by corruption of language Bellings gate.

De burlord alle a Callell Caliwarde from this gate (as some haue written) whiche was long frine after likewyle called Bellyns Ca-London built ffell, and is the same whiche nowe wee call the Cowcrof London.

Thus Beline fludying dayly to beautifie this at length departed this lofe, after he had raig= neo with his brother and alone, the space of xxbj. pearc...

MAPPER

to pay their fiipmi:

Gal.M.

Granding Granding Beline, began to raigne outt the Biptayns, in the peare of 20 the Worlde, 1596. aftit the building of Bonie. 380. af= Lter v delinerace of the Afraclites oute of captinitie. 164. com= plete, which was aboute the. rrriif. peare of Ir= taxerres Minenon, surnamed Magnus, the. bij. king of the Berlians.

This Gurguint, in the English Ctaonicleis 30 nimed Cozinbiatus, and by Wath. Idelimon. he is furnamed, Barbiruc, the which bycause the trobute graunted by Suylthdag King of Den= marke in perpetuitie bnto the Kings of Baptain; was denved, hee lapled with a mightie na= me and armie of men into Denmarke, where hee made suche warre with free and sworde, that Gurguint co. the King of Denmarke with the assent of his Barons was confirmence to graunt et sones to continue the payment of the aforefayde try= 40

> After her had thus atchieued hys delyze in Denmarke, as he returned back toward Byptain agame, he encountred with a Paule of xxx. thips bely de the Iles of Dikener.

Thele Shippes were fraught with men and momen, and had to they? Captarne one called Bartholoin og Partholin. The which beeping bought to the presence of King Gurguint, deoute of Spayne, and were named Balences or Balcienles, and had fayled long on the Sca, to the ende to spince some Prince that woulde als figne to them a place of habitation, buto whom ther would become subjects, and hold of him as of they? soueraigne gouernour.

Therefore her belought the King to consis ber they effate, and of his greate benignitie, to appoints some boyde quarter where they might inhabitc.

The King with the aduice of his Barons. craunted to them the Tle of Irelande, whiche as then (by report of some Authours) lay wall and without habitation.

But it Shoulde appeare by other wyters: Polichien that it was inhabyted long before those dayes, by the people called Hibernenles, of lande with goody buyloings and famous works, 10 Hiberus they? Captayne that brought them also out of Spaine.

> After that Gurquintus was returned into has Countrey, hee orderned that the lawes made by his auncestours, shoulde be ducly kept and observed.

Ind thus admynistring inflice to hys subicites for the tearine of rir. peares, he finally departed this lyfe, and was buried at London, or as fome haue, at Cairleon.

In his dayes was the Towne of Cami- Caimi bridge with the Universitie fielt founded by Cantaber , brother to the afezelayde Barthp= loin (according to some wryters) as after hall appeare.

Guintolinus.

Guyntoli- Guin-Buintellius & tolinu. forme of Burs. guintus, was admitted king of Bzytayne, in the yeare of the world.3614 after the buplding of the ci-rie of Kome. 399. and seconde years of the. 106. Dlympiade.

0001.00...

This Guintoline was a prudent Prince, graue in counfell, and lober in behaulour. De had also a wife named Martia, a woman of palling beautic, and wisedome incomparable, as by hit prudent government and equall administration of juffice after bir bulbandes deceale, buring bit formes minozitic, it most manifestly appeared.

It is thought that in an happy time this Euin. toline came to the governance of this kingdome, being flaken and brought out of order with civill clared that hee with his people were banished so discentions, to the ende he might reduce it to the former effate, which he earnellly accomplished: for having once got the place, hee fludred with areat viligence to refourme of newe, and to abe orne with justice, lawes, and and orders, the Bzvtill common wealth, brother Kings not fo framed as stode with the quietnesse thereof. But afoze all things her otterly remoned and appealed suche civell discorde, as sermed yet to remaine after the maner of a remnant of those fictious factions and partakings, which had fo long time raigned in this lande. But as he was busic in hande herewith, death twke him out of this life, after he had raigned. rrbij. yeares, and then was he buried at London.

The Historie of Englande.

Sicilius.

ilius.

Sof Buintoline, be= ing not past seven years to of age when his father dyed, was admitted king, in the peare. 3650. after the buyloing of Rome. 430. and after the deliverance of the Itaelites out of captiuitie. 218. and in the firt after the death of Alexander.

ficient of himselfe to guide the kingdome of the Biptapines, his mother that worthie Ladie called Martia, had the governance both of his realm and person committed to hir charge.

She was a woman expert and fkilful in diverte ferences, but chiefely beeing admitted to the go= urmance of the realme, the studied to preserve the common wealth in god quiet and whollome oz= der, and therefore deniled & eliablifhed profitable & conveniente lawes the which after were called 30 Martian laws, of hir name that foelt made them.

These lawes, as those that were thought god and necessarie for the prescruation of the common wealth, Alfred, or Alured, that was long after king of England, translated also out of the Beptiffic tongue, into the English Saron Speeche, erves, and then were they called after that translation Marchenelaghe, that is to meane, the lawes of > the lande during the minoritie of hir sonne right politiquely, and highly to hir perpetuall renowme and commendation. And when hir sonne came to lawfull age, the deliucted by the governaunce into his haudes.

how long he raigned weyters varie, some a= nouche but feuen yeares, though other afframe rv. whiche agreeth not so well with the accorde of other layllogies and tymes. He was burted at London.

Kimarus.

K Imarus the sonne of Sicilius, began to raign ouer the Beytaynes, in the yeare of the world and after the buylding of Rome. 442. and in the first peare of the. 117. Dlympiade.

This Kimarus being a wild yong man, and ginen to follow his luftes and pleature, was flain by some that were his enimics, as he was abrove in hunting, when her had raighed fearcely types yeares.

Elanius.

Elanius & fon Elanius or as other haue, his brother, began Math. Preft. to rule the Bzy= taines in the yere after the creation of vworld. 3661. after the building of Rome. 445. after the deliverance of the Afractites.229. and in the fourth pere of the Seleuciens, after which account the bokes of Machabers doe recken, which beganne in the ritii . after the death of Alexander.

This Clanius in the Englishe Chronicle is By reason that Sicilius was not of age infe 20 named also Haran , by Mat. VVefm. Danius, and by an olde Chronicle which fabian muche followed, Clanius : and Kimarus Coulde ferme to be one person: but other holde the contrarie, and fay that he raigned fully. viij. yearcs.

Morinde.

Maintous the Bai Molanius, was admitted king of Beptayne, in rind. the years of the worlds 3667. After the buylding of Rome. 451. after the deliveraunce of the IC= Tracutes. 236, and in the tenth peare of Cassan-_der K. of Macedonia.

which having diwacthed Diymplas the mother of Alexander the great, and gotten Roranes with Alexanders sonne into his handes, burped the To conclude, this worthie woman guided 40 kingdome of the Maccoonians, and helde it. xv. peares.

This Mozindus in the Englishe Chronicle is called Morwith, and was a man of worthing fame in chivalric and Martial doings, but so cru= ell withall, that his bumercifull nature could bus eth be latisated with the tormets of them that had offended him, although oftentymes with his own handes he cruelly put them to forture and execution. He was also beautifull and contely of persoso nage, liberall and bountcous, and of a meruel= lous Arenath.

In his dayes, a certaine king of the people called Mortani, with a great army landed in 1202= G. Mon. thumberlande, and beganne to make cruell warre bpon the inhabitantes. But Mozind aduertisco hereof, affembled his Beptaines, came against the enimics, and in battaile put them to flight and chaling them to they? Wippes, toke a great number of them pilloners, whom to the latillying of his cruell nature he caused to be flaine euen in his prefence. Some of thein were headed, some ilran= gled, fome panched, and fome he caufed to be flain

Balquer.

Gal. MON.

MAS. PTOR.

The like may be thought of or Moraui ins of whom. H.B. speaketh. Łubian.

Chefe people who Bal. Mon. nanieth Moriani. I take to bee cyther those that inhabited a= those Marrey: bout Terrouane and Calice called Mozini, oz fome other people of the Baulles of Germaines, Merhenners, whiche were not knowne to the world (as Humfrey Libuid hath beric well noted) toll about the dapes of the Emperour Mauritius, which miscollrudio of names hath brought the Beptille Hyltogi: further out of credite than reason requeseth, if the execumitaunces be duely considered.

But now to ende with Mozindus. It length this bloudie Prince heard of a Monster that was come a lande out of the Irily lea, with the which 20 he placed them there, and lo cuen then was that when he woulde needes fight, he was of the fame denoured, after he had raigned the terme of. bilj. peares, leauing behinde him fine sonnes, Bozbomannus, Archigallo, Elidurus, Ligenius, oz Pigenius, and Peredurus.

Gorbomen,or Gorboulan.

Gnus \hat{y} first fonne of 990ded hys father in the King= dome of Bip= tapne, in the peare of the world. 2676. after the buyls ding of Rome, 46 . and fourth years of the . 121. Dlympiade.

A rightcour and religious Prince.

This Borbenianus in the Englifte Thronis 40 cle is named Granbodian, and was a righteous Prince in his government, and bery devout (ac= coloing to fuch ocuotion as he had) towardes the admauncing of the religion of his Bods: and thera byon he repayzed all the olde Temples through his kingdome, and creded some of newe.

The burloed also the townes of Cambridge, and Frantham (as Carton wypteth) and was beloned both of the rich and poze, for he honored the rich, and relieved the pope in time of their ne= 50 after the beliverance of the Flraclites out of captis cellitus.

In his time also was more plentie of al things necessarie for the wealthfull state of man, than had beene before in any of his predecessors dapes.

Denved without illue, after her habraicmed (by the accorde of mold wypters, about the termie often reares.

There be that write, that this Borbonian built the townes of Cangrant, now called Cabrioge, Cambrid and also Grantham, but some thinks that those by washing which have so written are decequed, in millaking the name, for that Cabridge was at the first called Granta: and by that meanes it might bee that Gozbonian built oncly Erantham, and not Cabrige, namely, bicaufe other mrite how that Cabridge (as before is faid) was built in the dayes of Burgutius the sonne of Beline, by one Cantaber and not as some estreme them, Mozanians, or 10 a Spaniard, brother to Partholoin, which Pare tholoin by the advice of the lame Burgutius, got feates for himfelfe and his companie in Ireland. (as before pe haue heard.)

The land Cantaber also obterning licence of Gurgunting, buploed a toton byon the lide of the rpuer called Canta, which he closed with walles. and fortified with a firong tower or Caffell, and after procuring Philosophers to come hither from Athens where in his youth he had bene a Audent) place furnished as they say with lerned men, and fuch as were redic to instruct others in knowledge of letters & Philosophicall doctrine. But by who or in what time focuer it was built, certaine it is that there was a Citie or towne walled in that place before the coming of the Sarons, called by the Beptaynes Cairgraunt, and by the Sarons Brantcheller.

This towne fell lo in rupne by the invalion of rindus, succee= 30 the Sarons, that at length it was in maner left desolate, and at this day remarneth as a village. But neare therbuto buder the Saron kings, an other towne was burlt, now called Cambridge, where by the fauor of R. Sigebert & Felix & Burgunian, that was Biffion of Dunwich, a schole was erected, as in place couenient it Chal appeare. Archigalls.

Akchigallo, Arch fonne of 900 gallo. rindus, & bio-8 ther buto Bole bonianus, was admitted King of Bzytayn, in the yeare.3686. after the buyls ding of the citie of Rome. 470.

nitie.255. and in the first years of Solthenes king of Maccoonia.

This Archigallo (in the English Chronicle Heigh called Artogaill.) followed not the steppes of bys neurific brother, but giving himfelfe to villention & firffe, pmagined caules agapult his Pobles, that hee neight displace them, & let luch in their rownithes as were min of bale byth and of evill coditions.

The Historie of Englande.

Also he sought by bulawfull meanes to bereaue his wealthic subieds of their gods and riches, to to enrich himselfe and imponerill his people. For the which his inordinate doings, his Pobles cowired against him, and finally deprived him of all his bonoz & kingly dignitie, after be had raigned about the space of one yeare.

Elidure.

Elidure

of Morindus, ebzother to Ar chigallo, was by one assente of the Bzp= taynes chosen to raione oner them in hys bzothers stead.

after the creation of the worlde. 3687. and after 20 at Porke. the buyloing of the Citic of Rome. 471, after the deliverance of the Ifraclites, and in the first yeare of Softhenes king of Maccdonia.

This Elidurus in the English Chacraicle named hilider, og Eloder, proued a most righteous Prince, and doubting leaft he thould do otherwise than became him, if hee did not take care for his brother Archigallog estate, a man might wonder red to the Crowne againe.

And as it chaunced one day (being abrode on hunting in the ddiwd called Calater, neare buto Pothe, he found his brother Archigallo wandzing there in the thickell of that wildernelle, whom in most louing maner he secretly conveyed home to estanthe his house, being as then in the Citicol Aloud, o-Scotland, therwise called Actiud.

Shortly after he feyned himselse sicke, and in al half fent Meffengers about to affemble his ba- 40 rons, who bring come at the day appointed, heecalled them one after another into bis prime chaber, t there hadled the in fuch effectuous fort with ivile and discrete wordes, that hee got their god willes to further him to their powers for the reduting of the kingdome eftlones into the handes of his biother Archigallo.

Ind after this he affembled a counfel at Pork, where he so view the matter with the commons, that in conclusion, when the fayd Eliourus had 50 gou med the land well and honourably the space of thice peres, he religned wholy his Crowne and kingly title buto his said brother Archigallo, who was recepued of the Bertaynes againe as King, by mediation of his brother in maner as afore is fapte. A rare example of brotherly lone, if a man Mall revolue in his mind what an inordinate de-

list remayneth amongell moztall men to atterne to the supperme sourraintle of ruling, and to keepe the fame when they once have it in possession. For this greate god will and brotherly love by hym thewed thus towards his brother, he was furnamed the godly or bertuous.

Archigallo againe.

frem Archigallo was thus reflozed to the core Lidurus & rection that he must turne the leafe, and take out a new lesson, by chaging his former trade of living into, better, if he would raigne in furtie: be became a new man, bling himfelse optightly in the aomis militation of jultice, & behaving himselfe so wozthily in all his doings, both towards the Pobles and commons of his realine, that he was both beloued and decad of all his subicits. And so contis nuing the whole terms of his life, finally departed this worker now after he had raigned this fecond time the space of tenne yeares, and was burged

Elidure againe.

E Liburus brother to this Erchigallo, was then Mat. Preft. -again admitted king by confent of al the Britaynes.3700. of the woilde. But his two yonger bzethzen, Migenius and Peredurus, enwying the Brother ahappie state of this worthie Prince, so highly for gaynst brohis bertue and god governaunce ellerned of the iber. Biptapucs, of a grounded malice confpired go what diligence he thewed in transpling with the gaynst him, and assembling an armie, legip to pobles of the Realme to have his brother restor 30 agaynst him, and in a pight sield toke him pile. ner, and put him in the Erwer of London, there Elidure comto be kept fafely as a prisoner, after he had raigned mitted to pris now this last time the space of one yeare. Vigenius and Peredurus, design

Vagenias & Vigeniprogett tonns us and of Morindus, and brettern to Pere-Clidurns, beganne to raign durus. tiointly as kings of Byptapne, in the grare of the worlde. 3701. after the buploing of Rome 1485: after the delimerance of the Alrachites. 200. complete, and in the rij. pere of Antigonus Gonatas, the fonne of Demetrius king of the Maccoonians. Mingrice

Theferwo beetheen in the Englift Chenicle are named Higanius, and Petitur, the which (as tellificth, Bal. Mon.) acuiped the crolme befwirt them, fo that all the lande from Dunther Brytayne dewellward, fel to Eligenius, or Higanius, the other realmes. part beyod haber nogthward Peridage belo Sint other affirm, p Percourus only raigned thelo his brother Elidurus in prison by his owne confint, for somuch as he was not willing to gougens.

But

Varietie in

He is buried

of wryters in the account of yeares.

Polider.

But Gal. Mon. fapth, that Wigenius dyed after he had raigned. bij. peares, and then Percourus fealed all the land into his owne rule, and go= uerned it with such sobzietie and wiscoome, that he was prayled aboue all his brethren, to that Elidurus was quite fozgotten of the Bzytaynes. But other weite, that he was a veric tytant, and bled himselfe right cruelly towardes the Lordes of his lande, wherebpon they rebelled and flue rali sicknesse, he finally departed this life, after the confent of most weyters, when hee had raigned viii peares, leaving no issue behinde him to succeede in the governaunce of the kingdome. Hee buyloed the towne of Pykering, where his bodie was butico.

Elidurus the thirde time.

Tidurus then as fonc as his brother Perious Lrug was dead, for as muche as her was nexte herze to the crowne, was deliucred out of parlon, 20 Dunuallo Molmutius, and brother to Beline. and now the thirde tyme admitted king of Bips tayne, who vied himfelfe (as befoze) very ozoerly in ministring to all persons right and inflice all the bapes of his life, and laftly beeing growne to great age dyed, when he had raigned nowe thys thirde tyme, (after most concordance of writers) the tearme offoure yeares: and was buryed at

Tre is to be noted, that even from the begins The divertie ming of the Beptill kings, whiche raigned 30 in a thing to doubtfull and bneertaine, by reason bere in this lande, there is great diverlitie amogit wapters, both touching the names, and also the tymes of they raignes, specially till they come to the death of the last mentioned king Elidurus. Insomuch that Polydoz Acroste in his Hystorie of Englande, finding a manifest erroz (as he ta= keth it) in those wepters whom he followeth tous ching the account, from the comming of Bzufe, buto the lacking of Rome by Brennus, whome our hyllozics affyzine to be the brother of Beline, that to fill by the mimber whiche is wanting in 40 his raigne, in the which time there raigned exti. the reckening of the yeares of those Kings which taigned after Brute, toil the dayes of the same Bienne and Beline, he thought goo to chaunge the order least one error sould follow an other, and to of one error making many, he hath placed those kings whiche after other wavters shoulde freme to followe Brenne and Beline, betwirte Dunuallo and Dulmutius, father to the layde Betine and Brenne, and those five kings whiche so in maners, so that he was deposed in the firt pete Arone for the government after the decease of the emobiethem, Ferrer, and Poprer, putting Guintoine to succeede after the fine kings of rulers, and after Guintoline his wife Martia during the minoritic of hir sonne, then hir sappe sonne na= med Sicilius. After him thele whose names follow in order. Chimarius, Danius, Mozuidius, Corbonianus, Archigallo, who becing depoko,

Eliourus was madeking, and fo continutd fill he restored the government (as ye have heard) to Archigallo againe, and after his death Elidurus was eftiones admitted, and within a while a= gaine depoled by Wigmins & Peridurus, & after they deceases, the thirde time restated. Then ale ter his veceale, followed successively Reginus, Morganus, Emianus, Jourallo, Rimo, Eeruntius, Catellus, Coillus, Porrex the fecond ofthat him. But whether by violent hand, or by natu= 10 name, Cherinus, fulgetius, Elvalus, Androgeus. Erianus, and Eliud, after whom Mondo follow Duuallo Molmutius, as in his proper place, if the order of things done, and the course of tyme Could be observed, as Polidoze gathereth be, the account of yeares attributed to those kings that raigned befoze and after Dunuallo, accozding to those Authours whom (as I sapoe) he followeth, if they will that Bernnus which led the Gaulles to Rome, be the same that was sonne to the lapo

> But lithe other haue in better ogder bzought out a perfite agreement in the account of yeares and fuccession of those kings, which raigned and gonerma here in this lance before the facking of Rome, and also another suche as it is after the fame, and before the Romaines had anye perfite knowledge thereof, we have thought god to fallow them therein. Icaning to enery man his lie bertie to tudge as his knowledge Chall ferne him of variaunce amongest the auncient weyters in that behalfe.

Indeuen as there is great difference in ways ters fince Gurguntius; till the death of Elidurus, lo is there as great or rather greater after his decraffe, fpecially till king Lub atterned the King-Dome. But as may be gathered by that whiche Fabiani fabian and other whom he followeth doe wapte, there valled aboue. 185. yeares, betwirt the latte yere of Elidurus, and the beginning of king Tud oz rriit kings, as some writers have metioned, whole names (as Bal, Mon. hath recorded) att these: Regny the sonne of Gozbolyan oz Gozbo nian, a worthie Prince, both iuftly and mercie fully governed his result. Then Marganthe fonne of Archigallo a noble Prince likewite, and guiding his lubicits in god quiet. Emerian bie ther to the same Margan, but farre bnlike to him of his raigne. Powallo sonne to Eligenius. Bis mo the sonne of Peridurus. Geruntius the sonne of Elidurus. Then Eatell that was buried at Winchester. Coull that was buried at Poting ham. Porter a vertuous aud molt gentle prince. Cherimis a Drunkero. Then fulginius, Chan, and Indioquius: thele three were lonnes to There cinus, and raigned successively one after another.

The Hiftorie of Englande.

Afrer them a fonne of Andzogeus. Then Eliud, Dedaicus, Clotinius, Burguntius, Mertanus, Bleabzedus an ercellet Mulitia. After him his beother Archemail. Then Elool, Red, Rodieck, Samuit, Penilel, Dir, Capoir. And after him his ton Glieweill an huzight dealing prince, & a good infliciarie. After mho fucceeded his fonne hely, which raigned. Ir. peres, as the forelaid Bal. Mon. writeth, where ogaine fay that he raigned but. vij .moneths.

such dinerlitie is there in writers touching the raignes of these kings, and not only for the nuber of veres which they Hulo cotinue in their raignes but also in their names: so that to thew the binerfitie of all the writers, were but to fmall purpofe. fith the boings of the same kings were not great by report made thereof by any approued author. But this maye suffice to advertise you, that by conferring the yeres attributed to the other kings 20 which raigned before them fith the comming of Brute, who floulde enter this lande cas by the bell writers it is gathered) about the peare before the building of Rome, 367. which was in the perc after the creation of the world. 2850. (as is fayor) with their time there remaineth. 182. peares to bee dealt amongst these exxist, kings, which ratened betwirt the faid Elidure and Lud, which Lud alto began his raigne after the building of the citie of p yere of the world 1895. as William Parilo hath fet it downe in the exquisite Chronologie whiche he hath gathered fro the creation of Adam, where in he theweth a large discourse of moste things worthy remembrance, bon fince the world began, as may appeare hereafter, if ener it come to light. and the hugenes therof & roll to be bestowed there upon, do not hinder the printing of the fartie."

Polidoze Mergil changing (as Fhaue Geweb) bringing vinerle of those kings which after other writers followed Beline and Brenne, to preceed them fo lucceffinely after Beline & Bernne, berte herfeth those that by his colecture die by likelihoo fuccerd, as thus. After the Deceaste of Befine, bis, fon Surguntius, being the fecond of that name fucceeded in gouernment of the land, & then thele in ogder as they followe: Merianus, Bladanus, Capeus, Duinus, Silius, Bleogabrenus, Arthelius, Peniscilus, Pyrchus, Capozus, Dinellus, Dely, who had iffue, Lud, Caffibellane, & Penris us. But to leave the divertitie of writers to the indogement of the readers in such uncertagnities where an undoubted truth may haroly be auouthed, 4 more hardly approned, we wil not further, fland byon these boubts, but proceed with the hy-Morie. 99 ary this is not to be forgotte, p of p fore-said help y last of the last extig kings, the Aleot Cly toke the name, bicaule that be molt comon ly dio there inhabite, building in the fame a goodly palace, e making great reparations of the Upples, Ditches & camples about that Tle, for couriance a. way of the water, pels would fore have endomas ged the comittee. Chere be that haue mainteined that this Ile Mould rather take name of the great abundance of Erics that are found in those wather afframe that he raigned.rl. yeares, & tome as 10 ters and kennes wher with this Ale is environed. But humfrey Thuid holdeth, that it toke name of this Beytill worde Helig, whiche lignificth Willowes, where with those fennes abound.

After & ve- Lud. fame Helie, bis tivell son Luv bega bis raidn, in the yeare atter the creation of the woodlive 3895. After the buploing of the Litte of Rome.

679 befoze the comming of Christ, 72. and befoze the Romaines entred Bzytaine zir yeares

This Lud proued a right morthie prince, ga A worthie mending the lames of the realine that mere defect prince. Rome (as weiters affyente)about. 679. petes, e in 3° tiue, abolithing euill enflower and maners pled amongst his people, and repairing old Cities and fownes which were verayed but specially he delyted molt to beautifie a enlarge with buildings the Citie of Croynouant, which he coualled with a strong wall made of lime and stone, in the best closed with a maner fortified with Diverte fayre towers; and in wall. the well part of the lame wall be erefted a ffrong tohn.Hard. gate, which he commaunded to be cleved after his name, Luns gate, and to buto this day it is called the order of fuccellion in the Brytiste Kings, in 40-Lubgate, the, s, only drowned in p promunciano of the moto. In the fame citie alle be foiograph for the more part, by region sobereof the inhabitants Fabian. encrealed and many pabitations mere bupines to Gal. Mon. treepue them, e be himfelfe caufen builbinge to be Mas. Profe. made between London flone, Ludgate, s, bupl-ded for himself not farre from the layd gate a faire palace, which is the Bill, of Londons palace, be. The Bill lide Paules at this day (as some think yet apart. Capeus, Dninus, Silius, Bledgabredus, Arthe- fuppoleth it to haue bin Bainards callel wherethe malus, Elvolus, Rodianus, Revargius, Santu- 50 black friers now frandeth. Peallo builden afairs Temple nere to his laid palace, muich temple cas lome take it mas after turned to a church, and at this day cleped Paules. By reacon that at Aob is much ellemed p citie before al other of his resime enlarging it so greatly as he deb, and cheinnain in maner remained there, the name was chinged, so be the name of it was called Cairling, b is to say Links towns: a Champed and after by corrupted of speech it was named Lubon. salled London.

Belle

Belide the princely doings of this Lud touching the advancement of the comon wealth by fludies aperteyning to the time of peace, bet was allo frong and valiant in armies, in subduing his eni= mies. He was also bountrous and liberall both in giftes and in kerping a plentifull house, so that he was greatly beloued of all the Biptaynes. finally, when he had thus raigned with great hos not for the space of.x1. peres, he died, and was bu-Indrogeus and Theomancius of Tenancius.

Cassibellane the brother of Lud was admitted king of Bivtaine, in the peare of the morloe.1908. ding of Rome, 692.4 before the comming of

Gal. Mon. Mat. VVeft. Eabian.

Christ. 58. compiete. For sith the two sonnes of Lug were not of age able to gouerne, the rule of the land was comitted to Callibellane: but yet (as fome have written) he was not created king, but rather appointed ruler and protector of the land, during the nonage of his nephewes.

Polider.

per) to the administration of the comon welth, he became so noble a prince and so bountcous, that his name fored far a nere, and by his buright dealing in seeing inflice executed he grew in such esti= matton, that the Bertarns made small accourt of his nephews, in comparison of the favour whiche ther bare towards him. But Callibellane having respect to his honoz, least it might be thought that his nephetics were expulled by him out of they? rightful pollestions, brought them by very hono= 40 quer Gallia, was for p purpote created Contill, rably, affigning to Indzogens, London & Bent, Mest. Pref. and to Theomantius the country of Cornewale.

And thus farre out of the Bartill hyltogies, by the which it may be gathered, that the yeares alflaned to these kings that raigned before Callibes lane, amount to the summe of 105%. But whether these gonernozs (whose names we have recited) were kings, of rather rulers of the comion wealth, either elle treauts & vlurpers of the government by force, it is uncertain: for not one ancient wips so pere to make war was far spentifor sommer was ter of any approued authoritic maketh any remebrance of the. t by that which Tulius Celar wive teth, it may 4 both appere, that dinerle cities in his paves were gouerned of the leducs, as hereafter it Mall more plainly appeare. Deither doth he make metion of those townes which the British hystorie affremeth to be built by the fame kings.

In deede bord bee and other latine warters

fuenke of diverse people that inhabited divers poz= tions of this land, as of the Brigantes, Ermobantes, Iceni, Silures, and fuch other like, but in what felfe partes most of the layor prople Did certenly inhabit, it is hard to anough a certain truth.

But what John Lerland thinketh hereof, being one in our time that curiously ferched out old antiquities, you figall after heare as occasion ferueth: and likewise the opinions of other, as of hedor Hector Bo, ried nere Ludgate, leaning after him two sonnes, 10 Boetius, who coucting to have all such valiaunt after as were atchieuco by the Brytains to be affcribed to his cuntryme the Scots, draweth both the Silures, & Brigantes with other of the Bris tains fo farre northward, that he maketh them inhabitats of the Scottish cuntries. And what verticular names foeuer they had , yet were they all Scots with him. t knowne by that general name (as he would personate be to believe,) saying that they entred into Britain out of Ireland. 120. peres after the buyl= 20 befoze the incarnation of our fautour. But how generall focuer the name of Scots then was, fure it is, that no speciall mention of the is made by a= np wziter, till about.300. peares after the birth of our faujour. And pet the Romains which ruled this land, thad so much ado with the people therof, make mention of divers other people, nothing fo famous as Boctius would make his Scottilly men cue then to be. But to leaue to the Scots the antiquitic of their original beginning, as they and Dow after he was admifted (by whatfoeuer oz 20 other must doe unto be our difcent from Brute & the other Troians, fith & contrary doth not plainly appeare, buleffe we fhal lean unto prefuptions: now are we come to the time in the which what More centent actes were atchieued, there remayneth more cer- forth appear taine record, and therefore may we the more bold- rech in the ly proceede in this our hystorie.

In this feason & Cassibellane had the supreme Talius Cola gouernmet bere in Bzitain. Calus Julius Celar being appointed by the Senate of Rome to conf fent with a mightle army into g cuntry, where Cafer de bil after he had brought the Galles buto fome frames le Galli.4 he determined to affay & winning of Britain, the Buttyners which as yet the Romains knein not otherwyle knownerous that by report. The chiefest cause that moued him Romains to take in hand that enterpile was for that he dib Cafar de bell binderstande, that there dayly came great succoss Gallib 4. out of that The to those Gauls that were enimics, ware. buto the Romains. And although the scalon of p. almost at an end) pet he thought it wold be to god purpole, if be might but palle ouer thitfier, & learne Cafars pur what maner of people did inhabite there, and dile pole. court the places havens, a entries apperterning to that Fie. Herebyon calling togither fuch Mars channers as he knowe to have had traffique thpther with some trade of idlares, hee diligents tre engurated of them the flate of the Mick but he could not be throughly latiffied in anye of these things that he courted to know. Therefore thinking it good to understand all things by bit'm that might appertaine to the vice of that warre which he purpoled to follow: befoze he attempted the same, he sent one Caius Closusenus wyth a galley of light Pinelle to luruey the coastes of the Ale, commanding him after diligent search made to returne with speede to him againe. He himself from wiece the Mottelt cut lieth to palle ouer inro Biptaine,

In which part of Gallia there was in those days an hauen called Itim Portus, (which some take to be Calice) to the word importeth, an harbourgh as then able to receive a great nuber of thips. Un= to this hauen therefore Erlar cauled all the thips he coulde act out of the next bozders and parties, and those specially whiche hee had provided and navnit them of Clannes in Irmozica, now called Biptayne in Fraunce) to be brought thither, there to lie till they fould beare further. In the meane time (his indeuoz being knowne, and by Merchants reported in Baptain) all those that were able to beare armoz were commaun= ded and appointed to reparze to the fea floe, that they might be readie to defend their countrey in time of so great daunger of inualion. Telar in his graphers: for he writeth that immediatly byon knowledge had that he woulde inuade Beptaine. there came to him Amballadors fro diverle cities of the Ile to offer themselves to be subled's to the Romains, and to deliver holtages. Who after be had exhalted to continue in their god minde; he sent the home again, t with the one Comius, goutinoz of Artois, comaunding him to repair buto as many cities in Baptapnas, he mightie to cismaketh no mention of Calibellane till the feromo tourney phemade into the Ite, at what time the faid Callibelan was chofen (as je thal heare) to be the general captain of the Bittapus, e to haue the miole administratio of the war for Defence of the coutry. But he nameth him not to be a king, how be it in the Beytish bystorie it is conteyned, that Crear required tribute of Callibelan, that he ans fwered howe he had not leadned as yet to live in firmage, but to defend the libittie of his country, $ 50 of wagons which Cefar calleth Effede, (out of the that with wear o in hand (if need were) as he fluid wel perceive, if blinded through conétoulnelle be Dould aduenture to feke to disquier the Britains. Thus here aswel as in other places, there is dia urifitie in authors: to the end you thould not be ignorant therof, we have thought gwo now and then to touch the fame . that you may in realting things worthis of credite, and somethings again fo vulikely as may rather feme to move laughter, than to passe for matter worthie of credite.

But to the purpose. Caius Bolusenus within Volusenus fine days after his departure from Celar, returned again buto him with his galler. & declared what he had seene touching the view which he had taken of the coastes of Biptaine.

Telar then hauing got togither fo many fayle Cafar with also diameth downwardes towards Bullenoys, 10 as her thought sufficient for the transporting of two legions two legions of fouldiers, after he had ordred his of fouldiers bulinelle as he thought expedient, and gotten a into Brytayne. convenient winde for his purpose, he embarqued himselfe and his people, and departed from Calice in the night about the thirde watch (which is a= bout three or foure of the clocke after midnight) giving order that the horsemen flould take ship at an other place. biij. mples aboue Calis, and follow him. But when they somewhat slacked the The Brytaines out in a readinesse the lass peare, for the warres (8= 20 time, about tenne of the clocke the next day, has fend their uing the winde at will, he touched on the coast of countrey. Bertayne, where he might beholde all the Moze fet and coucred with men of warre. For the Bap= taynes hearing that Cefar ment berge floatly to come agaynst them, were affembled in armour to relist him: and now being advertised of his ang proche to the lande, they prepared themselves to withstande him. Celar percepuing this; Determined to flay till the other flins were come, and Commentaries agreeth not with our hyllogio 20 lo he'lap at ancretill about. xi. of the clocke; and then calleth a counfill of the Margials and chiefe captaines, buto whome he declared both what he Cafarvalleth bad learned of Cloluscrus, and also further what a counsell. he would have done, willing them that all titings might be ordred as the reason of wave required. And bycause he percepued that this place where he first eaft ancre, was not meete for the landing of his people, fith (from the height of the cliffes that closed on eth side the narrow creek into the which bost the to submit the sclues to the Romains be 40 he had theuse the Brytaynes might atmos has people with their bowns and partes, before then could fet fote on land, having now the wind and ty de with him, he vilankred from thence, a protine alongest the coast bater the sownes, the fineral This was abij. oz. bij. myles: and thereafinding the flipze bout Dale. more flatiand plaine, he approched nearestorthe landidetermining to contert the those in 1983 E . The Byptapucs percepuing Celars intent.

with all weeve caused their horiment and charefy which in those dayes they bled to fight to marche fourth toward the place whither they favo & Trige drew, and after followed with their maingarmy? Wherefore Celar bring thus preumted, apply= ced pet to lande touth hys propile, although her fame that hee floulde have ninche! A don a for as the Byrtaynes were in readynesse to refulle hym: lo hys greate and ingo Shymus coulde c.tj.

take the moze pleasure, when pe that marke wine thatics.

not come neare the those, but were forced to keepe the verpe, so that the Romaine Bouldiers were The Romains put to a verie hard flift, for they must both leape forth of their flippes, and peffred with their heaup armour and weapons fight in the water with their enimies, who knowing the flats and thelues stod either bud the drie ground, or else but a little way in the Hallow places of the water, and being not otherwise encombred either with armour or weapon, but so as they might bestir theselues at mil, they land load byon the Romains with their arrowes and partes, and forced their horfes (being thereto envied, to enter the water the moze easily, so to annoy and distresse the Romaines, who wanting experience in suche kinde of fight, 20 follow enery man his owne Enligne, but to put were not wel able to helpe themselues, not to kepe older as they vled to doe on lande: wherefore they fought nothing so suffily as they were wont to doe, which Ecafar perceyuing, commaunded the Gallves to depart from the great thippes, and to rowe harde to the flioze, that being placed oner against the open spoes of the Beptapnes, they might with they? flotte of Arrowes, Darts, and Slings, remoue the Bzytaynes, and cause them to withdraw further of from the water live.

The Brytaynes

Thevallant

This thing being put in execution(according to his commaundement, the Byptarnes were not a little assonved at the straunge sight of those Ballies, for that they were depuen with Dares, which early they had not seene, and size wolly were they galled also with the artifleric which the Romaines discharged upon them, so that they began to fliginke and retrige foine what backe. Beremith one that bare the ensigne of the legion suras in that which was the chiefe enligne of the les gion when he sawe his fellowes nothing eagre to make forward, first belieching the goddes that his enterpule might turns to the weals, profite, and bonour of the legion, he spake with a lowed bopce these wordes to his selowes that were about him: Leave forth now rou worthie souldiers: sayth he) If you wil not betray your enflanc to the enimics. For furely I will acquite mir felfe according to my generall: and therewith leaping fouth into the water, he marched with his enligne strenght byon

The Romaines doubting to lofe their enfigne. which flould have turned them to high reproche, leapt out of their thips to fast as they might, and followed their standard, so that there ensued a soze reencounter: and that thing that troubled moste the Romaines, was by cause they could not keeve their order, nepther finde any fure forting, nor yet themselves buder that ensigne whiche hee fyest met with after their first comming forth of the Shippe.

The Beptaynes that were acquainted with the flelfes and fiallow places of the water, when they faw the Romaines thus disorderly to come forth of their thips, they ranne byon them with The forces their horles and fiercely affapled them, and nowe of the Bry. and then a greate multitude of the Biptapues tayner. 30 woulde compasse in, and enclose some one company of them: and other allo from the most oven places of the Goze bestolved great plentie of darts ppon the whole number of the Romaines, and fo troubled them passing soze: wherebyon Cesar percepuing the maner of this fight, caused his me of warre to enter into Boates and other finall bessels, which he commaunded to go to such places where most need appeared. Ind thus relieuing them that fought, with new fuccours, at length eungue bearer named Decima, inherin the Eagle was figured, 40 the Romaines got to lande, and then affembling The Roma togither, they affapled the Beptaplies of new, and get to link fo at length did putithem all to flight. But the Romaines could not fold the Brytaynes farre, by cause they wanted their hogimen, which were has form. yet behind, and through flacking time coulde not conte to lande And this one thing feemed onely to disappoint the luckie fortune proas accustos med to followe Eclar in all his other enterpiles.

The Bertains after this flight were no long my dutic both towardes the common welth, and 50 got togither, but that with all fixed they fint and The Born belladors buto Celar to treat with him of prace; lend unte offring to beliver bollages, and further to flands onto that order that Eefar flould take with them in any reasonable lost. With these Ambastaposs came allo Comius, who Celar (as pe have heard) Comise & had lent befoze into Beptaine, whom not with Aris. standing that he was an Ambassador, and fent from Erlar with commission and instructions lufficiently lifficiently furnifled, yet had they flayd him as a misoner. But now after the battaile was ent et. they let him at libertie, & lint him back with their Imbassadors, who excused the matter, laying the Hame on the people of the Countrey, which had imprisoned him through lacke of biderstanding what apperteened to the law of armes and nations in that behalfe.

Celar found great fault with their misoemeabut also for that contrary to they a promises made by fuch as they had fent to him into Ballia to deliner hollages, in lieu thereof, they had recepted . him with warre: pet in the ende he lard he would pardon them, and not feeke any further reuenge of celi deman. they a follies. And herewith required of them hoses botteges flages, of which, part were delivered out of hand, and promise made that the residue should likewise be lent after, crauing some respite for performance off within the Countrey. Beace being thus established after the. iiii.day of the Romaines arrivall in Bartarne, the rbiii. thippes which (as rehaue heard) were appointed to conney the horfmen oner, loced from the further haven with a loft winde. The whiche when they approched to neare the Moze of Bzytain, that the Romains which were in Celars camp might lee them, sodainly there arole so great a tempest. that they were not onely deinen in funder (some being caried againe into Ballia, and some wellward but also the other Chippes that lay at ancre, and had brought ouer the armie, were so pittfully beaten, tolled and Maken, that a great number of. them did not onely lose their tackle, but also were carico by force of winde into the high fea, the rest being likewise so filled with water, p they were in Danger by finking to perith & to be quite toft. for therefore caused a spring tide, which furthered the force of the tempelt, to the greater perall of those flips and gallies that lay at an ancre. There mas no way for the Romains to help & matter: wherfage a great number of those thirs were so banised, rent, and weatherbeaten, that without new reparation they would ferue to no vie of failing. This was a great discosoft to the Romaines that had brought ouer no promition to line by in y winter agains into Ballia. In the meane time the Bry= till) princes that were in the Romaine army, percerning how greatly this multiap had discouraged the Romains, a againe by the smal circuit of their

campe, gessed that they coulde be no great num=

ecr, and that lacke of vitagles love oppressed them, they primly stale away one after another out of the carride, purpoling to allenwie their powers &

The Historie of Englande. gaines to foseffall the Romains from vitagles, and so to drine the matter off till winter: which if they might do (banquillying thefe or closing them from returning) they trusted that none of the Ros mains from thereclotth would attempt efflunes to come come into Biyram. Cefar militufling their dealings, bicause they stayo to deliver the re--four of their hollages, commaunded vitails to be brought cut of h parties adiopning, a not having not, not onely for imprisoning his Ambassador, 10 other fruffe to repaire bis flips, be cauled. rij. of those that were ofterly past recoucite by the hurts -recepued through violence of the tepeff, to be brosken, wher with the other (in which some recoverie was percepued) might be repayzed.

In the meane time whilest these things were a doing it chaunced that as one of the Romaine legions named the. big. was fent forth to fetche in come out of the countrey adiopning (as they? enstone was no warre at that time being suspecof the same, by cause they were to be setched farre 20 ted, or once loked for, when part of the people remagned abzode in the field, and part repayzed to the camp: those that warded before the campe, aduertiled Cefar, that there appeared a dust greater than was accussomed from that quarter, into the which the legion was gone to fetch in come. Cefar judging therof what the matter might meane, commanned those bandes that warded, to goe with him that way forth, and appointed other two bands to come into their rownithes, and the that none of them was able to keepe his courfe, so residue of his people to get them to armoz, and to follow quickly after him. He was not gone any great way from the campe, when hee might fee where his people were ouermatched by fenimics, and had much abo to beare out the brunt: for the legion being thronged togither, the Brytaynes pelted them fore with arrows a Darts on ech five: for lithence there was no forrage left in any part of the cuntry about, but only in this place, y Bzy= tains judged that the Romains would come this the Nome in the same night was at the full, and 40 ther for it: therfore chaning longed thesclues win the wood in ambuthes the night before, on p mos. row after when they faw the Romains difperfed here a there, and buffe to cut downe the corne) thep let bpon them on the loden, elleaing some few of them, brought the residue out of order copassing the about with their hozimen and charets, to that they were in greate diffreffe. The moner of fight with these charets was such, that in programing of a battaile they would ride aboute the foirs and leason, not law any hope how they Mould repasse so skirts of the entinies holf, 4 bellow their partes as they lat in those charets, so that oftentimes with the braying of the hortes, a craking noise of y charet wheeles they disorded their enimies, and after that they had wound themselves in amongst the troupes of hoghine, they would leap out of the clas rets, a fight a lot, a in the mean time those p gut= depaths charets would withdraw thesslues out of the battail, placing the solutes so, that if their prople were overmatched with the multitude of enimies they might eafily withdraw to their charets, and mount opon the lame againe, by meanes whereof they are as readic to remoue as the hoglemen, as steofalt to stand in the battaile as the formen, and so to supplie both dueties in one. Ind those Charetmenby exercise and custome were so cunning in their feat, that although their horles were put to run and gallop, pet could they stay them ? wind them to and fro in a moment, notwithstanding that the place were very licepe and daungerous: and againe they would run by and downe very nimbly opon the coppes, tland bpo y beam and conuer theselues quickly again into p char t.

Celar thus finding his prople in great distresse and readic to be destroyed, came in good time, and Delivered the out of that daunger: for y Beytains bpon his approch with new fuccors, gaue ouer to affaile their enimies any further, & the Romaines 20 were delinered out of the feare wherein they flode befoze his comming.

furthermore, Cefar colidering the time ferued not to affaile his enimics kept his ground, fhott= ly after brought backe his legions into the camp.

the armed men, and to fled. The Romains purfuenthem to farre as they were able to outstake any of them, and to draing many of them, thurning by their houses all about, came backe againe to their campe.

Immediately toherebpon, euen the same day they fent Amballators to Cefer, to fue for peace, who gladly accepting their offer, commaunded them to lend ouer into Ballia, after be Moulde be 50 returned thither, bollages in nubze double to thole that were agreed byon at the first.

Alter that these things were thus ordred, Celar by cause that the Moneth of September was wil neare halfe fpent, and that Winter halfed on (a featon not meete for his weake brupled flippes to broke the Seas in) determined not to stay anye longer, but having winds and weather for his

Colhilest these things were thus a boing, & all the Romains being occupied, & rell that were abjode in the fields got them away. After this there followed a loge leason of raine and foule weather. which kept the Romains within their campe, and stayed the Brytains fro offring battel. But in the meane time they fent into all parts of the courtey mellengers abzode to giue knowledge of the smal number of the Romaines, & what hope there was hold them backe at their pleasures, and turne and 10 both of great spoyle to be gotten, and occasion to Deliner thelelues from further daunger foz euer, if they might once expell the Romaines out of their campe. Herebyon a great multitude both of horfmen and fotemen of the Britains were speedily got togither, approched the Romain camp. Cefar although he faw that the same would come to paffe which had chanced befoze, that if the enimies were put to the repulse, they would easly escape & danger with fwifinesse of fot, yet having now w him.xxx.hozsemen (which Comius of Arras had brought oner with him, whe he was sent fro Cefar es an Ambassador buto the Brytains) he plas ced his legions in order of battail before his camp, and to coming to ione with the Bytains, they were not able to fulleyn the violent imprestion of purpole, got himselse a boyde with his people, and returned into Eallia.

Thus wepteth Celar touching his first iours cafar del ney made into Bzytaine. But the Bzytill 1920 Gallie ha Stozie (which Polidoze calleth the new Hystozie) declareth, that Celar in a pight field was banquis flicd at the first encounter, and so withdrew backs into Fraunce.

Beda also wyteth thus: that Celar coming into the countrey of Ballia, where the people then called Morni inhabited (whiche are at this day the came that inhabite the Dioces of Terwine) from whence lyeth the Moztest passage ouer into Beytain, now called England, got togither. Lrrk layle of great flippes and row Gallics, with the which he passed ourrinto Byrtayne, and there at the first being wearied with charpe and soze fight, and after taken with a grieuous tempelt, lost the more part of his nauie, with no finall number of tis fonlaiers, and almost all his horsemen. And therewith being returned into Gallia, placed his fouldiers in secos to foiourne there for the winter feafon. Thus bath Bede.

The British hystorie mozeouer maketh men= tion of three binder kings that apped Callbellane in this first battail fought & Celar, as Cridiorus, land: Guitethus king of Uenedocia, that is north Walales: & Britael king of Demetia, at this day railed fouth Wales.

The same hestogie maketh also mention of one Belinus that was general of Cassibelanes army. and likewise of Penius brother to Cassibelane, which in the fight happened to get Cesars swood fasined in his shield by a blow which Cefar stroke at him. Indzogeus also, and Tenancius, were at died within.rb. dayes after the battail of the hurt. received at Cefars hand, although after he was fo burt, he flue Lavienus one of & Rom. Tribunes: all which may well be true, fith Cefar either ma= keth the best of things for his owne honor, or else coucting to write but Commentaries, maketh no account to declare the needles circultances, or any more of the matter, than p chief points of his sea. ling. Igain the Scottiff hpstoziographers wzite. that when it was first known to the Beptaynes, 30 put to flight.

that Celar would inuade them, there came from Callibelane king of Beptapnes an Amballade onto Ederus king of Scottes, the which in the name of king Callbelane, requyzed ayde agaynit the common enimies the Romaines, which requelt was graunted, and ten .99. Scots lent to the ande of Callibellane.

At their comming to London, they were most iorfully received of Callibellane, who at the fame alia, Ederus, K. of Albania, nowe called Scot = 10 tyme had knowledge that the Romaines were come a land, and had beate fuch Beptapus backe as were appointed to relift their landing. Wherbpon Cassibellane with all his whole puissaunce mightily augmented, not onely with the fuccors of the Scottes, but allo of the Dias (which in that common cause had sent also of their people to apo the Birtarnes) let forwarde towardes the place where he understode the enimies to be.

At their first approch togither, Cassibellane the battail in apoc of Callibelane. But Pennius 20 fent forth his horfmen and charets called Efede. by the which he thought to disorder the array of the enimies. Twice they encountered togither with doubtfull victorie. At length they iopned puissance agaynst puissance, and fought a right fore and cruell battaple, till finally at the sodaine comming of the Welchmen, and Cozniffmen, fo huge novie was rayled by the sounde of Belles I hanging at their trappers and Charets, that the Romannes allonged therewith, were moze cally

The Brytagues, Scots, and Picks following so next morning to feeke his revenge of the former in the chase without order or aray, so that by reafon the Romains kept themselves close togither, the Beytayns, Scots, & Pids did buch fo much harm to the enimies as they themselves recepued. But yet they followed on feil opon the Romains till it was barke night . Celar after he had percerned them once withdrawne, did what he could to effemble his commanies togither, minding the days disaduatage. But forsomuch as knowledge was give him b his thins by reason of a soze tevelt were beate & reit, h many of the wer palt fernice, the doubted least such newes would encourage his enimies, thing his people into dispair. Wherforehe determined not to fight til time moze coueniet. fending all his wounded folks buto of thips, which he contaunded to be newly rigged and trimmed. C.iiii. After

40

After this, keeping his army for a time within the place where he was encamped without iffining forth, he Mortly drew to the sca side, where his flippes lay at ankre, and there within a flrong place fortified for the purpole he lodged his holt, $ finally without hope to atchieue any other exploit anailcable for that time, he toke the fea with fuch thinues as were aut for failing, and fo revalled into Gallia, leaving behind him all the spoyle and baggage, for want of velledes, and ley fure to con- 10 cotinual toile drone forth the heavy thips, to keepe nep it ouer.

Thus have the Scottes in their Chaonicles framed the matter, more to the conformitie of the Romaine hyftozics, than according to the report of our Bertiff and English weiters: and therfore we have thought good to flic it here, that the diuersitie of writers and their affections maye the better appeare.

Of this soven departing also, or rather flying of Julius Cclar out of Bzptain, Lucanus p poct 20 maketh métion:reciting the laying of Pompeins in an ozatio made by him buto his foldiers, wher= in he reprochfully and distainfully reproued the boings of Celar in Bevtaine, saying:

Territa quasitu oftendit terga Britannu. That is in English. He turnde his backe and fled away, from the Brytaynes whom he fought.

But now to turne to the sequele of the matter, as Celar himfelfe reporteth. After his comming 30 enimies were withdrawne, hee appoynted one into Ballia, there were but two Cities of al Bzi= taine that fent over their hostages according to Dien Caffine. their couenant, which gaue occasion to Cefar to pike a new quarell against them, which if it had wanted, he would yet I doubt not haue founde fome other: for his full meaning was to make a moze full conquest of that Fle. Therfoze purpofing to passe agains thither, as he that had a great delire to being the Bertagnes under the obedience of the Romain estate, he caused a great number of 40 the higher ground : but being affayled of the Ros Antippes to be provided in the winter season z put in a rediness, so that against the next spring, there were found to be readic rigged fix hundred flips, Cesar de bel- bestor rrbiij. Gallies. Gerevpon hauing taken le Gallis. Oyder for the gouernance of Gallia in his absence, about the beginning of the Spring he came to the hauen of Calice. whither (according to oxper by bim prescribed) all his thips were come, except. rl.

> After he had staved at Calice (as wel for a conuenient winde, as for other incidentes) certaine daves, at length when the weather so chaunged that it served his purpose, he twice the sea, baning with him fine legions of fouldiers, and about two thousand borimen, departed out of Calice hauen about the fun letting with a loft loutiwest wind, outsing his course forward: about midnight the

which by tempest were dzinen backe, and coulde not as pet come to him.

wind fell, and so by a calme, he was carted alogit with the tide, so that in the maning whe the day appeared, he might beholde Bertaine von hos left hand. The following the streams as the course of the tide changed, he forced with Dares to fetch the More upon that part of the coast, which he had discourred and tried the last years to bee the best landing place for the armie. The diligence of the fouldiers was thewed here to be great, who with course with the gallies, and so at length they landed in Baytayn about none on the next day, finding not one to relift his comming a flore: for as he learned by certain priloners which were taken after his comming to lande, the Bzytaines being affembled in purpose to have resisted him, through feare fleiken into their heartes, at the discovering of fuch an huge number of thips, they for loke the Moze, and got them unto the Mountaines.

There were in deed of vellels one a other, what with vitailers, and those which visuate men had provided and furnished forth for their owne ble. being joyned to the opdinarie number, at the least viij. C. layle, which appearing in light all at one time, made a wonderfull muster, & right terrible in the eyes of the Bertarnes.

But to proceed: Celar being got to land, encamped his army in a place convenient: and after learning by the prisoners, into what parte the Quintus Itrius to remaine buen the falegard et the nauic, with ten companies or cohorts of fot= men, and three hundred borfinen: and anon after midnight marched forth himselfe with the relidue of his people towards the Bzytapnes, and having made. rij. miles of way, her got fight of his eni= mies holt, the which lending downs their healms and charets buto the river fide, skirmissed with the Romaines, meaning to beat them backe from maine hossemen, they were repulled, and toke the wooders for their refuge, wherein they had got a place very strong, both by nature e helpe of hand. which (as was to be thought) had beene fortified before, in time of some civil warre amonalt the: for all the entries were closed with trees whiche had bene cut down for that purpole. Howbeit the fouldiers of the bij. legion casting a trench before them, found meanes to put backe the Bartagues 50 from their defences, and fo entring bypon them. drove them out of the woods.

But Cefar would not fuffer the Romanes to follow the Biptapies, breause that the nature of the countrey was not knowne buto them: and as gaine the day was farre spent, so that hee woulde have the relidue thereof bestowed in fortesping bis campe.

The next day, as he had lent forth furb as

The Historie of Englande.

him from Quintus Atrius, that his nauie by rigour of a foze and hideous tempest, was greenoutly motested, and throwen byon the More, to that the cabels and tagle beeing broken and destroved with force of the bumercifull race of mind, the masters and Mariners were not able to hely the matter. Ecfar calling backe those whiche he had fent forth, returneth to his Shippes, and order for the repairing of those that were not bt= terly destroyed, and caused them so to be drawen by to the land, that with a trench he might so co= passe in a plot of ground, that mighte serue both for defence of his Shippes, and allo for the incaping of those men of warre, which he fluid leave to attend byon the lauegard of the lame. And by= cause there were at the least a fortie Ships lost by violence of this tepest, so as there was no hope of great labour and cost might bee repaired: where= faze he chose forth wrightes among the Legions. fent for other into Gallia, and wrote over to fuch as he had lest there in charge with the governace of the country, to provide to many Ships as they could, and to fend them over buto him. He spente a tenne dayes about the repairing thus of his naup, and in fortifying of $\forall camp for defence there= of, which done, he left those within it which were place where hee had befoze encamped, hee founde them there ready to relift him, having their num= bers hugely encreased: for the Britaynes hearing that he was returned with fuch a mightie nums ber of shippes, affembled out of all partes of the land, and had by generall confent appoynted the whole rule and order of all things touching the warre, buto Callinellaune, oz Callibelane, whole ruid teme netre to the Sea coalt, by the river of Thames, 80. miles diffant from the sea coast. This Casendrie, Ox- fibrilanne befoze time had bin at continual warre with other rulers, and Cities of the land: but now menacolitie, the Butons mourd with the comming of p Romaynes, chole hym to be chiefe gouernoz of all their army, permitting the order and rule of all things touching the defence of their countrey as gainst the Romanes, only to him. Their horfethe Romannes, but to as they were put backe oftentimes into the woodes and hilles adjoining: retthe Britagnes flewe divers of the Romaines as they followed any thing egrely in the purlute.

would have purfued the Britans, word came to

Also within a while after, as the Romaynes were bulic in fortifying their camp, y Britaynes lodannely issued out of the woodes, and siercely allayico those that warded before the camp, buto whose ande, Telar sent two of the chiefest cohoza tes of two legions, the whiche bring placed but a little distance one from another, when the Ros manes began to be discouraged with this kyno of fight, the Brytayns therwith burst through their enimics, and came backe from thence in safetic. That daye Duintus Laberius Durus a Tris hune was flayne. It length, Cefar fendyng fundry other cohortes to the succours of his people finding them in luche fate as he had heard, toke 10 that were in fighte, and threwoly handled as it appeared, the Bzitagnes in the ende were put

In all this manner of thirmilling and frabte which chanced before the camp, even in the lighte and viewe of all men, it was percepued that the Romagnes, by reason of their heavie armour (be. The Romains ing not able cyther to followe the Britagnes as beause armor. they retired, or so bold, as to depart from their enfignes, except they woulde runne into daunger of reconcrie in them, he sawe yet howe the rest with 20 casting themselves away were nothing meete to match with such kind of enimics: and as for their hozlemen, they fought likewile in great hazarde. by cause the Britagnes would oftentimes of purs pose retire, when they had trained the Romane hozsemen a little from their legions of fotemen. they would leape out of their charrets and encous ter with them a fote. And so the battell of horsemen was daungerous, and like in all poputes whether they pursued or retired. This also was appoynted there befoze, and then returneth to= 30 the manner of the Britanies. It his comming backe to the close togither, but in sunder, and denided into cos in the warres. panies one separated from another by a god distance, that their troupes standing in places conuenient, to y which they might rettre, & so relecue one another with fending newe fresh men to fine ply the routhes of them that were hurt or weary. The next day after they had thus foughte before y camp of the Romanes, they themed themfelues aloft on philles, & began to fkirmifhe with dominion was devided from the Cities lytuate 40 the Romane horsemen, but not so hotely as they had done the day before. But about none, when Celar had lent forth three legions of foteme and all his hortemen under the leading of his Licutenant Caius Trebonius to ferch in fourrage, they Cains Trebosodainely brake out on every side, & set opon the nim. fourragers. The Romanes to farre fourth as they might, not breaking their array, nor going from their enlignes or guides gaut & charge on them, tiercely repulled them, to & the horlemen haufing & Dion Calsius men and Charrets fkirmiffed by the way with 50 legions of fotemen at their backes, followed the faich, that the Briton's fo long as they might haur the faid Te- Bri aynes valle gions in fight ready to fuccour the if neine were: quished the by reason whereof, they slew a great number of y sooremen as Battons, not gining them leafure to recouer the this time, bus felues, not to flay, that they might have tyme to the worth by get out of their charrets. After this chaft and dile the borlemen.

ties to the ayor of their fellowes departed home,

comfiture, all fuch as were come from other pars

After this, keeping his army for a time within the place where he was encamped without iffring forth, he Mortly drew to the sca live, where his hipper lay at ankre, and there within a ffrong place fortified for the purpole he lodged his holt, & finally without hope to atchieue any other exploit availeable for that time, he toke the fea with fuch fhippes as were apt for failing, and fo repassed into Gallia, leaving behind him all the spople and uep it ouer.

Thus have the Scottes in their Chaonicles framed the matter moze to the conformitie of the Romaine hylfories, than according to the report of our Beptith and English weiters: and therfore we have thought good to flic it here, that the diuerlitie of writers and their affections maye the better appeare.

Of this soven departing also, or rather flying of Julius Celar out of Byptain, Lucanus p poet 20 maketh métion:reciting the faying of Pompeins in an oratio made by him buto his foldiers, where in he reprochfully and distainfully reproued the boings of Celar in Bzytaine, saying:

Territa quasitu oftendit terga Britannu. That is in English. He turnde his backe and fled away, from the Brytaynes whom he fought. But now to turne to the sequele of the matter, as Celar himfelfe reporteth. After his comming 30 enimies were withdrawne, hee appointed one into Ball:a, there were but two Cities of al Bzi= taine that fent over their holtages according to Dien Cafins. their conenant, which gaue occasion to Cefar to pike a new quarell against them, which if it had wanted, he would yet I doubt not haue founde fome other: for his full meaning was to make a more full conquelt of that He. Therfore purpofing to paste againe thither, as he that had a great differ to being the Bertagnes under the obedience of the Romain estate, he caused a great number of 40 the higher ground : but being assayled of the Ro-Otypes to be pronided in the winter leason & put in a redinesse, so that against the next spring, there were found to be readie rigged fix hunderd flips, Cefar de bel- befloe, rrbig, Gallies. Herrebpon hauing taken order for the gouernance of Gallia in his ablence, about the beginning of the Spring he came to the bauen of Calice. whither (according to order by bim prescribed) all his thips were come, except. rl. which by tempest were driven backe, and coulde not as pet come to him.

> After he had flaved at Calice (as wel for a conuenient winde, as for other incidentes) certaine daves, at length when the weather so chaunged that it ferried his purpole, he twke the sca, haning with him fine legions of fouldiers, and about two thousand hoesenen, departed out of Calice hauen about the fun letting with a lost louthwell wind. outsting his course forward: about midnight the wind fell, and so by a calme, he was caried alogit with the tide, so that in the meaning whe the day appeared, he might beholde Berraine buon hos left hand. The following the streams as the course of the tide changed, he forced with Dares to fetch the More upon that part of the coast, which he had discourred and tried the last yeare to bee the best landing place for the armie. The diligence of the fouldiers was fliewed here to be great, who with baggage, for want of vesselles, and legsure to con- 10 cotinual toile drone forth the heavy ships, to keepe course with the gallies, and so at length they landed in Baptapn about none on the next day, finding not one to refift his comming a flore: for as he learned by certain priloners which were taken after his comming to lande, the Beytaines being affembled in purpole to have relifted him, theough feare flriken into their heartes, at the discouering of fuch an huge number of thirs, they for looke the Moze, and got them unto the Mountaines.

> There were in deed of vellels one a other, what with vitailers, and those which private men had provided and furnified forth for their owne ble. being joyned to the ordinarie number, at the least biij. C. layle, which appearing in light all at one time, made a wonderfull muster, & right terrible in the eyes of the Bystarnes.

But to proceed: Celar being got to land, encamped his army in a place convenient: and after learning by the prisoners, into what parte the Quintus Itrius to remaine open the lafegard of the nauic, with ten companies or cohorts of fot= men, and three hundred teorimen: and anon after midnight marched forth himselfe with the relidue of his people towards the Byptaynes, and having made. rii. miles of way, her got fight of his enimies host, the which sending downs their hezsme and charets buto the river fide, thirmiffed with the Romaines, meaning to beat them backe from maine hor femen, they were repulled, and toke the wooders for their refuge, wherein they had got a place very firong, both by nature & helpe of ham. which (as was to be thought) had beene festified before, in time of some civil warre amonalt the: for all the entries were closed with trees whiche had bene cut down for that purpole. Howbeit the fouldiers of the bij. legion casting a trench before them, found meanes to put backe the Baptapnes 50 from their defences, and so entring bypon them, drove them out of the mods.

But Celar would not fuffer the Romanes to follow the Biptapies, by cause that the nature of the countrey was not knowne buto them: and as gaine the day was farre spent, so that hee woulde have the relidue thereof bestowed in fortesting his campe.

The next day, as he had fent forth fuch as

The Historie of Englande.

hun from Quintus Atrius, that his nauie by ri= geur of a foze and hideous tempest, was greenoutly molested, and theowen byon the Moze, so that the cabels and tagle beeing broken and defrored with force of the vinnercifull race of mind, the malters and Mariners were not able to hito the matter. Eclar calling backe those whiche he had fent forth, returneth to his Shippes, and order for the repairing of those that were not bt= terly destroyed, and caused them so to be drawen by to the land, that with a trench he might so co= naffe in a plot of ground, that mighte ferue both for defence of his Shippes, and allo for the incaping of those men of warre, which he fluid leave to attend byon the lauegard of the lame. And br= cause there were at the least a fortie Ships lost by violence of this trpelt, fo as there was no hope of reconcrie in them, he sawe yet howe the rest with 20 casting themselves away were nothing meete to arcat labour and cost might bee repaired: where= fore he chole forth weightes among the Legions. fent for other into Gallia, and wrote over to fuch as he had lest there in charge with the governace of the country, to provide to many Ships as they could, and to fend them over buto him. He spente a tenne dayes about the repairing thus of his naup, and in fortifying of p camp for defence there= of, which done, he left those within it which were appointed there before, and then returneth to= 30 the manner of the Britagnes: they foughte not The manner wards his enimies. It his comming backe to the wards his enimies. At his comming backe to the place where hee had befoze encamped, hee founde them there ready to relift him, having their num= bers hugely encreased for the Britagnes bearing that he was returned with fuch a mightie numder of shippes, affembled out of all partes of the land, and had by generall confint appoynted the whole rule and order of all things touching the warre, bnto Callinellaune, oz Callibriane, whole dominion was devided from the Cities lytuate 40 the Romane horsemen, but not so hotely as they ruid teme neere to the Sea coalt, by the river of Thames, 80. miles diffant from the fea coaft. This Calentries Ox- fibellaune befoze time had bin at continual warre with other rulers, and Cities of the land: but now definition, the Butons mourd with the comming of § Romaynes, chole hym to be chiefe gouernoz of all their army, permitting the order and rule of all things touching the befence of their countrey as gainst the Romanes, only to him. Their horfemen and Charrets fkirmished by the way with 50 legions of fotemen at their backes, followed the faith, that the the isomannes, but to as they were put backe oftentimes into the woodes and hilles abidining: get the Britagnes Acide divers of the Romaines as they followed any thing egrely in the purlute, mould have purfued the Bzitans, word came to

Also within a while after, as the Komaynes were bulie in fortifying their camp, y Britaynes lovarnely illued out of the wooders, and fiercely allayled those that warded before the camp, buto whole ande, Telar lent two of the chiefelt cohoza tes of two legions, the whiche bring placed but a little distance one from another, when the Ros manes began to be discouraged with this kynd of fight, the Brytayns therwith burst through their enimics, and came backe from thence in safetie. That daye Duintus Laberius Durus a Tris hune was flayne. It length, Cefar fendyng fundry other cohortes to the fuccoure of his people finding them in luche state as he had heard, twke 10 that were in fighte, and spewoly handled as it appeared, the Britagnes in the ende were put backe.

In all this manner of skirmishing and fryte which chanced before the camp, even in the lighte and viewe of all men, it was percepued that the Romannes, by reason of their heavie armour (be- The Romains ing not able epther to followe the Britannes as beause armor. they retired, or lo bold, as to depart from their enfignes, except they woulde runne into daunger of match with such kind of enimics: and as for their hozsemen, they fought likewise in great hazarde. by cause the Britagnes would oftentimes of purs pose retire, when they had trained the Romane horsemen a little from their legions of fotemen. they would leave out of their charrets and encous ter with them a fote. I'nd so the battell of horses men was daungerous, and like in all poputes whether they pursued or retired. This also was close togither, but in sunder, and deuided into cos in the warres. panies one separated from another by a good diftance, that their troupes standing in places conuenient, to y which they might rettre, & so releque one another with lending newe fresh men to fine ply the romthes of them that were hurt or wear ry. The next day after they had thus foughte before y camp of the Romanes, they thereco themfrincs aloft on philles, & began to fkirmiffe with had done the day before. But about none, when Celar had lent forth three legions of foteme and all his horsemen under the leading of his Licutenant Caius Trebonius to ferch in fourrage, they Caim Trebos fodainely brake out on enery five, & fet opon the nime. fourragers. The Romanes to farre fouth as they might, not breaking their array, nor going from their enlignes og guides gaut p charge on them, tiercely repulled them, lo & the hotlemen haufing y Dion Calsius Britons lo long as thep might haue the faid Le- Bri aynes valle gions in fight ready to fuccour the if near were: quiffed the by reason whereof, they flew a great number of & sociemen se Beitons, not gining them leafure to recouer the this time, but felues, not to flay, that they might have tyme to the worst by get out of their charrets. After this chaft and dile the borlemen.

ties to the ayor of their fellowes departed home,

comfiture, all fuch as were come from other pars

lo Galdis.

Willich is to be sup ofed was at Kingfton)ornet farre from shence.

and after p day the Buitons aduratured to fight against Cesar with their maine power, but with-Djawing berond the river of Chames, Determined to flop the enimics from palling the lame, if by any meanes they mighte: and where as there mas but one fourde by y which they might come ouer. Cassiuellane caused the same to be set ful of Maro stakes not onely in the middell of the water, but also at the comming southe on that spde where he was lodged with his army in good or 100 liver buto him. 40. hollages, & grayne for his arder ready to defende the passage. Cesar learning by relation of visioners which he twke, what the Britagnes intended to do, marched forth to y ri= ner floe, where the fourde was, by the whiche hys army mighte passe the same aswte though very hardly. It his coming thither, hee might perceive home the Britagnes were ready on y further lide to impeach his passage, thow that the banke at p comming for the of the water was pighte full of Tharp flakes, and fo likewise was the chanell of § 20 wher he was then encamped fensed with woodes River fet with stakes which were covered with p water. These things yet stayed not Celar, who appoputing his horseinen to palle on before, co= manded the fotenien to fellow. The fouldiers entring p water, waded through with such spede e violence, nothing appearing of the about was ter but their heads that y Britagnes were con-Areyned to give place, being not able to sustepne pby tofy Romane Portumen ethelegions of their ... ternen, & so abandoning p place twice the 20 of hand, assaulteth it on two parts. The Britains to flight. Cassiuclane not minding to trie y mate ter any more by battell, sente away i most parte of his people, but yet kept with him about a foure thousand charretinen or wagoners, and fill watthed what war p Romants toke, coasting them tuer as they marched, and kepte formewhat afide within b couert of wods, and other combersonic places. Ind out of those quarters through o whiche be understoo y Romanes would palle, he ga= rells, leauing nothing of valew abrode in p chapayne countrey. And whe y Romane horlemen did come absore into v countrer to feeke boties. he fent out his charrets unto the knowen wars * pallages to facinill with the fame hopfemen, fo much to the diladuatage of the Romanes, by they durft not firap, far fo their maine army. Peither wold Cefar pennet the least they might have bin beterly diffressed by v Britaries to depart furthe, by reason whereof y countrer was not endomaged by fire & sporte, but onely where the army marched. In p mean time, the Trinouances which fome take to be the modleler & Eller me, whose Citie was y belt feced of al other in those parties. 4 thought to be the lame & now is called Londo, fent Imballadors onto Celar, offering to fubmit thesclues buto hun, to obey his ordinances, and further belought him to bekend Saavubratius fro

Trinouantes where they inhabited.

b injurie of Callinellaune, which Mandubratius had fled onto Celar into France, after p Callibe= lane had flain his father named Intenuentius, & mas chiefe Lozo & B.of the Trinchances, To now Imani files by their Amballadors & lame Trinobantes requefico Celar, not only to receive Mandubratius into his protection, but also to send him buto them, that he might take the governemet e rule of their Citic into his hands. Celar comanded the to demy,4 therewith fent Mandubzatius vnto them. my,4 therewith tent sizanouvratus unto them.

The Trinonantes accopliffied his commanube- Some takethe Trinonaters ments was a specific fending both y appropried nue be Londing. ber of hostages, and also graine for the army. And being thus defended a preferued from iniurie of b fouldiers, v people called Cenimagni, Segontiaci, Ancalites, Bibzoci, and Calli, submitted the= sclues buto Cefar, by whom he buderstode that p towne of Cassibellane was not far from prlace a marifles, into p whiche a great number of pro= ple to their Cattell and other substace was with= drawen. The Britaines in those dayes (as Cefar writeth) called b a towns or hold which they have fortified w any thick cobersome woo, with trech frampire, into p which they vico to get the sclues for y anopoing of inuation. Cefar with his legions of fouldiers therefore marcheth thither, a finding the place very frong both by nature & helpe defending their strength a while, at leath not able longer to endure the impellion of p Romagnes. fled out on y contrary lide of y towne wher the c= nimics were not. Within this place a great nuber of Cattel was found, a many of & Britagnes take by b Romanes b followed them in chafe, & many also flaine. Whilest these things passed on this fort in those parties. Callibellaune fent melfengers into Kent buto four kings (whiche ruled Foure King) thered both me & cattel into y wors & thicke for- 40 p five of the lav in those dayes) Cingetozir, Car- in Kent. uilius, Tarimagulus, & Segonar, comaunding the, that affembling togither their whole willace. they flould affaile y camp of y Romaines by the sea fide wher certain baos lap (as pe haue heard) for lafegard of p nauie. They according to his apointmet came lovainly thither, t by p Romains that failed forth byon them were Marply foughte with, a loft viuers of their men p were flaine, and taken, and amough the prisoners that o Romains ther that imaine battels of feteine kept pace to 50 toke, Cingetozix was one. When Callibellaune Cingeronic heard these news, being soze troubled for these losfes thus chancing one in the neck of an other, but namely most discouraged, for that divers Cities had pelded but o the Romanes: hee sendeth Ams valladors by means of Comius of Arras unto Celar, offering to submit himselfe. Erlar meas ning to winter in Gallia, and therefore becaufe fommer derive towardes an ende, willyng to bispatch in Beitapne, commanded that hollages

The Historie of Englande.

mosto be delinered, and appopried what tribute the Buttaynes Could percely lend unto the Ros marnes. De alfo forbade and commaunded Caffibellaune that he should not in any wife trouble or endomage Mandubratius of the Londoners. After this, when he had recepted the hostages, he hungeth his army to the Sea, and there findeth his Shines well repayzed, decked, and in god point: therefoze he commandeth that they flould he had downe to the lea. And by caule hee hadde a ro areat number of priloners, and divers of his flins mere loft by the tempelt, he appointed to transpost his army our into Ballia at two convoyes. whiche was done with good successe about the middelt of September, though the Shippes returning for the relioue of the army, after the firste connoy, were drive to with force of weather, that a great number of them could not come to lande at the place appointed: so that Celar was congreater burden, and so departed from the coast of Britagne, and fafely landed with the remnaunte of his people in Gallia with as good freede as he cold haue delired. De thought not god to leaue any of his people behinde him, knowing that if he flould to doe, they were in daunger to be cast a= way. And so bycause he could not well remapue there all the winter feason for boubt of Rebellion in Ballia, he was contented to take by, and returne thither, fith he had done sussiciently for the 30 time, least in coueting the moze, hee mighte haue come in perill to lose that whiche hee had already

Thus according to that which Celar himselfe and other autentike authors have weitten, was Butagne made tributogie to the Romagnes by the Conduit of the same Celar. But our histories farre differ from this, affirming, that Celar coms ming the lecod time, was by the Britagnes with as he was at the first, and specially by meanes & Cassiuciaune had pight in the Chames greate pyles of trees pyked with youn, through whych, bis thippes being entred the river, were perithed a loft. And after his communicationd, he was vanquished in battell, a confirm med to fice into Eallia with those thippes that remarked. For ion of this seconde victory (faith Galfrio) Callbellane made a great feat at London, a ther did facrifice to the Gods. It which feast there fel variance be= twirt two yong Gentlemen, the one named His rilda, nephew to Callibellan, the other Euclye. or Eweline, being of aliance to Androgens Erle of Londo. They fell at discord about wrastling, fafter multiplying of wordes, they came to deas ling of blowes, by meane whereof partes wer tas ken, so that there ensewed a soze frap, in the whiz the, divers were wounded and hurt, and amoust other Herilda the kings Perhew was flarne by p hands of Eweline. The K. loze difulcated here with, meant to punish & weline according to the vider of his lawis, so that he was summened to Archico to fraught those that he could get, with a 20 appeare in due forme to make answere to y murder: but Eweline by the comforte of Androgeus disobeyed the sommonace, and departed & Court with Anozogeus, in contempt of the king and his lawes. The K to be revenged byon Androgeus. gathered a power, 4 began to make war on him. Androgeus perceining himselse not able to withstand the Kings puissance, sente letters to Julius Celar, erhozting him to returne into Britapne, & declaring the whole matter concerning & variance between him and the king, promiting to app the Romaynes in all that he might. Julius Cefar ioyfull of this nicflage, prepareth his naute, & with all speece with a mightie host embaroued in the same, commeth toward Britagne: but ere be would land, bentting some treason in Angogeus, he recepueth from him in boffage his sonne named Scena, and thirty other of the best & most noble personages of all his bominion. After thes he landed, e toyning with Androgeus, came into baliancie, and martial prowes beaten, e repulled, 40 a balley necte to Canterbury, e there cucamped, Shortly after commeth Callibellane with al his power of Britagnes, and giveth battell to & Romanes. But after that the Britapnes had long had.Monu.

hath fiac

thoulandc.

The Historie of Englande.

fought and knightly boine thefelues in that bat= tell, Indrogius came with his people on a wing, and to tharply affayled them, that the Britannes were constroned to foglake the field, 4 toke thes felies to flight. The which flight to discomforted them, that finally they all fied, a gaue place to the Romanes the which purfued and flew the without mercy, so that Cassibellane with the residue mans, Cassibellanin the end was enforced to fal to a copolition, in concnaunting to pay an perely So both Cimtribute of three thouland. the Then when Celar pion, our Galhad order his butinesse as he thought conneniet, of his people withdrewe to a place of furctie, but Romannes, z of Androgens, who had with him fenen thousande men there in the and of the Rohe returned, t with him went Androgeus, fearing b displeasure of Calsibellane. The reuerend father Bede writing of this mater, hath thus: After that fouldiers abzoade in the countrey to loigene for $ winter feafon, he cauled Ships to be made ready, to the number of fire C. with the which repalling again into 131 taine, whilest he marcheth forthe with a mighty army against & chimics, his slips that lay at ancre being take with a foze tempelt, mere either braten one against another, og els cast bpon the flats & fands, and fo byoken, fo that for= tie of them were utterly perillied, and the relidue men of the Romaines at the first encounter were put to the worle, & Lavienus the Tribune flain. Turbe leconde conflict her vanquilled the Bis tames not without greate daunger of his people. After this, bee marcheth to the riner of Thames which as the was passable by fourde, only in one place and not elle, as the reporte goeth. On the fuether banke of that river, Calibellane was encamped with an huge multitude of enimics, and had pight & fet the banke, & almost all the fource 40 & followeth much in his boke, wherein it is conunder the water, ful of harp flakes, the tokens of The flakes re- which buto this day are to be feene, and it femeth missing to be to the beholders that enery of thele lakes are as feene in Bedes bigge as a mas thigh, flicking fall-in & bottome - would haue difplaced him from the gouernemet. of the riner closed with leade. The whiche breme percepted of the Romaines, ranopoed, the Bittarnes not able to fullerne the violent inwression of the Romain legions, hid the clues in p woos. out of the which, by often illues, they arecuously a many times affilled the Romanes, a did them so those days was not governed by one fole prince. great domage. In the mean time, the strong Citie of Erinouant with bir Duke Andzogius de-Lucring fortie hollages, relied unto Celar, whole eräple many other Cities following, allyed the= solves with the Romains, by whose information Celar with fore fight twice at length the towns of Callibrian, situate betwirt two marifies, fensed

it great plentie of all things. After this Cefar returned into Fraunce, and bellowed his armie in ulaces to foiozne there for the winter feafon.

Thus muche hath Bede . The Scottill wiiters reporte, that the Britons after the Romaines were the firste time repulled (as before pee have heard,) refused to recepue the appe of the Scottiffimen the second time, so were ban= quillied, as in the Scottill billogies ve mave fce beeing emittoned about with the puissance of the io more at length expressed. Thus much touching the warre which Julius Eclar made against the Bzitons, in bzinging them under tribute to the Romains. But heere is to be noted, that Cefar did not vanquish at the Britons: for he came not amonalt the Acethein men, only viscourring & subduing b part which lyeth towards the French feas: fo that lith other of the Romain Emperois did most earnessly transile to being the Britons bnoer their subicition (whiche were euer redy to Cefar being returned into Gallia, had placed his 20 rebell to many funday tymes Cefar might feme rather to hanethewed Britain to the Romas, tha Cornelius to have delinered but o them the possession of the Tacitus. fame. This subjection to the whiche he broughte this Jie what mener of one so ever it was chan= ced about v pere of the world. 3912. after v buyl= ding of Rome. 698, before the birth of our lauioz 52. the 1. and second percof the. 181. Dipripiade; after the coming of Brute. 1060. befoze the con= quest made by Willia duke of Pozmandie. 120. with great difficultie were repaired. The horfe= 30 and.1629.pres before this prefent yere of our lord 15- e as Harison hath set downe.

In vit. Agr.

After that Julius Cefar had thus made the Fabian. Britanns tributaries to & Romaines, & was returned into Ballia, Callibelan reigned. 7. peres, e was vanquiffed in the ninth or tenth pere after he bega first to raigne, so p he raigned in p whole about. 15. 02 as foine hauc. 17. percs, 4 then dped, leauing no issue behinde him. There bath binan old Chronicle (as fabia recordeth) which he law tepned, that this Caisibellane was not brother to Lud, but clott fon to him: for otherwise as mare be thought (faith he) Cefar having the bover hand flet op Androgeus the right heire to the crowne, as some to the sapo Lud. But what somer oure Chronicles or the Brittill billories report of this matter, it Monloc appears by that whiche Celar cola. . Writeth(as partly pe hane heard) that Britaine in but by diners, and that diners cities were allates of themselnes, so that the lande was deutoed into funder governments, muche after the forme and manner as Germany and Italy are in our time, where some Cities are governed by one onely Prince, some by the nobilitie, and some by the people. Ind whereas viners of the rulers in those also with the couerte of woods, thauing within dayes herre in thes lande were called Kings.

The Historie of Englande.

those had more large feigniouries than the other, clience 2 85 Calfibellane, who was therfore called a king. Ind though we do admit this to be true, pet may it bee that in the beginning after that Brute entred the land, there was orderned by him a Moparchic, as before is mentioned, which might cotinue in his posteritic many peeres after, and pet atlength before the comming of Celar, through smull diffention, might happily be broken, and detime of this Callibellane, but allo log after, inhileft they lined as tributaries to the Romanes, till finally they were suboued by the Sarous. In mhiche meane time, through the discorde, negli= cence, or rather unaduited rashnesse of writers, harditis to indec what map be affirmed and recepued in their writings for a troth, namely concerning the fuccession of the Kings that are lapb to have raigned betwirte the dayes of Cassibil= Cartait in manne writers, (* namely Tacitus) report, that ribe Agre the Britagnes in times past were under the rule of Kings, and after being made tributaries, were diamen so by Princes into sundry factions, that to defend and keepe off a comon icoperdy, scarce= ip would two or three Cities agree togither, and take weavon in hande with one accorde, fo that whilest they fought by partes, the whole was ve uercome.

And after this forte they fave that Brytanne 39 was brought into the forme of a prouince by the Romanes, from whome governours wier the name of Legates and procurates were lente that had the rule of it. But pet the tame authors make mention of certapne kings cas hereafter Chall app peare) the whiche, whilest the Romaine Einperours had the most part of the earth in subjection. raigned in Bzitapne. The same witnesseth Gildas faying: Britagne hathe Kings, but they are Tyrants: Judges it hathe, but the lante are wice 26 Tormace : but in the lamo Chronick it is conked, oftentimes foorling and toxarenting the innocent people. And Celarias pe hane heard) (peal keth of foure Kings that ruled in Kent, and theis aboutes. Cornelius Caeifus maketh mention of Pralutagus, and Cogionnus, that were Kyngs in Britanne : and Junenall fpeaketh of Atulea? gus: and all the late writers of Lucius. Hereby it appearctly, that whether one or kings there were in Britaphe, bearing tule bnier p Rosmayne Emperours. On the other parte, the cours so tev this life after he had raigned suppeaus a mag mon opinion of our Chionicle writers is, that & thiefe gouernement elmained euer with the Bris taynes, and that the Romayne Senate recepi uing an pectely tribute, fent certayne times (ex officio their Emperours and Lieutenants inco this Ille, to reprelle the rebellious tumultes there in begonne, or to beate backe the invalion of the enimics that went about fo inuade it. Inothis woulde the writers inferre, that the Britannes ever obeyed their King, till at length they were put belide the concernement by the Sarons. But where as in the common historic of Englande. the fuccession of Kings analyt to be kepte, so ofte as it chanceth in the fame, that there is not any founde to foll the place, then one while the Ros mane Emperous are placed in their fleades, and another while their lieutenants, and are layor to nided into partes, and to remayned not only in § 10 be created Kings of the Britaines, as though the Emperours were inferiours buto the Kings of Britaine, and that the Romane Lieutenants at their appointments, and not by prescripte of the Senate or Emperours administred & Pronince. But this may luffice here to aductife you of the contrarictie in writers, a now we will goe forth in following our historics, as we have done heretofoze, saving that where the Romaine histories write of things done here by Emperous or their lant, and the comming of the Sarous. The Ro- 20 Lieutenants, it thall be Mewed as reason revolts reth, lith there is a great appearance of troth offe times in the same, as those that be authorised and allowed in the opinion of the learned.

Theomantius.

Astrony with Theolan, Chrema= matius. tius or Tenā= tius the poaclt tonne of Lud, was unde K. of Bultapfie in the piete of the 1010210. 3 9 2 1. efter the buil-oing of Rome 706. and before the comming of Christ. 45. He is named also in one of the Englishe Chronicles Fabran. terned, that mother but his had ther And regins was King, where Golfrey of Mountouth & other tellille that Androquis abanemothe land cleres ly, and continued flibat Biblioghy confidence Gal. M. the Baternks hater him for the trasposition bedse rommitted filmomo Julius Irlan praise falafe Abellance: Thehmanting relevation landing my quiet; and paled the tribute to High amanen minithe Calibellane had gradult a fundament muste binded at Abnobile sections of rather hanged that

The found of Theomorphis of the first Kymtaymen made King after the decelle of his far belyne, ther, in the percast he coally and after the hunts dintrof Rome. 728: and before the birthe of our Squionre. 23. ... This man as sonie write, was Columna.

Fabien our brought op at Rome, and there made Knight by of Juido de Augustus Cefar, under whome hee ferued in the warres, and was in suche fauour with him, that he was at libertic to pay his tribute of not.

Little other mention is made of his doyngs, except that during his raigne, the Sauiour of the morly, our Lord Felus Christ, the only sonne of Christ our Sa- God, was borne of a Elirgin about the. 23. yeare viour is borne of the regame of this Kynibalyne, and in the. 42. of the Enwerour Danius Augustus, that is to witte, in the peace of the Worlde. 3966. in the le= conde peare of the. 194. Dlympiade, after p buil= ding of the Citie of. Rome. 750. nigh at an end, after the universal floud.2311, from the birth of X= braham. 2019, after the departure of the Ffraclites out of Egipt. 1512. after the captimitie of Babylon 535. from the building of the Temple by Salomon. 1034, and from the arrivall of Bzute, 1116. complete. Couching the continuance of preares mongst weiters, but the best approued affirme, was buried at London, leaving behind hym two fonnes. Euiderius and Aruiragus.

But heere is to be noted, that although our his Rolles do affirme, that as well this Kymbeline. as also his father Theomantius, lined in quiet mith the Romans, and continually to them pap= en the tributes which the Britons hav couenanted with Julius Cclar to pay. Pet wee finde in the Romane writers, that after Julius Celars death, when Augustus had taken bypon him the rule of the Empire, the Britagnes refused to pay that tribute: whereat as Cornclius Tacitus reporteth, Augustus being otherwise ocupied) was in vita lu. contented to winke, howbeit, through earnest calling byon to recourt his right by such as were Desirous to see the bitermost of the British kingdome, at length, to witte, in the tenth peere after the death of Julius Celar, whiche was about the thirtenth vecre of the lavo Theomantius, Augus of Kymbelines raigne, is some discordaunce as 20 flus made pronision to palle with an army ouer into Britagne, and was come forward won his Dion Casin ionrney into Ballia Celtica : oz as wee may fay, into these hither partes of Fraunce.

nonians which inhabited the country now caldon smodul anatians whome uow we call Slauons had rebelled, he thoughte it belt arft to subdue those Rebeiles neere bonie, rather than to locke newe countreys, and leave suche in harard whereof he had presente possession, and so furning his power against the Pannonians and Dalmatians, he left off for a time the warres of Britaine, whereby the lande remapned withoute till the pere after the building of the citle of Rome 725. and about the. 19. perc of king Theomantius reigne, d Augustus with an army Departed once gapne from Rome to palle ouer into Bzitarne. there to make warre, but after his commong into Callia, when the Britaynes fent to him certaine Imballadors to treate with hint of peace, be flais ro there to lettle the flate of things among the

Baulles, for that they were not in very and or But here receiving aduertisements that & Pas 40 der, thaving finished there, he wet into Spapne, and to his iourney into Britagne was put off til the next peece, that is, the. 726. after the buildying of Rome, which fell befoze the birth of our Saulour. 25. about whiche time Augustus eftsones meante the third time to have made a bopage into Britapne, by caule they could not agree pipon concnaunts: But as the Pannonians and Dalmatians habbe afore time staped bint, when He kepenot as before is fayde, her meente to haue gone promise with againste the Britannes so were promise with the Romps frate of any inualion to be made by & Romains, so againste the Britagnes: so cuen nome the Ste lastians, (a people inhabiting betwirt Italy, and Those of Gi Swetzerland,) the Cantalyians and Afturians lice & Mily by luche repellious flurers as they repled with decive him from his purpoled journey. But when ther this cotrourrie winch appeareth to fail wife betweet the Butannes and Lucustus, mas oce casioned by Kymbeline of some other Prince of the Bzitagnes, I have not to anouchifor that by var writers it is reported, that Kymbelyne being brought op in Rome, and made Knighte in the Court of Lugultus, euer fhewed himfelfe a fried to the Romanes, and chiefly was loth to breake with them, bycause the youth of the Britayne nation thoulde not bee deprined of the benefite to bee trayned and broughte by among the Romarnes, whereby they mighte learne both to behave themselves lyke civill men, and to atterne. to the knowledge of feates of warre. But whe- 10 ther for this respect, or for that it pleased the Almightic God fo to dispose the myndes of men at that prefent, not only the Britagnes, but in ma= ner all other nations were contented to be obe= dient to the Romayne Empire. That thes was true in the Butaynes, it is enidente prough by Strabors wordes, whiche are in effeit as follo= meth. It this present (sayth he) certagine princes of Britarne, procuring by Anibassadors and Lugustus, have offered in the Capitoll onto the Goddes presentes or gistes, and have orderned the whole Tle in a maner to be appertenant, pro= per and familiar to the Romannes. They are burdened with loze custonies whiche they pay for wares, eyther to be fent forth into Gallia, oz brought from thence, whiche are commonly iuo= ne bellels, theares, onches, or earcring, and otherconceptes made of ambre, and glaffes, and fuche is no neede of any army or garrison of menne of warre to keepe the Ade, for there needeth not nait one legion of fwtemen, or some wing of horse= men, to gather by and recepue the tribute: for the charges are rated according to the quantitie of the tributes : for otherwise, it Coulde be ncedefull. to abate the cultomes, if the tributes were also repled: and if any violence shoulde be vico, it were daung rous least they mighte be prouoked to rebellion. Thus farre Strabo. Guiderius.

Gütte son of Guide-Kymbaline (of rius. whome Parris From hences fon fayeth no= forth yee shall thing, beganne of the Lord in his raigne in y the margente. feuententh pere after the incars natio of Christ. This Guideri= us being a man of flout courage, gaue occasió of breach of peace betwirt the Britaines and Ros mapnes, denying to pay the tribute, and procuring the people to newe infurredious, the why che by one meane or other made open rebellion, as Gildas hath. Whereboon, the Emperour Calis Caligula. putifull pemeanors the amitie of the Emperoure 20 gula (as some thinke,) twee occasion to leavie a power, and as one otterly milliking the negligence (as he called it) of Augustus & Tiberius his predecessors, be meant not only to reduce the Tland but o the former subjection, but also to search out the bettermost boundes thereof, to the behave of himselfe, and of the Romanne Monarchie.

Greate promition therefore was made by the fayde Caligula to performe that noble enterpaile, and this was in the fourth peare of bys like manner of merchandile: so that nowe there to raigne. The lyke preparation was made on the other five by Guiscrius, to relift the forayne ene= mics, so that having all things in a readincile, he crafted not dayly to loke for the comming of the Emperour, whome her meante to recepue with. harpe entertapnemente if bee burft aduenture tofet towarde Beitayne. But, lee the lequeale: the Dion Casins. mayne army beering thus in a readinesse, des lib.55. parteth from Rome in the. 79, peare after the buyloing of the Citic, and marching frozther gaine reflozed when requelt was made for the Dion Callius writeth, how one Bericus, be- Din Call ing expelled out of Britagne, perfwaded & Emperoure Claudius to take the warre in hande at this time against the Bzitapnes, so that one Lulus Plautius a Senator, and as then Pretor, was appointed to take the army that soiourned in fraunce then called Gallia, and to palle cuer hearing of thys voyage, were loth to goe with him, as men not willing to make warre in another worlde: and therefore delayed trme, till at length one Parciffus was lente from Claudius (asit were) to appeale p fouldiers, a procure the to let forward. But wife this Parcissus wet by into the tribunal throne of Plautius, to declare $ cause of his comming, y Souldiers taking great indignation therewith cried , o sururnalia , as if led. When the servants apparrelled in their mai= flers robes, represented the romth of their mais flers, and were ferued by them, as if they faide bin their servants, and thus at length constrey= ned through bery fhame, they agreed to followe Plautius. Herebpon being embarqued, he deutded his natic into three partes, in the ende, that if they were kept off from arriving in one place, pet ther might take land in another. The Shippes contrary winds that drove them backs agains: but pet the Warriners and men of warre takeng god courages unto them, the rather bicaule there was ferne a forry frame to flote out of the Caft towardes the Mel, which way their course lay, made forwarde equine with their Shippes, and landed without finding anye resistaunce. For the Britagnes loked not for their comming: wherefore, when they bearde howe their enimies were alande, they gote them into the Woodes and marifies, trulling that by lingering of time

The foovle

whence they mighte loke ouer, and beholde the cliffes and coaft of Beitaine, whiche Caligula ? his men floo galing vyo with great admiratio ? wonder, furthermoze he caused them to stand in battel array byon the coast, where he heard, howe the Britagnis were in a redinelle to withstande his entrace: but he entring into his galley, as no= thing viscouraged w these newes, rowed a flight flot of two from the floge, and foothwith retur- 10 with the same into Britagne. The Souldvers ned, t then going op into an high place like a pulpet, framed a let up there for the nonce, he gaue p token to fight but o his fouldiers by found of trupet, and therewith was each man charged to ga= ther cockle flicks byo the flore, which he called the of the Ocean. Spoyle of the Ocean, and caused them to be lappe by untill a time courniente. With the archiening of this explort (as having none other wherewith to beautific his triumph) he feemed greatly exal= ted, thinking that now he had subdued the whole 20 they should have celebrated their feast day so cal-Decan, and therefore highly rewarded his foul= diers for their paynes full eyned in that collection of cockle flelles, as if they had done him come no= table peece of lervice. He also carried of the same Melles with him to Rome, to the ende he myghte there boast of his voyage, and bragge how well he had feed: and required therefore very earneftly to have a triumph decreede but o him for the ac= completiment of this enterpale. But whe he law the Senate grudge at the free and liberall graun- 20 f. fered some impeachment in their passage by a ting of a grace in that behalfe, and perceived how they refused to attribute denine honors but o him. In recompence of to folish an enterprise, it wan= teo little that he had not flarne them every one. From thence therefore he wente by into a throne of royall scate, and calling therewith the commo people about him, he tolde them a long tale what admintures had chanced to him in his conquest of the Decan, and when her percepued them to fronte and crie, as if they had conserted that hee 40 Could have bin a God fer this tis greate trauell and valuant prower, he to increase their clamour, caused great quantities of golde and silver to bee feattered amongst them, in the gathering whereof, many were preffed to beathe, and divers allo Nayne with himmenomed caltrops of iron, which he did cast out with the savd money of purpose to Doe mischiefe, the same caltrops being in forme finall and fliarp, to that by reason of the preaste of people, much hurte was done by them ere they 50 were percenued. Ind this was the ende of the ris Piculous boyage of Caligula attempted against at length commeth to the Belgique Moze, from

But after the death of this Caligula, the Ems peroure Claudius as Suctomus hath,) moued warre against the Butarnes, breause of a sture and Rebillion review in that lands, for that fuche fugitius as were fled from thence, were nor a the Butarnes.

Succonina.

the Romagnes would be confirequed to departe, as it had chanced in time palt to Julius Celar

Plantius therefoze had muche adoe to fynde them out, but after hee had found them, firlte hee panquiffed Cataratacus, and after Cogodum= nus the connes of Cynobellinus: for thepr father was dead not very long befoze. These therefoze flecing their wayes, Plantius recepued parte of the people called Bodumni (which were tubied's 10 buto them that were called Catuellani) into the oberfance of the Romaynes: and to leaving there a garrison of Souldiers, he passed further till hee came to a river whiche coulde not well be palled without a bridge : wherebppon the Britaynes toke small regard to befend p passage, as though they had bin furc inough. But Plantius appointed a certaine number of Germannes whyche he had there with him (being bled to foinning onet rivers, although never to twift) to get over, whis the they did, fleaing a wounding the Bzitaynes bother which were fallned to their waggens of Charrets forthat the Britannes were not as ble to voe anye piece of their arcullomedifervice Boith the lame is in the induly suggested.

perrewith also was flauius Uclpalianus that afterwards was Emperous with his brok ther Sabinus line over that rived, which become rote to the further floe, flewe wareste minimum of the enimies. The relidue of the Britapnes fled, but the nexte days broffered news battell, in the which they also fought to flourly, that the vices ry depended longfin boubtfull ballance, till C. Sidius Getabeing almost at poput to be taken, Did so handle the matter, that the Britarnes fi= nally were put to dight: for the whiche his baliant beings, triumphante bonozs were bellomen byon him although he was no Contut.

The Britagnes after this Battell withdzein to the River of Chaines nere to the place where it falleth into the Sea Japo knowing the Wellowes and firme places themof, carly is fict ouer to the further lide, whome the Rome resitols lowing through lacke of knowledge in the hiature of the places, thep fel into p marelle grouds, and to came to tole many of their men, namely of the Germannes, which were the fielf that pals fed ouer the River to follow the Britaines, partly by a bridge whiche lap within the countrep ouer the layde River, and partly by formming. and other such thist as they presently made. The Britagnes having loft one of they? Riflers, that is to witte, Togodumnus, of whome per haue hearde befoge, were nothing discoraged, but rather the moze egrely let on reuenge Dlantius percepuing their flercenielle, went no fliethet, but Nayed and placed garrilons in flectes, where neede required, to keepe those plates whiche hee had gotten, and with al speede fent abliertisemet bnto Claudius, accordingly to that be hadde in commaundement, if any bigent necellitie thould so move him. Claudius therefore hauing all things befoze hand in a readinelle, dreightwayes bpon the recepting of the advertischient, deparites from Rome, and came by water buto D-20 Stia, and from thence onto Massilia, & so through Fraunce, wed his tourneys till hee came to p lide of the Decean lea, and then embarquing hymlefte with his people palled ouer into Bzitaine, & came to bis army which above his coming necre (pp Thaines fibe, where being joined, thep paf-Tie the River agayne, fought with the Biltaines in a pight fictor, and getting the history, take the thunk of Canadadunum, which may the chieself Citic appertuning unto Cympulinum. Dec trouced also make ather people in the his and celtin some by fairs may some by free the coherof de masscalled offentiones by the transcording e-com, which was against the applicance of a Ro-mances: for it was not lamball to dry to take y manie dipport film, offiner than other in any one

Corconer Claudius tolke from the Bris tagnes their armor and weapons, and committed the governement of them buto Planting, co= mannding him to endeuor bimiles to lubone the Trick on we don't sometime block of

Thus halling broughte buber a parte of Dion Casim. Britapne, and fianing mabe bis abobe therein not pall a firteene dayes, he departed, and came backe agaphe to Roine with billow in h lifth moneth after his letting forth from thence, gp. suctonim. uing after his returne, to his son, the fuiname of Bittaunicus, 😘 🔞

This warre he finissed, in manner as before is land, in the fourth years of his raigne, why che fell in the years of the worlde. 4011, and after the birth of our Sanioure. 44. after the building of Three be that write, how Claudius subdu= ed and added to the Romaine Empire, the Iles of Dekney lituate in the Porth Decan beyonde Britagne, which might well be brought to palle epther by Plautius, or some other his Lieute= 10 nerbefollowed thereof, whiche was commonly nant: for Plautius indeede for his noble promes and vallant acces atchieuco in Bzitayne, after= mards triumphed. Titus the foune of Uchasian also wanne no small peaple for delivering bys father out of pannger in his time, beeing belette with a company of Britannes, whiche the fande Titus bare downe and put to flight with greate flaughter. Beda following & authoritie of Snetonius, writeth briefly of this matter, and fayth, that Claudius palling over into this Ide, to the 20 with Courge and whippe, and if the matter to whiche nepther before Julius Celar, nor after bun any Araunger durit come, within few days recepued the most part of the countrey into hys subjection without battell or bloudsped.

Gildas also writing of this revolting of the Britagnes, farth thus, when information thereof was quento the Senate, and that hall was made with a speedy army to revenge the same, there was no warlike nauce prepared in the Sea to fyghte valiontly for terence of the countries. no funere battell, no right wing, nor any other provision appointed on the More to bee frene but the backes of the Britannes in fleade of a flicide art flicimed to the perfecutors, and their neckes ready to bee cutte off with the fwords through colde frare running through their bones, whi= the Aretched forth their handes to be cound like momanly creatures, so that a common $200 bled and woken . that the Butannes were nevther boliant in warre, not farthfull in peace: and to the Romannes fleaing many of the Ribelles. referring some, and bringing them to bandage. that the lande shoulde not be altogither intilled and defect, refurned into Italy out of that lange which was borde of wine and oile, leaning some of their men there for governors to challile the people, not so muche with an army of men. as required, to apply the naked foroide unto they? spors: so that it might be accompted Romeans not Britaphe. Ind what edigne cyther ofbralle, filuer, or golde there was the fame to be flanwed with the Image of the Emperoure. Thus farre Bildas.

In the Brittill billogie toe finde other report as thus, that Claudius at his continuing a large Gal. Men. at Poschester, brlieged that towns, to the reflecte Met. PV:

to the Romannes, put them to the worle, till at Lingth, one Damo, beeping on the Romannes fode, chaunged hys thiclde and armoure, anvarrelleng bemfelfe inke to a Bzitapne, and foentring into the thickest preasse of the Britiste bolt, came at length to the place where the King was, and there flewehim. But Truragus perceruing this milebiele, to the ende the Byrtaines whereof came Guinderius, and giving battell 50 shoulde not be discouraged therewith, he caused bunfelic to be adorned with the Kings coate armour, and other abiliments, and fo as Kyng continued the fight with fuch manhood, that the Romapnes were put to flighte. Claudius ficeing backe to bys Shipues , and haning to the nexte Micodes , whome Truitagus pur= fued, and at length drove byni buto the sign lyde, and there slewe bym are her couldentake

Paulo to the nerte woodes, whome Aruiracus: corfued, aud at length, dzoue him buto the Sea are, and there flewe hym ere hee coulde take. the haven which was there at hand, forthat the fame haven toke name of hym_and mas called long tome after hamons haven, and at leath by. corruption of speeche, it was called hanwton. and to continueth buto thes day commonly called Southampton.

Thus have you hearde howe Guydrius 02 10 Sumperius whether you will) came to his ende. which chanced (as forme write) in the 28 pears of his raigne.

Aruiragus.

A Ruiragus ý pogelt fon of Kimbelyne, brother to Guinderius, by cause the same Buinderius lefte no issue to 20 fucceede him, was ad= mitted Kyng of Bri= tayne in the pere of bure Lozd. 45. 02 rather. 46. This Armiragus, o= therwise called by the Britapnes Meuricus or Mabus, of Cacitus Plasutagus, is also named Armager in p Engliffic Chronicle, by whiche Chronicle (as it ap-

Claudius and his Romagnes in the warre, whyche they made agaynste hym in so muche. that when Claudius hadde renued his fozegand wonne porchefter, and after came to bellege Wincheller, (in the whiche Arniragus as then was enclosed,) Arniragus affembling bis pos wer, was ready to come forth and give Claudius battell: wherebypon, Claudius doubting the fequele of the thing, fente meffengers buto Antion, the matter was taken by, with condition; that Claudins Montde gyue his daughter Benille in marriage unto Armiragus, and Armiragus Child acknowledge to holde hys Bingdome of the Romannes.

Some waite that Claudius in fauour of the baliant promes which he faw and found in Arnicagus, honozed not only hym with the marris age of hys daughter the land Genissa, but also to where this marriage was folemnized, hee therefore called it Glandiocestria, after his name, the whiche in the Brittishe tong was called before that days Carricon, and after Glovernia, of a Duke that ruled in Demetia, that hepght Blus up, but nom it is called Glowceller.

Sther there be that write, how Clandius being variquissed in battell by Fruiragus, was compellio by the faybe Acutragus to give finto ? him his layde vaughter to wife, with condition. as before is mentioned and champen Aintridus mas crowned king of Bittapne. Bult Bluton Juetonim. nius may ameta reproductive particulative Bide tiff history, the whiche in the life of Clanding. witnesseth, that he had by three winescondy three daughters, that is ito favolidaudia, Antonia, and Difania : and further, that dreputing Clandia not to be his, caused hir to be ratte nominic at the doze of his wife Hercilanilla, whome he had forfaken by way of dinocement. And that hee beflowed his daughter Antonia first on En. Bompeins Magnus , and after on faultus Silla, right noble yong men: and Pitania, he matched with Pero his wines fonne, whereby it Moulde appeare, that this limpoled marriage betwirte Arnitagus and the panghter of Claudius, is but a farned tale. And herre to speake my fancy also what I thynke of this Truitagus, and other the Kyngs whome Balfrid and luch as have followed hym do regiller in ozder, to fuccerde one after another: I will not denie but luche persons there were, and the fame happily, bearing bery great rule in the lande, buf that they reigned as absolute kings quer the whole, or that they fuccerbed one after another in maimer as is anouched by the fance waters, it letwicth most bulyke to bee true : foz peareth he bare hymleste ryght manifully against 30 rather to may bee gelled by that whythe as well. Eilogs enthrolde approud Moinaine wifers have written, that dyners of thefe Kyngs lynedi about one tidue, up in thmes greatle destreing from thole tymes, whythe in oure writers wer finde notions to for enfample, Junemali makerh thes Armiagus of whome we now entreate; to rmant alime Donnitians tour. Formy parte threfoze, fith this coder ufithe Brittiche Kingly: fuccellion mathy splage: to more rafie to bolladigo ragus to treate of concord, and, to by compositi- 40 denyed and within represent, than tether wisely? defendence of ulpanamoen! Abuil reforce thered forming thereof, unto those that have perbeifbes feenenisze dien grade, optatore: brebeineitila dered that the output limbouried trotter and in the menne foure, A have thoughte good? both to spenix what frequenciar outre aplicates. and like infranche four agus muiters, to the tubicis we thynke namely, in thys whalfer! whylesteps Romayrics gourines there; for may fafely gyue the ende to make the Towns more famous 50 most crevise, not weed in the never so punche contente ourfeines withoutpring in and finder fente as Coronell of Revenue Course of Antonio 5. To proceede pet. with the hillion was wee houte it. by our wettern fet. fwathulf is reporten? that after the solemnisation of time mandlage; whythe was done with all honor that the public Legions of inte denised not Clauding rectange idenis Souldiers ons of Soulders with to grante Meiande to lande.

lupone

subout that sountrey, and returned himselfe to

After his beparture, Truiragus robe about to bicione the flate of hys Realme, repaying Citics and Commes occaped by the warre of the iko= nuspues, and fame hys people governed with fuehe indice and god order, that her was both diadde, and greatly beloued: so that in tradic of tyme, her grewe very welthic, and by reason thereof, sell into pride, so that he denyed his sub thereof, sell into pride, so that he denyed his subthereof, sell into pride, sell into pri iedion to the Romaynes. Wiherebpon Claudi= us appoynted Elefpallan with an army to gue Velpallan. as Licutenant into Beptayur, the whiche iours. Britavoc. ney was to him the beginning of his advance.

Tac.in die. luckily succeeded. But if wer shall credite our Agr.lib., Bzitayne witers, he gayned not nuche at Ar= and lib.3. a puissaunte number of armed menne, that the Romagnes were afragde to approche the elepatian therefoze withdzewe from thence, and coalling Wieltwarde, landed at Cotnes, and comming to Ereter, belieged that Citie:but about the feuenth day after he hadde planted hys flege, came Aruiragus, and gaue him ba tell,in the which both the Armies fullepned greate lolle of men, and neyther parte got any aduantage of the other. On the mogrowe after, the Ducene 40 ment of things in Bzitayne with Claudius, and Genissa made them friendes, and so the warres craffed.

But feeing that (as before 3 hane fayde) the troth of this hillorie may be greatly militus ffed, per fhall heare what the Romanne writers fay of Alespasianus being bere in Britayne, befor that whiche wee have already recited out of Dion in the lyfe of Guiderius.

In the dayes of the Enweroure Claudius. through favour of Martiffus (one that myghte 50 nowe in hys olde age, and so continued in quito all with Claudius) the layde Cichellan was fente as Cozonell of Lieutenaunt of a legion of Sonlviers into Germany, and becyng renioued from thence into Butagne, bee fought thirtie leucrall tymes with the crimies, and brought onto the Romagne obeylance, two most mightie nations, and about twentie Cownes, togither with the Alle of Wlight , and thefe explortes hee atchicuco; partly bnder the conduct of Aulus Planting that was Ruler of Britagne for the Emperour Claudius, and parti binder the fame Emperour bimfelle. For asit is euident by wie ters of good credite, bee came first ouer into Bgis tapne with the land Julus Plautius, and under him ferned right valiantly, as befoge in place wee have partly touched. By Cacitus it appeareth, that he was called to be partener in the gouerns had fuch fuccelle, as it appeared to what effate of bonor her was predestinate, hauing conquered nations, and taken Kings prisoners. But nowe to make an ende with Truiragus: It length whe Gd.Mon. bee percepued that his force was to weake to preuaple agaynste the Romayne Empire, and that hee Moulde firine but in bayne to Make the poke of subirction from the neckes of the Bis taynes, bet made a finall peace with them ete the relidue of his raigne, whiche hee lately ended by brathe, after hee habbe wourt ned the lande by the frace of thirtie pretes, of but enght and formie, as fome other doe find gine. De bred in the verre of grack. 72. 85 one Authoure affirmeth , and was buried at Math. Glouceller.

Juthe dayes of this Truitegus, about the

The Historie of Englande.

the Gospell there amongst the Britaynes, and instructing the in the faith and lawes of Theist.

converted many to the true beliefe, and baptised them in the wholesome water of regeneration.

and there continued all the relidue of his lyfe.

obteying of the King a plotte of grounde where and there with his fellowes began to lay the first foundation of that true and perfect Religion, in which place (or neere therebuto) was afterward

Dicephozus writeth in his fecond Boke and fourth Chapter, that one Simon Zelotes came likewile into Britagne. And Theodozetus in his

9. Boke de Curandu Gracoru affectibus theweth, that Paule being released of his secod imprison-theo the Gospell to the Britagnes and to other

The fame thing in manner Doth Sophzoni= us the Patriarke of Jerulalem witnelle. Tertullian also may bee a witnesse of the auncientie of the fayth recepued heere in Britagne, where hee writing of these times sayeth: Those places of & Butaines to the whiche the Romaynes coulde

net approche, were subied buto Christ, as were Chusit map appeare, that & Chaillian reli-

Counchus Cacitus wziteth, that the Ro-medied the Abbey of Blastenbury.

nations in the West.

mania, Scithia, and others.

reare of Chailt. 51. Foleph of Aramathia (whych mayne Emperoures in this feason gouerned furted the body of our Sauloure, beeing fente by this land by Lieutenantes and Threaforers, the Treaforers or which were called by the name of Legates and recyuers. philippe the Ipolite (as John Bale, following the authoritie of Gildas and other Britifle wai-Procurators, thereby to keepe the inhabitantes ters mitteth.) After that the Chaillians were difthe better in order. perfed out of Gallia, came into Bzitagne with Diners other godly Chailtian men, and paeaching

And Aulus Plautius a noble man of Rome Aulus Plauof the order of Confuls, was sente hither as the first Legate of Licutenant in manner as before for that they thought, a new Lieutenaunt with an army to him binaquayinted and commen o= ner nowe in the beginning of Winter, woulde not be hallie to march fwath against them. But Officius understanding, that by the firste suc= celle and chance of warre, feare of hope is bredde o and augmented, hasteth forwarde to encounter with them, and such as he findeth abzoade in the countrey he fleath downe right on every five, and pursueth such as sledde, to the ende they shoulde not come togither againe: and for that a Difulcafant and a doubtfull peace was not like to bying quietnesse exther to him or to his army, her toke from such as he suspected, thepe armour. Ind after this, hee goeth about to defende the rouces of Auon and Seneme, with placing his fouldiers to inhabite, not pall a foure miles from Wicles, 30 in campes fortifged necre to the fame. But the Oxfordilite menne and other of those parties would not luffer hym to accomplish his purpose in any quict fort, being a puissant kynd of people. f not hitherto weakened by warres: for they willingly at the first had toyned in amitte with the and to they chose forth a plotte of grounde, fen= sed with a mightic ditche, but o the whiche there ment, and suffered to departe from Rome, preas 40 was no way to enter but one, and the same very narrowe, to as the hortemen could not have any calle pallage to becake in opon them. Difogius, although he hadde no legionarie Souldiers, but certains bandes of apoes, marcheth forthe towards the place within the which the Bzitaines > their valiant flomackes. In this battell, the sonne of the Lieutenante 2 certayne M. Offering deferred the price and commendar Crowns, to be tion of preserving a Citien out of the enimies set on his head called ci-pe haue heard) and after him Mflozius Scapu= Offorius Scala, the whiche Scapula at his comming, founde pula. the Ide in trouble, the chimies having madein-ualid into the countrey of those that were frieds Cor. Tacitus to the Romanus, the moze presumptuously, lib.12. Romaines. The Countreys adiopning also be= Corneliu Taing induced by their procuremente, came to the, cie. lib.12. were lodged, and affaulting them in the same. breaketh through into their camp, wher the Bris tapnes being impeached with their owne inclosiers whiche they had repled for defense of the also the countreps of Sarmatia, Dacia, Ger= 50 place, knowing how for their rebillion, they were like to finde final mercy at the Romaynes hads, when they fame now no way to escape, layor a= bout them manfully, and thewed greate profe of Su-tonias.

Velpalita.

gion was planted here in this lande Mottly after Chaills time, although it certaynely appeare not who were the firste that preached the Gospell to the Britagnes, noz whether they were Brekes 0; Latines.

uicacorona.

Cangi.

The Historie of Englande. copie of some writing ealily committe a faulte in noting the one for the other.

adle fynde in Ptolomei Camudolon to bee a Cific belonging to the Trinobantes, and he maketh mention also of Camulodunum, but Hum= frey Liburde thinketh that hee meaneth all one Potwithstanding, Polidoze Bergill is of a contrary opinion, supposing the one to be Col= num to be Duncaffer oz Pontfret. Zeland effee. ming it to be certagnely Colchefter, taketh the Te ceni allo to be the Porthfolke men. But howe fo cuer we finall take thes place of Tacitus, it is e= nidente ynough that Camulodunum flode not farre from the Thaymes. And therefoze to feeke it with Bedoz Bortius in Scotlande, 02 with Polidoze Bergill to farre as Doncaffer oz Poutfret, it may bee thought a playne erroz:but matter to doubtfull (as to many it fermeth to be) we will proceede with the historie, touching the warres betwirte the Romannes and the Splurians, againste whome (trusting not only woon there owne manhode, but also bppon the high prowes and valiancie of Caractacus) Offorius fet forwarde. Caraffacus excelled in fame aboue all other the Princes of Britaine, aduanced therto by many doubtfull aduentures and many prosperous exployees whiche in his tyme he hadde 30 atchieued:but as her was in policie and aduauntage of place better promided than the Romaines: fo in power of Souldiers hee was overmatched. And therefore he removed the warre into the parters of that countrey where the Debouices inhabited, whiche are thoughte to have dwelled in Entligie. the bordures of Shropthire, Cheffire, and Lancallice, the which people togither with other that milliked of the Romayne gouernemente, be toy= ned in one, and chose forthe a plotte of grounde 40 was able to resist the force of noble prower. Heremost for his advantage, determining there to tric the betermost hazarde of Mars his indge-

Anna.11.

The place why che he thus chok was luch, as the entries, the backwapes, and the whole lituafron thereof made for the Britagnes aduaun= tage, and cleane contrarge to the Romagnes, enclosed amongst high hilles, and if there were any calle passage to enter it bppon any syde, the same was soutte op with mightie huge stones in 50 manner of a rampire, and afore it there ranne a tiuctivithout any certagne fourde to patte oconfyines of Shropfhire aloft uppon the toppe of an high hyll there, enulrance with a triple rainpire and ditch of great depth, having three entries

Hove.

It is also (laye they) compatited aboute with two Rivers, to witte, on the lefte hand with the River called Clun, and on the rright with an other Kiner called Tenibe. En three fpdes there of, the clime is very ffeepe and headlong, and no way easie to come unto it, but onely

Caratacke haupng thus foziffed hymselfe chester indeede, and the other that is Camelodus to within thys place, and broughte his army into it : hee to encourage bys profile, exhorted them to thewe there manhade, aftirming that to bee the daye, and that army to bee the fame where= in Coulde appeare the beginning epther of libertie, then to bee recouered, oz elle of perpetuall bondage for euer to be sustepned.

He rehearled allo specially by name those their elbers, whiche hadde refilted Julius Cclar, by whole high valiancie they lynco free from the to leave each man to his owne judgemente in a 20 bloudy thealdome and tributes of the Romanns, and enjoyed they? Wives and chilezen lafe and bnoefiled. And thus discourling of many thrngs with them, in such hope of assured vistoep, that they began to reple they? cries, cache one for himselfe declaring, that he was bound by the duthe he ought to the Gods of his countrey, not to fizinke for feare of any woundes or huttes that might chaunce buto them by the enimies wege Don.

Thys cheerefulnesse of the Britagnes, greatly allowed the Romanne Lieutenant. The hideous courle allo of the River befoze his face, the fortificatios and craggie height of the hilles, all fet full of enimies ready to beate bim backe, putte him in greate feare : for nothing he fawe afoze him, but that whiche keemed decadfull to thole that thould affayle. But the Souldiers pet feemed to be very defirous of battayle, requelling him to bring them to it, protelling that nothing with the Captaynes and Tribunes discourling the like, pricked forwarde the earnest willes whiche they? Souldiers had to fighte.

Olfopins perceyning fuche courage and readie willes in the menne of warre, as well Souldiers as Captaynes, hee beganne to beflurre himselfe, and left nothing budone that myghte serve to set forwarde they carnell desire

And having adulfedly confidered whiche wayes were harve, and impossible to bee entred bpott, and whyche places were most caste for hys Cornelius people to finde paffage by, he leadeth them forth, Tacieus. beeing most carnelly beante to cope with they? Innal. enymics.

Her passed the water withoute anye greate difficultie, but commyng to the rampyze, he loft many of his prople, to log as the fight was coti-

But nowe with this flaughter of the Drecupied, her was called backe by the Rebellion of foroffire menne, dructs of the Britannes that the Pozkeshire men, whome forthwith bypon his commyng onto them, he appealed, punishing the Simple houbtfull what way to take, exther to first authors of that tumult with death.

In the meane tyme, the people called Sie Cor. Taire lures, beeying a very fierce kynde of menne, and lib.12. right valiante, mepare to make warre agapulte the Romarnes, for they mighte not bee bowce neyther with roughnelle, noz pet with any curuery five, no enemie once daring to encounter 10 trous handling, so that they were to be tamed by an army o' legionary fouldiers to be brought a= mong them.

Therefore to restrayne the furious race of those people and their neighbours, Ditozius peo= pled a Temne necre to their bozoures, called Ca= n-uledurin with cutayne bandes of olde Souldi= ers, there to inhabite with they? Wines, and children, according to fuch manner as was bled in like cases of placing naturall Romannes in And thus Marphy pursuing the Rebells, he ape 20 any Cowne of Citic, for the more sureticand defence of the same.

> Here also was a temple builded in the honoz of Claudius the Emperour, where were two 3=

There was a Callell of great fame in tymes pall that hight Cameletum,og in Beittifte Ca-ermalet, whiche flode in the Marches of Som= merfetshire : but fith there is none that bathe fo written before thys tyme, I will not fave that harpily some error hathe growen by mistakyng

the name of Camalodunum, foz this Camale=

Coinclins Tacitus, and pet so it myght be done by luche as found it flogt, og onperfedly written, namely, by fuche strangers or other, to whome

oncly the name of Camulodunum mas onely

knomme, and Camaletum peraduenture neuer frene not beard of. Is for enlample, an Engliste man that both beard of Celaterforde in Irriand, and not of Celerfoide, might in taking forthe a an other of Clandins hunselse. But nowethere refleth a great bount among writers, where thys Citie or Cowne called Camulodunum ded stand of some and not without god grounde of probable conscitures, gathered upon the aduled confideration of the circumstances of that which in olde authors is found written of this place, it 50 tum by fuch as have copyed forthe the Boke of is thought to be Colchester But benty by thys place of Cacitus it may feeme rather to be some other towne, fituate more Wleffward than Colchester, sith a colonic of Romaine Souldiers were planted there to bee at hande, for the repref Silures where ling of the unquiet Stlures, whiche by confent of they cohabited most topiters inhabited in Southwales, or neere rest in quiet, or to moue warres, were contented to bee reformable unto a reasonable order ofpeace, and so Officius leadeth hys armye as gainste the people called Cangi, that inhabited that parte of Wales that nowe is called Den-bighflire, whiche countrey hee spoyled on e= bim: and if any of them aduentured privily to let byon those whiche they founds behinds, or on the outlides of his army, they were cut Mostere they could escape out of daunger. Wherebyon, hee marched straighte to their campe, and giving them battell, ranguilleth them. Ind bling the bidozy as reason moved him, he leadeth his army against those that inhabited the inner partes of proched neere to the seafice, whiche leth ouer

Withlest this Romane Captarne is thus oc= delales, sporting the countrey on every five.

against Iriland.

mages ereired, one of the Goddelle Elicopia, and the Wieleh Parches.

Camulodunú

This place is supposed of some to lye in the into it, not directly one againste an other, but a= to battell.

D.Hii. nuch

nued with shotte and casting of dartes: but after that the Romannes conceing them selves with they targets, came once close togither, and avreoched bnoer & Rampire, they removed away & stones which & Britannes hadroughly couched togither, and so they came to jorne with them at handblowes. The Britagnes being bnarmed, and not able to abide the force of the armed men, withozew to b top of the hilles, but as well they? enimies that were light armed as the other with heavie armoure followed and brake in among them, so as the Britagnes coulde not turne them any way fouth to cleave, for the light armed me with flot a farre off, and the heavie armed with weapons at hand, fought to make flaughter and Wracke of them on eache live, so that this was a naht volcfull day buto the Britannes.

The wife and daughter of Caratake were ta= felues. He himfelte escaped, and committing hys perion buto the affurance and trust of Cartema-Tim Durene of the Bugantes, was by bir belpacredinto the hands of the Romannes.

This was a nine veres after & warres in Bis inne fielte begin. Dis name beeing bzoughte ficith of the Ales, was already furedde over the prounces adrophing, and began nowe to growe famons through Italy. Wen therefore were belirous to fer what manner of man he was that had 40 I have thought diforyne, beryng bozne of most formany vertes let at naught the puissance force of the Empire. for in Rome the name of Caratacus was much hoken of. And the Emperoure whilest hee goeth about to preserve his owne hos noz, aduanceth theglogy of him also that was vanquisted. For the people were called for the as unto some great notable light of spesiable. The Pretonan bandes flode in oeder of battell armed in the field that lay before their longings, through mirch fielde Caratake Mould come. Then passed 50 presond my felte, neyther my power not youre fwith the travne of his friends and fernances, and fuche armour, riches. Tewels, and other thrings as had bin getein those warres, were bogne fogwarde, and openly Hewed, that all men myghte behold the same.

After these followed his breethren, Zelife, and Diughters: and last of all came Caratacus bim= felfe, whole countenaunce was nothing lyke to theirs that went afore him, for whereas they fear ken pailoners, and his breethren also geelded the- 30 ring punishment for their Rebellion with wailefull countenance craved mercy, hee neyther by countenaunce not wordes thewed any token of a discouraged minde, but beeyng presented before the Emperour Claudius litting in his Tribunall seate, he began his tale in this wife. If there hadde bin in mee so muche moderation in tyme of prosperitie, as there was nobilitie of birth. and puissance, I hadde come to this Citie rather as a friende than as a Captayne. Peyther flould noble parentes, and ruling ouer many people, to have accepted peace by way of joyning with you in league. Mp prefente fate asit is to mee reprochfull, to to you it is honorable. I hadde at commaundemente Bogles, men . armour, and great riches, what maruell is it if I was loth to forgot the lame? For if you hall loke to gouerne all men, it must needes follows that all meune must become your flaves. It I hadde at the firste glorp hadde bin let fweth to the world, and bpon imme execution & Moulde ffraight haue bin foje gotten. But if you nome graunte me life, I fall he a witnesse foz ener of poure mercifull clemen=

The Emperour with these words being pacified, graunted life both to Caratake and also to mis wife and brethren, who being loled from their handes, went also to the place where the Empes Acrimpina sate (not farre of) in a Change of e= flate, hohome they reverenced with the lyke prayle and thankes as they had done before to the Emperour.

The Historie of Englande.

After this, the Senate was called forither. who discoursed of many things touching thus honourable victorie atchieued by the taking of than whe P. Scipio thewer in triumph Siphar king of the Pumidians, of L. Paulus the Dace. bonian king Perces, oz other Romain captapnes any fuch king whom they had vanquistied.

Herebponit was euen determined, that D= storius floulde enter the Citie of Rome worth trumphe loke a Conquerour, foz suche prospe= rous successe as bytherto had followed hym: but afterwardes has proceedings were not so luckie. of the way, the Romaines as though the warre had beene finished, loked negligently to them-sclues, eyther else for that the Bertayns taking compassion of the miserable state of Caratake being so worthie a Prince, through fortunes froward afpet cast into miserie, were more carnestly fet to renenge hys quarell. And herebpon they copasse about the maister of the campe, and those le= gionarie bandes of fouldiers, which were left amongst the Silures to fortific there a place for the armie to longe in: and if fuccour had not come out Caratake, effeeming the same no leste glozious, 10 of the next townes and castels, the Romains had bene destroyed by liege. The head Captaine pet. and biij. Centurions, and cuery one clie of the copanies being most fozward, were flaine.

And shortly after, they set boon the Romaine forragers, and put them to flight, and also suche companies of hoslemen as were appointed to garde them . Herebpon Dftozius letteth fogth certaine bands of light hozimen, but neither could he stay the slight by that meanes, til finally the les cyther for that after Caratake was remoued out 20 gions entred the battail, by whole force they were stayo, and at length the Romaines obtened the better: but the Bzytayns escaped by flight without great losse, by reason the day was spent.

After this many bickerings chaunced betwirt the Byptains & Romains, and oftentymes they wrought they? feates more like to the trade of them that vie to robbe by the high wayes, than of thole that make open warre, catching their eni= mits at some aduauntage in wods and bogs, as hap or force ministred occasion byon malice contequed, of in hope of pray, somtimes by comaundeinent of knowledge of captain of officer.

It one time the Brytains surprised two bands of formen that were with the Romains in appe, and sente forth to forrey abroade buaduiscoly, through conetousnesse of the Captaines. Thes hat was atchieued by the Silures also, the which m bestowing pissoners and part of the spoyle vitto other of their neighbours, procured them likewife to rebel against the Romains, & to take part with them. The Silures were the moze carnelly fet against the Romains, by occasion of mordes which the Emperoz Claudius had ottred in their diffauoz, as thus: that cue as the Sicambres were destroyed and remoued into Gallia, so likewise must the Silmes be dealt with, and the whole nation of them extinguished.

These wordes being blowne abroade, and Dement, and sometimes without exther comaun= 50 knowne oner all, caused the Silures to concepue a wonderfull hatred agaynst the Romaynes, fo that they were fully bent, epther to retayne they? libertie, og to die in defence thereof bpon the enis mics swozdcz.

> In the means tome Offorius Scapula oc= parted this life, a right noble warriour, and one who by little and little enfuing the steps of Tulus Planting his prodecessor, did what her confde to being the Fleinto the forme of a prouince, which in part he accomplished.

biin.r

Chronologic

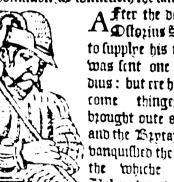

There be some led by confedure arounded bus W. H. in his pon good aduited conflocrations, that suppose this Offering Brapula beganne to build the Citie of Theffer after the ouerthzow of Caractacus, foz in those parties he fortified fundry holdes, and placed a number of olde fouldiers either there in that felf place, of in some other neare therebuto by may of a colonie. Ind fortomuch (fay they) an we read of to ken, the chiefelt and most skilfull Captain which ler of the lemone other of any name thereaboutes, it is to bee thought that he plated the same in Chester, where bis successors did afterwardes ble to harborrow their legions for the winter leason, and in time of rell from iourneres, which they have to make agaynft their common enimies, In brede it is & common opinion among the people there buto this day, that the Romains built those vaultes oz tauernes (which in that citie are boder of ground) with some part of the castell. Ind berilp as Ra- 20 umph, by whiche pleasure shewed to the Ro-R4. Higeden null Higeden sayth, a man that Mall view & well alies Cestresis. consider those buildings, he may think the same to be the work of Romains rather than of any other people. That the Romain legions oid make their abode there, no man lene in antiquities can boubt thereof, for the auncient name Caer leon ardour

ter of Det, proueth it sufficiently ynough. But now to returne buto Offorius Scapula. we finde in Cornelius Tacitus, that during the 30 time of the faine Scapula his being lieutenant in this Tle, there were certaine Cities given buto one Cogidune a king of the Bertains, who con-Kin Bryzsine, finued farthfull to the Romaines onto the dayes of the reniembrance of men living in the time of the lapo Coz. Tacit who lived and wrote in the Emperoz Domitianus time. Ind this was done after an olde recepued custome of the people of Rome, to have both lubicas a kings buder their denr, that is, the Citie of Legions byon the wa-

A. Didius Lieutenant.

Cogidunea

After the deceaste of Officials Scapula, to supplie his rowmeth was lent one I. Didius: but cre bee coulde come thinges were brought oute et order. and the Birtaynes had fi vanquillied the legion of Clalens had the conduct:

and this bidogic was let forth by the Bertannes to the uttermost, that with the bruite thereof they night frike a feare into the Lieutenants beart, nowe byon his first comming ouer. Ind be himfelfe reported it be letters to the Enipero; after plargest maner, to the end that if he appealed the matter, he might winne the moze prayle, or if hee were put to the world, and floulde not premaile. that then his excuse might seeme the more reasonable and worthte of pardon. The Silurians were they that had atchieued this victory, and kent a foule sturre over all the countryes aboute them. till by the comming of Divius agaynste them. they they were druck backe and repulled.

The Historie of Englande.

But herewith beganne trouble to be raylen in another part : foz after that Caratake was ta- Venutius a. the Beptaynes had, was one Clenufius, a ruler of the people named Jugantes, a man that remayned a long tyme faythfull to the Romains. and by they? power was defended from his enimies, who having marred with Cartimanda Ducene of the Bipgantes of Porkefhire men. Cartimandi, This Cartimada (as pe haue heard) had delivered Caratake into the Romains hands, therby mini-String matter for the Emperour Claudius to trimains, thee increased through they? frienothin in power and wealth, whereof followed riotous lust to satisfie hir wanton appetite, so as she falling at square with hir husbande, marved Wellocatus, one of his Elquiers, to whom the gaue hir Velocini; kingdome, and so distionoured hir selfe. Herebyon ensued cruell warre, insomuche that in the ende Clenulius became enimie also to the Romaines. But first they tugged togither betwirt themselues, and the Dueene by a craftie pollicie founde meanes to catch the brother and coulins of Mes nutius, but hir enimics nothing therwith viscous raged, but kindled the more in wrath against hir. ceassed not to goe forwarde with they? purpose. Many of the Bzigantes dilbepning to be fubieft bnto a womans rule p had so reietted hir husbad. revolted buto Menutius:but pet & Ducenes fenfual lust mired with crueltie, maintenned the adulterer. Tenutius therfore calling to him such aid rule and dominion as witnesseth the same Tac.) 40 as he could get, & stregthned now by the revolting of the Brigantes, brought Cartimanda to fuch a narrow point, of the was in great danger to faline to the hands of hir enimics: which the Romaines foreseeing, byon sute made, sent certaine bands of hozsmen e formen to help bir. They had diuerle encouters with the enimics at the first, with dout = venuation full successe: but at length they prevapled, & so de- keepeth the livered the Queene out of peril, but the kingdome kingdomeie remained to Clemitius: against who y Romains Romains. the whiche Manlius 50 were constrapned still to mainteyne the warre.

About the same time the legion also which Ceflus Pascica led, got the opper hand of those Baltains against whom he was kent. for Dio. be= ing aged, & by viffozies past prough renchmied. thought it sufficient for him to make wor by bis captains, to to flay and keepe off the entirite.

Certain castels and holdes in oced he caused to be built & fortified further within & cutry tha had and to thereby were the confines of the Romains m this Ne soniwhat inlarged.

Thus have pe beard with what successe the Biptaynes maintepned warre in befence of their thertic against the Romaines, whylest Claubut ruled the Empire (according to the report of the Romain wryters.)

But bere must pou note, that Belloz Bortius folowing the authogitie of one Acremend a Spa- 10 Biptaine. nierd, also of Coanclius Bibernicus, and Campbell remoueth the Silures, Baparantes, and Ponentes, to farre northward that he maketh the inhabitants of those Countreys which the Scottes have now in possession, and were even then inhabited (as he affigineth) partly by the Scottes, and partly by the Pintes (as in the Scottiff lepftozie re may fee moze at large, fo p what notable feate focuer was atchined by the olde Britains against the Romains, the same by him is ascribed buto 20 Scottes and Pickes, throughout his whole by= storie, whereas, in veric truth) for somuch as may bee aathered by confessure and presumption of that whiche is left in wayting by auncient Au= thours, the Bengantes inhabited Poekshree, the Silures Males & the Marches, and the Pouates in the countrey of Cumberland.

But forsemuch as he hath viligently gathered in what maner the warres were mainterned valiant exployees were taken in hande, and furmilled through their stoutnesse and valiancie, ye may there reade the same, and sudge at your pleathe reading of fure what people they were whome hee so muche hid, bosins parketh, admertiling you hereof by the way, that as we have befoze expected, none of the Romain wayters mencioneth anye thing of the Scottes, not once nameth them, toll the Romaine Empric begains to decape aboute the tyme of the tine the great, so that if they had beene in thys Ile then to famous both in peace and warre, as they are reported by the same Boctius, maruayle might it feeme, that the Romaine wey= ters woulde so passe them over with silence.

Efter the death of Claudius the Emperour of Rome, Claudius Donitianus Pero luccerded him in gouernment of the Empyze. In the bij. reare of whole raigne, which was after the inuerthiow in Baptain, where neither the lieutenat 2. Didius Gallus who in this place Coznelius Cacitus calleth Zuitus) couloe during the tyme of his rule do no moze but holde that which was alreadic gotten beside the building of certain Ca= stelles 'as besoze pee haue heard:) neyther hys fuccesso; Elerannius, beating and forreping the Climos, could atchieue any further enterprice, for bene afore attempted by any of his predec effors, he was by death predeted, so as he could not procred forward with his purpose touching f warres which her had ment to have followed, whose last wordes in his testament expressed) beteited him of manifest ambition: for adding many things by way of flatteric to content Peroes minde, he wi= thed to have lived but two yeres longer, in which space he might have subdued provinces buto bys dominion, meaning thereby the whole Ale of

DUC nome Paulus Sucro-Tohen they vius lieutenat. great loffe cha- . ced to the Ro= mains, Pauli= nus Suctoni= us did gouerne here as lieute= nāt, a mā most plentifully fur= nissed with all mirs or warme and vertue, and therewith a right skilfull warriour.

59

This Suctonius therefore willing to tame Anglesey infuch of the Baytains as kept out, prepareth to af- uaded. faile the Tle of Angleley, a country full of Inhavitants, and a place of refuge for al outlawes and rebels De builded certaine Brigantines with flat kiles to fetue for the ebbes & Mallowe Melues here by those people against the Romains, and what 30 sthere, lying bucertainly in the straits which he had to palle. The formen feried oner in those belfels, the hozemen folowing by the fourds a fwim= ming when they came into the deepe, got likewife to the flore, where floo in order of battel an huge number of armed men close together, redy to beate back the Romains, 4 to stay the fro comming to land. Amongst the men, a nuber of women were A ftrange maalso running by and down as they had bin out of per of women. their wits, in garments like to wild regues, with Emperour Constantius, the father of Constans 40 their heare hanging bowne about their spoulders, and bearing firebrands in their handes.

There was also a company of their priests or The Druides. philosophers called Druioes, who with stretched forth handes towards heaven, thundred out cur-Angs against the Romains in most bitter wise.

The foldiers were so amased with the strage= neste of this light, that (as men bennmmen of their immes and fenfes) they fuffred themselves to be wounded and flain like fenfeleffe creatures, til by carnation. 52. the Romaines recepued a great 0 = 50 the calling byon of their general, 4 ech one encous raging other in no wife to feare a fort of mad distract women, they preassed forward under they? enlignes, bearing downe luche as flode in they? way, with their owne fire smoulded and burnt them to allies.

To conclude, the Romain lieutenat got pol- Anglesey won sellio of the whole He, wherin he placed garifons by the Roof me of war to kepe the people there in subjectio. mains.

Woods cut dowse.

the also caused their woods to be cut downe, that were confectated to they? Goddes, within the which they were accustomed to facrifice suche as they twke prisoners, and by the view of theyr intraples, in difmembring them, to learne of they? Goddes some Dracks and such other things as linus was abjode about this enterpiese, the By-

Mould come to passe. But now in the meane tyme, whilest Pan-importable mileries, of their grienous state of leruitude, of their iniuries and wrongs, whiche they daply fusteyned: how that by fustrance they profited nothing, but still were oppressed with more treaup burdens: eche cuntrie in times past had on= ly one king to rule them: now had they two, the licutenant by his captains and fouldiers, spilling their blouds, and the Pzocuratoz oz recepuer (as we may call him) bereauing them of their gods those that were apportited to rule our them, was all alike hurtful buto the inbiects, the lieutenaunt oppressing them by his captains a men of warre, and the procurator or recepuer by force a reprochfull demeanor, polling them by insupportable exactions. There was nothing free from the cone= tous extortion & althie concupilcence of those onfaciable persons, for in these dayes (say they) the greatest spoiler is the valiantest nian, 4 most coof cowardly raffials that have no knowledge of any warlike feates at all. Our chilogen are taken from vs, we are forced to go to the musters, a are fet forth to ferue in forraine parties, as those that are ignozant which way to spend our lives in the quarell of our owne countrev. What a number of foldiers have bene transported over from hence to terne in other landes, if a just account were taken therof? The Germaines by manhood have cast (layo they) from their shoulders the heavy yoke of 40. Also such old souldiers as were placed by way bondage, and are not desended as we are with the main Ocean sea, but onelp with a river. Where the Bertaines have their countrep, their wives + parents, as full causes of warre to fight for: the Romains have none at all, but a covetous delire to gayne by rapine, and to latillie their excelline lustes. They might easily be compelled to depart

the cuntry as Julius Celar was, if the Byytains would thew some profe of the notic promes that and not to flyinke or qualle in courage for the miladuenture that should happily chance by fighting one battaile of two. Greatest force and con-

Stancte alwayes remarketh with those that feeke to deliner themselnes from miserie. Por appear red it that the Goddes had taken some pitie of the poize Biptayns, who by their dinine power did withhold the edick captain of the Romaines with his army, as it were baniffed in an other Flande. Let be the fayother) take the opostunitie of time and and occasion offred, and forthwith proceede in our bufinelle : fog lelle daunger it is manfielly Occasion no: to adventure, and to goe forwarde with our pur to be negpole, than to be bewraped and taken in these oure confultations.

Thus having taken advice togither, and wholy millyking their present fate, they betermined tains began to conferre togither of their great and to to take weapon in hande and lo by force, to feeke for reformation.

They were verily occasioned thereto through Cor. Tac.li.14. many euil partes practifed by & Romains greatly to their griefes and displeasures. For whereas Pralutagus supposed by Hestor Boetius to bee Prasurgus, Arniragus B. of the people called Iceni) had made the Emperoz and two of his owne daughters his The Oxford. herzes, supposing by that mean to have his king- cestershire bome a family preserved fro al iniury:it happened men. and lubstance. The concord or discord betweent 20 quite contrarie to that his expectation. For his kingdom was spoyled by the Romain captaines, kingdom was they tro by the axontain captaints, Voadicia, alia wife named Cloadicia beaten by the fouldiers, Bunduica, his daughters ravilled, the Peeres of the realme bereft of their gods, and the kings friends made and reputed as bond flaues.

There was also an other great cause that styl= Dion Casim. red the Beytains to this rebellion, which was the cofficating of their gods: for where as Claudius himselfe had pardoned the chiefest persons of the monde our houles are robbed fralacked by a lost 30 fozleptures, Decianus Catus the Procurator of that Ile, mainterned that the same ought to be renued againe.

To this an other griefe was added, that where Vlurk. Seneca had lent to the nobilitie of p Jle foure. C. sestertium, eth hudzed being. 500000. tb. fferling. or there about, upon great interest, he required the whole summe togither by great rigoz & violence, although he forced them at the first to take thys money to blurie.

of a colonie, to inhabite the towns of Camulons num, expelled many of the Baytains out of their houses, drove them out of they? possessions and landes, and accounted the Bertaynes as flaues and as though they had beene their captive visio. ners og bonomen. Belive this, the temple there which was built in honor of Claudius as an aulter of eternal rule & government, was ferued with priests, the which bider color of religio did woile. was euidently found in their worthic auncesters, so consume and denour the gods of all men.

Moreover fuch ftrange fightes and wonders as chanced about the same time, pricked the Bri= tains the rather forwarde. For the Image of the Goddeffe Victoria in the temple at Camulodunu, flipping bowne, turned hir backe (as who floulde lav! thee gane place (as banquifted) to the enimires.

also in the Gall where the Courtes of Jus Dion Co,

The Historie of Englande.

fice were kept, there was a marueylous greate ar norse bearde, with muche laughing and a sturre in the Cheatre, with great werping and lamentable howling, at suche tyme as it was certenly knowne that there was no creature there to make any fuch noyfe.

The Sea at a Spring Tyde appeared of a biondic colour, and when the Tyde was none backe, there were feene on the Sandes the Manes and figures of mens bodies.

Women allo, as rauthed of there wittes, and becing as it were in a furpe, prophecied that defiruction was at hande, so that the Bertaynes there put greatly in hope, and the Romaines in

But those things, whether they chaunced by the crafte of man, og illusion of the Diuell, og whether they proceeded of some natural cause, the which the common fost of people oftentymes tafignifying things to followe, we would let paffe icalt wee might beethought to offende religion, (the which teaching all things to bee done by the providence of God, despileth the vaine foreshewings of happes to come) if the order of an hystory (layth Polidoze Mergill) woulde so permit, the whiche requireth all things to bee weytten in maner as they fall fouth and come to nalle.

But the Beptapnes were chiefely moued dicia, declarma howe buscemely thee had beene vied and intreated at the handes of the Romains. and by cause that thee was most earnestive bent to seeke renenge of they iniurges, and hated The suscient the Romaine name moste of all other, they mitted as well chose hir to bre Captayne (for they in rule and women as government made no defference then of fere, whe me to publike ther they committed the same to man or woo government. man) and fo by a generall confpiracie, the more parte of the people having also allured the Effer 10 men unto Revellion, rofe and affembled themfelues togyther to make warres agaynit the Bomaines.

There were of them a hundred and fwentie thousande gotte togither in one armie buder the leading of the layde Cloadicia, of Bunduica (as some name hir.)

She therefore to encourage hir people agaynft the enimyes, mounted op into an high place ray. fed up of turfe and foddes made for the nones, out icth supersitionsly, in place of bukouth maruails 20 of the which the made a long and verie pithie D= ration.

hir mightie tall personage, comely thepe, feuere countenance, and Charpe voyce, with bit long and pealow treffes of heare reaching bowne to his thighes, bir braue and gorgeous apparell allo cauled the people to have bir in greate reuerence. She ware a Chaine of golde, greate, and berpe mallie, and was clad in a lofe kyatle of fundie colours, and aloft thereuppon Ge had a thicke to Rebellion by the fulle complayate of Cloas 30 Friff mantell: hereto in bir band (as hir cuftoine was) the bare a fpeare, to their hiefelfe the moze decaduall. Her wordes therefore let forth with such a Maicffic of presence, greatly encourageo the Bertapnes, the ottering the same in maner as followeth.

Doe suppose (my louers and friendes) that there is no man here but doth well budgefrance howe much libertie and freedome is to bre preferred before thraidoine and bondage. But if there have bene any or you to described the Romaine pertwalions, that that ye biblior the a time lee a difference betweene them, and twoke which r of both is molt to be belieb. Powe T hope that having tried what it is to be smock both, pe wil with me reforme pour indeement; and bo the harmes alreadic taken, acknownens pour snerfight, foglake pour fognierenog. Againein that a number of you have radily preferred an erternal fourraintic before the custonies and lances of your own courry, you do at this time (4 Deubt not) perfitly unde rstande how much free pouertie is to be preferred before great riches, wherebuto feruitude is annexed, & much wealth in refped of captinitie buder forraine magistrates wherebvon flaueric attendeth. for what thing I besech you) can there be so vile & grieuous buto the nature of time that the Romains have bin acquainted with this Fland fare we not all in maner bereued of our riches and possessions? Doe not we beside other things that we give, and the land that we till for their onely profite pay them all kindes of tribute. pea for our owne carbaffes how much better is it to be once aloft and fortunate in occo, than bnder the forged and falle title of libertie, continually to to pap to; our redemption & freedome? how much our contry, than to cary about not fornuch as our beads toll free, but darly oppressed a laden with immumerable exactions? But to what ende do I remeber t speake of these things, since they wil not fuffer by death to become free: For what and how much we pay for the that are dead, ther is not one here but he both well buderstande. Among other stations, fuch as are brought into feruitude, are alwaves by death discharged of their bondage: onely to the Romains, the dead doc Mill line, & all to en= 30 regarde their firength, they are no ffronger than crease their commoditie and gain. If any of us be without monp (as I know not well how & which way we flould come by any) then are we left na= lied, and sported of that which remarketh in our houfes, we our felues left as me defolate & dead. How that we loke for better dealing at their hads hereafter, that in the beginning deale so oncurtes unllo with bs: lincethere is no man that taketh so much as a wilde beast, but at the first bee will theriff it, and with some gentlenesse win it to fa= 40 in mine opinion, our armie is moze strong than miliaritic. But we our felues (to lay the truth) are authors of our own mischief. which suffred the at the first to set for within our Ilande, and did not by a by drine them backe as we did Cefar, or flue them with our swozdes when they were yet farre of, that the adventuring hither was dangerous, as wesit formime to Ingulus & Calicula. Tele therefore that inhabite the Flance, which for the quantific thereof may well be called a maine, al= demoing by from other nations, so that we seeme to live upon an other earth, and under a leverall beauen. Elle, euen me I fap) whose name bath bene long kept hid from the wilest of them, all are nowe contemned and trode under forte, of them who knote nothing else but how to become loids, and hane the rule of other men. Wherefoge nip welbeloued Citizens, friendes, and kintfolke, fez

I thinke we are all of kinne, fince we were borne. and dwell in this Fle, and have one name common to be all : let be now, eurn now I fay) bycause we have not done it heretofoze, and whilest the remembrance of our auncient libertie remaps neth. flicke togither, a perfozme that thing which both apertaine to valiant and hardie courages, to the ende we may enjoy, not onely the name of libertie, but also freedome it selfe, and thereby leaue man, that hath not happened buto vs, lithence the 10 our force and puillant affes for an example to our posteritie: for if we which have bin liberally and in honest maner brought by, Hould utterly forget our pristinate felicitie: what may we hope for in those that shall succeed by, are like to be brought bp in milerie and thealdome. Deither do I make rehearfall of these things buto you, to the ende woulde prouve you to millike of this present eflate of things (for well I knowe you abhorre it sufficiently alreadic) neither to put you in seare of is it more comedable to lose our lines in defence of 20 those things that are likely to fall hereafter (bycause you feare and sozesee them very well befoze hande) but to the ende I mave gine pou heartie thankes and worthis commendations, for that of your ofone accord and meanes, you determine fo well to provide for things necessarie (thereby to help both me a your felnes with willing mindes) as men that are nothing in doubt of all the Romaine puissaunce. If you consider the number of pour enimits, it is not greater than yours: if you you: and all this doth eafily appeare by the Balfinets, habergeans, and Greaues that pou bee arnicd withall, and also by the walles, ditches, and trenches that you have made for your owne defence, to keepe off their excurlions, who rather and for verie feare to fight farre off them, to cope with be at hande flrokes, as our custome of the warres and Martiall discipline dorth require. Witherefore we do to far exceed them in force, that stone walles, and one of our tergats worth al the armoz that they do beare boon them: by meanes whereof, if the victoric be ours, we had fone make them captines to if we lofe the field, we thall eafily escape the daunger. Furthermore, if after the flight we fiall indeuour to meete any where, we, have the marifies here beneath to bide bs in, and the hylles rounde aboute to keepe them off, so that by no meanes they shall have they purpose of though it be engiened about with the Ocea sea, so bs, whereas they beeing overcharged with hear . . me armour, fijall neither be able to follow, if wee fice, not escape oute of our daunger if they bee put to flight: if they happen to breake out at anye tyme as deficous to make a rode, they returne by and by to they; appointed places, where we may take them as hypers alreadie in Cage. In all whiche things, as they are farre inferiour to ps, so most of all in this, that they can not mibure hunger, thealt, colde, heate, and Sunmine, as we can doe. In their houses also and tentes, they make much accounte of they? baken meates, wine, Dyle, and abzode of the Madowe, that if any of thele do fayle them, they epther die forthwith, or else in time they languish and confunc: Colhereas to be enery hearbe and rote is meate, euery ingce an Dyle, all water pleasant mme, and euery tree an houle. Befide this, there ver pufriendly to fuccour by at neede, whereas to the Romaines they are for the moste part onknowne and altogither daungerous , if they houlde flande in neede : we can with eafe fmim ouer enery River both naked and clad, whiche they with their great thips are scarce able to performe. Cotherefore with hope and good lucke, let vs let byon them couragiously, and teach them to binderstande, that lince they are no better than Hares and fores, they attempt a wrong match, 20 and as he thought he might wel spare, which was when they endeuour to subdue the Greyhoundes and the Molfes. With whiche wordes the Queene letteth an hare go out of hir lappe, as it were thereby to give Prognostication of hir fuccelle, which comming well to palle, all the companie Conted, and cryed out byon fuche as not long befoze had done fuche violence to so noble a personage.

The Historie of Englande.

Then Bunduica calling them togither ater this maner:

I giue thee thankes Adeafte, and call opon thee thou woman of women, which raignest not ouer the burthen bearing Egiptians, as wieceris, neither ouer they? Marchauntes, as both wemiramu, for these trifles me have serned lately of the Romaines: neyther over the people of Rome, as a little heretologe Messaint, then Agrippina, and but is in drede a very woman, as duth appeare by his boyce, his harp, and his womans attitebut call upon three as a Bodocffe which gonemell the Bigtains, that have learned not to till the fields not to be handicraftes men, but to lead their lines in the warres after the best maner: who also as they have all other things; to have they likewife their wines and children common, whereby the abonien have the like audacitie with the men, and fore fithence I have obtepned a kingdom among such a mightie people, I beseche thee to graunt them victoric, health, and libertie, agaynik these contentious, wicked, and bulatiable mental they map be called men, which wie warme bathings, belieate fare, hote Edlines, fweete oyles, fofebers, fine Hulicke, and so bukindely lustes) who are altogither ginen to conctonfuelle, and crieftie, as they 2 doings doe declare. Let not I beleeche thee, the Peronian of Domitian tyrannic anye moze preuaile von me, or (to say truth) vppon thee, but let them rather serve thee, whose heavte This gration I oppzellion thou halt bozne withall a long season, baue borowed and that thou make foll be compalated on the W. Harifo. and that thou wylte styll be our helper onely, D noble Ladie, I heartily beseech thee.

finally, when the had made an ende, forward the letteth against hir entmics, which at that time is no place of the lande unknowne to vs., neither 10 were destitute in deede of they? Lieutenaunt Paulinus Suctonius, breing as then in Anglefey (as before pe have heard.)

The Romaines that were in Camalodus Cer. Tacit. num fente for ayde unto Catus Decianus the Catus Decian Procurator, that is the Emperours agent, treas bus Procufurer, og recepner, fog in that Citie, although it rator. were inhabited by Romaines, there was no great garison of able men.

The Procurator therefore fent to them fuch not past two hundred men, and those not sufficientlye furnished eyther wyth weapon of armoura de la faction de la

The Citie was not compassed with any rampire og ditch for defence, fuch as happely were privile to the colpicacle, having put into the hears of the Romains, that no fortification neibed: nelther werethe aged men not women fent away, gaine, procecded forwarde with hir praper, which 30 out trouble of them the better attende to the De= whereby the young ablo personages might withfente of the Citie : but enen as they had beene in all suretie of peace, and free from suspition of any warre, they were fodainly belet with the huge armie of the Beytapnes, and to all went to spoyle and fyze that could be foud without the enclosure of the temple, into the which the Romaine soildiers (Ariken with foven feare by this loven comming of the cuimics), had thronged themschies. 110 W Nero, who is called by the name of a man, 40 the space of two dayes the place was wonne, and they that were founde within it, Caine energ mothar formed all main all a

After this, the Brytagnes incontaged with this bissoite, went to interte with Petus' Ceria lis Lieutenant of the legion, furnamen the ninth, anobelolyimcounfring with the lame Tegion, gaue the Romains the overtheow, atto ffice all the fotenith, lothat Erialls Wyth muche adok no lesse bolonesse in the warres than they. There so to the Campe, and saued himselfe within the Trenches. Catus the Procurator biling put in feare with this ouerthiow, and percepuling what hatred the Baytains bate towardes bitte, haning with hys constantinelle thus brought the warre bpon the heave of the Momaines, got him puer lino Ballia.

But Suetofulus adnerilled of thele boiligs, canceback out of Anglesty, & with a merneylous constancie marched through the middest of hys enimpes onto London, beeing as then not greatly peopled with Romaines, though there was a Colonie of them, but full of Merchauntes, and well provided of bytayles: hee was in great boubt at his comming thyther, whether hee myght best stage there as in a place moste conuenient, or rather leeke some other more easie to be defended.

64

bys men of warre, and remembring howe Cirialis had spedde by hys to much rashnesse, hee thought better wyth the loling of one Towne to faue the whole, than to put all in daunger of irrecouerable losse.

And therewith nothing moued at the praper and teares of them whiche besought him of ayor and fuccour, her departed, and those that woulde goe with him he recepued into his armie, those that targed behinde were oppressed by the 20 enimpes: and the lyke destruction happened to them of Elerolanium, a Cowne in those dayes of great fame, lituate neare to the place where the towns of Saint Albons now flandeth.

The Beytanes leaving the Callels and for= treffes vnassaulted, followe they; gaine in spoys ling of those places which were easie to get, and where greate plentie of ryches was to be founde, bling their victorie with suche crueltie, that they flue (as the report weut) to the number of .lrr. 30 them close within their holds, or else sceke wayes thousance Romaines, and suche astwike ther? parte in the layde places by the Beptaynes thus woune and conquered. For there was nothing moth the Bertannes, but flaughter, fire, gallowes and such like, so earnestly were they fet on

They spared neyther age noz sere: women of great nobilitie and worthis fame, they twke and hanged by naked, and cutting off they? might feeme as if they fucked and fedde on them, and some of they bodies they stretched oute in length, and thrust thein on Garpe stakes.

Al those things they did in great despite whilest they faculyced in they? Temples, and made feastes, namely in the Woode consecrated to the honour of Andates, for so they called the Dondelle of victoric whom they wording to mod reuerently.

of Suctonius, the legion furnamed the. riii. and other bandes of Souldiers and men of warre to the number of ten thouland in the whole, wherebpon eineselr bycause bytayles began to fayle bim) he prepareth to give battaile to his enimies, and chooseth forth a plotte of ground bery strong wythin straytes, and backed with a Cloude, so that the enumies coulde not assault his campe but on the front: yet by reason of their great multitude and hope of victorie concepued by their late prof. The Bigary perous successe, the Brytaines under the con-were active ume. 230203 buf of Ducene Cloadicia aduenture to gine bate mer (1. Di. taile, haufing they? women there to be witnessen wryteth, of the victorie, whom they placed in charets at the bttermost side of they? fielde. Cloadicia,o? Boudicia(for fo we finde hir written by some copies, Cor. Tac.ling, and Bonduica also by Dion) having hir daugh= Dien Cofem. At length considering the small number of 10 ters afoze bir, beeing mounted into a Charet, as the passed by the souldiers of eche sundzie country, told them that it was a thing accultomed among the Beptaynes to goe to the warres buder the leading of women, but thee was not nowe come forth as one borne of suche noble auncesters as thee was viscended from, to fight for hir kingdome & riches, but as one of the meaner fort. rather to befend hir lost libertie, and to returnge hir selfe of the enimies, for their crueltie thewed in frourging hir like a vagabond, thameful deflous ring of hir danahters: for the licencious lust of the Romans was to farre fpred s increaled, that they wared neither the bodies of old not pog, but were redy most shamefully to abuse the, having whipped bir naked being an aged woman, & fogced bir daughters to fatilite their filthie cocupifcence:but (laith the) the Gods are at hand ready to take iult reuenge. The legion that presumed to encounter with by is flaine & beaten down. The relidue kepe bow to flie out of the country: they thall not bee once able fo much as to abide the noile & clamo? of lo many thousands as we are here allembled, much leffe the force of our great puillace & dreadfull hands. If pe therefore (land the) would wegt and confider with your felues your huge nabers of men of warre, a the causes why ye have moned this warre, pe woulde furely determine either in this battel to die with honor, or elle to baquill the Pappes, fowed them to they a mouthes, that they 40 enimie by plaine force, for foc quoth the) I being a woman amfully resolute, as for you men pe may (if pe lift) line and be brought into bondage.

Peither did Suctonius ceale to exhort his people: for although be trufted in their manhad, pet as he had beuided his army into there battails, to did he make buto ech of the a leucral oration, will ling the notto feare the shall a vaine menating threats of the Britains, that ther was among the more wome thame, they having no Willin war In the meant time there came over to the appe 50 like discipline, & hereto being naked wiffoute furniture of armoz, would forthwith give place whe they would feele the flary points of the Romains weapos, the force of the by who they had so offe bin put to flight. In many legions (fayth be) the miber is small of the that win the battell. They? glozie therfore wuld be the more, for that they be ing a small nuber should win the faine due to the whole army, if they wold (thronging togither) beThe Historie of Englande.

flow their weapons freely, and with their Eworde and targets prease forwards opon their enimics. continuing the flaughter without regarde to the worle, they might affure themselves when the viitorie was once atchieued to have all at theve pleasures. Such forwardnesse in the souldiers followed upon this exholtation of the Generall, that fuery one prepared himselse so redily to do his dutic, and that with such a thew of thill and experited hope of god lucke to follow, caused the trum= pets to sounde to the battaile.

The onict was given in the flraytes, greatly to the aduantage of the Romaines, being but an handfull in comparison to their entimies.

The fight in the beginning was verie tharpe and cruell, but in the ende the Bzytaynes being a let one to another (by reason of the narrownesse of the place) were not able to fulfain the violet force of the Romaines they? enimies, so that they were ence, that Suctonius hauing concepued an affu- to constrayned to gine backe, and so being disoz= dzed, were put to flight, and beterly discomfited.

There were flame of the Beptapnes that day 30 fent out of Germanie of two. D. of legionacie fewelelle than.lrrr. thoulande, as Tacitus wiffeth: for the straytes beeing stopped with the Charces, flaved the flight of the Baytaynes, fo as they could not eafily escape: and the Romains were to let on remenge, that they spared nepther man not moman, to that many were flain in the hattaile, many amongest the Charettes, and a great number at the woods side, which way they made they? flight, and many were taken pry-

Those that eleaped, would haue foughten a newe pattal, but in the meane time Cloadicia,02 Donnica deceassed of a natural instruitie, as Die on Callius wepterh, but other lay, that thee poyfonce hirlife, and so open, by cause the would not come into the handes of hir entmics.

There died of the Romáines part in this most notable battaile foure. C. and about the like num= ber were hurt and wounded.

the second legion, biverstanding the prosperous hiereile of the other Romaine Captains, bycaule he had defranded his legion of the like glozie, and had refused to obey the commaundements of the Cenerall, cotrarie to the ble of warre, flue himfelf.

After this, all the Romain armie was brought into the field to make an ende of the relique of the warre. And the Emperoz caused a supplie to be fouldiers, and bij bands of aydes, with. D. bort men, by whole comming the bandes of the minth legion were supplied with legionarie toldiers, and thole bands and wings of hollemen were appointed to places where they might winter, and fuche people of the Baptaynes as were either enjuges, oz elle stwde in doubt whether to bee friendes oz enimies in deede, were perfecuted with fire and sworde.

But nothing moze affliced them than famin, for whilest euerie man gaue bimfelf to the marre, and purposed to have lived byon the provision of the Romains and other their enimics, they applie ed not themselues to tyllage, noz to any huibanbing of the groud, and long it was ere they being a fierce kinde of people)felt to embeate peer, by Lulius Cliffe reason that Julius Classic und war lent cianus Prointo Bzitain as fuccessoz to Catus, lellag quare curator. with Suctonius, and by his prinate gringe hyn-Pellius Polihumus mailler of the campe of so died the proliperous luccelle of publike attigres, be Micked not to write unte Roine, that ertept an other were fent to luceroe in the rownest, that Suetonins bare, thete woulde be me enbe of the warres. Hercopo one politicine, which fortime had bene a bond man, was feift into Britan, as a commissioner, to survey the state of the countrey, and to make the legate and procurator friends, & allo to pacific all troubles within the Ile.

Clolanus innocent as touthing himfelfe, and not hated for any notable cryme or vice: to that hee purchased favoure, althoughe auchozitie inanted.

But after that the Emperour Elchalianus had subdued his adversaries, and atterned the Imperiall gouernment, as well ouer Bytaine as our other partes of the worlde, there were Cor. Tailing sent hither right noble Captaynes, with diuerse us Curpilianus (which had lately bene Confull) 10 notable bandes of Souldiers, and Petilius Cerialis being appopnted Lieutenant, put the Bzitapnes in greate feare by innading the Byps Flande: and fighting many battagles, and some gantes the mightyest Pation of all the whole right bloudy with those people, he subdued a great part of the countrey at the last.

After hym Licutenant of Bzytaine, out lulius Frond Julius Fron- vus lieuecis tinus, who ba= quyffed and brought to the Romaine subiestion by force of arms the people called silures, Aryning not onely against the valiant relistaunce of the men, but also worth ced in those dayer after the death of the Emperoz 30 the hardnesse and combersonic troubles of the places.

Thus may you percepue in what state this Ale stoce in the time that Arniragus raigned in the fame, as is supposed by the Hystoryes of the olde Bertagnes, so that it may be thought that be governed rather a part of this lande, than the whole, and bare the name of a king, the Romains not having so reduced the country into the forme of a pronince, but that the Bertagnes bare rule be governed by way of intreatie. or rather at their 40 in dynerse partes thereof, and that by the permission of the Romaines, whiche neverthes lesse had they? Lieutenauntes and Procuratours here, that bare the greatest rule bnder the aforelande Emperours.

> Marius, otherwise Meurig, or Maue.

After & ve- Mari uiragus, hys fonne Marius Us. fucceeved him in the ellate, Hector Bor and began his this Marius raigne in the wasa Rox prate of our 型02dc.73. In the olde Ena= Petronius. Turpilianus licutenant.

Trebellius Miximus lieutenant. out exploying any notable enterpile.

After Turpilianus, Trebellius Mar= imus was made Lieutenaunt of Bertarne, 20 who likeworse with courteous demeanour, soughte to keepe the Bivtapnes inrest, rather than by force to compell the. Ind nowe beganne the people of the Ale to beare with pleasaunt faultes and flattering vices, to that the civill warres that chaun-Dero at home, might eafily excule the flouthfulnelle of the Romaine Dientenants.

The port which Policietus bare was great,

he was furnished with no small trayne that at-tented bpon him, to that his prefence feemed berp dreadful to the Romains. But the Britains that were not pet pacified, thought great scozne, to fee fuche honourable captaines and men of warre as the Romaines were, to submit themselues to the order of such a one as had beene a bondsaue.

In the end in place of Suctonius, was Petronis appointed to have the governance of the army in Bytain, the which neither troubling the enimie, not beeing of the enimie in any wife troubled of provoked, vid color flouthfull rest with the honest name of peace and quietnesse, & so sate still with-s Wozener there rose distintion amongest they? men of warre, which being vsed to lye abzoade in the fielde, coulde not agree with the role lyfe, fo that Trebellius Maximus was glad to hide him felle from the fight of the Soulviers being in an vivore againste him, till at length humbling himfelf buto them further than became his effate, courtefie. Ind so was the comotion stayed without blouoslied, parmie as it were, having by conenant obterned to live licenciously, and the captayne surctie to live without daunger to be murthered.

Vectius Volapus hautenat.

NEither Cledius Clolanus that succeded Warimus unbrieft the time of the civill warres 50 as pet endured, dyo trouble the Bip= tarnes, bling the same flacknesse and ther Lientenants had bled befoge him, and permytted the like licence to the prefumptuous Souldiers : but yet was kibe Chionicle, he is fondly called allest mer, and was an excellent wife man, gouerning the 2819tains in great prosperitie, honor and wealth.

In the time of this mans raigne, the prople called Pids innaded this lande. They are judged to be descended of the Pation of the Scithians, neare kindmen to the Gothes, both by. Countrey. and maners, a crueil kind of men and much given to the warres.

They are thought to have taken they name, 10 by cause they bled to point their felnes with a certain blewish colour, or for that they were marked with printes in they? vilages, fo that the more honourable he was amongst them, the pecuelyer mas he marked, & the moze bale he was, the leffe his marks appeared. Some thinke that thele were the fame that were called Agathirfies, and hance Diffs bicause they painted their faces & limmes so that by no menes p painting could be walled off: ineugh that they were of the Scithlan nation.

This people therfore with their leader Roderike, or as some name him Londorike, entring the Dccan sca after the maner of rouers, arrived on & coalls of Treland, where they renuired of b Scots new feates to inhabite in, for the Scots which (as fome think) were also disceded of & Scithians, did as the inhabit in Irelandibut doubting p it shuld not be for their profit to receine so warlike a natio into that Ale, sepning as it were a friendlin, and exculing the matter, by harownelle of the contry declared onto the Dids, that the Fle of Baptain was not farre fro thence, being a large country & a plentiful, and not greatly inhabited: where fore they counfelled them to go thither, promifing but a them all the appethat might be.

The Picts moze delirous of spople than of rule or courthinet, without belay returned to the fea. and lailed towards Bitain, where being arrived. they first innaded the north parts therof, e finding there but few inhabiters, they begin to walt and force the country, wheref when Ik. Marius was but how focuer they came by p name, it is enident 20 aductifed, with al speed he afferabled his people, & made fowards his enimies, a giuing to the battel, Roderike obtenned the victoric, so that Roderike was there staine. dain in the field, this people vanquifled.

Einto those that escaped with life, Marius graunted licence that they might inhabite in the nogth part of Scotlande called Catnelle; beeing as toen a Countrey in maner desolate wythoute habitation: wherebyon they wythozewe thither, and feried themselves in those partyes. And bycause the Byptapines disdepued to graunt buto them they? daughters in maryage, they fent onto the Scots into Irclande, requyzing to haue wines of they? nation.

The Scottes agreed to their request, with this condition, that where there wanted lawfull issue of the kings lynage to succeede in the Kingdome of the pieces, then shoulde they name one of the womans lyde to beetheyzking; whiche oz= suchunce was recepued and observed ever after amongest the Pices to long as their kingdome endured.

And thus the Pilles next after the Romains. were the first of any straungers that came into this lande to inhabite as molt weyters afferme, although the Scottille Chronicles auduche the Picts to be inhabiters here befoze the incarnation of our fautour. But the victorie which Marius obtened agaynst their king Roberike, chaunced Polidor. in the yeare after the incarnation.87.

In remembraunce of which victoric, Maries caused a stone to bee creded in the same place where the battaple was fought, in whiche ffone was grauen these wordes, Mary Victoria. The Englishe Chronicle fayeth that this stone. was lette uppe on Stanelmoge, and that the whole Countrey thereaboute taking name of this Marius, as Celestmaria, nowe eleped Colost merlande.

Mash. Prof.

King Marins hauing thus luboued his enimics, and escaped the daunger of their dreadfull inuation, he gaue his minde to the god gouernment of his people, and the advancement of the common wealth of the realme, continuing the re-Litue of his life in great tranquillitie, and finally Mat. rzeft. witters) lij oz.liif. peares. Howbeit there be that wryte, that hee dyed in the years of our Lorde 78. and lo raigned not past fine of fire yeares at the most.

He was burged at Cairlell, leaving a sonne behinde him called Coyll.

Thus finde we in the Beptilhe and English Pyltozies touching this Marius.

Humfrey Whuyd feemeth to take this ma and niwued thereo by some Eatologe of kings which he lawe, or otherwise, I cannot affpime: but speaking of the time when the Dides and Scots Could first come to fettle themselves in this land, he hath these words. Peither was there any writers of name, that made mention either of Scots or Puds before Tiespasianus time, about the pere or the incarnation. 72. It what time Meurig or Baw, og Aruiragus raigned in Bypfaine. In kind of people living by piracie and rouing on the fea, came forth of Sucom, or Porway, under the quiding of one Rhythereus, who landed in Albania walting all the Countrey with robbing and sporling so farre as Cairleil, where he was banquished in battaile, and flaine by Wurigus, with a great part of lis people. The relidue that escaped by flight, fledde to their thippes, and so connered themselves into the Ales of Dikney, and Scotlande, where they quietly abode a greate 40 Countrey then was) he appoputed them to palle while after.

Thus farre have I thought good to fliew forth of the forelayde Libuyds booke, for that it scenieth to carie a great likelihood of truth with it, for the unit F aloratinound didat, which vindoubteoly I think werenot as yet inhabiting in Beptaine, but rather first placing themselves in the Bles of Dikney made inuafion into the maine Tle of Baitain afterwards, as occasion fernied to be offred. In the Brytish tong they are called obightiaid, that so gotte ouer into the Tle after suche a sozte and is Phightians, and lo likewise were they called in the Scottilly, and in their owne tonque.

But nowe to fliene what chaunced in thes Ile, during the time of b layd Marius bis luppofed raigne, as is found in the Romain topffories. After Julius Frontinus, the Emperor Ciclepalian lent Julius Agricola to succeed in the government of Byrtain, who comming over as bout the mitodell of Sommer, founde the men of Cer. Tacia warre through want of a lieutenant negligent po vie. Acnough, as those p loking for no trouble, thought The fire you themselves out of all baunger, where the trimies of Agricali neuerthelelle watched byon the next occasion to ment. worke fome displeasure, and were readie on echa hand to moue rebellio. For the people called D2douices, that inhabited in the countrey of Chel-Mire, Lancathire, e part of Shaopthire, had lately departed this life, after he had raigned (after molt 10 before ouerthrowne ein maner beterly deffroyed a wing of fuch horimen as folourned in their parfies, by realon wherof al & pronince was brought almost into an assured hope to recourt libertie.

Agricola buon his comming over, though fome mer was nowe halfe palf, and that the fouldiers longing here e there abzode in the countrey, were more disposed to take rell, than to fet forward into the field against the enimies, determined pet to reliff the prefent banger: and therwith affembling his father Truiragus to be all one person, whether 20 the men of warre of the Romains, and such other aydes as he might make, he innadeth their cuntry that had done this fozefaid difpleafure, and flue downe the most part of all the inhabitants therof. Ind not thus contented, (for that he thought god to follow the Arys of fauozable fortune, & knowing that as the beginning proved, to woulde the whole sequele of his affayres by likelyhode come to palle) he purpoled to make a ful conquelt of the Anglesy, The of Ingleley, from the conquell whereof the Sobich time our annales do report, that a certaine 30 Romain Lieutenant Paulinus was called backe by the Rebellion of other of the Beytayns, as before pe haue beard.

But whereas he wanted thips for the furnis flying of his enterprise, his wit and policie founde a thift to supplie that defeit : for chosing forth a pyked number of luch Bzytaines as he had there with him in ayde, which knowe the fourds a thallow places of the Areamics there, and withall were very skilfull in foiniming (as the maner of the ouer on the fodaine into the He, onclye with they? botles, armour, and weapon : whiche enterpeile they fo speedily, and with so god facceffe atchieued, that the Inhabitantes much amaled with that boing (which loked for a nanie of hippes to have transported over they? ininics by Sea, and therefore watched on the coalt) beganne to thinke that nothing was able to bee befendes agaynst suche kynde of warriours that maner.

And therefore making sute for peace, they Angleley 3de delucred the Fle into the handes of Agricola, cola. whole fame by these victogres daylpe muche mercaled, as of one that roke pleasure in tranaple, and aftempting to atchieue daungerous enterptyles, in fleade whereof hys predereffours had delighted to fixture the mateflies of there effice.

ment by vaine bragges, stately portes, and am= pages romps. For Egricols turned not the properous fucceile of his proceedings into banitie, but rather with negleding his tame, encreased amongest them that indeed what dope was to be locked for of things by him to be archieuco, which with falcuce kept fecret thefe his fo weithic doings.

Seogramer, percepuing the nature of the peobe other mens example, that armour flould little analembere injuries followed to the disquieting of the people, hee thought best to take away and greene- remone all occasions of warre. And first beginmug with himselfe and his fouldiers, toke order fer a recommation to be had in his owne houshold, recibing nothing to favour, but altogither in re= har of vertue, accounting them most farthfull, robichtherein most ercelled, he sought to knowe mouce, pardoning finall figures, and flarpely punishing great and here his offences, neyther est oching always in painfilment, but offetimes tatier in repentance of the offender. Exactions and tenhates he leffened, qualifying the fame by reasonable equitie. And thus in resozming the flate of things, he wanne him great praise in time of peace, the whiche exther by negligence or fufframee of the former Lieutenauntes, was e-

This was his pradife in the winter time of his first years, but when Sommer was come, he allembled his armie, and leading forth the lame, trapped his fouldiers in all honest warlike visci= pine, commending the god, and reforming the tad and buruly.

Hehimselfe to give ensample, twke bpon hint all daungers that came to hande, and suffred not trers with fodaine investions. And when he had sufficiently chastisted them, and put them in searc by inche maner of dealing, hee spareth them that they might agains concepus some hope of peace. By which meanes many countreys which buto those dayes had kept themselves out of bondage, lapte rancouralide, and delinered pledges, and further were contented to luster Callelles to be bupioco within them, and to be kept with garithe Romain power, but stode styll in daunger to be brought bnoer more and more.

Anthe winter following, Agricola toke paynes to reduce the Beptains from their rude ma= ners and customes, buto a moze civill sozte and trade of living, that chaunging their naturall Accenelle and apte disposition to warre, they myght through talking pleasures, be so enured therewith, that they Moulos delire to line in rest and quietnesse: and therefoze hee exhorted them The worthis printly, and holpe them publikely to buyld tem= practifes of ples common believed. ples, common halles where plees of law might be traine the Brikept, and other houses, commending them that taynes to ciwere oiligent in fuch doings, and blaming them that were negligent, so that of necessitie they were dynen to firme who foulde prenent eche other in civilitie. He also procured that Poble ple in this Tie of Bytain, and fussiciently taught 10 mens somes shoulde learne the liberall sciences. and prayled the nature of the Brytanies, more than the people of Gallia, by cause they fludyed to attapne to the knowledge of the Romaine cloquence. By whiche meanes the Beytaynes in Most tyme were brought to the vie of gwo and commendable maners, and forted themselnes to go in comely apparell after the Momain fallion. and by little and little they fell to accustom themsclues to fine fare, and dilicate pleasures, the ready all things, but not to doe otherwise than reason 20 pronokers of vices, as to walke in Galleries, to wall themselves in bathes, to vie banketting and fuch like, which amongst the buskisfull was called humanity og curtefic, but in very deed it might be accounted a part of thealdonie and feruitude, namely being to excellinely bled.

In the thirde peare of Agricola his gouern= The thirde ment in Baytaine, he inuaded the north partes yeare. therof (buknowne til those days of the Romains) being the same where the Scots now inhabit: for ver seared, and accounted worke than open 30 he wasted the countrey buto the water of Tay, in The water of fuch tople putting the Inhabitauntes in fegre, Tay. that they durft not once fette opon his artiste, thougheit were so that the same was vern tore disquected and vered by tempelt and rage of weather.

Wherebpon finding no greate let ox hynoces rance by the enimpes, he buploed certain Caffols and Fortrelles, which he placed in fuche conver nient fleades, that they greatly annoyed his avis the snimics to line in rest, but wasted their couns 40 nersaries, and were so able to be desended, that ther was none of those Castels which he buildrop either wonne by force out of the Romains hands, or given over by composition, for feare to be toe: ken: so that the fame being furnished with competent numbers of men of warre, were fafely kept from the enimies, the whiche were varly bered. by the often issues made forth by the Souldiers that lay thus in garison within them : so that where in tymes palt the layde enimies woulde fons, fo that no part of Bzytayne was free from 50 recouer they lolles fulleyned in Sommer by the Minters aduauntage, nowe they were put tothe worle, and kept backe as well in the colinfer as in the Sommer.

In the fourth Sommer, after that Agricola The fourth was appointed to the rule of this lande, he went yeare of Agriabout to bring bnorr subjection those people, cola his gothe which before tyme her had by incursions and ucroment. forreyes loze bered and disquicted: and there-

Clota.

boon comming to the waters of Clide a Lough= leuen, he buylt certaine fortresses to defende the passages and entryes there, dipuing the enimies beyond the fame waters, as it had bin into a new

An Irish king

In the fifth Sommer, Agricola causing hus The fift yeare. Hippes to be brought about, and appoynting the to arrive on the north coaffs of scotland, he nalfed with his army over the river of Clive, and partes of Scotland, which till those daics had not bene discouered by the Romains.

And by cause he thought it should serue wel to purpole, for some conquest to be made of Freland, if that part of scotlande which bordereth on the Frifie Seas might be kept in due obedience, bee placed garifons of Souldiers in those parties, in hope verily upon occasion to passe over into Tre= lande, and for the more calle aduquincement of nourable provision one of the kings of Frelande, of his country. Which by chill descords was expulsed and driven out of his countrep.

In deede Agricola percepued, that with one Legion of Souldiers, and a small appe of other men of warre, it foulde brean easte matter to conquere Trelande, and to bying it binder the Dominion of the Romaines: which enterprife he judged berre necessarie to be explopted, for betthey Moulde see the invisorition of the Romaires enery where extended, and the libertie of their neighbours suppressed and turned to submulti.

The fixt yeare his gouernment.

In the firth Sommer of Agricola hys goucriment, he proceeded in subduing the further= moste partes of Scotlande Porthwardes, caufair his Paule to keepe course ancenst hom by the coast as her marched forth by lande, so that uens and Creekes of them? Countrepes were nowe discourred, and that all hope of refuge was in maner cutte off from them, were in a maruey . lous feare.

On the other part the Romaines were fore troubled with the rough Nountarnes, and crags git Rockes, by the whiche they were confirarned to passe beside the daungerous ryuers, lakes. woodes, straytes, and other combersome waves and pallages.

The vanger also of them that were in the thing by sea, was not small by reason of winds a tempelts, and high fpring tides, which toffed & turmorted their beffels right cruelly: but by the painfull diligence of them that had bene brought by & enured with continuall trauaile and haroneffe, all subdued suche people as inhabited those further 10 those discomodities were overcome to their great reiopling, when they met and fell in talke of they? passed perils, for oftentimes the armie by land encamped so by the Moze, that those which kept the fea came a lande to make meric in the campe, and then eche one woulde recounte to others the aduentures that had happened, as the maner is in femblable cafes.

The Byptains that inhabited in those dayes Calender about the partes of Calender wood, percepuing in wood. his purpole therein, her entertepned with hos 20 what danger they were to be biterly subdued, affembled themselves togither in purpose to trie the fortune of battell: whereof Agricola being aduertised, marched south with his armie deupded in three battailes, so that the enimyes doubting to trie the matter in open fielde, elpre thep; time in the night, and with all they? whole puissaunce fet upon one of the Romaine Legions, whiche they knowe to be most feeble and weake, trusting by a camilado to diffresse the same: and first sleas for keeping of the Biptagnes in obedience, if 30 inathe watche, they enter the campe, where the fand legion lap, and finding the fouldiers in great vilozder, betwirt fleepe and feare, begin the fight euch within the campe.

Agricola had knowledge of their purpoled infent, and therfore with all speece hasted forth to come to the fuccours of his people, fending first his light horsemen, and certaine light armed fortemen to affayle the enimies on they backes, and shortly after approcheth with his whole puilthe Surtagnes perceyning howe the feerete ba= 40 fance, so that the Romaine standards beginning to appeare in light by the light of the pape, that then beganne to fpzing, the Byptaynes were fore discouraged, and the Romaines renuing there force, fiercely preaffed byon them, to that euen in the entrye of the campe, there was a fore conflicte, tyll at length the Brytaynes were putte to flight, and chased, so that if the marilles and woodes had not faued them fro the nurture of the Romains, there had bin an end made of the whole warres even by that one dayes mothe. But the Beptapnes eleaping as well as ther might, & reputing the bidozie to have chanced not by the valiancie of the Romain fouldiers. but by occasion, a the prudent policie of their canraine, were nothing abalhed with v their prefent loffe, but prepared to put their youth agains into losse, but prepared to put their yourn against und amount their wines to gacus, who the Scottill chronicles name Gald. Calgagus who amount their wines to gacus, who the Scott name and children into fafe places, and then affembling the chiefest gouernozs togither, cocluded a league amongst themselves, eche to ande other, confra ming they, articles with doing of facrifice (as the maner in those dayes was.)

The same sommer, a bande of such Dutch oz Germaine fouldiers as had bene lenged in Germanie and fent over into Bartann to the appe of the Romains, attempted a great and wonderfull Romain fouldiers which were appointed to have the trayning and leading of them, as officers and instructors to them in the seates of warre: a when they had committed that murther, they got into three Pinelles, and became rouers on the coaffes of Britaine, and encountring with diverse of the Birtains, that were readie to defend theps countrey from spoyle, oftentymes they got the upper hand of them, and now and then they were chased to luch extremitic for want of vitailes, that they did eate fuch amonalt them as were the weakest. and after, such as the lot touched, beeing indiffes rently call amongst them: and so being caried a= bout the coastes of Bzytain, and loting they? belfels through want of skill to governe them, thep were reputed for robbers, and therebpon were apprevended, firft by the Suabeners, and flortly after by the Frifers, the which folde dinerte of them berflanding of their aduentures came certainely

In the commer next following, Agricola with The eighe his armie came to the Mountaine of Granzeben, cola his gowhere he buderstode that his entimies were en- ueroment. camped, to the number of err. thousand about. and dayly there came to them more companie of the Baytish youth, and such aged persons also as were luffic and in firength, able to weloc weapon and beare armour.

Amongsi the captains y chiefell was one Gal-

This man as chieftaine and head captaine of Gald and will all the Bzytaynes there affembled, made to them needes haue a pithic oration, to encourage them to fight mans him a Scottiffs fully and likewise him a Scottiffs fully, and likewife die Agricola to his people: which being ended, the armies on both fides were put in ozder of battaile.

Agricola placed, viif. thousande kotemen of Arangers which he had there in ayde with him in the miost, appointing thece. 90 horimen to stand air in fleaing their captaine and such other of the 20 on the sides of the as wings. The Romain legions flod at their backs in flead of a Bulwarke.

The Byptains were embattayled in fuch ogber, that their fore ward flod in the plaine groud, and the other on the fide of an hill, as though they had rifen on beigth one ranke aboue another.

The middeff of the fielde was coursed wyth their charets and horfemen.

Agricola doubting by & huge multitude of eni= Cor. Tacitus mics, least his people Woulde be affailed not once away, insomuch p in the ende they were brought 30 ly asront, but also byon eurry sive the battails, he caused the rankes so to place themselves, as they battails might firetch farre further in bredth that otherwise the order of warre requyred: but he toke this to be a good remedic against fuch inconuentence as might haue followed, if the enimie by the narrownesse of the fronts of his battailes should have hemmed them in on eche lide.

This done, and having concepted good hope of billozy, he alighted on fot, e putting his hozle fro to the Romains and other, whereby the true bn= 40 him, he flood before the fladeris as one not carring, for any vanger p might happen. At the fielt theg, bestomed their Mot, t Dartes frecty on both lives

Betani.

Congri.

Holanders.

The Historie of Englande.

The Britains afwel with coffant manhod, as Skilfill practife, with brode fwords & little rounde bucklers, another a beat fro them the arrowes and darts that came from their enimies, * therwithall payo the home agains with their flot a dartes, fo that the Romains were nere hand oppressed ther= with, by cause they came so thick in their faces, till at length Agricola caused three cohorts of Holaders, two of Lukeners to prease forwarde, and might come to be tried with the edge of the fword which thing as to them (being enured with p kind of fight, 'flwd areatly with their advantage, so to the Biptapnes it was berie daungerous, that were to desende themselves with their mightie buge fwordes and finall bucklers.

Also by reason their swordes were brode at the endes, and porntlesse, they anayled little to burt the armed enimie. Whervoon when the Hollan= worke in seaing and wounding them in right borrible wife.

The horfinen also that made resistaunce, they pulled from their horses, and began to climbe the hill bpon the Britains. The other bands desirous to match their fellowes in helping to atchieue the vidoric, folowed the bollanders, and beat downe the Britains where they might approch to them: many were ouerrun a left half dead, and some not uerpressed, such hast the Romains made to folow bpon the Byptains. Whilest the Britist horsme Aco, their Charets ionned themselves with they? fortme, and restoring the battel, put the Romains in such feare, that they were at a sodain stay: but the charets being troubled with prease of enimics. and bneuennelle of the grounde, they coulde not mork their feat to any purpole. Peither had that fight any resemblance of a battel of hozsmen, whe to four themselves. The charets oftentimes wan = ting their quivers, were caried awaye with the horses, that being put in seare with the noise and flur, ran hither & thither, bearing bowne one an other, and whomsoener else they met with.

The Brytains now that kept the toppe of the billes, and had not ret fought at all, bespiling the small number of the Romaines, began to come downwardes to call about, that they might let an end of the battell, and to win the victorie: but Agricola doubting no lesse, but that some suche thing would come to passe, had afore hande forefcene the baunger, & having referued foure wings of hossemen for such sodaine chaunces, sent them forth agarnst those Birtaines, the which bossenien with full randon, charging byon the as ther raship came forwards, quickly disorded them & put the all to flight, and so that purposed druise ? policie of the Bertains turned to their owne hinderance. For their horfmen by their captains appoyntment traverling overthwart by the fronts of them that fought, let byon that battails of the Bertaphes which they found befoze them. Then in those open and plain places a grieuous & heavy light it was to behold, how they pursued, wouden and toke their enimies: + as they were admifed of torne with them at hand Arokes, to as the matter to other to flea those that they had before take, to the ende they might ouertake the other, there was nothing but flecing, taking & chasing, slaughter, fpilling of blod, scattring of weapos, gruting, e groning of me thorses play on the ground, gasping for breath, and readie to die. The Brytains now and then as they fawe their advantage, namely when they approched neare to the wood, gathe. red thefelues togither, and fet boon the Romains as they followed braduiledly, further (through ders came to joyne with them , they made foule 20 ignozance of the places) than flod with their furetie, insomuch that if Agricola had not provided remedie,4 lent forth mightic bands of light armed men both on fote & hoglebacke to close in the enimics, a also to beat the wwos, some greater losse would have followed through two much bolonesse of them, that two raffily purfued upon the Bzytains: who when they beheld the Romains thus to follow them in whole troupes and good order of battail, they flipt away 4 twke them to flight. once touched with any weapon, were likewise 0= 3° ech one seeking to saue himselfe, and kent not togither in plumpes as befoze they had bone.

The night made an end of the chafe which the Romaius hav followed till they were throughly amearied.

There were flain of the Britains that day fon Ten theufal 99. 4 of the Romains.340.among whom Zulus Brytains Lina Atticus, a captain of one of the cohorts or bandes of formen was one, who being mounted on hosts Aulus Anims hack (through his own to much never the flaine. back, (through his own to much youthfull coneche one lo encobred other, p they had no rowmth 40 rage. fierce burnlinelle of his hogle) was carped into v middle throng of his enimies, thereflgin.

The night enfuing, the Romains paffed with great ion and gladnesse for the vistorie atchieued. But among the Byrtaines there was nothing heard but mourning and lamentation, both of Brytagnes on men's women that were mingled togither, some Scots neither busit to beare amon the mounded to beare amon the mounded to beare busine to beare away the wounder, to binde, and velle their burtes, other calling for their sonnes. kinsfolks and friends that were wanting. Wany byo the backs of their enimics, in hope to to make 50 of them fortoke they? houses, and in their velpes rate mode set them on fire, and choling forth places for their better refuge and lakegarde, forthwith millyking of the fame. left them and fought others: here with diutele of them twke counsell togither what they were best to one, one while they were in hope, an other while they fayuted, as prople cast into otter dispayee: the beholding of they; wyues and childzen, oftentymes moued

The Historie of Englande.

them to attempte some newe enterpile for the preservation of they countrey and liberties. And continue it is that some of them slew their wines and children, as moved thereto with a certapne. tonde regard of pitie to ridde them out of further miterie and daunger of thialdome.

The nexte dape the certaintie of the victory more playnely was disclosed, for all was quiet about, and no nople beard any where: the houses appeared beenning on each fide, and fuch as were fente fwithe to discouer the countrey into energy part thereof, fame not a creature flurring, for all the people were auoyoed and withdrawen a

But nowe of this battell, and other the do= ings of Agricola, in the Scottiffe Chronicle pe mar fynde moze at large fet forthe: for that which I hane weitten heere, is but to fiew what in effect Coznelius Tacitus writeth of & whiche Agricola dyd herre in Britayne, withoute mitking mention erther of Scottes or Bides, onelp haming them Bzitaynes, Hozellians, and Cali domians, whiche inhabited in-those dayes parte of this Ic which now we call Scotland. 40

After that Agricola hadde thus overtheorien. hys coimics in a pight ficide at the mountayne of Granzeben, and that the countrey was quite ridde of all appearaunce of enimies: bycaule the sommer of this cyght yeere of his gouernemente was nowe almost spente, he broughte bys army into the confines of the Horrestians, whyche inhabited the countreyes nowe cleved Angus and Merne, and there intended to Winter, and twke holtages of the people for affurance of they lop- 50 altic and subiection.

This done, he appropried the Admirall of the navic to faple about the Mile, whiche accordingir to his commission in that poynte recepued, luckily accomplished his enterprise, and brought the name about agayne into an hauen, called Crutulenlis.

In this meane time, whilest Julius Agricola was thus occupyed in Bzitayne, both the Emperoure Telpalian, and allo his brother Titus that succeeded hym, departed this life, and Domitian was cleffed Emperoure, the whiche hearing of luche prosperous lucreste as Agricola had against the Britannes, did not so muche rea worce for the thing well done, as he envied to cofider what glozy and renowne foulde redounde to Agricola thereby, whiche hee perceyued should muche barken the gloffe of bys fame, hauping a prinate person under him, who in worthpresse. of noble exployees atchieued, faire excelled hys

To fonde reniedie herein therefoze, he thought not good to btter bys malice as yet whyilf In gricola remagned in Bzitapne with an armp. whych fo muche fauoured him, and that with fo god cause, lith by his policie and noble conduit, the same hande obterned so many victories, so nuch honoz, and luch plentie of fronles and me ties. Wherevppon to diffemble bysingent, Mappoputed to renoke him forthe of Britaing as it were to honor hym, not only with beferufatryumphes, but also with the Lieutenantiffipe of Syzia, which as then was boyor by the beath of Atilius Rufus.

Thus Agricola being contermaunden band to Rome, definered his pronince buto bistus cellog Encus Trebellius, appoputed thereto by Cneus Tre-30 the Emperour Domitianus, in goodquier and bellim alia saucgarde. antifulation. 25 daystine

Thus may you fee in what state Britafine Zucullm 25 Awde in the vages of King Marius, of whome Come thinke. pet Tacitus maketh no mention at all Some have written, that the City of Chefter was duct. ded by this Manius, though other as betopergi hane laybe, thinke rather that it was the worke Wabiani

5. Bur 3. 1 100 C

Dilus the Sonne of Marins was after his Coyllus. fathers deceasse made Kyng of Britagn, in the pere of our Lozd, 125.

This Coyllus oz Coyll was broughte up it his youth amongst the Romaynes at Romi where hee spente hys tyme not improfitably e.b.

Colchester builte.

but applied hymselfe to learning and scruice in the warres, by reason whereof, hee was muche honozed of the Romannes, and he likewise hono= red and loved them, to that hee pared his tribute truly all the type of hys raigne, and therefore ly= uto in peace and good quict. Le was allo a Prince of muche bountie, and very liberall, whereby hee obterned great love both of his nobles and commons. Some save, that hee made the Towne of which reigned next after Afelepeodotus was the first founder of that Towns, but by other it shuld feeine to be built long befoge, being called Camalodunum. Finally, when thes Coell had raigned the wace of. 54. yeares, hee departed this lyfe at Porke, leaning after inm a sonne named Lucius, which succeeded in the Kingdome.

Lucius.

Lucius.

- son of Coi= lus, whose sur= name(as fayth William Bar= rilon) is not cr= tant, began his rapque ouer b Britannes a= Hout the peare of oure Lozde. 30

iv. as Fabian following the authoritie of Pec= fer Pictautensis harbe, although other writers freme to disagree in that accompt, as by the same Fabian in the table before his Boke parely anpeareth, whereto Mathaus VV estmonasteriensis atfirmeth, that this Lucius was bothein the reare Mour Lord. 115. and was Crowned King in the peare, e.a. as fuecestoz to ins father Coilus, which tred the lame peere, being of great age ere the faid cond part of his chronologic noteth his entrannce to be in the .- 1,2. of the world. 916. after the buyl= ding of Rome. 220. after the comming of Cefar into Britagne, and. 155. after Christ, whose accomptes I followe (as before is fayor) in this treatile.

This Lucius is highly renowned of the writers, for that her was the firste King of the Bij. tapues that recepued the faith of Telus Christifor Colchester in Ester, but other wate, that Copil 10 being inspired by the spirit of grace and truth cue from the beginning of hys raigne, he somewhat leaned to the favoring of Christian Religion. being moned with the manifest miracles whyche the Chaistians daply wroughte in witnesse and profe of their found and perfed dodrine: for even from the dayes of Joseph of Aramathia and hys fellowes, or what other godly men first taughts the Britaynes the Gospell of our Sauiour, there remayned amongst the same Bzitaynes some T Elcius the 20 Christians which coassed not to teach & Preache the word of God most sincerely buto them : but yet no king amongst them openly professed that Religion, till at length this Lucius verceyuyng not only some of the Romanne Licutenantes in Butagne, as Trebellius and Pertinar, with other, to have submitted themselves to that profellion, but also the Emperour himselfe to begin to be fanozable to them that professed it, hee toke occasió by their god ensample to giue care moze attentinely to the Gospell, and at length fent buto Cloutherius 23 thop of Rome, two learned men of the Brittill nation, Eluane and Mednin, requiring him to lende some suche ministers as might instruction and his people in the true faith more plentifully, and to baptile them according to the rules of the Chailtian Religion.

. Herebpon were fent from the land Eleuthetius two godly learned me, y one named fugatius, and pother Damianus, the which baptice Lucius was borne. William harrifon in the fes 40 the King with all his family and people. Ind therewith removed the worlhipping of Adolles and falle Gods, and taught the right meane and mar home to worthippe the true and immortall God. There were in those dayes within the boundes of Butayne. 28. Hampnes, and three Archiamynes, which were as Billiops & Archhistoris, or imperintendentes of the Pagane or Beathen religion, in whole place (they being re= moued) were instituted. 28. Bishops and three the which Archbillyops held his fee at London, a= nother at Vocke, and the third at Caerleion, Ar= : wishe in Clamozgan thire. To the Archbistion of London was subicit Cornewall, and all the middle part of England, euen bnto Humber. To the Archbilliop of Porke all the Porth partes of Buffayne from the River of Humber buto the furtheli partes of Scotlande : and to the Archbi-Mop of Caerleon was subied all Wales, within where nowe there are but foure. The River of Scuerne in those dayes beuided Wales (then cal's led Cambia) from the other partes of Battaynel Thus Britagne partly by the meanes of Jofeph of Aramathia (of whome pe haue hearde bc= fore and partly by the wholesome instructions & todrine of flugatius and Damianus, was the urlf of all other regions that openly recepued the Cospell, and continued most steofastly in ppo= ted the same in suche sozte, that as well in Bzi= farne as in all other places of y world, the Chilflian religion was in manner extinguished, and btterly destroyed.

Ther be that affirme, how this Lucius Mould build the Church of Saint Peter at Westmin= fler, though many attribute that aute bnto Si= bert King of the Cast Sarons, and write, howe the place was then overgrowen with thornes & led Thorney. They adde moreover (as Harrison laveth) howe Thomas Archbishop of London preached, redde, and ministred the Sacraments there to fuch as made relogte onto him. Howbett by the tatics hanging in the reneffry of Sainte Paules at London, and also a table cometyme hanging in Saint Peters Church in Coanchill, it Mouloc ferme, that the fayd Church of Saint Peter in Cornchill was the same that Lucius builded. But herein (kayth Harrison anno mundi 30 about the yeare of our Lozd. 156. And Henricus Nauclerm be miltaken for Thorney, especially in luch olor tecordes, as time, age, cuill handling, hath offeritimes defaced. But howloeuer this cale flaberh; frothit is, that Lucius reiopeing muche in that he had brought his people to the perfet light and understanding of the true God, that they needed not to bee decepued any longer with the crastie temptations and frigned miracles of wicked spis rices, he abolithed all prophane worthippings of falle Gods, and conuerted fuche Temples as had bin dedicated to their fernice, but othe vse of the Chailtian Religió: and thus studying only how to aduance the glozy of the immortall God, and the knowledge of his worde, without feeking the varne glozy of worldly triumph whiche is gote with flaughter and bloudflied of many a giltleffe Archiffiops of the Christian Religion. One of 10 person, hee lette his kingbome though not enlar= ged with broder dominion than hee recepued it,) yet greatly augmented and enriched with quiet rest, good ordinances, and that which is more to be esteemed than all the rest adopted with Chie stes religion, and perfectly intrinced with hys most holy worde and bostrine. De raigned as fome wzite. 21. yeares, though as other affirme Polidor. but twelue yeares. Agayne, some testiste that he Fabian. raigned. 77. nther lay. 54.4 Parrilon. 43. Moze= lohn. Hard. whiche countrey as then were seuen Bishops, 20 ouer, heere is to bee noted, that if he procured the faith of Chailt to be planted within his Realine in the time of Eleutherius the Romapne Bi-Mop, the same chanced in the dayes of the Em= perour Marcus Aurelius Antoninus. And about the time that Lucius Aurelius Commodus was ionned & made partaker of the Empire to his fa= ther, which was seuen peres after p death of Luicius Aclius Aurclius Acrus, and in the 177. After the birth of our Sauiour Jefus Chailt, as by fellion, till the cruell furie of Diocletian perfecu= 30 harrifons chronologie is eafle to bee collected. For Eleutherius beganne to gouerne the lea of Rome in the yeare. 169. according to the opinion of p most viligent chronogrophers of our time, & gouerned fifteene peeres and thirteene days. Ind pet there are that affirme, howe Lucius dred at Blowcester in the yeare of our Lozde. 156. ofher Galfridus. fay that he dyed in the yeare. 201. and other. 208. Mat. VVeft. So that the troth of this hillorie is broughte into doubt by the discorde of writers, concerning the buthes, and thereof toke the name, and was cal= 40 time and other circumstances, although they all agree that in this kings vays the Chailtian faith was first by publique consent openly recipued & professed in this lande, whiche as some aftirme, Mould chance in the twelfth yeare of his raigne, Polidor. and in the peare of our Lozd. 177. Dther ludge, that it came to passe in the eyght yeare of his regiment; and in the yeare of our Lozd. 188. where other (as before is layd) alledge that it was in the de Erphozdia supposeth, that it was in the yeare Mancierus de of our Lozde. 169. and in the nineteenth yeare of Herricus de Herford.

the Emperon Marcus Intonius Merus : f atfer other, about the firth years of the Emperouse Comodus. But to proceede : King Lucius dped without illue, by reason whereof, after his decelle the Bzitagnes fell at barlance, whiche continued about the space of fiftene yeares (as Fabian thin = Fabian) keth,) keth) howbeit. (he olde engliste Cheonicle affirmeth, that the contention betwirte them remais tel.n.Hard. ned .50, peares, though Harding affirmeth but 4. yeares. And thus much of the Britaynes, and their kings Coplus and Lucius. Now it reffeth to weake somewhat of the Romannes why che governed here in the means while. After that X= oricola was called backe to Rome, the Britaines (* namely those that inhabited beyond Twen) and partly in conflueration of their pleages, whi= the they had delivered to the Romagnes, remay= ned in peace certapne peres.

Caxton.

On Trebellius Lieutenat.

P the meane time, the Romanne Lieus tenant Cn. Trevellius that fucceded Julius Agricola, hee coulde not foxefee all things so precisity, but that y 20 fouldiers waring bn= ruly by reason of long rest, sell at variance a= uionali themselves, x wonto not in the ende over the Dientenante, but desquieted the Britanes beyond meadure. Wiber= fore the Britannes percepuing theinfelues fore uppressed with intollerable bondage, a that darly the fame increased, they conspire togither, bppon hope to recouer libertie, and to defende their cou- 30 time beeing come fwithe, gaue them battellibut arey by all meanes possible, and hecrewith they take weapon in hand against the Romaines, and holdly affaile them: but this they did yet warely, and fo, that they might flee buto the Colwodes & bogges for refuge voon necessitie, according to the manner of their countrey. Herebpon diners Haughters were committed on both parties, and all the countrey was now ready to rebell whereof, when the Emperour Adjian was advertised frem Trebellius the Dieutenant, with all conucs 40 haue his fouldiers also bigilante and carefull to ment speede be passed ouer into Britarne, touicted all the Ile, vling great humanitie towards the inhabitants, and making finall accompte of that part where the Scottes nowembalite, epa ther breamle of the barrennesse therees, or for that by reason of the nature of the control be thoughte it would behantobe kept bnder subjection, her demiko to device it from the restone of Butapne. and so raused about to be made from the mouth Advanture. of Type unto the mater of Elke, whiche wall so to forbeare it, he vied a maruellous spare kinde of Spartianne. confermed in length, rex. mile.

After this, the Butarnes bearing a malicious hatred towards the Romanne Souldiers, & repyning to be kepte bnder the bond of feruitide, elelones goe aboute to recouer libertie againe. Whereof aduertisement being genen, the Cings. Lellius Villis rour Pius Antonius fendeth ouer Lellius Cles en Lieurende bieus as Lieutenaut into Bzitaine, who by fun-

Der battaples flryken, conftrepned the Beitaines to remaine in quiet, and cauling those that inhavited in the Porth partes to remove further off from the confines of the Romaine province, rep= fed another wall beyond that whiche the Empe= rour Adzian had made, as is to be supposed, for y built. moze furctie of the Romanne subiestes agaynste the inualism of the enimies. But pet Lollius dyn not so make an end of the war, but that the Bripartly being weakened of their former frength, to taynes flortly after attempted of newe, exther to reduce their state into libertie, or to bring the fame into further daunger.

VV Herebyő Mar= Iulim Cepthat succeeded Pius, Of the celesendeth Calphurnins of this Cal-Agricola to succeede Phuraius in Lollins in the gouerne- Britagneze may reide mente of 28 zitapne, the more inte subject casily ourreame Scotufic and subdued all his eni= mics. After this, there Schanced some trouble mithe dayes of the Emperoure Commodus the forme of Marcus Antonius and his fuccessozin the Empire: for the Britagnes y dwelled Porth wardes beyond Adzians wall, brake through the fame, and spopled a great part of the countrep, a= gainst whom the Romayne Lieutenant forthat Dion Calin both he and the Romanne Souldiers that were with him were beaten vowne and flapne.

Wilth whiche neives Commodus being soze ylpius Muamaled. fent against the Britagnes one Ellvius cellus Lea Marcellus, a man of great diligence & temperan= naunte. cp, but therwith rough a nothing gentle. He vlev the fame kinde of diet that the common fouldiers did vie. He was a Cantagne much watchfull, as one contented with very little fleeve, a defirous to keepe fure watch in the night season. Every euening her would write twelve tables, such as they bled to make of p linde tree, & delivering them to one of his fernants, appointed him to beare them at leucral houres of p night to lundry louidiers, wherby supposing that their Generall was syll watching and not gone to bed, they might be in doubt to fleepe. And although of nature be could wel absterne from sleepe, pet to be the better able dyet: for to the end by he would not fil lymfelfe to much with bread, he woulde eate none but sucht as was brought to him fro Rome, fo that more than necessitie compelled him, he could not eate, be reason that the stainesse toke away by pleasant tall therof, vielle pronoked his appetite. Exchasa maruellous cotener of money, to p bribes might not moue him to do otherwise tha dutie requited.

The Historie of Englande.

Thus Marcellus beeing of fuch disposition, fore aufliced the Britagnes, and put them oftentimes to greate loffes, through fame whereof, Commodus enuging his renoune, was after in minde to haue made him away, but pet spared him for a further purpole, and fuffered hym to de-

After he was remoued from the governement of Bitapuc, one Perhennis Captapue of the Emperours garde (or Pretorian Souldiers, as 16 put him to death. they were then called) bearing all the rule under the Emperour Commodus, appoprited certaine Gentlemen of meane calling to gouerne the arnip in Bzitaine. The Souldiers therefoze in the same army repining to be governed by menne of bale degree, in respect of those that had borne rule ouer them before, being honozable personages, as Senators, and of the confuler dignitie, they fel at fquare among themselues, and about fifteene huthe of them departed towardes Rome to exhi- 20 bite their complaynte againste Perhennis: foz whatfocuer was amiffe, the blame was fill lapo cohim. They passed swethe withoute impeach= minte at all, and comming to Rome, the Em= perour himselse came sweth to understande what they meant by this their comming in suche sorte from the place where they were appoynted to ferne. Their aunswer was, that they were come to informe him of the treason which Perhennis

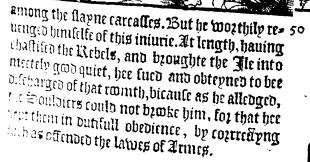

cusation, when Commodus tw lightly gaue eare, and believed it to be true, namely, through the letting on of one Cleander, who hated Perhermis, for that he brio. led hym from doying opvers bulawfullaffes, which he went about upon a willuli minde, (without all reason of modestic). to practile: The matter was to handled in the ende, that Perhennis was delinered to the Soulofers, who crucily mangled bin, and prefently

But nowe to the tue Pertinar Liefe multes in Britayne. Pertinar Liefe tenant of tenant of Britayne. to sende come sufficiente Captagne of authoritie thither, & therefore was one Pettinax that habbe bin Consul and ruler o. uer foure seuerall consuler provinces, appointed by Commodus, to goe as Lieutenat into that Ale, both for that he was thought a ma most meete for such a charge , and also to satisse his credite, for that hee had bin discharged by Perhenuis of bearing any rule, & fint home into Liguria where her was borne, there appoynted to remayne.

This Pertinar comming into Bzitayne, patifyed the army, but not without danger to have The Lieure? had deuised to his destruction, that hee mighte 30 bin sayne by a mutinie repledby one of the Les nancin dans gions: fot he was firiken dowie, and lett fot mad ger.

Then was Clodius
Albinus appoynted Clodius Albito have the rule of the nus Lieutener Romann army in Bzitayne: whose destruction whe Senerus the Em-peroure fought, Albinus esteemed it quickly:and faine ouer into Fraunce to encounter with Se= nerus, who was come thither towards him, fo that necre to the Citie of Lions, they ioyned in battell a fought right foze, in so much that Seue rus was at poput to haue recepued y ouerthzow by the high prowelle and manhade of the Britaynes:but yet in the moe, Albinus lolt p fielde, e was flapne. Then Seraclitus as Lieutenant began to gouerne Britagne (as writeth Sparcis anus bring fent thither by Scuerus foz that pur- 10 pole befoze. Ind such was the flate of this File as bout the perc of our Logo. 195. In which scason, bycause that King Lucius was dead, and hadde lett no illue to succeede him, the Bzitaynes (as befoze pe haue heard) were at variance amongit themselves, and so continued till the communa of Scuerus, whom the British Chronographers afürme to raigne as King in this File, and that by righte of succession in bloud, as discended of

This Sent- Severy Emperoure of Rome, began to rule this Tle (as authors affirme) in $ pere of oure Lorde 207. E COURT=

ned the lame's

4. Peres & odde moneths. At length, hearing that one Kulgetius as then a leader of the Pictes was entred into the bordures of his countrey on this fyde Durham, herapled an holl of Britagnes & Romans, with the which he marched towards his enimics: and meeting with the faid Fulgentius in a place Andzogeus the Britaine, which went to Rome 20 neere unto Porke, in the ende after soze fighte, Scuerus was flayne, when he hadde ruled thys

Land for the space almost of fine yeeres as before is fayd, and was after buried at Pozke, leauping behinde him two sonnes, the one named Gita, & the other Ballianus. This Ballianus beering bome of a Buttill moman, bicceeved bis father in the governemente of Bzitayne, in the yeare of the incarnation of our Lozd.211. The Romanes would haue had Erta created King of Bzitaine, 40 likely hood of troth, per Mall heare what the gapbearing moze fauoure to him bycaute he hadde a Romanc Lady to his mother:but the Britaines moued with the like respekt, helde with Bassianus. Am thereupon warre was rapled betwirte the two beetheen, a comming to trie their quar= rell by battell Geta was flague, and Balffanus with appe of the Britagues, remagned bidor, & so continued Ering, till at length he was slayne by one Caranfius a Bzitaine, bozne but ofleme birth, however right valiant in armes, and there= 50 newes, bycaule hee lawe occasion offered to adforewell effectived: In somuch that obterning of the Senate of Rome the keeping of the coaffs of Butanne, that be might defend the same from the malice of strainigers as Philes and other, he meto to him a great number of Souldiers & specially of Britaines, to whome hee promifed that if they would make him king, her would electely deliner them from the opprefuon of the Romaine scruitude. Wiherebpon the Bzitaynes rebellyng against Bassianus, ioined themselues to Caraufius, who by their support, banquished and slewe the land Ballianus, after he had raigned fire, of as some affirme err. yeares.

Thus farre out of the Englishe and Brittiffe writers, the whiche howe farre they vary from a proned histogiographers, Ereckes, and Latines, Heredians weiting of these matters, haue recorded.

The Emperour Scuerus receining aduertiles ment from the Lieutenant of Bzitayne that the people there moued Revellion, and walted the countrey with roades & forrages, so that it was needefull to have the prince himfelfe to come this ther with a greate power to relift y enimics, he of an ambitious namo reiopere not a little for thole uace his renoume and fame with increase of new victories nowe in the Wielt, after so many tris umphes purchased a got by him in the Cast and Porth partes of the world. Herrepon though be was of great age, pet the belire that he had fil to winne honor, caused him to take in hand to make a journey into this land, and so being furnished of althings recellary, he let forwards, being carried The Historie of Englande.

for the more part in a litter for bis more cale: for b beliet his feeblenesse of age, be was also troubled with & goute. He toke with him his two fonnes, Intomus Ballianus and Geta, vpon purpole as was thought, to anoyde occations of fuche incouchience as he percepued might grow by discord, moued betwirte the through flatterers and mas licious sycophants whiche soughte to set them at variance: whiche to bring to passe, he percepued there (hould want no meane whilest they contis 10 nuco in Rome, amid such pleasures and idle pafimes as were dayly there frequented: and therfore he caused them to attend him in this iourvey into Bzitayne, that they mighte learne to line soberty, and after the manner of menne of

Securius being thus on his fourney towardes Bifarne, flaged not by the way, but with all viligence spedde him fwethe, and passing the Sea very fwiftly, entred this Ille, and assembled a 20 mightic power togither, meaning to affayle hys enimics, and to purlue the warre againste them to the uttermost. The Britagues greatly amaled with this sodayne arrivall of the Emperoure. and hearing that suchpreparation was made a= quinst them, sent Ambassadors to him to infreat of peace, & to excuse their rebellious boings. But Scurrus delaying time foz aunlwere, as he that was delirous to atchieue fome high enterprife against the Britaines, for the which he might be- 30 them and help of his own fouldiers, and appoinferue y surname of Bittannicus, which he greatly courted, still was busic to prepare all thomas necessary for the warre, and namely, caused a great number of bridges to bee made to lay ouce the borges and marifyes, so that his souldiers might have place to stand oppon, and not to bee medbied for lacke of tirme groud whe they fluid cope with their enimies : foi the moze parte of Britaine in those dayes (as Herodianus writeth) was full of fennes, and marres grounds, by rea = 40 enimies ealily eleaped mithoute any greate loffe, ion of the often flowings and walking of the fea tides: by the whiche marres grounds the enimics being therto accustomed, wold runne & comming in the waters, and wave by to the micole at their pleasure, going for the more parte paken, so that they palled not on the mudie and myzes, for they by callthein knews not the vie of wearing clothes, but ware hopes of Fron about their middles and neckes, efferming the same as an ornamente and token of riches, as other barbarous people did golde.

Moreover, they marked, or (as it were payns fed their bodies in divers fortes and with fundep Mapes and figures of beaftes and foules, & therefore they bled not to we are any garmentes, that suche paynting of their bodyes mighte the moze appearantly be Gene, which they estemed a great brauerie

They were as the fame Herodiamis wifteth, a people given muche to the warre, and belighted in flaughter and bloudfhed, bling none other weapons or armure but a Cender buckler. a Jaurline, and a fworde tyed to their naked bos The furniture dyes: for as for headpeece or habergeon, they ex ef the faunge steemed not, bicause they thought the same spuld be an hinderance to them when they dould palle ouer any marres, or be driven to Comme anys waters, or fice to the bogges.

Mozeouer, to luffer hunger, coloe, and travell, they were so bled and enured therwith, that they would not passe to lie in the bogges and myzes coursed by to the chynne, withoute carina for meate for the space of divers dayes togither:and in the woodes they woulde live byon rates and barkes of trees. Also they vsed to prepare for thefelues a certaine kinde of meate, of the whiche if they recepued but so muche as amounted to the quantitie of a beane, they would thinke them selucs satisfyed, and seele neyther hunger noz thirst.

The one halfe of the Me or little lesse was sublect unto the Romannes, the other were gouerned of themselves, the people for the most part having the rule in their handes.

Scuerus therefore meaning to subdue the whole, and understanding they? nature, and the manner of their making warre, proulded him felte of all things expedient for the annoyance of ting his some Geta to remapne in that parte of the Ille which was subject to the Romaynes, he toke with him his other fonne Antoninus, and with his army marched forthe, and entred into the confynes of the enimies, and there beganne to wall and forcey the countrey, whereby there enfued piners conflictes and fkirmiffes betwirte the Romannes and the inhabitantes, the victory still remarning with the Romannes side: but the buto the woodes, Mountagnes, bogges, and fuch other places of refuge, as they knew to be at hand, whither the Romannes durif not follows, nozonce approche, for frare to bee entrapped and enclosed by the Britagnes that were ready to returne and assayle their enimies upport enery occasion of advantage that myglite bee offered.

This manner of dealing love troubled the 50 Romaynes, and so hindzed them, in their procedings, that no speedy ende coulde bee, made Dien Cassim. of that war: the Bittapnes woulde oftentimes of purpole lay their Cattell, as Dren, Kone, Sheepe, and fuche like, in places couveniente, to bee as a state to the Romagnes, and whete the Romannes Moulde make to them to fetche the same away, being distant from the relioue of the army a good space, they would fall bpo them and diffreste them. Belive this, the Romagnes were much eanoyed with the bumholesomnesse of the waters whiche they were forced to drinke, and if they chanced to stray absode, they were fnapped by by ambulhes which the Calidonians layde for them, and when they were to feeble that they could not through wante of Arength keepe pace with their fellowes as they marched in oz= per of battell, they were flanne by their owne fellowes, least they floudo be left behinde for a pray to to the enimies. Hereby there died in this journey of the Romaine army, at the point of fiftie thou-fand menibut pet woulde not Seuerns refurne. till be had gone through the whole Tile, and to came to the ottermost partes of all the Countrep now called Scotland, and finally came backe a= gayne to the other parte of the File subject to the Romannes, the inhabitantes whereof, named by Dion Cassius Meata: but first he costrepned the other whome the same Dion nameth Caledony, to conclude a league with him, with such conditions as they were compelled to departe with no fmall poztion of the countrey, and to deliner buto him their armour and weapons.

In the meane time, the Emperoure Seuerus bring worne with age fell sieke, so that hee was consirer ned to abide at home within that part of the Tle which obeyed & Romans, and to appoint his son Intoninus to take charge of the army a= biode. But Antoninus not regarding penimies, attempted little oz nothiug againste them, but foughte wares howe to winne the fauoure of the fouldiers and men of war, that after his fathers 40 peath for which be payly losed he mighte hane their aide + assistance to be admitted Emperoure in his place. Power when hee faw that his father bare out his sicknesse longer time than he would have willed, he practiced with Philitions and other of his fathers feruaunts to dispatche him by one means of other.

Withilest Antoninus thus negligetly loked to his charge, the Butarnes began a new Rebelliwith the Enweronce, but the other also whiche were lubicits to the Ramane Empire. Senerus twice fuche pelvicalure, that he called together the Souldiers and commaunded them to innate the countrer and to kill al fuch as they might meete mith in any place withouterespect, and that his ernell commanndement he expelled in thele vers fes taken out of Homer.

Nemo manus fugrar vestros, cademá, cruentamo Iliadore Nonfasus granida mater quem cessit in aluo, Horrendam effugiat cadem.

. V. Y.

Let none escape your bloudy handes, nor diretome flaughter fie. No not the babe vnborne, which in the mothers wombe doth lie.

But whilest he is thus risquieted with & Rebellion of the Britannes, 4 the delloyall practices of his fon Antoninus which to him were not bus knowen. For the wicked sonne had by direct at tempts discourred his trayterous and britiatural meanings. At legth, rather through forrow and criefe, than by force of ficknesse, he walled away, Handison a departed this life at Porke the third day before pinkly as p Pones of february, after he had gouerned the Eutropins Comvire by the space of 17 peeres. S. moneths 6.2. Dion Calis on, not only those b were lately connect in league 50 days. He lined. es. peres ... moneths 4.7. days: he mas borne the third Foes of Appil, by that which befoze is recited out of Perodpan a Dion Calle us of p maners a visions of those people; acceptit whome Senerus beide war heere in Pritabile:it map be conteduted, it they were the wifes, the whiche polletted in those dares a greate pattle of Scotland, and with continual incursios tiobes walted a deliroico p bozdures et thold countreps which were lubicated to the Romains. To kepe the back therfoge to repgelle their inualions Senerus (as fome write) either restored & former wall made by Appian, or elle newely bupit and ther overthwarte the yle from the east sea to the well, conteining in length, 232, miles. This wall: was not made of frone, but of turke e earth funported with stakes a pyles of wood, and desended on the back with a deepe trenche or ditche, salfo fortified with divers toures e turrefs buplt and 10 ecelofipon y lame wall of rampire to nere to aither, that the loud of trunipets being placed in the fame, might be hearde betwirte, and fo warning given from one to an other upon the fyille descring of the enimies.

Senerus being departed out of this life in the pere of our lozd. 211. his son Antoninus otherwise. falled also Ballianus, wold fayn have blurped y whole government into his own hands, attemps: ting with bribes & large promifes, to corrupt the minors of the fouldiozs: but when he perceived his purpole wold not forward as he wither in b behalf, he concluded a league with the enimies, e making peace with the, returned back towardes Poste, and came to his mother & brother Geta. with whom he tak order for the burial of his fas ther. Ind first his body being beent (as the maner was the affice were put into a vessel of gold, and to conveyed to Ronne by the two brethren and the empresse Julia, that was mother to Geta the ronger brother, & mother in law to the cloer. Anitoninus Ballianus, and by all meanes pollible fought to maintepn loue & concorde betwirt the beetheen, which now at the first toke buon them to rule the compire equally togither: but the ambition of Ballianus was fuch, that finally byon defire to have the whole rule himselfe, he founde nicanes to dispatche his brother Beta, breaking one day into his chaber, a flaging him euf irt his mothers lap, a to possessed the governmet alone, til at legth he was flain at Coessa & citic in Mesopotamia by one of his own soldiois, as he was about to butrusse his pointes to doe the office of nature, after be had reigned the space of his yeares sextus Auas is aforefappe. reliss.

Caraulsius.

Traussius, a Bu= Caraus— ton of vinknowen sins. British histories, after he had väquisht & stain Ballanus (as p fame hiltorics make metical was of the Betrapul Imade kying and rulif ouer them, in the peare of oure Lozde. 218. as Balir harh: but del harrison notethit to bein Galfrid. an. 286. This Carauffin seither to have the are and Support of the Pills, as in the Britis billos Polycron. ric is conteined, either elle to be at quietnes with Fabian. them, being not otherwise able to result the grand to them the coutrets in the fourth partes of Scots lande, which to yne to England on the call many ches, as Mers, Louthian, and others.

But here is to be noted, that the Britis wif Galfridue. ferr affirme, that thefe Pittes p'were thus placed in the fouth parts of Scotland at this time, were brought ouer out of Scythia by Kulgentius, fo aph him against Seucrus, ethat after the beath of Senerus and Fulgentius, which both died of hurtes reserved in the bataile fought betwirt the at Pothe: the Piffs toke part with Balfianus, e at length betrayed him in the baffaile which he fought against this Caraussius: for he corrupting them by such practiles as he vsed, they turned to his lide, to the ouerthrowcie better destruc= tion of Ballianus: for the which traiterous part they had those south countreys of Scotland gi= nen onto them for their habitation. But by the Scottiff weiters it Moulo appere, that those Pictes whiche apped Fulgentius and also Caraufflus, were the fame that long befoze havinhabi= ted in the north parts of Britagne, nowe called Scotland. But whatsomer they were, trouthit it is (as the Britist) histories record) that at legth one Aledius was fent from Rome by the fenate with uj. legions of fouldiors to fubduc Carsusfins, which he did, and flewehim in the fielde, as the same hillories make metion after he had reig= ned the space of vij. og. viij. yeares : and in y yeare of oure faluation. 253. as Calilliam Harifon ac-

Alcebus.

compteth.

A Leffus in hauing vanquished and slayh En- Alectus raussius toke voon him the rule and gouerns Of whom our ment of Bitayn, in the yeare of our Lorde. 293. British histo-

This Bledus whenhe had reflozed the fande cer this manere to the kibication of the Romanies, diode vie __ 293.

gitat

greate crueltie agapuist fuche of the Britaynes, as hadde manntrined the parte of Earauslius, by reason whereof, he purchased muche euill will of the Butons, the which at length conspices as gagnst him, and purpoling to chase the Romais nes altogether out of their countrey, they procured one Acclepiodotus, whom the Baytilli chronicles name Duke of Cornewall) to take bpon him as chief capitaine of that enterpile. Wiher= byon the same Asclepiodotus assembling a great armie togither, made luch tharpe warres on the Romains, that they being chaled from place to place, at length withdrewe to the citie of London, and there held them til Acclepiodotus came thither, and provoked Alcidus and his Romains so muche, that in the end they issued swith of the Citie, and gane batayle to the Britons, in the whiche muche people on both partes were flayn, but the greatest number dyed on the Romaines love: and amongest other, Aleifus himkelf was flarne. The relidue of the Romains that wire lefte aloue, retired backe into the Citie with a captayn of theirs named Linius Gallus, and Defended themselves within the walles for a tyme right valiantly.

Thus was Aledus Napne of the Britons, after he had reigned (as some suppose) aboute the terme of fixe yeres (or as some other write) three Adelepiodotus duke of Cornewall.

piodotus Gaifr. Mon. Mar. Frest.

Pahian.

MATHICE

Melepiodo, tus, Duke of Comewall, began his reign ouer the Bu= tons in \acute{v} yeare of ourc Lotde

After he had vanquilled the 50 Romarms in battaple, as before is recited he land his liege about the citie of London, and finally by knight= ly force entred the fame, and flew the fornamed Limns Gallus nerre unto a broke, whithe in tholedares ramic through the citie, and threwe him into the same broke: By reason whereof long after it was called Callus of Edallus broke. Tud at this presente the ffreet where the faine bioke did runne, is called delalbioke.

Chen after that Afelepiodotus had ouercome all his enimpes, hee helde this lande a certagne fpare in gooreff and quiet, and ministred inflice bpzightly, in rewarding the good, and punishing the engll. Gill at lengthe through flaunderous toungs of malicious persons, discorde was reyfeo betwirte the king and one Coyll og Coylus, that was gouernoure of Colchelter : the occasion wherof appeareth not by writers.

But whatsecuer the matter was, there enfued fuch hatred betwirt the, that on both partes great armies were rayled, and niertyng in the archepast fielde, they fought a fore and myghtic battayle, Marre in the whiche Accepiodotus was flagn, after he bather had reigned err peares.

Thus hath Ecttrey of Monmouth, and out Europis common Chroniclers written of Carantius, Aledus , and Alclepiodotus, whyche gouemed her in Britayne.

But Eutropius that famous writer of the Romayne hiltories, in the Lites of Diocletian. hath in effeite thele wordes.

About the fame tyme Carauffins, the whiche being boine of molte bale offpring, atterner to highehonour and dignitic by ogder of renowmed Chinalrie and fernice in the warres, receined charge at Bolein, to kept the leas quiet alonglig coalis of Butain, frace, and flaund is, t other countring countries thereaboutes, bycause the Arenches men, whiche pet inhabited within the boundrs of Germanye) and the Sarons fore: troubled those kas. Caraullius taking offentymisims: ny of the enimics, neyther restored the godes to them of the countrepe from whom the minies had bereft the fame, not yet fent any parte there of to the Emperours, but kept the whole to his amue vie. Wherepon when suspition rose that by hym, toll they had taken fome mofes, that in their returns with the fame, he myght encountre with them, and take that from them why the they havde gotten, (by whiche fubtile practife he was thought greatly to have enriched himselfed Warimianus that was fellowe in courrement of the Empire with Dioclesianus, remapning then in Gallia, and advertised of these doinges, commanded that Caraulius Moulde be lapn. furning the imperiall ornamentes and title, got possession of Britayne, against whom (being a man of greate experience in all warloke know= ledge) when warres had bereattempted and folo= wid in bapn, at lengthe a peace was concluded with him, and so he enioped the possession of Bis taph by the space of bis, peares, and then was flainely his companion Alexus; the whiche after him ruled Britann for the fpace of. iij. peares; and was in the end oppressed by the auple of As= elepiodotus gouernour of the Pretorie, (or as 3 map call him' logo Lientenant of some precinct and invitoidion perteyning to the Romanneems pite. Ind so was Britarn recourred by the fores fair Afelepiodotus about.r. veres after that Caraushus had first vsurped the government there, and about the pere of our Lozd 1300. as Polydoz inegeth, wherin he varieth muche from Fabian of the fubduing of Alexus, I think it not amiffe to litte downe what Mamertinus in his Diation witten in prayle of Maximianus both repost of this matter: After he hath reckened by diucts noble victorics by the layde Maximianus atchieued, fundry nations by his force subdued, he beginneth with Britarn in this wyle.

Dow then all the compatte of the earth being recoursed through your noble prowes, not onely so farre as the limittes of the Romagne empire habbe before extended, but also the enimpes 5 bordares being suborwed, when Almayne had ben fo often vanquiffed, and Sarmatia fo often restreyned and broughte buder, the people called Vitungi, Quadi, Carpi, so often put to flighte, the Cothe submitting himselfe, y king of Persia be offering giftes, luing for peace, one despiteful reproche of so myghtic an Empire and gourns mentioner the tohole, arricaled by to the hearte as noweat length wer will not dicke to confesse. and to be it from the inverint offerable; the saulcivously remarked to the accomplishing of pone prefent renounce and glorie: and verily mot. lukuandhere in but one name of Britaputy for was the dolle to be effected finall to the comens wealth of a lander o plenty full of corne la shundant with flore of pallures, to flowing with: he fhoulde of purpole luffer the entruise to paste is varies of mettall, lagaquefull with renominan tiling of cultomes and tributes, fo environmed, with houses, to large in circuite, the which where Celarathe founder of this your honourable title. bring the article that entred into it, muitte that he had founde an other worlde, supposing it to bee: to bigge, that it was not compatted with the fea, but that rather by resemblaunce, the greate Decan was compassed with it: and at that fime, Britagn was nothypic furnished with slinurs of but he bauing warning thereof rebelled, and be to warre, and the Momains name after the warres of Carthage and Afia, had lately bene exercised by statement Printes, and afterwardes by reafon of the warrest againsts, With water, were practifed as well to fighte by sea as lande: befode thys the Britishe nation then alone was accustomed but oncly to the Pietes and Trilly pias and Lich men, enimics halfe naked as yet, and not used mento wrate armour, so that the Britons for lacke of skill, easylye gave place to the Romanne 20 puissunce, in to muche that Cefat myaht by: that kopage oncly glospe in this, that he have sapled and passed cuer the Decan sea. But in thys wycked rebillious robberie, firste the nanie that in tymes paste desended the coastes of Gallia was ledde awaye by the Prate, when he fled his wayes: and belive this, a great numer ber of other flyppes were buylt after the mould of ource, the Acgion of Romanne Souldiours was wonne, and broughte to take parte with But to thew what we fynde further written 40 the emimie, and dyuers bandes of itraungers that were also Souldioures, were Cutte bring the Shippes to lerue also agaynst vs. The nurs chauntes of the parties of Gallia were affembled and broughte togythet to the musters, and no finall numbers of barbarous nations, procus red to come in apoc of the Rebelles, trustyngs to encyche themselues by the spople of the prouinces: and all these were trayned in the wars res by lea, thorough the instruction of the fields attemptours of this mileticuous maitile. Ind althoughe oure armyes were innincible in force: and manhode, yet were they rawe and not aca Stomed to the scas, so that the fame of a green uous and greate trouble by warre that was towarde by this flamefull rebellyous robberge. was blowen and founded in eche mans eare, als though we hoped well of the emo. Cinto the enter mics forces was added a long fustrance of thepef.y, witke !

of euill, increa-feth boldnesse in the authors

Carachia RITEL

wicked madiks without punishement whyche Long tofferdes had priffed buthe prefumptuous bolonelle of De= Gerate prople, that they bragged of our stay, as if it had bin tog feare of them, where the bifabuauntage whiche wee habde by fea, keemed as it were by a fatall necessitie to deferre our vistogie: neyther dyode they beleeve that the warre was put off for a tyme by aduple and counfell, but rather to be omitted through bespayee to boe any god against them, in so ninch that now the frare of common punishment being land alive, one of the mates flew the archippeate of capitagn route as I may call him, hoping in reward of fo great an exployte to obtenne the whole gouernemente into his handes. This warre then being bothe fonceeffarie, so haro to enter voon, so growne in tyme to a flubburne fliffnelle, and fo wel prouis ded for of the enimies part, you noble Emperor, dio to take it in hand, that to fon as you bent the thuozing force of your imperiall maiellie against that mimit, ethe ma made accompt that the enterprise was already atchieuco:for first of al, to y end b your diuine power being ablent, the barbarous nations flould not attempt any new trous ble (a thing chiefly to be forfene) it was promited for aforet, and by intercellio made unto pour mafellie: for you your leife, you I lay mightie lozd Marimian eternall emperoz, boucheolafe to abuace the coming of your dinine excellecie by the nerell way that might be, which to you was not buknowne: you therefore sodeynly came to the Rinne, and not with any armie of horsemen of fortuer, but with the terrour of your prefence, bid preferue & defend al that frontier : for Marimian once being there byon the riuage, counteruapled any the greatelt armies that were to bee founde. For you (most inumcible Emperoz) furrilling sarming divers nauics, made the enimie so uncertain of his own boings and boyd of cousel, that then at length he might percepue that he 40 was not refended but enclosed with the Decan fea. Here council it to mynde how pleasant and ealefuil the gwo lucke of those princes in gouerning the conion wealth with praile was, whiche fitting fill in Kome had triumphs and fuinames appointed them of fuch nations as their captains vid vanquille. Fronto therefore, not the feconde, Fronto comp but matche with the first honour of the Romaine cloquence, when he yelded onto the emperoz Intoninus the renome of the warre brought to end 50 in Bytarn, although be litting at home in his palace within the citie, bad conutted the coduct & fuctiffe of that war ourr bnto the fame fronto, it was cofeffed by bim, bibe Emperor arting as it were et the beline of the flip, beleeued & prayle by gruing of perfeit ogder to the full accoplishing of the enterpille. But you molt muincible Em= persour, hauctin not onely the appointer fwzth

The Historie of Englande. howe all this boyage by lea, and profesuring the warre by lande thoulde be demeaned, es appertayurd to you by vertue of your Imperiall rule and dignitic, but allo you have bene an exhapter and letter forward in the things themselius, and through example of pour allured constancie, the villozie was atchieuco. For you taking the Sea at Slupce, viode put an irrenocable defire into their heartes that were readye to take thippe the fame tyme in the mouth of the typer of Sagne, in so muche that when the Capitarnes of that armie were about to linger tyme, by reason the fras and apre was troubled, they cryed to have the layles hoyled by, and figne ginen to launche fweth that they night passe souwards on they? ionrney, bespiling certapne tokens which threatned they? wrecke, and to let forward on a rayme and tempelluous daye, faylying toyth a crolles wynde, for no forcipnoe myghte ferue they? 20 tourne. But what was hee that durft not committe bini felfe unto the fea were the fame neuer to buquiet, when you were once under layle, and lette forwarde ? One boyce and exhortas tion was amonge them all (as reporte hathe gone thereof) when they hearde that you were once got fwath oppon the water, what doe wer boubte? what meane we to flage? hee is nowe lewsed from lande, he is forwarde on his way, and peraduenture is alreadie got over : Lit be put all thongs in profe, lette to beniure thorough anye baungers of fea what focuer, what is there that we may fland in fear of? we folow the emperour: neyther didde the opinion of your god happe deceyue them: for as by reporte of theme felues, wer doe underftande, at that felle tyme there fell fuche a myfte and thycke fogge bpon the Stas, that the enimpes Pauir lapbe at the Aue of Wirghte, watchyng for there abuers faries and lurkying as it were in awayte, thefe pour thippes palled by, and were not once percepued, neyther bio the enimie then flage, ale though he couloc not refille. But nome as concerning that the same armye unbanquishable fyghting bnber your enlignes and name, ftreight wapes after it came to lande, fet free on they? Hipper: what moued them to to doe, excepte the abmonitions of your divine motion? of what other reason personaded them to referue no fur= theraunce for they flight if neede were, nor to feare the doubtfull chaunces of warre, not as the Prouerbe fareth, to thinke the hazarde of martiall dealyngs to be common, but that by contemplation of your profectous happe, it was berie certagne that there needed no doubte to ber calte, tog victozie to be ebteined? There were no sufficiet forces at that present aming them, no mighty puissant firength of Romains but they has only confluctation of your unipeakable fortunate faccesse commyng from the beauens aboue, for what so euer battaile Doth chaunce to be offered, to make ful accompt of bidogic, refleth not lo muche in the affuraunce of the fouldiours, as in the god lucke and felicitie of the Capitaine generall. Chat same ringleader of the bigratious faction, what mente be to depart fro that Gote whiche he pollelled? Colby did he forlake bothe his nauie and the hauen? but that (moste inuincible Empetour) 10 bee flade in feare of your commyng, whole fayles hee behelde readie to approche towards him, howefoeuer the mafter Moulde fall out, be chose rather to trye his fortune worth your capitagnes than to abyde the present force of pour maiellie : a madde man that bndeiltobe not, that whether to ener he fled, the power of pour dinine maiellie to be prefent, in all places where your countenance and banners are had in renerence. But hee flering from your pit= 20 fence, fell into the handes of youre people, of you was be outrcome, of yourcarmies was be oppielled. To be thoat, he was brought ins to fuche feare, and as it were fill loking behyude him, for doubte of pour comming aftet him, that as one out of his remembrance ama= 310 what to do, he halled forward to his death, to that he nepther lette his men in order of bate taple, normarshalled suche power as her had that conspiracie, the hired bands of the barbas rous nations, as one forgetful of to great pre= paration which be had made, ran hedlong forwards to his destruction, insomuch (noble em= pergyrour felicitie peloeth this good hap to the comon welch, that the victorie being atchiened in the behalfe of the Romain empire, there almolt died not one Romain: foz as I heare; all those fields and billes lave concred with hone but only with the bodies of moste wicked eni - 40 mies, the fame beeing of the barbarous inas tions, of at the left wife apparelled in the couter ait lapes of barbarous garments, gliffering with their long yealow heares, but nowe with gallies of wounds & bloud all deformed, and lying in funday maners, as the pangs of beath occasioned by their wounds, had caused thus founde them to Aretch fouth or draw in their maymed immes and mangled parts of their dying bothe therues was founde, who had put off thele robes which in his life time be had blurped & pillionozed, so as bueth was he coursed wyth one piece of apparell wherby be might be knowen, fo neare were his wordes true ottered at the houre of his death, whiche he faw at hand, that be would not have it understode howe he was flayn. Chus berily (moff inuincible emperdur) so greate a vidogie was appointed to you by consent of the immortall gods ouer al the enemies whom you affarled, but namely the Caughter of the Frankeners & thole youre Francones fouldiones allo, which as befoge I hant lapd, fine Franci. through milliong their course by reason of the mpsi that lay on the seas, were nowe come to the citie of London, where they flewe downe London in right in eche parte of the same citie, what muls danger to be fiture some remarked of these tracks backs titude focuer remayned of those hyzed barba= rous people, which escaping from the bataile, mente after they had spoyled the citie to haus not away by flight. But now being thus flain by your fouldiours, the subjects of your pro= uince were both preferued from further daun= ger, and toke pleasure to beholde the flaughter of fuche crueil enimies. D what a manyfolde vistoric was this? worthic budaubtedly of innumerable triumphes, by which victoric Bzis tapne is reflored to the Empire, by which victozie the nation of the Frankeners is betterlye destroyed, and by whiche many other nations found accessaries in the cospiracie of that wicked pradife, are compelled to obedience. To concinde, the leas are purged and broughte to perpetuall quietnes. Glozie you therfoze, in= nincible Emperoz, foz that pou haue, as it were gote an other worlde, and in restoring to the Romain puillannce the glorie of conquell by about him, but onely with the oldcautheis of 30 sca, hant added to the Romain empire amelement greater than al the compasse of the earth. that is, the mightie mapme Dcean. Pon haue made an ende of the warre, innincible Empe= cour, that feemed as prefent to threaten all pro= rinces, and might have fpreade abroade, and buelt out in flame, euen so largely, as & Decan Beag Aretche, and the Mediterrane gulfes poreache incither are we ignozant althoughe thorough feare of you that infection did fester within the bowels of Britarn only, and protrebed no further, w what furic it would have auanced it felfe elfe where if it might baue bin affured of meane to have raunged abzoade fo farce as it willed for it was bounded in with no bosourc of mountayine, not ryuer, whych gaenifons appopulted, were garded and De= fended but enen lo as the thippes although we had your martiall prowes and prosperous fortune readye to relieue bs, was kill at oure ela dies. Ind among thefe, the chiefe ringleader of so bowes to put be in feare, lo farre as eyther feas teache or winds bloweth : for that incredible boldenelle and birworthy good happe of a few captines of the Frankeners in time of v Emperour Probus:came to our remitbrance The pirace of whiche frankeners in that lealon, conneping the Frankeyaway certayn beliels from the coalies of Pons Bers called tus, waffed both Brecia & Ma, and not withe cones. out great burt & damage arming bpon biners partes F.iij.

ec | Ciceros

matche.

partes of the Moze of Libya, at length twice the Citye of Saragole in Sicile (an hauen towne in tymes palte hyghely renowmed for victories gotten by fea:) and after this, pallyng thorough the fireptes of Gibialterra, came into the Decan, & so with the fortunate successe of their rashepresumptuous attempte, spewed how no= thing is thut op in lafety from the velverate bold= nede of pylates, where thips may come and have accesse. Ind so therfoje by this your victorie, not so for euer hereaster, may be dedicate unto you and Bzitain alone is deliuered from bondage, but onto all nations is fafetie reflozed, which might by the vie of the seas come to as great perils in time of warre, as to gayne of commodities in tyme of prace. Pow Spayne (to let passethe coaltes of Gallia) with hir Mozes almost in fight is in furetie: now Italy, now Afrike, nowe all nations es uen onto the fennes of Meotis are voyde of per= petualicares. Pepthertherfore are they lesse ioy= ful, the feare of vanger being taken away, which to feele as pet, the necessitie had not brought the: but they rejoyce so muche the more for this, that both in the guiding of your god providence, and also furtheraunce of fortune, so great a sorce of rebellion by featmen, is calmed byon the entring into their bozdures, and Bzitagne it lelfe whiche had given harburgh to lo long a milchief, is eui= dently knowne to have tafted of your bistozie, with hir only restitutio to quietnesse. Pot with= his long withed renenger and delinererwere once arrined, rour Maiellie was met with greate trimmph, and the Britagns replenished with all in-The Bridge to arte gladnesse, came forth and offered thems sclues to your epiclence, with their wrues and childzen, reucrencing not onely poure selfe (on whome they lette their eyes, as on one descen= ded dorone them to from heanen) but also eucn the layles and tagle of that thippe whiche hadde brought pour dinine prefence unto their coaffes: 40 fore as heretofore (molle excellent Emperoure) and when you flould fette fote on lande, they were readic to lie downe at your feete, that you might as it were) march over them, to delirous were they of you. Prither was it any nuruaile if they thrwed them selves so iopfull, sithe after their miserable captimitie so many peres continued after so long abusing of their wines, and filthic bondage of their childzen, at lengthe pet were they notice restored to libertie, at lengthe true lighte of the Imperiall rule and gouernes ment: for bestot the same of your elemencie and ritic whiche was let forth by the report of all nations, in your countenaunce (Cefar) they perceiued the tokens of all vertues, in your face granis tie, in rour eyes invidencise, in your ruddie chee= kes bathfulnes, in your words inflice: Ill which thinges as by regarde they acknowledged, to in in truth

& cirroy in !

jumbleneile.

with popces of gladnelle they fignifyed on high. To you they bounde them felues by bowe, to pouther bounde their children: yea and to your children they bowed all the polleritie of there race and offizing. We truely D perpetuall pas Dioclestran rentes and lozdes of mankinde) require this of the Maximus immortall gods with most earnest supplication and heartic prayer, that our children and thep? chilozen, and suche other as shall come of them to those whome you now bring bp, or flat bring by hereafter. For what better hap can wee wille to them that thall succeede bs, than to bee enions ers of that felicitiie which now we our felues en= top? The Romaine common wealth both now comprehende in one conjunction of peace, al that what soeuer at sundry times hath belonged to the Romaines, and that huge power whyche with to great a burdeyn was flywnke downe, and ris 20 uen in funder, is nowe broughte to iopne agayn in the affored iopates of the imperiall governes ment. Hoz there is no parte of the earth nor region bnder heaven, but that epther it remapneth quiet through feare, or subdued by force of armes, or else at the least worse bounde by clemen. cie. Ind is there any other thing else in other partes, whych if wyll and reason should move men therto, that might bee obteyned? beyond the Dcean, what is there moze than Bzytaine, which out god cause therefuze immediatly, when you 30 is sorccourred by you, that those nations which Nations nem are neare adiopning to the boundes of that Ile, to Britaine obey the Es are obedient to your commaundementes? There perous. is no occasion that maye mous you to passe further, excepte the endes of the Ocean lea (which nature fozbiodeth) Woulde bee lought foz. All is yours (moste inuincible Painces whiche areaccompted worthis of you, and thereof commeth it, that you may equally provide for cuery one, lithe you have the whole in your hands: and ther= Diocksian, by thy commaundemente Isia dyd supplye the velerte places of Thracia with inhabitauntes transported thyther, as afterwards molte excellente Emperour Maximian, by your appointementement, the Frankeners at length brought to a pleasant subirction, and admitted to lyne buder lawes, hath peopled and manured the The printed has Hermine bacante fieldes of the Peruians, and thole as leakethekin bout the citie of Trier: And so nowe by your form made Romaynes, at lengthe refreshed with the 50 biffozics (innincible Constantius Celar) what focuer did lye vacant aboute Amiens, Beanboys, Trops, and Langres, beginneth to flourithe with inhabitauntes of fundave nations: yea and moreover that your most obedient Citie of Autun, for whose lake I have a preuliar canse to reionce, by meanes of this tryumphaunt bikozie in Bzytarne, it hathe recroued manye and divers Artificers, of whome

The Historie of England.

darsforth thale prouinces were full, and nowe by they? werkmanship the same Citie reiseth op by re= puring of auncient houles and restozying of publique buyldings and temples, so that now it accompteth that the olde name of brother= like incorporation to Rome, is again to hir reflored, when the hath you eftiones for hir foun-Der. I haue fayd (inuincible @imperoz) almost moze than I haue bin able, and tist so muche as Fought, that I may have moste iust cause to by your clemencies licence, both now to end, and often heereafter to fpeake: thus I cealle.

here haue you the substance of that whiche is wittentouching Bzitayn in that Paneges rike ogation alcribed to Mamereinus, whiche be fet forth in prayle of the emperors Diocletian and Maximian : it is entitled only to Maxis mianus, wheras neverthelelle both the Emperouts are praised. And tykewyle as ye mape perceine, Collanting that was father buto the 20 great Constantine, is here spoke of, being cho= fen by the two forelayde Emperours to alufte thein by the name of Cefar in rule of the Empire: of rohome hereafter moze thall be laybe.

Bur now to confider what is to bee noted forth of this part of the fame oration: It Wuld freme that when the emperoz Marimian was fent into Gallia by appoyntemente taken bes twirt him and Diocletian after be bad quieted things there, be fet his mynde forthwith to re= 30 mianus had thus recouered Britain out of ther Duce Britagn under the obedience of the Einpire, the which was at that prefent kept buder fubication of fuch princes as mayntegned their flate, by the mightie forces of suche number of Dips, as thei had got togither, furnilled with al things necessarie, namely of able frame, as well Bitons as Arangers, among whomthe Frankeners wer as chief, a nation of Germaproficed Ger. nic, as then hyghly renoumed for their puils so that there were no rouers comparable to them. Ind bycause none durfte fliere on these our leas tog feare of the Britille fleet that palfed to and fro at pleafure, to the greate andyance of the Romanne fubiedes inhabiting alongest the coaftes of Ballia, Marimian both to recover agapne so wealthy and problable a land buto the obeylance of the empire, as Bais tapne then was, eallo to beliver the people of being dayly sported by those rouers that were magnteined here in Bettagn, he provided with all diligence suche numbers of ships as were thought requisite for so great an enteppise, and rigging them in fandep places, toke oeder for their letting forward to the most advantage for the easy atchening of his enterptic. He ap= pointed to paffe himfelte fro the coalle of fidvers, at what time other of his capitains with their fleetes from other parts, fonld likewyfe make fayle towards Bittapn. By this meane Alectus that bad vfurped the title and dignitte of king of rather emperozoner the Britains, knew not where to take becde, but get underflanding of the naniethat was made ready in the mouth of Sagn, he ment by & which may be colectured, to intercept that fleet as it finile come forth and make fapic forewardes: and fo for that purpole be lay with a great number of Wips about the Ille of Wight. But whether Afclepiodotus came ouer to that naute which was rigged on the coalls of flanders, of with fome other, I will not prefume to affirme eya ther to of fro, bicaule in deed Mamertinus ma keth no expresse mention either of Alexus, or Ascieptodotus:but notwithstanding it is eutdent by that which is coteined in his exation, that not Maximian, but fome other of bis ca= pirains gouerned o armie, whiche flewe Alec= tus, to that we may suppose that Acceptovotus was chieftain ouer some number of thips dire-Red by Maximitians appointment to palle os ner into this yle againft thefame Heffus: and lo may this which Mamertinus writeth, agres with the truth of that whiche we fynd in Eu- Entropies tropius. Here is to be remtbred, pafter Maxis hands that blutped the rule therof frothe Romans, it fhuld feem p not only great numbets of artificers & other people were conneyed ouck into Ballia, there to inhabite and furnith fuch cities as were run into becay, but allo a power of warlike youthes was transported thither to defend the countrey from the invalion of bars barous nations. For we ford that in the dayes of this Maximian, the Bittons cryulang the lance by lea, nere to the which they inhabited, 40 Deruias out of the citie of Monts in Benand, held a castell there, whiche was called Breeatmons after them, wherebpon the citie was afs terwarde called Mons, reteyning the laff illlable only, as in fuch cafes it hath ofte hapned. Moreoute this is not to be forgetten, p as Humf. Ethnyo hath bery wel noted in his book intitled Fragmenta historia Britannica, Mamet= tinus in this parcell of his panegerike ogation doth makefirst metion of the nation of Bices, Gallia subiects to & Romains, fro danger of 30 of al other the ancient Roman waters: so that not one before his tyme, once naueth eyther Pills of Scots. But now to returne wher we feft. After that Britain was thus recovered by the Romains, Diocletian & Marinia ruling the Empire, the Fletalted of the crueltie, that Diocleffan exercifed agaynflethe Christians, in perfecuting them with all extremityes, f.Hil.

Gildas.

continually for the frace of ten peeres.

Amongft other, one Alban a citizen of Wier= lanichester, a town now bearing his name, was the first that suffred here in Britann, in this per= figution, being connected to the faith of Christe by the zealous chaistian Anaphibalus, whome he happe recepued into his house: in so muche that when there came Scrueants or officers to feeke for the same Amphibalus, the aforesayo Albane to preserve Amphibalus out of daunger, presen- 10 ted hymselfe in the apparell of the sayde Anuphibalus, and to being apprehended in his flead, was brought before the judge, and examined : and for that he refused to doe facrifice to the falle goddes, he was beheaded on the toppe of an hill ouer a= gapult the towne of deleriamchefter atozelapo. where afterwardes was burloed a churche and monasterie in the remembrace of his martirdom, informuch that the townse there restored after that Wilcrlamchester was destroped, twke name of him, and so is buto this day called faint Albons. Atis reported by writers, that divers miracles wire wroughte at the tyme of his death, in so muche that one whiche was appointed to do the 40 I leave that to be decided of the learned: for if crecution, was concreted, and refuling to bo that office, suffered also with him: but he that toke byon him to docit, reionced nothing thereat, for et afraname bis eyes fel out of his head, downe to the ground numents ferre together with the head of that holy man whichebe had then cut off. There were also martyred about the same tyme two constant withesits of Chaff his Religion, Laron and Julius citisens of Cacilcon aiwish.

Morcouer a great nüber of Christians which minde FF1 - were affembled together to beare the word of lyfe germenf. E- picacian by that vertuous manin Imphibalus. mere flann by the wicked Pagans at Urchfield. juberof that towne toke name, as you wold far, The field of bead couples.

Cobebuche, this perfecution was fo greate ? orthous, and there to bouncefall, that in maner the Chuffig religion was therby destroyed. The faithfull people were flagne, their bokes brent. churches ouerthzown. It is recozded, that with= Renulting in one monethes space in dyners places of the Cestressis. Worlde there were, rois. D. godlye menne and Mat. prof. women put to death for professing the christian Constantial. faith in the dayes of that typant Dioclesian and his fellowe Marinian.

Coellus. Colchester, began hys dominion our the Bytons in the yeare of our Lozd. 262. This Fabian.

Coellus or Coill ruled the lande for a certagne tome, so as the Bip= tons were well contentented with his gouer= nement, and lyued the longer in rest from inuation of the Romains.bicause they were occupied in other places: but fi= nally they findyng tyme for their purpose, apointed one Constantius to palle ouer into this Ille with an armie, the which Constantius put Coclus in suche dread, that immediatly boon his arriuall Cocllus lent to him an amballade, and cocluded a prace with him, cournating to pay & ac= customed tribute, and gaue to Constantius bis Caxton. Daughter in mariage called helene, a noble Lady Galfrid. and a lerned. Shortly after king Coell oped, after le had reigned (as some write). 27. yeares, 01 Fabian. as other haue, but. 13. peares. Ef the regiment of thes Prince, Harrison maketh no mention in his Chronologie.

But berily if I thall weake what I thinke, I will not denye but affuredly fuche a Prince there was: howbeit that he had a daughter named De= lene, whome hee maried buto Constanting the Romain lieutenant that was after Emperout, the whole course of the lyues, as well of the father and fonne, Constantius and Constantine, as lykewyle of the mother belena, bee confiderately marked from tyme to tyme, and yeare to yeare, as out of authors both Greeke and latine, o lame may be gathered, I feare leaft luch boubt may ryle in this matter, that it wil be harder to proue Helene a Britapne, than Constantine to be borne in Bithynia (as Micephorus ausu- cib.7.ca). cheth) but for somuche as I meane not to ffeppe from the course of oure countrepe writers in fuche points, where the recepued opinion mape feeme to warrant the credite of the historie. Fin! with other admit bothe the mother and sonne to be Britons in the whole discourse of the historie following, as thoughe I hadde forgot what in this place I have layo.

Constantius. Conft.1ya rroft.

1:1/3.

-11 .302.

nstanti 🔾 Uug.a St= natoure of Rome bega to reigne over the Britons, in v peare of oure Lozde.289. as oure Pistories reporte. Thys Collatius, as before ye have hearde, hadde to wyfe helene the daughter of the forelayd king Coyli, of whome he begat a son named Constantinus, which af= warde was Emperour, and for his worthy do= ings furnamed Conftantine the great. S. Ambroke following the common report, writeth, that this Belme was a maybe in an Inne: and fonce fantius, and not his wyfe. But whatforver the was, it appeareth by the writers of the Romain tiffories, that Constantius being the daughters fonne of one Crispus, that was brother to the Emperour Claudius, came into Britagne, and quieted the troubles that were rapled by the Bis tons, and there (as some write) marved the for= furd helen being a woman of an excellent beautic, whom pet (after) he was constrained to for= of Herculeus Maximianus, by whom he hadde fire lons, a finally was created Emperor togis ther with y faid Galerius Maximianus, at what tyme Diocletianus and his fellowe Herculcus Marimianus renounced the rule of the empire, and committed the same unto them. The Emthe was then devided betwirte them, so that to anflantius the regios of Italy, Affrik, France, apayne and Bzitayne were alligned , and to partes. But Constantine being a man boyde of ambition, was contented to leane Italy and Affrike, supposing his charge to be great inough to have the government in his hands of France, Sparn.and Britagn (as Eutropius hath.)

But as touching his reigne ouer the Britons wee haue not to lave further than as we fynde in our owne waiters recorded: but for his gouernment in the empire: it is to be confidered, that first te was admitted to rule as an allillat to Maris 50 in hande. nuan under y title of Celar : e so from that time If you fiall accompt his reigne, it may comprehend xj.xij.oz.riij.peares, yea mioze oz lelle, ac= cording to the divertitie founde in fortiers.

But if we had recken his reign from the time and onelp that Diocletian and Maximian religned thur title to the Empire, we chall konde that he ragued not fully in, yeares. For where as betweene the flaughter of Alexus, and the comning of Constantius, are accompted is peeres and odde monethes, not only those, 8, years, but also some space of tyme before maye be ascribed buto Constantius: for although before his comming ouer into Britagi nom this last tyme (for he had bin here afoze, as it well appeareth) Afcle= piodotus gouerned as Legate, albeit under Conflantius, who had a greate portion of the west so parties of the entpire under his regiment, by the title, as I have layd, of Celar, although he was not layde to reigne absolutelye, till Diecletian and Maximian religned, wheref it is not amiffe to give this bricke advertiscment, accordona as in William Parrilons Chronologie is fuffici= ently promed. But now to coefinde with the voings of Constatius, at legth he fel lick at Porke, and there dyed about the years of our Lord. 306.

This is not to be forgotten, that whylest her agapue waite, that the was concubine to Con= 20 lay on his death bed, somewhat befoze he departed this life, hearing that his sonne Constantine was come, & cleaped from the emperours Dioeletian & Maximuanus, with whome he remained as a vledge, as after shall be partly touched: he recepued him with all iope, and railing him= felfe by in his bed, in presence of his other sonnes and counfellours, with a greate number of other people and strangers that wer come to bisit him. he let the crowne boon his lonnes head, and ad= fake, & to marrie Theodoga, the daughter in law 30 ogned him with other imperiall roabes and gare Nicepha mentes, executing as it were himselfe, the office of an heralde, and withall spake these worder buto his layd founc, and to his councilors there about him.

Dowc is my death to me more welcome, and Tripartie. my departure hence moze pleasant. I haue heere hifferia. alarge epitaphe and monuments of buriall, to witte, mone owne sonne, and one whome in earth I leave to be Emperoz in my place, which Thirties, Illyzium, Grecia, and all the Caste 40 by Gods good helpe Kall wipe awaye the teares of the Christians, and renenge the crueltie erercised by tyrants. This I recken to chaunce butome in flese of molte felicitie. After this, fur= ning himselfe to the multitude, he commaunded them all to be of god comforte, meaning those that had not foglaken true vertue e godlinelle in Chailte, which Chailt he bnoertoke fould con= tinue with his some Constantine in alemtermi= les, which in warres or otherwole he wuld take

> That devile allo is worthie to be had in memozic, which he put in practife in his lyfe time, to buderstand what true & Arcere Christians were temayning in bis courte: for where as he hadde bin fielte a perfecuter, and after was converted, it was a matter easy to persuade the world, that he was no carnelle Chaillian: and fo the policie whiche her thoughte to worke, was the fonce

See the hooke

Jede. .

13. Roff 146

Con-

Constantine.

brought to palle, whiche was this: Le called to gether al his officers and fernants, feyning him= lelfe to chofe out fuche as would de facrifice to oculs, and that those only thould remapne with hone, and keepe their office, and the refle that refused so to doe, Coulde be thoust out, and bani-Wed the courte.

Herebpon all the Courtyers denived themsels ues into companies: and when some offred willingly to bo lacrifice, sother form boldly refuted: 10 the Emperoure marking their dealings, thamply rebuked those which were to ready to dishonoz the living God, accempting them as traytors to his dinine maichie, and not worthy to remaine within the Court gates: but those that constants ly flood in the moscission of the chaistian fayth, he greatly commended, as men worthie to be about a prince: and withall occlared, that from thenceforth they flould be as thiefe counsellours and ming more of them than of al the treasure he had in his coffers.

To conclude, her was a prince graue, sober, traight, courteous and liberall, as he which kept his my not cuer free from couctous desire of great riches: infomuch that when he should make any great feall to his frendes, he was not affiamed to bosco plate and spluer bessell to serve his turne, and to furnishe his cupboade for the tyme, beyng contented for himfelfe to be ferned in crufes and 30 fantine. conthen reffell. He was wonte to have this laying in his mouth, that better it was that the lubi des frould beut flege of money and riches, tha the Prince to keepe it clote in lis trealogie, where it leived to no tie. Ly luthe curtous dialyng the provinces whiche were miss charge flouris flich in greate wealth and quictneffe. Fie was a right wife and politike Prince in the oppering of all weigitie matters, & verie Milfull in the prace tise of warres so that he stode the Remandems 40 pircin great stead, and was thusfore highly belos ued of the Sould ours, in so muche that immeene Bic & your biatly after his decease, they proclays my is son Constantine Emperour.

That the Christian faithe wesimbraced of the Britons in this featon, it may appeare, in that hillarius billiop of Politices writeth to his bietligen in Butagne, and Constantine in au Spille, as Theodoretus hathin bis firfte boks and tenth chapiter maketh mencion of the churs aftirme. For the Britons after they had recepued the faithe, beffended the fame euen with the Auguring of their bloud, as Amphibalus who in tins Coullanting dars bring approbended, fuffered at Redbunne nere to Welerlamehelter, about -- the yeares after the marticome of his holle S.

Enstantine brying the sonne of the fozense med Constantius, begot of his firste wefe Constabelene, the caughter (as some altirme) of Corl tine. late king of the Britons, beganne his reigne in the yeare of our Lord. 306. This worthie prince begot of a bzitiste woman, and bozne of hir in Bzitayne (as our writers doc affirme,) and creadesendozs both of his person and kingdom, eller 20 ted certainely Emperour in Bzitagne, toubtlesse Confiantine neade his natine countrey partaker of his high is in Bong gloric and renoume, which by his great prewes, politike wiscome, worthie gouernemente, and other his Pzincely qualities molic abundantlye planted in his noble person, he purchased and got through the circuit of the whole earth, infonuich that for the highe enterprices and notile acres by him happily broughte to passe and atchience, he was furnamed (as before is layd) the great Co-

> Wibilell this Collantine remainen at Rome in manner as he had bin a pledge with Galerius in his fathers life time, he bering then but yong, fledde from thence, and with all post halfe returs ned to his father into Britain, killing or helioghing by the way all fuch horffes as were appointed to flande at Junes readic for suche as should Entropia. ryde in poste, least being purfied, he should have sextus de bene ouertaken, and broughte backe agayne by relim Villa. suche as might be fent to pursue him.

It his comming into Britagne, he found his father fore vered with ficknesse, whereaf shortly after hee byed, and then was he by helpe of luch as mere aboute him, encouraged to take bypon green king him as Emperour: Ind namely one Erocus, of the Alking of the Ilmaynes whiche had accompanied mains. his father thither, assisted him therto, so that bes ing proclarmed Emperor, he toke bpon him the rule of those countreys which his father had in gouernement, that is to say, fraunce, Spayne, the syant thes in Britagne: With also Sojomenus both so the Alpes and Britagne, with other provinces tere in the west: and ruling the same with great equitie and wylebonu, her greately wanne the favour of the people, infomuch that the fame of his politike governmente and curtious bealing being spread abzoade, when Marrnfins the tiraunt that occupied the rule of the Empire at Ronu, and in Fraly by wrongful blurping and shufing the same, was growne into the hatred of the Romans and other Italians, Constantine was earnestly by them requested to come into-Italy, and to helpe to subdue Marentius, that be night reforme the flate of things there. Barentius was sonne to Herculeus Marimi= nianus, Constantine had marryed faulta the daughter of the layde Maximinianus. Powe foit was, that Maximinianus immediatly afrule puon hom, fought meanes to have devoted hom, sto have refinned and taken efflones into his owne handes the government of the emvire. But folliciting Diocletian to do the like, he was much reproved of him for his onresonable & am= bicious purpole: lo b when he perceined that nei= ther Diocletian woulde be therto agreeable, noz induce the fouldiours to admit him, they having already established his some, be began to deuple his lavde sonne: and hearing that his sonne in Im Constantine was monded to come into Is taly against him, he purposed to practise Conflantines destruction, in somuch that it was ind= diamstrion ged by this which followed, & Herculeus Mariminus did but for a colour feme to milloke with that whiche his fon Warentius bad done, to the ende he might the loner accomplishe his entents for the dispatching of Constantine oute of the In, he cane to Constantine, who as then bauing appointed lieutenants onder hinr in Boltapnice. m wheed in France, and with all iop and bonoz that mighte bee, received his father in lawe: the which being earnestly bent to compacte his purretife dau, pole, made his daughter faulta prinie therto: whiche lavie, either foz feare least the conceatying the entier love whiche the bare to hir hucbande) whilest Constantine goeth about to be revenged of luche a trapterous peacile, Perculeus fleeth to Merfiles, purpoling there to take the fea, and so to retire to his sonne Marentius into Italye. But ere he coulde get away from thence, he was frangled by commandements of his fonnein lawe Con fantine, and foemer, his lyfe, whiche he had spotted with many cruell actes, as well in perfecutyng the protettoures of the Christian name, as others.

In this mean time had Maximimus adopted chisten one Licinius to assiste hymin governaunce of the empire, proclayming hym Celar. So that nome at one selse tyme Constantine gouerned Fraunce and the wealt partes of the Empire, Marentins belde Italy, Iffrike, and Egypte: And Maximimus why the lokewyle handen es kated Celar, culen the Calle partes, and Licie nius Illuzium and Grecia.

The Historie of England.

But Mortly after, the Emperoure Constant. tine iogned in league with Licinius; and gaue to him his lifter in marriage, named Constantia, for more suretie of faithfull friendship to endure betwirt them. He fent him also against Maris nunus, who governing in the East parte of the Empire, purpoled the beltrustion of Constantine and all his partakers: but being banquisted ter that his sonne Macentius hadde taken the 10 by Licinius at Tarlus, he Mortly after oved, being eaten with lice. Constantine after this, was called into Italy to deliver the Romannes and Italians from the tyrannic of Marentius, whithe occasion to offered, Constantine gladly ac= cepting, palled into Italy, and after certaine bietories gote againste Marentins, at length sleme him. And after this, when Maximinus was dead, which extended to make warre against e Licinius, that hadde married Constantia, the made howe to affire the flate moze frongly to 20 fifter of Conflantine, the finally made warte as gainst his brother in lawe the layor Licinius, by reason of suche quarrels as fell out betwirt the: In the whiche warre, Licinius was mitte to the worle, and at length comming into the handes of Constantine, was put to beathe, so that Confantine by this meanes gote the whole Empire under bis rule and lubication. Hee was a greate kauozer of the Christian Religion, in somuche that to aduance the same, her toke order for the wave. herebpon (as it were) fleing out of Ita- 20 converting of the Temples dedicated in the honois of Jools, buto the feruice of the true and Almightic God. Pee commaunded also, that Christians homone should be admitted to serve as a Souldiour noured & chein the warres, excepte hee were a Christian, noz pet to have rule of any countrey or armie. Dee also orderned, the weeke before. Cafter, and that whiche followed, to be kept as help, and no perfon to doe any booily workes during the fante. He was nuche counsailed by that noble a most reueled hir fathers wicked purpole. Whereopen 49 vertuous ladie his mother, the Euppelle Peleite, Polydere, whilest Constanting gooth shout to be revenued the whiche being a good and revenue the prayee of the whiche being a godly and benoute woman, the Empresse bid what in hir lage, to move him to the letting. Helena. forth of Gods honour and encreale of the chie stian faith, wherein as yet he was not fully instructed. Some writers alledge, that the beeing at Jeculalem, made diligent learche to finde out the place of the Sepulchie of our Lorde, and at length foundeit, thoughe with muche adde: for the infivels hav flopped it by, and covered it with a heape of filthie earth, and buploed alofte boot the place, a chappell ordicated to Menus, where youg women bled to ling longes in honoure of that buchalte Boddelle. Helene caused the sante to be sucthforme, and the earth to be remoued. and the place clented, to that at length the fepulthie appeared; and fall by write fourthe there bittied in the earth tij croffes and the nailes, but the exolleroperimpon our Saniour was crucityed.

Pomponius

Latiu.

I.h. Dale. Tibane.

was known by the title written by on it, though almost wome out, in letters of toebrem, greke, end Latine : the inscription was this : lesus Nacarensu rex ludeorum. It was also percepued which was that Croffe by a miracle, (as it is reported, but how truly F can not tell), that thulb be wrought thereby : for being layde to a licke woman, only with the touching therof, the was healed. It was also sayde, that a dead man was rapled from death to lyfe, his bodie onely being to touched therwith. Wiherwpon Constantine mo= ued with these things, forbade that from thence= forth any flould be put to death on the Croffe, to the ende that the thing which afore tyme was accompted infamous and reprochefull, myghte nowe be had in honour and reuerence. The Emplesse Helen having thus found the Croffe, buyloed a temple there, and taking wyth hir the nayles, returned with the same to hir son Constantine, who fet one of them in the crest of 20 his helmet, an other in the byydell of his horte, end the thirde he castinto the sca, to assuage and pacific the furious tempestes and rage thereof. She also brought with hir a parcell of that holy Crosse, and gaue it to hir sonne the sayd Confrantine, the whiche he caused to be closed with= in an Image that represented his person, standing uppon a piller in the market place of Con-Cantine, (or as some late writers haue) he cauwith ryche stones and Pearles, placing it in a Churche called Selfoziana, the which church he endued with many great giftes and precious ornamentes.

Many workes of greate zeale and vertue are remembeed by writers to have bin done by thys Constantine and his mother Helene, to the fetting faith of Gods glozie, and the aduauncing of the faith of Chrifte.

But to be briefe, he was a manne in whome 40 many excellent britues and good qualities bothe of my not and bodic manifestly appeared, chiefly he was a prince of great knowledge and experience in warre, and therewith verie foztunate, an carnest louer of inflice, and to conclude, bezne to all bonour.

Litton of COR-

But nowe to speake somewhat of the state of Britagne in his tyme, ye Mall underflucte; that as becfore is recorded, at his going ouer into noto Fraunce, after that he was proclaimed em= partie, he lette beehynde bym in Beitayne cer= 50 the descriptions forule the land, and amongst eter our Narminus a right valiat captague. were cloudy him a great part of the youth of Busayn a diners of the chiefe men aniongst the Dobilitie, in mhole approued manhode, lovaltie em constancie, be concepued a great hope to got injough with al his enterpties, as with y which being accompanied and compassed about, he pasfed ouer into Gallia, entred into Italye, and in every place ouercame his enimies.

Ther be that write how that Constantin thus prilhelms conveying over the fea with him a great armye Malmel of Britons, by whole indultrie obteyning bido- Bricayottic. rieas he withed, hee placed a greate number of wing withe fuche as were discharged out of wages, and li-vnder Concenced to give over the warre, in a parte of Gal- danine. ha towardes the Wealt lea coalt, where thep: posteritie remayn butothis daye, meruailously encrealed afterwardes, and somewhat differyng from our Britons, the Welchmen, in manners and language.

Amongst those noble nien which he tok with him when he departed out of this lande (as oute Galfridm. writers do tellifie, were. iif. bucles of his mother Mat. Pvil. Helene, that is to witte, Hodmus, Traherus, & Marius, whom be made Senators of Rome.

In the meane tyme that Constantine had obteyned and ruled the whole empire, Britain as it were having reconcred libertie, in that one of hie chilozen being her king, had got the gouernment of the tohole earthe, remayned in better quiete than afore time the had done: but yet in the mean fealon, if we thall credite the Bzitiffe Chonicle and Eeffrey of Monmouth the interpreter there= of, There was a British lord, named Difanius Oamies. of Daauian, as the olde Englithe Chronicle Caxton. sed it to be enclosed in a coffer of golde, adozned 30 nameth hym, that was Duke of the Gewilles, Gerriffeise and appoynted by Constantine to be ruler of the country vol. lande in his absence, the whiche Ditauins (after Saxone Mag. that Constantine had recouered Rome, and J. helde. that Constantive had recovered Kome, and Is helde.
The name Get taly, and was so busied in the affaires of the ems wifes came pirc in those parts, that as was thought, he could in with the not returne backe into Britagn,) seyled into his Gong &c. handes the whole dominion of Bzitayne, and held himselfe for king.

Octanius.

0Hauius.

This Offanius then beginning his retyne os Galfrida.
ner the Butons in the yeare of our Lozve, 329. pronoked Constantine to send agaynst him one of his mothers buckes, the foreland Trahern This Crahernes, or as some name him Cras Fabias. herne, entred this lande with three Legions if fouldiours, and in a fielbe nerre unto telineire. Art, Was encountred by Diamins and his Briz Galfrida. The Historie of England.

tons, by whome after a loze battaple there firtkenberwirte them, in the ende Traherne was wheaver put to flight and chased, in somuche that he was constrained to foelake that part of the lande, and ha Abbelen Gunda Chroto prawe towardes Scotlande.

Dauins hauing knowledge of his palisge, followed him, and in the countrey of Wichmerlande eftiones gane bim battaile, but in that batarle. Danius was put to the worle, and con= franced to forlake the lande, fled into Porwar, there to purchase appe: and being redy with such power as he there gathered, what of Bzitons and Polwergians, to returne into Britann. Before his landing, he was aductifed, that an Earle of ereccor by treason flayne Traberne. Diranius then coming to lande, eftlones got pollellion of Biltarne, whiche should be as fabian gathereth about the yeere of our Lozde. 329. in the. 20. peere of the reigne of the Emperour Constantine, and about two yeares after that the layd Difauius fielt toke boon him as king.

Ifter this, (as the Britille Chronicle affirmeth) Difauius governeth the lande right nobly At length when he was fallen in age, and had no issue but one daughter, he was cousayled to send bnto Rome for one Marimianus, a noble pong man, coulin to the Emperour Constantine, on the part of his mother Helene, to come into Bzi= tarne, and to take to wrfe the faide daughter of Met Duanius, and so with hir to haue the kingdome.

Mauius at the first mente to have given hir inmariage buto one Conan Meridoc Duke of the Lordes would not therto agree, at length he apointed one Maurice Conne to the fozelaid Co= nan to gor onto Rome to fetche the forenamed Marimian. Mamice according to his commilfon sinftructions in that behalf recepued, came to Rome, and declared his mellage in luch effectuall forte, that Maximianus consented to go with him into Britagne, and so taking with him a conucnient number let forwarde, and did Moscimianus fo muche by his journeys, that finally he landed Britagne. here in Bzitapn, and not withstanding that Conan Meridock pall not much to have bin doing with him, for malice that he concepued towards him, bicause he saw that hy his meanes he shuld where take Britagne whiche bare him heartie god will, had 30 be put beside the crowne, pet at length was Marimianus lafely brought to the kinges presence. and of him honourably recepued, and finally the mariage was knitte bp, and folcounised in all mincely maner.

Shozelly after, Difautus Departed out of this Offantes delyfe, after he had reigned the terms of fystic and foure yeares, as Fabian gathereth by that that diners authors doe write, howe he reigned till the dayes that Gratian and Clasentinian ruled and greatly to the contentation of the Beytons. 40 the Romaine Empire, whiche began to governe in the peace of our Lord (as he fayth);82. which is to bee buderstode of Fratian his reigne after the deceale of his brick Clalens, for otherwyle a doubt may ryle, bicause that Clasentine the father of Gratian admitted the layde Gratian to the title of Augustus in the years of our Loive CCClrri.

But to leave the credite of the long reigne of Daauius, with all his and others governement. Cornewall, whiche was his nephue: but when so and rule ouer the Britains fith the finne of Con-Cantius, buto our Britisse and Scottiss wryters, lette by make an ende with the Gouernement of that noble Emperour Constanting an assured braunche of the Britons race, as borne of that worthic Ladge the Empress Beleve. daughter to Coell Earle of Colchester, and. after king of Britayn (as our historics doe witz: nelle. Unto the whiche Emprelle Constantine Harifon.

Heiene depar-

the Emercur Constantine lyucd tyll abent the peare of Chaille. 340. end then teccallet at Di=_ 141. comediain Tha, after he Ladruled the Empire The decar erripreares and orde monethes.

We frace not in the Romain waiters of any areate flurre here in Britay no turing his reigne moze than that whiche the Britille and Scottiffic maiters haue recorded : fo that after Craterne tad reduced this land to quictueffe, it may caused great huge bricke and tyles to be made for 10- be supposed, that the Brytons lined in reste bue der his government, and lyketyfe after bnock his formes that fucceded him in the Empire. till about the yeare.360. at what tyme the Pids and 160.

Scottes invaded the fouth partes of the land, as Harrison hereafter in place Hall further appeare.

But new to ende with Daenius. That the Chuftian faith rimarnid fill in Zzitarne, buring the furroled tyme of this pretenced kings reigne, it may expere in that amongst the xxxbi. hir corps was removed and brought to Consta = 20 provinces, out of the whiche there were assembled aboue. iij. C. Biffiers in the citie of Sardis

Micephonis. Orphitted this tylk about the Angletic of his reigne. Hill the was buried at Rome with= oute the walles of the Citie with all funerall pompe, as to hir cllate appertayned: but after tinople, where it was eftlones enterred. Hir fon bare suche dutifull reverence, that he to not on= ly honour hir with the name of Empresse, but allo made hir as it were partaker with him of all his wealth, and in many things was led and ruled by hir vertuous and godlye admonitions, to the advancement of Gods honour, and maintenance of those that professed the true Christian religion. Foz the loue that thebare onto Colche= ster and London, she walled them aboute, and the performance of the same, whereof there is areat store to be seene even pet to this presente, both in the walles of the town and castel of Col-chefter, as a testimonic of the workemanship of those dayes. Shelrucd. Irrir. peares, and then departed this lyfe about the .xxi. years of hir fon-

Synocus 4n.35%

cain Dacia, at a Synode holden there agayntle the Eulebians, Butayne is numbred by Itha= nalius in his leconde Apolegic to be one. And a= garn, the lard Athanalius in an Epille whiche he writeth to the Emperor Jouinianus reciteth, that the Churches in Britarne did confint with the Churches of other nations in the Confession of faith articled in the Dicens councell.

Also there is mencion made by writers of errin the Churche in these bares, as Restitutus bi= Gov of London, which wente ener to the Spnode tolde at Irles in France, and also one Br= bius Commins that was fon to Salemen buke of Countrall, and infrop of Tugkley, and in-Arriago the people which inhabited in the partis new called Posti wales, and them of Ingleley aforelayd bene diligently,

But now to speake som what of things chancing in Britain about this featon (as we find recorded by y Romain writers) some trouble was likely to have grown buto the Exitons by recciuing certain men of warre that fled out of Italie into Bzitayn, whom the Emperoz Conftan- Marcellis tius would have punished, by cause they had take lib.14. part with Marmitus his adurrsarie. Paulus a Prolusarous Speniard and Petarie was lente cuer by bim ric. taine gedhe learned men, whicheliuch in offices 50 with comiffion to make enquirie of them, and to fer them brought to light to answer their transartilions: which Paulus began to deale roughly in the matter, wheref he was called Catera, and to rage against the Britons and partakers with the fugitives, in that they had received a maynterned them, as he alledoed: but in the end being certified by Martinus the lieutenant of their ins Martinus inc. nocencie, and fearing kall his extremerigoure their obediente from the Romaine Empire, hee tourned the execution of hysturic from them unto the Romaines, and made hauocke of thate whiche he fulpeded, till the laid Martinus lell at fquare with him, and thinking on a tonic to kill him, he beew his swood & undre at him, but luch was his age a weakenes; hie was not able to kil of gine him any deadly wound: wherfore he furned is point of his two to against hintelf, + to ended his life, being conteted enther to die than fee his countrepinen & fubical's of the empire fo to be abuled. After this, the laid Paulus refurmed backe again into Italy fro where he came, after whole departure, it was not long ere he also was flain, and then al the Scots & Piers loze disquieted the Romain subicits, for the suppretting of whole attempts Lupicinus was lent ouer out of Balmighte alienate the heartes of the inhabitainites allouither, and didde cause them to withdrawe most outragious maner. Maximianus, or rather Maximus.

liaby Julianus, as Mal be declared out of Amianus Marcellinus, after wee haue firite thewed

what we find written in our owne writers con= cerning the Scots & Pictes, who nowe began to robbe & spoile the British inhabitants within the Romain provinces here in this ple, 4 that euen in mianies.

Maxi-

er Ma-

X:1111115.

After the deceale of Octavius of Ditauia (as the old English 30 theonicle nameth him) Marimianus or Ma= rimus, as the Romain Writers name him beda to rule the Britos in p yere of our Lozd.383 be was p son of one Leonine, & coulin germain to Constantine the great, a valiant personage, & hardie of stomacke: but vet bicaule be was cruell 40 of nature, (and as Fabian laith) Comwhat perlecuted the chailtians, he was infamed by westers: but the chief cause that he was cuil reported was for that he flew his foueraign Lozd, the emperoz Gratianus, as after fiall appeare, for otherwife he is supposed worthie to have havde the rule of the enwire comitted to his handes in eche relieft.

Betwirte him and the abouenamed Conan Meridoc duke of Colmwall, chaunced frife and debate so that Conan got him into Scotlande, so they tell, the which Guntius with Meldi Weke and there purchaling appe, returned, and coming ouer humber, walted the countrey on ethe fibe. Maximianus therof having advertisement, red= fed his power and went against him and so fighting with him divers bataples, sometime depai= ted away with vidozie, and somtime with losse. It length through mediation of frends, a prace was accorded betwirt the. Finally this Mari-mianus, or as the Romaine billiories have, Masrimus, was by the fouldioures chosen and prosi daimed Emperonchere fir Britague: although fomewilk, that this was done in Spaymondie altregehan taken open hint the imperial bigh Galfe, Mon. nifie, opon delice to have andriged his connitron, Fabian. het affembled togyther all the cholen youthe of Caxton. thus lande meete to dos teaute in the houses, Mat. vvest. with the whiche hee passed ouer inte frantis, The Britishe and there cas our witters recorde he firtt fabriled youth led forth the countrep anniciently railed Armorica, at Deal by Maximiain bataile the king therof calks Imballs This nus. done he gaur y country und Conan Mendoick? Britayne in the whiche was there with hom, to hold the lame France. of him; of the kings of great Britanny for more He also commaunded that the sayor commoned from thenceforth (honly be celled Liftle Britaine) and to was the name chanced. Withat bemile to euer inhabited there befoge, the ancient name ara o auctivitiat they were rather Briton's than anye other: for Armorica in the Britiffe tong ligni= firth as muche as a countrey lying byon the fea.

The Historie of England.

Conan then placing himself and his Beitons in p quarter of Ballia, auoyoed all the old inhabitats, peopling & coutry only to Britos, which abhorring to forn themselves with women born in Ballia, Conan was counsailed to lende into Britantor maybes to be coupled with his peas Dionethus ple in martage. Herebpon a mellenger was bil duke of Cornpatthed butd Dionethus af that tyme Duke of vall. Cornewal & governor of Britagn under Marie Maydes sente mianus, requiring him to lette ouer into little foorth Britaine, ti. thousand mapoes, that is to witte, bill 90 to be bestowed open the incance solde let Conains prople, and the thousand to be sound in manage with the nobles and Bentlemen ! Dist. nethus to latilfie the Conansecquell; alkiniles the appointed number of maioes, and airedidt them, he also appointed his datighter wifally k lade of ercellet beautie, to gelouet to be dinthilk mariage billo the firefand Conan Meriodek! as he hav editiell ip requelled that have more all &

Their thinder of mapoes were thinded th Thaines, and palling forewards foward Bris tayne, with by force of well et and rage of White Vilula the Caftere and post and part of them of ordited; the daughter of Dionerhus. tellouie artiongst whom was the for lay of Titlu-1a) were darnor Buaning king of the Wanney. and Apelgaking of the pills, into whole hands Tent by the emperor Beatlanto the leacements Bernianye to oppielle luboue all fuch as were frendes emaynteyners of the part of Marinits.

Wiefpride in some booken fint there were lent ouer at that tyme, II 99 mayoes, that is to las, ri 99. of Gentlewomen, and A. 29. of others.

After that Guan ne and Melga hab mufthree the forelaps Mirgins, they exited into the Melga.

Confobrings.

Helenz mpc

ratricis.

Gildas.

north partes of Britayu; where the Scots now inhabite, and beganneto make toge warre on the Britons, whereof when Maximus was aduertised, tre sente into Butagne one Gras tianus, with three Legions of Souldiours, the inhiche part himself so manfally against the eni= mics, that he constrained the faid Guanius and Welfato fice ont of the land, and to withdraw into Irclande.

In this meane while, Daximus having flain 19 the Emperour Gratian at Lyon in France, and after entring into Italy, was flain himself at I= cuilcia. (after he had gouerned the Bzitons eight peares) by the Emperour Theodolius, whyche came in appe of Clalentinian, brother to the laid Emperor Gratian, as in the Abridgement of the histories of Italy ye may fynde recorded.

But heere pet besozeweemake an ende with this Maximus or Maximianus, Thave thouafte god to let downe the wordes whiche wee 20 fynde in Gibas, where he writeth of the same Maximus, bnooubtedly a Briton born, nephew to the empelle Belena, and begot by a Romain. At length (layth Gildas) the spzing of Tyzants budding by, and nowe increaling into an juge wadde, the Ille being called after the name of Rome: but folding nepther maners nor lawes according to that name, but rather callying the same from it, sendeth swethe a braunche of hir most bitter planting, to witte Marimus, accom. 30 vanied with a great number of warriogs to gard him, and apparelled in the imperial robes, which he never ware as became him, not put them on in lawful wife, but after the custome of tyzants) was put into them by the mutening fouldiours: whiche Maximus at the first by a crastic policie rather than by true mani, od winding incas nets of his periure and falle suggestion, but his wice ked government, the countrers and provinces next adjorning, gainfle the Imperiall flate of 40 Rome, firetching one of his wings into Spayn, e the other into Italy, placed the throne of his niefte bniuft empire at Trier, and thewed fuche rage in his woode dealing agapult his foucraine lozdes, that the one of the lawfull & mperois he expulled forth of Rome, and the other her berefte of his moste religious and godly lyfe. And without long tariance, compassed aboute with fuche a furious and volde garde as he habde got together, at the Citie of Aguileia bre loseth his 30 micked head, whiche had call bewne the moste honourable heades of all the worlde from they? kingdonie and Empire.

From thenceswith Beitanne being bepeined of all hir warloke fouldiours and armies, of hir gonernours also, though cruell, and of an huge number of hir youthe (the whiche following the Arppes of the forelayde tyraunt, never retourned home agaphe, suche as remarked berne btterly bulkilfull in featis of warre, were trodden downe by two nations of beyonde the feas, the scottone Scots from the Wealt, and the Pilites from the Circio.P. Porth. Ind as menthus quite difmaved, la mente their mylerable cale, not knowing what elle to boe for the space of manys, years toop. ther . By realdy of whole greenous innation and cruell oppression where with the was milerably disquieted, she sendeth bir Ambassadours botto Rome, making lamentable fute euen with trares to have some power of men of warre lent to defend hir against the chimies, promising to be true subjects with all faithfulnesse of might, if the enimic might be kept off and remoued.

Thus farre Gildes and more, as in place hereafter pe Mall fynderecited.

But nowe where the Britishe histories, and fuche of our Englishe writers as followethem. make mention of one Eratianus a Romanne fente over with three Legions of fouldiours by Warimus, as before pe haue bearde: Mie map suppose that it was Eratianus the Briton, that afterwardes blurped the imperial dignitic here in 282itapn, in the days of the emperor Honozius: foz it standith neither with the concurrence of tyme, not yet with traion of the hiliogie, that it Mould be Gratianus, inrnamed Junarius, father to Clalentinian, and granofather to the En pirour Gratianus, agarnst whome Marimus rebelled. And pet I remember not that any of the Romann writers maketh mention of any other Gratianus, beering a Araunger, that Mould be lent hither as lieutenant to governe the Romain . armie, except of the foreland Eratiamus funarius, who as appeareth by Im. Marcellinus Lib-zo. was general of p Romain army here in this ple. and at lengthe being discharged, returned home (into Hungaric, were te was borne) with honour, and there remay ring in rest, was at length spoyled of his godes by the Emperoure Constantius as confiscate, for that in trme of the civill warres, he had recepued Magnentius, asbe past through his countrey.

But lette by graunte, that eyther Gratianus the Briton, or some other of that name, was sente over into Britanne (as before is sayd) by Marinus, least otherwise some errour maye bee doubted in the writers of the British histories, as hanyng haply mystaken the tyme, and matter, bunging Eratianus Lunarius to lerue bnder Darinus, where peraduculare that whithe they have reduced heards of hym, chaunced long before that tyme by them supposed: Ind so thorough nipstaking the thyng, have made a wiong reporte, where neverthelesse it Kandeth with greate lykelyhode of trouthe, that some not able service of Chyualrie was atchieued hy

the fame Cratianus Hunarius whilest he remayned heere in this File, if y troth might be know? of that whiche hathe bin written by authors, and happily by the same Im. Marcellinus, if his first therefrene Bokes might once come to lighte and beerfat. But now to end with Marinnis. Wilham of Malmetburie (as pee haue hearde) wai= teth, that not Maximus, but rather Constantine the Great firste peopled Armogica : but pet bee a= greeth, that both Maximus, and also Constanti= musthe viurper, of whome after yee thall heare, ledde with them a great number of the Beitaines out of this lande, the which Maximus of Max= imianus and Constantinus afterwardes beerna flarme, the one by Theodolius, and the other by honozius, the Britannes that followed them to the warres, parte of them were killed, and the refiduc escaping by flighte, withdrewe buto the 8= ther Buitannes whiche Constantine the Greate Trantes had left none in the countrey but rude people, not any in the Townes but such as were quen to flouth and glutony, Bzitayne beerng porde of all arde of hir valiant pouth, became a pray to hir next neughbogs the Scottes & Pices.

Here is pet to bee considered in what price the Souldiers of the Brittish nation were hadde in those dares, with whose onely puissance Mari= mus ourst take byon him to goe against all other how he prospered in that daungerous adventure. it is expressed sufficiently in the Romanne bi= flories, by whose report it appeareth, that hee dyd not only conquere all the hither partes of France and Germany, namely on this live the Rhine, but at Har. also founde meanes to entrappe the Emperoure Cratian by this kind of policie. He had a faithfull friend called Andragatius, who was Admirall of the Seas perteyning to the Empire. It was diagatius (with a chosen company of the army) Mould be carried in fecret wife in a coch towards marily? Lions, as if it hadde bin Constantia Bosthumia the Empresse, wife to the Emperoure Gratian. bruting abrode therewithall, that the land Empress was comming forwardes on hir way to Lions, there to incete with hir hulbande, for that ppo occasion the was very desirous to commune with him about certapne earnest businesse.

strusting no suche distinulation, he made hall to meete his wife, and comming at length without any great gard about hym, as one not in doubte of any treason, approched the coche, where suppofing to find his wife, he found those that straight= wayes murthered him: and to was hee there difpatched out of life by the layd Andragatius, who leapte swithe of the coche to worke that feate when he had him once within his daunger.

Thus did the Emperoure Gracian finish hys life in the, 29, years of his age, on the.25. of Augult, in the yeare of Chailt. 383, and then dyed. Maximus succeded him (making his sonne Ha= This Flavius Victor he benius Cliffoz Pobilissimus assistante with hym gate of his in the Empire) raigning fine yeares and two wife Helena dayes. In the beginning of his raigne Clalenti= the daughter of Eudes. nian the ponger made great fuite to him to have H. Ilhuyd. 10 his fathers body, but it woulde not be graunted. Afterwardes also Maximus was earnestly requested to come to an enterviewe with the same Malentinian, who promifed him not only a fafe conduct, but also many other beneficiall and turnes bespoc. Det Maximus durit not putte himselfe in any such hazard, but rather meant to pursue Clasentinian as an vsurper, and so at length chased hym into Slauonic, where he was deinen to luch a streight, that if Theodosius had Valentinian had arff placed in Armogica. And so when the 20 not come to resewe him, Maximus hadde driven by Maximus, him thence also, or else by flaughter ridde hym out of the way. But when Waximus thoughte himselse most assured, and so established in the VV. Harison. Empire, as hee doubted no perils, hee lined care= leffe of his owne fafegard, and therefore dismissed hys Brittille Souldiers, who retiring into the Porthwest partes of Gallia, placed themsclues there among they countreymen whiche were bronghte ouer by the Emperoure Constantius, the forces of the whole Romanne Empire: and 30 whilest Waximus passing the relidue of thes time in delites and pleasures, was surprised in the ende and flapne by Theodolius necre buto Aquilcia the. 27. of August in the yeare of grace Eutropius. 388 and in the beginning of the firth years of hys raigne, or rather blurpation, as more rightly it may be tearmed.

Dis sonne Flaulus Wiftoz surnamed Pobilissing was also dispatched and brought to hys ende, not farre from the place where his father therefore agreed betwirte them, that this An- 40 was flayne, by the practife of one Arbogalies a Arbogalies Both. whiche Flavius Aicroz was by the Lapde Maximus made Regente of the Frankeyners, and partaker (as before is layde) with him in the Empire.

After this, the Me of Britagne remagned in meetely god quiet by the space of twentie yeares. till one Marcus (that was then Legate or as we may call him Lozde Lieutenante oz deputie of Bzitapne for the Romannes) was by the Withen Gracian hearde heereof, as one mi= 50 Souldiers heere proclaymed Emperour against Honozius, whiche Marcus was some after killed in a tumult rayled among the people within tew dayes after his begunne blurpation.

Then one Bracianus a Britaine borne, fue= Gracianus a ceeded in his place, who was also flague in the Britigned fourth moneth after he had taken bypon hym the four yeares if imperiall oznamentes.

The Souldiers not yet herecwith pacifyed, lecue the Brittish histoproceeded rie.

proceeded to the election of an other Emperoure, or rather blurper, and so pronounced a notic Gentleman called Constantine, bogne also in Butagne, to be Emperoure, who twke that honour opon him in the. 405, yeare after the birth of our Sautour, continuing his raigne by the space of two yeares and odde monethes, as the Romanne histozies make mention. Some reporte this Constantine to be of no great towardly dispolition worthy to gouerne an Empire, and that 10 ther army, whiche under the conduct of the lame the Souldiers chole him rather for the names fake, by cause they would have another Constan= tine, moze than for anye vertues or sufficiente qualities found in his person. But other commed him, both for manhode and wisedome, wherein to speake a troth, her deserved singular commenvation, if this one note of vlurpation of the Im= periall dignitie had not stayned his other noble qualities. But heerein he did no moze than many other woulde haue done, neyther pet after his in- 20 bited thereaboutes, giuing him a right fharpe en- and paccia uesture he did so muche as was locked for at his handes. Beerng placed in the Imperial throne, he gathereth an army with all pollible endenour, purpoling out of hande to goe over therewith in= to France, and fo did, thinking thereby to winne the possession of that countrey out of the handes of Honozius, or at the least to worke so as hee

Moulde not have the Souldiers and people there to be against him if he missed to ionne in league with the Snabepners, Alanes, and Candales, which he fought to performe: but in the ende, whe neyther of these his devises coulde take place, hee sendeth ouer for his somme Constans, (whome in his ablece his aductlaries had flyozu a Monke) and making him partaker with him in the Empire, hee caused him to bring ouer with him ano-Constans hee sente into Spayne to bring that countrey bnderhis obeysance. This Constans therefore comming buto the passages that leave ouer the Pyzenine Mountagnes, Dindinus and Clerianianus two beetheen, buto whom the keeping of those passages was committed to defende the came against the Clantalles and all other enemies of the Empire, were ready to refilt hym His Sec. with their forwants and countrepmen that inhas were less counter, and at the first putting him in great dan- menon acr of an ouerthrow, but pet at length by the ba= that length liant prowes of his Brittishe Souldiers Con- rederties stans put his aducrfaries to flighte, and killed the Empire and two Captarnes with diners other men of name were ramed that were partakers with him in the necessary des us, House fence of the countrey against the enimics.

Blandu.

Colhen Constans had thus repulled those that refilted him, the cultodic of the pallages in the Direnme Bountaines was committed into fuche bandes of Pides and other as were appointed to to got with him about the archicumg of this cue terpsife. who having the possession of those streites ther barbarous nations to minate spenie, who being once entred, purlied the former inhabitants with fire and fivolog, feetled then felies in that contrep, and drove out the Romanes. The Comperor honoring percenning the recling flate of h Empire, determined swythwith to reconer it befoze it fell altogither into ruine: & therefoze he fent ous Constantius an Carle to ditue Constantine out of Gallia, which he acordingly verformed: for after certapne bickerings, he flew & land Conffa= tine at Arles, although not without great bloudflico. He pursued also f residue of & Bzitains, dzi= uing the to b very Sea coalls, where they flyouded the selues amog the other Britapus, & befote of passages in their handes, gaue entrie bitto 0= 50 wer lettled in the countrey there, antiently called as befoze we layd) Trmozica, i is, a region lying on p sea coast: for Ar in the Brittish tong signiseth byon, & Moure perfeining to the Sea. And as this Constantine of father was Navn by Costan= tius, sowas Costans & son killed at Wienna by one of his owne Captapnes named Gerontius, whereby it came to passe, b Honorus Mortivaster baning thus obtained & victory of both these vintThe Historie of Englande.

nert following, and that by the high industrie & great dugence of that valiant Gentieman Carle Contantius. The flaughter of Constantine and tis forme hapaed in the first years of the.297. D= Impiade. 465. after the comming of Cesar. 1162. after the husbing of Rome, the dominicall letter being dianothe golden number. 1: so that the reconcerns of the Flands fell in the years of ours becaratto is elthones to bee confidered the balure of the Brittille Soulviers, who follounit this last remembred Constantine the vsur= per, did put the Romayne state in great daunger, ender force brake through into Spayne, vanquidhing those that kept the Areights of y moun= tarites betwirt Spapite and Gallia, nowe called France an exploye of no finall confequence, fith thereby the number of Barbarous nations gote free paffage to enter into Spayne, whereof enfued 20 main battarles, lackings of Cities and townes, and walting of the countreys accordingly as the furious rage of those sierce people was moued to rut their crueltie in practite. If therefore the Bri= tarne writers havde confidered and marked the valuant exployees and noble enterprises which the Buttill) aydes, armyes and legions atchicued in feruice of the Romayne Emperours (by whome implest they had the government over thys Ide, there were at fumbly times notable numbers co= 30 neped forth into the parties of beyonde the Seas, as by Albinus and Constantius, also by his sonne Constantine the great, by Maximus, and by this Conflantine, both of them blurpers) if [lay) the Butufh weiters had taken good note of the num= bers of the Brittishe youth thus conneyed ouer from hence, and what notable exployees they boldle attempted, and no leffe manfully atchie= ned, they needed not to have given eare buto the fabulous reportes forged by their Bardes of Arthur and other their Princes worthy indeede of high comendation. And pitie it is, that they? fame Moultebre brought by fuche meanes out of cre= rite by the incredible and fonde fables whyche have bin deviced of their actes to buike to be true, as the tales of Robin Hood, or the ieftes written by Ariost the Italian in his booke entituled orlind Fariofo, fith the same writers had other= wife true matter prough to write of concernpng varies in formaine parties boldly enterpiled and no less valuantly accomplished, as also hwarres which noive and then they maynteyned a= gainst the Romannes here at home, in times whe

they felte themselves oppressed by their tyrannis

cal governement, as by h which is written befoze of Caratacus, Cloadicia, Cartimadua, Menusi=

115, Calgagus of Galdus (as some name him) and the File, but pet not till the yeare divers other, who for their noble valiancies des be expressed. But nowe to returne unto the Brittill) historic: we will proceed in order with they? Kings as weefynde them in the same mentioned, and therefore we have thought good to speake somewhat further of Gracian from whome wee haue digressed.

Gracianus.

Carianus Graci-Maximus of anus. Marimianus had senteinto Bzitapue (as before pe haue heard)hearing that his ma= ster wasslain. twke bypon him the rule of this our Bzitaine, and made him= felse King thereof in the yeare. 390. Hee was a Bzitaine bozne, as Polydoze wziteth, construing fo by that hee is named by Authors to be Municeps, that is to fay, a free man of v countrey or ci= tie wher he inhabiteth. Foz his sternenesse & rough manner of government, he was of the Britaines (as the histories alledge) slayne and dispatched mayne Soulout of the way after he hadde raigned the space of diers as Blonfour yeares, of rather foure monethes, as floulde dus hach. feeme by that whiche is founde in autentike wzi= ters, and as Harrison in his Chronologie hath ful well noted. Then the fozenamed Kings Gna= nius and Milga, which (as some write were bec - Caxton. thren) returned into thes lande with their armies encrealed with newe supplyes of menne of warre, as Scottes, Danes, and Porwegians, and de-40 Aroyed the countrey from live to lyde. For the Bzitannes in this fealon were foze enfrabled, and were not able to make anye greate numbers of Souldiers, by reason that Maximus hadde ledde Galfrid. forthe of the lande the floure and chiefest choice Mat. VVest. of all the Brittish youth into Gallia, as befoze pe Caxton. haue hearde.

Gildas maketh no mention of these two Gildas. Kings Guanius and Melganoz of the Hunnes, but rehearling this great destruction of the lande, the worthe feates by their countreymen in those 50 declareth (as before yee have hearde,) that the Scottes and Pickes were the fame that dyd all the mischiefe, whome hee calleth two nations of beyonde the Seas, the Scottes comming out of the Routhwell, and the Pilles out of the Pouthcast, by whome (as hec farcth) the lande was 0= uerrunne, and broughte bnoer fote manye peeres after. Therefoze the Britaines bergng thus vered, spoyled, and cruelly persecuted by the g.ij.

Feds & Policro.

by the Scottes and Pices (if wee thall to take them) sente messengers with all speece unto Rome to make fuite for some appe of menne of warre to bee sente into Britagne: wherebyon im= mediately a legion of Souldiers was fente thy= ther Inno. 414, the whiche easily repulsed the enimies, and chaled them backe with greate flanghter, to the great coinfort of the Britaines, b which by this meanes were delinered from present dan= Romarnes beeing occasioned to depart agarne out of the lande, appointed & Britarnes to make a wall (as had bin made aforetime by the Emperogs Adgian, Antoninus & Senerus ouerthwart the contrey from lea to lea, firetching from Penuelton unto the Citic of Aclud, whereby the eni= mies might be stayed from entring the lande: but this wall being made of furfe and foodes, rather than with stones, after the departure of the Ro-manes was callly ourrthrowen by the Scottes & Dictes, which aftlones returned to muade the cofines of the Britaines, and so entring the countrep, walted and bestroyed all afore them, according to their former custome. Herevpo were mel- G 1/40 fengers with lamentable letters agayn dispatched Police, towards Rome for new ayde against those cruell beda. enimics, with promife, that if the Romaynes Mat. Price would nom in this great necessitie belp to deliver ger of bitter destruction as they thought. But the 10 the land, they should be assured to finde the Brittapucs euermoze obediente subicites, and ready at their commaundement. Malentinianus (pitying Blondie the case of the pope Britagnes) appoputed another legion of Souldiers (of the which one Gal= Gallio Reg. lio of Rauenna had the leading) to goe to they? nas feetigh fuccours, the which arriving in Britagne let on h enimics, and giving them the overthrowe, fleme a great number of them, & chased presidue out of the countrep.

The Romanes thus having obterned the vicforth they would not take oppon them for every light occasion so parnefull a courner, alledging, how there was no reason who the Romanne enfignes with such a number of men of warre flyuld be put to travell so farre by sea and lande, for the repulling and beating backe of a fost of feattering roners and pullering theenes: wherefore they aduised the Butannes to loke to their duties, 4 lyke men to endeuor themselves to desende their counons. And because they sudged that this mighte be anhelp to & Britaines, ther let in hande to build a mall ret once againe oueithwart the Isle in p lame place where the Emperour Senerus cauled his trench * rampire to be cast. This wall whiche the Romanes nowe builte with help of the Bgis tarnes, conterned in breadth erght fote, and in heigth twelve fore, traverling the land from Cast to Wiest, and was made of stone. After that thys they thewed also but othe the way how to make armour and weapon. And belydes this, on the coast of the Cast sea where their Shippes lay at roade, and where it was doubted that the enimies woulde lande, they caused towers to bee credied with spaces betwirt, out of the whiche the Seas might be discouered. These things ordered in this wife, the Romanes bave the Britaines farewel, trer by their owne force from the enumies muali= 50 as not minding to returne thither agaphe. The ftraight waves returne agame be Sea, and being more emboloned than before, by cause of the deniall made by the Romannes to come any more to the fuccoure of the Britarnes, ther take into polsession all the Posthe and ottermost boundes of the Ille, even buto the forelayed wall, therein to tozy, declare to the Bzitapues, that from thence- 40 wall was finished, the Romagnes giving god Gilduc exhoztations to the Bzitaynes to play the men, Beda. Romanes then being departed out of the land, the Scottes and Pilles hauing knowledge thereof, Gildu.

remained remaine as inhabitants. And whereas the Bii taynes gote them to their wal to defend the same, that the enimies Could not passe further into the country, they were in the ende beaten from it, and pilices of them flayne, so that the Scottes and Wifes entred uppon them and pursued them in more cruell manner than before, so that the Biltannes being chaled out of their Cities, Cownes, and dwelling houses, were constrepned to fice inafter the manner of lauage people, fin the ende, began to robbe and spools one another, so to a= noyde the damager of Armingsfoz lacke of fode: and thus at the last the countrey was so destroys ed and walled, that there was no other flifte for them that were left aline to line by, excepte onely by hunting and taking of wilde beafts and foules. And to augment their miserie, the commons im= puting the faulte to rest in the Lordes and go- Hello. Beerins nernoures, role against them in armes, but were Rebellion. to desert places, and there to remayne and lyue to banquished and casily put to flight at two seusrall times, being beaten downe and flague throgh lacke of tkill in fuch number, especially the latter time, that the relidue whiche escaped, withdzeine into the craggy Mountaines, where within the bullies and caues they kepte themselves close, fometimes comming bowne and fetching away from the heardes of beatles and flockes of Sheeve whiche belonged to the nobles and Bentlemen of all, but at length oppiessed with extreame fa= mine when neyther parte coulde long remayne in this state, as needing one anothers belp, necessitie made peace betwirt the Lordes and commons of the lande, all injuries being pardoned and electely forgiven. This civill warre decayed the force of p Butagnes, little lesse than the Typannicall pra= tiles of Harimus, for by the aduly ding of the commons thus out of their houses, the grounde fpace of three yeares togither, that a wonderfull number of people dyed for wante of sufte-

Thus the Britagnes being brought generally into suche extreame miserie, they thought goo to tricif they might purchase some ayde of that noble man Actius, whiche at that time remayned in Fraunce as pet called Ballia, gouerning the fame as Lieutenant vnder the Emperour Honozius: a letter to him, the tenoz whereof ensueth. To #= etius thrice Consull. The lamentable request of bs the Britagnes beseecheth you of ayde to bee ministred onto the pronince of the Romane Empire, buto our countrey, buto our wines a chilozen at this presente, the whiche stande in most extreame perill. For the barbarous people drine bs to the Sea, and the Sea dejuntly us backe buto them agayne: hereof rife two kindes of deathe, for erther are wee flarue, or drowned, and agapufte fuch cuils have we no remedie noz hely at all. Therefore in respect of your clemencie, succoure youre owne wee most instantly require you. ac. But notwithstanding that the Britaines thus The Britaines fought for ayou at the handes of Actius, as then ayde from the the countrey great boties to relieue them with 30 the Emperours Lieutenaunte, get coulde they Romaynes. none get, either for that Actius woulde not, as he that passed little howe things wente, bicause he bare displeasure in his mind against Clasentinianus as the Emperour, or elle for that he could not, being otherwise constreyned to employ at his forces in other places against such harbarous nations as then invaded the Romane Empire. Ind fo by p meanes was Britagne loft, & the tribute whiche the Britagnes were accustomed to page lay butilled, whereof entued fuche kainine for the 40 buto the Romagnes ceassed, iust a fine hundred yeares after that Julius Cefar fieste entred the Île.

The Britagnes being thus rut to their flifts. many of them as hunger staruen were constrey= ned to yeeld themselves into the hads of their enis mics, where other yet keeping within the Mountayines, woodes and cames, brake out as occasion ferued byon their aduerfaries, and then first (faith Gildas) did the Britaynes not putting their trust and herebpon taking counsel togither, they wrote so in man but in God (according to the saying of Philo, where mans help faileth, it is needeful that Gods help be prefent) make flaughter of their e= nimies that hadde bin accustomed many yeares to robbe and spoyle them in manner as before is ricited, and to the bolde attemptes of the tit- Punishment. mies ceassed for a time, but the wickednesse of ceaseth but & the Brittiste prople ceassed not at all . The fin enerealeth. enimies departed out of the lande, but the g.üj. inhabi= within a while after. But the Pictes settled themselves firste in that scalon in the offermost boundes of the The, and there continued, making reples oftentimes bypon they? negghbours, and spoyling them of their gwdes.

A wall built ouerthwart the Ilande. Ecda.

Calfridus. Caldas las

A. D. Chus.

This with more also hath Gildas and lykewife Beda winten of this great desolation of the Brittill) people: wherein if the wordes of Gildas be well wared and conspoered of, it may leade by heere in Butayne, but only in Frelande, till after this featon, and that at this presente time the Pières whiche befoze inhabited within the Mes of Ozkney, now placed theinfelues in the Porth partes of Scotlano, and after by processe of time came and nellled themselnes in Louthian, in the Mers and other courrers more neere to our bor= Dures. But to procede: The Buttill histories affirme, that whilest the Butannes were thus tions the Scottes and Dittes, the noble and thie= fest men amongst them consulted togither, and concluded to lende an honogable Amballade bn= to Ilviornus as then King of little Buttapne Removements in Gallia, which Mozornus was the fourth from Conam Mendor the first King there of the Bit= taile in flace, tiss nation.

Oftis Ambillane the Archbillion of Lendon named Curth Line of Collerne was appointed for chiefe and principall, the whiche palling oner 50 any troubles wroughte to the Britarnes by that into little Butaine and comming before the prefence of Morocous, to declared the effect of hig message, that his suite was graunted.

For Alexacinus agreed to lend his brother Co-, flat the overinto great Butaphe with a convement powers, uppor condition, that the villogue brein robrerned againste the enimies, the Brits tarnes floud make hem Arng of greate But= tarne.

Thus it is apparant that this lande of Brit- Adiguested farne was withoute any certagne gouernoure, after that Gracian the vlurper was dispatched be confidered, to thinke that the Scottes hadre no habitacions 30 certaine yeares togither, but how many peaces, writers in their accompt barry.

Kabian gathereth by sundy coniedures, that Fabian the space betwirte the deathe of Bracian and the beginning of the raigne of the lard Constantine, brother to Altrocaus, continued nine and thirtie peares, during whiche time the Britagnes were fore and milerably afflicted by the innafions of the Scottes and Pices, as befoge pe haue hearde by testimonics taken out of Beda, Gildas, Gefperfecuted by those two most cruell and fierce na= 40 frey of Monmouth, and other writers of the Brittishe and English histories.

But nowe fith no mention is made of the Scottes in oure histories till the daves of Maris Maximul mus the vourper or Typante, as some call him, whyche beganne hes raigne here in Bzitaine a= bout the years of ours Lozds. 183, and that tyll after hee had bereft the lande of the chiefest forces thereof in taking the most parte of the youth oucr with him: wee fonde not in the same histories of nation. Therefore we have thought god heere to come backe to the former tymes, that wee maye flicture what is found mentioned in the Romaine histories, both before that time and after, as well concerning the Scottes and Pictes, as also the Ammian Sarons, and especially in Anunianus Marcel- Marcelle linus, where in the beginning of his twentith The Empera books entreating of the doyings of the Emperoure lulianus.

Julianus.

The Historie of Englande.

Julianus, her hathe thele wordes in effeit as fol-

In this flate flode thyngs in Illiricum of slanonia, and in the Caft partes, at what tyme Cofantius bare the office of Confull the tenth time, and Julianus the thirde tyme, that is to witte, in the yeare of our Lozo.360. when in Bzitaine quis einesse beeing disturbed by roades made by the Scottes and Pickes which are wilde and lauage people, the frountiers of the contrey were walted, 10 and feare oppperfied the provinces awcaried, with the heape of passed loss.

cettes and actes trou-

Rutupis.

Oithe diff.

placing of treie men the learned may fee more 14

Am.Mar.

The Emperou r (hee meaneth Julianus) as then remayning at Paris, and having his minde troubled with many cares, doubted to goe to the ande of them beyond the Sea, as we have thewed that Constantius dyd, least hee thouse leave themin Gallia withoute a Ruler, the Almaynes beeping even then provoked and stirred by to cru= eltie and warre. Hee thoughte gwo therefoze to 20 larkinus sent sende Lupicinus bnto these places to bring things into frame and order, whiche Lupicinus was at that time maller of the armozy, a warlike person and skilfull in all poyntes of chivalrie, but proude and high minded beyonde measure, and fuch one as it was doubted long whether he was more couctous or cruell.

Herrevppon, the layde Aupicinus letting fogwarde the lighte armed menne of the Heruli and Bataui, with divers companies also of the people 30 of Mella now talled Bulgarie: Wilhen winter was well entred and come on, hee came himfelfe to Bulleigne, and there prouiding Shippesand embarquing his men when the winde ferued hys purpole, hre transported ouer buto Sandwithe, and so marched forth onto Longon, from thence purpoling to let forward, as appon aduler taken according to the qualitie of his bulinelle, he Gould thinke mecte and expedient.

busie here in Bzitaine to represse the enimies, the Emperour Constantius Difplaced certagne officers, and among other he depained the fame Aupicinus of the office of Mafter of the aemozy, appoynting one Guniobarius to succeede bym in that rounth before any fuche thing was knowen in these parties: and where it was boubted kast that Lupicinus (if hee hadde underflove to much whilest her was pet in Bzitagne) woulde haue of a floute and loftic mynoc, he was called backe from thence, and withall there was lente a notarie bnto Bulleyne to watche that none Monlbe pallethe Seasouer into Bzitayne till Tupicis nus were returned: and so returning over from thence ere hee hadde anye, knowledge what was done by the Emperoure , hee coulve make no

flurre, hauping no furthe affifters in Gallia, ag it was thoughte he nigght have have in Bzitagne if he thould have mouco Rebellionthere. Belive this also the same Marcellinus speaking of the Lib.26. boings about the time that Waleininianus being elected Emperout, had admitted his brother Clas lens as fellowe with him in governmente, hathe these words. In this season as though trumpets Ammianus. had blowen the sounde to battell through out the Marcellinus whole Romayne Empire, most cruell nations lib.26. being flyiced up immeded the bostoures nexte to them adiopning, the Aimapnes walted and des The Almanes! Aroyed the partes of Gallia and Rhetia, as the The Sarmaix. Sarmatians and Quant did Pannonia. The The Quadi. Pictes, the Sarons, the Scottes, and the Attas Picts & Saxos cottes berea the Britannes with continual troutottes bered the Buttapues with confinual trous Austoriani. bles, and grienous domages. The Austoriani, and The Gothese the people of the Mores onerranne the countrey of Affrike more Carply than in time pall they had done. The pillering troupes of the Bothes spoyled Thracia. The King of Persia kettein hande to fuboue the Armenians, and loughte to bring them bender his obeplance, halting with all speece towardes Pumomia, pertending (though buiuftly) that now after the vecesse of Jonianus with whome her hadde contracted a league and bonde of peace, there was no cause of let why hee ought not recouse those things which (as he als ledged) did belong to his auncetours, and lo fwithe.

Morcouer, the fame Marcellinus in another zib.27. place writeth in this wife, where hee spraketh of the lapte Clalentinianus. Departing therefore from Amiens, and halling to Trier, her was troubled with greenous newes that were brought hym, gruing hym to bnderstand, that Britagne by a conspiracic of the Barbarous nations was broughte to btter pouertie, that Pedarious one of the Emperoures house Carle of the Sea coalt hauping charge of the partyes towardes the In the meane time, whilest Tupicinus was 40 Sea, was layue, and that the generall Bulcho's bandes was circumuented by traynes of the enis mics. These thyings with greate horror beeying knowen, her leut Seucrus as then Carle, oz (as Imay call bym Lozde Strwarpe of his hause. holde) to resourme things that were amille if happe woulde to permitte, who beeying Mortly called backe, Louinius going thyther and with fprede halting forwarde, fent for more ay de and a greater power of menne, as the infrant neerlisattempted some newe trouble, as he was a man 50 tie then required. At length, for many causes, and the fame greatly to be frared, the which were reported and advertised out of that Alle, Theodosis vollus was elected and appoputed to got thy lente into ther, a man of appropred fkill in warlike affapres, Britaine. and calling togyther an hardy youthfull number of the legions and cohortes of men of warre, her wente forthe, no small hope beeying conrequed of hys good speede : the fame whereof g.iiij.

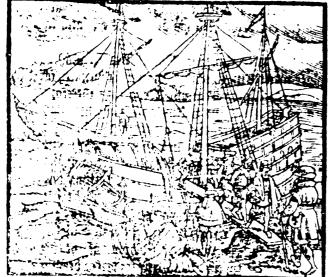

103

Pictes deai ded into two pations. Atticotti.

sprevand went afore hin; and a little after Marcellinus adding what maner of people they were that troubled the Baitanus in this wife, he fayth thus: This Mall luffice to be fapoe, that in thes fealon the Pictes devided into two nations, Dicalidones, and Pecturines, and in like manier the Amoura ughtwarlike nation, and the Scots wandering herre and there, made foule works in places where they came.

the Frankenners and Sarons bozdurers, bute them, every one as they could breake fouth, boing great hatine by crucil spople, frze, and takyng of

To withstands those dopings if god fortune would give him leave, that most abing aptaine going buto the utterinost boundes of the earthe, and Burryne, when bee came to the coast of Bullepne whyche is separated from the contrary coast on the other sometime the water goeth bery high and rough, and floorly after becommeth calme, and pleafant without hurt to those that passe the same, he transporting ouer at lepsure, arrived at Bandwiche (orrather Richbourram where there is a quicte roade for vellels to be at ancre.

Ulhereuppon , the farme and Hernti with the Souldiers of the legions eleped long, and referes, being companies that teufed well to their owne from the, marched foothe and Diew townots London, an auntuint citie, whis idon called tot fow of late hathe bin called Lugukac vocercwith deniding his army into fundage partes, he let oppon the troupes of the eminies as they 50 a Gallait Souldier, and inlailling the charge of a were abroade to forces the estinters, effice with burdens of that functof and pullage, and specould putting them to flighte as they were leading a= wan those puloners which then had taken with their boties of cattell, bee berefte thein of they? pray, the whiche the point Butannes that were tubulants had loft.

To bee briefe, refleging the whole extente a finall position bestower amongst the werty souls diers, he entred the Citie which before was onerfet with troubles. but nowe forainly refreshed, byexule there was hope of reliefe, and affaced pies

After this, when Theodolins was combited with prosperous successe to attempte things of greater importance, and fearthing waves howe with awd advice to worke furcly: whilest hee re-The confines of fraunce were disquieted by 10 mapned doubtfull what would ensue, helearned as wel by the confellion of priloners taken, as also by the information of such as were fledde front the enimies, that the scattered people of funder nations which with practife of ureat crueltie wet become herce and bindanted, could not be luboued but by policie fecretly contrined and modayne inualions. It length therefore letting forthe hy's Proclamations, and promiling pardon to those that were gone away from their Captabiles 02 side by the Sea, with a narrowe lireighte, where 20 charge, he called them backe againe to femie: and also those that by licence-were departed and lay feattered here and there in places abroade. By this meanes, when many were returned, he being on-the one lide earnelly-pronoked, and on the of ther holden backe with thoughtfull cares, requis red to have one Civilis by name lent to lipm to Theodofics have the rule of the provinces in Beltapne in requires to these of the other requires a man of Manne in have Civilis ffeede of the other gouernours, a man of Marpe fent to him. witte, and an earnele maputeyner of iultice. Dee likewise required that out Duscitius a Captayne Duleitims renounced in knowledge of warlike affabres? mighte bee lente ouer to him for his better affi flance. Thele thiligs were done in Burapue.

Agarne in bre erght and swentie bote, the faitte Marcellinus tecifting further what the fame Throdoffus byd afchieue in Beitaine, bath in effect thele wordes, Theodolius verily a Captapne of worthy fame, taking a vallant courage to hpm, and departing from Luguffa, whyche London called men of elde tome called London, with Souldis Augund ers allembled by greate biligence, bid fuctoure and refeene greatly the decayed and redmited flate of the Buttaynes, preventing every conustilent place where the barbarous people niggite lve in warte to bor mischiefe , and nothing bee commanded the nicair Souldiers to voe, wir that wheref he with a cheerefull mind would fiell take in hand to Univ them an example. And the

By this meanes accomplishing the routh of noble Captavine, hee billiomfyted and puite to flight lunney nations, whome peclumption (nonriffed-be fecuritie)emboloned to inusde tit Romaphe prouinces: Ind fo the Cities and Callets that had bin fore endomaged by many felde lolles and difplealures, were relloged to their toimer flate of welth, y foundation of relt and quiernelle being lande for a long fealon after to enfue.

But as these things force a roing a wicker mainle was in hande luke to have burft forth, to the gricuous daunger offerting things in broyle, that had not beene Aaged euen in the beginning of the first attempt.

There was one Walentinus, borne in the parties of Claleria adiopning to Pannonia, now called Streemarke, a man of a prowde and toffie flomacke, beother to the toyle of Maximinus, which Clatentinus for fome notable offence had to beine baniffed into Bzytayne, where the naugh tie man that coulde not reft in quiet, deuiled how to fome commotion hee might deffroy Theono= fine, who as he lawe was ortely able to refill his wiched purpoles. And going about many things both paintly and apertly, the force of his binmeafurable desire to mischief stil encreasing, he fought to procure afwell other that were in semblable wife baniflied men, and inclined to mifchiefe like ring them as the time ferued, with large promiles of great wealth, if they would to yne with hym in that enterpaple. But enen now in the berie nicke when they flould have gone in hande with theit Lingracious explort, Theodofius warned of thep? intent, bololy aduaunced himlelfe to fce due puushimet executed of the offenders that were forthwith taken and knowne to be guiltie in that conîpiracie.

Theodolius committed Calentine with a few 30 xbj. peares aim two dapen. other of his trustie complices onto the Captaine Dulciting, commaunding him to fee them put to death: but confeduring by his warlike fkill, where in he passed all other in those dayes) what might follow, he woulde not in any wife have any furcomparise made of the other conspirators, least taine, has were repulsed of the Comparise Masses ough feare that might be spread abrode in massing the syril, by the constitution of the Provinces now well quies were were captible, that the constitution of the provinces now well quies were the same remines.

The troubles of the Provinces now well quies were the same remines that the pessence of the constitution of the consti the enquirie made of the offier conspirators, least though feare that might be spread abrode in mano, the troubles of the Pouliness now well quiet ted, flieuld be againe reutite

many things as never traupee, all oone ger was quite remoued, to that it was motte apparant, that fortune tauoureo gini in meye war, that fir left him not velliquis of his firethornisms in any one of all his attempts: he therefore where ted the Cities and Caltels that were appoputed to be kept with garifons, and the bozours becate Loto be befended and garoed with lufficient nubers to keepe watch and warde in places nicellathe commiss had gotten intouthen polleligus, hee Exclosed it to the former state; that opon his on to have it so., a lawfull governour was and then and the name was chaunged trom thereeforth it thould be called Ciellen= tal athe Princes pleasure, oil er vor ? oil? Circ Areani, a kinde efiniem oppepaled in truce pall by our clotts, coewhone white hat we haucepound in the action of the Emperour Conke stanted bing now by fittle a little fallen into ble ces, he removed from the propages of abyoing bes ing openly committed, that allured worth bishes and fayee prohiptes faftep had oftentpilics bewraped buto the barbarous Pations what wins done among the Romantes to this was there charge, to rume up and downe by long touthers; and to give warning to ourt Capitates willat flurre the people of the next confines were about graunted bute the contract of the party with the

Theodolius thetloze handig of beld the the prayle of other tibe things, molt wordely to his high faine, Theodofius. was called home to the Emperours Coult, Soho leaning-the Proninces minofitein in philip liate; माधार क्षाका क्षेत्रक होते हैं के क्षान क्षाक सामित माधार है के किया है जो कि profitable victorics, as the has vines whereas millusion Carlor pappaner: and with the faller and loue of all meit was tukueped unto the Bed to him selfe, as also diverse of the souldiers, allu- 20 side, and passing over with affinite winde, classe to the Court, white he was telepined with great gladnelle and commendation, being minelates ly appoynted to succeed in town in the Claritic Louinus that was maller of the houles, toi range

finally, he was eathour the Caneroz Gratianus, to be allociate with him in the Impriall estate, after the death of Alglents, in the pear ofter the incarnation of our faulouse, you appropriated Emperoz surnamed Theodolius the great mout

But now to our former analter Derricallo than that be applyed which the forerapo Marcellinus western after in the land booke, took ing the impalion of the Sarods, the which (as de olf, evolf. Lazi. Lazius takethil entred then grif into great Bijs forthe auditude of Sproys, and paises the Cas, chile altrongly into the Manuali confessa nand teo onemines with y naughter or our peoples the brith resumpte firm unation, wite plan-तिसां वर्गारी द्रोगारण, कृष्णां को क्षां क्षणां कृष्णां ति विकास कि ति विकास कि वि there pairs by the appropried experim; with come Aniall trailaife an confere with explicit of the state o countring with velocines and forward pedpul Tit. And having recovered the Province whiche 38 verthrowne and beaten downe, and himself wife ded, not aute to adopte entimiteun aunts of his enimits the outernactiffs opinional with a military राजार क्यान्य के अन्य के अन्य विश्वास्त्र के विश्वास्त्र के विश्वास्त्र के विश्वास्त्र के विश्वास्त्र के विश्वास्त्र hibititythat School and the of the footened and the continuous of signing in the division a philip spirit same क्रीमा प्रमाण प्रमाण प्रमाण का अधिक विश्व the flate of their difficults when he east of difficulty the autaia.

But

נובוב חבח di bante

places,

places, he deciding his armie into partes, put the Sarons in luche feare and trouble befoje they fought, that they did not so muche as take weapon in hande to make reliffaunce , but being as maled wyth the light of the glyttering enlignes and Cagles figured in the Romaine Candardes, they streight made sute for peace, and at length after the matter was debated in sundzie wife (by cause it was imogen that it shoulde be profitable for the Romaine common wealth) truce was 10 graunted buto them, and many youg men (able for leruice in the warres) deliuered to the Romaines according to the cournants concluded.

After this the Saxons were permitted to De= part without imperhment, so to returne from whence they came, the which being now out of al feare, and preparing to got their wayes, dyuerle bands of formen were fent to lie priutly in a certaine hid vally, so embushed as they might easily breake forth opon the enimies as they palled by 20 them. But it chaunced farte otherwise than they fuppoled : for certaine of those fotemen figred with the noyle of them as they were comming, brake forth out of time, and being sovenly disco-urred whilest they hasted to buite and knit them= clues together, by the hidecus crie and Coute of the Sarous, they were put to flight . Pet by and by cloting togither againe, they stayed, and the extremitie of the chaunce ministring to them force (though not sufficient) they were drynen to fight it oute, and beeing beaten downe wyth great flaughter, had dyed euery mothers sonne, if a troupe of Horsemen armed at all poyntes (bering in like maner placed in an other lyde at the parting of the way to affayle the enimics as they (houlde palle) wouertyled by the voletun noyle of them that foughte , had not spredie lye come in to the fuccours of they? fellowes.

Then ranne they togyther moze cruellye than before, and the Romaines bending themsele ues towardes they? enimies, compaffed them in on ethe lyde, and with they? drawne swordes flue them downe right, so that there was not one of them left to returne home to they? native Countrey to brying newes howe they had spedde, not one suffred to line after the Death of his fellowes.

Zino although an indifferent man that Coulde intge bereof, nugbe with cause reproue so bniust and diftionogable dealing: yet the thing being well wered and confidered, he would not thinke cuill of it, that a wicked knotte of thecues and Robbers spoulde at length page after the piece of the Markti.

Thus were the limittes of the Romain Empyze preserved at that time in Biptaine, whiche Mould feeme to be about the percof our lozd. 399.

After this in the time of the Emperour Bono. rins, ello the Scottes, Pides, and Sarons, Did efclones inuade the frontiers of the Romains Province in Bestaine, as appeareth by that which the Poet Clangianus wigieth, in atterbuting the honour of preferring the fame from tyers onto the fayde Emperour, in his boke intituled Panegersom teren Confolatus, (which fell in the yeare.396. as thus:

Ille leues Mauros nec fals nomine Peltos Edomuit Scotuma vazo mucrone fecution, Fregit Hyperboreas remu andacibus undas. Ergeminufulgens verog sub axecrophen, Tethyos alterna refluas calcanit arenas. The nimble Mores and Pictes by right so callde, he hath fubdude, And with his wandring sworde likewise the Scottes he hath pursude: : He brake with bolde courageous oare the Hyperborean wane, and shyning under both the Poles with double trophyes braue, He marcht vpon the bubling fandes of either swelling seas.

The Historie of Englande.

The same Claudian boon the fourth Consul-Dip of Honozius, farth.

quid rigor aternmo, cali? quid frigora profunt? Ignotuma fretum? maduerunt Saxone fuso Orcades, incaluit Pictonum fanguine Thule, Scosorum cumulos fleuit glacialis Hiberne.

What lasting colde? what did to them the frostie Clymates gaine? And lea vnknowne? bemoyfted all with bloud of Saxons flaine The Orkneys were: with bloud of Picts hath Thule waxed warme. And vsie Irelande hath bewaylde the heapes of Scottish harme.

School and,

The same prayle gyueth he to Stilicothe 20 ludeth, wyrting to Pamatius. ionne in lawe of honozius, and maketh mention of a Legion of Souldiers lent foz oute of Bap. tanne in the Peripheales of the Gottiff warres.

Venit & extremis legio pratenta Britannis, Que Scoto dat frana truci, ferrog notatas, Perleget exammes Picte moriente figuras.

A legion eke there came from out the farthest Brytaines bent, VV hich brideled hath the Scots fo sterne: and markes with yron brent Vpon their liveleffe himmes doth reade. whiles Pictes their lives relent.

herehearleth the like in his lecond Panegericus of Stilico.

Inde Calidonio velata Britannia monstro, Ferro Pieta genas, cuius vestigia verrit Carulus, Oceanig aftum mentitur amielus. Me quo q vicinu percuntem gentibus inquit, Munisit Stilice, totam quum Scotus Hibernam 40 Mouit, or infesto foumanit remige Thetis: Illius effectum curs, ne bella simerem, Scotica, ne Pictum tremerem, ne littere toto, Froficerem dubus venturum Saxona ventu.

Then Brytaine whom the monsters did of Calidone surrounde. rrhose cheekes were scorcht with steele, whole garments swept the ground, Resembling much the marble hew of Ocean seas that boile, Sayd, the whom neighbour nations did conspire to bring to spoile, Hath Stilico munited strong, when raysde by Scots entice All Ireland was, and enmies oares the falt sea fome did flice. His care hath causde, that I all scares of Scottish broyles have bard, Ne do I dread the Picts, ne looke my countrey coasts to gard, Gainst Saxon troupes, who chaunging winds fent layling hitherwardes.

Thus may it appeare, that in the tyme when Brytayneafthe Romaine Empyze beganne to decay, in like flicted by inmaner as other partes of the same Empyre were vasion of barinuaded by barbarous nations, fo was that part of Byptayne which was subject to the Romaine 10 Emperours gricuoully affayled by the Scottes and Pides, and also by the Sarons, the whiche in those dayes inhabiting all alongst the Sca coalies of lowe Germanic, euen from the Eibe buto the Rhine, did not oucly trouble the Seaby continual rouing, but also bled to come a lande into dyucife partes of Baptapne, and Gallia, in= uading the countreys, and robbing the same with great rage and crucltie.

To the which sidonius Apollinaris thus al-

The Mellenger did assuredly affyzme, that li.8. Epift. lately ye blewe the frumpet to warre in your nanie, and betwirt the office one while of a mariner, and another while of a fouldier, wafted about the croked Mozes of the Decan Sea agayntle the The piracin of fleete of the Saxons, of whome as many Ros the Saxons, uers as ye beholde, so many Archypzates pe suppole to lee : so doe they altogyther with one accorde commanno, obey, teach, and learne to play 30 the partes of Rouers, that cuen now there is good occasion to warne you to beware. This enimie is moze cruck than all other enimyes. Dee affayleth at bowares, her escapeth foresecting the daunger aforchande, he despyseth those that stand agaynst him, he throweth downe the bnware ! if he be followed he inappeth them by that puriue him, if he fice he cleaneth.

Dflike effect for prouse hercof be those verses which he wzote vitto Paiozianusin his Pancderike Dration.

Tot Maria intraui duce te, longeq, remotas. Sole sub occiduo gentes, victricia Casar Signa Calidonios transuexit ad vsq. Britannos Fuderit, o quanqua scotu, o cu saxone Pietu Hoftes quafinit que sam natura vetabat, Quarere plus homines.

Which is Englished thus.

So many seas I entred have, and nations farre by west, By thy conduct, and Cæsar hath his banners borne full preft; Vnto the furthest Brytish coast, where Calidonians dwell. The Scot and Pict with Saxons eke, though he subdued fell, Yetwould he fecke enmies viknowne whom nature had foi bid.&c.

Honorius the Emperour.

Polidor.

Thus farre have we thought good to gather out of the Romaine and other wepters, that pre might percepue the fate of Beptapne the better in that time of the Decay of the Romain Empire, and that ye might have occasion to marke by the way, how not only the Scots, but also the Sarons had attempted to innade the Beptaines before any mention is made of the lame they? at= tempts by the Brytish and English wryters.

But whether the Scottes had any habitation 10 within the boundes of Bzytaine, til the time fuppoled by the Brytaine wryters, wee leave that popul to the inogenient of others that be frauap= led in the fearch of fuche antiquities, onely admonishing you, that in the Scottille Chronicle you shall finde the opinion whiche their writers have concepued of this matter, and also manye things touching the acies of the Romaines, bone agaynst diverse of the Beytayns, which they presume to be done against their nation, though shar 20 dowed under the generall name of Byptaines, or of other particular names, at this day to most me bonknowne. But whenfoeuer the Scottes came into this Fle, they made the thirde nation that inhabited the lame, coming fielt out of Scithia, oz rather out of spaine (as some suppose) into Irelande, and from thence into Baptagne, next after the Pictes, though their wepters letche a farre more ancient beginning as in their Chronicle at large appeareth) referring them to the reading 30 seme bookes have.) thereof, that bestre to understance that matter as they let it forth.

But now to returne where we left, touching the fuccession of the Beptish kings, as their hp= flories make mention: thus we finde, though carying great suspition withall, as some thinke.

Constantinus.

Onliantinus, the Consta. nus king of little Big= tinus. taine, at the fute and earnest request of the Gal. Man. Archbishop of London, Gal. Mon. made in name of all the Byptaines in the Ile of great Bzytaine, was fent into the same Fle by his fapde brother Al= dioenus byon covenants ratified in maner as before is recited, and brought with him a conuenient power, landing with the same at Cotnes in Caxton hair Denonshire. Immediately after his comming a 12000, b : lande, he gathered to him a great power of Byy Gal, and eshabely the boulet have bused taynes, the which before his landing were bodin dyuerse places of the Ile.

Then went hee forth with them, and gaue The Brynift battaile to the enimies, whom he vanquissed: and bysone die sure that treat king Guanius there in the field (as the Scotus).

ters, the which affreme that they got the field, but ret lost their king named Dongarde, as in there Prstonere mar reade.)

But to proceed as our writers report the mats ter. When the Butains bad thus oucreome their enumies, they convered their captains the lapde Confant ne vnto Cicelter, and there in fulfilling their promise and concuent made to his brother,

But this agreeth not with the Scottiff wijs 50 crowned him B. of great Battain, in the peare of our logo. 413, which was about the. b. peare of the 435, hath Emperoz Malentinianus the second, a third pere Mac West. of Clodius R. of & Frakmers after called fremch= me, which the began to lettle thelelues in Gallia, wherep the name of that cuntry was afterwards changed realled France. Collantine being thus established king, ruled the land wel a noble, a des fended it fro all mualis of enimics during his life.

ne begat of his wife three formes (as the Britill Diffozic afframeth Conffantius, Aurelius Imbiolius, and Elter furnamed Pendragon.

The clock, by cause her percepued him to bee but oull of witte, and not berie towards, be made a Monke, placing him within the Abbay of Am= rhivalus in Columbester.

finally, this Constantine, after he had raige ned ten reares, was trarteroully flaine one day in his owne chamber (as some write) by a Diff. the which was in such favour with him, that hee might at all tymes have free accesse to him at his plefure. Peither the Romaine writers, noz Beda, make any mention of this Collantine, but of the other Constantine they write, which immediate= de after that the blurper Gracian was dispatched 30 out of the way (as before ye have heard) was adnannced to the rule of this land, and title of Em= perez encly in hope of his name, and for no other resport of towardnesse in him, afore time being but a meane fouldier, without any degree of honoz.

The fame Constantine (as wayters recoade) going ouer into Gallia, adourned his sonne Con= stantius with the tytle and dignitie of Celar, the which before was a Monke, and finally as well the one as the other were flain, the father at Arles 40 us bare but the name of king: for Clostigerne abby Carle Constantius that was sent against him by the Emperoz Honozius, and the sonne at Uiinna (as vefore pe have heard) by one of his owne Court eleped Gerontius (as in the Italian Hy= florie ye may fee moze at large.)

This chaunced about the yeare of our load. 415. This have wee thought god to repeate in this place, for that some maye suppose that thes Constantine is the same whom our waiters take to be the brother of Alorocaus king of little Bry= 50 kings person, dyuerse of the whiche (corrupting tarne., as the circumstaunce of the time and other things to be colidered may give the occasion to thinke, for that there is not so much credit to be reloco to the that have writen the Brytill, hy= fraces, but that in some part men may with iust cause doubt of sundaye matters conteyned in the lame a therfore have we in this boke bin the more diligent to Hewe what the Romaine and other forregue wryters have recrefted in their bokes of bystozics touching the affarres of Brytain, that the reader may bee the better fatisfied in the truth

But now to returne to the sequele of the Hp= Copie as we finde the same weytten by the Beytill) Chronicles.

After that Constantine was murthered (as befoze pe haue heard)one Cloztigerus, oz Moztiger- This Vortinus, a man ofgreat authozitic amongs the Bry- of the Geuisses to teynes, wrought so with the residue of the Bzp= and Cornwall, tiff) novilitie, that Constantius the clock some of as Rad. Cells. their king the fogeremembjed Constantine, was Galf Mon. taken out of the Abbey of Edlinchester, where hee remayned, and was strength waves created king, as lawfull inheritoz to his father.

De have heard howe Constantius was made a Monke in his fathers lyfe time, bycause he was thought to be tw soft and childish in wit, to have any publike rule committed to his handes: but for that cause specially did Worteger seeke to adnaunce him, to the ende that the King beeing not able to gouerne of himselse, he might have the chiefest fway, and so rule all things as it were bnder him, preparing thereby a way for hymselse to attayne at length to the Kingdome, as by that which followed was moze apparauntly percepued.

This Consta- Consta-tius then the Consta-tonne of Consta- tius. (as befoze pe haue heard) of Mortigerne, was made king of Bzitaine, in the yeare of Our Lozde. 443, 445. hath Rut Conffantia Math. West But Constanti-bling his innocencie and simple discretion to oz= der things as was requilite, had all the rule of the lande, and did what pleased him. Wherebuon first where there had beene a league concluded betwirt the Baytaynes, Scottes and Pictes, Heller. Be. in the dayes of the late King Constantine, Moztiger caused the same league to bee renued. and waged an hundred Pives, and as manye Scottes to bee attendaunt as a garde opon the them with fagge promises) he procured by subtile Constantius meanes in the ende to murther the King, and murchered. immediately byon the deede done, he caused the murtherers to be Arangled, that they Moulde not afterwardes disclose by whose procurement they bid that deed? Then caused he all the relidue of the Scottes The fubrile and pictes to bee apprehended, and as it had dealing of Vortigerne.

İII

beene kpon a scale to fee the veath of Constantia us fenerely punified, he framed fuch inditements and accusations agaynst them, that chiefely by his meanes (as appeared), the guylticife persons were condemned and hanged, the multitude of the Bertiste people beeing wonderfully pleased therewith, agining great comendations to Clottigerne for that deede.

Chus Constantius was made away in maner as before ye have hearde, after he had raigned (as moste wepters affigine) the space of fine pearis.

Then after that his death was knowne, those that had the bringing up and custodic of his two Pendragon, mistrusting the wicked intent of Closingerne, whole diffinulatio and mischieuous meaning by some great likelihwds they suspected, with all speede they got them to the lea, tied into little Bentame, there keeping them till it pleafed Contherwise to promoe for them.

But Cloringerne coulde fo well dissimule his craitic workings, and with such conveyance and cloked maner coulde Madow and colour the mats ter that most men thought and subged him most 40 he sought by all weams bow to oppresse other, of innocent and voyo of all culturaning:infomuch that he obtenued to greatly the fauour of the prople, that her was reputed for the onely flay and pefender of the common wealth.

Deretypon came it to palle, that when the Consell was affembled to cleff a new king, for fo much as the other formes of king Constantine were not of age lufficient to rule, Clogtigerne bunfelle was er ofen, duerfe of the nobles (whom o: Bizing of that land, this his preferment, as to one belt deferning the same in their epinion and inegement.

Vortigerne.

Åm'ersti.

Vier Pau-dragon.

Tous was Cloringeme ebofen and made king I of Portain in the vert of ent Lood. 440. thind Cofulflup of Letius, 110-1.0f Rame of the 100. Olympiate, que, of the worlde, the Dominical letter going by f, the Prime by ten, whiche fell about the rry, peare of the Emperour Malenti= manus, the same years that Meroneus began to raigne ouer the Frenchmen.

Before hee was made king, be was Carle or Duke of the Geuilles , a people which helde that ronger beetheen, Aurelius Ambrole, and Elter 30 part of Bertaine where afterwardes the well Sarons inhabited.

Powe after that Clostigerne had with trea= fon , fraude, and greate decepte , at length at= tioned that for the whiche her had long loked, Heder, Di. hee freste of all furnished the Cower of London werth a strong garrison of menne of

Then fludging to aduquece andly fuch as he knew to be his especiall friendes and fauourers, wholegwo will bee had neuer fo little miltruft, namely those that were affectionate towardes the -Irnage of Constantine be hated bradly , and be= insed by secrete meanes which way he might best Dellroy them : but these his pantiles being at the field percepued, caused suche as had the gouers nance of the two youg Gentlemen with all speede to get them oner (as per hanc heard) into Byp= tayne Trinopike, there to remaine out of baunand darly did dructle of the Bertaynes, that knewe themselnes to bee in Clogtigerne his displeasure farle oner unto them . whiche thying trought Cloringerne into great boubt and feare of his estate.

At chaunced also the same trine, that there was greate plentre of come, and stoze of fruite, Gilda. the lyke whereof had not beene feene in manye recus before, and therebpon enfued ryote, frife. lechene, and other byces right hernous, and yet accounted as then for finall of rather none offen-

> These abuses and great enormities, raigned not early in the tempozaltic, but also in the spirimains and thirse Rulers of the same: so that cuerre man inrued the popul of his weare cenen as if he had confented of purpose) against the true moumocent person.

The Commons also gave themselves to bo= termonsluft, dunkennesse, and pole loptering. miercof followed fighting, contention, envic, and much Debate.

Of this plentic therfore infued great pride, and of this abundannce no lesse hautinesse of minde. whereupon followed areat wickednesse. lacke of god government and fober temperancie, and in the necke of these as a just punishment, death and mortalitic, so that in some Countreys which the quicke sufficed to burie the dead.

And for an augmentation of more mischiefe, the Scottes and Pickes hearing howe there Hector. Bo. 10 Countreymen through the falle luggestion of Clostigerne had beene wrongfully and most cru= Scoties and elly put to death at London, beganne with Pictes inuade thre and froze to make flarpe and cruell marre the Brytayns. agaynst the Brytains, walting their Countrey.

hopling and burning their townes, and giving them the overthrowe in a pight fielde, asin the Scottill hystoric more plainly appearething

Cobebgicte, the Baytaynes were bronght into fuch daunger and miserie, that they knowe not what way to take for remedie in fuch, we= fent perill , likely to bee ouerrunne and otterlye 40 promifes, might procure the Saxons to come to. Beda. banquythed of their enimites.

In the meane tome Clogtigerne not onely troubled with these imminent euilles, but fearing alfothe return of the two brethren, Aurelius Am= brofe and Etter Pendragon, began to confiver of the flate of things, and effecting it moli fure to worke by aduice, called togither the Lordes and chiefe men of the Realme to have they countaile and opinion howe to proceed in such a weightie bulineffe: and so debating the matter with them, 50 intalured both his own force, and also the force of his chimics, and according to the condition and flate of the tyme, viligently considered & searched out what remedy was to be had and prouided. ...

It length after they had throughly pondered al things, the more part of the nobles with the king also were of this minde, that there could be no better way deviled, than to lende into Germanie for the Sarons to come to they aros: The whiche Sarons in that season were highly re= nowined for they palpauncie in armes, and manifolde aduentures heretofoze atchieuco. And to forthwith Mellengers were dilpatched in= Gildu. to Germanic, the which with money, giftes, and VVil. Malm. the appe of the Bzytaynes agaynst the Section Contor, and Dicks.

The Sarons glad of this mellage, as people delirous of entertaynment to ferue in marres, choling forth a piked companie of luffie yong me 10000 hath bnder the leading of two beetheen Bengill, and Hector Bo. Horfus, got them abourde into certain vessels and Gildas & Beda poputed for the purpole, and so with all speede but of. 3. plates directed their course towardes great Britain.

This was in the years of our Lorde. 449, and hach. 30. in the fecond years of Clostigerns raigne, os the molt autentike wepters both Beptill) and Eug- peil Malme lille freme to gather, althoughe the Scottiste wyters, and namely Hector Boetius doe barie herein, touching the fust accounte of yeares, as to the perviers of the weytings affect of the one as the other may appeare. But William Ha= rison taketh it to bee in the fourth years of his raigne whereto Beda seemeth to agree, who no = tethit in the fame pere that Partianus the Empreour beganne to rule the Emprie, which was (as appeareth by the confularie table) in the Confulfhippe of Protogenes and Lusterius, and thirde pere of Meroueus king of France.

Thele Sarons thus arryuing in Beptagne, were curteoully recepued, and heartily welcomed of King Cloutigerns, who assigned to them them agayust the Scots and Pictes, which were entred into Bertaine, walking and destroying the Countrer befage them.

Derropon comming to toyne in battail, there was a fore fight betwirt the parties for a while, but at length when the Sarons called to reniembraunce that the same was the day whiche floulde erther purchase to them an enertalling name of manhode by victorie. or elle of reproche by repulse, beganne to renew the fight with suche Scottes vin. places in Bent to inhabite, and forthwith ledde 10 violence, that the enimies not able to abyde they? quished by fierce charge, were feattered and beaten Down on the Saxon.

eche fide with great flaughter.

remarded the Araungers' according to their well deferrings, as by whose prowes he had thus ban= quished his enunges, whiche as some write were come as farre as Stanfourde, and bled at that tome to fight worth long Dartes, and Speares, whereas the Sarons fought enclyewyth long swordes and Ares.

There bee that haue written howe the Sarons, were not fent for, but came by chaunce into the fle, and the occasion to be this: There was 40 ouer out of Germanie, that y land being fortified an auncient custome amongst the English Sar= ons a people in Germanic, as was also at the first among other Pations, that when the multitude of them was fo increased, that the Countrey was not able to fultable and finde them, by commaundement of their Princes, they floulde those out by lottes a number of youg and able personages, fitte for the warres, which should go forth to feeke them news habitations: and fo it tame, and promifed to ferme the king for wages in his warres. But be what meane foeuer they came hither, truth is, that Dengillus being a man of great wit, rare policie, and bigh wisdome. was their Captaine, who understanding this Kings minde, which now wholy truffed to the valiancie of the Sarons, and herewith perceiving the finit fulnesse of the Country, streight wayes began to consider with himselfe, by what wyles and craft The King haung got this victozie, highlye 30 he might by little and little fettle here, and obteine a kingdome in the Ile, and to cltablish the same to him and to his for eucr.

Therefore first he indeuoured with all speede possible to fince that part of the Countrey which Polidir. was given to him and his people, and to enlarge and furnish it with garilons appointed in places most connenient.

After this he did what he could to perswade the king, that a great power of men might be brought with such a strength, the mimies might be put in frare, and his lubicits holden in relt.

The King not forefeeing the happe that was to come, did not despile this counsell contrined to the destruction of his Kingdome, and so was moge apde fent fog into Bermanie: wherevpon now at this seconde tyme there arrived here. 261. Vvil. 31th bellels fraught with people, and at the same time place for came the Ladie Roben of Rome, baughter to the Sound chaunced to thefe, that ther came into great Bi= 50 tengylt, a Mayde of excellent beautie and comes wryters, and lynesse able to delite the eyes of them that thombe fame. behold hir, and specially to win the heart of Chip The Sax tigerne with the part of concupilcence, wherbuto all thefer he was of nature much inclyned, and that bid Reelesand Denaelt well percepue.

There came ouer into thes lande at that Cogioco trine and some after, three manner of people of the Germaine Pation, as Sarons, vice (01

The vice or Jules, and Ingles, over the whiche the lapde be accalled pengilt and Hors beeing brethren, mere Cansex. Non. taines and culers, men of right noble parentage in they? Countrey, as discended of that aunci= ent prince Wooden, of whom the English Saron kings doe for the more part fetche they? were= orce, as lineally discended from him, buto whom also the English people falled reputing him for a God confecrated the fourth day of the weeke, as they did the firth to his topke Area, so that the to fame dayes toke name of them, the one becing called Colodeniday, and the other Freaday, which wordes after in continuance of time by corruptimiener they on of speech were somewhat altred , though not much, as from Wodenloay, to Webnelday, and from freaday to fryday.

The forelayde Wiloden was father to Weda, father to deletgillus, that was father to the forefard hengistus and horfus.

three people whiche at this time came ourrinto Byrtayne oute of Germanie of the Wites, oz Jutes, (as Beda recogdeth) are the Kentichmen difcended, and the people of the Ale of Wight, with those also that inhabite oner agaynste the same Fle.

Dithe Sarons, came the Call Sarons, the South Sarons, and Will Sarons.

Moteoner, of the Angles proceeded the Caft

That thele Ingles were a people of Germanie, it appeareth also by Cornelius Tacitus, who calling them Angly; which worde is of three fillables, (as Polidoze fayth:) But some wzyte it Angli, with two Mables.

Ino that these Angli, or Angly were of no small force and authoritie in Germanie befoze their comming into this lande, may appears in tions there, whiche had lawes and auncient ofdinaunces a part by them felues, according to the whiche the state of they? common wealth was governed, they beeing the same, and one people with the Thoringers, as in the tytle of the olde Churingers lawes wee finde recorded, whiche 15 thus, Lex Angliorum & VVerinorum, baceft, Thuringorum. The law of the Angles and VVerinians that is to witte the Thuringers, (which Thuringers are a people in Saronie, as in the 50 description of that Countrey it may appeare)

But nowe to the matter. Hengill percepuing that his people were bighly in Clostigernes fanour, beganne to handle him craftily, denyling by what meanes hee mighte bring him in loue with his daughter Ronix, of Romen, of Ronomen as some write) which he beleeued wel would easily be brought to passe, byeause he understode that the King was much given to fensuall lust, vvil. Malm. which is the thing that often blindeth wife mens binderstanding, and maketh them to dote, and to lose they; persite wittes, yea, and oftentymes baingeth them to bellrudion, though by luche pleasant poylon, as they feele no bytter talke tyll they be brought to the extreeme poynt of confu-Con in deede.

A greate Supper therefore was prepared by Dengill, at the whiche it pleased the King to be present.

rie man beganne to bee somewhat merrie wyth beinke, to being in a Cuppe of Golde full of god and plealant wine, and to prefent it to the King faying, rrafail. Which thee did in such comely and decent maner, as the that knowe howe to dok it well ynough, so as the King marneyled great-But nowe to rehearle further touching thole 20 lye thereat, and not buderstanding what spee ment by that falutation, demanded what it fignified. To whom it was aunswered by hengist, Wasfail, what that the willed him well, and the meaning of it was, that he should drinke after hir, iopning therbuto this answere, dinke haile. Wiberebpon the king (as he was enformed) twke the cuppe at the Damsels hand, and dranke.

finally this youg Ladie behaned biricile with fuch pleasant worden, comely countenaunce, and Ingles, the middle Angles, 02 Mercies, and the 20 amiable grace, that the king behelbe bir fo long, till he felt him felfe fo farre in loue with hir person, that he burned in continuall delyze to enion the fante : infomuch that footly after he forloke bis otone wife, by the which he had three fonnes, named Mortimerus, Catagrinus, and Palcentius, Polidor. and requipred of hengist to have his baughter. Fabian. the lapoe Rowen, of Ronowen in mariage.

Hengilt at the fielle fermed straunge to graunt to his requelt, and exculed the matter, for that they are numbred amongest the twelve nas 40 that his daughter was not of estate and dignitic Evil. Malm. meete to be matched with his maiestle. But at length as it had beene halfe agayrelt his will bee consented, and so the mariage was concluded and folemnized, all Kent beeing alligned bnto hengill in rewarde, the whiche Countrey was befoze that tyme gouerned by one Buozongus, (though not with most equal iustice) which Guerongus was lubicat unto Clottigerne, as all other the Potentates of the Ile were.

This maryage and liberalitie of the King towardes the Straungers, muche offended the mynoes of his lubicates, and haltened the finall destruction of the lande. For the Sarons notive biderstanding the affynitic had beiwirte the King and Hengist, came to fall cuer toinhabite here, that it was wonder to consider in home shorte a tyme suche a multitude coulde come togyther: to that by cause of they? greate

Hengin purpelethat the fielt to coutay nes.

Galf. Mon.

Hengist appoynted his daughter when euc- Gal. Monnuniber

114

number and approved puillaunce in warres, they began to be a terroux to the former inhabitants tije Biptarnes.

vvil.Malm.

Gal, fayth he was Hengists fonne and Ebula his vncles sonne. Occa and Ebula leaders of Saxons.

Tabian.

to the Bivtaynes.

But Dengist beeing no lesse politike in counfaile than valiaunt in armes, abuling the kings lacke of discretion, to serue his owne turne, per= swaded him to call out of Germanie his brother Deca and his sonne named Chula, beeing men of great valure, to the ende, that as Hengist desended the lande in the South parte : so mighte they keepe backe the Scottes in the Herebpon by the Kings consent, they came with a power out of Scrinanie, and coasting as bonte the lande, they sayled to the Fles of Dik= ney, and fore vered the people there, and likewele the Scottes and Pickes allo, and final= ly arrived in the Porth partes of the Realme, nowe called Rozthumberlande, where they fetled thereselles at that present, and so continued 20 the Countrey from the innation of enimpes there ever after : but none of them taking oppon him the tytle of King, till about.99. yeares after rvil. Malm. they? first comming into that Countrey, but in the meane time remagning as subieds unto the Saron kings of Kent.

Ifter they arryuall in that Province, they oftentrines fought with the olde Inhabitaunts there, and ouercame them, chaling away such as made reultance, and appealed the relique by receys ring them under allegiance. When the Robles of Byptague law and percepued in what daunger the lande stwde, by the bere of freum- Dayly repayte of the buge number of Saxons ingers fatpested to the fame, they first consulted togither, and after relocting to the King, moued him that some order might be taken for the anording of them, or the more part of them, leaffe they Goulde with their power and great multitude biterly oppresse the Britill Plation. But all was in vagne, for Cloetigeme to esteemed and highly faudured the Sarons, and namely by reason of the great loue which he bare to his wife, that hee lyttle regarded his owne Patien, no not yet anye thing eseemed has owne naturall kinnesmen and chief friendes, by reason wherof the Brytains in fine Vortigene deprined him of all kingly honoz, after that he had deprined. raigned. rbj. yeares, and in his flead crowned his sonne Moztimer.

Gildas and Beva make no mention of Clors Gilda. timer, but bectare howe after that the Sar= Beda. onswere received into thys lande, there was H. Hane. a covenaunt made betwirte them and the Bytaynes, that the Sarons Moulde defende by they? Knightly force: and that in confideration thereof, the Brytaynes Mondo finde them provision of vytayles: wherewith they helde them contented for a time.

But afterwardes they beganne to pyke quarelles, as thoughe they were not sufficiently fatnithed of their due proportion of bytayles, threats ning that if they were not prouided more largely thereof, they would furely spoyle the Coun-

And withoute deferring time, they perfourmed their wordes with effect of deedes, beginning in the Cast part of the Ile, and with fire & fuoto palled forth walting and deliroping the Coun-

The interable trey tell they came to the ottermolle parts of the Wieft : fo that from Sea to Sea, the lande was wasted and destroyed in suche cruell and outragious mainer, that nerther Cine, towne, not Churche was regarded, but all conunitied to the free : the Paielles Claine and mutthered cuen afore the Aulters, and the Prelates with the people without any reverence of their effate et The Historie of Englande.

pearte, dispatched with fire and fworde, mott lamentably to behelve.

Many of the Baptapnes feeing the demeanour of the Sarons, fledde to the Dountavnes. of the whiche dpuerfe beeing apprehended, were ernelle flaine, and other were glad to come forth and reclue themselues to eternall bondage, for to have reliefe of meate and dinke to allwaye thep? ertremitie of hunger.

some other got them out of the realme in- 10 to ftraunge landes, fo to faue themselues, and o= thers abyding still in they? Countrey, kept them within the thicke Wiwodes, and craggie Rockes. whether they were fledde, lyuing there a poze weetched lyfe, in great feare and buquietnesse of

But after that the Sarons were departed and withdrawne to they houses, the Brytaynes began to take courage to the againe, illuing forth of those places where they had lyen hid, and with 20 one consent calling for ande at Gods hande, that they might bee preferued from btter destruction. they beganne under the conduct of they? leader Inrelins Ambrole, to pronoke the Sarons to battaile, and by the helpe of God they obtenned the vidozic, according to they ewne despres. And from thence forth, one while the Brytagnes, and an other while the Sarous were victors, fo that in this Bertill people, God (according to hys tryed them from tyme to tyme, whether they los ned him or no, buto the yeare of the siege of Badon hill, where afterwardes no small flaughter was made of the enimies: whiche chaunced the same peare in the whiche Bildas was borne, (as he himselfe witnesseth, being aboute the. rliif. prace after the comming of the Sarons into Bertaine.

Thus hath Gildas and also Bcda (following by likelyhode the authoritie of the same Gildas) weitten of thefe first warres begonne betwene the Sarons and Bytains.

But nowe to goe fouth with the Hystoric: accozoing to the order of oure Chronicles, thus wee finde recorded touching the doings of Aloz= timer that was elected King (as yee hane hearde) to gonerne in place of his father Wortigerne.

Vortimer.

This Clos- Vortiing clock fon mer. to Cloztigern, by the cont= Fabian.
mon assent of Galf. Mon.

was made K. of Bzytapne, in the peare of our Lorde Math. West.

464. Which was in the fourth yeare of the Ein= hath 454. perour Leo the fifth, and about the firth years of Childericus King of Fraunce (as our common account runneth, which is farre dilagrecing from that whereof Alilliam Hafflon both weake in his Thzonologie, who noteth Moztigerne to be depofed in the bili after his exaltation to the crowne) 454. of Christ, and .5. current after the comminst accustomed maner) as it were pectent Itraell, 20 of the Sarons, which concurreth with the . 4420. of the worlde. F.8. of Meroneus, as by his Chronologie both moze at large appeare.

> But to proceed. Cortimer bring thus aduanced to the gouernment of the realme, in all halt made soze warre against the Sarons, gaue bn= The river of to them a great battel boon the riner of Derwett, Derwent. where he had of the the upper hand: And the fecod time he fought with them at a place called Enis Epiforde. forde, or Aglisthorp, in which encouter Catagrine þ.ij.

or Catigerius the brother of Stortimer, and Hoplus the brother of Dengill, after long combate betwirt thein two, either of them flue other :

them into the Tle of Tenet.

the Beptiff hystoric.) The thirde battail Moetimer fought with them neare to the lea live, where The He of also the Brytaynes chased the Sarons, 4 droue

H. Hunt. Cole moore.

Easiane

Terfort in Colchester.

Tenet.

The fourth battaile was ffryken neare to a More called Colemore, the whiche was fore fought by the Sarons, and long continued with great daunger to the Bertayns, bycause that the foresayde Dwie enclosed a part of their holt so to them, being beaten off with the enimies fhot, albeit in the ende the Sarons were put to flight, and many of them browned and swalowed by in the lame More.

Beside these foure principall battailes, Moztimer had diuerle other conflides with the Sarous, as in Bent and at Tetford in Porffolk, allo neare to Colchester in Ester: fog be left not till be had bereft them the more part of all such possessie= constrayned to keepe them within the He of Tenet, twhere he oftentymes allayled them with fuch flippes as he then had.

Colhen Roncwen the vaughter of hengist percepued the great lolle that the Sarons fultep= ned by the martiall prowes of Clostimer, thee found meanes that within a while the fapt Cloztimer was poploned, after he had ruled the Biptaynes the space of lire of feuen yeares and odde Monethes, as Coulliam Gar.reporteth.)

By the Bertiff Deflosic it Mondo feenit that Clortimer before his death handled the Sarons fo hardly, keeping them belieeged within the Fle of Cenet, till at length they were constrayined to fue for licence to depart home into Germanie in fafitie: and the better to bying this to passe, they fent Clostigerne (whome they had kept flyll with them in all their battaples) buto his some Clostimer, to be a meane for the obteining of their fute. But whilest this treatie was in hande, they got them into they? thippes, and leaving they? mpues and chilogen behinde them, returned into Germanie. Thus farre Bal. Mon.

The Historie of Englande.

But howe bulikely this is to be true, I will not make any further discourse, but onely referre every man to that whiche in olde autentique by-Stoziographers of the Englishe Pation is found recorded, as in William Balmel. Benrie Bunt. Marianus, and others. Unto whome in thele matters concerning the doings betwirt the Sarons and Byrtagnes, we may bndoubtedly fafely give most credite.

William Malmet. Wypting of this Cletti= pril. Malen mer. of Guortigerne, and of the warres which he made agapult the Sarons, barpethin a maner altogither from Geffrey of Monmouth, as by his wordes here following ye may perceyue.

Buotimer the sonne of Clotimer (lapth he) thinking not good long to diffemble the matter, for that he lawe himselse and his Countreymen the Beptapus pecuented by the craft of the Eng= liffe Sarons, fetteth his full purpofe to oppue them out of the Realme, and kynoleth his father to the like attempt.

He being therefoze the Authour and procurer, feuen peares after their first comming into thes land, the league was broken, and by the space of strongly, that the Byptaynes could not approch 30 xx. yeres they fought oftentymes togither in mas ny light encounters, but foure times they fought puissance agaynste puissaunce in open fielde: in the first battayle they departed with like fortune, the victorie in whilest the one part, that is to meane, the Sar= this bamile ons, lost their Captaine horst that was bother to Gyeb Ra-Hig. hengist, and the Beytaynes lost Categerne, an 458
Hors and G. other of Mortigernes fonnes.

In the other battails, when the Englithmen ment ever away with the byper hand, at length a ons as before time they had got, so that they were 40 peace was concluded, Buortimer being taken out of this worlde by course of fatall death, the which muche differing from the lofte and milde nature of his father, right nobly would have governed the realme, if God had luffred him to have lined.

But these battailes which Clostimer gane to the Sarons (as before is mentioned) fhould appeare by that which some wapters have recorded, to have chanced before the supposed time of Mortimers or Guortimers atterning to the crowne, so about the firt or fewenth yeare after the firll comming of the Sarons into this realme with hemgilt. Ind hereunto William Barilon gineth his confent also in his Chronologie, referring the mutuall flaughter of Hozfus and Catigerne, to the firth prace of Martus, and. 455.0f Chailt.

Lowbeit Pol. Clirg. layth, that Clogtimer fut. Polider. ceded his father, and that after his fathers decease the English Sarons, of whom there was a great number as then in the Fle, comming ouer dayly like fwarmes of Bees, and having in possession not onely Kent, but also the Porth partes of the Realine towardes Scotlande, togither with a great part of the well Countrey, thought it now a fit tyme to attempt the fortune of warre : and first therfoze concluding a league with the Scots crucily purfue them, as though they had recepued fome great iniurie at their handes, and no benefit at all. The Byytaynes were marucyloully aba-thed herewith, percepuing that they Moulde have to do with Bengill, a captain of lo bigh renown, and also with their auncient enimies the Scottes and Bides, thus all at one time, and that there was no remedie but erther they must fight or else become flaues. Wherfore at length bread of bondage fixered up manhood in them, so that they alsembled togither, and boldly began to resist there and Pids, ppon the sodaine they turne their wea-pon poynts against the Brytaines, and mode were easily disconsisted and put to slight, so that disconsisted all hope of defence by force of armed being better by the Saxons. ly taken awaye, as menne in disparce to premaile against their enimpes, they fled as show feat-tered abzoade, some following one Captaine and some another, getting them into delart places, woodes, and marrill groundes, and moreover left fuch townes and fortreffes as were of no no= table strength, as a may buto their enimies.

Thus bath Polidoze Miraile of the first bzeaking of the warres betweet the Sarous and Bris tayns, which channeed not (as Mould appeare by that which he warteth thereof,) till after the brath. at his first comming got seates for him and hys people within the Country of Kent, and there began to inhabite.

This ought not to bee forgotten, that king Cloptimer (as Sigebertus hath weitten)reffored the chaillian religion after he had banquilled the. Sarons, in fuch places where the fame was decaped by the enimies inuation.

> Vortigerne the seconde time.

Then was Cloetigerne agayne rellozed to the Kingdome of Bzytayne, in the yeare of out Loide.471.

All the tyme of his connes raigne, he had remanned in the partyes nowe called Males, where (as some weyte) in that meane typue hee buylord a firong Callell called Generon, of Guaneren, in the Wiell lide of Wales neare to the rouge of Buana, boon a Mountapne called Clearious, which some referre to be buploed in his fecond returne into Wales as Mall be flewed hereafter. And it is so much the moze tikely, foz that an othe Chronicle, which Kabian had light of, affprineth, that Aveticerne was kent buder the rule of certapue Bouernours to hom anpointed in the towne of Caerlegion, and beha= Arwiske. of Clostigerne. Howbeit he venieth not & Hengilt 49 ned himfelfe in such commendable fost towardes his forme in appling him with his counfait, and on therwise, in the means featon whilest his sonne raigned, that the Beptayns by reason therof bear gan fortofanour him, that after the peath of Wlots timer they made him againe king. His fine

Shoully after that Mortigerne was relieved. to the rule of the Kingbome, hengist advertised 4000. hath therroe, Etterned into the lande with a mightye Math. West. armie of Barons, whereof Wortigerne being ade ly returne, fot 50 nertiko, allembled his Baptaines, and with all except t be de. speeds made to marges him.

When hengist had knowledge of the buge curafter he host of the Beptains that was comming against had once goe him; he required to come to a commination with this lie. Mortigerne, which requell was grammted, forthat it was concluded, that on 20av day a certain niis ber of Butting, e as than of the Sarons fhould meste togither boon the plaine of Salilburie.

Fabian.

70.bath Gal.

Nempt your lexes, what if it were melles.

hengilf having benised a newe kind of treafon, when the daye of they, appoynted meeting was come, cauled enery one of his allowed nunt= ber secretely to put into his Hose a long knyfe (where it was ordened that no man flould bring any weapon with him at all) and that at the berie instant when this watchworde shoulde be bttered by him, Nempt your fexes, then flould energ of them plucke out his knife, and flea the Biysame Mouloe bee Wortigerne, whom he willed to be aupzehended, but not flaine.

At the day altigned, the king with his appointed number of Beptapnes, nothing millruffing leffe than any fuch maner of bnfaythfull dealing. came to the place in order before preferibed, without armour of weapon, where hee founde readie Hengill with his Sarons, the whiche recepued the king with amiable countenance, in molte lo= ning fort : but after they were entred a little into communication, hengist meaning to accomplish hys deupled purpole, gane the watchworde, im= tapne that chaunced to be next to him, except the so mediately whereupon the Saxons dewe oute they? knyues, and sodainly fell on the Bzytayns, There died of and fine them as theepe being fallen within the the nobleso: paunger of wolucs.

Brytaine. 463. as Gal, hath.

for the Brytaines had no weapons to defend themselues, except any of them by his strength $ manhood got the knife of his enimie.

Amongst other of the Biptapnes, there was Ran. Ceffren. one Gool Garle of Bloucefter. 02 (as other haue) Chefter, which got a stake out of an hedge.og elle where, and with the same so desended himselfe the Sarons, and escaped to the Cowne of Ran.Custien. Ambrie, nowe called Salcfburie, and fo faued his owne lyfe.

Clottiger was taken and kept as pailoner by Hengilt, till be was confrapned to delpuer buto Bengift three Prounces or Countreps of thes Realme, that is to witte, Kent, and Effer, of as fome write, that parte where the fouth Sarons after Did inhabite, as Suffer and other : the thirde was the Countrey where the Gaffangles plan= 50 beente himfelfe out of papion. gaue to the Sarted themselves, which was in Postolk, and Suf-

Then Pengiff being in possellion of those three Provinces luffeed Clogifgeme to depart, and to to be at his libertic.

delilliam Malmelb, warteth fomewhat o-PVil.Malm. therivile of this taking of Clostigerne, during whole raigne, after the decraffe of his fonne

Mortimer, nothing (as flould appeare by that which the fame Malmelb. wayteth) was attempted agapuft the Sarons, but in the meane tome (fareth bee Bengist according to the default of mannes nature, whiche the more he hath the more her delpreth, by a colourable craft procureth his sonne in lawe Wortigerne to come fo and laybe aboute him, that he flue. rbij. of 40 a banket to his house, with three hundred other Birtarnes, and when hee had made them well and warme with often qualting and emptping of Euppes, and of purpole touched euerpe of there with one bytter taunte or other, they first fell to multiplying of malicious mozdes, and after to blowes, so that the Byptapnes were flaine euery mothers fonne, fo peciding op their gholies cuen amonast their pottes.

The King himselse was taken, and toreons three Provinces, and fo escaped oute of

Thus by what meane focuer it came to paffe; truth it is (as all warters agree) that Decigito not politilion of Bent, and of other Comitreps in this Realme, and beganne to raigne there! as absolute Lorde and Governour in the prair of oure Lojde (as some wyte.) 476. soute

the fifth peare of Clottigers last raigne : but after other which take the begynning of this kingbome of Kent, to be when Hengilt had first gyft thereof, the same Kingdome beganne in the peare.455.

This Kingdome of Bordhip of Kent conterned the countrey that Aretcheth from the Caft Occan, buto the ryucr of Thames, having on the southeaft Southerie, and bpon the Well Lonafortlarde, and the Countrey of Eller.

Pengilt and all other the Saron kings which ruled (as after Chall appeare) in. vij. partes of this Realme, are called by wayters Reguli, that is to far. little kings of rulers, of some smal dominion, fo that Bengift is accounted as a little king. Ind when he had got into his handes the forelapde thece Provinces, he caused more number of Sar= ons to come into Bzytayne, and bestowed them whereof, the Christian Religion greatlye decared within the lande : for the Sarons being Dagans, did what they coulde to extinguish the Telegraf fayth of Chaift, and to plant, againe in all places mile in there heathenish Religion, and worthiving of falle Gordes: and not onely hereby was the true farth of the Christians brought in daun= ger dayly to decay, but also the erronious opi= nion of the Pelagians greatly preuayled here amongest the Baytaynes, by meanes of suche unsounde Preachers, as in that troublesome featon did fet forth erronious doffrine amongst the people, without all maner of repzehention.

Certagne yeares befoze the comming of the Sarous, that herefie began to specade within this Beda. land very much, by the lewde industric of one Lepozius Agricola, the fonne of Senerus Sulpitius (as Balc layth) a Biffiop of that loze. But Pelacon, oppon the Porthealt the Ryuer of Thames 10 gius the author of this herelle was borne in Wales, and held opinion that a man might obterne faluation by his owne free wil a merit, a without affiffance of grace, as he that was bozne without oziainall sinne. ac. This erronious doarine being taught therfore. maintened in this troublesome time of warres with the Sarons, loze disquieted the godly minbed men amougelt the Beytaines, the which not Beda. meaning to recepue it, not yet able wel to confute in places abzoade in the Countrey, by reason 20 the craftie and wicked perswalions bled by the professors therof, thought goo to send over into Ballia, requiring of the Bithops there, that some godly & profound learned men might be fent from thence into this lande, to defende the cause of the true doctrine against the naughtle teachers of lo blafphemous an erroz. Wher bpon the Bilhops of Ballia foze lamenting the miferable flate of the Bzitains, & Delirous to relieue their prelent neede, specially in that case of religion, called a Sinode, A Sinode cal-and therin faking counsail to consider, who were consents in the ende, that one Germaine the Bi= Mop of Aurerre, and Lupus Bishop of Troyes Could passe ouer into Bzytayne to consirme the Challians there in the fayth of the celestial grace. And so those two vertuous learned men taking their iourney, finally arrived in Bzytayn, though not without some daunger by sea, through stormes and rage of windes, Appred (as hath beene thought) of the supersitious, by the malice of most mertest to be sent, it was decreed by al their 50 wicked spirites, who purposed to have hindered they? proceeding in this they? god and well purposed fourney.

After they were come ouer, they old so much what with convincing the wicked arguments of the adverlaries of the truth, by the invincible power of the worde of God, and holynesse of lyfe. that those whiche were out of the right way, were fone brought into the right path againe.

þ.itij.

About

Beda. Palladius.

About the fame time also, one Palladius was fent from Celestinus Bishop of Rome, onto the Scottes, to instruct them in the fayth of Chaift, and to purge them from the Berelie of the layde Delagius.

Constantine king of Scots.

II. Hunt.

Beda.

This Paladius exhorted Constantinus the king of Scottes, that in no wile he foulde ayoe the Barons beeing infidelles agaynft the Brys taines: and his exhortation twic lo god effect, that the layd Constantinus did not only fozbeare to to affelt the Sarons, but contrarily holpe the Beytaynes in theye warres agayntt them, the which thing did mainteyne the ftate of the Bry= taynes for a tyme from falling into bffer ruine and decay.

In the meane time, the Sarons renued their league with the Pices, so that their powers being ionneo togither, they beginne a frell to make loze warres upon the Bigtagnes, the which of necelmillruffing their owne ftrength, required apde of the two Billiops, Bermaine and Lupus. The which halling for warde with all speede came into the army, bringing with them no small hope of good lucke to all the Beytagnes there bee= ing affembling.

This was done in Lent, and such was the dis ligence of the Billiops, that (the people being in= structed with continuall preaching) in renountroupes to recepue the grace of God offered in baptisine, so that on Caster day which then en= fued, the more part of the army was baptifed, and fo went forth against the enimics, the which hear ring thereof, made half towards the Baytaynes, in hope to overcome them at pleasure. But they approche being knowne, Byfhome Bermaine taketh byon him the leading of the Brytish host, and over agaynst the passage throughe The armices the which the enimies were appointed to come, newly char. he chose forth a valley enclosed with high Moune Acad. tapnes, and within the same he placeth his newe walhen armie,

And when he law the enimies now at hande, he commaunded that every man with one generall boyce floulde aunswere him, crying alowde the same crie that he Moulo begin.

And even as the enimies were readie to give the charge byon the Beytaynes, supposing that they Hould have taken them at bnwarcs, and before any warning had beene given, fodainly Bis thon Germaine and the Priestes, with a lowde and theill bopce croed Alleluia theice: and there Alleluia Atie were constrayned to assemble an armie, and 20 with all the multitude of the Beytaynes with whole voyce cryed the same crie, with such a lowd Steaucu, that the Sarons were so therewith as maled and altonyed, (the echo from the rocks and hilles adiopning, redoubling in suche wise the crie,) that they thought that not onely the rockes and clyfes had fallen byon them, but that even the thic it felfe had broken in peeces and come tumbling downe byon their beades: herewith thereforethrowing away their weapons, they toke cing the error of the Pelagians, earnestly came by 30 them to their feete, that glad was he that might get to be formost in running awaye. Many of them for half were drowned in a River whiche they had to paste. Polidoze taketh that Riverto be Trent.

The Brytarns having thus banquilled their enimies, gathered the sporte at good lepsure, and gaue God thanks for the victorie thus got without bloud, for the which the holy billiops also triumphed as best became them. And after they had letled all things in good quiet within the Ale, as was thought expedient, they returned into Ballis or france, fro whence they came (as is before reherfed.) By one author it flould appeare that this Mat. 774 battell was wonne against the Scots and Pids about the yeare of our Lozd. 448. alittle befoze & comming of the Sarons into this lande wnder Bengift, whereto William harrifon accordeth, in which yeare S. Bermane arte came hither to weede out the herelie of Pelagius, as by the fame author more at large is aftirmed. howbeit, ddilliam harrifon in his Chronologie out of Profper, and other writers of time, noteth the coming of Germanus in the. 429. of Chaift, and binder & mould scene to agree with the troth, although b after fome, p forelaid Bermane Mould dre at Ra= uenna about the yeare of our Loid. 450. as Ulin= centius noteth, whiche was the very yeare of the comming of the Sarons: notwithstanding whe. or wherefocuer he dyed, it was not long after hys returne into Gallia, bpon his first iourney made hitherinto this land, & obtenning of p victory be= fore mentioned, but p word was brought againe ans was spred abrode in Britanne, & therefore al General the Pricks or Cleargie made request to him bit umeinagaine might fande with his pleasure to come ouer a= ico Believne.

gaine, and desend the cause of true Religion whis the he had before confirmed. Hecrebyon Billion German granteth fo to do, and therefore takong with him one Senerus (that was disciple buto Lupus, & orderned at & tome Bishon of Treer) he twke the Sea, and came againe into Bzitaine, falt in the fame beliefe wherein he had left them, $ percepued the fault to rest in a fewe: wherebypon enquiring out the authors, he condemneth them to crile as it is written) and with a manifest mi= racic by restozing a yong man that was lame (as ther lay, buto the right ble of his limmes, he confirmeth his doctrine. Then followeth preaching to persuade amendmente of errors, and by the generall consente of all men, the authors of the livered buto Billyop Germane and to his fellowe Severus, to convey them forth in their company buto the parties of beyond the Sea, that the Region might so be delinered of further damager, and they recepue the benefite of due amendmente.

By this meanes it came to passe, that the true faith continued in Buittayne sounde and perfect a long time after. And thus things beeing fet in awd older, those holy men returned into they? Confulthip of flozentius and Dionilius: thys 10 countreys. And to after this feconde time of hys being here, the fozenamed Bilhop German went to Rauenna for to few for peace to bee graunted buto the people of Armozike Britanne, and there being recepued of the Emperour Alalentinian, & his mother Placida in most reverend manner, he Departed in that Citie out of this transitory life. to the eternall loges of heaven. His body was af-terwardes conveyed but the Citie of Auxerre, Vincentius where he had bin Bilhop with great opinion of noteth lib. 20. buto hun, that eftsones the hereste of the Palagi= 20 holineste for his sincere doctrine and pure and in= Cap. 15. nocent life. Shortly after was the Emperoure The Emperor Malentinian flagne by the friendes of that noble Valentinian man named Actius, whom he had befoze caused Cayne. to be put to death. By this it may appeare, that Billiop German came into this Realm both the first and second time, whilest as well Hengist, as allo Moztigerne were lining: for the lapde Male= tinian was murthered about p peare of our Lord 454. Where the larde Kings lived & reigned long where he founde the multitude of the people sted= 30 after that time, as may appeare both befoze & after in this present boke. To returne then to Mortigerne. We find in the Bzittish historie, that after the Sarons had constreyned him to delyuer into their handes a greate parte of the fouth & east parties of the Realnie, so that they had in posses sion London, Porke, Lincolne, & Winchester, w other Cities & townes, he not only fearing they? Galfrid. puissace, but also y returne of Aurelius Ambzollus, this brother Utherpedragon, withdrew him wicked doffrine being banished the land, were de= 40 into Wales, wher he bega to build a strog Castel

Carten. Fabian. Policron.

Mount Erir calleth it in one place of his booke.

Aurelius and Vrer breihren

The Historie of Englande.

It is also sayoe, that when the same Sainte Polychren Germane came into Britapne (as before pe haue A fayectule heard) this Clortigerne on a time Moulde denie of S. Germa. the fame Saint Bermane herbourrowe : but one that kept the Kings beardes of Cattell recepued him into his house, and lodged him, and slewe a A caleshe and Calfe for his supper, the which Calfe (after supper ration. mas ended) Sainte Germane restored againe to life: and on the morrow by the ordinance of God. bookes is also let forthe, as there pee may fee: but to hee caused Clostigerne to bee deposed from hes Kingly estate, and toke the heardman and made him King.

But Kanulfus Higden in his boke entifico Polychronicon, alledging Gildas for his author. fayth, that this chaunced to a king that ruled in Domfer, whose name was Buly, and not to Clortigerne: fo that the fuccessours of that Buly reigning in that five of delates, came of in lignage of the fame beroman. Morcouer it hath bin Butarnes were aduertiled, the which were leat= 20 land as one writer recordeth, that when Clotti= H. Hunt. gerne refused to heare the preaching of S. German, & fled from him as he followed to have instructed him, one night there fell frze from heauf byon the callel wherin the king was lodged, and fo the king being destroyed with the fall of the house and the free tourther, was neuer after fcene. But thefe are fables, and therfoge I palle them over, hoping that it thall suffile to thewe here with what stuffe our olde historiographers Aurelius Ambrosius.

Atrelius Im Aurelicond fon of king us Ata Constantine, & brother to Con= brosius Statius, murthe= red by the trea= fon of Coztis gerne (as before pe haue hearde) mas made king of Bigtons, in the pere of our Lozd. 481. which Mat. Prof was about the thirde yeare of the reigne of the hath. 466. Emperour Zeno, and the rriii of Childericus, King of fraunce. Doocer King of the Herali as then blurying the government of Italy. 26 ter that this Aurelius Ambzolius had dispatched Clostigerne, and was nowe established Kyng of the Britagnes, her made towardes Porke, and Galfr. Mind palling the Riner of humber, encountred with the Sarons at a place called Macfbell, and ouerthicke them in a strong battell, from the which as hengist was stering to have saued himselfe, Hengist uld hee was taken by Cooll Carle of Blowcester & beheuers. (or as some have Chester) and by him ledge to Conningesbourrowe and was there beheaded by the countell of Cloade then Billiop of Colchefter. But ther be that weite how Hengist was taken at an other battell fought bpon the River of Dune, in the years of our Lozd. 489. and not in the chase of the battell whiche was foughte at Saclbelle in the peare. 487. as the same authois Do allenge. Deca the conne of hengist, by flight escaped to Pozke, and being there besieged, at length was constreyned to peelde hymselfe to Aurelius: the which dealing fauozably with him, 10 him. affigued forth to him and other of the Sarons a countrey bozouring neere to the Scottes, whych (as some astirme) was Balloway, where the sayo Occa and the Sarons began to inhabite. Then did Aurelius Ambzolius put the Sarons out of all other partes of the land, and repared luche Cities, Cownes, and also Churches, as by them had hin destroyed or defaced, and placed agayne Priestes, and such other as Coulde attende to the ministeric and service of Bod in the same Chur= 20

> Also for a perpetuall memorie of those Brifavnes that were flapne on the plapne of Salic burie by the treason of Hengist, he caused stones to bee fetched out of Irelande, and to be fet bp in the fame place where that flaughter was com= mitted, and called the place Stonheng, whiche name continueth buto this day. There were lent fifteene thousand men as Galfride laith for those Galfrid. stones, buder the leading of Elter Pendragen the Kings brother, the whiche giving battell buto Gillomanus King of Ireland that went aboute to relift the Britagnes, and would not permitte them to fetche away the fame flones out of hys countrey, discomfyted him and his people, and for mangre his will broughte the flones away with Shortly after Palcentius that was Mortigernes yongelt fonne, and had escaped into Treland toben Aurelius Ambrolius came into Bris tayne)returned with a greate power of Araumae nations, and toke & Citie of Mencuia in Wales. aftermardes called Saint Dauid, and did much burt in the countrey with fire and fworde. It whiche time the same Aurelius Ambrosius lave sicke at Wincheller, and beeing not able to goe forth himselfe, desired his brother After Pendracon to affemble an army of Britaines, and to goe against Palcentius and his adherents. Etter according to his brothers request, gathering hys people, wente forthe, and encountring with the enimies, gaue them the overtheowe, Cew pakens tius and Billomare oz Billoman King of Aus lande that was come over with him in ande as gainst the Butaynes.

In the meane while, a Saxon, or some other ftranger, whole name was Copa or Copa, notned himselfe to be a Britagne, and for a couloure counterfepting himselfe a Monke, and to haue' great knowledge in Philicke, was admitted to minister as it were medicines bnto Aurelius: but in flead of that whiche fhoulde haue broughte him health, he gane him poylon, whereof bee dyed Contly after at Winchester aforesayde, when hee had raigned after most accorde of writers nines terne yeares his body was comment in Sintebeng and there buried.

Thus finde wee in the Bretiffe and constion long befoze procured thereto by Palcentius, fay- 50 English hillories of the doings of Aurelius Ambroffus, which as he have trard make him a Bris tapne bosite, and discended of the bloud of the ancient Britapnes. But Gilvas and Beda coloris him to be a Romanne by discern as before is nike ម្រើងដែររាជក្រក់^គា tioned.

> Polydore Alterill writeth in this lorte of the Polidor. victorious actes atchieued by the forclayde Aures tius Imbrolius. Then laith he, the Sarous has Vortigerne haung knowledge of their approche, had fortify= brent to death to his Castell right strongly with men, munition and vittagles, but get all that nothing anapled hain, for in the ende after his enimics had gruen 30 haue farced op their huge volumes. Wilde firener diners affaultes to the layde Caltell, they found wilde french meanes with wilde fire to beenne it downe to the yet autented meanes with wilde fire to beenne it downe to the as some think earth, and so consumed it by fire togither with the King, and all other that were within it.

bpon a Mountayne called Breigh, og after other

Cloaric, neere to the river of Guana, whiche is in the Coloft fide of Colales in a place within the compaffe of the faine hill called Generon 02

Guepneren. Ef the building of this Caffell, and of the hinderance in creding the same, with the monstrous birth of Merlin and his knowlege in prophelying, the Britithe hiltories tell a long proceste, the whiche in Carton, and in Galfrides for that the same seemeth not of suche exedite as deferueth to be registred in any found historie, we haue with filence paffed it ouer. Talhileft Cloz= tigerne was buffed in building of this Castel, the two forelande breethren Aurelius and Elter pre= pared a name of Shippes, and an army of men, by helpe of suche their kinsinen and friendes as they founde in Armozike Britagne, and so passed the Sea, and landed at Totnelle: whereof when the tered absode and leuered in divers parties & coun=

treps, they drewe unto the layor two breethren with all speede that might be. When Aurelius and his brother Elter percepued that they were sufficietly furnished of people, they marched forth towardes celales against Cloztigerne, the which

Thus Did Clortigeme ende his life (as in the Brittin hilloric is recorded.) Of him much mill is revolted by the same historie, and also by other witters, and amongst other things it is mitten, that he Moulde lie by his owne daughters, and of hir begote a foune, in trust that kings shuld come of him, and therefore was he ercommunicate by Baint Bermane.

ning already gotten the whole rule of the Ille, practife their outragious cruelty specially against the Princes of the Britagnes, to the end, that the fayde Princes beeing ouercome and bestroped, they might with moze eale obtene postellion of the whoic Jue, whiche thing they only fonghte fog. But the fauog of almightic God was not wanting to the miscrable Britaynes in that greate necessitie, for beholde, Aurelius Ambrolius Trumpet to blowe to armour, but cuery man foz himselfe prepareth and resorteth to him , praying and belieching him to help to defende them, and that it might stand with his pleasure to goe forth with them against the enimies with all speede.

Thus an army beepng affenibled, Aurelius Ambrolius gorth againste them, and valiantly affarleth them, so that within the space of a fewe dapes, they foughte three battayles with greate fiercenesse on both sydes in triall of their high dis- 20 and Dtha, the which as menne most sozrowfull pleasures and ottermost forces, in which at leath the Britaynes put the Saxons to flight, Horfus the brother of Bengist being flanne with a greate number of his people. But get notwithstanding the enimies rage was little abated heereby, for within a fewe papes after recepuing out of Ber= many a neme supply of menne, they brake forth byon the Britaines with greate confidence of bidory. Aurelius Ambrollus was no loner aduertifed thereof, but that withoute velay he fette 30 trep,bzenne Willages, and abstagne from no maforwarde towardes Porke from whence the enimics flould come, and hearing by the way that Hengill was encamped about leven and ewentie miles diftante from that Citie, neere to the banke of a River at this day called Dune, in the place where Doncafter now flandeth, he returneth out of his way and marcheth towards that place, and the nexte daye letteth on the enimic and vanquitheth him, hengilt at the first meeting of the bat- Hengiltis was at hande, the which had no soner caused the 10 tels beeping flagne, with a greate number of the flagne. Germanes. The fame of this vidory (laith 190= lidoze) is had in memozy with the inhabitantes of those parties even buto this day, the which victo= ry did soze diminish the power of the Saxons, in somuch that they began now to thinke it Moulde be more for their profit to lit in rell with that dife honoz, than to make any newse warres to they? great disaduantage and likelyhod of present losse.

Hengist lefte behynde him two sonnes, Dica for the ouerthrows of late recepued, eliembled fuche power as they could togither, and removed there with towardes the Wielt parte of the Ille, supposing it to bee better for them to drawe that way fouth, than to returne into Kent, where they thought was already a sufficient number of their people to refift the Britaynes on that lyde,

Powe therefore, when they were come into the Willest partes of the land, they wast the counner of crueltic that might be flicined.

of a wounde.

These things beeing reported buto Zurelius Imbrofius, bet ftraightwapes haffeth thither to refill those enimies, and so giving them battell, Aurelius dieth eftiones biscomfiteth them:but he himfelfe receps ning a wounde, dyed thereof within a few dayes

The English Sarons having thus suffeined fo many loffes within a few monethes togither, were contented to brequiet nowe that the Bis taynes flired nothing against them, by realist they mere brought into some trouble by the Death, Various? of fuch a noble Captapue as they had nothe loft a parechin In the means time Clostimer died, after kohoma like. furceeded Elter furnamed Pendragon Thus huth Polidoic witter of the folegade Antiling

The Historie of Englande.

Imbrofins, not naming him to be King of Bitayne, and differing indeede in funday poyntes in this behalte from diners auntiente waiters of the English instozies, for wher he attributeth the victour to the Buitagnes in the battel fought, wher= in ionifus the brother of Hengist was flavne bo the reporte of Polychronicon, and other, the Sax= ons hadde the victory in that reencounter, and Chilliam of Malmelburie layeth, that they departed from that battell with egall fortune, the Sarons loling their Captagne Hoglus, and the Britagnes their Captagne Katigerne (as before ree have hearde) but there is suche contrarietie in muiters touching the doings betwirte the Britarnes and Sarons in those dayes, as well in accompte of yeares, as in the reporte of thyinges vone, that fetting affection alide, hardit is to indge to which part a man fould gine credite. Where fabian and other authors write, that Aurelius Ambrosius began his raigne ouer the 20 Britaines about the yeare of our Lozd. 481. Hoz= fus was flarne about the yeare. 458, during the raigne of Clostimer, as aboue is mentioned, fo that it cannot flande with the troth of the Bzittill hillogies (the whiche fabian followeth) that Horses was slapne by Aurelius Ambrosius, if according to the same bistories hee returned not into Britanne, till the time there supposed. But divers such manner of contrarieties shall pe finde in peruling of those writers that have written the Chronicles of the Britaynes and Sarons. the which in every point to recite would be to te= dious and combersome a matter, and therefore we are forced to passe p same over, not knowing how to bying them to any iust accorde for the sa= tissping of all mens mindes, and namely the curious, whiche may with viligente searche satisfipe themselves happily muche better than any other Mall be able to doe in bittering his opinion neuer therefore have we thought good as it were by the way to touch what diners authors do write, leauing it so to every mans inogemente to construe therof, as his affection leadeth him. Wie fynde in the writings of those that have registred the doings of thefe times, that Aurelius having banquithed the Sarons, restozed Churches to the furtherance of the Chailtian Religion, which by the inuation of the Saxons was greatly decayed in the days of the Entperour Theodoffus & yonger.

The beginning of the Kingdome of Suffex.

192 the time of the foreland Aurelius Ambiolius one Ella a Saxon with his three formes Cymen, Plettinger & Cilla, came out of Bermany with three Shipper, and landed in the South partes of Britagne, and being encountred with a power of Britannes at aplace called Cunencs Moze, discomfited them, and chased them buto a wood then called Andredelwold, and so twke that countrey, and inhabited there with his people the Sarons which he brought with him, and made himselfe King and Lozd thereof, in somuche that afterwardes the same countrey was named the kingdome of the South Sarons, whiche had for The kingdom of the South limittes on the Calt fide Kent, on the South, the Saxons doth Sea and Ille of Wight, on the well Hamflire, begin. and on the Porth part Southerie. This Kongdome (after some) began under the forsayd El= la, aboute the. 12. peare after the first commyng of the Sarons into this lao, which by following that accompt, should be about the second years of the raigne of Aurelius Ambrolius, and about the reare of oure Lozd. 482. But other write, that it Did begin about the .30. yeare after the firste comming of hengist, which should be two yeares smner. William Harrison differing from al other. noteth it to begin in the fourth yeare after & death of Hengilt. 4458. of the worlde. 2. of the 317. D. Ipmpiad. 1243. of Rome. 492. of Chailte, and. 43. after the comming of the Sarons: his words are thele. Ella erecketh the Kingdome of the South Sarons, in the. 13. after his arrivall, and raigned 32. yeares, the chiefe Citie of his Kingdome also was Chichefter, & after hee had enioped the fame his Kingdome awhile, he ouerthrew & Citie cal-30 led Andredeprester, whiche as then was taken for one of the most famous in all the South side of England. For my parte I thinke my dutie difcharged, if I shew the opinions of p writers : for if I hould thereto adde mine owne, I hould but increase conicdures, whereof already we have superfluous floze. To proceede therfore as I fonde. About the ninth pears after the comming of Elle, the Britagnes percepuing that he with hys Sarons still enlarged the boundes of his Lozds so much at large, and agreeable to a troth-onely 40 thip by entring further into the lande, assembled themselues togither under their Kings and Ru= lers, and gave battell to Elle and his connes at Mecredelbourne, where they departed with doutfull victory, the armies on both stors being soze diminished, and so returned to their homes. Elle after this battell lente into his countrey for more apde. But nowe touching Hengill which as pre have hearde, reigned as King in the province of Kente, the writers of the Englishe Kings varie dillers partes of Britagne, and thys chanced in so somewhat from the Brittishe histories, bothe in reporte of the battels by him foughte against the Britagnes, and also for the manner of his beathe: as thus. After that Mortimerus was dead, which departed this life (as some write) in the first yeare of the Emperour Leo, furnamed the greate. and Policron. first of that name that governed the Empire, who began to rule in the peare of our Lords. 457. wee fynde that Hengill and his sonne Occa or Osca _

H. Hunt. VV Mal.

Creyfourd.

Pritaynes oucithiowen.

Polychron.

H.Hunt.

VVipets field Mat. Preft This battell wasfought anno.473.28 the lame Mat V Vest noteth. Waper

Hen. Hunt.

By this it is euident that bewas not drauenout of the lande atter he had once gorteote raigned. within it gathered their people togither that were before sparkled, and having also recepued new apor out of Germany, fought with & Bzitagnes at a place called Crekenfogde, wher were flagne of the Bzi= tapnes foure Dukes of Captagnes, and foure thousand of other men, and the relidue were chafed by hengest out of Kent onto London, so that they never returned afterwards againe into Ket: and so the Kingdome of Bent began vnder hengift the twelfth yeare after the commung of the 10 nies, appopnted the one to give the affault, and Sarons into Britagne, and Gengill raigned in Bent after this 'as the same waters agree' foure and twentie yeares. It is remembeed that thole Germanes whiche lately were come ouer to the appe of bengist, beeing chosen men, mightie and frong of body, with their ares and swoods made great flaughter of the Beitagnes in that battell at Crekenford or Crepforde, whiche Britagnes were aranged in soure battaples under their a= foreland three Dukes or Captannes, and were 20 (as before is mentioned flanne in the same battel. About the firth pere of the fand Emperour Leo, which was in the . 17. peare after the comming of the Sarons. Dengist and his sonne Occa of O= sca fought at Edlyptiste fielde in Kent, necre to a place called Congwith the Butapnes, & flewe of them twelne Dukes or Captagnes, and on the parte of the Sarons was flagne bely de common Soulviers but onelp one Captayne that highte Timet, of whome v place after v day twkename.

Mas. Frest.

This victory was nothing pleasaunte to the Sarons, by reason of the great losse whiche they sustenned, as well by the death of the layd Elipet, as of a greate number of others: and so of a long time neyther did the Saxons enter into the confpnes of the Butapnes, nor the Butapnes pre= fumed to come into Bent. But whilest outward warres ceasse among the Dutaynes, they erers cile civill battell, falling togither by the eares a= mong themselves, one strining against another. 40 Finally, Bennill departed this life by course of nature in the. 29, yeare after his fielle comming into Butarne, hauing proceeded in his bufineffe Fortie yeares no leffe with craft and guyle than with force and bath H. Hune. Arength following therewith his natine crueltie, fo that he rather vio all things with rigoure than with gentlenesse. After him succeeved a sonne whiche her left behinde him abho beeing attentine rather to besende than to enlarge his kingname, neuer let fote out of his fathers boundes, 50 burying the space of 24 years, in the whiche her

Thout three peares after the decisio of immgist, anew supply of men of marre came out of Germany but other ande of Clie Bing of Suffer, the which baning his power to encreated, befriged the Ente of Indicocceffre, which was very flrog Angredecetter & well furnished wich niene all things netestage.

The Britannes also assembling togister in companies acceptly annoyed the Sarons as they lay there at flege, laying ambusies to destrop suche as wente abrode, and ceasing not to give alarums to the campe in the night feafon : & the Sarons could no soner prepare themselves to give the assault, but the Britagnes were ready to affaple them on the backes, till at length the Sarons deciding themselves into two compathe other to encounter with the army of the Bis taynes without, and so finally by that meanes prenayled, twke the Citic, and destroyed manne. woman and childe. Depther fo contented, they did also otterly rase the sayde Citie, so as it was neuer after that daye builded og recoified a= garne.

The Kingdome of the Eastangles.

Moayes of the fores of the Einnamed Aurelius Am= angles.
This king broffus about the years dome as H of our Lozde. 561. the rifon noted kingdonie of the Calls began so: angles began bndera Conanus Saron named Affa. raigned. tepned Porthfolke and Suffolke, hauing on the Calt and Porth partes the Sea, on the Porthwest Cambridge Mire, and on the West Sainte Edmonds ditch with a part of Hertfordhire, and on the South side lieth Ester. This Kingdome at the firste was called Elstines dominion, and the Kings that raigned, or the people that inhabited there, were at the firste named Alfines, but at length they were called Castangles.

Furthermore Cerdic of oure Lorde pril.Ma 495. and in the eyght yeare after that Heugist was dead, one Cerdicus, and his fonne Kennicus come Fabian. out of Germa- Pelicien.

my with fine Shippes, and landed at a place called Ecroiceoze, whiche as some thinke is nowe called Permouth in Porthfolke. Der was at the first recepued with battell by the Bzitapnes, but Pril. 34 bering an olde Kilfull warriour, hee easily beate backe and revulled the inconstante multitude of his enimies, and caused them to flee: by whyche god inceesse hee procured for the time to come, both undoubted affurance to himselfe, and to the inhabitantes god and perfect quietnelle, for they thinking god neuer after to prouoke him more by relistace, submitted themselves to his pleasure: hut pet did not he then grue himselfe to flouthful rest, but rather extending his often atchiened bic= togics on eache lyde, in the foure and twentith peare after his comming into this land, he obtep= ned the rule of the Welet partes thereof , and gonerned there as King, so that the Kingdome of in the. 519 of Christ as after thall be thewed.

The Historie of Englande.

Thus may yee fee that if Aurelius Ambzofins did succeede after Moztigerne, and raigned in the tome supposed by the Brittish histories, as before is alledged, the lande euen in his dayes was full of trouble, and the olde inhabitauntes the B2i= tarnes fore vered by the Sarons that entred the fame, so that the Britagnes dayly were hampe= red, and brought under subjection to the valiante Sarons, or else driven to remove further off, and 20 to rive place to the victorers. But nowe to procrede with the fuccession of the Brittiste Kinas as in their Hiltories wee fynde them registred, whiche I delpuer suche as I fonde, but not suche as I do wille, being written with no suche cours loure of credite as we may fafely put forthe the same for an bndoubted truth.

Vter Pendragon. Office that Aniclins Ambrolius was dead, his calleth, Aurelins Elterius Ambrolianus) was made King in the yeare of our Lozde. soc. in the fenenth yeare of the Emperous Analkalius, and in the firteene years of Clodoucus King of the Frenchmen. The cause why hee was surnamed Pendlagon, was, for that Merlyne the greate Prophete likened him to a Dragons head; that at the tyme of his nativitie maruellously appeas red in the firmamente at the corner of a blafing that her was to called of his wifedome and ferpetine subtiltie.oz foz that he gaue the Dragons head in his Banner.

Thys Uter, hearing that the Sarons with their Captaynes Deca or Dita the sonne of Hengist, and his brother Dsca hadde besieged the Citie of Porke, halted thither, and giving them battell discomfited their nower, and toke the layd Dcca and Dlca prisoners. From this varicity Hedor Boctius in his Chronicle of Scotland, wziting of thele boings in Bzitaine: foz he affir= Hec. Boetim. Wielt Barons began under the layde Cerdicus 10 meth, that the counterfet Monke whiche poploned Aurelius Ambrolius, was subornate, and fent to worke that feate by Dcca, and not by his brother Pascentius: and further, that about the very selfe time of Aurelius his deathe, his brother Ulter Pendragon lay in Wales, not as pet fully recovered of a fore licknesse, wherewith of late he had bin greenoully bered. Vet the Lozds of Bris tapne after the Buriall of Aurelius Ambrolius. came buto him, and crowned him king: though be was not able to goe against & Sarons (which as then by reason of Aurelius Ambrosius hys peath were very busic, and more earnest in purfuing the war than before) an army was pet pre= pared and fente forth with all conucnient speede under y leading of oite Pathaliod, a ma neyther of any greate auntiente house, noz pet of skill it warlike affaires. The noble men were nothyng pleased heer ewith, as milliking altogither y lack of discretion in their new king, and doubted soze, brother Elter Pendragon (whome Parrillon , least in time to come he would have more delight to advance the bale degree, than fuch as were difcended of noble parentage. Vet bicause they wold not put the flate of the common wealth in daun= ger through any mutenp, they agreed to goe forth with him in that fourney. Occa had aduretife= mente ginen by fecrete letters fente to him from Tome close friendes amongst the Britaines of the whole matter, and therefore in hope of the better speed he halfed swith to encounter the Bzitaines. Starre as is reported. But Harrison supposeth 40 and so the one grapy comming within sight of y other, they prepare to the battell, and Mortly after duckling roatiner, the Britaines were come disconficed, by reason that one of their chiefest Captaines called Gothlois disderning to bee at the appointmente of Pathaliod, gote him bp to the next bill with the battell which he led, leaving the other Butaines in al the daunger: which they perceyning straight wayes began to flee. There

dyco no greate number of the Butaines, excepte those that were killed in the fighte: for Deca mix Arusting what Gothlois meant by his withdrawing afide, woulde not suffer the Sarons to follows the chefe, but in the nyghte following, Gothlois gote hym away, and rested not till he was nce was out of daunger. Deca then perceining himfelfe to haue the upper hand, fent an Gerraulo bnto King Elter with a certagne mellage, thretning destruition to him and to his people, if he refused to do that which he flould appoint.

Elter percepning what disloyaltie rested in the harts of his owne lubicates, agreed that the mat= ter might be committed to eyaht grave and wife twirt the two nations. Deca was likewife contented therewith, wherebypon were named on eyther part four persons, of such wisedom, knowledge and experience, as were thought meetelt to take direction for the ordering of such a weightie businesse. By the arbitrement, warde and dome then of those eighte persons sufficiently authoris led thereto, a league was concluded bypon certaine articles of agreement, amongst the whyche 20 the chiefest was, that the Sarons from thenceforth flould quietly enjoy all that part of Brittapne whiche lyeth fore aneynst the Almapne

Seas, the fame to bee called ener after Engiff. Laund, and all the relidue shoulde remayne to the Britaines as their owne rightfull and aunciente inhenitance. Thus hathe Bedor Boetius, but now to returne onto Elter according to that mee finde in the Brittish histories: but to proceede after our swne writers, that when he had banquithed the Sarons and taken their two chiefetaines Counsellers, soure Britaines and soure Sarons, perwitten, in personal Lady called Igwarne of Is a righte beautifull Lady called Igwarne of Is gerna, wife to one Gozolus or Gozo viloners, in procedle of time, he fell in lone with Cornewaile, the which Duke he flew at length neere to his owne Castell called Diunlioc in Cornewaile, to the ende that he mighte enjoy the fand Lady the which he afterwards married, and begate on hir that noble Knighte Arthur, and a Daughter named Ampe of Anna. Dea and Dla escaping also out of prison assembled estimes a power of Sarons, and made warre againste the Britagnes, whereof Elter hauing adnertilement prepared to relift them, and finally went himselfe in person againste them, and at Saint Albanes (as some waite) gaue them battel and slew them Hading.

both made fictor. By that which Polydoze wergill writeth it Coulde feeme that Germane the 28.May of Turare came into Butapne in the baves of this Elter, by whole prefence the Bapttaynes had victory againste the Sarons (as before ree have hearde after whiche victory bothe parties relied from troubling epther other for a time, the Sarous as it were aftonico with that 50 presente initacle, and the Butarnes not following their good fuccesse flogely after fell at discoed amongst themselves, which finally brought them to viter becay, as after fiall appeare. But b Sarons being belicous to sporte the Britaines of the whole possession of that parte of the Isle which they held, whereas they accompted the Ci= ties and Cownes of finall firength to be difm-ded, they gote them to an high Mountaine called Badon hill, whiche Pelidoze supposeth to bee Badon kill. Blackamoze plieth necre to the water of Theile, which devideth the Bilhopzike of Durham kom Pozkillice, having at the mouth thereof an hauen meete to recepue such Shippes as conceout of Germany, from whence the Sarons loked dayly for ande, having already sent thither for the lame. The Britapnes being thereof adurtis fed, make hall towards the place, and belleaed it on every lide. They allo lay the Seacoaftes full of Souldiers to keepe lucke of the enemies from landing as floulde come out of Germany. The Sarons kept themselnes for a certayne space &loft byon the high grounde, but in the ende con-Areyned through wante of vittayles, they come

The Historie of England. amone with their armie in other of bataile to the nert plaines, and offering to fight, the batapl was anon begun, which continued from the morning till farre in the day, with suche slaughter, that the carth on every fide flowed with bloud: but psa= rous fusiconed the greater losse, their capitaines Occa and Dica beying bothe flapne, so that the Britons might seme quite deliucted of al danier of those enimies: but the fatall destenie could not the flaughter made of the Satons at Badon bit. wherof Gildas maketh mention, and chanced the fame pere that he was borne, which was in the 44. vere after the first coming of the Sarons in= to this land the pere of grace. 492. 4.15. indiction (as Parison also noteth.)

وتعليان

Thout the same time After departed out of this life faith Polydoze) so that his accompte agreeth thois, whom fabia and other have folowed. for either malt we presuppose, that Titer reigned be= fore the time apointed to him by the faid authors, either else that the stege of Badon hill was before he began to reigne, as it should seeme in deede by that which Will. Malmsbury writeth therof. as hereafter final be also flictived. Finally, according to the agreemente of the Englishe writers. Alter Pendiagon died of poylon when he had gouerfantinge, after buried by his brother Aurelius at Stonhig otherwyle called Chorea Gigantu, leaning his fore Arthur to luccede him. Here mult pe note that the fcottifi chronicles occlare, that in al the mar= res for the more parte wherein the Britons obtepned videopic against the Saxons, the Scots apoed them in the same warres, and so likewyse did the Picks, but the same chronicles de not on ly varie from the Beytish weiters in accompt of the fame Cheonieles moze playnly may appere, and namely in the discourse of the incidets which chanced during the reign of this Elter. For wher as the Brittly hillories, as pe have heard, attribute great praile bito the fame After for his bictoxics atchicued against the Saxons and theys king Occa, whom he flew in battafle, and obtrineva greate viffozie, the Scottiffe weiters make other report, affirming in dred that by the prefece of bishop Germane hee obtepned videzie in one battaile against them : but sportly after the Bri= 50 Kente. 24. yeares, defendyng hys kyngdome 34. hartir Hen's tons fought again with the Sarons, were dile comfited, although Deca in following the chase ouer rashly chaunced to be slaine: after whose de= ceasse the Saxons orderned his sonne named alhose ca to succeede in his place, who to make hunselfe strong against all his enimies, sent in= to Extinance for one Colgerne, the whiche with a greate power of Teutshmen came over into this our Britanne, and conquered by Decas ans pointment, the countrey of Posthumberland, fi= fuate betwene Tyne & Tweede, as in the Scottill chronicles it may further appeare.

Alforhis is to be remembred that the victorie which was got against the Sarous by the Bry= tons, at what time Germans villoy of Auxerre was presente: Hedor Boctius affirmeth by the authozitie of Airemond that wrote & Scottille be anoided, as hereafter may apere. And this was to chronicles to have chanced the feend time of his coming oner into this lande, where Broa auou= theth it to be at his first bring here. Againe, the same Boetius writeth, that o same bicorp cha= ced in the dayes of Elter Pendragon, whiche can not be if it be true that Beda writeth, touchong the typic of y death of y land German: for where he departed this life before the perc of once Lorde 459. as aboue is noted, Ufer Pendragon began nothing with the comon accompte of those aus 20 not his reigne till the pere of our Lozd. 500.07 as 475. Cayth Hairlion. the same Hedog Boctius hath. 503. so that bishop Germane was dead long before that Ulter began to reign. In Deede some writers have noted that the third bataile which Mortiner fought against the Sarons, was, the fame wherin S. Germane was present, and produced the victorie with the crie of Alleluya, as before pe have heard, whiche fermeth to be more agreeable to a truthe; and to stand also with that which holie Bede hath wri= ned this land by the ful terme of 16. peres, e was 20 ten, touching the time of the beeing here of the fand German, than the opinion of other, whiche affirme that it was in the forme of the reigne of Ulter. The like is to bee founde in the relique of Heiroz Boetiushis booke, touching the tyme specially of the reignes of the Brytish kings that gouerned Bystaine aboute that feason. Hozas be affirmeth, Aurelius Ambzolius beganne his reigne in the years of our Lovde. 498. and ruled but feuen peres, and then succeded After, whiche: rece, but also in the order of things done, as in 40 reigned roil, yeres, and departed this life in the peare of our Lorde. 521.

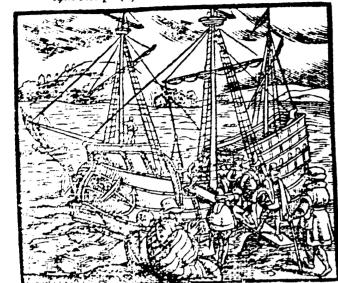

Alt here is to be remebied, that whatloeuer the British writers have recorded touching the victories of this Uter hav against & Saros. and how that Diea the some of Hengist should be flaine in battayle by him and his power: In those olde witters topiche haue registred the Airs of the Englishesaron kyings wie spinde no suche matter, but wee synde that after the descasse of Hengill, hys sonne Dica or Dcca repgned in Ofer onely, and not feeking to enlarge it (as before rupted copies is touched.)

129

After whose death his somme Oth, and Frmenrike sonne fo the same Dth succeeded, more: recemblying their father than their grandfather of greafe grandfather. To their reignes are affig= ned fiftie and tizze yeares by the Chronicles: but whether they reigned toyntely together; of feuerally a parte, eyther after other, it is not certapnly percepued.

But nowe to the incidentes whiche happened during the reigne of Elter Bendjagon, we fynde that one Pozth a Saron with his.ij. fonnes Se-

Port entred this land about theyere of our Lord. 50t. 23 Mith. V Volta motetb.

gla and Broa, came a lande at Port fmouth in Suller, ebout the beginning of the laybe Aters reigne and flewe a noble yong man of the Biy= tong, and many other of the meaner fogte with him. Efthis Porth the towne and hauen of Porteinwuth toke the name as fome have thou- Haifonfure uht. Moreour about.lr. yeres after the coming whee could of the Saxons into this lande with their leader wordeness Hengilt, one Paralcod, a mighte king amongst is the fal ciry the Britons, affembled all the power her coulde the feel make to fight with Carticus king of the Wellfarons, who understanding the greate power of his enimies, required ande of Dica King of Kent, also of Elle king of Suller, and of Borth and his fonnes whiche were lately before arrived to as ye have heard. Certicus being then furnithed with a convenient armie, devided the same into two batapls, referring the one to himself, and the other he appointed to his sonne Kenrike. King Pazalcod perceiving that the wing which Certicus ledde was of moze firength than the other whiche Kenrike gouerned, he fet fyglt bpon Criticus, thinking that if he might diffresse that part of the chimics armic, he should casily ours-20 come the other.

Herebpon he gaue luch afferce charge bipoir that wing that by pure force he opened the fame, and so outrel zew the Sarons on that fide, making great flaughter of them as they were fratered, the whiche maner of dealing when Kenrike fame, he made forwarde with all fucco, to fuccos his father, and rulling in amongst the Bay tons en their backs, he brake their arinte in pecces, and The Brytone flew their king Pajalcod, and with all put his 40 and his sonne Benrike at Certicestozde, where people to flight.

There died of the Baytons that baye. b. Sp. Mat. Preft. men and the relidue eleaped by fleeing as wel as

Stuff and VVI-

Hen. Hunt. ther might. In the vi.veare after this battaple Stuff and Riam Vven Wilghtgar, piwere nephu es to Errticus, came north the yere with three flippes, and landed at Errticelie flioze, and ourrthich a number of Britons that came againste them in order of battaple, and fo by the comming of those his nephews being right 50 valpant and bardic capitaines the part of Certis cus became unuch Aronger. About the fame time Elle king of the Southlarons beparted this lyfe, after whome fucceeded his fonne Ciffa, of whom wee fynde little lefte in waiting to bee made ace compte of.

About the years of our Loids, 519, and in the H.Hunt. grare after the commyng of the Sarens. 71. Brytons outr-whyche was in the .ribj. years of the Emperor Inaltallus, the Byytons fought with Certicus the Captagnes of the Byytons stode to it man= fully: but in the cube they were disconifyted, and greate flaughter was made there of them by the Sarons, and greater had bene,if the nyghte comming on, had not parted them, and fo many were laued.

From that daye fortwards Certicus was res The kingdom puted and taken by king of Wicalifaron, and of Vertical so the same kyngdome at that tyme, whyche was as Harrison noteth it (whose ogderly proeccoping in this behalfe, for the accountpte of tyme, giueth greate lyght to our historie) the peare of Chriffe fine hundred and ninteene : after the burloing of Rome, a thoulande, two hundred and fenentic, of the worlde, foure thous faute foure hundled enghtie and fine : of the commyng of the Sarons feuentie: of Juffinus Inicius Engeroure of the Calle, the forte

Arthur

After the decease of Alter Pendragon (as we

and thirde of the renomined painer Patricius Arthurus then reggnyng ouer the Beptapines. The layd kingdom allo conterned the countrais of Willethire, Somerfetthere, Berkeffire, Dozfifippee, Deuonchire, and Cornewall, hauing on the Cast Hamshire, on the Porth the riner of Thanks, and on the South and Wealt the D. tranfea: Howbeit at the first the kinges of the colcassfarons had not so large dominion, but 10 they dayly wanne grounde bpon the Brytons, to in the ende by enlarging their confines they same to sniop all the sayde countreps, and the miole at the last.

In the nynthe yeare of the reigne of Certirus, be eftlons fought with the Sarons at Certicelforde aforelayde, where great flaughter was ectediord. made on bothe partes. This Certicefforde was in times palt called Pazalcop of the late remem= bicd Pazalcod king of the Beptons.

> greate companies of the Sarous came ouer into Bitayne out of Germanie, and got polletli= on of the countreps of Mercie and Eaftangle: but as yet those of Mercie had no one king that governed them, but were bnoce certagne noble menthat got possession of divers partes in that countrey, by meanes wherof great warres and many encounters enfueb.

The kingdome of the Eaftfaxors.

those dayes also the kyngdome of the Erchen of was London It conteyned in effect to much as at this presente belongeth to the Diocesse of Wyn. London. Ine Erchenwyn a Saron was the The kingdom of the Ealting. fyell king thereof, the whiche was sonne to one our Dffa, the firte in lineall descent from one Sar= Aboute this feason at fundry tymes dynerse 20 not, from whom the kings of that countrey fetthed their originall.

> Harifon noteth the eracle peare of the crection. of the kingdom of the Eastlaxons to begin with the end of the eight of Cerdicius Ik. of the West # facous that is the 527.0f Christe, and 78 safter the committed of the Sarons. I give the

In the. rill. peare of the reigne of Cerdicius, be with his fonne Kenrike, and other of the Baron capitaring fourth with the Bertons, in the Ille of Wight at Wikgarcebzioge, where thep Liwe a greate number of Bytons, and is conquered the File, the whiche aboute fouce peaces after, was ginen by Cerdicius unto bys nephuce Stuff and Witgar.

Arthure.

finde in the Butfile histories, his forme Isthur. a point towardly Bentleman; of the age of. to. pearrs, or thereboutes, began his reigne ouer the 25 sitons in the pere of autiliza. sid. of as soath. dolett bath, 5:7.41 g. 26, pere of the empero: Ana - Mach. v venfalibe s in the ill yere of the teignes of Thibe = hatknoted yis. bert, Ciothate, Elevamire, Throbozik bicifice. b were kings of the Frenchme. Of this Ithoure many frings are writer bryond credite, for that there is no ancient author of authoritie that to= 50 Beineth the linne: But weely as may beenought he was fome worthis man, and by all likely hoo a great entinie to the Sarons, by reason wheref she delicichemen which are the very Beyton in Deed have bith in famous reinebrance Defoumbt as the common report of him goeth, rif. notable bataples against the Sarons, and in curry of them wente awaye with the victorie. But pet her myghte not biterlye depute them oute of the lande, but that they kepte still the countreys whiche they had in pollellion, as Kent, South= rev. Porthfolke, and others: howbeit some wri= ters teflifie, that they helde these countrepes as tubutaries to Irthure. But trouth it is (as dy= uers authours agree, that hee helde continuall marre agapust them, and also agapust the Pictes, the whiche were alped wyth the Sarons: For as in the Scottishe histories is conterned, euen at the fyzste beginning of hys reigne, the two kings of Scottes and Pides leemed to enuic hys aquauncemente to the crowns of Bry= tayne, bycause that they had marped the two fosters of the two bathgen, Aurelius Ambzo= fius, and Elter Pendragon, that is to witte, Loth kong of Pickes hadde marped Anne they? eldelt folter, and Conran kong of Scottes had in marpage Alva they? ponger filter, so that bi= cause Arthur was begot out of wedlocke, they thoughte it stode wyth more reason, that the kyngdome of the Baytons Mould have descen= ded but o the fifters sounces rather than to a ba= starve, namely Loth the Pistille king, whyche had iffue by his wyfe Anna, foze repined at the matter: and therefore at the fyrst when he sawe that by suite he coulde not preuaple, hee iopned in league with the Sarons, and appling them egaynste Arthure, loste many of his menne of warre being ouerthrown in battagle, which he had fent bnto the luccours of Colgerne the Saron Prince that ruled as then in the north partes. But frnallye a league was concluded betmute Arthur and the fozelapde Lothe kong of Pittes, byon certain conditions, as in the Scotuffichillogy is expressed, where ye may read the lame, with many other things touching the airs of Arthure, formewhat in other opper, then our mriters have recorded.

The Britillic authors declare, that Arthure inimediately after he had recepted the Crowne of Dubrighte Billioppe of Caerlkon, wente with his power of Biptons against the Sarons of Porthumberlande, whiche had to their Capitanne, as befoze is layde, one Colgrime oz Colgerne, whome Arthure discomsited and cha= fed into the Citie of Pozke, within which place Yorke bife. Arthur besieged him, til at length the same Col= grime escaped out of the Citie, and leaning it in charge with his brother called Bladuiffe palled Cheldrike : ouer into Germanie buto Cheldzike kyng of methin 272 of Colgring. that Country, of whome he obtepno fuccozs, fo that the layde Cheldrike made provilion of menne and Hippers, and came hymiette ouer in- Math. UVet. to Scotlande, hauing in his company. rb. huns hath bur, va dred fayles of one and other.

Withen Arthur was aduertised thereof, he rep= fed his fiege, and withdrewe to London, anding letters with all speece buto Howell king of little Bzitapne in Fraunce, that was his liters fonnestrequiring hom in molte earnelt wyle of ayde. Howell incontinentely affembled hys of British co prople, to the number of rothoulands men, and methousin taking the lea, landed with them at Southamps and of Arther fon, where Arthure was ready to recepue hym with great love and gladnelle. From thencether drewe Porthewardes, where both the hollis of Arthur and howell beging affembled together. marched foremarde to Lyncolne, whiche Citie Thelozike did as then beliege.

Herre Arthur and Howell allapling the barong with greate force and manhode, and at lengthe after greate flaughter made of the enimires, their oftenned the victoria, and chafed Chelogyke with the resource of the Sarons that were lefte alpue) buto a woode, where they compassed them aboute within the same, nerthouses in suche wyle, that in the ende they were cons barryle. Aregned to reclos themselves, with condition that they inguite bee fulfred to departe a fact to their Alippes, and so anoyde the lande, leauping there hoele, armour, and other furniture bato the Birtons.

Deerebpon the Brytons taking gwo holfages for affuraunce permitted the Sarons to go their ways, and to Chelozike and his people got them to they? thippes, in purpose to returne into their countrey: but being on the leasthey were forced by wynde to chaunge they? course, and to comming on the coastes of the Wieast partes of Britapne, they arrived at Tomelic, and contrarpe to the concusuated articles of they latte composition with Arthurs, inuade the country of newe, and taking futh annur as they would fonde, marched forth in robbing and foogling the people, til they came to Baths, which towns the Bertons kepte and defended agaynst them, not fuffeying them by any meanes to enter there, Bathe belieged mherebopon the Saxons environed it with a Arong liege.

Arthur enfourmed hereof, with all speede has fled thether, a ginyng the enimies battaple, flew the moste parte of Chelozikes men.

Chere were flanne both Colgrime and Blas vulff, howbeit Chelozike himselfe fled out of the helde towardes his thippes, but beeing pursued by Cador Earle of Cornewall (that had with inin. r.thousande men) by Arthures appointe= ment, he was overtaken and in fight flagn with all his people.

Arthur himselse retourned from this battaple foughten at Baths with all speece towardes the marches of Scotlande, for that he hadde recepund he ued aduertisement, howe the Scottes had belicyed howell kying of Baptayne there, as hee lare licke.

Also when Cadoz had accomplished his en= terpzyle and flapne Thelderike, hee retourned with as muche speede as was possible towardes Arthure, and founde him in Scotlande, where he restaued Howell, and afterwards pursued the se Scottes which fled before him by heapes.

Ibout the same tyme one Guillomer king of Irrland arrived in Scotlande with a myghtie power of Frillymen (neare to the place where Ar= thur lodged) to healpe the Scottes agapulte the Britons: wherepon Arthur turning his forces towardes the same Guillomer, banquilled him, and chased him into Frelande.

This don, he cotinued in purlute of the Scats til he caused the to sue for parcon, and to lithmit themselves wholly to him, and so receiving them to mercie, and taking homage of them, het returned to Porke, and fliortly after twice to waste Guenever. one Guenhera a right beautifull Lady, that was neere kinswoman to Cador Erle of Commall.

In the yeare folowing, which harilon noteth VVII. Harrison 40 to be:525. he went into Irelande, and discomfis notethis to be ting king Buillomere in battaple, hee confrayned him to pelde, and to acknowledge by bound his featite to holde the realme of Ireland of him.

It is further remembred in those Brittibe hi= flories, that hee suboued Butlande and Iceland Gothlande; with all the Illes in and about those leas.

Also that hee overcame the Romaines in the countrey aboute Parys with they? capitagne Lucius, and walted the moste parte of all Fraunce, and llewe in spngular combates cer= tapne Grauntes that were of pallying force and bugenesse of stature.

And if he had not bene renoked home to reall. his cousin Mozozed that was son to Loth king of Pigitlande that revelled in his countrep, he had passed to Bome, intending to make himselfe Emperour, and afterwarde to banquillethe other Emperoure, that then ruled the Empire? but for so muche as there is not anye appropri f.tif.

ued authour bothe fprake of any fuche boings, the Britons are thoughte to haue registred mere fables in stede of true matter, opon a vapue defire to advance more than reason woulde, thes Arthur they woble champion, as the Frenchemen haue done by their Roulande, and others. But to proceede.

At his returne into Bzitapne, he founder that Mordred had caused himselfe to be made kong, land minkethe ron, not hom whome Galfride (as pee haue heard.) supposeth to have ben saine befoze, was readic to relift his landing, so that before he could come a lande, he lost many of his men: but yet at lengthe her repulsed the enimies, and so twke lande at Sandwiche, where he fpafte arrived: and then torning in battaple with his enimies, difcomfitted them, but not without great loffe of his people: specially her soze lamented the death of Gawayn the brother of Mordred, whyche lyke 2 a farthfull gentleman, regarding more his ho= nour and loyall truthe than nearenesse of bloud and confinage, chose rather to fight in the quarell of his liege king and louing mailter, than to take parte with his naturall brother in an bn= just cause, and so there in the battaile was slapn, together also with Angustell, to whome Arthur afore tyme had committed the governmente of Scotland. Mordred fled from this battaple, and getting flippes, fayled Wellwarde, and fy-nally landed in Coznewall.

Tking Arthur cauled the copps of Galwayn to Garvan base be burped at Douer, (as some holde opinion:) But Willyam Malmelburie supposeth, be was buryed in Wales, as after thall be thewed:

The dead bodie of Anguy stell was conveyed into Scotlande, and was there buryed.

After that Arthur hadde put his enimics to flight, and had knowledge into what part 9902= dred was withdrawne, with all speede he reen= Rather Cer- and hauing alyed himself with Cheldzike a Da- 10 fozced his armie with newe supplyes of souldiours called out of divers parties, and with hys whole puissaunce, halted fozwarde, not resting tyll hee came neere to the place where Mordico was encamped, with suche an Irmipe as hee coulde assemble togither oute of all such parties where he had any frendes.

Here (as it appeareth by John Leylande, in his boke entitled. The Affertion of Arthure,)it may be doubted in what place Mordred was en= camped: but Beffrey of Monmouthe Meweth. that after Arthure hadde discomspted Mozden in Kent at the first landyng, it chaunced so that Mozdzed escaped, and fledde to Allpnchester, whyther Arthure followed hym, and theregy= upng hym battaple the seconde tyme, didde al= to put hym to flyght. And following him from thence, foughte eftelwnes with hym at a place called Camblan, or Kemelene in Cornewall, (of as some Authours have neere buto Blatten-

This battaple was foughte so to the otte-Richard To rance, that finally Holdred was flarne, with the more parte of his whole armie, and Arthur receruping diners mortall woundes dued of the fame shortly after, when he had reigned over the Butons by the terme of rrvi peaces. his coms was burred at Glastenburre aforesards, in the Churche parde, betwirte two pillers: whereit was founde in the dayes of kying himry the feconde, about the years of our Lorde. 1191. which was in the laste peare of the reigne of the same Henry, more than fire hundred yeeres after the buryal therof. he was layd, rby, fort deepe bnder grounde, for doubte that his enimies the Sarons Moulde haire founde hom. But those that via= ged the grounde there to fynde his bodye, after they had entred aboute seven forte deepe into the earth, they founde a myghtle broade stone with a leaden croffe fallned to that parte whiche lays countraides towards the coths, countlinking in the color and this inscription.

The Historie of England.

Hic ince Copulining Control 182 intufula venalapianini of in author

The inicipiton was granen on that from of the Cross which was ninuo the stands be than till the Crollowas takin biomilihe flower it inied for went: wis body titer foldering encloses within a teache of the edition of the edition of ly wrought, but within a gradic treemans boils iom for the normal pieca dramke, the whych had ing founde am vidden ibit, was warned tung therein were founds this kyange bones, of fuels maruellous biquelle, that the thirmebone of his legge being fetre on the grotings, reached up to the middle thighe of a ryghte tall manne: Is a Monke of that Abbey hath witten, whyche div 20 offich tefferredalentia munera veffre. houe in those dayes, and same it. But Girale dus Cambienlis, whyche also lyned in thais dayes, and spake with the Abbot of the place, by whome the boards of thes Arthure were then founde, affirmetly, that by reporte of the fame Abbotte, hee learned, that the thinne boars of the land Arthur being lette up by the legge of a very tall manne, (the whiche the Abbot fliewed to the fame Giralous) came about the knee of the fame man the length of three. Engers breadth; which ?? is a greate beate moze lokely than the other. The skull of his head was also of a wonderfull largenesse, so that the space of his forheads betwirt his two eyes was a fpanne bypade: There appeared in his heade the fignes and paintrs of tenne wounder or moe: Ill the whyche were growen into one wening, excepte onely that whereof it flould freme her docd, whiche beyag greater than the relidue, appeared bery playmen Ilso in openying the Conibe of his wyse queene 40 Suchera, that was burred with hym, they founds the treffes of his haire whole and parket, and funcly platted, of colour lyke to the burntthen golde, the whiche beeing touched, inimest atly fell to duste. The Abbotte, whyche there was gourmour of the house, hyght Stephan, or Henrick die Deutry de Bloos, otherwook de Sullie, nephew the few so- to king henry the fecond (by whole commanns demente he hadde fearthed for theigrane of Iri Leland. thure' translated the boanes as well of him as so of Queene Gueneuer, beying to founde, into the greate Churche, and there burged them in a farge bomble Tombe of Marble, taying the box due of the kong at the head of the Combe, and the bodye of the Queene at his feete towardes the wealt parts.

John Lelande in his booke entitled Affertie Anthuri, hath for the worthie memorie of in mobiga prince, honored him with a learned Epuaph, as heere followeth, Tulenspielesteites qui fudit marte cruente Finding bei en Pidit genentede enfe. 1116 5/15 Timpolaite inquin staint iniciolina ingenes fruit our aubulus Callor, Acodonit and ferecets orice. Planting on Warmbellas and Trapers of the Denistanuralization schooling in fatty ilinduorn is or file state and ing the Roman fearing to retain Moviged pupilin flie and no contact a contact al the of M. Destanding in the conference of the conferenc Cloria nun bentius rentam ional mandata ampane mit Us other of posit fablimid sells to manthes stuars pros igicar genera pelles general a Birchanel Induperatori Betimagna officegine Reffer, 1101 lifer Et timbila fumé es ais defente totalles; ic libraries and entire and interne

Thefe beiles I have the more willyingly in ferted, for that I have the same velluerco to mee turned atto Englishe by: nimiter Nicholas Rolcarock, both eight aptiportising the fense, a also properly suncorring the Latine, week wifwerle.

Who wanguishe Saxon troupes, with battayles blowdie broyles.

And purchaste to hymieste a reame with warlyke

weakhie spoyles,

Who hath with shivering thining swords, the Picts fo oft dismayde,
And cke vn weldie serus voke on neck of Scots hath layde:

VVho Frenchmen pufft with pride, & who the Germaines fierce in fight

Discomfitted, and daunted Davies with maying and martiall might:

VVho of that murdring Mirdred did the vital breath expell,

That monther grilly lothlom, huge, that direlom tyrant fell.

Here byueleffe Arthur lies entombde, within this stately hearle.

Of chivalrie the brighter renoume, and vertues nurllyng fierce: Prhole glorie great, nowe ouer all the world

doth compaffe flye, the same and And of the ayry thunder skales, the loftie buylding hye. Therfore you noble progenie of Brytayne lyne and race, Aryle vido your Emprour great, of theyce re-

โกคุรกันเกลีย (สมโปล) nonmed grace,

And calle whom his facted tombe, the roleal gard latides gaye; for a near the half the That fragrant friell may withelle well, your duties you dilplay,

The occasion that moned kying henry the leconducto cause his nephew the sapo Abbotte to searche for the grave of kyng Arthur was, for that hee understwoe by a Welcher minstrell oz Barde as they call him) that coulde fing manye histories in the detelebe language of theads of the aunciente Bertonn's that in the forelande Churchryarpe at Glassenburge, beimirte the lande two pillers the bodye of Arthur westo grounder Bridding Earnbierlisaffirmeth, that the tree in the whoche Arthuis bodie was founde to unioko, was an obe, but other tuppole, that it was an albor tree dycaule that in the lanc places great humber of that kynde of trees doe grows, and also for that it is knowns, that an Alex lying but grounds where moreture is: will long continue without rotting.

By the funding thus of the bodie of Arthure to beleeved that he was not dead, but convered As for expire to away by the Fairies into some pleasaunt place, and there where the floude remagne till a tyme, and then los a Carbo to returne wayne, and reigne in as great authotype engere be einen nueuer be tiede befoge, miglite wellhetreine should "spear themselves decerned in crediting to harve a famed, till and the: but pet (where it mirghte otherwyle be doumould be from tid whether any luche Arthur was at all, as the Bertiffe billogies mencion, vicaule nerther Eilof hom it mave appeare, the circumstainness confidered, that furthy fuche one there was of that name hardle and Valiaunt in armes, though not in diners pointes to famous as some wie fere paint him out.

William Malmelburica weiter of gwo cretite and auchopitic amongest the learned hathe thefewordes in his syrfte boke entitled Te region plyglainm, laying But he being deadinea= fichic, the ir decapte hope went backewaide as pace: and even then furtly hadde they gone to Deftruction, if Ambrolius (whiche alone of the Romann's remarked ret alrue, and was king after Cortinerne) havde not kepte buder, and flaved the loftye Zarbarous people, that is to meane the Sarons, by the notable appe and affistaunce of the valiaunt Irthur.

This is the fame Erthur, of whome the fritailfally doe beseance and reporte wounders: but worthe was he doubtlesse of whome feigned fallis Coulte not have so decamed, but rather that time Ciftones meghte haue lette forth bes h. withre prarks, as bethat ord for a long leafor full evil and holde up has Equatrey that was readic to goe to utter rupne and decave, encouraging the bold; hearts of the Byptons onto the waire, and finally in the flore of Badon holl, her lette boppen none hundred of the mis miven, and with incumble flangister biddeputte them all to flighte.

Enthe contrarge parte, the Englishe Sarous, althoughe they were tolled with fundage happes of Fortune, yet still they reduce they? bandes topth mine family exof their country = menne that came out of seconary, and to with bee founded urped ficteune fote despe huberthe 10 bolder courage affarheir their eneroliss, and be little and little causing the moto gime place, force thermiolness our extre whole Hie. For althougher their were manuschaften les in the whiche Comes trint the Secons and forneryme the Brytons got the better, per theoreater number of Sarour that was dayne if the greater number of them fill came outer to the furtour of their course treputer being called in and fente for out of enes formanter about thempore buryed as before ye have heard) fuche as hither 20 of hire is allo to bemoted, that where the Brid tilbe billozie declauth, that Gamen or Gallos Will being flavne in the battavle foundic bes fwirte Arthure and Morozonin Kent, was bus forth at Doner , to that his beanes temagned Gavean who there to be thewed belong time after: pet lip that he is buryed, whytin the forefarte Willyam Mahnetharpe writerbin the thirds bake of his kolumeentis tilled Deregibus Janglorum, the contrarieman feture true : his woodoes are thefe. Then clayth Das not Werda in their wordes sprake any thrng 30 ht) in the province of deleles, whiche is called list derigi-Rolle, the sepulture of Wallaryne was founde. bus. the whyche was niephue to Arthur by his filter. not going out of kind from so worthy an buck. Herrigned in that part of Britaine whiche buto this daye is called PValuithia, at nighte for bys high pickes most tigtly renounce, but ervul= Ad out of his kingcome by the brother a nephets of Permill, of whome in the firste boke we have made mention, fielde requiting his banifijemente ming Clorimer) the loger of the Britons wared 40 with greate betrimente and loffe to those his enfmits, wherein he was partaker by fuffe. deferte of his buckes worthy praise, for that he staped for a great many peres, the destruction of his countrey which was now running holong into better ruine and decap. But Arthurs grave no where apprartith: but the others tombe (as I hanc fayde) was founde in the dayes of William the Conquetoz king of England, bron the fee live, and contenued in length fourtene fæte, where he was fling tales of the Butons such to this day fan= 50 (as some say wounded by his enimics, and cast by by hipwisck. Butother write, that he was flapue nt a publike feaste or banket by his owne countrepmen. Thus hathe William Malmesterpe.

But here you mufte confider, that the laybe Malmelburie departed this lpfe about the beginnyng of the reigne of kyng Henry the feconde, errague peres befoze the boanes of Arthur were found as before ye have hearte. A stand linge

But now to locak fortwhat of queene Burns bria of Edirmeber, loine inogenhat We wolkelle name of hir excellent beautie, by ronde Budumt o: Guenic in the Welth toung lignitiet finese fo that the was named Bilemige of rather Giffs Ileani euen (as pou wold lapy tho faire op branty= full Leonoze of Pelene. Shewas beknahrterin the house of Cador Carle of Ovenewalli before Arthur maryed hir sand as at appeareth by walk io ters, the was emill reported of as noted of medile tinencic and breache of faith to his husbande in forte as for the more parte women of excellence brautic hardly cleape the benimous blaft of mill toungs, and the tharpe affaultes of the followers. of Elenus. The Bzitille hillogie affirmeth that flic did not onely abute hir felfe by bulawfull co panying wyth Mordred, but that also in Ir-

It is lykewyle founde recorded by an olde 20 wepter, that Arthure belieged on a tyme the marithes necre to Blastenburye, for displeasure that he bare buto a certapne Lozde that hyghte ledde hir into those Marshes, and there drode keepe hir. Hir cozps notwithstanding (as be= foreisrccited) was enterred togyther wyth Arthurs, so that it is thought the lined not long afterhis deceasse.

Arthur had two wpues, as Giraldus Cams 30 tunlis affirmeth, of whiche the latter (fayth bee) was burged with hym, and hir boanes founde with his in one Sepulchze, fo beuided yet, that two partes of the Combe towardes the heads were appointed to recepue the bones of the man, and the thyper parte towardes, the feete, conterned the womans boanes, a parte by them

Herre is to bee remembred, that Hedor Boes tius warteth orhample of the death of Arthure 40 than before in thes boke is mencioned, and als so that Summere beeyng taken paysoner by the Pictes, was conveyed into Scotlande, where fynally fice dyco, and was thereburged in Angus, as in the Scottiffe Chronicle further ap-

Ind thes may be true, if he hadde there fundipe writes, ethe of them bearing the name of Cuenhere, as fir John Price both auouche that

Bycause of the contrarictie in wayters touthing the greate actes atchieuco by this Arthur, and allo log that some difference there is amongelf them, aboute the tyme in whyche he foods right, many have voubted of the truthe of the twhele historic whyche of hym is written (as befoge pre haute hearde.)

The Britishe hillogies and Alo the Scottishe Chronicles doe agree, that he lyned in the days of the Emperour Justinian, about the fifteenth years of whole reigne her dyed, whiche was in the yeare of oure Loide, 542, as Karrison also confirmeth. Howebeit some waite farther from alllykelyhoode, that he was aboute the tyme of the Emperor Zeno, who began his reign about the reate of our Lozd. 4744

The witter of the bobe intitled Aurea biforia altimeth, that in the tenth peare of Cerois Anrea bis cus king of Wealt Sarons, Arthur the War= foria. riout role amongest the Bentons. Also Diabin- Leland. nensis weiteth, that Cervicius fegbtyng often. tymes with Irthur, if he were overcome in one moneth, he cole in an other moneth moze fierce and frong to gine battaple than before.

At lengthe Arthure awearged with geklom- VVeillenon. thurs ablence, the confented to take him to but nelle, after the twelfth years of the comming of Cervicius, gaue bnto him bpon his homage don and feaultie recepted the flyges of Southampton and Somerfet, the whiche countrey's Cerdicius named Wefffaren.

This Cervicins or Cervitus came into Bis Melua: whiche hadde ranished Guennere and __ tayne aboute the peare of oure Lotte 4 93. and rring, pereafter his commung hither, that is to witte, about the years of our Heave, 5.9, he bes ganne his reigne ouer the Wiest Sarons, and governed them as kying by the space of, the year res, as before pe haue heard.

But to followe the course of oure Chronis cles accordingly as we have beguine, we muste allowe of their accompte herein as in other places, and so viocecde.

In this means whyle that the Realms was disquicted with soze and continuall warres betwirte the Brytons and Sarous, (as before you have hearde) the chailtian religion was not only abolified in places where the Sarons got habitations, but also amongst the Britons, the ryght faithe was broughte into daunger by the The herefie of remnaunt of the Pelagian herefye whiche be= the Pelagians ganne agayne to be broched by dyucrs naughfie reuted > persones. But Dubritius that Hist. May. was fyelle Bi- David learned Moppe of Lan. Bushops.

datte, and aftet Archbillioppe of Carricon Ir. wike, and hos fuccessoure I atid, with other terned men carnessly ebothe by vicaching and writing defended the confrarys saule, to the confuting of thole crrours, and rece stablishing of the truth.

that thoulde Tyake them.

Corie

3-3

Affer the death of Arthur, his coulin Collans titue the son of Cadoz, duke of earle of Coins wall beganne his reigns over the Brytayus, in peare of our Lorde: 442. whiche was shoute the.rb. yeare of the Emperone Julinianus almoll ended, the. 29 of Chikocheri &, of Fraunce, and the first years welners complete of the reigne of Totilas kyng of the Gothes in Italy.

542

Irthur when he percequed that he Mould dye, Galfrid. ordepned this Constantine to incecede bim, and Mar. Prist to by the confent of the moze parte of the Bip. to tons, he was crewned kyng: but the formes of Poloted forerepined thereat, as they that clays med the rule of the land by infle title and clayme of inheritannee to them from they? father des Herrepon followed civill warre, to that Dy= uers bataples were fricken betwene them, and in the ende the two brethren were constrayned to withdrawe for refuge, the one to London, and the other to Winchester : but Constantine pur= 30 scroing them, fielle came to Wignehester, and by force entred the Citie, and Actor the one brother that was fledde thyther within the churche of Sainge Implubalus: And after commyng to Tondon, entred that Citic allo, and findying the other brother within a Churche, there flewe hum in lyke mance as he had done the other. Ind foll aming dispatched his aductfaries, he thoughte to have purchased to himselfe safetie : but shoztly after, his own kinfman, one Turelius Conanus 40 aircared waire against him, who forming with him in battaile, ferwhim in the field, after he bad ragned foure yeares. His body was conneped to Stouchenge, and there burged belyde his auncestour Elter Pendragon.

Of this Constantine that scemeth to be ment whiche Eildas writeth in his twke entitled De excides Imeannia, where mucying agayuste the rulers of the Beytons in his tyme, bee weiteth

Bitayn hath kings, but the same be tyzants: Zunges it hath, but they be wicken, oftentymes pilling and barmyng the innocent people, reuenging and desending, but whome? suche as bee giltie persons and robbers. Haning many wy= ues, but get breakging woolocke: Eftentymes forcaring and yet forfwearing thensidues : bos wing, and fot the mote parte lying : Warring, but maynteynyg civill and bniuft warres, purfuyng in ocede therues that are almoade in the countrepe, and yet not onely cherillying those that fitte euen at table with them, but also highly rewarding them : giving almes largely, but on the other pacte heaping op a myghtie mount of lynnes : Sitting in the leate of lentence, but schoon seeking the rule of rightuous indgement: despising the innocent and humble persons, and exalting to farre as in them lyeth, ruen op to the heaucis, the bloudy and proud murtherers, thees ues and adulterers, yea the breye expelle enis mies of 200, if he woulde so permitte : kerping many in wilon, whom they oppethe in longing them who mous through crafte, rather to ferue their owns purpose, than for any guilte of the perform for impaironed : taking folenme other as fore the enitary, and wortly after, despiling the fame a. tres as vile and filthic flones, of whiche beynous and wicked offence, Constantine the typannicall whelpe of the Lyonelle of Deuonflure, to not ignorat, who this yeare after thererepuing of this operatfull othe whereby he bounde himfelf that in no wife he flould hurt his subice 50 frs. (Bod fyelt, and then big othe, with the companie of Samues, and his mother beeing there presente) did notwithsfanding in the renerente laps of the two mothers, as the Church, etheir carnall mother, under the coule of the holy 36botte, devoure with freque and weare in fread of teeth, the tenoer fides, rea and the entrays les of two circloten of noble and kyingly race, and likewise of their two gournours, pea and The Historie of England.

that (as I laybe) amongelt the lacrev aultares: the armes of whyche persones so slavne, not firetched fouth to defend themselves with weapons) the whyche fewe in those dayes hands led more valyauntly than they) but Arctched forth I fave to God and to his altare in the dare of Judgemente, Chall lette buithere reuerente ensignes of their pacience and favth at the gates of the Citie of Chailfe, whyche fo haue were with the redde mantell-of their cluttered

Ind thefe thinges he didde not after any god needes done by hym deferupha praple: for ma= me yeares before overcome with the often and chaungeable fylthes of adulterie, forlakyng his lawfull wyfe contrarve to the Lawes of God sc. her nowe broughte forthe thys cryme of quellyng hys owne kinfemenne, and violatyng fnares of his former empls, he encrealeth the new with the olde.

Thus in effecte hathe Gildas weitten of thys Constantine with moze, for tourning his tale to him by way of calling to hym, he reproueth him of his faultes, and counselleth hom to repente.

Conanus,

After that Aurelius Conanushad 30 thall be reherfed. Clapin the for= layo Constá= tine, as in the Britist histo= nics is mécio= ned, the same Conan was Imade king of Bitayn in the yeare of our Lozd. 546.11 the.20. perc of y emperoz Julinianus, in the ... of the 40 reigne of Chiloeberte king of the Frenchmen.

Thys Aurelius Conamus (as is recorded by fome writers) was of a noble hearte, free, and liberall, but given muche to the mayntenaunce of strife and discorde amongst his people, lyghte of credite, and namely had an open care to reccine and heare the reportes of fuche as accused Mozeover, hee was noted of crueltie, as hee that twice his bucle, who of righte Moulve haue so Belbicius and the tenth from Moon, entronce bene kyng, and kepte hymr in pzylon, and not lo fatilifyed, flewe in typannous manner the two wwes Connes of his layde bucle. But God woulde not luffer hym long to enloye the rule of the lande in suche bniust dealyng, for he dyed after he habde reigned the space of two yeares, and left a sonne behynde hyni called Clostipozus, which luccecded him in the kingdons, as authours do record.

Of this Aurelius Conanus Gildas weiteth, calling buto him after he hath made an end with his predecellor Coltantin, in this wife, faying: And thou Lyons whelpe, as layeth the Prophet, Aus relius Conanus what doelf thou? arte thou not fivallowed up in the fylthic myze of murthering thy kinfemen, of committying fornications and adulteries lyke to the other before mencioned, if not more deadlye? as it were with the wacoucred the feate of the Celestiall facrifice, as it 10 ues and furges of the denching seas, onerwhelmyng thee wyth hir bumercyfull rage? Doelf thou not in hating the peace of thy countrey as a deadly terpente, and thirllyng after civill warres and spoyles, (oftentymes briustly gotten) Mutte by againste thy soule, the gates of celestiall peace and refreshement? Thou being lefte alone as a wytheryng tree in the myddle of the fielde, call to remembraunce, I praye thee, the bayne pouthefull fantaly and overtymely death the Churche, but neyther being lewled from the 20 of thy fathers and thy bretherne : Malte thou be= ing lette a parte, and cholen footh of all thy ly= nage for thy godly desertes, bee reserved to line an hundled years, of remains on earthe toll thou becasolde as Mathulalem? Pono. And after these reprehesions, with further thret= nyngs of Gods vengeaunce, he exhorteth him to amendemente of life, and to proceedeth to talke with Mostiposus, whome he nameth the kyng, or eather the tyraunt of Southwales, as after

> The beginning of the kingdom of Brenitia.

IP the yeare of oure Ida. about the firste peare of __547. the reggne of Aureling H. Hune. Comanus, the kingdom of Brenitiz be of Bzenitia began vn = gaune. der a Saron ruler there called Ida, the whiche bescended of adtoben, for where y same Mooen had three sonnes,

Welderius, Withlegris, and Beldegins, of the firste, the kings of Rente were lyneally ertraited: of the seconde the kings of Mettiniend of the thirde conne came the kings of directiars on, and also of him was this Ida descended, being the nynth in lineall succession from the says

The fame Ida was budoubtedly a right hos ble personage, and chaunged fyzit that disterour into a kyngdome, where before that tyme the Sarous that ruled there, were subjectes winto the kings of Kente. Withtische toke won him of his owne accord to blampe the kingly ittle and royall authoritie, or whether that the force was given to hym by confent of wher the certagnitie

Contratine flayac.

Cilde

epeareth not. But sureit is, that he beyng a worthie Prince, Diode nothing degenerate from his noble auncestours invincible in warre a= brode and at home, qualifying his kingly feueritie with a certagne naturall kinde of curteous humanitie. The boundes of his kingdome calko(as is said) Becnitia, began in the south at the riner of Tyne 4 emded in the Porth at the Forth in Scotland, in the Biptilly tong called VVerd. The kingdome of Deira beginneth.

551. The beginning of the kingdom of Deux.

Ella.

4 Boute the Lanie time, 02 rather about 14. perren after (as Parrylon fauth) one El= la a Saron al= so reraned as king in Drira, whyche kyng= 20 doine beganne at the saidery=

ner of Tyne in the Porth, and ended at the ris ner of Hüber toward the louth. Thele two king. bomes were cometime gouerned by two feuerall kings, and afterwards at other times they were torned in one, and governed by one onely king, and named the kingdome of Porthumberland. the whiche in proces of tyme was muche enlar= ged, fo that it included the thires of Popke, Patingham, Derby, Lancalter, the Billiopzike of 10 Durham, Copland, and other countreps which lye betwirt the east and the west seas even buto the ryuer of Merfee. The fozelayd Ella was fon to Istus, being bescended from Wooden, as the The river of rij in fuccettion from him, though not by righte lyne, as Will Malmelbury Lath noted. Joa (as the same Walmesbury Dothe tellifie) reigned.14. peares.

And Ella, which was fuccessour to Ica (as he fayeth) reigned thirtie yeares, and right baliant= ly enlarged his kingdome. But one author wrif Mat. Preff. teth howe Ida reigned but. rij. yeares, and that he buyloed the Castell of Bamburc, firste fencing it with pales, and after with a wall of ffonc.

H.Hunt.

The same Joa havby his write fixe sonnes, beaot in lawfull bedoc, Ada, Ebzic, Theodozic, Mat. Preil. Athelne, Ofmer, and Theofred. Mogeouer he begat of certaine concubines, which he kept fire baffaide fonnes, Dga, Aleric, Ettha, Dfbalde, Scroz, and Segother. These came altogether into this land, arrived at Memelburk with for= 05 tic finppes, as Matheus FF estmonasterienfis hath recezoid.

The partition of the kingdome of Porthumberlande chaunced after the deceale of Joa, as the fame Author lignifieth : for Ava the fonne of the forelaid Joa, lucceded tis father in the kingdom of Bernitia, reignyng therein seuen peares:and Clathe fonne of Hillria, a moll valiant Duke, began to gouerne Deira, as both the layd shat, Weltm. and other doe affirme.

Vortiporus.

Vortionne of Inrelius Conamus porus. fucceeded his fa= ther, and began to repane ouer the Butons, in the years of ours Lozde fine hun- Math. VVd thed sementic and fire, in the ele-uenth peare of the Emperoure flauius Inicius Austinus, in the fourthe yeare of the reigne of The Historie of England.

Shilderikeking of Fraunce, and in the fourth peare of Clephis the Gotille kinig in Ifaly!" This Clostiposus vangnithebthe Sakons in bataple, as the Britthe billories make mentien and valiantly defended his lande and lub= telles the Baptons, from the daunger of them sother their alies. In the tyme of this kyrigs reigne the fogelapoe Ella began to rule in the fouth parte of the kingdome of Porthumberlande called Deira, as befoze is mencioned, 10 according to the accopt of some authors, who allotake this Costipozus to begin his refane in the yeare. 548. Aynally after that Clorino. waven rus hadderuled the Bzitons the space of. iii. peares, he departed this lyfe, and left no iffne behynde him to succede him in the kinadome: Against whome also Gildas turning his tale beginneth with him thus: And why standest thou as one Carke amazed, thou (3 fav) Cloz= the Danther in manners and wickednelle, op= nertly spotted as it were with many colours, with thy hoze head in thy throne full of decept tes, craftes, and wyles, and befiled euen from the lowest part of thy bodie op to the crowne of the heade, with divers fundipe murthets committed in thyne owne kinne, and filthye adulteries, thus pronting a naughtie fonne of a god king, as Manaffes was to Esechias : finnes, which thou fwallowest by tyke pleafant wone og rather arte Deudured of them, (the ende of thy lyfe by little and little nowe diawing neere,) can not yet latisfye thre? Colbat meanelt thou that with fornication of all empls, as it were the ful heape, thyne owne wyfe beeing putte aware, and by bir boneffe beath voell cuppelle thy foult with a cerrapite burdeyn that can not bee audyded, of thene ther) the respons of the Dayes to the offence of Covanolo forth, exhacting him to repentaunce, myth admonitions taken oute of the Scriptures, bothe for his comforte and war-

If the circumstaunce of thes that Gilvas weiteth of Clostipozus bee marked, it mage bee perceyued, that Gettrey'of Monmouthe, and allo Matheweof Weffminster, the Mined in that they take bym to bee the fonne of Aurelius Conanus : and rather it mape bee gathered, that not onely the fame Airelins Conanus and Moztipozus, but allo Conffaiitinus, pea and Cuneglalus, and Magibeunus, of the whiche be also intreateth (as patrily Gall bre hercafter touched) liued, and teldned all at one tyme in seneralt partes of thes

Alle, and not as Monarken of the whole Bittithe natioli, but as rulers eche of them in his quarter after the manner asthe flate of Frelande bath bin in tymes palle befoze the countrey came under the Englille libiedion, il mie confecture herein doe not decepue me. 342.67

Frer the deceaste of Topffpozus, Malgo tipoins, the tyzaunt of Southwales, lyke to 20 Athat was nephewe to Airelius Conanus, Malgo. (as lome wilte) was made king of Biltayne, and began his reigne ouer the Beitons, in the Math. VVen. peare of our Low. 180 in the riv peere of the Emperoz Juftinian, and in the . 37 . peere of the reigne of Childerick King of the Frenchmen.

Chis Malgo is reporter to haue beene'the comelyell Bentleman in beautic and Mape of perfonage that was to be founde in thole days amongell all the Bigtons, and therewith of how chanceth it that the violente fireames of 30 a bolbe and hardie courage . Dee manfalle Gal. Mon. Defended the countrey which he had in goules nannce, from the malice of the Sarons, & lub. bued the out Alles, as Dekeneye and others. Burnotwithlfaving the novle qualities with the whiche his persone was abbined, pit hee spotted them all with the foult filthie spund be Sodomit, To that he fell into the hafreto of Mil mightie God, and being purined of the Bayons, recepued many ouerthiomes at their bailbulhamefall daughter? Confume not (Fping 40 des, as by the reporte of the Buglille witters is gathered mozeat largel Minallyt imfeit pee hab reigned fine yeeres and obbe monethenbes Departed this lyfe.

It leemeth that this Margo is tlamed by Math. Vver Bildas Maglocunus, the diffiche BHoar bet paft fine yeeres fore he fpeaketh of him, inutgeth acaltil one to his reigne, Cuneglalus, whom he troibheth, for thur de folovveth, alwarred both against Bor and man : Minite though other affine mat the God with grenous lins, as Hamely abulteris, reigned. 15. yeathour of the floures of hillories, are verey- so in foglaking the companie of this lauful wife, res. and keeping to concubine a felle of birs, thit havve professed chastitic : and agamitte min with materiall armovalle weapons, whielfe bee vled fo the villeuftionol bis ownt egint trepnien, with whome bekepe warres, alio not againft the enimies of the confinent wealthin From Cunegialus he commeth to the fortiget Magweine, whome het hameth the Dagon of the Mes, and the expeller of many typants, not only sut of their king comes, but also out of lyfe, the last of whome he entreateth as he him-Celle Capth) but the first in all mischiefe and emil, greater than manyein power, and lykewise in malice: right liberall in gining, but moze plentifull in finne: frong and valiant in armes, but Aronger in destruction of his owne soule. Ind to proceeding chargeth him with the sinne of the Sobomites, and soze blameth him foz that wher so it had plealed God to make him hygher than all the other Dukes of Beitagne in kyngdome and degree, hee diode not thewe hymselse better, but contraryly worle than they by farre in manners and conditions. Der declareth also a little after that this Maglocune in his young yeares Aewe in battaple his buckebeing king. with the most baliaunt fouldiours in manner that he had.

580.

Also that where the same Maglocune toke bpon him the profession of a Monke, he after re= 20 nounced the fame, and becam a worfe liver than cuer he was before, abandoning his wyfe, and keeping his brothers fonnes wife, whilest hir hulbande pet loued. Thus by that whiche Gildas wryteth of the kings and rulers of the Bzitons whiche lyued in his dayes, ye may perceive that they were given to all manner of wickednelle, and namely to ciuill diffention, rapine, adulterie and fornication: the sarous to be a feurge to them, and to worke his juffe vengeaunce bupon them tot thept witked and abhominable offences dayly committed against his diuine maiestie, so that we fynde recorded by writers howe that the Sarous in dy= uers conflictes agaynft the Biptons habbe the better, and also toke from them divers townes as already partly bath bin and also bereafter hal be flicwed:

Tis furthermoze to be remembied, that a= 40 bout the.14. peare of the F zitayn king Co= namus bis reigne, whiche was aboute the end of the yeare of Chailte. 559. Renrike kying of the Wicalifarons departed this lyfe, after he haode reigned.:5 peares complete.

This Kennike was a viffogious Prince, and fought biuers battailes against the Britons. In the. roin yeare of his reigne which was the. 551. of Chailt, we found that he fought against them, bering come at that trine buto Salifouric, and 50 after greate flaughter made on bothe partes, at length the viffogie remayned with the Sarous, and the Britons were chaleb. Agayne in the two and twentic percof his reigne and. 555. perc of Chaift, the Came Kenrik and his fon Chroling lought with a greate power of Butens at Be-

B.Hunt.

The Britons were duided into. ix. copanics,

uj. in the foreward, uj. in the battayle. Fiij in the rereward with their hopfinen sarchers, after the maner of the Romans. The Sarons being ranged in one entier bataile, valiantly affailed them. and notwithstanding the thot of the Battons, get they brought the matter to the triall of handblowes, til at length by the coming on of the night. the villogie remained doubtfull : and no maruell is to be made therof (layeth henry Erchedeacon of Huntington) fith the Sarons were menne of fuche huge flature, greate force and valyaunt

The lame yeare that Benrike Decealled, Joa the king of Porthumberlande also vied : he was (as pe haue heard) a right ballat prince, & mlarged the dominion of the Sarons greately, heouercame in battaile Loth king of the Bittes, and Bograne of rather Conrane king of Scots.

Also about the yeare of Chaift. 560. Conanus _ $60. (as pet gouerning the Britons) Frincurike king of Beute, departed this lyfe, of whome ye haus heard before, and Ethelberte his sonne succeeded him. 52. peres. Then affer that the foglaid three H. Hunt. minces were beab (as befoze pe haue heard) thep had that succeed the in their ellates as here followeth. After Benrike, his tonne Ceaulinus 02 Theolyng succeded in gouernment of the Wiellfarons : and after Ida, one Ella og Illa reignet in Porthumberland. Ifter Irmenrike followed so that it maye bee thoughte, that God ilirred up 30 his sonne Ethelberte in rule ouer the Kentille tons at 25 cofoeds and ourreams them, and toke Algers from them fours townes, Liganbrough, Egists 581. broughe, or Aylelburpe , Belington, and Ctiel-Mani. Ilfo about the yeare of our Loide. 38t the forclayde king Chedling encountred with the Butarnes at a place called Protti, and obiegning the buper hand, toke from them the Cities of Bathe, Glouceller, and Circucelter.

This Ethelberte in procelle of tyme grave to be a mightie prince, but pet in the beginning of his reign, he had but fory fucceffe against some of his enimics: for having to do with the forfato H. Hunt. Theolyng king of Miclifarons, he was of hom lim prin ouercome in battaile at celilbal Downe, where he handune. lost two of his dukes of thiefe Captaines, belide other people. This was the fiell battail that was foughten betwirte the Sarons, one egeinfie an other within this land, after their first comming into the fame. And this chaunced in the years of of our Hozde. 567, being the leconde yeart of the Emperour Justinus.

It this battayle fought at Dyouth, wert pielente thete kyngs of the Beitons, whole names werethele: Coinmagill, Candican, aus farinmagill, the whiche were flayne there through The Historie of England.

the permillion of alinightic God as then refuling his people, the which through their hepnous finnes and great wickednesse, had most greuous ly offended his hygh and dinine Maiellie, as by Gildas it may enidently appeare : foz they hadde beclined from the lawes of the Lozde, and were become abhominable in his light, euen from the Dince to the pere man, from the Prieft to the Leuite, fo that not one ellate amongelt them gone astrage, by reason whereof, the rightnous Con had given them over as a pray to their eni-

Also in the latter ende of Malgos daves or about the field beginning of the reigne of his fuc-12. VVca. ceffour Careticus, Chebling and his conne Cutwenc fought with the Beytons at a place called Frehanley oz fedanley, oz as some bokes haue, frithenlye, where Cutwon was flapne, and the ring his armie, wan the victoric, and chased the derral. Butons, and twice from them many countreps. and wan creat riches by the spople. But Wath. Millim. layth, that the victoric aboade with the Britons, and that the Sarons were chased quite out of the fielde. The Scottiffe writers recorde, that their king Aydan was there in ayde of the Baytons, and Baudens kyng of the Pickes in ande of the Sarons : but the same writers name the place Deglation, where this battaple was 30

> The beginning of the kingdome of Mercia.

rida.

Eunt

Manie time allo and. 585. of Christ, the kyngdome of bnder one Cri da, that was delectoed from Moloden, and the tenth from vint by lineall eritation. The boundes of this kingdom were of great distance having on the cast the sea unto Humber, and so on the Porth the sayderiver of falleth into the wealt lea at the corner of Wlyz= hall and to comming aboute to the ryuce of Dee that passeth by Chester, the same rouer boun= bedit on the Wealt from Wales, and likewyle Scuttne up to Builtow: on the fouth it had the truct of Chance, til it came almost to London: Ind in this lost it conterned Lincolnellice, Potinghainshire, Derbyshire, Chessyre, ShropMire, Wozceterfhire, Blouceterflire, Drfozo-Mire, Buckinghamshire, Pertetozoshire, Bed= fozolhire, Huntingtonthire, Pozthamptonthire, Lepeciterihire, and Warwikefinire.

Thus have ye heard how the Baronsin bros ces of tyme removing the Britons out of their feates, daylye wanne grounds of them, till at length they got possession of the best part of this Ile, and created within the same seven kingdowalked byzightley, but contrarie to duetie was 10 mes, whiche were gouerned by feauen seuerall kings. which continued untill at length the kinges of Welfaro brought them al into one 900= narchie, as after fijal appere. Mat. Weltm.rick= neth.biij.kingdomes as thus. The kingdome of Kent, the kingdome of Suffer, the kingdome of Eller, the kingdom of Callangle, the kingdome of Mercia, the kyngdome of Wicalifer, and the kyngdome of Porthumberlance, whyche was divided into two kyngdomes, that is to Englishemen chased: but pet Chevling repai= 20 wit,into Drira and into Bernitia: wherebuto Harison addeth the nynth in the first part of his chronologie, and calleth it Walcs.

Careticus or Caretius K.of Britayn.

After that Malgo of Maglocune was des Careti-parted this lyfe, one Cateticus (of as some write hym Caretius) was made Kyng of the cus. Bzitons and began his Reigne in the peare of our Lorde. 586 whiche was in the thyrde yeare Mercie began 40 of the Emperoure Mauritius and thirteenth of Chilperike king of Fraunce.

This Carcticus was a nozifher of civill warre and discention amongst his own people the Bis tons, so that he was hated both ef god and man as writers tellifre.

The Sarons viderstanding that the Britons were not of one mind, but deuthed in partakings, fo as one was ready to behoure an other, they thought it good time for them to advanince they? Humber, and after the equer of Mercie, whiche so conquells, and leasted not to pursue the Britons by force and continuall warre, till they had constrained them for refuge to withdraw into Wales. Ind as some haue witten, the Sarons G. If. Mon. meaning to make a full conquest of the lande, See more of fetit ouer into Irelanto, requiring one Gurmun- dusia Ireland. dus a kyng of the Affricancs to come our into Britayne to healpe them agaynste the Bry= Ranuls. Cest.

This

This Gurmundus appoynting his brother Turgelius to purfue the conquelt of Frelande, came and arrived here in Britann, making luche cruell warre in appe of the Sarons agapult the Butons, that Careticus was constrepned to keepe him within the citie of Ciceller, og Ciren-ceffer, and was there besieged, and at length by continuall assaults and skirmishes, when he had lost manic of his men, her was glad to forlake that citie, and fled into delales.

Courmonde toke Cirencelter oz Chichelter. and destroyed it in moste cruell manner. Some maite, that he toke this citie by a policie of war, in bynding to the feet of Sparrowes whiche his 30 people had caught, certaine clewes of thicede of matches, finely wrought and tempted with mat ter readic to take fire, to that the Sparrowes being suffered to got out of hande, slewe into the towne to lodge them felues within their nelles whiche they had made in flacters of come, and cues of houses, so that the towns was thereby fet on free, and then the Beytons illuing foeth, foughte with their enimies, and were our come and discomfited.

But whylest the battagle continued, Care= ticus stale away, and not him into Wales. After this, the foreland Gurmonde destroyed this lande throughout in pitifull wpfe, and then de= linered it in possession to the Sarons, the whiche thankfully received it : and bicause they were de= frended of those that firste came ouer with hemgift, they channed the name of the lande, and called it Gengisslande, accordingly as the same Bengist had in tymes past ordeined: the whiche 50 name after for Mortnelle of speeche was sometohat eltered, and fo laftly called Englande, and the people Englishmen.

But rather it may be thought, that lith a great part of these people whiche came ouer into thys lande out of Germanic with the layde Engille, and other earthines, to re of those Englishmen whiche inhabited Germanic, about the parties of Thoringhen, they called this land England, after their name, when they had first got habitatio Mat. VP within it: and so both the lande and prople toke name of them, beeing called Angli long tyme before they entered into this Ille (as before is Mewed out of Councilus Tacitus and others.) But nowe to returne where we lefte.

Ef this Gurmounde the olde English wipters make no mention, noz also any aunciente authors of foregn parties: and get fagth the Bris till booke, that after he had conquered this land, & giue it to the Sarons, he palled ouer into Frace, and there destroyed nunche of that lande, as an enemy to the faith of Christe: Joz whiche consis deration, he was the more ready to come to the apoc of the Sarons, who as pet hadde not recepued the Christian fayth, but warred against 40 the Byrtapnes, as well for to destroy the faith of Therefte within this lande, as to establishe to them sclues contynuall habitations in the

There bee, that omittyng to make mention to educate of Eurmounde, write thus of the expulsing of that thus in the Brytaynes oute of this lande at that tyme is but for when with their king Careticus they got them is may be it in the control of the into Walcs.

P the yeare of grace. 5 8 6. Kareticus alo= wegund wegund firer of civil war succeded Malgo an enimte Gennist. to God and to the Butons, whole inconstantie when the Englishe and Saron kinges percriuco, with one consent they role againste him, and after many battails chased him from citte to cine, till at lengthe encountring with him in a pight field, ther trone him berond Scuerne into Wales. Perempon clerks and prieftes were Dignen oute of they places with brighte immedes brandiffing in all partes, and fire crackling in Churches, wherewith the same were consumed. The remnante of the Britagnes therefore with= pirty into the Wiest partes of the land, that is to witte into Coinewale, and into Wales, out of which countreys they oftentimes brake out, and made reples oppon the Sarons, the whyche in manner afozelayde, gote pollellion of the chiefelt partes of the lande, leaving to the Britagnes only three provinces, that is to witte, Coinewale, 10 Southwales, and Porthwales, which countrels were not calle to be wonne, by reason of the thick woodes environed with deepe marifyes and was ters, * full of high craggy rockes, * Mountaines.

The English and Saron Kings having thus remoued the Britannes, enlarged the boundes of their dominions. There raigned in that featon within this land belide the Beitaine Kings eight Kings of the Englishe and Sacon nations, as Ethelbert in Kent, Ciffa in Suffer, Ceauline in 20 Miller, Credoa og Crida in Mercia, Erkenwine in Effer, Titila in Effangle, Elle in Deira, and Alfrid in Bernicia. In this foat the Baltaynes loft the possession of the moze part of they? auntiente scates, and the faithe of Christ thereby was greatly decayed : for the Churches were deftroyed, & the Archbiffjops of Carrleon Arwike, London, and Porke, withdrewe togither with their Cleargie into the Mountagnes and woods Saintes for doubt the same shoulde be destroped by the enimies, and theselues put to deathe if they flould abide in their olde habitations. Many also Armozike with a greate fleete of shippes, so that the whole Church or concregation (as pee may call it) of the two provinces, Lorgria and Porthumberland, was left desolate in that scason, to the great hinderance and decay of the Christian Religion. Careticus was drink cond or third years of his raigns, and there contimud with his Britaines, the which ceased not to endomage the Sarons from time to time as occalio ferued. But heere is to be noted, that & Biltanes being thus remoned into Wales & Corne= wall, were governed afterwardes by three kings, or rather Tirants, the which ceased not with ciuill warre to seeke rache others destruction, till finally as fauth the Bzittiff boke, they became all subica buto Cadwallo, whome Bede nameth 50 Crowallo. In p mean time, Ciaulinus oz Cheuling king of the Well Sarons, through hys owne misgouernance and treannie whiche to= wardes his latter dapes hee pradifed, dio procute not only the Britaines, but also his own subjects to conspire his deathe, so that iopning in battell with his adversaries at Woodenesoic in the. 33. yere of his raigne, his army was discomfited, and be himselfe constreyned to departe into exile, and Mostly after enoed his life before he coulde fynde meanes to be restored.

After this Cheuling, Ceiric. cus of Ccolric that was fonne bnto Cutwine, p sonne of the foresande Cheuling, raigned as Kyng ouer the Welt Sarons five yeares fine monethes. In like man= ner the fame peare open

Ella 02 Alla Ikynor of Porthumberland, after whome lucceeded Ethelricus the some of Ida, & raigned but five yeares, being a man well flept into age befoze he came to be King. About three yeares after this, the Serons and Britaines fought a battel at Wooenels bourne, where the Britagnes beeing raunged in god order, the Sarons fet byon them boldly indeede, but disordedly, so that the victory remayned with the Bzitapnes. The Saxons the moze baliant they had thewed themselves in battel, before that time, so much the more slowe and butowardly did they thewe themselves nowe in running away to faue themselves, so that an huge number of them were flanne. Also about & same time dyed Crida King of Mercia b3. 594. after within Wales, taking with them the relikes of 30 whome his some Wibhas of Wlipha succeeded. And after the decesse of Ethelrike, one Edelscrt oz Edelfride furnamed the wilde, succeeded in gourmement of the Porthumbers. But to returne to our purpole. Ethelbert King of Kent not discouraged with the euill chance whiche hapned in the beginning, but rather occasioned thereby to learne moze experience in feates of warre, proued Beda. to perfeit a malter therein, that in procelle of time VVil. Mal. hee subdued by force of armes all those Englishe into Wales (as befoze is rehearled) about the fe- 40 Sarons whiche lay betwirte the boundes of hys countrep, and the River of Humber. Also to have friendthip in forraine partes, he procured a Wife for himselfe of the French nation, named the Lady Bertha, being King Cheribertes daughter of France, but with condition that he should permit bir to continue and ble the rites and lawes of the Christian faith and Religion, and to have a Bishop whose name was Lupdhard, appointed to come and remayne with hir here in this lande for hir better instructio in the lawes of the Lord: so that they two with other of the French nation that came over with them remaining in & Court and bling to lerue God in prayers and otherwilk according to the cultome of the Christian Religion, began bndoubtedly to gine light to pkings mind as pet darkned with the Cloudes of Bayanilme, to as the bright beames of p celetial chece nelle of buderstanding remoued the thicke mates

Beda. Mas. VVeft. hath.596.

47.huh the

of his bubeleefein process of time, and prepared his part to the recepuing of the Gospell, which after by heavenly providece was preached to him. by occasion, and in manner as followeth. In the yeare of our Lozd. 556. which was about the: 14. peare of the raigne of the Emperour Mauritius. and after the comming of the English Sarons into this land, about an hundled and .47. yeares almost complete, the Billion of Rome. Grego= fente Augustinus a Monke, with other learned men into this Alle to preach the Christian faythe onto the English Sarons, whiche nation as yet had untrecepued the Bolvell.

VV.Mal.

It is recorded by divers writers, that the witte occasion whereby Gregory was money thus to fend Augustine into this lad, role by this meanes: At chanced whilest the same Gregory was as vet but Archdeacon of the Sea of Rome, certapne pong boyes were brought thither to be: solde out of Porthumberland, according to the customable ble of that countrey, in somuche that as we have in our time feene (faith Will. Mal.) the people of their neere kinffolke for a small price. Whe those chilozen whiche at that time were brought from thence to Rome, had by reason of their excellente beauties and comely Wave of limines and body. turned the eyes in manner of all the Citizens to the beholving of them, it fortuned that Gercory also came amonast other to beholde them, and vita Gregory when hee confidered and well viewed their farze fkinnes, their frecte vilages, and beautifull buf-Ded out of what region or land they came, buto whome aunswere was made, that they were brought out of Britapne, the inhabitants of mhi= che countrey were of the like beautifull aspeil: the he asked whether the men of that countrey were Christians, or as perentangled with tlinde heathenich errors, toberconto it was aunfinered, that they were not chaillned, but followed the Reli=

aion of the Gentiles, whereat Gregory letchyna a ocene figh, land: oh alas that the author of carknelle both as pet pollelle me of lo brightfome contenances, a that with the grace of fuche faire this ning bilages, they beare about minds boyte of inward grace. He demanded againe by what name o veople were called, & ancwere was made, p flep wer called Angli, that is to Cap Englishing. Ind worthily (faith he) for they have angels faces, and ry h first of that name and inrnamed Magnus, 10 fuch as ought to be made fellow heires with Inacis in brauen. Then alked he p nang of pinge uince fro whece they were brought, tit was tolor him they were of Deira. It is well fand bee, they are to be delivered de ira der, that is to far from the ire and weath of Boo, & called to the mercy of Christ our Lord. What name (larde be hath the King of that pronince, wherebuto antwere was made that he was called All, where no alluding top name, he faid, that Alleluia ought to be fong in those partes to the praise & honor of God's creator And herebpo comming to Benedick the first Pelagius is of p name as then Billiop of Rome, bee required feconde. bim p come learned me might be lent into Eng. vvil nd lad to preach & Golpel buto the Englishme offering himselfe to be one of the number: but though Benedict was cotented to graunt his requelt pet Pelagiu. b Romanes had him in fuch estimatio, that they would not colent phe Mould depart to farre from p citie, so that by the bewas at that time Capro of that his godly purpole. But whe he came to be Billiop, he thought to performe it, though not be himfelf, pet by other: to Augustine & his felowes wer fent by him about it (as befoze is fapo.) By the way as they were palling in their journey. fuch a foodagne feare entred into their harts, that (as fome waite) they returned all. Diber wife. that Lugulline was lent back to Bregoip to ine that they might be releasted of that beyage to Digerons and bucertain amongft fuch a barbarous that prouince haue not get boubted to fell away 40 people, whole language they neyther kneine not whole endenesse they wer able to resist. The garage goty with pithie perswallons consigning and the forting him, sente him againe with letters net the Billiop of Arles, willing him to belt and ent the layde Aultine and his company in all inter-to euer his neede required. Ilso other letters be reifed by the forelaide Aulline onto bys fellowe exhorting them to goe forewarde boldly in Lozdes worke, as by the tenor of the farte thes of their bright and yellow heares, he deman- 50 pillle herre following may appeare.

Gregorius seruus seruornen Dei Domini Marie Quia melius sueratbona non incipere quampa ser qua cepta sunt cogitatione retrorsum redite. In Englis, Gregory the servant of Gods se ununtes, to the feruantes of oure borde muche as it is better not to take good thomas hande, than after they bee begunne, to thenke renolte backe from the fame agagne, the now you may not not cannot (decre children) but with all feruente fludic and labour must needes got forwarde in that god bulinelle, whiche thorough the helpe of God you have well begunne. Ocyther let the labour of yours journey, nor the flaunderous tongues of men apall pour but that with all instance and fernencie pee procurocand accomplish the thing which the Lozo hath order= ned you to take in had, knowing that your great traveil thall be recompended with reward of great 10 ter alazy hereafter to come. Theirfoge as we fend heere Lustin to you agayne, whome also we have nederned to be your governoure, to do rou hum= bly obey him in all things, knowing that it thall be profitable for your foules what focuer at his admonitio pe Mall dec. Almighty God with hys grace defende you, and graunt me to fee in the e= ternall countrep the fruite of pour labour, that although I cannot labour in the same sclowshippe with you togither, the Lozde God keepe you fafe 20 most ocere and welbeloued children. Dated the tenth befoze the Caledes of August, in the raigne of our soucraigne Lorde Mauritius most bertuous Emperour, the fourteenth of his Empire.

Thus they emboloned and comforted through the good wordes and wholesome exhortation of Gregory, let forward agayne, and weeding forth their lowney, they first arrived at & Alle of Thas net in Kente in the moneth of July, being in nuber about fortie persons, of the whiche byuers were interpreters whom they brought with them out of Fraunce. Thefe they fente unto King &thebert, fignifping to him the occasion of they? comming, who hearing the mellencers within a fewe dayes after, went into that Allenand there abrede out of any house sate downs with caused Augustine and has fellowes to come before hint. for he would not come buter any rote with the, fore boubting to bee bewitched by them, berytic perswaded that they were practiced in nigromacie. But they comming to him, not by the nower of the Deuill (as they lay d) but by the mooi fann vower of Almightie Gove bearing in Acede of a hanner a Crolle of spiner, and an Image of one The feuen-Loto & Sauioure paynted in a Cable ethereto fold Letanics linging y Letanies, made intercellio buto the L. were notyce for the enertalling prefernation ofthemfelues , & deuiled. of all them for whome and to whome they came.

And when they being let downe by formaldement of the King, has preached the worder of life to him and to all those that came thisper with him, he made them this answere, that therewords and promites were good buttor as much as the fame were new and whicertupne to him that had that beleefe which he and the English nation had folong a time observed and kept: but (layo he bycause ye have transiled farce to the intent formake bs partakers of those things whiche pedicurto bee most true and perfectes were will thus mutte graunt buto you, that preflyall bee recepted linto this countrey, and have herbrough with thyings

Authornt found buto poul for your mayntenance and tillemation neither will we hinder you, but h persan by Presching allocial & loone as many stens libiture as pe can this your lawhite be-Mete : Dheb hav therefoje altignich bitto tifen & Mace to longe in within the City of Canterbility, bin brought op in the contrary voorine, he could so which was; head citie of all his dominion. It is not rallyly aftent to their administrations, and leave . Law has they approached healt according to their manner, they hav a would bothe afore their, with ... an image of our Dorbe Jeftis Chille, and they followed in linguist this Detaits! Depretamir te Donithe in trung unferstordia rua, or aufer arut fu ror Phules in the dentilate The of de time sand Eli sul jadnispromimm illeleya Electe to 180 VV & beloth the Oil Will in alshy more you have thy magni.

nnon Secropy in sending backe the messengers miete aunfiner buto all his demaundes, and first couching the connerfation of Archbishops with &

Clearnic, and in what forte the Churche godes

oughte to be employed, he declareth that the aun= tient custome of the Apoltolike See way to rine commaundemente unto Billops orderned, that ly for the magnetenance of holpitalitie: the fecond flould be assigned to the Cleargie: the thirde to be amen to the page: and the fourth to be employed ppon repaying of temples. Also as touching the diverline of customes in Churches. Ind where in the Churche of Rome one custome in saying of Malle of p Liturgie was oblerned, and an other custome in france, concerning such Church fer= uice. Gregory aduised Augustine that if he found ther in the Churche of Fraunce, or in anne other Churche whiche mighte most please the al-mightie God, he should viligently chose it forth, and instruct the Church of England (now beying

new according to that forme whiche hee moulde gather fouth of the fapo Churches: for the thomas are not loued for the places take, but the places for bee, the offender Goulde bee challifed in charitic, fo as he might know his fault, and if it were pollible, reftoze the thing taken away. Alfo as-touching degrees in mariages, Engliffine might take to their wines, women that touchto them in the third and fourth degree without reprehension, and if any unlawfull marriages wer founde aried the fathers wife , oz the brother the brothers

Also for the punishing of fuche as hav folthe revenews the profestes trevenewes of their benefices ought eite Chares to be deuided into foure partes, whereof the firste

Beda.

of the Eng-listumen.

fury and wrath may be taken from this citie, and from thy holy house, for wee have fynned. Pravse be to thee oh Lorde. After they were recepued into Canterbury, they began to followe the trade of lyfe whiche the Apoliles vsed in the Mat. PVeft. primative Churche, that is to witte, exerciling themselnes in continuall prayer, watching, fa= sting, and in preaching the worde to as many as they coulde, despissing all worldly pleasures, as them whome they taughte) thyngs that feemed necessary for the sustenance of their life, and buing in all poyntes according to the voorine whyche they let forthe, having they? mindes ready to fuffer in patience all advertities what to ever, pea and death it selfe, for the confirming of that whi= The Christian the they nowe preached. Heerebppon, many of faith received the Englishe people beleeued and were baptised, having in greate reverence the simplicitic of the

of their heavenly doctrine. There was a Church neere to the Citie on the East parte thereof Dedi= cated in the honoz of Saint Martine, and burl. bed of old time whilest the Romannes as pet inhabited Bzitagne, in the whiche the Queene being (as we have layd) a Christian, bled to make hir prayers. To this Churche Austine and hys fellowes at their first comming accustomed to reforte, and there to fing, to pray, to fay Maffe, to not appertegning to them, recepuing onely (of 10 preach and to baptile, till at length the Kong being converted, graunted them licence to uzeache in every place, and to buyloe and reffore Thurches where they thought god. After that & King being perswaved by their dodrine, god examples giving, and divers miracles flewed, was once baptiled, the people in great number begato give eare buto the Preaching of the Gospell, and re= nouncing their heathenist beleefe, became Chaistians, in so much that as Gregory remembreth, Lib.7. cap.

innocente lives of those nien, and the Evertenesse 20 ther were baptised tenne thousand persons in one Policron.

our. 197, indictione.1, But some write how thys Chould chance towards the latter ende of Augu-Ames dayes, after he was admitted to weach the Cospell amongst them that inhabited about Pocketas some write which assimme, that the said number of tenne thousande was baptised in the Riner of Suale, whiche as William Barrison fareth, cannot be berified, by cause of the individion and death of Gregory. But to procede: The king beit, be would not force any man to be baptifed, exp. 26. @ 27. but only fixwed by his behaviour, that he favozed those that beleened moze than other, as fellows Citizens with him of the heavenly Kingdome: for he learned of them that had instructed hom in Religion not the faith, that the obedience due to Chail oughte to be enterfed, not to be inforced, but to come of god wil. Moreand preached. ouer, he prouided for Augustine and his fellowes var, being the feast of the nativitie of our Saui= 40 a convenient place for their habitation within the Tifie of Canterbury, and further gaue them necessary revenewes in possession for their mayntes nance. After that the faith of Christe was thus Augustine recepued of the Englishmen, Augustine went in- orderned to fraunce, and there of the Archbifton of Arles Archbifto named Etherius, he was ordeined Archbilhop of of the Englis the Englishe nation, according to the order me scribed by Gregozie before & veparture of the faire Augustine fro Rome. After bis returne into Bai reiviced at the connection thus of his people, bow= 50 tane, be lent Laurece a Prieft, Pertera Monke Laurences buto Rome, to give knowledge unto Gregory Priest. the Billiop, howe the Englishmen had recepted the faith, and that her was orderned Archbishop of the land, according to that he had commannded, if the worke prospered under his hande as it had done. He also required to have Gregories adnice touching certain ozdinances to be made and observed in the new Church of England: where > flepne, and biderstand it to be a greenous linne: yet shoulde they not for that thing be deprined of the Communio of the body & bloud of our Lotd, least those things mighte sceine to be punished in them wherein they had offended (befoze their conucriion to the Chailtian fayth), by ignorance: for at this scason y Church farth he) correcteth some things of a feruente carnelinelle, luffereth some things of a getle milonelle, and diffinuleth forne the things lake.

Such as did things of a prudent consideration, and so heareth so and dissimuleth the same, that oftentimes the euill which the abhorreth by fuch bearing and diffinuling, is reffreyned and reformed. Mozeouer, touching the orderning of Bishops, hee woulse they thould be so placed, that the distance of place ef mighte not ber a lette, but that when a Bishoppe

Moulde bee consecrated, there mighte bee three or foure presente.

Also touching the Billioppes of France, hee willed Augustine in no wife to intermed= ole with them, otherwise than by exhortaci= on and good admonitions to be given, but not to prefume any thing by authority, fith the Arch= billop of Arles had recepued the Palle in tymes palt, whole authozitie bee mighte not deminishe, least he Mould feeme to put his licle into another. mans haruelt. But as for the Bilhops of Bri= to equited flould be appoynted to the Billiop and his fami- 10 tayne, he committed them onto him, that the vn= learned might be taught, the weake with whole= fome perfinations strengthned, and the fromarde by authozitie refozured. Wozeouer, that a monta Women with with childe myghte bee Baptised, and fice that childe. was delinered after.13. dayes of a man childe, and after.46. days of a woman childe Mould be puris fied, but pet myghte thee enter the Church befoze if the woulde.

Therelidue of Angultines demaundes confil- Matters in anye thing either in the Churche of Rome, ey= 20 ffcd in these poynts, b3. within what space a child question a-Mould be Chaillened after it was boane, for boute trifes. to be preueted by death: allo, within what tyine a man might company with his wife after the was brought to bedde: whether a woman having the floures, mighte enter the Churche og recepur the Communion: also whether a man hauing companyed with hys Wife, might enter the Churche, or receput the Communion, before he mas wathen with water. And whether after polution by ien things out of Churches, fo neere as mighte 30 night in dreames, a man mighte recepue the Comunion: og if he were a Prieff inhether he might lap Malle To their queltions Gergory maketh aun-lwere at full in the Boke and place before cited, which for breefenelle we palle ouer. De fent allo at that tyme with the mellengers afgrelande at their returne into Englance boures learned mongst the Englishme, as if the sonne bad mat men to belp Augustine in the haruelt of Lorde. The names of the cheefell were thele , Dellitus, Allifance to wife, they ought to be warned in any wife to ab= 40 Justus, Paulinus, and Rusnianus. De lette al- Augustine. to the Palle whyche is the ornament of an Arth The Pall. billion with vellels and apparrell whiche Moulde be bled in Churches by the Archbilhop and other miniffers. The liber was aire De allo lente with the Pall other lefters funtos Augustine to lette hym innerstange what numa ber of Billiops her woulde, have bym to otherns within this lande. Also after that Mellitus; and the other before mentioned persons were departed from Rome, hee lent a letter unto the fame, Dele litus, beryng yet, on his may towardes Butaynes touching further matter concerning the Chur ches of England, whereinhe confesteth that mare ny thinges are permitten to bee bled of the people lately broughte, from the errors of gentilities in keeping featles on the dedication payen whis the haue refemblaunce with their olde fuper-Attions tytes of the Pagang Religion, for sel lib. 1.

Cae Pcete t was the his

to hard and obstinate mindes (layth he) it is not pollible to cutte away all things at once , for hee that courteth to the highest place, goeth by by steppes and not by leapes.

Bearing with hem that had newly recey ued the fayth whereof biperstition grewe and increased.

Miracles.

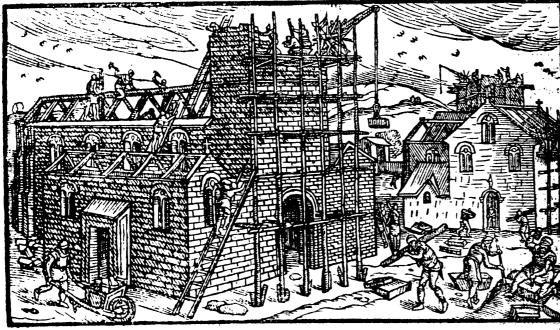

602

Alfo the same time, Gregory vio sende letters unto Augustine touching the miracles whych by reporte he bnoerstwoe were spewed by the same Augustine, councilling him in no wife to glozy in the same, but rather in reiopeing to feare and fuche signes for the welth of them, to whome hee was sente to preach the Gospell: he aduised hym therefore to beware of varne glozy and prefump= tion, for the Disciples of the tructh (layth he) have notoy, but onely that which is common with all men, of whyche there is no end, for not every one that is clear worketh nuracles, but enery of the e-led have their names written in heaven. These letters, with the other whiche Gregory fent at this time onto Augustine, were dated the 20 tenth day of the Calendes of July, in the yeare of oure Lozd. so. whiche was the nineteenth yeare of the Emperour Mauritius.

Rozeouer, be fente most curteous letters by these mellengers onto King Ethelberte, in the why the hee greatly commendeth him, in that hee had recepued the Christian fayth, and exhorteth him to continue in that most holy state of life. inhereby hee myalite worthyly loke for rewarde at the handes of almighty God. But nowe to the boings of Augustine. Wele fynd, that after he was Beda. establisted Archbistop, and had his Sec appopuconsider that God gaue him the gifte to worke to ted to him at Canterbury, he restored in that Cis tie another Church whiche had bin credted there in times past by certaine of the Romagnes that were Christians, and did dedicate the same nowe in honoz of Christ our Santoure.

Le also began the foundation of a Monatterp mithout that Citie, flaving towarde the Call, in the Whiche by his exhortation, King Ethelberte built a Churche euen from the grounde, whiche was dedicated unto the holy Apolites Pecter and Paule, in the whiche the body of the layde Augufline was buried, and likewife the bodies of all the Archbillions of Canterbury and Kings of Kente of long time after.

One Peete ! was the first

This Abber was called Saint Auchines after bignanie, one Weeter being the first Abbot therof. The Churche there was not confecrated by Auaustine but by his successor Laurece after that he Mozeoner, King Cthelbert at the motion of pone whiche he lately had conquered and dedica= ted it unto Saint Paule:but whether be burlded or restored this Church of Saint Paule it mare hee doubted, for there bee druces orinions of the Ran.Cefiren. builbing thereof. Some haue witten that it was firte buploed by King Tud (as befoze is mentioned. Diber agapue write, that it was builded afterwarde by Sigeberte King of the

Ealt Sarons. Ilo Kyng Ethelberte buploed Beda. the Churche of Saint Andrew in Rochellet. It is likewife remembred by writers, that the fame King Ethelberte procured a Citizen of London Ran Ceff. to buplo a Church of Sainte Perter without the Westminter Citic of London towarde the Well in a plate Augustine builded a Church in the Cutic of Lo= 50 then called Thorney, that is to witte, the fle of Thornes, a now is called Wellminster, though other have written that it was burlte by Lucius King of Britaine, of rather by Siberte Kyng of the Call Sarons. This Church was evillet newly builte or greatly enlarged by Kyng Cowarde furnamed the Confesso, and after that, the thirde henry King of England did make there a beantifull Monasterie, and very richly endower endowed the same with greate possessions and fumptuous iewels. The place was ouergrowen with underwoodes, as thornes and brembles before that the Church was begun to be builded there in this king Ethelbertes dapes.

The Historie of Englande.

Thus the fayth of Chaill being once begimne to bee recepued of the Englishmen, twice wonverfull increase within a floot time.

In the meane feafon by the help of King C= Beda. thelbert, Augustine cansed a counsell to be called sigebertus. at a place in the confynes of the Wielt Barons; an.19. Mauriwhiche place long after was ralled Austynes cy imperato-Due, where he procured the Billions or Doctors ruof the proninces of the Britaines to come before A Synode.

Ran.Cest.

Amongst the Britapnes or Welchmen, Chailtianite as pet temapned in force, whiche nation. When Augustine came into this land, he found in their prominces feuen Bifhops Sees, and an Archbilhops Dec, wherin late right godly and most Religious Prelates, and many Abbots, in the which the Lozdes flocke kept their righte order: but by cause they differed in obserung the fealt of Caffer, and other rites from it necessary to move them to agree with homein . reasoning of those matters, they could not be enduced to gine their affente in that behalfe. Augufine to prome his opinion god, wroughte a miracle in restozing fight to one of the Saron na= tion that was blinde. The Britaynes that were presente moned with this miracle, confesfed, that it was the righte wave of Justice and rightcousnesse which Augustine taught, but pet they fayd that they might not forlake theyr aun= cient customes withoute consente and licence of 50 you. their nation. Otherevppon, they required another Sinode to be holden, wherat a greater number of them myght be prefent. This being granfed, there came as it is reported feuen Bilhops of the Butagnes and a greate number of learned menne, specially of the famous Monasterie of Bangot, whereof in those dayes one Dionoth was Abbot, the whiche as they wente towardes that countill, came first to a certaine wise man, whych lyued amongst them an Ankers life, and from the Iposties time had never fayled in that 30 asked his advice whether they ought to forfake they traditions at the Preaching of Augustine or not: who made thys auniwere: If he wee the man of God followe hym: then layde they: howe shall wee proue whether hee be lo or not. Then The answere tayde hee: the Lorde layeth take up my poke of a godly and learne of mee, for I am niceke and humble man touching in harte : if Augustine bee humble and meeke in Aufin the Englishmens the vic of & Romane Church, Zugustine thought & hart, it is to be belieued that her also beareth the Apolitic. poke of Christe, and offereth it to you to beare. buitie of the same, but after long disputation and 40 but if hee bee not meeke but proude, it is certaine that hee is not of God, not has worde is not to beeregarded: And how that were percepue that (fapoe thep?) Fpnde meanes (fapoe he) that hee mape fyzite come to the place of the Spriode with those of hys syde, and if hee arise to recepue you at your comming, then knows that he is the fernaunt of God, and obey him. But if hee Defpile you and srife not against you, where as you bet moze in number, lette him bee delpised of

> They did as he commannded, and it chanced, that when they came, they found Augustine stiting in his chaire: which who they beheld. Araight wayes they concepued an indignation, and no- Three things ting him of prior, laboured to reproue all him Austin of the layings. De tolde the that they bled many things Britaynes to contrary to the custome of the oniversal Church, be observed. and yet if in three things they woulde obey hym, that is to witte, in keeping the fealt of Easter in ductime, and minister Baptisme according to the custome of the Romaine Churche, and preach to the Englishmen the word of life with him and his fellowes, then would be be contented to luffer all other things paciently which they dio, though the same were contrary to the manners and cu-Romes of the Romayne iurisoiction. But they fiatly denyed to do any of those things, and gave a playne auntwere that they woulde not recepue 10 him for their Archbillyoppe, for they laying they? heads togither thus thoughte, that if hee refused now to ryle onto by, how much the more will he contemne beit we thould become subject to him. Unto whome as it is layor Augustine in threatning wife tolde them aforehande, that if they woulde not recepue peace with their breethren, they Moulde recepue warre of the enimies, and if they would not preach to the Englishmen & way of life, they should suffer punishment by death at 20 the same with the Bishops. the handes of them: whiche thing indeede after came to pate as in place conveniente thall be er= pressed.

k,iiij,

After this in the years of our Lorde. 304. the Archbishop Augustine orderned two Bishops, Bishops ordei- that is to sap, Mellitus at Londo, that he might ned at London preache the worde of God to the Call Sarons. and Rochester whiche were deuided from them of Kente by the River of Thames, and Julius in the Citic of Rochester within the limittes of Kent.

A That time Sabart reigned ouer the Caft Sarons , but hee was lubien unto Ethelbert King of Kent, whole Pephewe he was also by his fifter Ricula that was married buto king Sledda f lucceeded after Erchenwine furl k of p Call Sarons s, begate on Lic this Sabert b recepued & faith. After & Augustine had ogbepned Mellitus to be Billiop of London, as before is fand, King Ethelbert builded (as some waite) the Churche of Sainte Paule within the same Ci- The Church tie, where the same Wellitus and his successors builded, might keepe their See. And allo for the like purpole he builded the Church of Saint Androm the Apostle at Rochester, that Justus and his fuccellors myghte haue they? See in that place accozoing to Augustines institution: her bestomen great giftes byon both thefe Churches, endowing them with lands and possessions very bountifully to the vie of them that Moulo be attendante in Finally Augustine after her had gouerned as Ran. Ceftren Archbishop the Churche of Canterburie by the fvace of twelve yeares current, departed this life the fine and twentith of May, and was buryed first without the Citie neere to the Church of the Apostles Pecter and Paule (whereof mention is made before) bicause the same Church as per was not finidled noz bedicated, but after it was bedis cated, his body was broughte into the Churche, 30 and reuerently buried in the Porth He there.

He orderned by his life time Laurence to bee bis fuccestor in the Sca of Canterbury, of whom pee Mall heare hereafter.

Thus have pe heard in what maner the Englidinen were first brought from the wordipping of falle Goddes, and baptiled in the name of the lining God by the fozelayde Augustine, as wee funde in Beda and other writers, and nowe wee will returne to other doyngs chancing in the meane tyme amongst the people of the file.

A ffter the deceasse of Chelricus Kyng of the Mat. VVcf. Addelt Sarons, wee finde that Ceobultor bath.34. Ceoloulph succeeded in gouernmente of that Kingdonie, and raigned twelue peares. Der began his raigne (as flould appeare by come wie 607.00 Mank ters) about the years of our Lozd. 597. and spente vea. but his time his time for the more part in warres; not gowing place to polenelle, but freking eyther to bekende or cularge the confines of his dominion. he was the some of Cutha, which was the son of Kenrike, that was the loune of Certike. The

After Mylba of Mypha king of Mercia, who nothing interiour to his father, vid not onely defend his kingdome, but also enlarge to by subduing the Beptapnes on eche side) one Croz= fonne but his kinkman.

Corlusking

o: Mariia.

Ida.

Elekera.

This Ceo2lus began his raigne a= boute the yeare of oure Lorde 594. as 99at. Westmirecoz= deth.

heard that C= delferde, whiche otherwise is cal led also by writers Evelfride, furnamed the wild, gouerned fill the Porthumbers, whiche Ebelferde did moze domage to the Bzytaynes than a= ny one other king of the English Pation. Pone of them destroyed they countreves more than he Did:neyther did any Prince make mo of the By= Countreys with English people than be.

Herropon Coan king of those Scots which inhabited Baytayne, beeing therewith mourd to fee Coelferd profper thus in his conquelles, came agaynst him with a mightie armie : but topning in battaile with Evelferd and his power, at a plageralico Deglastane, or Deglastone, or Deglallon; be loft the most part of his people, and with the relidue that were left aline, he escaped by flight.

This was a fore foughten battaile, wyth much bloubshed on both parties. For not with flanding that the bicorie remayned with the Porthumbers, Theodkalous the brother of Edelferd was flame, with all that part of the Englus succeeded in that kingdome, beeing not hys to lish host, which he governed and it was fought in the yeare of our Lozde, 603 in the rir yeare of the raigne of the fogelapoe Corlferd, and in the firt Henric. Hus. peare of Cocwulfking of the Wiell Barons, and Beda.li.t. in the first yeare of the Emperous focas, or ta= cap.34. ther in the last years of hys predecessour Mautitius.

From that day till the dayes of Beda, not one of the Scottill kings durft prelume to enter into Byptaine againe to give battaile against the Dee haue 20 Engliff Pation, as Beda himselfe weyteth.

But the Scottich writers make other report vvil. Malm. of this matter, as in the pyttozie of Scotland pe See in Scotmay finde recorded.

The Brytaynes that dwelt aboute Chefter, through their stoutnesse prouoked the aforesayde Ethelferd king of the Porthumbers bnto warre: wherebpon the fame Ethelfero to tame they! loftie flomackes, affembled an armie, and came fozwarde to beliege the Citie of Cheller, then called Chefter as yet taynes tributaries, of inhabited mote of they? 30 of the Byptaynes Carleon ardaur dené. The Cie in possession tizens couefing rather to suffer all things than a of the Bryflege, and having a truft in their great multitude tayns. of people, came forth to give battaile abrobe in the fieldes, whom he compatting about with ambuthes, got them within his baunger, andeafily difcomfited them.

vvil. Malm.

It chaunced that he had espied befoze the batfaile iopned (as Bede hath) where a great number of the Brytist Pricits were got alive into a place 50 somewhat out of vaunger, that they might there make their intercession to God for the god speece of they 2 people, being then readie to give battaile to the Porthumbers.

Many of them were of that famous Mona-Urrie of Bangoz, in the which it is laid, that there donaftery was such a number of Monkes, that where they were devided into feuen feuerall partes, with their fenerall gouernours appoynted to have rule ouer them, ettery of those partes conterned at the least three hundred persons, the which lived altegirper by the labour of they? handes . Many therefore of thole Monkes hauing kept a folemne feall fog three dayes togither, were come to the armie with other to make prayer, hauing for their vifenoteone Brocmale,or Broemael, Carle (or Contuit as some call him) of Chriter, which flouide pre= Brocmale. ferue them (being given to prayer) from the roge of the enimies swords.

Rina

Austine three 604 discomfitted

and flainc.

Gal.Mon.

King Eoclferd having (asis layor) ripped thele men, asked what they were, and what their intent was? and breing informed of the whole circumstance, and cause of their beeing there; hee layde. Then if they call to they? God for his al-Intace against vs, surely though they beare no arniour, pet do they fight against vs, bring bulien in praper for our destruction. Wiberebpon ber contmaunoto the first onset to be given on them, and The Brytaines after flue downe the erfidue of the Beytist armie, sto obserue the Canons of the late Councell, mentionot without great loffe of his owne people.

Of those Montes and Priestes which came toppay (as befoir is mincioned) there died at that battaile about the number of.xii.hundeed, so that tiftie of them onche escaped by flight.

Brocmale, or Beseinael at the first approche of the enimies, turning his backe with his companie, left them whom he flould haue befended) to be murthered through the enmies fwozde.

filled, though he was long befoze departed this life (as 25cda hath.)

But if this battaile was fought in the feuenth peare of Ciounifting of Telefifarons (as some Henric.Hut. hane written and that Angullin lived, rijepçares after his entrance into the government of the fea of Canterburic, as some write it is enident that he lined foure yeares after this flanghter made of the Bytille Prieftes and Monkes by Ethelferd raigneras before is mentioned about the yeare of our Lotoc. 596, and in the feuenth yeare of hys raigne the battail was fought, at Deglastane betwirt Englishmen and Scottes, which chaunced in the peace of our Lozde. See . as Bede himfelfe recordethe bitherto out of our oide writers

Dewhich battaile allo William hartson felleth another maner of tale whole wordes though he live in our time, and his Chrenologie beanot vet extant' are not to be amitted : which bethefe.

Athelbright. 02 Edilfrider kingofthe Porthäbers, and Ethelbert of Kent, having Augustine in their copanic, in the. 8 yeare after his arrivall, doe make warre bron fuche Biptannes as refule to ned.604, and kill 1200. Mankes of the Monalles ric of Bannoz, which laboured carnellly, and in the smeate of their browes, thereby to get they? liuings. fc. Thus farre maifter harifon.

Clerily Galf. Bon wyteth, that Ethelbert king of Kent (after he sawe the Bzytaynes to dispaine and denie their subication buto Augustine. by whom he was converted to the christian faith) firred by Ethelfred king of the Porthumbers to And thus was the prophecie of Augustine ful= 20 warre against the Brytains. But hereof mailter Fore doubteth, and therfore layth, that of vincer= Acts and Motains things her hath nothing certainly to fay, puments. much lelle to inone.

.But now to the matter where we left. After that King Epelferd had made flaughter of the Biptaines (as befoze is rehearled.) hee entred the Citit of Cheffer, and from thence marched to. marves Bangoz.

The Britains in the meane time had affebled Blederik deke (as before is recited.) For Ciovulf beganne his 30 their power under three Captains, that is to wit, Margadus K. Paignes as their power but of Cornewall, Margadus K. Piederike Duke of Cornewall, Margadus king of Southwik. of Southwales, and Cadwane king of Pothe Cadwan king wales. These togning in battaile with, Ethele of Nonbusta ferd, flue, 10066, of his Souldiers, and constrays ned him to fice out of the fielde for lakenarde of his life, after her had recovered many moundes.

On the part of the Byrtayins the fenclarde Blevelie, which was chiefe captoine of the fields in that be trade chaunced to be flame.

Thus barb Cal. Son. but the concium to iiters of the English language Bere. Cili. Malin. and Hemic Hunt, make no ment en of this last in marer as about is expeffed in Galinius booker But contrarily we finde, that Ethelferd haning fuch and fuccesse in his businesse abzoade as hee valtance and victoric obtenned by the Beptapnes coulde with then purpose to anopde Paumer in Elimine home, taminet Colvin the lonne of Alla of Elle legged a rong Centleman of great towardnesse, lately alla band come to the kingdom of the Porthumbers by the death of his father. But this Edwine in time of bis crile, beeing long toffed from place to place. and finding no fedialt friendlip now in time of his adiretitic, at length came to Redwalde, that was king at that time of the East Angles, the mirde from Elffa, as fuccessoz to Titulius, which Titullus vid luccrede next after the layde Affa. the field king of Calt Angles (as before is men=

This Redwalde did berie honourably inter= raine Cowine, infomuch that Evelferd beina inseemed thereof, he was highly displeased, and sent Imballadors buto lacowalde, to recupre him uther to deliner Cowine into his handes, or elle if he refused so to do, to declare and denounce buto him oven warres.

Redwalde encouraged by his wife (that couns felled him in no wife to betray his friende to who he had given his fayth, for the menaces of his e= nimie) allembled forthwith an armie, and bpon the fodaine comming von Ethelferd, let bypon him ere he coulde have time to affemble his nenple togither. But yet the layo Ethelfred, though be was entrapped and brought in daunger at bn= H. Hunt. io wares, he dyed not bureuenged: for putting himfelfe in defence with such power as he coulde then act toayther, he bolocly encountred the enimics. and gruing battaile, flue Remerius the fonne of Redwalde, and after was flaine himfelfe, hauing raigned over the Posthumbers about.rxij. Axine.

This battaile was fought neare to the water of Fole.

The layde Ethelferd had iffue by his wyfe Acca the daughter of Alla, and lifter to Edwine. two sonnes, Dewalde being about two yeares 40 and concorde, a thing seldonie seene of heard of. of age, and D from about foure peares, the which (their father beeing thus flaine) were by helpe of their gonernours, conveyed away into Scotland with all speede that might be made.

Crobulfking of the Wieft Barons, after bec had raigned the space of ris peares, departed this and reft. life, who in his time had mainteyned great warre agarnst many of his neghbours, the which for briefenelle I passe ouer.

of Suffer, in which the armies on both floes fusteyned great domage, but the greater losse fell to the South Sarons.

SI fter the fozelande Ceobulf raigned Cinegif-Yous, of Kingils, whiche was the some of Crola, that was sonne to Cutha oz Cutwyn, the sonne of Kenricke, which was sonne to king

In the fourth yeare of his raigne, he recepted yvil. Malm. into felowship with him in governaunce of the layeth that Okingdome his sonne Richelinus, oz Onichelinus, ihe brother of and to they raigned toyntly togither in great lotte Cinegifcus.

They fought with the Beptaynes at Beatidoune, where at the first appropriate of the battalies Beandane, or together, the Beanton. died of them that were overtaken, 2062.

In this ineane time, Laurence Archbillop of Bedali.2. Canterburie, that lucceeded nett after Augustine, cap. 4. admitted thereto by him in his life time (as befoze is fayde) did his indendur to augment sind bring to perfection the Church of Englance. the One great battaile he tought agayust them 50 foundation wherof was lately layde by his predecellog the forelande Augustine: and fludico not onely for the encrease of this new Church, which was gathered of the Englishe people, but also he was butte to employ his pattorlike cure buon the people that were of the olde inhabitants of Bzptaine, and likewife of the Scottes that remained in Irelande: For when be had learned that the Scottes there in Cemblable wite as the Brytains in they? Countrey leade not they? lyues in mahy poputes according to the Eccleliaftical rules, afwel in observing the feast of Cafter cotrarie to the vie of the Romain church, as in other things, he wrote unto those Scottes letters exhortatorie, requiring them moste instauntly to an unitie of Catholique orders as myght bee agrecable with the Church of Christ, speede and dispersed through the worlde.

These letters were not written onely in his 10 owne name, but iountly together in the name of the Billions Welitus and Julius (as thus.)

To our deare brethren, the Billiops & Abbots through all Scotland, Laurence, Wellitus + Ju-Hus, Bishops, the servants of the servants of God, withe health. Where as the Apolfolike Sea. (according to hir maner) had fent by to preach bn= to the Beathen people in thele well partes, as o= therwise through the worlde, and that it chaunced by to enter unto this Fle which is called Bip= 20 ueraine rule and gouernment ouer all thep Datapne, before we knewe and understode the state of things, wee had in greate reverence bothe the Scottes and Bertapnes, which beleeved, by cause (as we take the matter)they walked according to the custome of the bniverfall Churche: but after we had knowledge of the Bertaynes, we indged the Scottes to be better, but we haue learned by Belliop Daganus, comming into this Ile, and by Columbanus the Abbot coming into France, that the Scottes nothing differ in they? conuer. 30 feconde Lotharius King of Fraunce, and in the fation from the Brytagnes, for Billion Dagan comming buto bs, would neyther eate with bs, no not per within the house where wee did eate.

The laybe Laurence also with his fellow Bi= Mays, did write to the Brytaines, other letters worthic of his degree, doing what her coulde to configure them in the unitie of the Romaine Church but it profited little, as appeareth by that which Beda wryteth.

of London wente to Rome to commune with Pope Boniface, for necessarie causes touching the the Church of Englands, and was present at a Sinode holden by the lame Pope at that leason, for ordinances to bee made touching the flate of religious men, and late in the same Sinode, that with subscribing, he might also with his author ritic confirms that whiche was there orderly de= ereed.

of Harch, in the last years of the Emperour focas, which was about the peace after the brith of our faujour. 610.

Mellitus at his refunte, brought with him from the Dove, decrees commaunded by the farm Pope to be observed in the English Church, with letters also vireded to the Trebbillop Laurence, and to king Ethelbert.

Cadwan.

A First that the Britains have Cadra continued about king of By the space almost eagle. of.rxiiij. peares without any one special governoz, being led by fune dzie rulers, cuer fithence that Ca=

ercticus was con= ffranco to flee ouer Seuerne, and fought oftentymes not onely agaynst the Sarons, but also one of them agapuste another, at length in the prate of our Lozde. 613. they affembled in the 612 Citie of Chester, and there elected Cadwan that before was ruler of Porthwales, to have the for tion, and so the sayde Cadwan beganne to raigne asking of Beytaynes in the layd yeare. 612. But Harison sayeth, this was in the yeare. 609. in whiche peare Careticus the Baptish king devarted this life. And then after his occeasse the By= taynes of Welchmen (whether wee shall call them) chose Cadwane to gouerne them in the forelayde yeare, 609. Whiche was in the leventh yeare of the Emperour Focas, and the .rri. of the riij. yeare of Kilwolfe King of the Wielt Sarons.

This Cadwan being established King, Stortly after assembled a power of Beptaynes, and went agaynst the foresappe Ethelfred King of Porthumberlande, who beeing thereof advertisco, did associate to him the most part of the Saron Princes, and came forth with his armie to meete Cadwane in the fielde. Herebportas they About the same tyme, Mellitus the Billop 40 were readie to haue tryed the matter by hattaile, certagne of they? friendes tranapled to betwirte them for a peace, that in the ende they brought them to agreement, fo that Ethellero thoulo kept Galf Mis. in quiet possession those his Countreys beyonde the Rouer of Humber, and Carwan Mould hold all that which belonged as pet to the Beptaines on the fouth lide the same ryuer.

Thes Concnaunte with other touching they agreement was confirmed with othes This Sinore was holden the third kalends 50 folemnipe taken, and pleages therewith delyucred, so that afterwardes they continued in god and quiet peace withoute beging the one the other.

> What chaunced afterwardes to Enelited. per hanc befoge hearde rehearfed, the whiche for that it soundeth more lyke to a truth than that whiche followeth in the Bytishe Boke, wer omitte to make further rehearfall, passing

